

THE UNIVERSAL DICTIONARY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

new and original compilation giving all pronunciations in simplified more exact phonetic notations, extensive etymologies, definitions, the latest accepted words in scientific, technical, and general use, with copious illustrative phrases, and colloquialisms

Edited by

HENRY CECIL WYLD

Wyld, M.A., hon. Ph.D. Upsala, Honorary Member of the Linguistic Society, and of the Modern Language Association of America, Merton Professor of English Language and Literature in the University of Oxford

With an Appendix by

HUGH BUSS, M.A. (Cantab.)

LONDON
GEORGE ROUTLEDGE & SONS, LTD.
68-74 CARTER LANE, E.C.

Introduction

I

General Remarks on English Etymology

By the EDITOR

WE all of us use words, in the ordinary affairs of life, in our business and in our everyday pleasures, as well as in our more solemn moments of exalted emotion, whether of joy or of sorrow, or, it may be, in the expression of still loftier aspirations associated with religion. For the normal man or woman life without that means of communication with our fellow-creatures which we call language, that is words, is unthinkable.

If we reflect upon the subject at all, we shall soon realize that even our own English language which we know so well, and use so readily, though familiar is yet mysterious. Many persons who have but little time for special studies, though they may read and think about many things outside their daily routine of cares and duties, so far as their leisure may permit, have been unable to devote much attention to the study of the words of their native tongue. They can speak it and read it and write it, they can say all, or nearly all, they want to say in it—and this is no mean accomplishment—and yet there are whole aspects of English of which, from the circumstances of their lives, they are totally unaware. English speech plays an enormous part in the lives of all of us, and yet when we come to think, we find that we know next to nothing about it.

What then, it may be asked, is there to know about this most familiar thing the English Language, beyond that it is (or ought to be) pronounced in a certain way, that its words have this or that meaning, and that certain grammatical constructions are said to be 'correct' while others are not?

First of all we might suggest a few rather large questions such as: Where did English come from? Why do we sometimes notice that English words resemble words with the same or similar meaning in other languages? Was English always as it is now, was it always pronounced as at present, did the words always bear the same meanings as they now do? How did English words come to mean just what they do? How is it that the same English word may have many different meanings and shades of meaning?

Now, concerning these, and many other questions of a similar kind, considerable curiosity exists fairly widely, even among those who are sometimes referred to as 'general readers.'

It may be possible, to some extent, to gratify such natural and praiseworthy curiosity where it exists, and perhaps even to stimulate it among some of those who have never felt it.

It may be asserted that to understand something of the ancient relationships of words, of the gradual changes of form that befall them through the centuries, and of the well-nigh incredible developments of meaning—now in the way of expansion, now by a process of restriction and specialization—to understand something of all this, I say, adds enormously to the interest with which we speak, hear, or read our native language. It is not extravagant to say that such knowledge opens up new worlds of thought and speculation.

An Etymological Dictionary, rightly used, may guide one to the right path. In this Dictionary no little pains have been devoted to etymologies. In fact these are discussed here more fully than is usual in works of its size. A large number of words are cited from many languages, and changes of meaning are often discussed at some length. The justification for giving so large a collection of words from languages more or less remote from, but ultimately related to, English is that often only in this way is it possible to understand how a meaning has developed from another which at the first glance appears to have no connexion with it.

It is no doubt to be lamented, but it is ^{that there} is no royal road to Etymology, any more ^{than other} branch of knowledge. Etymology is ^{in a sense—} 'the wayfaring man', even though he be not ^{so} 'lo', is very liable 'to err therein', unless he is willing to take a certain amount of trouble to understand what it is desired to do, and the means by which we attempt to accomplish this.

The Meaning of Etymology

The 'etymology' of a word means, briefly, an account of the history of its form, as far back as we can get it, and an account of the chief developments of meaning which it has undergone.

To those unacquainted with the science of philology and its methods, and with the historical relationships of languages, the treatment of the etymologies of words displayed in this, or any other Dictionary which deals with the subject, is apt to be puzzling and confusing. The difficulty can unfortunately only be removed by a more or less thorough training in methods and studies which the 'general reader' cannot be assumed to possess. Nor is it possible in a short introduction such as this to supply an equivalent to such a training.

On the other hand it is necessary to make an attempt, by stating, as clearly as may be, certain elementary facts about English and its relation to other languages, to get rid of some of the worst misunderstandings to which our treatment of etymologies might give rise, and prevent this from completely misleading the uninitiated.

Ancestry of English

The oldest form of English which we find recorded in written documents is about 1200 years old. This is known as Anglo-Saxon, or more generally, among students of subject, as Old English. But Old English does not appear as an isolated phenomenon in these islands; they know that this language was brought here in the ^{English, a} considerable portion of which, especially those borrowed from Norman French during the three centuries that followed the Conquest, were derived from direct contact with French speakers—Normans—in England. The Normans were originally Norsemen who had settled in Neustria, later Normandy, early in the 10th century, and had acquired French. It is perhaps desirable to say something of the origin of French and its nearest linguistic connexions. French belongs to what are known as the Romance or Neo-Latin languages. These are all derived from popular forms of Latin as it was spoken in the various provinces of the far-flung Empire of ancient Rome. The principal other members of this family are Italian—in many respects nearest to Latin—Spanish, Portuguese, Provençal. Most of these tongues have given words to English at one time or another, though none in such numbers as French.

In giving the etymology of a word from French or any other Romance language, we indicate the Latin word whence it comes, and discuss the etymology of the latter. It naturally often happens that the same Latin base appears both as the ancestor of a word of French origin occurring in English, and again in a word borrowed direct from Latin. Thus faith comes from a Norman-French form of Lat fides, 'faith', and this word is also the basis of fidelity from Lat fidelitas. Again royal is pure French in form, and comes from Lat regalis, but this latter word is also found in English, almost unaltered, as regal. The full etymology of royal will therefore be found under regal.

Again it will often happen that a word occurs in three or even four different forms in English—e.g. hospital direct from Low Latin hospitale, 'a large building, a palace' (a by-form of this is spital), hostel from Old French, with the still preserved, hotel from Modern French.

A French word when traced to Latin may be found to have remoter cognates in the Gmc languages, one of which cognates may occur in English. Thus flower in Middle English (Chaucer &c.) and O French is fleur, which is derived from Lat flōrem, accusative form of flōs, 'a flower', and this is found again in floral derived straight from Lat flōralis. But the Lat flōs is cognate with OE blōstma, which survives in English as blossom, and also with OE blōwan, 'to bloom, flourish', Mod. Engl to blow. A further Gmc cognate is ON blóm, 'a flower', not found in OE, but borrowed later from Norse, and surviving as the common word bloom. As a rule, before we can establish the remote relations of a French word with a native English word, we must inquire into the ancestral Latin form of the former, and then discuss the Gmc and English cognates with this Latin word.

Scandinavian Influence on English Vocabulary

Lastly, among the most copious sources of our borrowings, the Scandinavian languages must be mentioned. English speakers were brought into direct contact with Danes and Norsemen (who, as we saw, spoke a North Gmc language) as a result of repeated raids carried out by these pirates, and the ultimate settlement by them of large tracts of England under King Alfred. Old Danish and Norse were in many ways very close to Old English, and a considerable part of the vocabulary was common to both peoples, although the pronunciation was different. The interpenetration of English with Norse words was tolerably thorough, and many words thus derived appear from the 12th century onwards to be firmly established, and to be in process of gradually ousting the old native words. Only a very few out of several hundred can be mentioned here. How vital these words have become to us is shown by the following, all of which are indispensable in ordinary life: dairy, egg, husband, skin, sly, ill, weak, die (verb), thrive, give, get, take, raise, split, though, they, them. A curious case of Scandinavian influence is seen in dream, a pure English word so far as its form goes, derived from OE dræam, but its present meaning, 'vision', is pure Scandinavian. The Old Norse word is draumr, which had the same sense as the Modern English word. But the English word, in OE and early Middle English, meant 'noise, cheerful noise, revelry, happiness', and never by any chance had the sense of 'vision'. The word was gradually influenced in meaning by the Old Norse word—its exact cognate—and entirely lost its old senses. (See discussion of the development of meaning under dream in the Dictionary.)

Other Sources of the English Vocabulary

In addition to those, the most important elements in the English vocabulary, already referred to, there are large numbers of words, borrowed at different periods, and used with varying degrees of frequency, adopted from languages spoken in every continent. Many of these words come to us from literary sources, many others, especially philosophic, scientific, and medical terms, are taken straight, in modern times, to supply the needs of ever-extending knowledge and new philosophic conceptions, from the ancient tongues of Greece and Rome. Many others have been adopted as a result of direct contact between Englishmen and the inhabitants of every corner of the globe, to express objects, institutions, or customs familiar in the life of those far regions to which the adventurous spirit of our people has led them.

It is impossible, in a brief Introduction such as this, to go in detail into these varied elements of our vocabulary. It must suffice to specify as sources such historical facts as the long British occupation of India, and the existence of large classes of military and civil officers of British blood who, after service in India, return to their own country, the colonization of North America by the English in the 17th century, and the later contact between ourselves and the citizens of the American Republic, the colonization of Canada, of South Africa, of Australia.

Nothing is more remarkable in the history of language than the changes undergone in the meanings of words. One reason, in discussing etymologies, for collecting together a large number of cognates from various languages is that often by this means alone is it possible to discover the fundamental meaning which underlies them all, from which all the varied senses have sprung, and to trace the manner in which the meanings have branched out in innumerable directions. One has only to look through the various cognate words and their meanings brought together in this dictionary under the words par, pay, pacify, pale (I), page (II), and fair (II), and consider the well-established relationships between all these words, both in form and meaning, together with the various shades of meaning of pay and fair developed in English itself, in order to realize what is possible in the way of variation in sense. Here we start apparently with the material sense of 'joining, fitting together', and upon this theme the human mind has played, using the old words to express now a material, now a non-material conception, now extending, now narrowing the connotation, twisting and turning in every imaginable and unimaginable direction.

And yet, at the end of it all, we are able to recognize a unifying principle pervading the whole, so that the links in the chain of meaning are never entirely lost, or are at least recoverable

One of the charms of etymology is that it reveals the human mind at work, for ever striving to express new ideas and shades of meaning, adapting and readapting material which is as old as man himself, so that it shall reflect the modes of thought, the needs and hopes, the occupations and habits, of every age and of every manner of life.

II

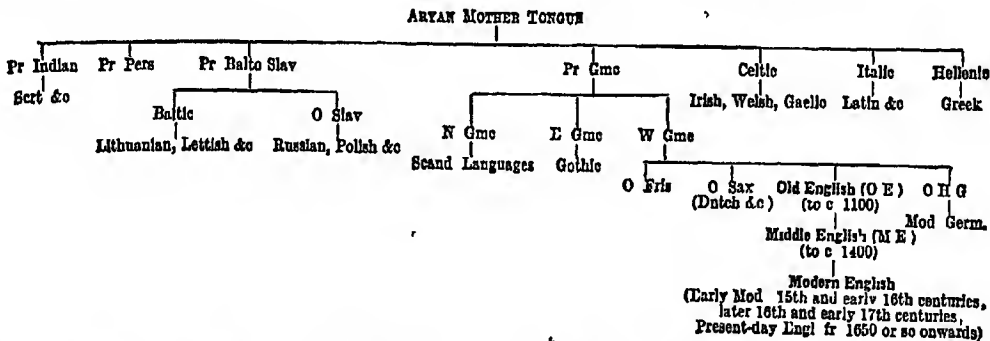

By M. S. SERJEANTSON

A—The Sounds of Primitive Aryan, and the Characteristic Treatment of these in the Several Chief Families of Aryan Languages

FROM the Primitive Aryan Mother Tongue there sprang, as was stated above, p viii, several daughter languages, each of which became, by a natural process of differentiation, a fruitful mother of languages and dialects. Among the members of each of the communities into which the original Aryan community was broken up, there gradually arose different habits of pronunciation, and tendencies to change the primitive sounds in different ways. The table of the Aryan languages and their relationships is repeated here for convenience of reference

Sound Changes which occur in the Derived Families of Languages

1 INDIAN GROUP This includes (a) the Sanscrit of the ancient sacred writings (including the Vedas, the oldest part of which dates from the 10th or 11th century B C), and (b) Classical and Epic Sanscrit, of the later literature Sanscrit developed into the two dialects of Prākṛit and Pālī, from the latter came many of the modern Indian dialects, including Hindustani and Bengali

We then proceed to summarize the differences in the treatment of the original sounds which are most characteristic of the several families of languages

The Sounds of Primitive Aryan

According to modern philologists, who have made a hypothetical reconstruction, the Aryan Mother Tongue had the following sounds —consonants stops, b, d, g, gʰ, p, t, k, kʰ, these with aspiration bh, gh, ph, kh & c, the trill r, the divided consonant l, the nasals m, n, ŋ, the open consonants j, w, s, and perhaps ʃ. The distinction between g and gʰ, k and kʰ, lies in the fact that the latter of each pair (gʰ, kʰ) is pronounced with the tongue farther back in the mouth than the former (cp the consonants of go, cow (g, k), with those of gue, key (gʰ, kʰ)). gʰ, kʰ are pronounced like g, k, hut with the lips protruded. The vowels were i, e, a, ā, o, u, ̄, u, ̄, ̄, diphthongs ai, au, oi, ou, the same with the first element long ē, ā, ̄, ̄, ̄. There were also syllabic l, n, m, r, usually written by philologists l̥, n̥, m̥, r̥ (cp the final syllables of bottle, mutton = [hɒl, mʌt̥n]). These occurred only in unstressed syllables, and arose from the reduction or elimination of the full vowel which preceded l m & c.

Sanscrit levelled Aryan ā, ̄, ̄ under ā, i and ̄ remained; z became z or a. Cp Sert bhārah, 'he bears' (fr bher-*, see bear (I)), Sert ā-dhām, 'I put' (fr dhēm-*, see fact), Sert astū, 'eight', fr okt-*, see eight, Sert sthitā, 'standing', fr st-*, see state (I). The diphthongs are monophthongized, ei, ai, oi becoming ē, and eu, au, ou becoming ō. Cp Sert ēdha, 'firewood', fr audh-*, see aedile, eti, 'he goes', fr ei*, see itinerate, Sert tyaj, 'strength', fr aug-*, see auction, yōṣ, 'safety', fr jou-*, see jus

Sert retains the Aryan lip and point stops, both aspirated and unaspirated. But if two aspirated consonants occur in the same word, the first loses its aspiration. This is known as Grassman's Law, a similar process occurs in Greek. Cp Sert bandhat, 'he binds', fr bhendh-*, see bind (I). The lip-modified back stops, kʰ, gʰ, gʰh, are levelled under the full back stops k, g, gh, becoming respectively k (c), g or j, gh or h, cp Sert stighnat, 'he climbs', fr stigh-*, see sty (I), Sert gharmā, 'glow', fr gʰh-*, see warm. But Aryan kʰ, gʰ become respectively č, j in Sert before front vowels, e.g. Aryan kʰetwar*, 'four', becomes in Sert čatur- (cp Lat quatuor, where the initial consonant has undergone little change), see four. The Aryan back advanced stops, kʰ, gʰ, undergo a characteristic change in Primitive Indian (similar to that in Iranian and Balto-Slavonic), by which k becomes s = [ʃ], g becomes j = [dʒ], gʰ becomes h, cp. Sert śatām, Lat centum, see hundred, Sert jānāma, 'I know', fr gʰnō*, see know Aryan; and w remain in Sert (transcribed as y, v), as in Sert yundkti, 'harnesses', cp Lat iungere, see join (I), vēdāi, 'I know', see Veda. Nasal consonants and r usually remain in Sert. Aryan l often appears as r. Thus Sert rōkādī, 'bright', is cognate with Gk leukós, 'white', and Lat lux, 'light', see leuco- Sert bhrāj-, 'to shine', and Gk phlegmā, 'to burn', are both fr an Aryan base bhlē-* &c, 'to burn', see flagrant

2 IRANIAN developed into Old Bactrian (East Iranian) and Old Persian (West Iranian, extant in cuneiform inscriptions). The former is the language of the Zoroastrian sacred writings known as the Zend-Avesta, the latter is the ancestor of the modern Persian dialects, of Afghan &c

The vowel system of Iranian resembles that of Sanscrit, except that the Idg diphthongs are not monophthongized. Iranian has ai for the i-diphthongs (Idg ai, oi, es), au for the u-diphthongs (Idg au, ou, eu), these two, ai and au, remain in Persian, but become respectively ae or eh, au or eu, in Old Bactrian (thus Zend has draētha, 'menace', fr Iranian dwar-, fr Aryan dwer-, cp Gk deinós, 'terrible', and see dire). Iranian eventually loses the Idg aspirated stops, bh, dh becoming b, d. It has, however, ḡ, s for Idg k (back-advanced) as in Sert, z for Idg g, gʰ (see quiet (II))

3 The BALTO-SLAVONIC group includes (A) the Baltic dialects of Old Prussian (since the 17th century no longer spoken), Lithuanian, and Lettish, (B) the Slavonic dialects (a) Russian and its varieties, (b) Polish and Czech, (c) Bulgarian, Serbian, and Slovenian. The oldest form of Bulgarian is that extant in a 9th-century translation of the Gospels, this form is sometimes called Old Church Slavonic. As regards the vowels of the Balto-Slavonic dialects, it should be noted that Idg a is rounded to o, but o unrounded to a (cp Lith dalis, 'part', fr Aryan dol-*, see under daedal), ō is diphthongized to uo (written ū, e.g. Lith jūkas, 'jest', fr Aryan jōk-*, cognate with Lat jocus, 'joke', fr jōk-*, see joke), the symbol ~ over a vowel denotes length. The Idg diphthongs are not monophthongized, ei, ai, oi appearing respectively as ei, ai, oi, or being levelled under e (= [ie]), eu, au, ou become au (as in Lith ausra, 'red of dawn', cognate with aurora, q v). In Slavonic, Idg a and o both appear as o, ō is unrounded to u, y (= [j]) represents Idg ū, the symbol ī is used for a Slavonic raised i, ā for a raised o, the diphthongs are monophthongized, ei, ai, oi to ē (apparently [ē]), eu, au, ou to u (cp O Slav uši, 'ears', fr Aryan base ōus-*, 'ear', see ear). Both the Baltic and Slavonic groups keep the Aryan lip and point stops, but these when aspirated lose their aspiration. Both branches develop s or z for the back-advanced stops (k, g &c), resembling in this respect Sanscrit and Iranian (see hound, fr Aryan k^hum-*, and cognate with Lith sun-, Russ su-la, 'bitch'). Baltic usually levels the full back stops (k, g, gh) and the lip-modified back stops (kʰ, gʰ, qʰh) under k, g, g, but Slavonic has in certain forms č, š (š) instead of k, g, g, for Idg k, g, gh, and kʰ, gʰ, gʰh (Thus O Slav čtyre, 'four', represents Aryan k^hetwar-*, see four, and O Slav žluta, 'yellow', is fr the Aryan base g^hhel-, g^hh- &c, see gold)

4 HELLENIC comprises three chief groups (a) Ionic (including also Euboean and Attic), (b) Achaean (with Aolian, Thessalian, and Boeotian, Arcadian, Cyprian, and Pamphylian), (c) Doric (including Laconian, Corinthian, and others, and the North-Western dialects of Epirus, Locris, Phocis, Achaia &c). The history of Greek can be traced from the 8th century B.C. By the end of the 4th century B.C., Attic had become in some degree a 'standard' language in all parts of Greece, and also in Asia Minor, it is the ancestor of the modern Greek dialects

One of the chief features of Attic phonology, and one which is shared also by the rest of the Ionic group, is its change of Idg a to ē (as for instance in Gk mētēr, 'mother', fr Aryan mā-*, see mother). Otherwise, most of the Aryan vowels remain in Greek, ū, however, becomes [y] (written u) in the Ionic-Attic group. The diphthongs were preserved for a time, but later ai became [e] and, perhaps by the 3rd century B.C., [i], while ou by about the 5th century B.C. became ū

Idg u, written f (digamma) in early Gk, disappears before vowels (cp Gk ēpos, 'a word', earlier wep-, for wel^w-, 'to speak', see ēpos, Gk aira, earlier awer-*, 'air', see aura), or becomes an aspirate (see Hesperian), before consonants it becomes the vowel u. Idg j becomes an aspirate ('rough breathing') or z (see Gk hōra for jōra*, 'hour', under hour, see also zeugma), Idg s becomes an aspirate which remains initially, but otherwise usually disappears before vowels, and before j, u, ī, m, n, r. Idg lip and point stops remain in Greek, the voiced aspirated stops are unvoiced, e.g. bh > ph, dh > th, for, instance, Gk thamós, 'breath', is fr Aryan d^hh^w-*, see fume. As in Sanscrit, an initial aspirated stop loses its aspiration if the next syllable begins with an aspirated stop (see bund). Back-advanced and full back stops are levelled in Greek, k, kʰ both become k, g, gʰ > g, gh, gʰh > kh (x) with unvoicing as in the case of bh, dh. Cp Gk khandanem, 'to hold', fr Aryan ghe(n)ā-* &c, see get. The Aryan lip-modified back stops, kʰ, gʰ, gʰh, (a) become respectively p, b, ph, before back vowels (other than u), i + vowel, or consonants (other than j), cp Gk ponē, fr k^hōm-*, see penal, (b) kʰ > t, gʰ > d, gʰh > th before front vowels (see Gk ittāres under quadri-), (c) kʰ > k before j, u, gʰ > z before j, g before u, cp Gk zōs, fr g^hōs-*, see zoo. Idg syllabic m, n become a in Greek before a consonant so that the Aryan unstressed negative prefix n becomes Gk a-, corresponding to Gmc un- (see under un-)

5 ITALIC This comprises two main branches (a) Oscan, Umbrian, and Sabellian, the last including such dialects as Sabine, Volscian, and Faliscan, all these are known chiefly from inscriptions, and from forms quoted by Latin grammarians, (b) Latin, which developed on the one hand into the literary language of the classical period, and on the other into the popular, spoken dialect known as Low or Vulgar Latin, which was eventually carried by soldier and merchant over the whole of the Roman Empire. By the end of the 6th century A.D. Low Latin had split up into the so-called Romance dialects which now include French, Provençal, Spanish, Portuguese, Italian, Roumanian, Wallachian, and Rhaeto-Romanic

The Aryan simple vowels for the most part preserved in Latin, but e tends to become i before a nasal (see imbricate, fr earlier embh-*), and e becomes o before w (written v, see novel), the group swe* becomes suo-, so- (see Lat soror under sister), and we* becomes wo (vo) before l or m followed by a back vowel (see volo under volution). The Idg diphthongs remained at first in Italic, and later developed as follows. ei > i (see Lat dicere, 'to tell', under dictation), ai > ae (see laevo-, earlier larwo-*), oi > oe > ū (see mural), u > ai > ae (see secular, fr sek-*), eu > ou > ū (see dicere, 'to lead', under duke), au remained in classical Latin, but became o in Low Latin (see under cloisonné), ou > ū (see lucus, Lat lūc-, 'light', fr earlier louk-*). Idg syllabic m, n, > em, en in Latin (as in densus, 'thick', fr Aryan d^hn^t-*, whence also Gk dads, 'thick', see dasy.) The non-aspirated stops, p, t, k, b, d, g, remain in Latin, and k, g become k, g. The aspirated voiced stops change considerably: bh > ph > f initially, b medially (see future, nebula), dh > th > þ, which develops farther to (a) f initially (as for instance in the Aryan base dheh*- &c, 'to place', Lat. fac-ere, 'to do', see fact), (b) b medially before and after r, and before w or l (see verb, earlier werdh*-), (c) d under other conditions (see media). Oscan &c had f for Idg dh in all these positions. Idg g h usually became h initially (as in Lat. hortus, 'garden', Aryan g^hhort*, see hortus sucus), but f before u (see futile), medially, g h usually became h (see vehicle). Idg gh became h (see host (I)), g^{wh} > f initially, gu after a nasal, otherwise, v medially (cp Lat. ningui, 'it snows', niv-em, 'snow', and see snow). It should also be noted that Idg s became Italic z between vowels, and this became Latin r (see Lat. soror, under sister, and op also Lat. altaria, 'altar', fr alt-ara* for alt-asa*, see altar).

6 CELTIC has three main divisions. (A) Gaulish, which was supplanted in ancient Gaul by Low Latin at the beginning of the present era, surviving only in inscriptions, and in personal names and loan-words in Latin writings (see, for instance, palfrey), (B) Brythonic, including Welsh, Cornish, and Breton, (C) Gaelic, including Scotch and Irish Gaelic, and Manx.

The Celtic phonological developments are too complicated to summarize briefly. Some of the changes of Primitive Celtic will be seen in the Tables. It may be mentioned, however, (a) that Idg z becomes s (see Celtic rig, 'king', under rich), (b) that Idg initial v appears as f in Old Irish (see O Ir. fo, 'length', under vast), v in Gaulish, gw in Brythonic, (c) that Idg k^w becomes k (c) in Gaelic (as in O Ir. ceithir, 'four', Aryan k^wetwar*, q v under four) but p in Brythonic and Gaulish, (d) that Idg g^w becomes b (see O Ir. biad, 'means of life', fr g^wit*, under vital), (e) that Idg p disappears initially and between vowels (cp O Ir. isc, 'fish', with Lat. piscis, q v under fish).

7 GERMANIC. The Primitive Germanic languages became differentiated into three branches, called, from the relative positions of the areas in which they were spoken, East, North, and West Germanic.

East Germanic included the dialects of the Goths, Vandals, Heruli, and Gepidae, all now dead languages, and mostly surviving only in Place and Personal Names in Greek and Latin writings. Gothic, however, is represented by a translation of parts of the Bible, made in the 4th century by the West Gothic bishop Wulfila, and by part of a commentary on the Gospel of St. John. These are now extant only in 6th-century manuscripts, but they constitute (except for some Scandinavian runic inscriptions) the earliest recorded form of any of the Germanic dialects. An East Gothic dialect, Crimean Gothic, survived for some centuries, but all we know of it is a list of some sixty or seventy words taken down in the 16th century by a certain Flemish envoy of the Emperor, O G von Busbecq.

North Germanic in its oldest recorded form is known as Old Norse, represented by runic inscriptions of which the oldest are of the 3rd and 4th centuries (from Denmark and Schleswig). By the end of the Viking period (c. 700-1050), the language had begun to be differentiated into East Scandinavian, including Swedish and Danish, and West Scandinavian, comprising Norwegian and Icelandic.

West Germanic includes. (a) Old English, the earliest records of which are of the late 7th century, (b) Old Frisian, from the 14th century, (c) Old Saxon, formerly spoken in the area from the Harz Mountains to the North Sea between the Elbe and Zuider Zee, known from the 9th century, (d) Old Low Franconian, from which Modern Dutch and Flemish are mainly derived, (e) Old High German, the speech of Central and Southern Germany and parts of Switzerland and Austria, and the ancestor of the Modern German dialects, (f) the language of the Lombards, which is known chiefly from proper names, and which has long been extinct.

Primitive Germanic was distinguished from the Aryan mother-tongue, and from its sister languages, Celtic, Italic, Hellenic &c, partly by vowel changes and partly by a series of striking consonantal changes, affecting first the aspirated and non-aspirated stops, and known as the First Sound-shifting. The developments involved must have been spread over several centuries, and were for the most part complete probably a century or more before the beginning of this era. The Primitive Germanic vowel changes were somewhat later. Gothic resembles Primitive Germanic more closely than any other dialect, and forms quoted from Gothic illustrate the first developments from Indo-Germanic more clearly than do forms from Old English, Old High German, Old Norse &c, obscured as these are by many subsequent changes. (It will be seen, however, from the Tables that Gothic does in certain respects differ strikingly from Primitive Germanic.) The most characteristic Pr Gmc vowel changes are (a) Idg o > a (e.g. Goth dags, fr Aryan dheg^{wh}k*, see day, see also the Gmc words under host (I), eight), (b) Idg a > o (see O E mōdor, Aryan māt*, under mother), (c) Idg e > i (see O E drifan, 'to drive', Aryan dhrēiðh*, under drive), (d) Idg oi > ai (e.g. Goth ains, Aryan om*, see one), (e) Idg ou > au (see red). Further, Idg h, m, n, r become Gmc ul, um, un, ur (see corn (I), hundred, tush (II), wolf). The consonant changes are more far-reaching. The chief are (1) Idg p, t, k, and ph, th, kh, become respectively f, þ, x (k and k^h are levelled under h and hh), see father, thumb, horn. (2) Idg bh, dh, gh (g^h) become þ, d, g, later b, d, g, see bear, do, goose (I). (3) Gmc s, f, þ, x (see (1) above) are voiced to z, ð, g medially when the chief accent of the word did not precede them, for instance, O E fader, 'father', represents Gmc fader*, fr earlier Gmc faper*, see father. This change is referred to as Verner's Law. (4) Idg b, d, g became p, t, k, see pool (I), tree, crane. These changes are sometimes referred to as the First (Germanic) Sound-shift.

In the Germanic dialects þ, d, g appear as b, d, g initially and after nasals. A special feature of North and West Germanic is the development of medial z (see (3) above) to r, see hoard, O E hord, 'treasure', which is cognate with Goth (E Gmc) huzd, final z is, however, lost in West Germanic. The Old High German dialects are distinguished from the other West Germanic dialects by a further series of consonantal changes (the Second Sound-shift). This took place during the 6th and 7th centuries, and included, among other changes, the development of t to z [ts] or ss (see O H G zit, 'time', under tide, and Germ hass, 'hated', Gmc hat*, under hate), of k to ch [x] (see acre, O H G acchar), of p to pf or f (see O H G helfan, Gmc help*, under help).

B—The History of English in England

During the 5th century, Britain was invaded and settled by Germanic-speaking tribes from Western Europe, Angles, Saxons, and Jutes. At the time of the settlement there was probably little differentiation between their common tongue and the other dialects which eventually developed from West Germanic. Probably most of the changes which characterize English took place actually in this country, though a few may have begun on the Continent. Since the 5th century, the story of English is one of continual change and of the rise of innumerable dialects. Before the Conquest, one dialect had risen to the importance of a written standard language—that of Wessex, the kingdom of the West Saxons—and a very large proportion of the Old English literature is extant in this dialect. At the beginning of the Middle English period the supremacy of West Saxon as a literary language had diminished, and dialects from all parts of the country contributed to the literature of the period. It was not until the late 14th century that a South-East Midland dialect came into prominence—again as a written, not a spoken, standard. This was the dialect of London, influenced to some degree by that of neighbouring areas, and its gradual rise in importance was due to the city's authority as a centre of trade and of government. During the Elizabethan period a certain standard of speech became recognized, at first among men of the Court and of the Universities, and afterwards over a wider area, thus, like the written standard, was based on London English—or rather on the speech of a certain class of speakers in London and its environs. (There were already variants arising among the other classes of speakers in London, from which the modern London dialects are derived.) This spoken standard developed into what is now known as Received Standard English, which is definitely not a local dialect but a class dialect, and may be heard in any part of the country without a tinge of regional peculiarities. The written language has followed the spoken standard in such matters as style and vocabulary, though always slightly more archaic, it is the pronunciation of Received Standard English which is its chief characteristic.

Modern English spelling, conventionalized by the 15th-century printers on a basis of late 14th-century spelling, fails to reflect any of the important changes in pronunciation which took place during the late 14th and early 15th century and afterwards, when almost every vowel in the English language changed in quality.

In the following notes on the characteristic development of Old and Middle English, only such changes are dealt with as left a permanent impression on the language (or are necessary to explain the form of O and M.E. words), and owing to the exigencies of space only the most important of these are included.

1. Changes distinguishing Old English from West Germanic

(a) Isolative

(i) W Gmc a > æ (except before a nasal), see O E craft, W Gmc lraft*, under craft, O E acer, acre, W Gmc akr*. (ii) W Gmc a > ē (except before a nasal), see deed which is fr O E dēd, W Gmc dād*. (iii) W Gmc a > ā, thus W Gmc hair*, hail*, become O E hār, hāl, see hoar, holy. (iv) W Gmc au > ēa, as in O E drām, W Gmc draum*, see dream (v) W Gmc eu > eo, e.g. W Gmc deur*, O E dēor, see deer.

(b) Combinative:

(i) W. Gmc a, i, u + nasal + f, s, or þ, became nasalized and lengthened, the nasal being lost, then the vowel was denasalized, ā becoming ē, i > ī, ū > ū, e.g. W Gmc munþ* becomes O E mūþ, see mouth, W Gmc gans* becomes O E gōs, see goose.

(ii) W Gmc ā became ō before a nasal, see O E spōn, W. Gmc spān*, under spoon.

(iii) Early O E i, e, æ (W. Gmc i, e, a) tended to become diphthongized (to io, eo, eo) before h, r or l + another consonant, e.g. O E heard, fr hærd*, W Gmc hard*, see hard, O E heall, W Gmc hall*, see hall, O E feoh, W Gmc feχ*, see fee. This change is commonly known as Fracture (æ was diphthongized before l + cons in the South, but not in the Midlands or North).

(iv) Prim O E back vowels were fronted when followed in the next syllable by i or j (both these usually disappeared subsequently); thus ū > ȳ, a > æ, o > [ɔ], later e. Similarly, æ (fr W Gmc a) > e, ea > ie (in West Saxon). This process is called i-mutation. For instance, W. Gmc tālgan*, 'to show', appears in O E as tēcan, 'to point out, teach', op the unmutated tācn, 'a sign', see token and teach; W Gmc mūs*, pl of mūs*, 'mouse', see mouse, is in O E mȳs, whence Mod Engl mice, W. Gmc fōdan*, 'to feed', > in O E fēdan, see feed, cp the unmutated noun fōda, food.

(v) Of the consonant changes in O E, the most striking are the developments of W Gmc h, ɣ. The former is fronted to [t] (voiceless front stop), later [tʃ], initially before a front vowel, and also medially and finally after i, see chin, chaff, pitch, where the O E. fronted cons is printed c = cīn, ceaf &c, W Gmc kinn*, laf*. W Gmc sl always becomes [ʃ], written sc, see shall, W Gmc skal*, O E seal.

W Gmc ɣ is fronted to [j] (voiced front open cons) initially before front vowels (as in O E geldan, 'to pay', (where the dotted g indicates its front quality), see yield), and also medially and finally after front vowels (see day), but ɣ becomes [g] before back vowels (see good, go), and remains [ɣ] (voiced back open) between back vowels (see saw (I)). O E spelling does not distinguish between [k] and [tʃ], or between [j], [ɣ], and [g], but the changes can still be traced in the modern pronunciation.

W Gmc gg > O E [dd], later [dʒ], written cg, before f (as in O E brycg [brydʒ], fr W Gmc bruggj*, see bridge).

2. Changes distinguishing M.E. from Old English

During the 11th and 12th centuries there were a considerable number of changes in English pronunciation, which were gradually reflected in the spelling of the written language. Diphthongs were monophthongized, and subsequently new diphthongs arose from various sources. There were several important isolative changes in the quality of single vowels, while the chief combinative changes are changes in quantity. Further, the vowels of unstressed syllables began to lose their distinct character and to become levelled under one sound.

(a) Isolative changes

(1) OE a > æ, see OE fæder, M.E. fader, under father (ii) OE ā > ɔ [ɔ], slack OE hām > M.E. hōm, see home (iii) OE ǣ > ɛ OE hǣlan, 'to heal', > M.E. hēlen, see heal (iv) OE ȝ > ʃ, ȝ or u, ȝ [ʃ], see hill, bride, knell, left (I), thrush (v) OE ea > [ɛ], written e, as OE drēam > M.E. drēm, see dream (vi) OE eo > [ɛ] OE deop > M.E. dēp, see deep (vii) OE ɜ (between back vowels) > o, see saw (I), law, M.E. sawe, lawe, OE sagu, lagu

(b) Combinative

The chief are quantitative changes: (i) The short vowels a, e, o are lengthened in open syllables to ā, ē, ō, cp L.O.E. tacan, M.E. tālen, take, O.E. mete, M.E. mēte, meat (ii) Long vowels are shortened before groups of two or more consonants, cp L.O.E. dēpþe, M.E. dēpþe, depth, and cp M.E. lēpen, 'to keep' (see keep), Pret. lēpte, 'kept', O.E. cēpan, cēpte

(c) Orthographical

It must not be forgotten that there was considerable French influence on the spelling in the Post-Conquest period. Among the important innovations of French scribes were the following: (i) The use of ch for the sound [tʃ], cp child, (ii) sh for OE sc [ʃ], see shall, (iii) th for OE þ, ð, cp thorn, thus, (iv) v for OE f when the latter stood for [v], cp love, (v) ou for [u], see mouth, (vi) o for [u] in the neighbourhood of n, m, see son, monk, (u and n, m were easily confused in writing), (vii) y is now used for the sound [i], (viii) the sound [ʃ], expressed in OE by ȝ, is now written u

3. Changes distinguishing Modern English from Middle English

Modern English changes in pronunciation are not reflected in the modern spelling, which remains, as has been already said, based on the conventional spelling of Late Middle English. Many, if not all, of the changes characteristic of Early Modern English had, however, begun before 1400, and from the beginning of the 15th century, and in some cases earlier, we find spellings indicating clearly the writer's realization that the old spelling does not fit the sound. For instance, when a 15th century letter-writer has dēpe for 'deep', or ceme for 'came', we must believe that he no longer pronounced [dēp, kām] as in Middle English, but something nearly approaching the modern sounds. Such 'phonetic' spellings, which are numerous enough to supply satisfactory evidence for the date of most of the modern changes, occur for the most part in letters, diaries &c which did not get into the hands of the early printers, and so did not have their spelling conventionalized. Similar 'occasional spellings', as they are called, are found in letters &c right down to the 18th century. When Queen Elizabeth, for example, writes often for 'often', and stalk for 'stalk', we can hardly be in doubt as to how she pronounced them. These unconventional forms are one of our best sources of information in the modern period.

We may give a few of the most striking developments of the vowels in Early Modern English.

(i) M.E. a > [e], cp take, M.E. tāken, (ii) M.E. ai, ay > [e], cp day, M.E. [dai], (iii) M.E. i > [aɪ], cp life, M.E. līf, (iv) M.E. [ɛ] > [ou], cp home, (v) M.E. [ɔ] > [u], u, a, cp food, foot, flood, M.E. fōde, fōt, flood, (vi) M.E. ɜ, ē have both as a rule become [i], cp deep, M.E. [dēp], meat, M.E. [mēt], (vii) M.E. u > [a, u], cp but, love, full; (viii) M.E. er > ar, which remains in many words, cp far, M.E. fer, (ix) M.E. au > [au], cp house, M.E. hās, (x) M.E. au, ou > [ɔ], cp pause, M.E. pause, fr Fr. Among combinative changes we may note the change of ai to aui (later [ɔ]), cp all, the rounding of wa to wo, except before a back consonant, cp what, wash, contrasted with wag, the raising of e to i before ng, cp England, linger (M.E. lengen)

Changes in quantity are also important. One of the commonest is the lengthening of short vowels before r, the latter being lost subsequently, cp hard, are, earth &c. The vowel a, and often o, is lengthened also before f, s, þ, cp pass, after, path, soft, cross. On the other hand, shortening has often taken place, especially before point consonants, cp dead, hot, flood, breath.

Consonant changes which occur regularly are (i) the loss of r finally and before another consonant, (ii) the loss of M.E. [x], written h or gh, finally or before t, or the development of the same consonant to f, cp bough, night, enough, laughter, (iii) the loss of l before certain consonants, cp talk, half, (iv) the change of [sj] to [ʃ], cp assure, tissue, (v) the change of [tj] to [tʃ], cp nature, fortune. There were, however, many other consonantal changes which took place during the Early Modern period, some of which have been swept away by a regrettable tendency among some speakers, especially noticeable during the past century, to attempt to fit the sound to the spelling, this tendency, for instance, has 'restored' the w in such a word as forward (w having been lost in this position in the 13th century or earlier), for which [fɔwəd] is now the usual pronunciation even in Received Standard English, in place of the normally developed Early Modern Standard [fɔəd].

The vowels of unstressed syllables began a process of reduction and shortening in Middle English and even earlier, and these 'obscured' forms usually remain as the normal types. The general tendency is to reduce all unstressed vowels to [ə] or to [ɪ], long vowels being shortened, diphthongs monophthongized, and round vowels unrounded. The modern spelling often indicates the original quality of the vowel. Cp private [praɪvət], nature [néɪtʃə], pigeon [pɪdʒɪn], biscuit [bɪskɪt], tortoise [tɔɪs]

Present-day English

By the side of the widespread central type which is recognized as a standard, English speech at the present time exhibits many varieties or dialects. Some of these have grown up, and are spoken in particular parts of the country, and we speak of the dialect of Norfolk, of Kent, of Oxfordshire, and so on. These are called Regional Dialects. Other types of English, again, are not primarily of local or regional origin, but are current among certain sections or classes of the population, and owe such peculiarities as distinguish them from other dialects to differences of social status and occupation. These factors tend, on the one hand, to separate groups of speakers from others belonging to a different social grade, and, on the other, to bring those of the same social grade into closer association with each other than they enjoy with speakers of other grades who follow callings of a different kind. We call those varieties or dialects which have grown up within particular sections or social divisions Class Dialects.

Regional Dialect has generally an ancient independent development of its own. The features of pronunciation, grammar, and vocabulary which distinguish severally the

Rules for Pronunciation

- (1) Key to the Popular Phonetic Spelling for the use of the General Reader
- (2) The System of Phonetic Notation summarized for Advanced Students

THE accepted spelling of English is by no means always a reliable guide to pronunciation. Owing to various historical circumstances English spelling has come to be considerably divorced from the pronunciation. It is inconsistent—the same letter does not always stand for the same sound, it is redundant—the spelling of many words contains letters which represent no sound at all, it is incomplete—some words contain sounds of which the spelling takes no account and for which no letter is written. The important element of accentuation is entirely disregarded.

Under these circumstances, if we wish to indicate the actual pronunciation of English words, we must employ what is called a phonetic notation. This is a means of remedying the defects of ordinary spelling. The general characteristics of a phonetic system of spelling are (1) that it is consistent—the same letter, or combination of letters, always stands for the same sound, (2) letters are not written where no sound is pronounced (e.g. gh are not wanted in right), (3) differences of quantity, or length, are distinguished, (4) accented syllables are marked, the acute accent ' implies the chief or strongest stress, or accent, the grave accent ` implies secondary or weaker accent, unstressed syllables are unmarked.

Throughout this Dictionary two systems of phonetic notation are employed, numbered respectively 1 and 2, these phonetic spellings being enclosed in square brackets []. The following are examples of their use.

advocacy, n [1. ădvəkəsɪ, 2. ădvəkəsɪ] afford, v b trans [1. ăfɔrd, 2. ăfɔd] affranchise, v b trans [1. ăfrənʃaɪz, 2. ăfrəntʃaɪz]
agitation, n [1. ăjɪtəʃən, 2. ădɪtəʃən]

System No 1 may be preferred by the general reader because it contains no unfamiliar letters or symbols. By this system a very fairly accurate idea of the pronunciation can be conveyed.

System No 2 is more precise, and distinguishes more minutely the various sounds and shades of sound which occur in English speech. It contains, however, a number of letters or symbols which are unfamiliar to the general reader, and on this account he may prefer to disregard it, and to trust to system No 1. This more elaborate system (No 2) is, however, in accordance with the principles demanded by exact notation, and such systems are commonly employed by philologists today in scientific descriptions of pronunciation, and in the discussion of linguistic facts.

The keys provided below should make clear the phonetic values of the symbols of both systems.

It must be borne in mind that no system of this kind, whether popular in character or of a more exact kind, can be self-explanatory, but demands that the reader should make himself familiar, by constant reference to the key, with the sound values attached to the various symbols.

Key to System No. 1

a as in hat	o as in bell	i as in bit	ɔ as in note	fr as in here	th as in think ah as in father	ō as in be	ī as in bite	ōr as in more	oo as in put	dh as in there ā as in hate	ār as in deer	īr as in fire	ūs as in but	ōō as in soon	gh as in loth ār as in here	ō as in herd, bird	o as in not	ū as in two	ou as in now, out	ch as in pleasure

Key to System No. 2

SIMPLE VOWELS
(Symbols)	(Phonetic Values)	(Symbols)	(Phonetic Values)	(Symbols)	(Phonetic Values) ā	as in hat, father, hard	o	as in Fr beau.	d	as in dark æ	as in Standard Southern English hat, strap	ā	as in Fr an, anglo, pauser	t	as in take, danced, mint a	as in but, rust, blood, Monday.	ō	as in Fr son	ð	as in this, bother e	as in hen, get	ā	as in Fr vin, singo	p	as in think, breath ɛ	as in pen, bed, private	ō	as in Fr un	l	as in look f	as in seat, head, machine	DIPHTHONGS		j	as in Fr soufflé.
ɜ	as in hot, want			j	as in yacht, year, few [fju] ō	as in awe, caught, torn, hail	(10 combinations of two vowel sounds of which only the first is accented and syllabic)		ʒ	as in Fr jour, Engl pleasure [pleʒə], bridge [brɪʒ] ū	as in bird, turn, learn, word.	au	as in house, now, plough	f	as in ship, wish, obey [ɪfɪp], nation [neɪʃən] ə	only in unstressed or unaccented syllables, as butter, together, the dog, perhaps	ou	as in stone, grow	z	as in lazy, cause, dogs, is.
ū	as in hoot, brood, rude, rue	ai	as in white, night, I, fly	s	as in sip, cats, piece u	as in put, pull, foot, could	oi	as in toy, boil	g	as in good, beg In French words, &c.		ei	as in air, bare, their	k	as in kite, cat, lock as	as in Fr patte	ei	as in made, take, again, vein	n	as in no, know, gun y	as in Fr pure.	io	as in bear, queer, hier, imperial	m	as in small, lamb, hymn o	as in Fr dē.	io	as in field, lived, sealed	ŋ	as in sing, long, thank [ɪŋk] ō	as in Ital credore.	uo	as in one pronunciation of sure, poor.	r	as in ring, write, very
i	as in Fr si	CONSONANTS		r	as in Fr rencontre ɛ	as in Fr peu.	b	as in bat	h	as in home p	as in pot	w	as in wall, dwell, queen.
		v	as in vain, of	ʒ	as in Germ tag f	as in fat, enough.	ʒ	as in Scots loch j	as in Germ Reich

Principles of Strict Phonetic Notation Explained

By using a phonetic notation we attempt to convey, as accurately as this can be done by graphic symbols, some of the actual facts concerning pronunciation. In order to accomplish this it is necessary (a) that there should be a separate symbol for every sound which occurs in the language, and (b) that every time a given sound occurs it should be represented by the same symbol. The first two essentials, then, are completeness in the set of symbols employed, and consistency in using them.

A third condition which must be observed is that no symbol be written needlessly, that is, a letter is not written where no sound is pronounced. Thus there is no sound corresponding to l in talk, it has long since disappeared from English pronunciation. Therefore when this or similar words are expressed by phonetic notation, no symbol is written between the vowel and the final consonant. We think of the word simply as it appeals to the ear, as a combination of sounds, every one of which must be expressed by a symbol. Where no sound is heard, no symbol is written.

Quantity. Long vowels are marked by placing the ordinary mark of length over them, as [ā, ī] &c. Short vowels are left unmarked [æ, ɛ] &c.

Some vowels popularly called 'long' are in reality diphthongs, that is, they consist of two distinct vowel sounds, they are therefore written with two symbols. Thus 'long i' as in white consists of the two short vowels [a] as in German mann, and [i] as in Engl. bit. This diphthong is therefore written [ai]. The vowels in take and stone are often referred to respectively as 'long a' and 'long o'. In reality, in educated English speech, they also are diphthongs, and are therefore written [eɪ, oʊ].

Stress or Accent. The stressed or accented syllable of a word is indicated by placing an acute accent over the vowel, thus [fɪd̩s]. If a word, such as certain compounds, has a strong stress on two syllables, both are marked, as [haʊt̩hænd̩d] 'high handed'.

Where a word of several syllables has, in addition to the chief stress and the unstressed or weak syllables, also one which has a secondary or weaker stress than that of the syllable which has the chief or strongest stress, this secondary stress is marked by placing the grave accent over it, as [ʊnd̩fæt̩gəbl̩] 'undefatigable'.

It must be remembered that what a phonetic notation as used in a dictionary can accomplish is to show in which words and syllables certain sounds are used. It cannot, without entering into long discussions which would be almost useless to those who had not received a special training in Phonetics, inform the reader what is the precise nature and character of the sounds themselves. Thus the vowel sound in hand may be pronounced in a dozen different ways in different English dialects, that is to say, that all over England perhaps a dozen different vowel sounds may be heard in this word. When therefore, in this Dictionary, the pronunciation of hand is indicated as [hænd̩] the reader is not informed which of the exact varieties is intended. All he can discover is that the writer of the Dictionary states that the same vowel is pronounced here as in all other words in which the symbol [æ] is written.

When it is said, then, that a Dictionary tells us how to pronounce, the claim as a rule is, in reality, too wide. All it does is to show the distribution of sounds, to indicate in which words the same sounds occur. It also tells us where the accent is placed, and whether the vowels are short or long. But it does not give what a phonetician would call an exact analysis of the sounds themselves. Key words are given as a guide to what is called 'the values' of the symbols, but since different people may have different pronunciations of the words given, none can be certain that his sound in a given word is exactly that intended by the person who drew up the tables. All that can be said is that the sounds which the writer of this Dictionary had in mind are those in use among the majority of persons who speak Southern Standard, or better, Received Standard English. If this description is considered too vague, it must suffice here to say that Received Standard is that type of English which is spoken by those who have been educated at one of the older Public Schools. It is by no means the exclusive property of these, but from them at any rate we may be pretty sure of hearing it.

Note on Method of Arrangement

AS the plan of this Dictionary differs in some details from that of others of its size, a short exposition of this is given here.

Each entry appears in black type, followed immediately by the part of speech, noun, verb, preposition etc. Homonyms, i.e. words having the same form but different sense (e.g. bear, the verb, and bear, the animal), are given separate entries, followed by Roman figures enclosed in brackets. bear (I), vb, bear (II), n. This plan is also usually followed for words used as two or more different parts of speech. account (I), n, account (II), vb.

Next comes the pronunciation in the two forms of phonetic notation, enclosed in square brackets.

Following the pronunciation, and preceding the definition of the word, its origin is indicated. This may consist merely in a reference to another entry (e.g. See prec., See next word &c.) or in a reference in black type to one or more other entries (e.g. under aeroplane, See aero- & plane) where the various parts of the word are fully dealt with. Under the main etymology is given the history of the word as far as it can be traced, working back, for example, from the modern form to Old English, Germanic, and finally to the most primitive Aryan form, or through Middle English to French, Latin, and possibly Greek. The relation of the word to words in other languages is indicated, and references are given in black type to other entries in the Dictionary which should be looked up in order to trace the interesting connexion which often exists between words apparently unrelated. See under abstruse, affray, agglomerate, aur (I).

It may happen occasionally that the etymology of a simple word is so long and interesting as completely to overshadow the short definition which appears at the end of the entry. An instance of this occurs under albatross.

After the history of the word comes its use in present-day English. For greater clarity this is usually subdivided. In the case of a verb which is used transitively and intransitively, the main divisions are headed, e.g. A trans, B intrans (see act (II)). Each of these divisions is divided into minor divisions, numbered 1, 2, 3, and so on, and each of these subdivisions may be further divided into a, b, c &c. Occasionally one of these small subdivisions is again divided into (i), (ii), (iii).

In addition to defining the meaning of a word in all its developments and applications, short sentences illustrating its various uses are given in italics. Special idiomatic uses, including colloquialisms and slang expressions, are given, preceded by Phr., e.g. Phr. that cock won't fight, q v under cock (I).

Abbreviations used in this Dictionary abbr.	abbreviated, abbreviation	corrupt cp	corruption compare crystallography	illit imit imperf imperf imperf imperf	illiterate imitative imperative imperfect imperfect imperfect	Nthn numls	northern numismatic	R C redapl ref	Roman Catholic abl	ablative	crystal		imper imper imper imper		O	Old	redapl	reduplicated absol	absolute(ly)	Dan	Danish	imperf imperf imperf imperf		obs	obsolete	ref	reference acc	accusative	dat	Danish	imperf imperf imperf imperf		obs	obsolete	ref	reference A D	Anno Domini	def	definite	imperf imperf imperf imperf		O D	Old Dutch	reg	regular ad	adapted	demon	demonstrative	imperf imperf imperf imperf		O E	Old English	rel	relative adj	adjective	dial	dialect	imperf imperf imperf imperf		O Fr	Old French	relig	religious adv	adverb	dilin	diminutive	imperf imperf imperf imperf		O Frs	Old Frisian	rhet	rhetorical advhl	adverbial	dist	distinguished	imperf imperf imperf imperf		O H G	Old High German	Rom	Roman aeron	aeronomy	Du	Dutch	imperf imperf imperf imperf		O L G	Old Low German	Russ	Russian

A -Fr	Anglo French	E	East	imperf imperf imperf imperf		O N	Old Norse	R V	Revised Version Afr	Africa	eccl	ecclesiastical	imperf imperf imperf imperf		opt	optics	S	South agric	agriculture	ecoc	economics	imperf imperf imperf imperf		org	organic(ly)	sc	school (namely) alchem	alchemy	educ	education	imperf imperf imperf imperf		ormth	ornithology	Scand	Scandinavian alg	algebra	o	example	imperf imperf imperf imperf		O S	Old Saxon	Sort	Sort Am	American	eg	example	imperf imperf imperf imperf		O T	Old Testament	sculp	sculpture anal	analysis	Egyptol	Egyptology	imperf imperf imperf imperf		paint	painting	shd	should anat	anatomy	elect	electricity	imperf imperf imperf imperf		palaeont.	palaeontology	sing	singular anct	ancient	engin	engineering	imperf imperf imperf imperf		parl	parliamentary	Slav	Slavic anthropol	anthropology	Engl	English	imperf imperf imperf imperf		pass	passage	Span	Spanish antiq	antiquities	ecotom	ecotomology	imperf imperf imperf imperf		pathol	pathology	specif	specific(ally) Arab	Arabic	equiv	equivalent	imperf imperf imperf imperf		perf	perfect	spunt	spunt archaeol	archaeology	esp	especially	imperf imperf imperf imperf		perh	perhaps	Sthn	south archit	architecture	ethool	ethology	imperf imperf imperf imperf		Pers	Persian	subj	subjunctive arith	arithmetic	etymol	etymology	imperf imperf imperf imperf		pers	Persian	suff	suffix art	article	fact	factitious	imperf imperf imperf imperf		Peruv	Peruvian	superl	superlative astrol	astrology	fem	feminine	imperf imperf imperf imperf		philol	philology	surg	surgery astron	astronomy	feud	feudal(ism)	imperf imperf imperf imperf		philos	philosophy	surv	survivor attrib	attributive(ly)	fig	figurative	imperf imperf imperf imperf		phoo	phonetic(s)	Swed	Swedish auxil	auxiliary	flon	floral	imperf imperf imperf imperf		photog	photography	styl	style A V	Authorized Version	fol	folio	imperf imperf imperf imperf		phr	phrase	techn	technical, technolbacter	bacteriology	fort	fortification	imperf imperf imperf imperf		phreol	phreology	tele	telegraphy Balto Slav	Balto Slavic	fr	French	imperf imperf imperf imperf		phys	physics	teleph	telephony
B C	Before Christ	freg	frequentative	imperf imperf imperf imperf		physiol	physiology	theat	theatrical Bib	Biblical	fut	future	imperf imperf imperf imperf		pl	plural	theol	theology bibliog	bibliography	Gael	Gaelic	imperf imperf imperf imperf		Pl -N	Place-Name	theo	theosophy biog	biography	gen	general	imperf imperf imperf imperf		poet	poetry, poetical	trans	transference biol	biology	genit	genitive	imperf imperf imperf imperf		Pol	Polish	transf	transferred bot	botany	geog	geography	imperf imperf imperf imperf		polit.	political	transl	translated bot	botany	geol	geology	imperf imperf imperf imperf		Port.	Portuguese	trig	trigonometry Brazil	Brazilian	geom	geometry	imperf imperf imperf imperf		possess	possessive	Turk	Turkish Bret	Breton	Germ	German (modern)	imperf imperf imperf imperf		P P	past participle	typog	typography
B V M	Blessed Virgin Mary	Gk	Greek	imperf imperf imperf imperf		Pr	present participle	univ	university c	circa (about)	Goth	Gothic	imperf imperf imperf imperf		pred.	predicative	US A	United States of America cap	capital	gram	grammar	imperf imperf imperf imperf		pref	prefix	usu.	usually Carib	Caribbean	heb	Hebrew	imperf imperf imperf imperf		prep	preposition	vb	verb cd	could	her	heraldry	imperf imperf imperf imperf		Pres Part	present participle	vbl n	verbal noun Celt	Celtic	Hind.	Hindustani, Hindi	imperf imperf imperf imperf		pret	preterite	veter	veterinary cent	century	hist	history	imperf imperf imperf imperf		prnt	printing	vulg	vulgar Ch	church	horol	horology	imperf imperf imperf imperf		priv	privative	W	Welsh chem	chemistry	hort	horticulture	imperf imperf imperf imperf		pron	pronoun	with	with Chin	Chinese	ibid	ibidem (the same)	imperf imperf imperf imperf		prob	probably	W Gma.	West Germanic class	classical	iccl	Icelandic	imperf imperf imperf imperf		provinc	provincial	wild	wild cogn	cognate	le	least (that is)	imperf imperf imperf imperf		psychol	psychology	W S	West Saxon coll	collective(ly)			imperf imperf imperf imperf		punct.	punctuation	zool.	zoology colloq	colloquial			imperf imperf imperf imperf		q v	quod vide (which see) commerc	commercial			imperf imperf imperf imperf compar	comparative			imperf imperf imperf imperf conj	conjunctive			imperf imperf imperf imperf con	connected			imperf imperf imperf imperf Copt	Coptic			imperf imperf imperf imperf Corn	Cornish			imperf imperf imperf imperf correl.	correlative			imperf imperf imperf imperf

An asterisk (*) preceding a word indicates a form of which there is no actual record, but which is reconstructed in accordance with known rules of development.

Bibliographical Note

In the etymologies reference is frequently made to authorities on philology, whose opinions are quoted, e.g. 'According to Skeat . . .', 'Walds says that . . .'. We give below the titles of the works from which such quotations are made and others that have been consulted.

- Berneker, E. Slavische etymologische Wörterbuch, vol I. Heidelberg, 1908-13.
- Bousquet, Emile. Dictionnaire étymologique de la langue grecque. 2nd ed. Heidelberg and Paris, 1923.
- Bosworth Toller. Anglo-Saxon Dictionary. Oxford Supplement (Toller). Oxford, 1921.
- (Stratzmann) Bradley. Middle English Dictionary. Oxford, 1891.
- Concise Oxford Dictionary of Current English (H. W. and F. G. Fowler). Oxford, 1929.
- Hellquist, E. Svensk Etymologisk Ordbok. Lund, 1921.
- Kluge, F. Etymologisches Wörterbuch der deutschen Sprache. 8th ed. Berlin and Leipzig, 1921.
- Lewis and Short. A Latin Dictionary. Oxford, 1927.
- Liddell and Scott. A Greek-English Lexicon. Oxford, 1929.
- Meyer-Lübke, W. Romanisches etymologisches Wörterbuch. 2nd ed. Heidelberg, 1924.
- New Standard Dictionary of the English Language. Funk & Wagnalls Company, New York, 1930.
- Oxford English Dictionary. A New English Dictionary on Historical Principles. Edited by Sir James Murray, Henry Bradley, W. A. Craigie, and C. T. Onions. Oxford, 1884-1928. (Abbr. O.E.D.)
- Roget, Peter. Thesaurus of English Words. New ed. 1920.
- Skeat, W. W. An Etymological Dictionary of the English Language. New ed. Oxford, Clarendon Press, 1910.
- Uhlenbeck, C. Kurz gefasstes etymologisches Wörterbuch der gotischen Sprache. 1896.
- Walds, Alois. Lateinisches etymologisches Wörterbuch. 2nd ed. Heidelberg, 1910.
- Webster's New International Dictionary of the English Language. G. Bell & Sons, London, 1924.
- Weekley, E. An Etymological Dictionary of the English Language. London, 1921.
- Yule, Henry, and Burnell, A. C. Hobson-Jobson, A Glossary of Colloquial Anglo-Indian Words and Phrases. New ed. by W. Crooke. London, Murray, 1903.

The Universal Dictionary of the English Language

A, a [1 æ, 2 ei] 1 The first letter of the English and other cognate alphabets, for the various sounds see Rules for Pronunciation, and for abbreviations see end of Dictionary 2 As symbol, denoting the first in order or quality of a series, esp a in classification of shipping according to rate of seaworthiness, in Lloyd's Register, with addition of numeral A 1, first class, in general, first rate, superior, b (alg) denoting the first of a series of known quantities, c (mus) the sixth note in the diatonic scale of G major, the scale in which the keynote is A.

a (I), indef art (before consonant sounds) [1 æ, 2 ei, a], an (before vowel sounds) [1 an, 2 an] O.E. ān, 'one, a', in M.E. differentiated in form, into a, an, 'a' when unstressed, and an, ā, 'one', when stressed, see one a Used primarily before nouns in sing, b before collectives which imply a number of persons or things a dozen, a few &c, c before a proper name used as type of character &c a Napoleon, a Milton, one lil e, such a man as &c, d with distributive force a mile a minute, a hundred a year &c, where the second a is now felt as indef art but is historically a prep See next word.

a (II), prep Weakened form of O.E. an, 'in, into, on' See on 1 Used as prefix in such adverbial compounds as abed, afloat, ashore &c, q v See also a- 2 Written with hyphen or separate, as in now-a-days, once a month (in latter phrase a has same origin and function as in former) 3 With verbal nouns, in sense of in process of, in act of a-building, a-ringing, a-hunting a- pref a fr O.E. an, prep, used to form adv see prec ashore &c b O.E. ā, intens arise, used also to form trans fr intrans vbs away c=Lat. ab, 'from' See ab- d=Lat. ad, 'to' See ad- e=Gk. a-, an-, neg, or priv part See an- & in- f=Fr. a-, fr Lat. ex-, 'out of' See ex- aardvark, n [1 ardvarik, 2 dādvāk] Dutch, lit 'earth pig' See Engl cognates earth & farrow A South African burrowing quadruped which feeds entirely on ants aardwolf, n [1 ārdwoolf, 2 dādwulf] Du See earth & wolf A South African carnivorous animal, somewhat resembling the hyena and civet

Aaron's beard, n [1 āranz bērd, 2 eoranz biəd] See Pa. ccccui Popular name of plants some part of which resembles a beard, esp the Great St John's wort, Hypericum calycinum, and the mother of thousands, Sedum spectabile

Aaron's rod n [1 āranz rōd, 2 eoranz rōd] See Exod vii 9 and Num xvi n (arch) A straight, long, upright moulding with leaf and scroll work, b (bot) popular name of the common mullein, Verbascum thapsus, and the golden rod, Solidago ab- pref La prep, used also as pref, implying motion away from, departure, separation, consumption, absence, difference Cogn w Gk apo, 'away, from', Sort apa, 'away, back', O.H.G. aba, ob, 'from, off', O.E. af, of See of aback, adv [1 abak, 2 əbæk], fr a- & back Backwards, towards or to the back 1 (naut) Backward against the mast, said of sails of a ship, or of ship itself, when sails are pressed against the mast by a head wind 2 (fig) Surprised taken aback

abacus, n [1 ābakus, 2 əbəkəs], fr Lat obacus, abax, Gk abax, genit ābakos, 'square board strewn with sand for tracing figures, tablet', fr Heb ābāq, 'dust' 1 A calculating frame with balls sliding on wires, the Pythagorean multiplication table 2 (archit.) A slab forming the uppermost member of the capital of a column 3 A sideboard or cupboard divided into compartments for holding cups, bottles &c

Abaddon, n [1 ābadum, 2 əbædan] Heb, 'abyss, destruction' 1 Sheol, hell, place of the lost souls, the bottomless pit 2 The destroying angel, Apollyon abaft, adv & prep [1 abahft, 2 əhft], fr O.E. elements on be aġlan, 'behind' 1 adv (naut) On or towards the stern or hinder part of a ship 2 prep (naut) Behind, towards the stern abalone, n [1 ābalōn, 2 əbelounē] Span, origin unknown A shell fish, halibut or ear shell, with perforated dark blue and green shell, lined with mother-of-pearl abandon (I), vb trans [1 ābandun, 2 əbændən] In M.E., fr O Fr a bandon, 'm the power of, at one's disposal, at liberty, according to one's desire', see ban (II) 1 A To give up, relinquish entirely to abandon a career, a mode of life, a purpose, plan &c, b to leave, depart from (a place or dwelling) to abandon one's house, country &c, c to give up (one state of mind for another) to abandon hope, d to forsake, generally in a heartless and illegal manner to abandon one's wife, children, friends 2 (reflex, one self &c.) To cease to control one's passions and feelings, give oneself up entirely to these to abandon oneself to vice, despair &c abandon (II), n [1 ābandun, 2 əbāds], also [ābandən] fr, fr prec A giving up to natural impulses, generally with the idea of passionate fervour, letting oneself go irrepressible action, speaking &c with abandon abandoned adj [1 ābandund, 2 əbændənd], fr abandon (I) Lacking moral principle vicious, immoral, profligate an abandoned woman abandonment n [1 ābandunment, 2 əbændunmənt] abandon (I) & -ment. 1 The act of giving up, relinquishing, or forsaking 2 The state of being forsaken abase vb trans [1 ābās, 2 əbēis] fr O Fr abaissier, 'to bring low' n- & base To lower, cast down, reduce in rank, humble, degrade (only in fig sense) abatement, n [1 ābāsmənt, 2 əbēismənt] Prec & -ment State of being abased, humiliation abash, vb trans [1 ābash, 2 əhæʃ] In M.E., fr O Fr esbahur, esbahiss-, 'astonish', lit 'about bah' at', Lat ex- & word of imitative origin, see -ish, vhl. suff To put to shame, destroy (a person's self-possession), confound, disconcert, discomfit abashed, adj [1 ābasht, 2 əbāʃt] Confounded, disconcerted to stand abashed abate, vb trans & intrans [1 ābāt, 2 əbēt], fr O Fr abatire, 'to beat down' See a- & batter (I) A trans 1 To bring down, diminish, reduce, lessen, a (in material senses) to abate a tax, price &c, b (in non-material senses) to abate one's pride &c 2 (law) To bring to an end, to do away with to abate a nuisance B intrans 1 To decrease, grow less, grow smaller, of storm, flood, disease &c 2 (law) To become less proportionately in amount, of claims, legacies &c, when all assets are insufficient to pay in full abatement, n [1 ābātment, 2 əbētment] Prec & -ment 1 Decrease, reduction 2 (law) a Removal, destruction of cause abatement of nuisance, b entrance by a stranger on freehold before the entry of an heir or devisee abatement of freehold, c deduction proportionately when assets are insufficient for payment in full abatement of debts, legacies abat(t)is, n [1 ābātis, -tē, 2 əbātis, -tī] Fr abatus, 'mass of things felled, or thrown down', fr abatre See abate & batter (II) (mil.) Defence, or obstacle, e.g. on a road, or round a fort, consisting of felled trees fastened together with butts inwards abattoir, n [1 ābatwar, 2 əbatwā] Fr, meaning place where animals are felled, i.e. slaughtered See abate & batter (I) & -ory Slaughter house abb, n [1 āb, 2 əb] O.E. āb, āweb See a- & web Yarn for the woof abbacy, n [1 āhāsī, 2 əbāsī], fr eccles Lat abbātio, fr abbās, 'an abbot' See abbot The dignity, jurisdiction, or tenure of an abbot abbé, n [1 āhā, 2 əbēi] Fr, fr Lat abbāt (em), abbās See abbot Title of respect used in France to a priest, also applied to ecclesiastics in minor orders, e.g. the Abbe Laszi abbess, n [1 ābes, 2 əbes] O Fr abbesse, L Lat abbatissa Lady at the head of a nunnery abbey, n [1 ābi, 2 əbi] M.E., fr O Fr obate, popular form fr eccles Lat abbātio See abbacy 1 A monastery or society of celibate persons of either sex secluded from the world and devoted to religion 2 The collection of buildings in which such a society resides 3 A church formerly belonging to an abbey, b a building, once an abbey, converted into a private dwelling house abbot, n [1 ábt, 2 ábat] Borrowed already fr Lat abbát(-is) in OE in form abbod, ME also abbot. The word came through Gk fr Syriac abbā, 'father'. The male head or superior of an abbey or monastery.

abbreviate, vb trans [1 abréviāt, 2 abréviert], fr Lat abbreviāt (um), PP type of abbreviāre, 'shorten', fr ab- & breuiāre, 'to shorten', fr brevis, 'short'. See ab-, brief, -ate. To make brief, to shorten (esp. a speech or narrative), to shorten (a word) by writing part for the whole.

abbreviation, n [1 abréviāshun, 2 abréviatshun] Prec & -ion. Curtailment, shortening, act of shortening, esp. of a word in writing, e.g. Bort for Baronnet.

abbreviator, n [1 abréviātūr, 2 abréviatōr] See prec & -or. One who abbreviates, esp. one who cuts a book down to smaller compass.

abdicate, vb trans [1 ábdikāt, 2 ábdikert], fr Lat abdīcāt (um), PP type of abdīcare, 'disown, reject'. See ab- & dicare. To give up, withdraw from exercise of (office or power), to (often absol.) of reigning monarchs) to relinquish the crown.

abdication, n [1 ábdikāshun, 2 ábdikē[shun]] Prec & -ion. The act of laying down an office, specif. formal withdrawal from office by reigning monarch.

abdomen, n [1 ábdomen, 2 ábdōmen] Lat abdomen, abdomen, the etymol of which is very doubtful. Perb related to Gk -dus in nēdus, 'helly, womb', & duō, 'clothe, enter', see ecdysis (anat.) The helly, that part of the human or animal body between the thorax and the pelvis, including stomach, bowels &c., part of insect behind legs.

abdominal, adj [1 ábdōminal, 2 ábdōmīnal] Lat abdomen & adj suff -alis, see -al. Pertaining to the abdomen or belly, and the lower part of the body. abdominal region, abdominal section, cutting into abdomen.

abduct, adj [1 ábdūkt, 2 ábdūkt] Prec & -ent. See ab- & ducere, 'lead away from'. See abduct (anat.) Drawing back or away, esp. abductant muscles, those which pull back parts they are attached to. See abductor.

abduct, vb trans [1 ábdūkt, 2 ábdūkt] Lat abducere (um), PP type of abducere, 'to lead away', fr ab- & ducere, 'to lead'. See duct. 1 (rare) To draw, or lead, away. 2 To take away illegally, to kidnap, specif. to carry off a woman unlawfully.

abduction, n [1 ábdūkshun, 2 ábdūk[shun]] fr Lat abductiō (em). See prec & -ion. The act of abducting. Specif. 1 (law) The unlawful carrying off of a person (esp. a young woman or ward). 2 (anat.) A Muscular action of moving a limb &c. away from the body, or from another limb or part, b (surg.) gaping through shrinkage, of edges of a wound. 3 (log.) A syllogism of which the minor premise, and therefore the conclusion, is merely probable.

abductor, n [1 ábdūktēr, 2 ábdūktēs] See abduct & -or (anat.) Muscle which moves parts of the body away from each other.

abeam, adv [1 ábēm, 2 ábēm] See a- & beam (naut.) At right angles to the ship's length or keel, b opposite the middle of the ship's side.

abecedarian, adj [1 ábēdērian, 2 ábēdērian] fr first four letters of the alphabet, & -arian. a Arranged alphabetically, b belonging to ABC of a subject, hence elementary.

abed, adv [1 áhēd, 2 áhēd], fr OE on bedde, 'in bed'. See a- & bed (archaic). In bed or on the bed. Phr to lie abed.

abele, n [1 ábēl, 2 ábēl] Do obel, fr O Fr obel, aubel. Low Lat abellus, 'little white thing (tree)', dumm of olbus, 'white'. See alb. White poplar.

Aberdeen terrer, n [1 ábērdē tēner, 2 ábērdē tēner] fr Aberdeen, in Scotland. The Scotch terrer, q.v.

aberdervine, n [1 ábērdēvin, 2 ábērdēvin]

Origin unknown. Bird-fancier's name for the siskin.

aberrance, aberrancy, n [1 ábērāns(i), 2 ábērāns(i)] fr Lat aberrantia, formed fr Pres Part of aberrare, 'wander away, go astray'. See ab- & err. 1 A moral wandering or lapse, straying from the path of rectitude. 2 (geom.) Aberrancy of curvature, the deviation of a curve from its circle of curvature at any point.

aberrant, adj [1 ábērānt, 2 ábērānt] See prec & (fig.) Straying from the right way, b specif. (biol.) deviating from the natural type, abnormal.

aberration, n [1 ábērāshun, 2 ábērāshun] Lat aberrātiō (em), 'a wandering', fr aberrāti (um), PP type of aberrare. See aberrance (gen. sense). Departure from normal or expected course. 1 Moral or intellectual wandering, deviation from right course of thought or conduct, error, moral or mental lapse. 2 (astron.) Displacement of a heavenly body's true position to the observer, difference between true and observed positions of a heavenly body. 3 (biol.) Departure, deviation from type. 4 (opt.) The non-convergence of rays to one focus.

abet, vb trans [1 ábet, 2 ábet] ME abetten, 'instigate', fr O Fr abet, lit. 'to cause to bite, lure', fr ON baita, q.v. under bait (I). To assist, encourage, or incite in or to an action, instigate, countenance, chiefly in bad sense, esp. aid and abet.

abetment, n [1 ábetment, 2 ábetment] Prec & -ment. The act of abetting, inciting or egging-on a person, esp. to do something wrong.

abettal, n [1 ábētl, 2 ábētl] abat & -al. Ahetment.

abetter, abettor, n [1 ábēter, 2 ábēter] See prec & -or, -or. One who incites, a supporter, confederate.

abeyance, n [1 ábēāns, 2 ábēāns] A-Fr abeyance, 'suspension', fr O Fr vb beer, 'gape', as in expectation of something, fr Low Lat badare, 'gape'. Orig. 'gaping expectancy' (law) State of temporary suspension or inhibition, a dormant or latent condition capable of revival, esp. in Phr in abeyance, to fall into abeyance, esp. of hereditary title, also of a law, rule, or custom temporarily suspended.

abhor, vb trans [1 ábhōr, 2 ábhōr], fr Lat abhorrere, 'to shrink away from'. See ab- & horrid. To feel extreme hatred or loathing for, to shrink from with horror, to regard with disgust, to detest.

abhorrence, n [1 ábhōrens, 2 ábhōrens] See prec & -ence. a Extreme hatred, detestation, b something that is detested. hypocrisy is my abhorrence.

abhorrent, adj [1 ábhōrēt, 2 ábhōrēt] See abhor & -ent. Inspiring disgust, hateful to be abhorrent to.

abide, vb intrans & trans [1 ábid, 2 ábid] In ME, OE onbidan, 'wait for, expect'. See a- & bide. A intrans.

1 To dwell, stay, take up one's abode (archaic). 2 To remain fixed in a certain state, to continue abide by, to remain faithful to, adhere to, stick to a bargain, decision, undertaking, promise &c. B trans. 1 To wait for, be prepared for, watch for. 'Who may abide the day of His Coming?' 2 (colloq., vulg., or facetious) To endure, put up with, tolerate (gen. with neg.) I can't abide that.

abiding, adj [1 ábīdīng, 2 ábīdīng] As fr Pres Part of prec. Permanent, continual, which does not fade or pass away.

abidingly, adv. Prec & -ly. Continually.

abies, n [1 ábīez, 2 ábīez] Lat, 'the silver fir', etymol uncertain (bot.) A genus of coniferous trees, including the true fir, with straight, erect cones and separate needles not joined at the base.

abigail, n [1 áhīgāl, 2 áhīgēl] Biblical woman's name. A waiting-woman or lady's maid. See I Sam xxv 41.

ability, n [1 áblītī, 2 áblītī] O Fr abileté, fr Lat habilitat(-em), 'aptitude, ability', fr habilis, 'handy, easy to manage', fr habere, 'have, hold, control'. See habere. A Power to perform, whether physical or intellectual, skill or competence, cleverness in doing something. Phr to the best of one's ability, as well as one can, b (in pl.) limited to sense of cleverness, intellectual capacity.

ab initio. See initio.

abiogenesis, n [1 ábīōjēnēs, 2 ábīōjēnēs] fr Gk a-, 'without', & bios, 'life', see biology, & genesis. Spontaneous generation, the doctrine that living organism can be produced from lifeless matter.

abiogenetic, adj [1 ábīōjēnētīk, 2 ábīōjēnētīk] See prec & -genetic. Relating to theory of spontaneous generation.

abiogenetically, adv [1 ábīōjēnētīkālī, 2 ábīōjēnētīkālī] Prec & -al & -ly (of forms of life). Produced without previously existing life.

abiogenist, n [1 ábīōjēnist, 2 ábīōjēnist] See abiogenesis & -ist. One who holds the doctrine of spontaneous generation.

abject (I), adj [1 ábjekt, 2 ábjekt] fr Lat abject (um), PP type of abjicere, 'to throw away', fr ab- & jacere, 'to throw'. See jectation. 1 (of condition, state). Degraded, wretched in object poverty. 2 (of persons). Contemptible, miserable, servile, spiritless, cowardly. the most abject of flatterers, an abject time server. 3 (of actions). Groveling, despicable. to make an abject apology.

abject (II), n, fr, prec. (archaic and Bib.) A person in a low condition, a despicable wretch, an outcast. 'the very objects came together against me' (Ps xxxv 16).

abjection, n [1 ábjēkshun, 2 ábjēk[shun]] fr Lat abjectiō (em). See abject (I) & -ion. (rare) A low state, degradation, abasement.

abjectly, adv [1 ábjēktlī, 2 ábjēktlī] abject (II) & -ly. In an abject manner, contemptibly, servilely.

abjectness, n [1 ábjēktnes, 2 ábjēkt[nes]] See prec & -ness. Misyry, cringing timidity, servility.

abjuration, n [1 ábjūrāshun, 2 ábjūrāshun] fr Lat abjurātiō (em). See abjure. Renunciation on oath.

abjure, vb trans [1 ábjūr, 2 ábjūr] fr Lat abjurare, 'to deny on oath'. See ab- & juror. 1 To renounce upon oath, swear off from, e.g. allegiance to a person or cause. 2 To give up, surrender (a claim &c.). 3 To relinquish formally (an opinion, religious doctrine, heresy &c.).

ablactation, n [1 áblaktāshun, 2 áblaktē[shun]] fr Lat ablactatiō (em), lit. 'putting away of milk, weaning'. See ab- & lactation. Weaning of a child from the breast.

ablation, n [1 áblāshun, 2 áblē[shun]] fr Lat oblātiō (em), fr oblāt(-um), used as PP of aufferre 'to carry, take away', the base lat is for lāt*, & occurs in Lat also in another form as tol-. See tolerate & thole (I). Lat 'a taking away', specif. a removal of any part of the body by surgical operation, b wearing away of a glacier or rock by melting or action of water.

ablative, adj & n [1 áblatīv, 2 áblatīv] Lat ablātīvus, fr ablātus, see prec & adj suff -ivus, see -ive. Lat 'that which takes away'. Name invented by Julius Caesar for a Lat case in nouns, expressing origin, agent, instrument &c., a case with similar functions is found in all the older Aryan languages.

ablaunt, n [1 áblānt, 2 áblānt] German word. Term invented by Grimm for the vowel changes which occur in Aryan languages within the same base, due primarily to conditions and nature of original stress and intonation. ride—rode—ridden, Lat sed eo, sed-i, nidus, 'nest', fr ni sd o* &c. Those who prefer English words generally call the process Gradation, q.v. The German word is literally 'sound deviation', or 'variation'.

O.H.G. and Germ. ab, 'from', & laut, 'sound', see loud.

ablaze, adv & adj [1 abláz, 2 abléiz] See a- & blaze 1 adv On fire, in a blaze (of buildings &c) 2 adj (fig) a (of material objects) Aglow, gleaming, flashing ablaze with light, jewels &c, b (of mental condition) excited, wrought up ablaze with anger, indignation &c able, adj [1 ábl, 2 ébl] O Fr, Mod Fr habile, fr Lat habilis, 'handy, manageable, fit' &c, fr habere, 'to have, hold' See ability 1 a Having the means, skill, strength, opportunity, being in a position to accomplish something, specif b (law) legally qualified for an office, inheritance &c 2 a (of persons) Competent, clever, possessing abilities an able writer &c, b (of human performance) competently done, showing knowledge, skill, cleverness an able speech &c

-able, suff [1 abl, 2 ébl] fr Lat abilis stems in -á, & -ibilis See -ible Used in Fr with vbs of all conjugations. Living suffix in English, compounded with words of native and other origin as well as with those of Lat origin. A able to be, suitable for sizable, eatable, liable to or for taxable, b possessing qualities of, resembling, pertaining to, likely to comfortable, knowledgeable, peaceable, suitable, likable. Often associated and confused with independent able, as prob in understandable, un-get-at-able &c able-bodied, adj [1 ábl bodid, 2 ébl bodid] Sound, strong of body, physically fit and active Able-bodied seaman (abbrev AB), one who is able to perform all the duties of seamanship, and who has a special rating ablet, n. [1 áblet, 2 éblet] fr Fr ablète, fr Low Lat abula for albula, dimin. of alba, 'white' See alb A small fresh-water fish, the bleak abloom, adv & adj [1 ablóom, 2 éblóm] a- & bloom In bloom, blooming ablution, n. [1 ablotshun, 2 éblótshun] Lat ablutio (em), 'a washing, cleansing', fr ablueré, 'to wash off, wash away', fr ab- & luere, 'to wash', oogn. w Lat lavare, 'wash' See lave 1 A act of washing, esp of person, b (gen. pl) the act of washing or cleansing to perform one's ablutions, specif, a ceremonial washing of person, hands, or sacred vessels before or after solemn religious rites, e.g. at celebration of Eucharist 2. (sing) Water used in ceremonial ablution.

ablutinary, adj [1 ablotshunari, 2 éblótshunari] Prec & -ary Pertaining to washing and cleansing ably, adv [1 ábl, 2 ébl] See able & -y In an able manner, skilfully, competently abnegate, vb trans [1 ábnegát, 2 ébnegét] fr Lat abnegat (um), P.P type of abnegare, 'to refuse, deny' See ab- & negate To renounce, deny oneself, give up, relinquish.

abnegation, n. [1 ábnegáshun, 2 ébnegétshun] fr Lat abnegatio (em) See prec & -ion. Renunciation, denial, self denial abnormal, adj [1 abnórmal, 2 ébnórmál] fr Lat abnormus, 'deviating from rule', & -áls See ab- & norm & -al Not conforming to rule, deviating from a type or standard, irregular, exceptional an abnormal condition of affairs abnormality, n. [1 ábnórmálitá, 2 ébnórmálshít] Prec. & -ity Deviation from regular type or form, eccentricity of mind, deformity of person, an abnormal thing or person abnormally, adv [1 abnórmali, 2 ébnórmáli] abnormal & -ly In an irregular, eccentric manner, exceptionally abnormity, n. [1 ábnórmít, 2 ébnórmítshít] Lat abnormitas (em), 'irregularity' See abnormal & -ity Irregularity, anything which deviates from type, or departs from custom, irregularity of form, monstrosity aboard adv & prep [1 áboard, 2 éábd] See a- & board. 1 adv (naut) On board, into, within a ship or boat Phr all aboard!, warning of departure 2 adv Alongside to keep the land aboard, close aboard, hard aboard 3 prep On board of to go aboard a ship abode (I), n. [1 ábód, 2 éábd] Recent word (17th cent) formed fr Pret type of abide Dwelling-place, house, dwelling Phr take up, make one's abode abode (II), vb Pret of abide O.E. abād, M.E. abood

abolish, vb trans [1 abolish, 2 abolish] fr Fr abolir, abohr, fr Lat abolere, 'to decay, die away', inceptive form of aboleré, 'to destroy', prob oogn w Gk olethros, 'rum', ollumi, 'destroy', see Apollyon. To destroy, wipe out, extirpate, to do away with altogether abolition, n. [1 abolishun, 2 ébolishun] fr Lat abolitio (em), fr abolit (um), P.P type of abolere See abolish & -ion. The act or fact of doing away with, wiping out, as laws, customs, taxes, debts &c, complete destruction, specif destruction of some recognized abuse, such as negro slavery abolitionism, n. [1 abolishunism, 2 ébolishunizm] Prec & -ism Principles, theory, policy, which demand abolition of something abolitionist, n. [1 abolishunist, 2 ébolishuníst] See prec & -ist. One who favours abolition, esp of negro slavery abomasum, n. [1 ábómásun, 2 éaboméisem] Neo Lat See ab- & omasum The fourth, digesting stomach of a ruminant animal abominable, adj [1 abominabl, 2 abominabl] fr Lat abominabilis See abominable & -able A Causing intense horror and disgust, detestable, atrocious, esp morally odious, b (colloq) expressing more or less mild dislike an abominable dinner &c abominably, adv Prec & -ly In an abominable manner abominate, vb trans [1 abommát, 2 abóminet] fr Lat abominat (um), P.P type of abominare, 'to deprecate as an ill omen', hence 'detest' See ab- & omen. To loathe and detest, hold in horror, also merely, to dislike I abominate cold mutton abomination, n. [1 ábmínáshun, 2 ébmíneshun] fr Lat abominatio (em) See abominable & -ion 1 Act of abominating, loathing, detestation to hold a thing in abomination 2 Something abominable or detestable, disgusting, degrading practice, an object of loathing and disgust Phr the abomination of desolation, the desecration of the Temple at Jerusalem, see Dan. ix 27 &c, and Matt xxiv 15 aboriginal, adj & n. [1 abotshunál, 2 ébatshunál] See ab- & original & cp aborigines 1 adj Existing from the beginning, before earliest records, indigenous, esp in reference to indigenous races, flora, fauna &c of a region as distinct from later immigrants and imported plants and animals

2 n. An aboriginal person, plant, animal &c, in pl usually aborigines aboriginally, adv Prec & -ly From the earliest time aborigines, n. pl. [1 abotshunéz, 2 ébatshunéz] Lat aborigines, 'first inhabitants' (esp of Latium), fr ab origine, 'from the beginning'. See ab- & origin The primitive inhabitants of a country, supposed to have sprung from the soil, applied also, more rarely, to flora and fauna abort, vb intrans [1 ábort, 2 éábt] fr Lat abort (um), P.P type of abortir, 'to miscarry', fr ab & oriri, 'to be born'. See origin, orient. 1 To miscarry, give birth to offspring prematurely 2 (fig) (of schemes, plans &c) To come to nothing, go awry, fail abortifacient n & adj [1 abotshuníshant, 2 éábtshuníshant] See prec & -facient a n. Drug or other means for producing abortion, b adj, causing, producing, abortion.

abortion, n. [1 abotshun, 2 éábtshun] fr Lat abortio (em), 'miscarriage' See abort & -ion. 1 a Miscarriage of birth, b (criminal law) miscarriage deliberately and illegally procured. 2 One born out of due season, hence a monstrous, misshapen, or stunted creature abortionist, n. [1 abotshunist, 2 éábtshuníst] Prec & -ist One who procures illegal abortion abortive, adj & n. [1 abotshav, 2 éábtshiv] fr Lat abortivus, 'born prematurely' See abort & -ive 1 adj a (fig, of plans, actions &c) Badly devised and matured, therefore unsuccessful, coming to nought, b (biol) imperfectly developed 2 n (med) A medicine for producing abortion abortively, adv Prec & -ly (fig) In an immature manner, without success, awry abound, vb intrans [1 ábóund, 2 éábound] fr O Fr. abonder, fr Lat abundare, 'to overflow', fig, 'to abound', fr ab- & unda, 'a wave' See undulate 1 To be plentiful, exist in large quantities wild birds abound in Oxfordshire 2 a (with in) To abound in, to be well stocked with, to possess in great quantity, expressing possession of things which are characteristic in a given place, as the streams abound in trout, moral qualities which are inherent, as he abounds in courage &c, b (followed by with) to abound with, to be plentifully stocked with the British Museum abounds with old statues abounding, adj [1 abóundng, 2 éáboundng] fr Pres Part. of prec a Being plentiful, abundant Phr grace abounding, b abounding in, abounding with See prec

about (I), adv [1 ábout, 2 éábut] O.E. ábutan, onbutan, 'around', of time, 'about'. M.E. onboule(n) See a- & but, conj

1 On all sides, around, here and there, in various directions to look, walk, move about 2 In circuit, around the outside (archaic)

a mile about, to come about, to take place, happen, to bring about, to cause to take place 3 Nearly, approximately, closely corresponding to in quality, manner, degree &c about as high as, about a mile &c, (colloq) just about enough, quite enough.

4 To a reversed position, in the opposite direction to face about, (mil) about turn 1, face the opposite direction, (naut) about ship, order to place a ship on the other tack, Phrs to go, set, about something, prepare to do, start doing, going about (of news, report &c), current, out and about, able to pursue one's ordinary occupations (after illness &c), to be about, up and about, to be astir, not in bed, to put about, see put (I), to send about one's business, dismiss, turn and turn about, alternately about (II), prep See prec 1 Around, all around bind the chains about him, on every side of look about you, here and there in, to and fro in to walk about the streets &c

Phr to beat about the bush, approach a subject indirectly, not to come straight to the point 2 Near to, in close proximity to, by one's person everything handsome about him, about the Court 3 Engaged in, concerned with (archaic) 'I must be about my Father's business' 4 a Concerning, with regard to, on the subject of to talk about business, a book about gardening, b in connexion with, appertaining to her dress is the best thing about her 5 (before an infin.) On the point of, in the act of (forming Fut Part.) about to shoot, about to speak &c above, adv, prep, & adj [1 ábu, 2 éabv] M.E. aboven, O.E. ábuſan, fr a-, be, 'by', q, & uſan, 'upwards, cogn w Germ auf' See over 1 adv a In a higher place, overhead, expressing (i) motion to to soar above, (u) rest at the sky above, b higher in power, superior in rank it was referred to the court above, c earlier in order, higher in the same page (of books &c), earlier in same book as is stated above, d in Heaven there is a God above 2 prep a Higher than, over (of physical relation), expressing (i) motion to to fly above the clouds, (u) rest the balloon was floating

above our heads; Phr to keep one's head above water, to keep safe, b superior to in any respect, beyond above others in ability, Phrs above comprehension, above reproach, above suspicion, graze &c , above meanness, superior to, (med colloq slang) to be above oneself, gave oneself airs, be too conceited, o surpassing in number or quantity, more than above 200 members 3 adj Placed, written, mentioned above or before the above facts, statements &c

above-board, adv & adj Above the board or table (perh orig card-table), in open sight, without concealment or trick, honourable open and above-board

above-mentioned, adj [1 abuv menshund, 2 abav menjand] Referred to, mentioned before, in same book, page &c ab ovo, adv [1 ab òvò, 2 ab ovouv] Lat, 'from the egg', see ab- & ovum From the very beginning abracadabra, n [1 abrakadabra, 2 abrakadabra] Origin unknown A spell, magic formula, a catchword abrade, vb trans [1 abrad, 2 abréid], fr Lat abrādere, 'to scrape off', fr ab- & rādere, 'to scrape off, shave' See raze To rub or wear off, wear away by friction, graze, esp of skin

Abraham man, n [1 abraham mán, 2 ábra-ham mán], fr the parable of Lazarus (Luke xvi), (hist.) A lunatic beggar of the 16th and 17th cents, licensed to beg by Bethlehem Hospital, also one of a set of vagrant beggars pretending to be lunatics under licence abranohuate, adj & n [1 abranghát, 2 abranghát] a-, 'without', & bran-ohuate a adj Not provided with gills, b n., animal that is not provided with gills at any stage of development abrasion, n [1 abráshun, 2 abrészen], fr Lat abrāsio(-em), fr abrās(-um), PP type of abrādere See abrade 1 a Grazing, rubbing, or scraping off, as of the skin, b place where skin is scraped off 2 a A wearing down, rubbing away, as of rocks, machinery &c , b place showing this abrasive, adj & n [1 abráziv, 2 abreiziv] Prec. w Lat suff -ivus See -ive 1 adj a Tending to graze, scrape the skin, b tending to wear down, rub away rocks &c 2 n Substance, such as emery &c, used for grinding, polishing &c abraxas, n [1 abrakas, 2 abrakasas] Formed of the Gk letters, as numerals, equiv to 365 1 a A mystic name, used by the Egyptian Gnostics, of the Supreme Being as ruling 365 heavens, b a gem engraved with this name, used as a talisman 2 (entom.) A genus of buff coloured moths spotted with black, the megrim moth abreast, adv [1 abrest, 2 abrést] See a- & breast a On a level with, when facing or moving in same direction, b (fig) abreast of, or, more rarely, with, keeping up with, not behind the advance of science, thought &c abreast of the times, of what is going on &c abridge, vb trans [1 abrij, 2 abridž] ME abregge, fr O Fr abregger, 'shorten', Mod Fr abréger, fr Lat abbreviāre, 'to shorten' See abbreviate To make shorter, lessen, diminish, curtail, esp to shorten by using fewer words, to condense (books &c) abridgement, n [1 abrijment, 2 abridžment] Prec & -ment, Shortening, reduction, diminution, condensation, curtailment (of rights), specif, reduced or condensed form of a book abroad, adv [1 abrawd, 2 abród] ME abrood See a- & broad 1 a Broadly, widely, at large, over a wide space publish, spread abroad (of rumour, news &c), b current, going about (of rumours &c), there is a rumour abroad 2 Outside one's abode, out of doors to be abroad early 3 Beyond the bounds of a country, in foreign lands to go, travel, abroad, (colloq, fig) to be all abroad, to be puzzled, confused in mind Treated as a noun in Phr from abroad &c abrogate, vb trans [1 ábrogāt, 2 abraget], fr Lat abrogāt (um), PP type of abrogāre, 'to repeal' (law &c), fr ab- & rogāre, 'to ask, propose' (as a law) See rogation To repeal, annul, abolish (laws or customs) abrogation, n [1 abrogāshun, 2 abrage:shən], fr Lat abrogātiō(-em) See prec & -ion Act of repealing by authority abrupt, adj [1 abrupt, 2 abrápt], fr Lat abrupt (um) PP type of abrumperē, 'to break off' See ab- & rupture 1 Broken off, steep, craggy (of rocks, banks, precipices) 2 Sudden, hasty, unexpected, a (of actions) abrupt entrance, departure &c , b (of manners) short, unconv, gruff 3 (of style) Breaking off suddenly, disconnected, passing from one thought to another without proper transition 4 (geol, of strata) Suddenly cropping out abruptly, adv Prec & -ly In an abrupt manner, suddenly, without warning abruptness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being abrupt, suddenness, unceremonious haste in speech, manners &c abscess, n [1 ábses, -sis, 2 ábses, -sis] Lat abscessus, 'going away', fr abscedere, 'go away', fr abs- (for ab-) & cedere, see cede, sense being 'flowing of humours into one channel' Inflamed swelling on the body containing pus, sac or cavity filled with pus in an organ of the body abscond, vb trans [1 absind, 2 absind], fr Lat abscondere, 'to cut off', fr ab- & condere, 'to cut, split', Pret scidi, PP scisum (fr scid-om*), cogn w Gk skhizō, 'split', skhisma, 'cleft, division' See schism From variant of same base, Aryan skhit*, we get Goth skandan, 'divide', O E sce(e)ðan, 'divide, distinguish' See shed (I) To cut off (obs) abscissa, n [1 absisa, 2 absise] Lat abscissa (linea), see prec word A line cut off, as point of reference in geometry abscission, n [1 absishun, 2 absisen], fr Lat abscisse (um), PP type of abscondere, see abscond, & -ion Cutting off, state of separation abscond, vb intrans [1 abskond, 2 abakond], fr Lat abscondere, 'to put out of sight, conceal', fr abs- (for ab-) & condere The history of this vb is remarkable It comes fr Lat cuni, 'together', & base dhē*, 'make, place', cogn w Lat facio, 'make', Pret fecit Orig sense is 'put together, build', then 'put away together, store up', then 'to hide' For other words fr base dhē* see do, deed, thesis, fact To depart secretly and suddenly, steal off and hide oneself, esp to run away to escape the law absconder, n [1 abskonder, 2 abskondə] Prec & -er One who absconds absence, n [1 ábsens, 2 ábsans] Fr, fr Lat absentia, fr absens, Pres Part of abesse, 'to be absent', fr ab- & esse, 'to be' See essence 1 The state of being away from a place or from company, opposed to presence 2 The time of being away long absence &c 3 Non-existence, lack, want of absence of evidence &c 4 Mental abstraction, inattention, esp in Phr absence of mind 5 (at Eton College) Roll call absent (I), adj [1 ábsent, 2 ábsənt], fr Lat absens, absente, Pres Part of abesse. See absence 1 Not present, being away in another place absent friends 2 Mentally abstracted, inattentive to what is going on around one, preoccupied, having the mind withdrawn from what is passing, absent-minded an absent air absent (II), vb trans [1 ábsənt, 2 ábsənt], fr Fr absenter, fr Lat absentire See prec (used reflex.) To remain away, withdraw (oneself) intentionally to absent oneself from a meeting &c absentee, n [1 ábsənti, 2 ábsənti], fr absent & -ee A person not present, esp one who absents himself on an occasion when he ought to be present, one habitually living away from home, specif, a landlord not living on his estate absenteeism, n [1 ábsentéizm, 2 ábsentí-izm] Prec & -ism The practice of absenting oneself from one's duty, dwelling &c, esp of a landlord living away from his estates absently, adv [1 ábsəntli, 2 ábsəntli] See absent (I) & -ly (of mental state) In an absent, inattentive, or preoccupied manner absent-minded, adj See absent (I) & mind Preoccupied, inattentive, unconscious of what is passing around one absent-mindedly, adv Prec & -ly In a preoccupied manner absent-mindedness, n See prec & -ness Condition or habit of being preoccupied absinth(e), n [1 ábsinth, 2 ábsinθ] Fr absinthe, fr Lat absinthium, 'wormwood', fr Gk apsinthion, pre-Hellenic word A green, aromatic liqueur flavoured with wormwood and anise absolute, adj [1. ábsolūt, 2 ábsəljūt], fr Lat absolutus, 'loosened or freed from', PP of absolvere See absolve 1 Free from imperfection, complete, perfect absolute beauty, unmixed, pure absolute alcohol 2 a Freed from limitation or condition, unconditional an absolute promise, unqualified, complete, thorough absolute trust, an absolute fool, b free from external restraint or limitations, authoritative an absolute monarch; absolute ownership 3 a Considered without reference to other things, complete in itself absolute knowledge, b positive, actual, real, certain, definite an absolute fact, absolute proof, o (gram) standing apart from its usual construction with another word or words absolute absolute, d (log.) not involving reference to anything else, taken in its essential nature, categorical an absolute proposition 4 As n, the absolute, ep 3 absolutely, adv Prec & -ly In an absolute manner, unconditionally, unrestrictedly, completely absolution, n [1 ábsolúshun, 2 ábsəljúshən] Lat absolūtio(-em), 'an acquittal', fr absolvere See absolve & -ion, & absolve 1 (eccles) a A formal remission of guilt or sin by a duly ordained priest, after confession and penitence on the part of the sinner to give absolution; b the act of pronouncing such remission, c regular form of words in which remission is given to pronounce the Absolution 2 (law) Formal declaration of acquittal by the judge absolutism, n [1 ábsolútizm, 2 ábsəljútizm] See absolute & -ism Political theory which favours government by an absolute ruler absolve, vb trans [1 abzól, 2 abzól], fr Lat absolvere, 'to loosen, set free', fr ab- & solvere See solve a To grant absolution to (in eccles sense), b to acquit, declare, acknowledge free from blame, guilt, responsibility, a vow, oath &c absorb, vb trans [1 absorb, 2 ábsəb], fr Lat absorbere, 'to swallow up', fr ab- & sorbere, 'to suck in, swallow up'; cp also Lat sorbito, 'potion, broth', cogn w Gk hrophē (fr sroph-*), 'gulp down, sup up greedily', & hrophos, 'a gulping down, that which is gulped down, broth &c', Lath erebra, 'I swallow', sorbu, 'I suck' 1 a (lit, of porous substances taking up moisture) To take up, suck in, drink up, also of animals taking drink, or nourishment generally, b (fig, of mental process) to take in, assimilate (learning, ideas, knowledge &c.) 2 (fig) To engross, take up, occupy (the attention, energies, time &c) absorbefacient, adj & n [1 ábsorbefásient, 2 ábsorbífásient] See absorb & -facient (med) 1 adj Tending to promote or induce absorption, as of fluids, pus &c 2 n Substance, drug &c which promotes such absorption absorbent, adj & n. [1 absorbent, 2 absorbent], fr Pres Part of Lat absorbere, 'drink up' &c See absorb 1 adj In clined, liable, ready to absorb fluids 2 n A substance which absorbs moisture readily absorbing, adj [1 absorbing; 2 absorbing], fr Pres Part of absorb (fig) Engrossing, taking up completely, the attention, thoughts, interest &c absorbing studies, interests absorption, n [1 absorption, 2 absorption] Lat absorptio-(em), lit 'a sucking down; a drink, beverage', fr absorpt-(um), P.P type of absorbere See absorb 1 a Process of sucking up, drinking in of fluids or moisture by porous substances, or by the air (active and passive), b (vulg. and colloq) drinking, taking of food generally 2 a Incorporation and assimilation by animal tissues of nutriment by physiological process, through the blood or otherwise, b taking up and dispersal of fluid or pus, by surrounding tissues of animal body, e.g from a blister &c 3 (fig) Preoccupation, engrossing of the mind, attention &c by thought, objects of interest &c abstain, vb intrans [1 abstain, 2 abstain] Fr abstiner, 'refrain from', Lat abstinere, 'to keep away from', fr abs (for ab-) & tenere, 'to hold' See tenable Abstain from, to hold oneself back voluntarily from, refrain from, avoid abstainer, n [1 abstainer, 2 abstainer] See prec. & -er Specif, one who does not take alcoholic drink total abstainer abstemious, adj [1 abstemious, 2 abstemious] Lat abstemius, 'sober, temperate', fr abs (for ab-) & temere, 'intemperate, drunken', cp also temulentus, 'drunken', prob related to Sert tam, 'be breathless, choke'; tamyr, 'is exhausted' Sparing in food, drink, or enjoyment, given to self-denial, temperate, not self-indulgent abstemiously, adv Prec & -ly Sparingly (esp of eating and drinking) abstemiousness, n See prec & -ness Practice, habit, of being abstemious abstergent, adj & n [1 abstergent, 2 abstergent], fr Lat abstergere (em), Pres Part type of abstergere, 'to wipe away', fr abs (for ab-) & tergere, 'to rub or wipe off' Etymol. doubtful a adj Serving to cleanse, b n, a cleansing substance, e.g soap abstersion, n [1 abstersion, 2 abstersion], fr Lat abstersio (um), P.P type of abstergere See prec & -ion Act or process of cleansing absterive, adj [1 absterive, 2 absterive] See prec & -ive Cleansing abstinence, n [1 abstinence, 2 abstinence] Fr, fr Lat abstinentia, fr abstinere (em), Pres Part type of abstinere See abstain & -ence Deliberate self deprivation, refraining from (food, drink, pleasure), temperance Specif, total abstinence, complete abstention from alcoholic liquors abstinent, adj [1 abstinent, 2 abstinent] See prec Given to abstinence, temperate abstract (I), adj [1 abstract, 2 abstract] Lat abstract-(um), 'separated from', P.P type of abstrahere, 'to draw away', abs (for ab-) & trahere, 'to draw' See tract (I) Existing, or thought of as existing, apart from material objects, opposed to concrete, hence, ideal, not practical. As n, esp Phr in the abstract, the ideal or theoretical way of regarding things abstract (II), n. See next word Something taken out, summary, epitome (of statement, narrative, speech &c) abstract (III), vb trans [1 abstract, 2 abstract], fr P.P type of Lat abstrahere See abstract (I) 1 To remove, take away, whether by a mental or physical operation 2 (superficial) To remove someone else's property illogically, to steal abstracted adj [1 abstracted, 2 abstracted] (lit) Withdrawn, removed, (fig) absent-minded, preoccupied in mind.

abstractedly, adv Prec & -ly Absent-mindedly abstractedness, n See prec & -ness State, habit, of absent-mindedness abstruse, adj [1 abstruse, 2 abstruse] Lat abstrusus (um), P.P type of abstrudere, 'to thrust away, conceal', fr abs (for ab-) & trudere, 'to thrust, push', cogn w O Slav truditi, 'oppress', truditi, 'misery', Goth us prutian, 'threaten, afflict', O E prutian, 'swell with anger, threaten', also prut, 'punishment, threat' See intrude, thrust, threat (lit) Thrust away, hidden, hence, difficult to understand, obscure, unintelligible, deep (of subjects, thought, statement) abstrusely, adv Prec & -ly Obscurely, vaguely, profoundly abstruseness, n See prec & -ness Difficulty, profundity (of thought, study &c) absurd, adj [1 absurd, 2 absurd] Fr, fr Lat absurdus, 'out of tune, harsh, senseless, unsuitable', fr base surd*, 'to sound', whence Lat surdus, 'deaf', surdus, cp Sert surdus, 'resonant', surdus, 'sound, tone', also Gk surdus, 'flute' See susurratio a In consistent with known fact, or with normal order of things, eccentric, odd, b foolish, ridiculous, c comical, laughable absurdity, n [1 absurdity, 2 absurdity] Fr absurdité, Lat absurditas (em) See prec & -ity 1 The state or quality of being absurd, folly, nonsense 2 Specific thing which is absurd, e.g a statement, action, appearance &c, something silly yet comical absurdly, adv [1 absurdly, 2 absurdly] absurd & -ly In an absurd manner absurdness, n [1 absurdness, 2 absurdness] See prec & -ness Same as absurdity, 1 abundance, n [1 abundance, 2 abundance] Fr abundantia, fr Lat abundantia, an overflowing, fr abundant (em), Pres Part type of abundare, 'to overflow' See abound & -ance 1 An overflow, overflowing fullness, great plenty, opulence an abundance of good things 2 (of quantity) More than sufficiency abundance of food 3 Specif, plentiful supply of the good things of life, wealth, affluence to live in abundance, & (solo whist) Call of player who undertakes to take one's tricks from his own hand.

abundant, adj [1 abundant, 2 abundant] Fr abundant, fr Lat abundant (em), Pres Part type of abundare See abound & -ant (of things) Plentiful, ample, more than sufficient, rich abundantly, adv Prec & -ly Plentifully, amply, sufficiently abuse (I), vb trans [1 abut, 2 abut], fr Fr abusar, fr Lat abuti, abusus, 'to misuse, abuse' See ab- & -use 1 To put to a wrong use, misuse to abuse one's authority, position, power, wealth &c 2 a To treat badly, handle roughly or cruelly, injure by so doing (of animals, machines), b to presume upon, take advantage of (kindness, generosity, hospitality), c to betray (confidence, secret &c) 3 a To subject to verbal insult, scold loudly and coarsely, revile, b (in mild sense) blame, express disapproval of, find fault with 4 To mislead, deceive (archaic & obs except in passive) abuse (II), n [1 abuse, 2 abuse], fr Fr abus, fr Lat abusus See abuse (I) 1 Misuse, perverted use, application to a bad or wrong purpose abuse of power &c, abuse of language, terms &c, in perverted, wretched sense. 2 A corrupt, oppressive, or unjust practice or custom (often in pl.) 3 Vituperation, loud, coarse, insulting speech (often accompanied by oaths) torrent of abuse, term, word of abuse, oath, foul name.

abusive, adj [1 abusive, 2 abusive] See abuse & -ive 1 a Containing abuse, vituperative, scurrilous an abusive speech, expression, b (of persons) insulting in language he became abusive. 2 (archaic) Wrongly used, irregular an abusive grammatical construction, as 'mutual' for 'reciprocal' abusively, adv Prec & -ly In an insulting manner abusiveness, n See prec & -ness Habit of employing abuse abut, vb intrans [1 abut, 2 abut] O Fr aboutir, 'place end to end' See butt (II) 1 Abut (upon), to end at, border on, touch at some point has garden abuts on the road 2 (of parts of a building) To end on or against, to touch by projecting, to lean on abutment, n [1 abutment, 2 abutment], fr Arab abwāṭin (bot) Genus of shrubby plants, of the mallow family, with brightly coloured bell shaped flowers abutment, n [1 abutment, 2 abutment] See abut & -ment (archit) Support on which an arch rests, point where support and thing supported meet abyss, n [1 abyss, 2 abyss], fr O Fr abisme, fr Low Lat abyssinus*, superl of Lat abyssus See abyss (poet) Abyss abyssal, adj [1 abyssal, 2 abyssal] Prec & -al Bottomless, (esp fig) profound, unfathomable, as abyssal ignorance abyss, n [1 abyss, 2 abyss], fr Lat abyssus, fr Gk abussos, 'bottomless', fr a- (priv) & bussos, 'bottom', origin of which is unknown 1 A bottomless gulf or chasm, hence, numeral chaos, the bowels of the earth, the infernal pit, hell 2 Any unfathomable cavity; hence, (fig) anything profound and unfathomable abyss of despair, of time 3 (her) The centre of an escutcheon abyssal adj [1 abyssal, 2 abyssal] Prec & -al Belonging to the lowest depths of the sea -ac, suff [1 ak, 2 ak], fr Gk alos, Lat -acus, or Fr -aque, used to form adjs, e.g elegant, thrac &c, or ns, e.g aphrodisiac acacia, n [1 akasia, 2 akasia] Lat acacia, Gk akali, akakalis, 'Egyptian tamarisk', prob Egyptian word a Genus of trees, of mimosa tribe, b (in England) the locust-tree, q v, or false acacia, Robinia, a graceful ornamental tree planted on lawns, having sharp thorns on the smaller branches academe, n [1 akademe, 2 akadim] See academy academic adj [1 akademik, 2 akademik] See academy & -ic 1 Pertaining to an academy, esp relating to a university academic degree, curriculum &c, academic interests 2 (derived from above) Pedantic, too much occupied with the rules of an academy or university, hence, unpractical academic manner, academic discussion, purely theoretical, having no practical result 3 Frigid, inhuman (of men and manners)

4 n pl Academic, discussions which are purely theoretical academicism, adj & n [1 akademik, 2 akademik] Prec & -al. a adj Belonging to an academy or university, b n pl academicism, university robes &c Phr in full academic, gown, hood, bands, and cap academically, adv Prec & -ly In an academic manner, precisely, pedantically, in theory only, not practically academician, n [1 akademisjan, -shan, 2 akademisjan, -shan] Fr academicien See academic & -ian. Member of an Academy of Art, or of a learned society, specif (cap) a member of the English Royal Academy, or of the French Academy academy, n [1 akademi, 2 akadem] Fr. academie, Lat academia, fr Gk akadēma, 'the Academy', from the hero Aladēmos (after whom Plato's garden was named) 1 (class hist. and philos) a The garden near Athens in which Plato taught, b the followers of Plato, the school or system of philosophy founded by Plato 2 A chartered corporation of scholars, artists, men of letters men of science, as The Royal Academy, French Academy &c 3. An educational institution or school, usually not of university standing, as The Edinburgh Academy, often a pretentious term for a private school a young ladies' academy acajou, n [1 akazhu, 2 akazu] Fr See cashew a The cashew tree or its fruit, b (French use) mahogany acalephe, n. [1 akalōf, 2 akēlōf]. Gk akalēphē, 'a nettle', fr Heb halifōt, 'prickly leaves of the spinach', fr base meaning 'pierce, ont' (zool.) Jelly-fish acanthus, n [1 akánthos, 2 akantpos] Lat, fr Gk akanthos, fr akis, 'epine, thorn'. See acute 1 (bot) Genus of prickly plants found in South Europe and Asia Minor 2 (archit) Acanthus leaf, conventional representation of leaves of plant, esp in capital of Corinthian column acarid, n [1 ákarid, 2 ákarid], fr. Gk akari, 'mite', fr akaris, 'too short to be out, minute, tiny', fr a- (priv) & kēres, 'to cut', see shear (I) (entom) Any member of an order of arachnids which includes the mites and ticks, a mite, tick acarpous, adj [1 akárpos, 2 akdpas], fr Gk akarpōs, 'unfruitful', fr a- (priv) & karpōs, 'fruit', cogn w Lat carpere, 'to pluck, gather', OE harfest, 'harvest', OHG herbst, Mod Germ herbst, 'autumn, season of fruits' From the idea of 'plucking' in different sense comes harp. See harvest & -ous (bot) Not producing fruit acatalectic, adj [1 akatalektik, 2 akmtalektik], fr Gk akatalektōs, fr a- (priv) & katalēgēs, 'to leave off, stop'. See catalectic (of verse) Complete, having the full number of feet or syllables acatalepsy, n [1 akátalepsi, 2 akmtalepsi], fr Gk akátalepsis, 'not understanding', fr a- (priv), lala, 'down', & lēpsis, 'a taking'. See catalepsy (philos) Incomprehensibility, term of ancient scepticism, of knowledge as probable only and not certain acataleptic, adj [1 akhtaleptik, 2 akmtaleptik], fr Gk akátaleptikōs. See preo & -ic (philos) Incomprehensible acaulous, adj [1 akaulōs, 2 akālos]. Gk akaulōs, fr a- (priv) & kaulōs, 'a stalk, stem, shaft', cp Gk lailos, 'hollow', Lat caulis, 'stem of plant'. See cauliflower, colewort, kail, hollow (bot) Having no stem, or a very short stem Accadian, Akkadian, adj & n [1 akādian, 2 akēdian], fr Heb Akkad, Gen x 10 1 adj Of, pertaining to, a primitive race and language of ancient Babylonia 2 n a Member of this race, b its language, earliest form of our form accede, vb intrans [1 akseđ, 2 akseđ], fr Lat. accēdere, 'to approach, come over (to), to give assent', fr ad, 'to', & cēdere, 'to go, yield'. See ad- & cēde & op access &c (followed by to or absol) 1 To enter on, attain to, succeed to to accede to the throne, power, an estate, office &c 2 To come over to, to join to accede to a party, government &c 3 To become a party to, to agree, assent to to accede to a treaty, request, proposal &c accelerando, adv [1 akselerandō, 2 akselerandow] Ital, fr Lat gerund. See accelerate (mus direction) With gradually increased speed accelerant, n [1 akselerant, 2 akselerant], fr Lat accelerant (em), Pres Part type of accelerare. See accelerate & -ant Substance which accelerates or increases the speed of any process, esp of the chemical process of catalysis, a catalyser accelerate, vb trans & intrans [1 akselerāt, 2 akselerant], fr Lat accelerāre (um), PP type of accelerare, 'to hasten', fr ad & celer, 'swift'. See ad- & celerity 1 trans To increase the speed of (any motion or action), cause to go quickly, hasten 2 intrans (of motion or process) To become swifter accelerated, adj [1 akselerāted, 2 akselerated] PP of preo Increased in speed of motion, made to go quicker accelerating, adj [1 akselerāting, 2 akselerating] Pres Part of accelerate Causing quicker motion an accelerating force acceleration, n [1 akselerāshun, 2 akselerashun], fr Lat accelerātio (em), 'a hastening'. See accelerate & -ion

1 a The act of increasing speed, b increase of speed 2 (mechan) The rate of change of velocity of a body in motion per unit of time accelerative, adj [1 akselerativ, 2 akselerativ] See accelerate & -ive Tending to increase speed accelerator, n [1 akselerāter, 2 akselerator] See accelerate & -or Anything which increases speed of motion Specif a Contrivance for producing greater speed in a machine (eg motor-car), b (anat) a nerve or muscle which hastens a motion accent (I), n [1 áksent, 2 áksent], fr Lat accentus, 'accentuation, tone', fr ad & cantus, 'tone, melody', fr cantum, PP of canere, 'to sing'. See ad- & cant 1 (phon) Includes both a emphasis, stress, and b tone, pitch, (fig) emphasis, intensity, sharp distinction 2 Mode of utterance, style of pronunciation a good French accent, a strong Scots accent 3 A mark placed over a letter in writing and printing to indicate emphasis, pitch, vowel quality 4 (gen pl, poet) a Verse, poetical composition, poetry, b speech, voice, utterance he spoke in accents mild 5 (mus) Stress or beat, recurring at intervals accent (II), vb trans [1 áksént, 2 áksént] See preo a To put marks of accent upon (letter) in writing and printing, b to emphasize, more correctly, accentuate accentor, n [1 áksenter, 2 áksenter] Lat, 'one who sings with another', fr ad- & cantor, 'singer'. See accent (I) & cant (ornith, cap) Name of a group of small singing birds, esp the hedge sparrow or hedge warbler accental, adj [1 ákséntiál, 2 ákséntiál], fr Lat accensus, 'accent', & -al Pertaining to accent accental verse, that in which stress and not quantity is the basis of rhythm accentuate, vb trans [1 ákséntiāt, 2 ákséntiāt] Med Lat accéntuāt (um), PP type of accéntuare. See accent (I) To place emphasis upon (a word or syllable) in speech, (fig) to give prominence, importance to, emphasize, increase force or value of (expression of an idea, command &c), a colour, musical note, physical feature accentuation, n [1 ákséntiāshun, 2 ákséntiāshun], fr Med Lat accéntuātio (em) See preo & -ion The act of putting on accent (in any sense) accept, vb trans [1 áksépt, 2 áksépt], fr Lat accēptāre, freq of accipere, acceptum, 'to take, receive', fr ad- & capere, 'to take', see captive 1 a To consent to take, receive (what is offered or given) to accept a gift, invitation, kindness, an honour &c, b to undertake duties of to accept an office, appointment &c 2 a To consent to, agree to, admit, permit the accepted truth, to accept the correctness of a statement, a correction, an amendment &c, b (law) to receive personally to accept service of writ, o (commerce, of bills) to take responsibility for, promise to pay, agree to meet Accept of can be used in all above senses, except 2 b, but is now old fashioned and formal acceptability, n [1 ákséptabiliti, 2 ákséptabiliti] See acceptable & -ity Suitability, worthiness for acceptance acceptable, adj [1 ákséptabl, 2 ákséptabl], fr preo & -able Worth accepting, pleasant to receive, gratifying, agreeable, welcome (of something given or conferred) acceptableness, n Preo & -ness Acceptability acceptably, adv See preo & -ly In a way, or on an occasion, that gratifies receiver acceptance, n [1 ákséptans, 2 ákséptans], fr accept & -ance 1 Taking of what is offered, act of consenting to receive acceptance of an invitation, gift, benefit, honour &c 2 Intellectual assent to, belief in acceptance of a statement, theory, doctrine &c 3 (commerce) a The acknowledgement of a liability, an undertaking to pay a bill when presented, b document proving such acceptance of liability &c acceptation, n [1 ákséptāshun, 2 ákséptāshun], fr Low Lat acceptatio (em), 'taking'. See accept & -ation The received meaning of a word or expression, the sense in which it is usually taken and understood acceptilation, n [1 ákséptilāshun, 2 ákséptilōshun], fr Lat acceptilatio (em), fr accept (um), PP type of accipere. See accept a (Roman and Scots law) Formal, verbal release from a verbal contract, whether payment has been made or not, b (theol) the free remission of sins acceptor, n [1 áksépter, 2 áksépter], fr. accept & -or Specif, one who accepts or undertakes the payment of a bill of exchange access, n [1 ákses, 2 ákses], fr Lat accessus, 'an approach', fr accēdere, accessus, 'to come near, approach'. See accede 1 The act of coming to, approach to a place or person prayer of humble access (in Communion Service 'We do not presume to come' &c) 2 Means, or way of approach (to places) the only access to the house was through a farmyard 3 Opportunity, or right of approach, entry, or use access to books, to means of education &c, Peers have access to the Sovereign at all times, access to the house and property was granted on completion of purchase 4 (law) Opportunity for exercising marital rights 'Access of the husband shall be presumed, unless the contrary be shown' (Blackstone) 5 a (med) A fit or attack of disease, b an outburst, paroxysm (of anger or passion) accessory, accessory (I), n [1 áksesari, 2 áksesari] Lat accessorius, fr access (um), PP type of accēdere, spelling confused w that of Lat suff -arius See accede 1 Something subordinate but contributing to the principal cause producing a general result, adjunct Specif (derived usage, gen pl and spelt accessories) extra and additional details of equipment to anything, furnishings, garnishings &c, as the accessories of a motor car, which, though indispensable, are not part of the original structure (eg lamps, horn, tool-chest, oil-cans, air-pump &c) 2 (law, gen spelt accessary) One privy to, and aiding in, a crime accessory before, after, the fact accessory (II), adj See preo Additional, subordinate, adventitious accessibility, n [1 áksesibiliti, 2 áksesibiliti], fr Lat accessibilitas (em) See accessible & -ity The condition (of things) or quality (of persons) of being accessible accessible, adj [1 áksesibl, 2 áksesibl], fr Lat accessibilis. See access & -ible 1 a (of places &c) Capable of being entered or reached, got at able, b (of persons) easy of access or approach 2 Attainable, to be got at accessible information 3 (fig, with fo) Easily moved by, open to the influence of, amenable to certain motives accessible to reason, pity, bribery &c accessibly, adv Preo & -ly (Situated) in such a manner as to be easily reached accession, n [1 áksesshun, 2 áksesshun], fr Lat accessio (em), 'a coming to, approach, addition'. See access & -ion 1 The act of coming, approach, esp coming to or reaching a condition, state, office, dignity, power, esp the throne the king's accession 2 A coming to as an addition, a joining, addition accession to a party, corporate body, society &c, b thing added, acquisition list of accessions (to a library, &c), o valuable, agreeable addition a great accession to the neighbourhood 3 (law) Increment, addition to value of property (by improvements or natural growth) accessory See accessory accidence, n [1 áksidens, 2 áksidens], fr O Fr accidens, fr Lat accidentia, neut pl See accident That part of grammar, or of a treatise on grammar, which deals with inflexions.

accident, n [1 aksident, 2 aksident], fr Lat accident (em), accidens, 'an accident', also Pres Part of accidere, 'to fall at, to, to happen, fell out', fr ad- & cadere, 'to fall', see cadence. That which befalls or happens 1 Unexpected event, one that occurs without design or apparent cause a mere accident of birth Hence Phr by accident, by chance 2 An unexpected event, or undesigned act, of an unfortunate character, misfortune, injury, disaster Phr to meet with an accident 3 (philos) A property of a thing which is a mere contingent attribute, not part of its essential nature 4 (geol end geog) Irregularity, diversity in surface of a stretch of country 5 (her) An additional, but unessential, mark in an escutcheon which may be retained or omitted accidental, adj & n [1 aksidental, 2 aksidental] Prec & -al 1 adj A Happening by chance or unexpectedly, b incidental, contingent, attributive, not essential to nature of a thing 2 n (mus) a sharp, flat or natural occurring incidentally in a piece of music though not naturally belonging to the key in which the piece is written, b the symbol of such in musical notation accidentally, adv Prec & -ly In an accidental manner, by chance, without intention or design accidie, n [1 aksidie; 2 aksidie] Variant of accedia accipiter, n [1 aksipiter, 2 aksipita] Lat, lit 'the seizer', fr ad- & base cap-, 'seize, hold', q v under captive, hence 'hawk' or other bird of this kind, 'bird of prey', see accept 1 (zool) A bird of prey of the order Accipitres or Raptores, including eagles, falcons, hawks etc 2 (surg) A bandage over the nose, resembling a hawk's claw accipitral, adj [1 aksipitral, 2 aksipitral], fr prec & -al Of, pertaining to, the Accipitres or hawks, hawklike acclaim (IL), v trans [1 akklam, 2 akklém], fr Lat. acclamare, 'to cry out at', fr ad- & clamare, 'to cry out, shout', see claim, clamant, clamour 1 To greet with loud applause, to acknowledge, recognize as, announce, indicate such recognition by applause acclaim the victor, acclaim him (as) king 2 To shout, call out acclaim (IL), n, fr prec. Shout of applause, or approbation (poet and rare) acclamation, n [1 akklamashun, 2 akklémashun], fr Lat. acclamatio (em), 'a shout of favour or approbation', fr acclamare. See acclaim & -ation. Loud public applause, a shout or other demonstration of approval, joy, welcome &c made by a multitude Phr (in public meetings, of a motion) carried by acclamation, by loudly expressed approval, without counting votes acclamatory, adj [1 akklamateri; 2 akklémateri] See prec & -ory Expressing joy, approval &c by acclamation acclimatization, n [1 akklimatizashun, 2 akklimatizashun] See acclimatize & -ation. a Act or process of inuring, accustoming, to new conditions of climate &c, b state of being so inured acclimatize, v trans [1. akklimatiz, 2 akklamatiz], fr Fr acclimater, fr d, 'to', & climat See climate & -ize a To inure, accustom, habituate (man, animals, plants) to a new climate, different from the native one, b (fig, reflex) to get accustomed to new surroundings and conditions of life acclimatized, adj [1 akklimatizd, 2 akklamatizd] P P of prec Accustomed to new climate, to new conditions of life acclivity, n [1 akkliviti, 2 akkliviti], fr Lat acclivitas, 'a rise, ascent', fr ad- & clivus, 'a slope', the latter word is cogn. w Goth. klāw, O.E. klāw, klāw, burial mound', cp low, law in Mod. Engl Place Names. The same orig base, w different formative elements, appears also in Lat. clino, 'bend, turn'. See declive, inclive &c A slope of the earth, as the side of a hill, considered as ascending and opposed to declivity

accolade, n [1 akolád, 2 akoléd] Fr, fr Ital accolata, fr accollare, 'embrace round the neck', fr Lat. ad, 'to', & collum, 'neck' See collar (I) The act or ceremony of conferring knighthood, formerly often consisting of an embrace, now of the laying of a sword on the shoulder of the person to receive the honour, by virtue of which act, together with the words pronounced by the Sovereign or his deputy, a man becomes a knight to receive the accolade, to be knighted accolle, adj [1 akolés, 2 akklés] Fr, fr Lat ad & collum, 'neck' See collar (I) a (ber) Having the neck encircled (of animals &c), b (numis) joined at the neck, as profile portraits on a medallion or coin accommodate, v trans [1 akomodát, 2 akomodét] Lat, fr accommodat (um), P P type of accommodare, 'to fit, adapt', fr ad & commodare, 'to fit, adapt', fr com, 'with', & modus, 'measure' See ad-, con-, & mode 1 To adapt, adjust (esp one, him, her-self &c) to anything accommodate oneself to circumstances 2 To adapt or reconcile (what appears to be incongruous or inconsistent) to accommodate facts, statistics &c to theory 3 (followed by with) To furnish, fit out, supply with something that is required, as a money, to lead, b lodgings &c to accommodate for the night, c (used by tradesmen) to oblige (a customer) accommodating, adj [1 akomodátig, 2 akomodétig] See accommodate & -ing (of persons) Obliging, easy going, free from scruple, willing for slight inducement to adapt principles to suit circumstances accommodatingly, adv Prec & -ly In an accommodating manner, obligingly accommodation, n [1 akomodashun; 2 akomodétshun], fr Lat accommodatio (em), 'an adapting or adjusting of one thing to another' See accommodate & -ion. Various uses corresponding to verb 1 Adjustment, adaptation (to given purpose), reconciliation (of differences, opinions &c) 2 Lodging, quarters good, poor, accommodation 3 Loan of money at an agreed rate of interest accompaniment, n [1 akumpaniment, 2 akumpanimét], fr Fr accompagnement See accompany & -ment. 1 A thing which naturally coexists with another music is a frequent accompaniment of famine. 2 (mus) Part played on musical instrument in conjunction with, and supporting, voice or another instrument accompanist -ist, n [1 ekumpanist, -ist, 2 akumpanist, -ist] See accompany & -ist. (mus.) One who plays an accompaniment accompany, v trans [1 akumpam, 2 akumpani] fr Fr accompagner, fr d, 'to', & compagne, 'companion' See company, companion 1 To perform two or more actions simultaneously or in immediate succession accompany one's speech with gesture, he accompanied his orders with blows 2 To attend, go with, to perform a journey &c in association with (some other person or thing), bear company to accompany a person to the door, the cruiser accompanied the merchant ships down the channel 3 (mus) To support, by playing on a musical instrument with the voice, a song, another instrument &c to accompany a singer &c, to accompany a song, the violin &c, on the piano accomplice, n [1 akomplic, 2 akomplic] Fr complice. First syll perh. orig indef art, otherwise fr ad-, & L Lat complex, complice, 'a confederate', fr Lat comphicare, 'to fold together', fr com- & phicare, 'to fold' See complex, complicate One, generally a subordinate, who participates, shares, is associated with another, in the perpetration of a crime, or who is privy to the committing of an offence, one who shares a guilty secret, a confederate accomplish, v trans [1 akómplish, 2 akómplish], fr O Fr ac(c)omplir, fr Lat ad & complere, 'to fill up, complete' See ad- & complete & vbl suff. -ish To carry out, bring to a conclusion, succeed in finishing or completing (used of work, task, designs &c) accomplished, adj [1 akómplisht, 2 akómplish], old-fashioned [1 akumplisht, 2 akámplish] P P of prec (of persons) Perfected by education and training, possessed of certain acquired knowledge, social arts, end graces, cultivated accomplishment, n [1 akómplishment, 2 akámplishment] See accomplish & -ment 1 The act or process of accomplishing, completion, fulfilment 2 A Quality possessed by an accomplished person, b (pl) acquired knowledge, arts, and graces accord (I), v intrans & trans [1 akórd, 2 akód] In ME accorden, 'agree, admit', fr O Fr accorder, fr Low Lat accordare, 'to be of one mind, agree, harmonize' & a, fr Lat ad & cor, cordis, 'heart, soul'. See coordinate 1 intrans To be in harmony, to be consistent (usually followed by with) to accord with one's hopes, wishes, desires &c, that does not accord with what has gone before. 2 trans. To grant, bestow on (a person) to accord him praise &c, to grant to to accord praise to him accord (IL), n O Fr accord, 'agreement' See prec Consent, mutual agreement, harmony, consonance, consistency with one accord, in accord with one's hopes, principles In Phr of one's own accord, i.e. spontaneously, accord has sense of assent, impulse accordance, n [1 akórdans, 2 akórdans] O Fr See accord (IL) & -ance Agreement, conformity in accordance with (a person or thing), in agreement with, in conformity to I am in accordance with him in this matter, in accordance with custom accordant, adj [1 akordant, 2 akórdant] In ME, fr O Fr Pres Part of accorder. See accord (I) & -ant In tune with, in agreement with (followed by to or with) accordant to reason, with truth according, adv [1 akórdig, 2 akórdig], fr Pres Part of accord (I) Chiefly used now in the phrases according as and according to According as, in proportion as, to the extent that according as you behave yourself so you will be well treated According to a in a manner consistent with, in conformity with according to one's lights, to the best of one's abilities, following the knowledge one has, b on the authority of, following the statement of according to Macaulay, King Charles was weak and treacherous accordingly, adv Prec & -ly In a conformable, corresponding manner, therefore accordion, n [1 akórdiun, 2 akórdiun] Invented word, fr accord in sense of 'harmony', & snff ion, on anal of clariion. (mus.) A small, portable musical wind instrument with stops, held with both hands, one of which does the fingering, the bellows he between either end of the instrument, which is alternately pulled out and squeezed together by action of the hands accordion-pleat, n One of a series of pleats of equal size resembling the folds in bellows of an accordion, used in women's skirts accost, v trans [1 akost, 2 akost], fr Fr accoster, fr L Lat accostare, fr Lat ad & costa, 'a rib' See costal Literal meaning 'to come up to a person's side' To come up to, and speak to a person, to speak first, before one is addressed, begun conversation. Now often in bad sense, of prostitutes &c, to speak to a stranger for immoral purpose accouchement, n [1 akóushmon, 2 akóushm] Fr See couch & -ment Confinement, childbirth, delivery accoucheur, n [1 akóushér, 2 akóushér] Fr Medical man who specializes in midwifery accoucheuse, n [1 akóushéz, 2 akú(iz)].

Fr A midwife

account (I), n [1 akóunt, 2 akáunt], fr O Fr acomte, Mod Fr compte, Low Lat comptum, fr computum, 'reckoning' See compute 1 Reckoning, calculation, record, of money transactions, statement of money owing, bill Keep one's accounts in order, tradesman's account &c 2 Statement of manner in which pecuniary matters and responsibilities have been dealt with to give, render, an account of one's stewardship Phr to pay money on account, pay part of a larger sum which is owing 3 Grounds, reason, cause, motive, conditions esp in Phrs on no account, under no circumstances, on account of, because of, on my account, for my sake, on one's own account, on one's own responsibility, for one's own advantage, independently 4 Description, descriptive statement, narrative Phr give a good, bad, account of, speak favourably, unfavourably 5 Judgement, estimate, opinion In Phr to take account of, into account, consider, take no account of, neglect, overlook, not to hold of much account, to have poor opinion of, of no account, unimportant, negligible 6 Advantage, profit in Phr to turn to (good) account, make (good) use of account (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 a To hold, esteem, estimate, judge to account it a fortunate circumstance that &c, b (reflex) to account oneself happy &c B intrans Account for a To provide a satisfactory explanation for, render intelligible, explain only illness could account for his behaviour, not to be able to account for, to be unable to explain, understand, b give a statement showing how money or other property entrusted to one's care has been spent or dealt with you will have to account for every penny you have had (always with for of things, and to of persons) accountability, n [1 akóuntabiliti, 2 akáuntabiliti] See accountable & -ity Condition of being accountable, liability, responsibility accountable, adj [1 akóuntabl, 2 akáuntabl] See account (II) & -able 1 Liable to be called on to explain, answerable, responsible, for (to persons, for things) he is accountable to me for what he does Phr not accountable for one's actions &c, not right in the head, irresponsible 2 Able to be accounted for, explicable (rare) accountably, adv Prec & -ly In a manner that can be accounted for accountancy, n [1 akóuntansi, 2 akáuntansi] See accountant & -ancy The profession, occupation, of an accountant accountant, n [1 akóuntant, 2 akáuntant] Cp O Fr acomptant, acomptant See account & -ant One whose profession it is to inspect and audit accounts account-book, n, fr account (I) & book A book in which accounts (usually private) are kept

accoutre, vb trans [1 akóüter, 2 akúte] Fr accoutter, orig simply 'clothe, deck out', now 'dress in grotesque, fantastic fashion' Etymol doubtful Meyer Lubke ventures on none at all Othman have guessed a O Fr coustre, fr Low Lat custor, guardian, acquirer, one having charge of vestments' &c, Lat custos, see custody, b O Fr consure, Mod Fr couture, 'sewing', fr Lat consutúra, connected with con & sure, 'sew', see suture Both are improbable To dress, fit out with costume, equip, esp for military service Chiefly in P.P. accoutred accoutrement, n [1 akóütrement, 2 akútrement] See prec & -ment A Dress, and personal outfit generally, b (esp in pl) military outfit, including everything except actual clothes, and weapons accredit, vb trans [1 akrédit, 2 akrédit], fr Fr accréditer, fr Lat ad & credere, credítum, 'to trust' See ad- & credit To invest with credit, sanction, specif (gen in P.P.) to send an official envoy or ambassador to foreign court, only provided with credentials from his own government, also of any intermediary or representative an accredited minister, agent accretion, n [1 akréshun, 2 akríshn] Lat accretión (em), 'an increasing', fr accrel- (um), P.P. type of acrescere, 'to increase' See crescent 1 Increase in size, esp by external addition as distinct from organic growth 'A mineral augments not by growth, but by accretion' (Owen) 2 The matter added in such growth or accumulation 3 (law) a Accession, q.v., b increase of legacy &c by addition of share of co-legates who dies before legacy falls due accrue, vb intrans [1 akrós, 2 akrú], fr Fr. accruere, n, 'increase', fr accrel, P.P. of accrelre, 'to increase', fr Lat acrescere See accretion To come, fall due (to a person), as a gain or advantage, as result of natural increase, esp of interest on money, of any advantage arising from a process or action which falls to a person 'And unto meeting, when we meet, Delight a hundredfold accrue' (Tennyson) accumbent, adj [1 akumbent, 2 akámbent], fr Lat accumbent-(em), Pres Part of accumbere, 'to lean, recline towards or against', fr ad, 'to', & cumbere, 'to lie, re-cline' See cubicle (bot) Folded on their faces, of the cotyledons of such plants as the wallflower accumulate, vb trans & intrans [1 akúmülát, 2 akúmýuleit], fr Lat accumulát-(um), P.P. type of accumulare, 'to heap up', fr ad- & cumulus, 'a heap', see cumulus 1 trans To heap up, pile up, bring together by degrees, amass (money, possessions &c) 2 intrans To increase in number or mass, to gather together, become thick (lit and fig) dust soon accumulates in houses which are not cleaned, disasters accumulated round his path accumulated, adj [1 akúmüláted, 2 akúmýuleitid] P.P. of prec Heaped, stored up, amassed, brought together accumulated wealth, crimes, wisdom of ages &c accumulation, n [1 akúmüláshun, 2 akúmýuleitshn] See accumulate & -ion 1 The act or process of accumulating, heaping up, amassing 2 a That which has been accumulated, collection, pile, often in rather unfavourable sense accumulation of rubbish, a troublesome accumulation of papers &c, specif b growth of capital by addition of interest accumulative, adj [1 akúmüláitiv, 2 akúmýuleitiv] See accumulate & -ive 1 Resulting from accumulation, more usually cumu- lative, q.v. 2 (of persons) Acquisitive, given to heaping up (wealth &c) accumulatively, adv Prec & -ly. By accumulation accumulator, n [1 akúmüláter, 2 akúm-ýuleitsh] See accumulate & -or a (rare) One who accumulates or amasses (wealth &c), a money-maker, specif b an apparatus for storing energy, electricity &c accuracy, n [1 akúrasi, 2 akýurasi] See accurate & -acy Exactness, precision, correctness accurate, adj [1 akúrat, 2 akýurat], fr Lat accúratús, 'prepared with care', fr accúrare, fr ad- & cúra, 'care' See cure (I) 1 (of persons) Careful, painstaking, exact 2 (of statements, descriptions &c) Free from misstatement, strictly true, precise 3 (of apparatus, machines &c) Giving precise results, working according to design accurately, adv Prec & -ly In an accurate manner, with accuracy accursed, accurst, adj [1 akrérsd, akrést, 2 akrísd, akríst] P.P. of obs accursare See curse (II) The -ed pronounced as separate syllable when the word is followed by a noun, two syllabled form only used absolutely Under a curse, ill-fated, hence, abominable, detestable Often in colloquial speech used to express mere annoyance, troublesome, equivalent to, but much stronger than, confounded accusation, n [1 akúzáshun, 2 akýuzéshn], fr Lat accusátiō (em), fr accúsāt-(um), P.P. type of accūsare See accuse & -ion a Act of accusing; charge or imputation of an offence or crime, b (law) an indictment Phrs to be under an accusation, bring an accusation against accusative, adj & n [1 akúzáitiv, 2 akýúzitiv] Lat accusátiuus, fr accúsare, 'b'ame' &c See prec & -ive a adj Accusing, b n, name of case of direct object of transitive verb In inflected languages the accusative has specific and characteristic suffix, in uninflected languages like French or English there is properly no accusative case, but the object of a transitive verb stands in this case-relation though it has no suffix accuse, vb trans [1 akúz, 2 akýúz] Fr. accuser, Lat accúsare, 'accuse, blame', fr cadere, 'strike, beat, pound', fr Aryan base *k¹ou-, whence also Lith lauoti, 'hew, strike, forge', OHG houvan, Germ hauen, OE heawan, 'hew, strike' See cause (I) & bew To impute guilt to, to bring a charge against, indict (a person of an offence), to blame, lay the fault on accused, n [1 akúzd, 2 akýúzd], fr P.P. of prec Person against whom a criminal charge is brought in a court of law accuser, n [1 akúzer, 2 akýúze] See accuse & -er One who brings an accusation, charge, indictment, or imputation accusing, adj [1 akúzing, 2 akýúzing] Pres Part of accuse Imputing guilt to point an accusing finger at a person accusingly, adv. Prec & -ly In an accusing manner accustom, vb trans [1 akústum, 2 akástam], fr O Fr accostumer (Fr accoutumer), fr d, 'to', & custom To make familiar by use or habit, to habituate, mure, familiarize, train (a person or animal to something, or to do something) to accustom a dog to the gun, (often used in pass) to be in the habit of,

be used to to be accustomed to hard work, bad food &c, (also reflex) to accustom oneself to accustomed, adj [1 akústumd, 2 akástamd] P.P. of prec Usual, habitual, customary, characteristic to fight with accustomed bravery ace, n [1 ás, 2 éis], fr Fr as, 'ace at dice or cards', Lat as, 'unity, unit', see as (II) 1 A unit, esp a single point or spot on playing cards or dice, the card so marked ace of spades &c, Phr within an ace of, failing, or escaping by a hair's breadth 2 (fig.) The highest, best (from ace at cards), specif (flying) an ace, any particularly brilliant arman who brought down a large number of enemy planes

-acea, suff [1 ásia, 2 éisia] Lat nent pl, eo animalia, of -aceus, used in zoological terminology for names of orders and classes, as Crustacea &c

-aceae, suff [1 ásié, 2 éisi] Lat fem pl, eo plantae, of -aceus, used in botanical terminology for names of orders and families, as Mahveae &c

-acean suff [1 áshan, 2 éishn], fr Lat
-accéanus See prec & -an, forming a adjs =-aceous, b n, of members of orders in -acea a crustacean acedia, n [1 ásdia, 2 ásidia] Med Lat, fr Gk akédia, torpor, indifference', fr akidés, 'uncared for, unheeded, careless', fr a(priv) & kédos, 'care' Sloth, torpor, lethargy, one of the seven deadly sins

Aceldama, n [1 ásidama, 2 ásidama] Gk Ákeldama, Acts i 19 A field of bloodshed or slaughter.

-aceous, suff [1 áshus, 2 éishs], fr Lat
-aceus, see -acea & -ous, used to form adjs. fr zool & bot ns in -acea & -aceae acephalous, adj [1 ásefalus, 2 ásefalos], fr Gk aképhalos, 'headless', fr a- (priv) & képhalé, 'head' See cephalic Headless, specif (zool.) having no part of the body specially differentiated as a head.

acerbity, n [1 asérbiti, 2 asábiti], fr Fr acerbitas, Lat acerbitas (-em), 'sourness, harshness', fr acerbus, 'sour, harsh, unripe'. See acrid. 1 Sourness, asstringency of taste. 2 (fig) Sharpness, harshness, bitterness of temper, speech, actions, manner &c.

acerose, adj [1 asérba, 2 ésarous], fr Lat acerosus, 'full of chaff, chaffy', fr acer (-is), acus, 'chaff'. See awn, & ep acrid. (bot) A mixed with chaff, chaffy, b needle-shaped, as the leaves of pines.

acervate, adj [1 asérvât, 2 asíveit], fr Lat acervat (-um), P.P. type of acervus, 'to heap up', fr acervus, 'heap, pile', etymol doubtful (bot) Heaped up, growing in heaps or clusters, as certain fungi &c.

acetabulum, n [1 asetabulum, 2 asetabulum], Lat, 'a little cup for vinegar', fr acetum, 'vinegar'. See acetic (anat) 1 The cup-shaped socket of the hip into which the thigh bone fits. 2 A sucker of an octopus, leech &c.

acetarous, adj [1 asetarus, 2 asetarus], Lat acetarius (pl.), 'vegetables prepared with vinegar', fr acetum, 'vinegar'. See acetic & -ary & -ous (of plants) Used in salads, as lettuce, mustard and cress &c.

acetate, n [1 asetât, 2 asetet], See acetic & -ate (chem) A salt of acetic acid.

copper acetate, verdugris

acetic, adj [1 asétk, 2 asétk], fr Lat aceticum, 'that which has grown sour', hence 'vinegar', & -ic, aceticum, P.P. of acere, 'be sour', cogn. w acer, 'sharp', see acrid. Pertaining to vinegar, specif (chem) acetic acid, organic acid compound found in juices of plants, giving its sour taste to vinegar.

acetic vb trans & intrans [1 aséti, 2 aséti], See prec & -ly a trans 'To turn into vinegar', b intrans, to become sour.

acetone, n [1 asetón, 2 asetón], See acetic & -one (chem) The representative type of a group of organic compounds, ketones, q.v., derived from the distillation of wood alcohol or acetates.

acetous, adj [1 asétus, 2 asétus], See acetic & -ous Pertaining to, producing, vinegar, sour acetous acid (obs), vinegar.

acetyl, n [1 asetil, 2 asetil], See acetic & -yl (chem) The radical or base of acetic acid.

acetylene, n [1 asétilon, 2 asétilon], fr prec & -ene A colourless gas, compound of carbon and hydrogen, obtained by the action of water on calcium carbide, burning with a very bright white flame and having an unpleasant and powerful smell.

ache (I), n [1 ák, 2 éik] O.E. ace*, M.E. ache. In early Mod. Engl. the n was normally pronounced [1 ák, 2 éik]. The present pronunciation is due to anal. w vh, the infn. & 1st sing pres were in O.E. acan, ace, M.E. álen, áke. Cogn. w Lat agere, 'set in motion', & numerous derived meanings. See agent. A pain, esp a dull, continuous pain as opposed to a sudden sharp one, used both of physical pain (tooth ache, earache &c) and mental or emotional sensations (heartache &c). ache (II), vb intrans. See prec. Present spelling due to that of noun. 1 n (of a part of the body) To be continuously and dullly painful. my head, ear, arm, etc. aches, b (with pers. pron.) to suffer continuously, dull pain. I am aching all over. 2 (fig) Expressing strong longing for something. I was aching to join in the fight.

achene, n [1 álén, 2 ákin], fr Gk a- (priv) & kháena, 'to gape'. See chaos (bot) A small dry carpel containing a single seed, which does not 'burst' when ripe.

Acheron, n [1 ákeron, 2 ákarón], Lat, fr Gk. Ákhérón, fr állos, 'gravel, ooze', fr the two even in English. (class. mythol.) The river of the rivers of Hades, hence the infernal regions, the underworld.

Acheulan, adj [1 áshúlan, 2 áfíllan], fr Fr. Achéulan, fr ák, Acheul, France, where remains were first discovered. (archaeol.) Of, denoting, a stage of palaeolithic culture, succeeding the Chellean and preceding the Mousterian.

achieve, vb trans [1 achév, 2 atíiv], fr Fr. achever, 'to accomplish, complete', fr achef venir, fr Low Lat ad caput venire, 'to come to a head (with)'. To gain, effect something, reach, esp to achieve one's purpose, object &c.

achievement, n [1 achérvment, 2 atíivment], fr Fr. achèvement. See achieve & -ment. 1 Something completed, brought to successful conclusion, esp by skill, valour, exertion, industry, an exploit. 2 (her) Hatchment.

Achilles tendon, n [1 ákhílas tándon, 2 ákhílas tándon], Lat tendo Achilles, from the legend of the infant Achilles being held by the heel when Thetis dipped him in Styx to render him invulnerable (anat) The tendon at the back of the heel, attached to the thick muscle of the calf.

achromatic, adj [1 ákrómátk, 2 ákrómátk], Gk. a-, 'lacking', & khroma, khromatos, 'colour', ep Gk. khrois, 'skin, colour, surface'. See chromes. Colourless, specif (optics) achromatic lens, one which transmits white light without decomposing it into the component colours.

achromatism, n [1 ákrómátmazm, 2 ákrómátmazm], Proc & -ism Want of colour.

achromatize, vb trans [1 ákrómátmaz, 2 ákrómátmaz], Proc & -ize To deprive of colour.

achromatopsis, n [1 ákrómátopsi, 2 ákrómátopsi], See achromatism & optic (lit) Colour lacking sight, i.e. colour-blindness.

acicular, acuminate, adjs [1 asikular, -lât, 2 asikula, -lât], fr Lat acicula, dimin. of acus, 'needle', see acrid & -ar & -ate (bot and zool) A shaped like a needle, sharp pointed, b having sharp, finely-pointed bristles or needles.

acid (I), adj [1 ásid, 2 ásid], fr Lat acidus, 'sour', cogn. w aceticum. See acetic & acrid. 1 Sour, sharp, to the taste (of fruits, liquors &c). 2 (fig, of the temper, countenance, manner of speaking &c) Ill-natured, testy, gloomy. 3 (chem) Having the essential properties of an acid. See acid (II).

acid (II), n, fr prec. A sour substance, such as vinegar, specif (chem) a substance containing hydrogen from which salts are formed by substitution of the hydrogen by a metal, distinguished by turning blue vegetable colours, as litmus paper, red. Phr acid test, a final, crucial test of anything, proving the true value, genuineness &c, from the use of acid in proving gold.

acidify, vb trans & intrans [1 asidifi, 2 asidifi], See acid (I) & -fy 1 trans To make sour, specif b (chem) to convert into an acid. 2 intrans To become sour.

acidimeter, n [1 ásidimeter, 2 ásidimeter], See acid (I) & -meter Instrument for measuring the strength of acids.

acidity, n [1 asidrit, 2 asidrit], fr Lat aciditas (-em). See acid (I) & -ity The quality of being acid or sour.

acidosis, n [1 ándosis, 2 ándosis], Hybrid form. See acid (I) & -osis (pathol.) A morbid bodily condition found with diabetes &c., due to an accumulation of fatty acids in the blood and tissues.

acidulate, vb trans [1 asidulât, 2 asidulât], fr Lat acidulare, 'slightly sour', dimin. of acidus. See acid (I) & -ato To make somewhat acid, to make acid in a moderate degree. (Rare) acidulated, adj [1 asidulâted, 2 asidulâted], P.P. of prec. Made somewhat acid or sour, a of things acidulated drops, b of persons, temper &c an acidulated old maid.

aciform, adj [1 ásiform, 2 ásiform], fr Lat acus, 'needle'. See acrid & -form (bot. and zool.) Sharp, fine, like a needle or bristle.

acumiform, adj [1 ásiniform, 2 ásiniform], See acinus & -form (bot) Having the form of an acinus, clustered, as the drupels of a berry.

acinus, n [1 ásinus, 2 ásinés], Lat, 'cluster of grapes, berry', etymol doubtful (bot) A fruit, as the blackberry, raspberry &c, composed of clustered drupels, b one of such drupels.

-acious, suff [1 ásinus, 2 éífas], fr Lat ax, acus, & -ous, forming adjs w meaning 'given, tending to, abounding in, full of'.

-acity, suff [1 ásin, 2 ásin], fr Lat acut (-em), or Fr. acut, forming ns corresponding to adjs in -acious mendacity, tenacity &c.

acknowledge, vb trans [1 áknóley, 2 áknólidé], fr a- & knowledge. 1 To admit, own to acknowledge the necessity of a proceeding. 2 To recognize the authority, claims of acknowledge a man as one's superior. 3 To own with gratitude and reward acknowledge kindness, b state as a fact acknowledge receipt of a letter. 4 (law) To own as genuine, avow in legal form.

acknowledg(e)ment, n [1 áknóleyment, 2 áknóldément], See prec & -ment. 1 The act of acknowledging, an admission, confession, avowal (of a fault, of the existence, authority, or truth of a person or thing). 2 The owning or recognition of a benefit, obligation, by expressing gratitude or giving something in return. a small acknowledgement of kindness received, to bow one's acknowledgements (of applause &c).

acmic, adj [1 ákhímik, 2 ákhímik], fr a- (priv), Gk. kháma, 'to bend', & -ic. See clinico (of magnetic needle) A Not dipping, b situated where the needle does not dip.

acme, n [1 ákm, 2 ákm], Gk. ákmé, 'a point, edge', fig, 'flower of age, prime of life', ep Gk. álmé, 'point', Lat acmé, 'point, edge', cogn. also w Engl. edge. See also acrid. The top or highest culminating point, esp (fig) point of perfection &c the acme of perfection, of one's hopes.

acne, n [1 ákm, 2 ákm], Etymol unknown, possibly corruption of prec word. A common skin disease, a small hard pimple, chiefly affecting the forehead and nose or chest, caused by the blocking and inflammation of the sebaceous glands.

acolyte, n [1 ákolit, 2 ákalit], fr Low Lat. acolythus, Gk. akolouthos, 'a follower', cp akolouthos, 'follow, go with', cogn. w kháen, 'road, track, journey', ep Lith. keliau, 'I journey', & Lat calix, 'foot-path'. Cp anacolython (eccles.) a person in minor orders in R.C. Church whose business it is to serve at Mass, layman who performs similar offices in Church of England, b (fig) an assistant, devoted follower and attendant.

aconite, n [1 ákonit, 2 ákanast], fr Fr. aconit, fr Lat aconitum, fr Gk. akóniton, 'monk's hood', origin unknown. 1 n The plant monk's hood, b poisonous drug extracted from this. 2 Yellow aconite, Lanthus hemalis.

acorn, n [1 ákoron, 2 éikón] O.E. acern, 'acorn', O.N. akorn, Goth. akran, 'fruit'. Some Engl. dialects pronounce the word [áíar], wh. wd. appear to be the normal Mod. form fr O.E. The exact ancestor of our form is, however, found in M.E. ácorne. It has been suggested that acorn was related to acer, 'field', see acro, and meant simply 'fruits of the field'. This is doubtful. In any case the present form has been influenced by supposed connexion with corn. The fruit of the oak tree.

acotyledon, n [1 áktóildon, 2 áktóildon], a- (priv) & cotyledon. (bot) Any plant which has no cotyledons, including all flowerless plants, such as mosses, lichens, ferns &c., now usually styled cryptogams.

acotyledonous, adj [1 áktóildonous, 2 áktóildonous], Proc & -ous (bot) Having no cotyledons, cryptogamous.

acoustic, adj & n [1 akoustik, 2 akoustik].
Fr acoustique, Gk akoustikós, fr akouô, 'I hear', earlier laus*, cogn w Lat cus los, 'guardian', see custody (idea of watching, listening), Goth hausan, 'hear', O E hieran, see hear a-us fr Aryan sm*, 'one', and is here copulative. See simplex. 1 adj Connected with sense of hearing, or with the physical theory of sounds. 2 n (gen in pl) Acoustics, the theory of sound, properties of audibility and resonance, dependent on the structural features and proportions of a building (theatre, lecture hall &c).

acquaint, vb trans [1 akwánt, 2 akwánt], fr O Fr acquinter, fr L Lat acquintare, fr Lat ad & cognit (um), PP type of cognoscere, 'to get to know'. See cognoscible. 1 a To inform, make aware of, let know to acquaint (a person) with (a fact), also acquaint (person) that, b (reflex) acquaint oneself, to acquire information concerning, to make oneself familiar with. 2 (in pass) To be acquainted with (a person or thing), to have personal knowledge of. Phrs. to make one acquainted with (things), to inform, (with persons) to introduce, also, archaic and liter to bring (a person) acquainted with.

acquaintance, n [1 akwántans, 2 akwántans], fr O Fr acquaintance. See acquaint & -ance. 1 Knowledge of (a person) gained by direct or epistolary intercourse, but not amounting to intimate friendship, (of facts) knowledge, without qualifications as to degree a slight, an intimate, acquaintance with astronomy. 2 A person with whom one is acquainted, whom one knows slightly, but not intimately, as distinct from a friend.

acquiesce, vb intrans [1 akwíes, 2 akwíes].
Fr acquiescer, Lat acquiescere, 'to rest', fig, 'to rest, be satisfied, assent to', fr ad & quiescere, 'to keep quiet'. See ad- & quiescent. To agree tacitly to, accept, consent unwillingly to a suggestion, plan, proposal &c he will never acquiesce, they have acquiesced in his resignation.

acquiescence, n [1 akwíesans, 2 akwíesans].
Fr See preco & -ence. Passive compliance, assent, unenthusiastic consent.

acquiescent, adj [1 akwíesant, 2 akwíesant].
Fr, fr Lat acquiescent (-em), Pres Part of acquiescere. See acquiesce. Tacitly agreeing, consenting without protest, permitting.

acquiescently, adv Preco & -ly. In an acquiescent manner.

acquire, vb trans [1 akwír, 2 akwír], fr Lat acquirere, 'seek in addition, add to, acquire', fr ad & quaerere, 'to seek, search', for quawere*, perb = qua, or some form of interrog pron, & base aw-*, 'ask', found in Sort ésti, 'seeks, inquires', & ask. See query, question. 1 To gain by and for oneself, through one's own efforts or actions to acquire the art of public speaking, to acquire a bad reputation. 2 To get as one's own, come into possession of, by whatever means acquire a title, wealth &c.

acquired, adj [1 akwírd, 2 akwírd]. PP of preco. Of a quality or trait attained by practice or experience as distinct from what is inherited, innate, or natural, as an acquired taste &c, specif (biol) acquired characters, mental or physical characteristics gained through influence of environment, and not inherited from parents.

acquirement, n [1 akwírmant, 2 akwírmant]. See acquire & -ment. 1 The act of acquiring. 2 That which is acquired, specif, an acquired mental faculty, accomplishment.

acquisition, n [1 akwízishun, 2 akwízishun]. Lat acquisition (em), fr acquisit (um), PP type of acquirere. See acquire & -ion. 1 Act or process of acquiring. the acquisition of money, land &c. 2 That which is acquired or gained, esp something added to what already existed (of persons or things), in favourable sense the new member is a distinct acquisition to the party.

acquisitive, adj [1 akwízitiv, 2 akwízitiv].
See preco & -ive. Desirous, capable, of acquiring and retaining, tending to acquire and retain (knowledge, wealth, power &c) an acquisitive mind, the acquisitive instinct.

acquisitiveness, n Preco & -ness. 1. The desire, tendency, to acquire. 2 (phren) The supposed mental faculty to which is attributed this tendency.

acquit, vb trans [1 akwít, 2 akwít], fr O Fr acquiter, Lat ad & quiescere, 'to settle', fr quies, éti, 'rest'. See ad- & quies. 1 To declare, after considering evidence, (a person) not guilty (of an offence), consider and declare (a person) not responsible for something done amiss, or as not possessing some bad quality of which he was suspected. 2 (reflex) To bear or conduct oneself, to perform one's part, to behave to acquit oneself well, ill.

acquittal, n [1 akwítal, 2 akwítal]. Preco & -al. Specif (law) the act of acquitting, a setting free from the charge of an offence by legal verdict.

acquittance, n [1 akwítans, 2 akwítans].
O Fr acquittance. See acquit & -ance. Discharge from debt or other liability, the documentary evidence of such discharge, a receipt in full.

acre, n [1 áker, 2 áker]. O E æcer, 'field, land-measure', ME áker, OHG acchar, Goth akra, 'field', op Lat ager, under agrarian. 1 A measure of land, 4840 sq yds. 2 A field, now only in apical phrases, as broad acres, large property, God's Acre, churchyard.

acreage, n [1 ákeri, 2 ákeridž]. acre & -age. The number of acres in a piece of land, acres collectively acreage of a farm &c, reduce one's acreage.

acid, adj [1 akrid, 2 akrid]. Formed on anal of acid (Lat acidus), fr Lat acer, ácer, 'sharp, bitter', op Lat acus, 'needle', Gk ákris, 'peak, hill-top', also akris, 'point, barb', Sort akris, 'edge, slope', Lith akizras, 'sharp', O Slav ositi, 'prickle', O E ep, 'awn, beard of barley', ON eggja, 'sharpen, moite'. See egg (on), vb, edge, acid. 1 (of things) Bitter, stinging, irritating, esp to the taste or smell. 2 (fig, of persons, temper, disposition &c.) Bitter, cross grained, irritating, caustic.

acridity, n [1 akriditi, 2 akriditi]. Preco & -ity. Acridness.

acridness, n [1 akridnes, 2 akridnes]. acid & -ness. The quality of being acid.

acrimonious, adj [1 ákrimónus, 2 ákrimónus]. See acrimony & -ous (of non material things) Bitter, rankling, embittered (of quarrel, strife &c). acrimoniously, adv Preco & -ly. In an acrimonious manner.

acrimony, n [1 ákrimuni, 2 ákrimuni], fr Lat acrimonia, 'sharpness, pungency', fr acer, ácer (-is), 'sharp'. See acid & -mony. Severity, harshness, bitterness, asperity of temper, manner, speech &c.

acrisia, n [1 akrisia, 2 akrisia]. Gk akrisia, fr a-, neg particle, & krisis, 'judgement'. See critic (med). A condition of disease which presents no decided symptoms from which diagnosis can be made.

acritical, adj [1 akrítikl, 2 akrítikl], fr preco & -al. See critical (med). Giving no indications of a crisis.

acro-, pref, fr Gk akros, 'at the end, topmost, outermost', fr aké, 'edge'. See acid, acrid. At highest point, at the tip, extreme.

acrobatic, n [1 ákrobat, 2 ákrobat]. Fr acrobate, fr Gk akrobates, 'to walk on tiptoes', akrobates, 'one who so walks', fr akros, 'tip' & bat, 'going', op bates, 'passable', fr basno, 'I go'. See acro- & basis. Highly skilled gymnast, tight-rope walker, tumbler &c. acrobatic, adj [1 ákrobatik, 2 ákrobatik]. Preco & -ic. Pertaining to an acrobat or his performance.

acrobatics, n pl, fr. preco. Acrobatic performances.

acrocarpous, adj [1 ákrokárpus, 2 ákrokárpas], fr acro- & Gk kárpós, 'fruit', see carpel, & -ous (bot) Producing fruit at end of stalk.

acrocephalic, acrocephalous, adj [1 ákro-séfálik, -séfalus, 2 ákro-séfálik, -séfólas]. See acro- & cephalic & cephalous. Having a pointed skull.

acrogen, n [1 ákrojen, 2 ákrodžen]. acro- & -gen. Lat 'growing at the top'. Specif (bot) plant of cryptogam class, having a perennial stem whence fresh growths take place, as in ferns, mosses &c.

acrogenous, adj [1 ákrojenus, 2 ákrodžénas]. Preco & -ous (bot) Belonging to the class of acrogens.

acrolith, n [1 ákrolith, 2 ákrolith], fr acro- & Gk lithos, 'a stone'. See litho-. Ancient form of statue having the trunk of wood and the head and other extremities of stone.

acromegaly, n [1 ákromégali, 2 ákromégali]. Modern concoction fr Gk akros, 'at the end, outermost, on the top', op akros, 'peak, summit' &c, see acro-, & Gk bass megal, as in gen &c of megas, 'great, tall, long' &c, q v under mega- & megalo- (med) Abnormal, permanent, and excessive enlargement of the extremities, involving esp the head, hands, and feet.

acronychal, adj [1 ákroníkal, 2 ákroníkal]. Gk akroníchos, 'at nightfall', fr akro- (in sense of 'edge'), see acro-, & núkh (ov), nux, see night (astron) Happening at nightfall or sunset, applied to the rising and setting of stars.

acronychally, adv Preco & -ly. At nightfall or sunset.

acropolis, n [1 ákropólis, 2 ákropólis]. Gk akropolis, 'higher city', fr acro- & pólis, 'city'. See polity (I), politic. The fortified upper part or citadel of a Greek city, esp that of Athens.

across, adv & prep [1 akráws, 2 akrás], fr a- & cross (III). 1 adv a Crosswise, in a position or direction crossing the line of length transversely from side to side, athwart write across (e.g. back of a letter); b in a position resulting from crossing: to get across (river, road). 2 prep a (expressing direction) Forming a cross with, at an angle with, from side to side of, completely over a bridge across the river, b (expressing motion, position) over in any direction except lengthwise, from one side to the other to run across the road, he crossed the bed. Phrs across country, direct from point to point, not following the roads, to run, come, across (person or thing), to come into contact with, meet unexpectedly, by accident, to get across a person, quarrel with him, to be across a horse's back, ride.

acrostic, n [1 ákrostik, 2 ákrostik], fr Gk akrostichon, fr acro- & stichos, 'order, row, line', fr stichon, 'go, come, go in order, march'. Cogn w O E stigan, 'go, rise'. See second element in distach, stile &c. A Poem, the initial letters of the lines of which form words b problem, puzzle, the solution of which consists in discovering a series of words which, written one below another, spell other words when the initial, sometimes also the final and middle letters, are read from top to bottom.

acroterium, n, pl acroteria [1 ákrotérium, -ia, 2 ákrotériarum, -ia]. Lat, fr Gk akrotérion, 'summit, apex, top', fr akros, 'topmost'. See acro- (class archit) a The plinth or pedestal for a statue or other ornamental figure, placed on the apex and lower corners of a pediment, b figure placed on such pedestal.

act (I), n [1 ákt, 2 ákt]. Fr acte, 'action', fr Lat actus, 'a moving impulse', fr actum, 'something done', P.P. of agere, 'set in motion, drive; do &c', cogn w Gk agere, 'lead, guide, carry off', op hakt ágata, 'goes, drives', agrus, 'active, moving'. See further under agent, agonistic. 1 A thing done, an action, deed, (good or bad) performance, exploit we are all responsible for our acts, act of kindness, specif., The Acts (of the Apostles), New Testament book describing the history of the Early Church immediately after Our Lord's death, act of God, operation of natural forces, lightning, tempest, earthquakes &c, esp in causing disaster; something beyond human control, act of grace, something done voluntarily, not under compulsion or as part of a duty 2 Process of doing, action in the (very) act, while doing something caught in the act 3 Transaction of a legislative body, a legislative measure, the same embodied in a document Act of Parliament (thus fr Lat acta, neut pl of PP 'what has been done', a record of this) 4 One of the main divisions of a play, in which the development of the action reaches a definite stage act (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans (only of dramatic performance and fig uses derived from this) 1 (of a whole company) To perform (a play), represent (a story, incident &c) 2 (of a single person) a To personate, assume the character of, on the stage to act a, the, part (of), to act the Ghost in 'Hamlet', b to simulate (a feeling), behave as to act outraged dignity, act the knave (fig) To act a part (in bad sense), to play the hypocrite he is merely acting a part To act the part (in good or bad sense), to fulfil the character or duties of to act the part of benefactor To act one's part, to do one's duty, to act one's part well, to fulfil the duties imposed on one B intrans 1 To perform actions, do things (in the widest sense), to take steps, to carry into effect by action ideas, decisions of the mind &c the time for thinking is past, we must act immediately To act as, to do the work of, serve as to act as interpreter, guide &c To act on, upon, to behave in a certain way on account of something to act on an assumption, to act on someone's advice, to act on one's own responsibility &c To act up to (one's reputation, ideals &c), to realize by one's actions a certain standard 2 To behave, comport, or bear oneself under given circumstances - to act wisely, foolishly &c 3 Specif., to perform on the stage, to follow profession of an actor 4 To take a specific part in a legal or other transaction to act on one's behalf, to act for one, to act in the matter 5 (of things) To produce effects, fulfil proper functions, succeed the brake won't act, special use (of the bowels), produce evacuation Tu act on, to influence, affect acid acts on stone, (of a drug) to act on the stomach, heart &c acting, n, & adj [1 áktíng, 2 áktíng] Vbl n. & Pres Part fr act (II). 1 n. a Performance of a play on the stage a play unsuitable for acting, b manner in which the actors play their parts bad, good, acting, c exercise of the dramatic art fond of acting 2 adj Performing temporary services, holding temporary rank or position in another's absence, deputizing for, as Acting Captain, Acting Manager actinic, adj [1 áktíník, 2 áktíníh], fr Gk. aktinē, aktis, 'ray, radiance, brightness', & -ic Cogn w Sert aktis, 'light', Goth áhtwō, 'dawn', fr ayhtwō*, in gradational relation to night (phys) Of, pertaining to, the ultra-violet, invisible rays of the spectrum which produce chemical change actinism, n [1 áktínízm, 2 áktínízám] See prec & -ism a Property, possessed by ultra-violet rays, of producing chemical change, b chemical change effected by such rays actinium, n [1 áktíníum, 2 áktínízám] See prec. & -ium A radio active substance found in pitchblende, with actino or chemical properties actino-, pref Form, fr actinic, used in compounds, signifying a (phys) of, pertaining to, actinic rays or actinism, b (zool) having a radial or radiated structure.

actinometer, n [1 áktínóméter, 2 áktínómétris] actino- & -meter Instrument for measuring the actinic or chemical effect of ultra violet rays.

actinomyces, n [1 áktínómísēs, 2 áktínómísis] See actino- & Gk mykēs, 'fungus' Cp Gk. myxos, 'mucous', see mucous (bacter) A genus of minute parasitic rayed fungi actinomycosis, n [1 áktínómíkosís, 2 áktínómíkosís] Prec & -osis (pathol) An inflammatory disease, affecting cattle and, more rarely, man, marked by suppurating tumours in the jaw &c, and caused by infection by the actinomyces and other bacteria actinotherapy, n [1 áktínóthérapi, 2 áktínóthérapi] actino- & therapy The use of actinic rays of light for healing diseases of the skin, tuberculosis of the joints &c actinozoa, n [1 áktínózoa, 2 áktínózóus] actino- & -zoa (zool) A group of rayed polyps, including the corals and sea anemones action, n [1 ákshún, 2 ákshún] Fr action, fr Lat actiō (em), 'action', formed fr base act, op Lat actus under act (I), & -iōn. 1 Exertion of force or energy, process of doing or operating, departure from state of inertia and quiescence, used (without art) of physical and mental process action of any kind is better than doing nothing, the Government promised to suspend all action for the moment, his mind seemed incapable of action Special uses conscious, unconscious, action, performed as result of volition, without act of will Action is often used with definite sense of contrast to inactivity, inertia a man of action &c Phrs to take action (in a matter), begin to do something, line, mode, of action, form which action has, action of the mind, mental action 2 Specific act, or form of activity, deed, operation I resent his action in this matter; a pious, generous, spirited, mean, action 3 Function, special series of movements peculiar and proper to an organ action of the heart, lungs, liver &c (med.) Action of the bowels, evacuation of excreta 4 Mode or style of bodily and physical movement fine, graceful, clumsy, action (of a horse or human being in performing any natural movements) 5 Characteristic direction or mode of movement of a machine reversible action, hence, to be put out of action, (gen) is deprived of power of action, be incapacitated 6 (chem and phys) Effects exerted by matter, heat, light action of acids &c 7 (mil) A battle, hostile encounter between opposing forces Phrs to break off an action, stop the battle, to accept action, engage in a battle 8 (law) A legal suit, or process Phr to take, bring an, action (against) 9 The series of events and actions, or the representation of these (as distinct from portrayal of character and passion) in a play or narrative which make up the plot 10 (phys) See quantum theory actionable adj [1 ákshunábl, 2 ákshunábl] See action & -able (law) Liable to, or giving cause for, an action at law active, adj [1 áktiv, 2 áktiv] Fr actif, Lat. activus, fr base act- as in PP of agere. See act 1 Inclined, disposed, to action or movement, nimble, agile, alert, used of mind and body active in one's movements, an active pair of legs, an active mind, brain, intelligence &c, a man of active sympathies, easily evoked Phr as active as a kitten, extremely active 2 Energetic, busy, bustling, used of persons life, character &c an active manager, to lead an active life, to be active in one's habits, special use on active service, in Army or Navy, engaged in fighting 3 Possessed of full or adequate powers of mind and body to be still active, not to be as active as one was 4 Practical, actual, real, effective to take, play, an active part in affairs, to take an active interest in what is going on, to give active help 5 Occupied in, with, involved in having responsible part in to be an active party to a transaction, active list in the Army or Navy, the list of those who have not retired from the Service Phr on the active list, still engaged in one's duties, (gen) able to take part in affairs 6 Lively, subject to movement in various directions an active market, barometer 7 (gram) An active verb is one which has as a subject the name of the person or thing that performs the action which it expresses Opposed to passive actively, adv Prec & -ly In an active manner (with all senses of adj) activeness, n See prec & -ness State of being active, activity activity, n [1 áktivítí, 2 áktivítí], fr Fr activité, fr Low Lat activitāt (em) See active & -ity State and quality of being active in mind and body 1 Agility, nimbleness, alertness, power of movement of mind and body 2 Normal bodily and mental power his time of full activity is past 3 (m pl) Specific doings in spheres of action the various activities of enemy spies in our midst are well known, his manifold activities were paralysed by the indifference of others, human activities, any actions or enterprises carried out by men 4 Movement, liveliness activity of trade, of the market, of the legislature &c acton, n [1 áktún, 2 áktún] OF augeton, 'padded jacket', Span alcoton, fr Arab al-qutun, 'the cotton' See cotton A stuffed jacket worn under the mail as additional protection in mediaeval times actor, n [1 ákter, 2 ákta] Lat, 'doer' See act (II) & -or a One who plays a part in a drama on the stage, professional performer of plays, b (fig) one who takes part in any notable action actress, n [1 áktrés, 2 áktrís] See prec & -ess A female performer of stage plays actual, adj [1 áktúál, ákchóol, 2 áktjuál, áktjuál], fr Fr actuel, fr L Lat actualis, fr act-us, see act (I) & -al 1 Really existing as a fact, as distinguished from potential or possible 2 In existence at the present moment the actual position actuality, n [1 áktúálití, ákchóolítí, 2 áktjuálití, áktjuálití], fr Med Lat actualitāt (em) See prec & -ity State of being actual, reality, realism actualization, n [1 áktúálizáshún, 2 áktjuálízeshún] actualize & -ation. A making actual or real actualize, vb trans [1 áktúálíz, ákchóolíz, 2 áktjuálíz, áktjuálíz] actual & -ize To make (a project, idea) actual, to realize in action, render real by description actually, adv [1 áktúáh, ákchóol, 2 áktjuáh, áktjuáh] actual & -ly a At the present moment, now, b really, in truth, often used with statements which appear improbable he not only ran in the race, but actually won it actuarial, adj [1 áktúáriál, 2 áktjuáriál] actuary & -al Pertaining to the theory by which insurance risks are estimated, and the premiums adjusted.

actuary, n [1 áktúári, 2 áktjuári] Lat actuarius, 'a clerk, registrar', fr acta, 'events, records' See actum under act (I) An official in an insurance office who calculates insurance risks and fixes premiums according to tables of mortality &c actuate, vb trans [1 áktúát, ákchóoát, 2 áktjuát, áktjuát], fr actuāt (um), PP type of Med Lat actuāre. See act (I) To act upon, influence, to provide, serve as, motive for (action) acuity, n [1 ákúití, 2 ákúití], fr Fr acuité, fr Low Lat acutitāt (em), fr acutus, ūs, 'a needle', op acutere, 'to sharpen' See acute & also acid, acrid. a Sharpness (of a point), b intensity (of disease), c keenness (of wit, intelligence) aculeate, adj [1 ákúliát, 2 ákúlihnt], fr Lat aculeat (um), fr aculeus, dimin of acus, 'needle' See acuity & -ate a (bot) Having sharp prickles or points, b (zool) having stings (of insects) acumen, n [1 akúmen, 2 akýmen] Lat. acumen, 'sharpened point', also 'mental sharpness, keenness of intelligence', fr. acuer, 'to sharpen' See acute Acuteness of mind, penetration acuminate, adj [1 akúminát, 2 akýminet] fr Lat acuminat (um), P.P. of acuminare, 'to sharpen', see acumen & -ate (hot) Pointed, tapering to a sharp point acupressure, n [1 akúprésher, 2 akýpréše] fr Lat acus, 'needle', see acuity & pressure (mod) Method of chocking bleeding by the pressure of a needle on the blood-vessel near the point of escape acupuncture, n [1 akúptúngchur, 2 akýpaktfo] fr Lat acus, 'needle', see acuity, & puncture (med.) A method of relieving pain, as in lumbago &c by puncture of the inflamed part with a needle acute, adj [1 akút, 2 akýt] fr Lat acutus, 'sharp pointed', fr acuer, 'to sharpen'. See acid & acrid 1 Sharp, pointed, coming to a sharp point, specif (geom) an acute angle, one less than a right angle, opposite to obtus 2 a (of intellectual qualities) Keen, sharp, penetrating, shrewd, b (of the senses) keen, sharp 3 (of any emotional or physical condition) Intense, severe, poignant acute pain, pleasure, jealousy &c 4 (of sounds) Sharp, shrill, high 5 (of writing and print) Acute accent, line sloping from right to left, placed over letter, as Fr é 6 (med., of a disease &c) Severe, in the stage of violent symptoms, when the suffering is most intense, as distinct from chronic acutely, adv Proc & -ly Sharply, keenly (of the senses, feelings, and mental faculties) acuteness, n See acute & -ness A The quality of being acute (of mental faculties, senses, emotions), b (mod., of disease) condition of being severe, intense

-acy, suff [1 asi, 2 asi] Fr -acie, Lat -acia Used in forming abstract nouns, which arose a fr adjectives w stem -aci (nom -aci fallax, fallaci), or b fr adj of -itus type, Engl. -ite, when corresponding noun in Lat is formed in -itis, Mod Lat -itia, whence Fr -ite [asi] The suffix has been widely extended by analogy in Fr and Engl, and forms abstract nouns also fr concrete nouns in -ate: magistrate, magistracy ad-, pref, fr Lat prep ad, 'to' &c, cogn w Gmc at, as in Goth, OS, OHG az, OE æt, 'at, near, from' The word has various meanings in Lat direction towards, with or without motion, proximity, near to, by, at; up to, about, a certain time or number In composition ad- expresses: (1) motion to, (2) addition, (3) completion, (4) nearness, (5) award to, (6) beginning of an action The form remains unchanged before vowels & b, d, h, m, v, before c, f, g, k, n, p, r, s, & the d in ad is assimilated, & it becomes ac-, af-, ap-, at- &c The above applies to words direct fr Lat In O Fr ad- normally becomes a-, but in many words it was later Latinized, either in Fr or Engl The process is often carried further in Engl, wh may have ad- in words where ME & Fr retain the older a- form

-ad, suff 1 From Gk -ad as in trad, the number three, fr Gk triaz, genit tríad-os, used a to form collective numerals, b in fem patronyms, dryad &c, c names of poems, Iliad, & names of plants, lilad 2 From Fr -ade, as in ballad See -ade adage, n [1 ádu, 2 adíd] Fr adage, fr Lat adagium, 'adage, proverb', fr ad- & agi-, fr base of agis, fr aggi, 'I say, relate', cp Gk agis for egis, 'speak' C1, prology An old saying, a proverbial maxim, a proverb adagio, adv & n [1 ádiájó, 2 áddájó] Ital., 'slowly' (mus.) a adv. Slowly, leisurely, b n. a slow movement

Adam n [1 ádam; 2 ádam] Heb. Name of the first man, hence, human frailty, sin the old Adam, unregenerate human nature

Phr Adam's ale, Adam's wine, water, Adam's apple, the prominence in a man's throat, the thyroid cartilage of the larynx; (colloq) not to know (a person) from Adam, not to know at all adamant, n [1 ádamant, 2 ádamant] O Fr, fr Lat adamans, adamantis, 'hardest iron or steel', & fig of character, 'unyielding, inexorable', fr Gk adamas, adamantos, same meaning as in Lat, fr a- (priv) & damdā, 'I tame', cogn w Lat domare, 'tame, subdue', & domitare, 'break in', &c See daunt A hard, unyielding stone such as the diamond, b any hard, unyielding substance, esp in Phr. as hard as adamant, and fig (of the character, resolution, will &c) adamant to entreaties, temptations &c adamantine, adj [1 ádamántin, 2 ádamantain] fr preo & -ine 1 Made of, having the qualities of, adamant, unbreakable 'adamantine chains' (Milton) 2 (fig, of non material qualities) firm, unyielding adamantine courage &c Adamite, n [1 ádamit, 2 ádamat] fr Adam & -ite 1 Descendant of Adam, human being 2 Member of a sect which abandoned clothes in imitation of Adam adapt, vb trans [1 ádapt, 2 ádept] fr Fr adapter, fr Lat adaptare, 'to fit to' See ad- & apt 1 a (of material things) To make to fit in a new place or to alter in such a way as to make more suitable for a particular place or purpose, special uses (1.) to adapt a play, or to adapt a novel so as to make it suitable for dramatic representation, (2.) to give a new application to Pope adapted Horace; b (of non material things) to make fit for, make suitable to, accommodate, chiefly to the mental and intellectual capacities and to the habits and customs of others to adapt one's remarks to one's audience, to adapt one's behaviour, manners etc to one's company, to adapt plans to suit new circumstances &c 2 (reflex) Adapt oneself to, to shape, modify, one's conduct, habits &c, so as to make them more suitable or agreeable to others to adapt oneself to one's company, social surroundings &c adaptability, n [1 ádaptábliti, 2 ádeptébliti] See next word & -ity The quality of being adaptable, capacity of being made suitable, fit, for new purpose or place, power of fitting oneself for situation, of modifying one's habits, desires, manners, to suit one's surroundings &c adaptable, adj [1 ádaptábl, 2 ádeptébl] fr adapt & -able (See various senses of this vb) a (of things) Capable of being adapted, b (of persons) able to adapt oneself to circumstances &c, pliable, also in had sense adaptation, n [1 ádaptáshun, 2 ádeptéshun] See adapt & -ation a The act or process of making a thing fit, of altering it to make it more suitable for a place or purpose, b that which is so adapted adapted, adj [1 ádapted, 2 ádepted] fr P.P. of adapt Suitable, convenient, proper, fit, for a particular purpose (with for) clothes adapted for winter wear (The sense of alteration to make suitable, seen in vb, is lost in the adj) ad captandum, adj [1 ád kaptándum, 2 áde kaptándum] fr Lat phr ad captandum vulgus, for 'capturing the mob' See captive. Calculated, intended, to attract the notice, fancy, of the public (esp in bad sense), superficially attractive. ad captandum arguments add, vb trans & intrans [1 ad, 2 ad] fr Lat addere, 'put to, lay on, give in addition' See ad-, second element is fr Lat. dare, 'place, put, give', of wh see base under date (I), donation. A trans 1 a To join one thing to another, increase the amount of something to add milk to one's tea, to add more water; Phr to add insult to injury, b to combine two or more numbers into a single sum, compute sum total resulting from such a combination of numbers 2 To make further statement, say further B intrans Add to, to increase the sum of, make addition to - It adds to my pleasure to see you here today addax, n [1. ádaks; 2. ádaks] Lat, orig a native African word A North African and Arabian antelope with spiral horns added, adj [1 ádad, 2 ádí] fr P.P. of add Increased, additional an added sorrow, pleasure &c addendum, n [1 ádendum, 2 ádéndam] Lat, 'that which must be added', gerundive of addere See add Something added, an appendix or addition, esp to a literary work or document, (fr pl) addenda, of a series of additions adder, n [1 áder, 2 áde] OE náddre, ME naddere, addere &c, OS nádra, OHG nádras, Goth, w different gradation vowel, nadre, cogn. w. Lat natrix, 'water snake', & ultimately connected w base in Lat nere, 'spin, interlace, entwine', q v under needle, fr the serpent's habit of writhing & coiling The Mod Engl. form is fr an adder for a nadder See similar loss of initial n- in umpire Name given to various poisonous snakes of the viper family, the common adder, or viper, is the only poisonous British snake addict (I), vb trans [1 ádikt, 2 ádíkt] Lat addicere, P.P. of addicare, 'to award, assign, devote to', fr. ad, 'to', & op dicere, 'to dedicate', dicere, 'tell, declare, show', q-v under dictation, indicate &c a To devote, give up (to), habituate, accustom (one's mind, obs), b (now only reflex) to give oneself up to (a practice, habit) to addict oneself to vice, to scientific studies &c addict (II), n [1 ádíkt, 2 ádíkt] fr preo Person addicted to some habit, esp to bad habits, such as drug-taking &c addicted, adj [1 ádíkted, 2 ádíkted] fr P.P. of addict (I) Devoted or given up to a practice, attached, prone to, (chiefly fr had sense) given up to bad habits addicted to drink, addicted to stealing &c addition, n [1 ádíshun, 2 ádíshon] Act of adding, state of being addicted or devoted to a habit &c, propensity Addison's disease, n [1 ádíshun díez, 2 ádíshun díez] fr Es discoverer, Dr Addison, 1855. A disease marked by progressive anaemia, asthma, and discoloration of the skin &c, caused by loss of function in the suprarenal glands addition, n [1 ádíshun, 2 ádíshon] Fr, & Lat additio(-em), fr addit(-um), P.P. type of addere, see add & -ion. a The act and process of adding, specif, in arithmetic, the uniting of two or more numbers into one sum, extended in mathematics to express the process of simplifying, by grouping into one expression, a series of terms connected by positive and negative signs, Phr in addition (to), also, as well as, over and above, additionally, b that which is added addition to one's income, family; c (her) something added to a coat of arms as a mark of honour additional, adj [1 ádíshunal, 2 ádíshonal] See addition & -al. Coming as an addition, added, supplementary additionally, adv Proc & -ly In addition.

addle, adj (only in compounds), vb trans & intrans [1 ádi, 2 ádi] OE adel, 'putrid mud, filth', op M.L.G. adele, 'mud' 1 adj In such phrases as addle-head, addle-pate, empty, muddle-headed 2 vb a trans To cause to become addled, (chiefly fig) to muddle, confuse - to addle one's head or brain, b intrans, to grow addled (of eggs) addled, adj [1 ádí, 2 ádí] fr M.E. adele, 'mud', see preo, & -ed. a (only of eggs) Rotten, incapable of producing a chicken; b (fig, of the brain) confused, muddled.

address (I), vb trans [1 ádris, 2 ádris] Fr adresser, fr Low Lat addressare for direct. See direct & dress (I.). 1. To make straight, direct the course of, aim (obs except in golf) To address the ball, to take aim at the ball, adjusting the position of the body and the grip on the club so that the ball, when hit, shall take the desired course 2 To indicate by an inscription the person to whom and the place at which a thing is to be delivered to address a letter, parcel &c (to a person) Special use (of ships) to consign to an agent 3 a To direct speech, words, prayers &c to a person to address one's remarks to, (reflex.) to address oneself to a person, b to speak directly to, deliver a speech, sermon &c to address a person, an audience, a meeting, one's constituents &c 4 (reflex) To apply oneself to, direct one's energies to, an object to address oneself to a task address (II), n, fr prec 1 a The indication inscribed on or attached to anything sent by messenger, post, or any mode of transit (e.g. letter, parcel, package &c) stating name of recipient and place at which it is to be delivered, b the place where a person resides and to which his or her letters are to be addressed to change one's address 2 a A formal speech of congratulation, thanks, petition &c, specif, the Address, the reply to the King's Speech in the Houses of Parliament at beginning of a Parliament or Session, b a speech, lecture, sermon &c to an audience, c manner of speaking, conversational bearing a man of pleasing address 3 Graceful skill and tact, esp in the conduct of affairs he had all the address of an accomplished diplomat 4 (pl) Courtship of a lady to pay one's addresses to a lady addressee, n [1 adresé, 2 adresin], fr address (I) & -ee Person to whom letter &c is addressed adduce, vb trans [1 addûs, 2 adjûs], fr Lat adducere, 'to lead or bring to', fr ad- & ducere, 'to lead', see duct To bring forward in a statement (written or spoken) as evidence or illustration, to cite, allege (arguments, reasons &c) in support of or as proof of a statement or case adduct, adj [1 addûcent, 2 adjûsant] prec & -ent (anat, of muscles) Having the function of drawing together certain parts of the body, adductor, opposed to abduct adducible, adj [1 addûsibl, 2 adjûsibl], fr adducere & -ible Capable of being adduced adduct, vb trans [1 adûkt, 2 edûkt] See adduce (anat, of muscles) To draw (parts of the body) together adduction, n [1 adûkshun, 2 edûkshun] Fr, fr Lat adductio (em) See prec & -ion (anat) The act of adducting, the action by which parts of the body are drawn together or a limb drawn towards the axis of the body adductor, adj & n [1 adûkter, 2 edûkte], fr adduct & -or (anat) a adj Adductent, b n, adductent muscle

-ade, suff [1 äd, 2 eid] 1 Fr, in words borrowed fr Span or Port ada, Lat -ata, fem sing of P P of let conq The regular Fr development is é, wh has often been replaced by a above, though -de is found in O Fr A living suff used in formation of various words lemonade, masquerade, ambuscade 2 Fr -ade, as in decade, fr Gk -ad See -ad 3 From Span or Ital odo renegade ademption, n [1 adempshun, 2 adempshun] Lat ademptio (em), fr adempt (um), P P type of adimere, 'to take away', fr ad & emere, 'to buy', orig 'to take' See exempt, & ep redemption (law) Revocation of grant or bequest adenoid, adj [1 ädenoid, 2 edénoid], fr Gk aden, genit adénos, acorn, gland', & -oid. Adén is fr Aryan ǵʷen*, & is cogn w Lat inguen, 'groom, generative organs', & w ON ǵlken, & OHG ancuiz, pustule, swelling' Orig sense of base seems to have been 'swelling', then 'gland', & as the Lat & Gk cognates show, it was variously applied to glands generally Gland-like, glandular adenoid growth adenoids, n, pl, fr prec (med) Growths in back of the nose, near the throat, which cause defects in speaking and breathing So named from shape, 'like an acorn' adept, adj & n [1 adépt, 2 adépt, 2 adépt], fr Lat adeptus, 'reached, attained', P P of adipisci, 'to arrive at, reach, attain to, obtain', fr ad- & apisci, 'reach, come up with', ultimately a freq of apio*, 'bmd', see copula for co-apula, cogn w Lat apius, 'attached to', see apt, & apud, 'near, by, with' Cp further Sort dyndi, 'reaches, gains', äpta, 'clever, skilful' 1 adj Well skilled, thoroughly proficient, expert 2 n One who is proficient or well-skilled, expert, in anything (esp an art, science, profession &c), (colloq) an adept at (prob on the anal of very good at) Specif (formerly) an alchemist who had discovered, or was supposed to have discovered, the Philosopher's Stone, now applied to a person (esp in Buddhism) who as a mystic thinker and ascetic has attained to knowledge of the mysteries of nature and science adequacy, n [1 ädékwan, 2 edékwan] See adequate & -acy The state or quality of being adequate, sufficiency in amount, quality, or mental equipment for a given purpose adequate, adj [1 ädékwt, 2 kwat, 2 edékwt, 2 kwat], fr Lat adaequatum, P P of adaequare, 'to make equal to' See ad- & equal Equal to, commensurate with, a requirement or occasion, fully sufficient for a purpose, proportional to a specific need, a (of material things) adequats amount, quantity &c, b (of non material things) adequate intelligence, mental qualities, c (of causes) reasonably sufficient to justify an action adequate reasons &c, d (gen of persons) competent to be quite adequate to one's post adequately, adv prec & -ly In an adequate manner, to an adequate extent, amount ad eundem, adj & adv [1 ad èundem, 2 ad èundem] Lat, ac gradum, 'to the same degree' ad- & acc sing of idem, 'same' Of admission of a graduate of one university to the same degree at another without further examination adhere, vb intrans [1 ad hër, 2 edhër], fr Lat adhaerere, 'to stick to, cling to', fr ad- & haerere, 'to stick, cling', P P haerum Prob cogn w Goth (us) gasman, 'to be frightened', & w Lith gaisiti, 'hesitate', gaisiti, 'hinder', further w OHG gial, OE gial, 'hostage', i.e. one who is held fast as a pledge' Cp cohere & hesitate (with to when followed by n) 1 (of things) To stick fast, be firmly attached to, as mud to clothes, a stamp to an envelope 2 (of persons) a To hold to, cleave to, be faithful to, give allegiance to a person, party, cause, institution, school of thought &c, b to persevere in, stick to, an opinion, habit, project, duty &c (often with implication of opposition, hindrance &c) adherence, n [1 ad hërrens, 2 edhërrens], fr adhere & -ence (only fig) Spiritual or mental act or condition of adhering to or being attached to n cause or set of opinions adherent, adj & n [1 ad hërrent, 2 edhërrent] Fr adherent, fr Lat adhaerent (em), Pres Part of adhaerere See adhere 1 adj (only of things) Sticky, clinging, attached. 2 n (only of persons) One who adheres to or supports a person, party, or system, a follower, supporter of adhesion, n [1 ad hëzhun, 2 edhëzhun], fr Fr adhesion, fr Lat adhaesio (em), fr adhaes (um), P P type of adhaerere See adhere & -ion 1 The physical or material action or condition of adhering or sticking to a thing, the cleaving together of two substances in contact, united by glue, cement &c (Sometimes confused with, and used figuratively for, adherence) 2 n (enrg) The reuniting of parts that have been severed, b (path) the union of adjacent parts as a result of inflammation.

adhesive, adj [1 ad hëziv, 2 edhëziv] Fr adhëns, fr Lat -ivus See prec & -ive

Sticky, clinging, made so as to stick, as adhesive plaster, (also fig) of persons in habit of thrusting their company upon one, difficult to shake off adhesively, adv prec & -ly In an adhesive manner adhesiveness, n See prec & -ness The quality of being adhesive, stickiness adhibit, vb trans [1 ad hëbit, 2 edhëbit], fr Lat adhibere (um), P P type of adhibere, 'to hold to, apply to', fr ad- & habere, 'to hold', see habit (rare) a To attach, affix, b to administer (remedies &c) ad hoc, adj [1 ad hok, 2 ed hok] Lat, 'for this purpose' Designed for a particular purpose, specially made, prepared &c adiabatic, adj [1 adiabatik, 2 edibatik], fr Gk adiabatos, 'impassable', fr a- (priv), dia, 'through', & baidos, 'passable', fr stem of bainein, 'to go, pass' See basis (phys) Impervious to heat, denoting a change of volume, by compression or expansion, without gain or loss of heat adiantum, n [1 ädiantum, 2 ediantum] Lat, fr Gk adianton, 'maidenhair', neut sing of adiantos, 'unwetted', fr a- (priv) & diainem, 'to wet, moisten', etymol doubtful (bot) A genus of ferns, the maidenhair ferns adiaphora, n pl [1 ädiafora, 2 ediafora] Gk, neut pl of adiaphoros, 'indifferent', fr a- (priv) & diaphoros, diaphëresin, 'to differ', op next word See dia- & -phore (Prot theol) Things that are indifferent or not essential, as certain matters of ritual or ceremonial observance adiaphoresis, n [1 ädiaforëns, 2 ediaforëns], fr a- (priv) & diaphoresis, 'carrying through', q v (med) Absence of adequate perspiration adien, interj & n [1 ädü, 2 edü] or as Fr [adj] Fr ä, 'to', & Dieu, 'God', fr Lat deum See deity, divine (I) 1 interj Greeting on taking farewell, good-bye 2 n (pl adieux) [1 ädüz, 2 edüz] A farewell, a leave taking to male one's adieux ad infinitum, adv [1 ad infinitum, 2 ad infinitum] Lat, 'for ever, without ceasing' See infinite ad interim, adv [1 ad interim, 2 ed interim] Lat See interim Meanwhile, temporarily adipocere, n [1 ädipöser, 2 edipöser], fr Lat adeps, adipis, 'soft animal fat', & cera, 'wax' See adipose & cere A waxy or oily substance into which the soft tissues of dead animal bodies are converted when exposed to moisture adipose, adj & n [1 ädipös, 2 edipös], fr Lat adeps, adipis, 'fat of animals', & -ose Adeps, Low Lat alpeis, is borrowed fr Gk aleipha, 'unguent, oil used in funeral sacrifices', the class Lat form perh influenced by adepus, fr adipiscor, see adept, the Gk word has a derived vb aleipho, 'anoint', & there is also alimen, 'anoint', cogn w Lat imire, 'to smear' See luminant 1 adj Fat, fatty adipose tissue 2 n Animal fat adiposity, n [1 ädipösti, 2 edipösti] prec & -ity State of being fat, obesity adit, n [1 ädüt, 2 edüt], fr Lat aditus, 'an approach', fr P P type of adire, 'to approach', fr ad & ire, 'to go' The Aryan base ei*, ej*, ei*, &c, 'go', is found in various forms in most of the derived languages See further under stunerate An approach, entrance, specif, a horizontal opening into a mine adjacency, n [1 ädjäsens, 2 edjäsens] See next word & -cy The state of being adjacent adjacent, adj [1 ädjäsant, 2 edjäsant], fr Lat adjacent-(em), Pres Part type of adjacere, 'to lie at or near', fr ad- & jacere, 'to lie', lit 'cast oneself down' This vb is related to the other Lat vb jacio, infin jacere, 'cast, hurl' See jactitation & jet (III) Lying near to, neighbouring, but not necessarily in contact with adjacent villages, houses &c adjacently, adv. Preo & -ly. In an adjacent place, close to adjektivally, adj [1 hjektiʋal, 2 əðʒiktʋal] adjective & -al Having character or function of an adjective, related to the adjective adjectively, adv Preo & -ly By means of an adjective adjective, n [1 əjektiv, 2 əðʒiktiv], fr Lat adjectivus, 'added', fr P P type of adycere, 'throw to, add', fr ad- & jacere, 'to throw', see jacere, under adja-cent, & -ive (gram.) Part of speech expressing a quality or attribute, further limiting, defining, and describing the thing expressed by a noun adjoin, vb trans & intrans [1 əjoin, 2 ədʒoin] See ad- & join 1 trans To join on to, to lie next to, be in contact with, be united to, (loosely) to be very near to (of houses, land &c.) the field adjoins the house 2 intrans To be in contact or in close proximity the two houses adjoin adjoining, adj [1 əjoinɪŋ, 2 ədʒoinɪŋ] Preo Part of preo Being in contact, neighbouring, adjacent (of houses, land &c.)

adjourn, vb trans & intrans [1 ədjərn, 2 ədʒərn], fr O Fr ajourner, fr Low Lat adurnare, fr ad & jurnus, 'day', Lat diurnus, 'daily', fr dies, 'day' See journal, diurnal A trans To put off till another day, or from day to day, to postpone, esp. of deliberative and legislative bodies, to adjourn a meeting, to put off or postpone its further proceedings, to put an end to its activities for the day in order to resume and continue them at another time. B intrans 1 (of an assembly of persons) To suspend business, joint proceedings &c., and disperse either for an agreed or an indefinite period of time (sine die) 2 (colloq.) To go to another place (lit., put off further conversation in actual place) to adjourn to the drawing room adjournment, n [1 ədjənmənt, 2 ədʒənmənt] Preo & -ment 1 The act of adjourning or putting off 2 The state of being adjourned, the time for which a legislative or deliberative body adjourns a week's adjournment &c.

adjudge, vb trans [1 ədjʊdʒ, 2 ədʒədzʌʒ], fr O Fr ajuger See ad- & judge 1 To arrive at and pronounce a judicial decision in regard to a person or matter to adjudge a man guilty 2 To award something (as costs in legal action, prize in a competition &c.) to a person as a result of judicial consideration adjudgement, n [1 ədjʊdʒmənt, 2 ədʒədzʌʒmənt] Preo & -ment A judicial decree or award adjudicate, vb trans & intrans [1 ədjʊdɪkət, 2 ədʒʊdɪkət], fr Lat adjudicāt (um), P P type of adjudicare, 'to adjudge, decide, impute, assemble', fr ad- & iudicare, 'to judge' See judge, judicial 1 trans (of a judge or court) To come to and pronounce a judicial decision concerning a person or matter to adjudicate a claim &c. 2 intrans (adjudicate on a matter, in a case) To sit as a judge and give judicial decision adjudication, n [1 ədjʊdɪkəʃən, 2 ədʒʊdɪkəʃən] Preo & -ion Legal finding of a judge or court, sentence or award, specif., decree in bankruptcy adjudicator, n [1 ədjʊdɪkətər, 2 ədʒʊdɪkətər] See preo & -or One who settles a controversy, or awards a prize adjunct, n [1 ədjʊŋkt, 2 ədʒʊŋkt], fr Lat adjunctum, neut. sing. of P P of adjungere, 'to join' See ad- & junction 1 Something joined or added to another thing, but subordinate to and not an essential part of it a mere adjunct, a cushion is a useful adjunct to a sofa, (also of persons) a person joined to, or associated with, another or others in some office, service &c. 2 (gram.) Words added to amplify other words, an adjective, adjectival phrase, adverb or adverbial phrase 3 (logic) A non-essential property or attribute adjunctive, adj [1 ədjʊŋktɪv, 2 ədʒʊŋktɪv] Preo & -ive Having the character of an adjunct adjunctively, adv Preo & -ly As, by way of, an adjunct adjuration, n [1 ədjʊərəʃən, 2 ədʒʊərəʃən], fr Lat adjurā-tion(-em), formed fr P P type adjūrā-ti (um) of adjūrāre, 'swear to, confirm by oath' See ad- & base of jūre, jūris, 'law', &c. under jus The act of adjuring, an earnest or solemn charge or appeal, specif. (in exorcism) adjuration of the devil, a solemn command, in the name of God, to depart from the body of the person possessed adjuratory, adj [1 ədjʊərətəri, 2 ədʒʊərətəri] Containing an adjuration adjure, vb trans [1 ədjʊər, 2 ədʒʊər], fr Lat adjūrāre, 'to swear', fr ad- & jūrāre, 'to swear' See adjuration To charge under solemn oath, entreat earnestly, solemnly adjust, vb trans [1 ədjʌst, 2 ədʒʌst], fr 16th cent. Fr adjuster, Mod Fr ajuster, Med Lat adjustāre, fr Low Lat adjustāre, 'to bring together', fr ad- & iustāre, 'near', fr *base jug-, 'join', op jugum, 'yoke', jungere, 'join' See join, junction, yoke 1 a To arrange, settle, put in order, bring to a satisfactory state, harmonize (differences, quarrels), b to arrange properly, put in right position (one's clothes &c.) 2 To fit, suit, adapt, make (a thing) suitable for its function, regulate for use to adjust piece of machinery, telescope, sights of a gun &c. adjustable, adj [1 ədjʌstəbl, 2 ədʒʌstəbl] Preo & -able Capable of being adjusted, regulated, for particular purpose.

adjustment, n [1 ədjʌstmənt, 2 ədʒʌstmənt] adjust & -ment The act of adjusting, specif. (marine insurance) settlement of amount payable to insured person for goods lost at sea adjudant, n [1 ədjʊtəns, 2 ədʒʊtəns] See next word & -cy The office or position of an adjutant adjutant, n [1 ədjʊtənt, 2 ədʒʊtənt], fr Lat adjutant(-em), Preo Part type of adjūtāre, 'to help', freq of adjūrāre, 'to help', fr ad- & jūrāre, 'to help, support' See coadjutor 1 A regimental officer, not above the rank of major, whose duty is to assist the commanding officer of a battalion, depot &c. in administrative and other duties Adjutant-general, the second executive officer of the Imperial General Staff of the army, whose duties are concerned with recruiting, training, and discipline 2 Also adjutant-bird, a large species of stork, found in India, feeding on snakes and carrion, and acting as a scavenger ad libitum, adv [1 əd libitum, 2 əd libitəm] Lat, 'at pleasure', To any extent, without restriction, as much as is desired, often abbr. ad lib admeasure, vb trans [1 ədmezʃər, 2 ədmezʃə] See ad- & measure To measure, ascertain proper proportions &c.

admeasurement, n [1 ədmezʃurment, 2 ədmezʃəmənt] Preo & -ment, Process, act, of admeasuring, adjustment of proportional shares &c.

administer, vb trans [1 ədminɪstər, 2 ədminɪstə] Fr administ-rer, fr Lat administ-rāre, 'to manage, carry out, accomplish, to attend, wait, serve' See ad- & ministr (II) 1 To manage, govern, arrange financial transactions, as a steward or executor to administer an estate &c. 2 a To apply or direct the application of laws or discipline, to dispense to administer justice, punishment &c., b to conduct or execute religious offices, dispense rites to administer the Blessed Sacrament (to) 3 a To furnish with, give, bring (help, food, medicine &c.) to (a person), b to offer, tender to administer an oath administrant, n [1 ədminɪstrənt, 2 ədminɪstrənt], fr Lat administ-rans, antis, Preo Part of administ-rāre See administer One who administers administration, n [1 ədminɪstrəʃən, 2 əd-

minɪstrəʃən], fr Lat administ-rā-tion(-em), fr administ-rāt(-um), P P type of administ-rāre, see administer & -ion 1 a Management of business, of an estate &c., specif. (law) the management of a deceased person's estate, b management of public affairs, government, also, the power or party that administers the government of the country, the Ministry, the Government 2 The effective application of laws by a person in authority the administration of justice 3 The dispensation of the Sacrament 4 Application of remedies &c. administrative, adj [1 ədminɪstrətɪv, 2 ədminɪstrətɪv], fr Lat administ-rā-tivus See preo & -ive Connected with administration, with practical details of management of affairs, executive administratively, adv Preo & -ly In an administrative manner administrator, n [1 ədminɪstrətər, 2 ədminɪstrətɪst] Lat, 'manager, agent' See administration & -or One who manages or directs practical details of organization, specif. (law) person authorized to manage, or distribute rent &c. from, estate of deceased person, or of a minor administratorship, n [1 ədminɪstrətəʃɪp, 2 ədminɪstrətɪʃɪp] See preo & -ship The office of an administrator administratrix, n [1 ədminɪstrətɪks, 2 ədminɪstrətɪks] See administrator & -ix Woman administrator admirable, adj [1 ədmaɪrəbl, 2 ədmaɪrəbl], fr Fr, fr Lat admirā-bilis See admire & -able Worthy of admiration, of a character to excite wonder, pleasure, esteem, hence, excellent, wonderfully good admirably, adv Preo & -ly In an admirable manner admiral, n [1 ədmerəl, 2 ədmerəl] O Fr amiral, fr Arab amīrāl, 'commander of the', in various titles, as amīr al mumenīn, 'Commander of the faithful', al bahr, 'of the sea', &c., remodelled on anal. of admirable, see emir 1 A Naval officer commanding fleet or squadron, one above rank of captain, in British Navy of four grades, Admiral of the Fleet, Admiral, Vice-Admiral, and Rear-Admiral, b title given to the chief captain of a fishing fleet 2 (entom.) Popular name of two species of butterfly, Red Admiral, Vanessa Atalanta, and White Admiral, Limenitis Silyba

Admiralty, n, [1 ədmerəlti, 2 ədmerəlti] Preo & -ity 1 a The board of commissioners, Lords of the Admiralty, appointed for the administration of naval affairs, b building where this board transacts business 2 (rhet. or poet.) Naval power, sea power 'the price of Admiralty' 3 (law) Admiralty Court, a division of the Supreme Court with jurisdiction in maritime affairs admiration, n [1 ədmaɪrəʃən, 2 ədmaɪrəʃən], fr Lat admīrā-tion(-em), 'wondering at, admiration' See admire & -ation A Sentiment of wonder, approval, pleasure, excited by contemplation of beauty, skill, merit, or excellence of any kind, b object which inspires the sentiment. she was the admiration of all beholders admire, vb trans [1 ədmaɪr, 2 ədmaɪə], fr Fr admirer, fr Lat admīrār, 'to wonder at', fr ad- & mirār, 'to wonder' Cp. Lat mirus, 'marvellous' Omg meaning of base seems to be 'smile, laugh', in other languages it appears w. initial s-. Scrt. smēras, 'smiling', smayāt, 'he smiles', O E bismere = bi smer, 'insult, mockery, joke', lit. 'something to laugh at', further smere(e), 'lip' 1 To regard a person or thing with wonder of pleasurable kind, with approval, hence, to have a great esteem for 2 (formerly) Merely, to wonder at, feel surprise at (not always in favourable sense) Now obsolete in this sense admirer, n [1 ədmaɪrər, 2 ədmaɪrə] See admirer & -er One who admires, specif., one who admires a woman, a suitor for woman's hand admiring, adj [1 admiring, 2 admiring] Pres Part of admire Filled with admiration admiring glances admirably, adv Prec & -ly With admiration admissible, adj [1 admisibl, 2 admisibl] Fr, fr Low Lat admissibilis, fr admissum, PP of admittere, 'to let in', sec admit & -ible 1 (of an idea, plan &c) Deserving, possible, to be held, entertained, or allowed 2 (law, esp of evidence) Entitled to be brought forward and accepted as proof 3 Entitled to admission to an office &c admission, n [1 admisshun, 2 admisshun] fr Lat admissio (em), 'letting in to an interview', fr admittere (um), PP type of admittere, see admit & -ion. 1 Letting in to, allowing to enter, right of entry to (a building, corporation of any kind, society &c) admission by ticket (see admit, 1) 2 A something admitted or conceded as being true, confession, a serious admission, b acknowledgement, expressed or implied statement that something is true admit, vb trans [1 admit, 2 admit] fr Lat admittere, 'to allow to enter or approach', fr ad- & mittere, 'to send', for second element see mission 1 To permit or allow (a person &c) to enter, to let in, give access to (a place, society, corporation, privileges &c) 2 (of rooms, buildings &c) To have space for the theatre only admits 1000 persons 3 To receive as true, to allow, acknowledge, confess to admit the force of arguments, that one was wrong &c, if that were true, though I don't admit it 4 To admit of, to allow, be capable, patient, of to admit of doubt, improvement, delay &c admittance, n [1 admittans, 2 admittans] fr admit & -ance Permission, right, to enter to grant, refuse (a person) admittance to (a building, entertainment &c) admitted, adj [1 admitted, 2 admitted] fr PP of admit. (prec n) Acknowledged, recognized as true, valid an admitted fact &c admittedly, adv Prec & -ly By general acknowledgement, consent, or agreement admix, vb trans [1 admixs, 2 admixs] See ad- & mix. To mix with something else admixture, n [1 admixshur, 2 admixshur] See ad- & mixture Addition made by mixing another ingredient, compound so formed admonish, vb trans [1 admonish, 2 admonish] fr Lat admonere, fr ad- & monere, 'to warn', with suff -ish See base under monition, mental, mind 1 To exhort, advise (a person) to do, to be, that he should do or be &c, to reprove mildly and warn against an offence to admonish a person to be more careful 2 To warn (a person) of (something), to inform, remind of admonishment, n [1 admonishment, 2 admonishment] fr prec & -ment Act of admonishing, warning or reproof conveyed admonition, n [1 admonishun, 2 admonishun] fr Lat admonitio (em), 'a warning', See admonish & -ion A warning, mild reproof admonitory, adj [1 admoniten, 2 admoniten] See prec & -ory Conveying warning or reproof, advising caution ad nauseam, adv [1 ad nawsam, 2 ad nawsam] Lat, lit 'to the point of sickness' See nausea To the point of being disgusting, esp by continued repetition, or prolonged duration ado, n [1 ado, 2 ado] ME at dō, 'to do', at being Scand Phr orig North Engl See do Cp Engl a end to do in same sense Fuss, bustle, stir, difficulty, trouble to make too much ado, without more ado &c adobe, n & adj [1 adobbi, 2 adobbi] Span Amer, fr Span adobar, 'to plaster' 1 n A sun baked brick, b house, wall &c built of such bricks 2 adj Made, built of sun baked bricks adolescence, n [1 adolesens, 2 adolesens] Fr, fr Lat adolescens, fr adolescere, 'to grow up', fr ad- & olescere, inceptive form of olere,

'to grow', cogn w alere, 'to nourish' See alimentary, adult The state of growing up, time of life from childhood to manhood or womanhood, between puberty and full maturity, youth adolescent, adj & n [1 adolesent, 2 adolesent] fr Lat Pres Part adolescent (em) See prec 1 adj In process of growing up, growing from childhood to maturity 2 n Boy, girl, growing up

Adonis, n [1 adonis, 2 adonis] Greek mythol, name of a youth beloved by Aphrodite (Venus) for his beauty A handsome man adopt, vb trans [1 adopt, 2 adopt] fr Fr adopter, fr Lat adoptare, 'to choose, select, adopt as a child', fr ad- & optare, 'to wish for, desire, choose', see option 1 To take a child of other parents voluntarily into one's family and consider and treat him in all ways as one's own, (by extension) to take into close relationship, in one's household, some person from outside 2 (of non material things) To appropriate, accept deliberately, make one's own (a set of opinions, theories, religious beliefs, ideas, methods &c which one did not formerly hold or act on) adoptability, n [1 adoptabilit, 2 adoptabilit] See adoptable & -ity The state or quality of being adoptable adoptable, adj [1 adoptabl, 2 adoptabl] fr adopt & -able Capable of being, or suitable to be, adopted adopted, adj [1 adopted, 2 adopted] PP of adopt Taken by adoption an adopted son adoption, n [1 adoptshun, 2 adoptshun] fr Lat adoptio (em) See ad- & option 1 The act of taking voluntarily as one's own a child of other parents 2 Taking over, acceptance (of a plan, view, policy, resolution, opinion &c), special use adoption of a candidate by a political party to represent it in a Parliamentary election 3 (philol) The taking of a foreign word into regular use in a language without changing its form to any appreciable extent adoptive, adj [1 adoptiv, 2 adoptiv] fr Lat adoptivus, 'pertaining to adoption, made or acquired by adoption' See adopt & -ive Acquired by adoption an adoptive son, constituted by adoption an adoptive father adorable, adj [1 adorabl, 2 adorabl] fr adore & -able Worthy of being adored or loved devotedly, capable of inspiring devoted attachment adorableness, n Prec & -ness The quality of being adorable adorably, adv See prec & -ly In an adorable manner adoration, n [1 adorashun, 2 adorashun] Fr, fr Lat adoratio (em) See next word & -ation 1 The act of worshipping or paying devotion to God or to some sacred person or object, prayer 2 Intense affection, regard, devoted love adore, vb trans [1 ador, 2 ador] Fr adorer, fr Lat adorare, 'speak to, entreat, ask for, in prayer, worship', fr ad- & orare, 'speak, pray, beseech' See oration, orison 1 To worship, honour as divine, venerate 2 (of earthly things) To love devotedly, love to distraction, idolize, (colloq, in weakened sense) to like very much I simply adore plum pudding adorer, n [1 adorer, 2 adorer] See adore & -er a One who adores, one who worships, venerates, b one who loves devotedly, an ardent admirer, a lover adoring, adj [1 adoring, 2 adoring] Pres Part of adore Showing or expressing worship, reverence, ardent devotion, love &c adoring glances adoringly, adv Prec & -ly In an adoring manner, with adoration adorn, vb trans [1 adorn, 2 adorn] fr Fr adorner, fr Lat adorare, fr ad- & ornare, 'to deck, embellish, beautify' See ad- & ornament. To deck, decorate, dress with ornaments &c, embellish, set off to advantage, enhance the beauty or attractiveness of (lit. and fig.), a (lit) to adorn oneself with jewels, fine clothes &c, to adorn a room with flowers &c, b (fig) to add distinction, importance, beauty, to something to adorn the stage, the pulpit, episcopal bench &c adornment, n [1 adornment, 2 adornment] fr adorn & -ment a The act of adorning adornment of one's person &c, b an ornament or decoration, (also in pl) adornment(s) of a church adown, adv [1 adoun, 2 adoun] OE of dune, lit 'from the hill', down See down (II) & (III) (archaic and poet) Down ad rem, adv & adj [1 ad rem, 2 ad rem] Lat ad- & acc sing of res, 'thing, matter' &c See real (I) To the point, to the purpose adrenalin, n [1 adrenalin, 2 adrenalin] fr ad-, renal & -in(o) A chemical substance secreted by the suprarenal glands, forming the active principle of an extract used for various diseases, as Addison's disease &c, and for checking bleeding on account of its constricting effect on the blood vessels adrift, adv & adj [1 adrift, 2 adrift] a-fr OE on, & drift a (of ships and boats)

Loose from moorings, driven hither and thither by wind and tide to cut a ship, boat, drift, go drift, b (fig, of human beings) without guidance or moral direction, at the mercy of gusts of passion and impulse

Phr to turn (a person) drift, turn him out of house and home, loose upon the world, dismiss from service adroit, adj [1 adroit, 2 adroit] Fr, 'dexterous', orig 'rightly', fr d-, 'to', & droit, 'right' See direct (of persons and human actions) Dexterous, skilful, active, clever, possessing readiness of skill or resource, either physical or mental an adroit workman, adroit debater adroitly, adv Prec & -ly In an adroit manner, skilfully, dexterously, cleverly adroitness, n See prec & -ness The quality of being adroit, dexterity, cleverness adscript, n [1 adskript, 2 adskript] Lat ascriptus, PP of scribere, 'to enrol', fr ad- & scribere, 'to write' See scribe (of scries &c) Attached to particular region or manor adsum, n [1 adsum, 2 adsum] Lat, 'I am present', as answer in a roll call &c adulate, vb trans [1 adulāt, 2 adulāt] fr Lat adulāt (um), PP type of adulāre, 'to fawn like a dog, wag the tail', base ul cogn w Sort ulās, 'tail' To praise excessively, flatter in servile manner adulation, n [1 adulashun, 2 adulashun] fr Lat adulatio (em), 'fawning' See prec & -ion Servile flattery adulatory, adj [1 adulātor, 2 adulātor] fr adulate & -ory Full of praise, flattering

Adullamite, n [1 adullamit, 2 adullamit] fr the cave of Adullam, 1 Sam xxxi 1 (polit slang) Name given to seceders from a political party, who form a 'cave' or isolated group adult, adj & n [1 adult, 2 adult] Lat adultus, 'grown up', PP of adolescere, see adolescence a adj Grown up, having reached maturity adult voters, b n, a person who has reached maturity adulterant, adj & n [1 adulterant, 2 adulterant] Lat adulterant (em), Pres Part of adulterare, 'defile' See adulterate (II) Substance used in adulterating, e g water in milk adulterate (I), adj [1 adulterat, 2 adulterat] See next word a (of persons) Guilty of adultery, made illegitimate by adultery of parents adulterate offspring, b (of substances) not perfectly genuine, having foreign substance added adulterate (II), vb trans [1 adulterāt, 2 adulterāt] fr Lat adulterāt (um), PP type of adulterare See adulterer To falsify substances by adding inferior materials adulteration, n [1 adulterashun, 2 adulterashun] Prec & -ion The act of adulterating, state of being adulterated or debased adulterer, n [1 adúltērer, 2 adáltērer], fr Lat adulter, 'adulterer', & -er, derived fr adulterare, wh stands for ad alterare, fr alter, 'other' (see alter, alternative), 'change to something different', hence, 'falsify, corrupt', w specialization of meaning to above sense A man guilty of adultery adulteress, n [1 adúltēres, 2 adáltēris] Prec & -ess Woman guilty of adultery adulterine, adj [1 adúltērin, 2 adáltērin], fr Lat adulterinus, 'bastard, not genuine, counterfeit' See adulterer & -ine 1 Resulting from adultery, horn of adultery, esp adulterine bastardy 2 Counterfeit, spurious adulterous, adj [1 adúltērus, 2 adáltēras] See adulterer & -ous (of persons) Guilty of adultery, (of conduct) having character of adultery adulterously, adv Prec & -ly In an adulterous manner adultery, n [1 adúltēr, 2 adáltēr], fr Lat adulterium, n See adulterer Breach, by either sex, of marriage vows of fidelity to the spouse adumbrate, vb trans [1 adumbrāt, 2 adambrest], fr PP in -ātum of Lat vb adumbrare, 'to cast a shadow, delineate in outline', fr ad- & umbrare, fr umbra, 'shade, shadow' See umbra To sketch in outline, forecast, indicate character of something still to come adumbration, n [1 adumbrāshun, 2 adambrestsion], fr Lat adumbratio (em), 'a sketching in outline' See prec & -ion Sketch, shadowing forth, forecast of intentions for future action, nature of statement yet to be made &c adumbrative, adj [1 adumbratīv, 2 adambrestiv] adumbrate & -ive Having, being in, the nature of an adumbration adust, adj [1 adust, 2 adast], fr Lat adustus, 'burned', PP of adurere, 'to burn np', fr ad & urere, PP ustum, 'to burn', for earlier usere*, cp Gk eudō, 'singe', for eudō*, Sort ōdō, 'burns', usudō, 'hot', usudō, 'burnt', exactly corresponding to Lat PP, further O E ysla, 'glowing cinders' &c, fr us il-* See combustion Scorched, dried up with heat, parched, sunburnt ad valorem, adj & adv [1 ad valōrem, 2 ad valōrem] Lat, 'according to value' See valour Generally of taxes, levied according to value of taxable property advance (I), vb trans & intrans [1 advāns, 2 advāns] O Fr & Fr avancer, ME avancen, d inserted in 16th cent spelling, as though pref were Lat ad It really comes fr Lat ab, 'through', Fr av The second element is ante, 'before, in front' (see ante-) From the combination avante, wh produced Fr avant & Ital avanti, 'before', a Low Lat vb avantēre* was formed, whence Fr avancer, Ital avanzare, Span avanzar &c A trans 1 a (of material objects) To move, bring, push forward, b (fig) to bring forward, put forward, propose, as a plan, suggestion, claim &c 2 To promote (a person or his interests), to raise to a higher rank or position, help forward advanced to the rank of General, to advance one's fortunes 3 To move forward, fix earlier date for, hasten (events), cause progress to be made 4 To raise (prices) 5 a To pay (money) before date when it legally falls due, to pay on security, b to lend (money &c), esp on security B intrans 1 To come, move, forward, specif (mil) to attack the enemy, occupy territory which he holds Also advance against, to attack 2 (fig, of persons) To make progress, to rise in rank, position &c to advance in one's profession 3 (fig, commerce, of prices) To rise, go up, become dearer, higher advance (II), n, fr prec 1 a A moving forward from one place to another, forward movement our troops could not check the enemy's advance, b of passage of time advance of evening, old age &c, advbl phr in advance, before, beforehand (of place or time), prepositional phr in advance of

in front of, before Fig uses 2 Progress, improvement in a task, social position, rank, office, health, knowledge &c advance in one's career, in science &c 3 (chiefly pl) Approaches made to gain favour, to form an acquaintance, to make up a difference &c, overtures of friendship, love &c to encourage, repel (a person's) advances 4 Rise in price, value, wages &c advance in the cost of living 5 Payment beforehand, a loan (of money &c) temporary advance advanced, adj [1 advānst, 2 advānst] PP of advance (I) 1 Far on in progress advanced ideas, opinions, studies, thinkers, also derived from this, too far advanced, therefore supposed to have abandoned the old habits and principles, lax in conduct &c rather an advanced young woman 2 Far on in life, old advanced in years 3 Advanced guard, detachment of troops sent forward in advance of main body advancement, n [1 advānsmēt, 2 advānsment], fr advance (I) & -ment A The act of advancing advancement of learning, of one's hopes, b state of being advanced (lit and fig), progress, improvement, promotion, upward progress, success advancement in life, career, fortunes &c advantage (I), n [1 advāntij, 2 advāntidj], fr Fr avantage, fr avant, 'before', & -age See advance 1 a Any condition, circumstance, event, of favourable character, likely to promote success, happiness, means of gaining desired end, source of benefit or profit the advantages of the proposal outweigh the disadvantages, Phr to take advantage of (a favourable circumstance, opportunity &c), to avail oneself of, profit by, b benefit, gain, profit the advantage of a good education 2 Superiority, better position, with of or over (a person) to have the advantage of, gain an advantage over (a person) Phr, specif (ironical) you have the advantage of me, said to stranger who knows one's name, and claims acquaintance Phr to take advantage of a person, to deceive, outwit, overreach, also, to seduce (a woman) 3 Specif, first point scored in lawn tennis when both sides have made 40 (gen vantage) advantage (II), vb trans, fr Fr avantages See prec To cause, give rise to advantage, be beneficial to, promote, benefit, profit advantageous, adj [1 advāntijus, 2 advāntidjās] Fr avantageux See advantage (I) & -ous Franght with, yielding, advantage, beneficial, profitable, useful advantageously, adv Prec & -ly With advantage, profitably advent, n [1 advēnt, 2 advēnt], fr Lat adventus, 'an arrival', PP of advenire, 'to come to, arrive at', fr ad- & venire, 'to come', qv under venue, & see come 1 A coming or arrival, specif (with cap) the Incarnation of Christ, also, the expected second coming of Christ to earth 2 (eccles, with cap) The season (including four Sundays) immediately before Christmas Adventism, n [1 advēntizm, 2 advēntizizm] Prec & -ism Doctrine that the second coming or Advent of Christ, to rule the earth, is at hand Adventist, n [1 advēntist, 2 advēntatist] See prec & -ist One who accepts the doctrine of Adventism adventitious, adj [1 advēntishus, 2 advēntishas] Lat adventicius, 'coming from abroad, foreign, extraneous' See advent & -itious Added extraneously, not inherent, casual, accidental, specif (law, of property) coming from a stranger or by collateral succession adventitiously, adv Prec & -ly In an adventitious manner, casually, accidentally adventure (I), n [1 advēntur, 2 advēntjā], fr Fr aventure, fr Low Lat adventura, fr Lat adventurus, Fut Part of advenire, 'to arrive' See advent, venture 1 Daring, hazardous, enterprise, encountering of risks, participation in strange and exciting events love of adventure. 2 An unexpected, exciting incident, a remarkable experience, a strange and striking event, attended by risk and danger a strange adventure 3 A speculative venture in commerce adventure (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec Now more usually venture 1 trans To risk, take risk of, endanger, take chance of success or failure of 2 intrans To be put to the test, try chance, take risks adventurer, n [1 advēnturēr, 2 advēntjār], fr adventure & -er Now chiefly restricted to had sense, one, often of dubious antecedents, who lives by his wits, one bent on obtaining, by equivocal means, wealth and position, without deserving them by honest service, unscrupulous, plausible rogue adventuresome, adj [1 advēnturēsūm, 2 advēntjēsūm] adventure & -some (rarely used) Given to, fond of adventure(s) See venturesome adventuress, n [1 advēnturēs, 2 advēntjār] Fem of adventurer adventurous, adj [1 advēnturūs, 2 advēntjārūs], fr O Fr aventuros See adventure & -ous 1 (of persons) Fond of adventure, enterprising, venturesome 2 (of actions &c) Hazardous, risky, attended by danger adventurously, adv Prec & -ly In an adventurous manner, boldly, rashly adverb, n [1 advērb, 2 advārb], fr Fr adverbe, fr Lat adverbium, fr ad- & verbum, 'a word' See verb & word (gram) A word that qualifies verb, adjective, or other adverb, expressing place, time, manner &c, answering questions How? When? Where?

adverbial, adj [1 advērbīāl, 2 advārbīāl], fr Lat adverbialis Prec & -al Of, pertaining to, an adverb adverbially, adv Prec & -ly With function of an adverb adversaria, n pl [1 advērsāria, 2 advērsārīa] Lat, so scripta, 'writings', lit 'things turned towards one' See adversary Miscellaneous notes or jottings, memoranda, hence, a commonplace book adversary, n [1 advērsārī, 2 advērsārī], fr Lat advērsarius, lit 'one turned towards' See adverse, adverb Person or party opposed, hostile to, contending with, one, enemy, opponent adversative, adj [1 advērsatīv, 2 advērsatīv], fr Lat advērsatīvus See next word & -ive (of terms, words &c) Denoting, expressing, opposition or antithesis adverse, adj [1 advērs, advērs, 2 advās, advās], fr Lat adversus, 'turned towards, opposite to, against', adj & PP of advertere, 'to turn to', fr ad & vertere, 'to turn' See adverb Opposed, hostile, unfavourable to, contrary adverse fate, winds, criticism, judgement (in law) adversely, adv Prec & -ly In a hostile, prejudicial manner acting adversely to one's interests adversity, n [1 advērsitā, 2 advērsitā], fr O Fr aversité, fr Lat adversitāt (em) See adverse & -ity State of ill fortune, misfortune, distress, misery, affliction advert, vb intrans [1 advērt, 2 advāt], fr Lat advertire, 'to turn to, direct towards', fr ad- & vertere, 'to turn, change' The Aryan base uer-, wort- &c, 'turn, change', is widespread in the derived languages, cp Srt varlat, 'he turns', varulās, 'round', O Slav vrātiti, 'turn, twist', Lith vėsti, 'turn', Gotb varpan, 'become, come to pass', OS uerthan, OE ueorpan, 'become, be, turn out to be, happen', OH G werdan See also vertex, version, & worth (III) (in phr woe worth) Advert to, to turn to, in thought, refer, allude to, in speech or writing advertise, vb trans & intrans [1 advērtiz, 2 advērtiz] Fr avertir, formerly advertir, 'to warn, give notice to', fr Lat advertire, 'to turn to', see advert, & -ise A trans 1 To give public notice of, to announce publicly, esp by a printed notice in a newspaper or elsewhere to advertise one's wares 2 (archaic)

To inform, notify, warn (a person) of (a thing) B intrans (a person) followed by for) To put a notice, warning, demand &c in a newspaper or public place if you can't find a house, you had better advertise, also b in bad sense, to put oneself forward, urge one's merits and claims to recognition, call attention to oneself it's a pity he advertises so much advertisement, n [1 advértisment, 2 advértisment], fr Fr avertissement See prec & -ment A public notice or announcement of news, goods for sale, and needs, esp in newspapers, on placards &c advertiser, n [1 advértizer, 2 advértizer] advortise & -er One who advertises advice, n [1 advís, 2 advís] ME avis, 'opinion', fr O Fr This word wd correspond to Lat advisum, 'according to my view, as I see it', fr Lat videre, 'see, look out, consider, reflect upon' See vision, wit 1 A considered opinion regarding a matter, set of circumstances &c, and recommendation as to how to deal with it successfully, counsel, Phr to give, tender, ask, take, advice, act on advice, b specif, skilled professional opinion of doctor or lawyer, consulted in a medical or legal case 2 Information, notification, report, intelligence, (gen pl) a diplomatic and political official report, b (commerce) statement regarding business transactions, bills of exchange &c letter of advice advisability, n [1 advízahiliti, 2 advízahiliti] See next word & -ity The quality of being advisable (of hue of action) advisable adj [1 advízahil, 2 advízahil], fr advís & -able Proper to be advised, or recommended, therefore, in accordance with prudence, expedient advisableness, n Prec & -ness Advísahility advisably, adv See prec & -ly With advice, wisely, prudently advise, vb trans & intrans [1 advíz, 2 advíz], fr Fr aviser, 'inform (trans & reflex), reflect upon', fr Low Lat advísare, ad- & visare, fr Lat videre, visum, 'to see' See advice A trans 1 To give advice to, express view as to best thing to do, counsel 2 To give notice to, to inform (a person) of a thing (tradesman's English) we will advise you when we hear &c = let you know B intrans Advise with (a person) on, or about (something), to take counsel, consult with (rare and archaic) I must advise with you on the situation advised adj [1 advíz, 2 advíz] Only in ill-advised, well-advised advisedly, adv [1 advízahil, 2 advízahil] Prec & -ly Deliberately, of set purpose advisedness, n [1 advízahil, 2 advízahil] See prec & -ness Careful deliberation, caution adviser, -or, n [1 advíz, 2 advíz] See advice, & -er & -or One who gives advice advisory, adj [1 advíz, 2 advíz], fr advís & -ory A Empowered to give advice, existing for purpose of consultation an advisory body, b containing advice advisory letter advocacy n [1 advokasi, 2 advokasi], fr Fr advocac, fr Med Lat advocatus See advocate & -acy The act of pleading in support of, intercession advocate (I), n [1 advokát, 2 advokát], fr O Fr avocal, fr Lat advocatus, 'one called in to aid another, in legal cause, an advocate', fr advocare, 'to call to one's aid', fr ad- & vocare, 'to call' See vocal, vocation 1 One who pleads the cause of another, specif, in Scotland, a barrister Faculty of Advocates, the Scottish Bar, Lord Advocate, principal law officer of the Crown, and public prosecutor, in Scotland, Devil's advocate, Med Lat advocatus diaboli, legal representative of the case for opposing canonization, hence, a deprecator 2 One who supports, defends, and recommends verbally a cause, proposal, line of action &c an advocate of tariff reform, of a milk diet, of early rising &c advocate (II), vb trans [1 advokát, 2 advokát], fr prec To plead in favour of, defend by argument, to support, recommend to advocate reform advowson, n [1 advóson, 2 advóson], fr ME advowson, O Fr advowson, fr Lat advocatus (em), Med Lat, 'right of a patron' See advocate (I) (Engl law) The right of patronage of, presentation to, a church benefice adynamia, n [1 adínámia, 2 adínémia], fr Gk adynamia, 'want of strength', fr a-, 'not', & dynamis, 'power, strength' See dynamism (med) Lack of vital force or strength adynamic, adj [1 adínámik, 2 adínámik] Prec & -ic (med) Weak, lacking strength adytum, n [1 ádtum, 2 ádtum] Lat adytum, fr Gk adytum, lit 'a place not to be entered', fr a- (priv) & duin, 'to enter, penetrate into', see ecdyss The inner most part, shrine, of a temple, hence, private room, sanctum adz(e), n [1 odx, 2 odx] O.E. adessa Etymol unknown A tool something like an oxe, but with curved blade set with the cutting edge at right angles to the handle, used for cutting away the surface of wood It resembles in shape and mode of use what is known as a grubbing axe aedile, n [1 édil, 2 édil] Lat aedilis, fr aedēs, 'a building, temple, dwelling house' &c Orig a place with a hearth or fire Cp aestus, 'fire', aestus, 'hot season, summer', ep. Gk aithē, 'burn', aithor, 'burning heat, fire', Sert áithas, 'wood for burning', O.H.G. ei, O.E. ad, 'funeral pile, fire' See aestivate, edifice, edify A magistrate who, in Ancient Rome, had charge of public and private buildings, roads &c, together with other duties of supervision aegis, n [1 éjis, 2 éjis] Lat aegies, fr Gk aigis, the shield of Zeus, lit 'one covered with goat skin', fr aig, stem of aiz, 'goat' Cogns in other languages, apart fr Armenian aig, 'goat', are not identified w certainty The word appears to have no connexion w Gk aissē, 'move with quick, darting motion' 1 (class mythol) The shield given by Zeus to Athena 2 (fig) Protection, support to appear under the aegis of (a person) aegetat, n [1 égrótat, 2 égrótat] Lat, 'he is sick', 3rd sing of aegetare, 'to be sick', fr aeger, 'sick', cogn w O Slav ječa, 'illness', Lett igst, 'to be annoyed' (in English universities) A certificate that an examination candidate is unable through illness to take certain of the papers, the word after candidate's name on a class list, issued by examiners, indicates that he has reached a standard entitling to a degree, though not to a class, in that part of the examination which he was able to undertake

Aeolian, adj [1 éolian, 2 éolian], fr Lat Aeolus, of Aeolus, Gk Aiolos, 'the god of the winds', & -an Of, pertaining to, moved by, the wind, esp Aeolian harp, a musical instrument consisting of a rectangular box on or in which are stretched strings or wires, producing musical sounds as the wind passes across them aeon, n [1 éon, 2 éon, éon] Gk aion, 'age, eternity', for aiwóm*, cogn w Lat aeum, 'space of time, eternity', Goth aius, 'an age, eternity', ana, adv, 'ever', O.E. ā, 'always, ever', further, w specialization of meaning, O.E. æw, fr aiw*, O.H.G. ēwa, 'custom, law, marriage', lit 'something established from time immemorial' See ever, never An indefinite, but vast and immeasurable period of time

Aepyornis, n [1 épyornis, 2 épyornis] Gk aiyos, 'tall', & ornis, 'bird' The etymol of the first element is doubtful, for the second see ornithology Large, extinct bird of Madagascar aerate, vb trans [1 árit, 2 árit], fr Lat aer, Gk áer, 'air' See air & -ate a To expose to the action of the air, b to fill with, charge (liquid) with, gas so that it sparkles aerated waters &c aeration, n [1 áráshun, 2 áráshun] See prec & -ion a Exposure to the action of the air, b process of filling, charging liquids with air aerial (I), adj [1 árial, 2 árial], fr Lat áerius, Gk aerios, & -al See air a Of air, gaseous, b connected with the air, c like air, thin, unsubstantial (lit and fig) aerial (II), n, fr prec Aerial wire or antenna as used in wireless telegraphy aerially, adv [1 árial, 2 árial] aerial (I) & -ly In an aerial manner, in the air aerie, aery, fr O Fr aerie, of doubtful origin, either fr Lat area, 'level piece of ground' (see area), or fr Lat atrium, 'court, hall' (see atrium), the later Engl variant spelling eyrie is due to a confusion w ME ey, 'egg' 1 A lofty nest of an eagle or other bird of prey, b the brood of an eagle or other bird of prey 2 (by transf) A house, castle, stronghold, situated on a high rock or hill aeriform, adj [1 árial, 2 árial], fr Lat aer, 'air', & -form Having the form or nature of air, (fig) unreal aero-, pref Form used to make compound words, fr Gk aer (as), áer, air aerobic, adj [1 árobik, 2 árobik], fr aero- & Gk bios, 'life' See bio- (biol) a (of bacteria) Living and growing only in the presence of oxygen, b produced by such bacteria aerobic fermentation &c aerodrome, n [1 árodrom, 2 árodrom] Formed on analogy of hippodrome, fr aero- & Gk dromos, 'course' See dromedary A large, open, level tract of ground, used for the starting and landing of aeroplanes, equipped with hangars, workshops &c, o flying ground aerodynamics, n [1 árodinámik, 2 árodinámik] aero- & dynamics (physics) That branch of dynamics which deals with the forces of air or gases in motion, of resistance to bodies moving in air, and of pressure exerted by air &c aerolite, n [1 árolit, 2 árolit] aero- & -lite Meteorite aerometer, n [1 árométer, 2 árométer] aero- & -meter Instrument for measuring and comparing the weight and density of gases aeronaut, n [1 áronaut, 2 áronaut] aero- & Gk nauf (as), 'sailor' See nautical. One who navigates or sails the air, a balloonist, the navigator or pilot of an air ship or other flying machine lighter than air aeronautic(al), adj [1 áronawtik (l), 2 áronawtik (l)] Prec & -ic & -al Of, pertaining to, aeronautics aeronautics, n [1 áronawtika, 2 áronawtika] Science, practice, of navigating the air in balloons or flying machines of any kind aerophone, n [1 árofon, 2 árofon] aero- & -phone Instrument for increasing the intensity of sound in the air, used in aeronautics for detecting the sound and position of flying machines aerophore n [1 árofor, 2 árofor] aero- & -phore Apparatus carrying a supply of compressed air, oxygen &c for breathing, as used in mining accidents, by workers under water, firemen &c aerophyte, n [1 árofit, 2 árofit] aero- & -phyte (bot) An air plant or opiphyte, as orchids, lichens &c which grow on other plants though they are not parasitic, but derive nourishment, as moisture &c, directly from the air aeroplane, n [1 ároplan, 2 ároplan] See aero- & -plane Any one of the different kinds of flying machines which are heavier than air, and which are supported in the air by planes or wings, and propelled forward and upward by a revolving propeller aerostat, n [1 ārostat, 2. ēarostat] aero- & Gk statos, 'placed'. See statics Any flying machine lighter than air, as balloon or airship aerostatics, n [1. ārostatiks, 2. ēarostatiks] aero- & statics 1 Science which deals with the equilibrium of elastic fluids, such as air or gases, or of bodies suspended or moving in them 2 Aeronautics aerostation, n [1 ārostatshun, 2. ēarostatshun] aerostat & -ion Science, practice, of navigating flying machines lighter than air, as airships or balloons, contrasted with aviation aeruginous, adj [1 āroginus, 2. ēarūginus] fr Lat aeruginosus, fr aerugin-(em), aerūge, 'copper-rust', fr aer, 'copper', see iron & -ous Pertaining to, of the colour of, like, copper-rust or verdigris aery (I) See aerie aery (II), adj [1 āri, 2. ēari] See aerial & -y (poet) Aerial

Aesculapian, adj [1 ēskulāpian, 2. iskulāpian] fr Lat Aesculāpi-(us), fr Gk Asklēpiōs, son of Apollo & Coronis, deified for his skill in medicine Of, pertaining to, the art of healing aesthete, n [1 ēsthēt; 2. ispit] fr Gk aisthētēs, 'one who perceives' The first syll in this word is fr earlier aui-* & is connected w Gk aio, 'hear', fr auisō*, & w. Lat audio, 'hear', fr auis-dio*, scandaible The origin of the second element in the last is uncertain, but it apparently reappears in Gk, in form of -th-, both in above Gk n & in related vb aisthanomai, 'I perceive'. One who affects an extravagant appreciation of the beautiful in nature and art aesthetic, adj [1 ēsthētik, 2. ispētik] fr Gk aisthētikos, 'capable of perception', connected w aisthanomai, 'I perceive, feel' Cp prec a relating to perception of the beautiful, esp in art, hence, artistic, connected with canons and principles of beauty underlying any of the arts aesthetic point of view, criticism (contrasted with scientific or historical), aesthetic tastes & c, b (of persons) having appreciation of beauty aesthetically, adv [1 ēsthētikali, 2. ispētikali] Proe & -al & -ly a In an aesthetic manner, b from the point of view of aesthetics aesthetics, n [1 ēsthētism, 2. ispētism] fr aesthetic & -ism Exaggerated out of the beautiful, and of artistic taste aesthetics, n [1 ēsthētikas, 2. ispētikas] The science which seeks to determine the canons of taste upon which criticism of the arts is based aestho-physiology, n [1 ēsthō fizjōlōji, 2. ispōu fizjōladi] See aesthetic & physiology Physiology of the organs of sense aestival, adj [1 ēstival, 2. istival] Lat aestivus, aestivus, fr aestas, 'hot season, summer' See aedile & aestivare Of, belonging to, the hot season, summer aestivare, vb intrans [1 ēstivāt, 2. istivēt] fr Lat aestivāt-(um), PP type of aestivare, 'to spend or pass the summer', fr Aryan base adhi-*, 'heat, fire' & c, q v under aedile To spend the summer, specif (of certain animals) to spend the summer in a state of suspended animation, cp hibernate aestivation, n [1 ēstivāshun, 2. istivētshun] fr proe & -ion a (zool) Habit of aestivating, b (bot) arrangement of petals in flower bud before opening, cp vernation aether, n See ether aetiological, adj [1 ētiōlōjikal, 2. itēlōdīkal] See next word & -ic & -al Dealing with, explaining, causes, esp aetiological myth, one that has arisen in order to explain the origin of a name, custom & c aetiology, n [1 ētiōlōji, 2. itēlōdīji] fr Gk aitia, 'cause, origin' (etymol obscure), & -logy a The science or philosophy of causes and origins, b specif, study of the origin of diseases afar, adv [1 āfar, 2. āf] See a- (fr on) & far (poet) At a distance the drums were heard afar, (in prose) from a distance, often preceded by from, as to see something from afar, to come from afar, or followed by off to stand afar off (Archaic and literary) affability, n [1 āfābiliti, 2. āfābiliti] fr affabilis, fr Lat affābilitat-(em) See affable & -ity Ease, pleasantness, courtesy, of address affable, adj [1 āfābl, 2. āfābl] fr affāble, fr Lat affābilitas, lit 'able to be spoken to', fr affāre, 'to speak to', fr ad- & fāre, 'to speak', fr base bhā-*, 'speak', q v under ban & fable Easy of access for conversation, hence pleasant spoken, courteous, polite, in conversation and address affableness, n Proe & -ness Affability affably, adv See proe & -ly In an affable manner, courteously affair, n [1 āfār, 2. āfēs] fr O Fr affaire, Fr affaire, fr ā faire, 'to do', op ado, fr Lat facere, see fact 1 Something done or to be done, business one's own affair, (pl) business of any kind, transactions, proceedings occupied with affairs, public affairs, one's private affairs, affairs of the State & c 2 A matter, event, or action, referred to in vague terms the whole episode was a strange affair, affair of honour, of the heart & c 3 (colloq) Used in vague reference to material objects in general, equivalent to 'thing' o.g (of a woman's dress & c) a wonderful affair, the coach was a strange, old-fashioned affair affect (I), vb trans [1 āfēkt, 2. āfēkt] fr Lat affect-(um), PP type of affectere, 'to do something to, touch, work upon', fr ad- & facere, 'to do, make', see fact, facile 1 To act upon, produce a result on something, cause change (for better or worse) in to affect the health, conduct, opinions & c, be affected by heat, cold, hunger & c 2 (fig) To move, touch, stir, influence, work on the feelings, emotions, passions to be deeply affected, have one's emotions stirred affect (II), vb trans Fr affecter, fr Lat affectare, 'to strive after, aim at, to assume falsely, feign', freq of affectere. See affect (I) 1 To show a partiality, preference, for, make use of to affect my company, bright colours, a foreign style of dress & c 2 To feign, assume, make a pretence of to affect ignorance, indifference, an air of benevolence, a military appearance & c affectation, n [1 āfēktāshun, 2. āfēktōshun] Lat affectation-(em), 'eager desire for, careful study prompted by fondness', fr Lat affectat, as in PP of affectere, 'make efforts to do' & c, as in PP of affectere. See affect (II) Display of sentiments which are not genuine, or assumption of mannerism in behaviour or speech which is not natural, deliberate artificiality in any artistic work, applied both to the false feelings and emotions themselves, and their outward expression in act or word an affectation of kindness, good breeding, affectation of speech, literary style & c affected (I), adj [1 āfēkted, 2. āfēkted] fr PP of affect (I) 1 a Influenced, showing results of a process or action affected by disease, b influenced morally or emotionally, touched, moved 2 (gen preceded by well- or ill) Disposed, inclined, conditioned affected (II), adj As fr PP of affect (II) (of persons, habits, manners & c) Artificial, filled with affectation, false, put on, not natural affectedly, adv Proe & -ly In an affected or artificial manner affecting, adj [1 āfēkting, 2. āfēktig] fr Proe Part of affect (I) Apt to move, stir, the emotions, touching, pathetic an affecting sight & c affectingly, adv Proe & -ly In an affecting manner affectation (I), n [1 āfēktshun, 2. āfēktshun] Lat affectio-(em), 'the being affected, feeling, frame of mind, right feelings, favourable disposition, love, goodwill'. See affect (I)

& -ion. 1 a Mental state or disposition, feeling, emotion, impulse, desire, passion, b kind feeling, goodwill, fondness, love, attachment (for or towards) 2 (med) Disease, complaint an affection of the lungs & c affection (II), vb trans, fr proe To have an affection, liking, for (Obsolete and rare) affectionate, adj [1 āfēkshunat, 2. āfēkshunāt] fr affection & -ate a (of persons) Possessing and exhibiting affection, having a loving disposition, tender, b (of things) expressive of affection. an affectionate greeting, letter, embrace & c affectionately, adv Proe & -ly In an affectionate manner affectionateness, n See proe & -ness The quality of being affectionate affective, adj [1 āfēktiv, 2. āfēktiv] See affect (II) & -ive Pertaining to the emotional element in a mental condition affluent, adj [1 āfōrent, 2. āfōrent] fr Lat affluere-(em), Proe Part of afferre, 'to bring or carry to', fr ad- & ferre, 'to bear, carry', cogn w bear (I) See also fortile, -ferous (physiol) of nerves and blood-vessels Conducting inwards, converse of effluent affluently, adv [1 āfōrentē, 2. āfōrentē] Ital (mus direction) With feeling affluence (I), n [1 āfians, 2. āfians] fr O Fr affiance, 'trust, confidence', fr after, 'to trust', fr Low Lat affidantia, fr affidare, 'to trust', fr ad- & fidare, 'to trust, to pledge one's faith', fr Lat fides, 'faith', see fidelity a firmly rooted faith, trust, reliance, confidence 'That he may evermore have affluence in Thee' & c (Prayer for King's Majesty), b pledging of faith, esp exchange of vows in marriage affluence (II), vb trans, fr O Fr affiance, fr affiance. See proe To promise (oneself or another) solemnly in marriage, become engaged (gen PP). Also as adj the affianced bride affidavit, n [1 āfidāvit, 2. āfidāvit] fr Low Lat 3rd sing perf indie of affidare, 'to pledge one's faith', fr. Lat ad- & fides, 'faith' See affluence & fidelity (law) A statement or declaration in writing made on oath before a commissioner of oaths or other person authorized to administer an oath affiliate, vb trans [1 āfiliāt, 2. āfiliāt] fr. Low Lat affiliare, affiliare, 'to adopt as a son', fr Lat ad- & filus, 'a son', see filial 1 (of an institution) To receive, accept, incorporate (persons) as members, to attach (other bodies) as branches, also affiliate to (of persons or institutions) in above senses 2 (law) To determine the paternity of (an illegitimate child) 3 (fig) Affiliate with, to trace the origin and relations, o.g of a language English must be affiliated with Dutch and other West Germanic languages affiliation, n [1 āfiliāshun, 2. āfiliōshun] fr affiliation, fr. Low Lat affiliāshō-(em) See affiliate & -ion 1 a The reception of a person or body into a society or corporation (as a member, branch & c) incorporation, b act or condition of being affiliated 2 (law) Determination of paternity of an illegitimate child 3 (fig) The tracing of anything to its origin, and showing its relations with other things affinity, n [1 āfiniti, 2. āfiniti] fr Fr affinité, fr Lat affinitas-(em), 'neighbourhood, relationship by marriage', fr affinis, lit 'at the border, adjacent, related', fr ad- & finis, 'border, boundary' See finis 1 Relationship by marriage, as opposed to consanguinity 2 Close relationship between, implying common origin of, several varieties of animals, plants, languages, types of civilization & c, the aggregate of resemblances upon which the assumption of a common origin is based 3 (chem) Tendency of certain bodies to unite with others affirm, vb trans & intrans [1 āfīrm, 2. āfīrm] fr Lat affirmare, fr ad- & fīrmare, 'to make firm'. See ad- & firm A. trans 1 To declare, state positively, assert to be true, opposed to deny to affirm one's loyalty, affirm that it was so 2 (law) To confirm, ratify affirm a judgement, decision &c B intrans (law) To declare solemnly by affirmation instead of by oath affirmation, n [1 afirmásjún, 2 afirmásjón], fr Fr affirmation, fr Lat affirmatio(-em) See affirm & -ation a The act of affirming, b that which is affirmed, strong, positive statement that something is true, specif (law) a solemn declaration made instead of an oath by a person of delicate conscience, hold to be legally equivalent to an oath, statements of this kind made in Court of Law are punishable as perjury if untrue affirmative, adj & n [1 afirmatív, 2 afirmatív], fr Fr affirmatif, ne, fr Lat affirmativus See affirm 1 adj Asserting that such a thing exists, is a fact, that such a statement is true, saying 'yes', opposed to negative 2 n That which affirms, esp in to answer in the affirmative, to say 'yes' affirmatively, adv Preo & -ly In the affirmative, yes affix (I), vb trans [1 afíks, 2 afíks], fr Lat affix (um), PP type of affigere, 'to fasten to', fr ad & fix, 'to fasten' See ad- & fix 1 To fix, fasten, stick (a thing to another), to attach to affix a label to a parcel, a stamp to a letter &c 2 To apporportion, attach (esp blame) to a person 3 To put down in writing, add, at the end of a document, attach, append to to affix one's signature affix (II), n [1 áfíks, 2 áfíks], fr Fr affixe, fr Lat affixum See affix (I) That which is affixed, added, stuck on, specif (gram), formative element, prefix or suffix, added to a stem or base, which has the function of modifying and further defining original meaning, or of expressing a syntactic relation afflatus, n [1 aflátus, 2 aflátus], fr Lat afflatus, lit 'a blowing on, breathing, breeze, blast, inspiration, enthusiasm', fr PP of afflāre, 'to blow, breathe, inspire' See ad- & flatus Lat flāre, 'blow', is cogn w blow (I) a A breath, blast, b inspiration, strong impulse, esp of poets, prophets afflict, vb trans [1 aflíkt, 2 aflíkt], fr Lat afflict (um), PP type of affligere, to dash down, damage' (also afflicere, intens of affligere, 'to dash against, to distress'), ad- & fluctus, 'a striking, dashing together', fr fligere, 'to strike', cogn w Goth bliggwan, 'strike', blaggu, 'o blow' &c Cp inflict & thlypsis To cause pain or suffering to body or mind, to distress, torment, grieve, make sad afflicting, adj [1 aflíktung, 2 aflíktung], fr Pres Part of afflict Distressing, grievous, productive of sorrow affliction, n [1 aflíksjún, 2 aflíksjón], fr Fr affliction, fr Lat afflictio(-em) See afflict & -ion a A state of mental suffering, grief, misery, distress, adversity, b an affliction, anything which gives rise to such suffering, calamity, misfortune, blow afflictive, adj [1 aflíktiv, 2 aflíktiv], fr afflict & -iva Op Fr afflictif Giving or causing grief affluence, n [1 afliuents, 2 afliuents], fr Fr affluence, fr Lat affluentia, fr affluent (em), Pres Part of affluere, 'to flow to', fr ad- & fluere, 'to flow', see fluent Abundance, profusion, copiousness, specif, riches, wealth affluent (I), adj [1 afliucent, 2 afliucent], fr Lat affluentem See prec a (lit) Flowing freely, abundant, b (of persons) abounding in goods or riches, wealthy affluent (II) n Same as prec Used in literal sense of 'flowing to' Stream which flows into another, tributary afflux, n [1 afliks, 2 afliks], fr Lat afflux (um), PP of affluere, 'to flow to' See ad- & flux, & cp affluence A flowing towards, of water, o crowd of people, moving objects generally, (med) flow of blood to some part.

afford, vb trans [1 afórd, 2 afórd] The pref is historically OE ge, later weakened to a & confused w O Fr or Lat af, fr ad- & f, O E forþan, 'help forward, promote well being of', ge forþan, 'put forth, contribute, prosper, promote well being of, carry on' &c, is formed fr OE adv forþ, 'forwards' &c See forth, further, adv & vb 1 a (of material things) To give forth, yield, supply, provide with, furnish from natural resources the trees afford a pleasant shade, the coco nut affords a sweet and refreshing milk, also b (of non material things) it affords me great satisfaction to be able to help you 2 (preceded by can, can't, be able) To be able to pay for, be rich enough to buy, have enough to spare he can (or is able to) afford to keep a motor car, but not to hunt as well, I can't afford the time for so and so afforest, vb trans [1 afórest, 2 afórest] See ad- & forest To plant trees systematically on, cover (land) with forest, convert into forest afforestation, n [1 afórestáshun, 2 afórestáshun], fr prec & -ation Act or process, natural or artificial, of planting a forest affranchise, vb trans [1 afránsiz, 2 afránsiz] See ad- & franchise To make free, to release from obligation affray, n [1 afrá, 2 afrá] See also fray (I) Orig a vb, 'to frighten' (still so used by Shakespeare), cp afraid, fr O Fr effrayer, Mod Fr effrayer, cp also n effroi, 'fear, terror' The word is a hybrid, fr Lat ax, 'out of', & Gmc frip*, 'peace', cp OHG fridu (whence Fr form), OS frithu, OE fridu, all ultimately fr Aryan base pri*, 'love, protect' Cp free, friend Breach of the peace, fighting, esp a public riot, brawl, contest, between small parties of opposing sides in a war affright (I), vb trans [1 afríkt, 2 afríkt] Late formation, so far as spelling is concerned, fr af=ad- & fright (I), the OE compound afyrhtan, 'frighten', ME afrikte, is the true ancestor of the uttered form, though the spelling has been altered fr erroneous view as to origin of prec To frighten, terrify, scare (archaic and poet) affright (II), n, fr prec Fear, terror, panic (archaic and poet) affront (I), vb trans [1 afrónt, 2 afrónt], fr O Fr afronter, fr Low Lat affrontāre, 'to strike against', fr Lat ad- & front em, 'forehead, front' See front 1 a To insult, offend, put a slight upon (a person), b to offend pride or modesty of 2 To confront, dare, face to affront death a hundred times affront (II), n, fr prec Assumptive, offensive speech or act, insult Phr to offer, put an affront upon affronted, adj [1 afrónté, 2 afrónté] Fr, PP of afronter See affront (I) (her) a (of two animals &c on shield) Face to face, facing each other, b facing full to the front affronted, adj [1 afrónté, 2 afrónté] fr PP of affront (I) Deeply offended, wounded in feelings, having sense of being insulted affusion, n [1 afúshun, 2 afúshun] Lat affusio(-em), fr affus (um), PP type of affundere, 'to pour upon', fr ad & fundere, 'to pour' See ad- & fusion Specif, the act of pouring of water upon the body in baptism afield adv [1 afíld, 2 afíld] OE on felda, 'in the field' See a- & field a In the field, out (of troops and agricultural labourers), b far away (from home), at, to, a distance, esp far afield, remote, out of the way, go too far afield, out of one's way afire, adv & p adj [1 afír, 2 afíra] See a- & fire On fire (lit and fig, of passion &c) with heart afire afisane, adv & adj [1 afísm, 2 afísm] See a- & flame In a flame, ablaze, in a glow, glowing, esp afisane with colour, with enthusiasm, (of human face) afisane with blushes afloat, adv [1 aflóit, 2 aflóit] OE on fleote, 'on the sea', fr flot, 'sea' See float 1 a At sea, on board ship as distinct from being on land, b floating about (of objects in water), c flooded with water (of the floor &c) Phr to keep afloat, stay out surface of water, prevent (oneself or another) from sinking, (fig) keep out of debt 2 (fig) Current, widely known and circulated (of report, rumour &c) afoot, adv & adj [1 afúot, 2 afúot] See a- & foot a On foot (archaic), b on the move, starting, astir, going about to be early afoot, (fig) make up afoot afore, adv & prep [1 afór, 2 afór] OE on foran, 'before' See a- & fore (naut) In front of esp to serve afore the mast, as one of the crew afore-, in compounds such as afore said, afore-mentioned, said, mentioned, earlier or previously a fortiore, adv [1 afórtióri, 2 afórtióri] Lat, 'by, with the stronger reason', compar of fortis, 'strong' See fort All the stronger, with all the more force afraid, adj [1 afráid, 2 afráid] Orig PP of affray, 'to frighten', see affray Filled with fear, frightened afraid of (before nouns), that (before verbs) afreet, afrit, afrite, n [1 afríet, 2 afríet] Arab An evil demon, monstrous malevolent giant afresh, adv [1 afresh, 2 afresh] a- & fresh, formed on model of orig Engl advs Anew, again, once more

Afrikaner, n [1 afrikándér, 2 afrikándér] S Afr Du A settler in South Africa, of European, esp of Dutch, blood aft, adv [1 ahít, 2 ahít] OE æftan, 'from behind', Goth aft, 'behind', adv afiana, 'from behind', fr af, 'from, out of, by', OE af, af, of, OHG aba, abs &c, & -ia, superl suff, af &c is cogn w Sort apa, 'away from', Gk apo, apó, 'from, away from, down from', Lat ab, 'from' &c (naut) Towards the stern of a vessel Phr fore and aft, lengthwise, from stem to stern after, prep & adv & adj [1 ahítér, 2 dítá] OE æfter, 'behind, in place, time, order, through, during, in consequence of' Orig compar of ast* See ait A prep 1 a (of place) Later, behind shut the door after you, come into the room after me, b (of order) next to, following my name comes after yours Phrs day after day, year after year, continuously, one after another, consecutively 2 (of time) Later than, subsequent to King John reigned after King Richard

3 (expressing relation of cause and effect) a In consequence, as result of I shall not go after what has happened, b in spite of after all my trouble he has learnt nothing 4 (with certain verbs) Expressing object, purpose to look after, see after, ask after, run after 5 In accordance with manner of, in imitation of a portrait after Romney Phr after a manner, up to a point, rather badly 6 In accordance with, in conformity with he behaved after his nature B adv of time Later, subsequently a year after, after he had gone away C adj Later, enceeding, chiefly in after days, years afterbirth, n [1 ahítterhért, 2 dítaháp] See after & birth (med) Membrane which envelope foetus in pre natal state and which is expelled together with the placenta after birth of child after-crop, n A second crop on same land in the same year after-damp, n Poisonous gas which remains after an explosion in mines after-glow, n The light which remains in the west some time after the sun has gone down after-grass, n The grass that grows after the hay has been mown, aftermath aftermath, n [1 ahíttermáth, 2 dítaháp] fr after & obs math, 'mowing', OE máþ See mow (III) After grass, (also fig) results of some catastrophe, esp aftermath of war agony of doubt, despair Phr. agony column (in newspapers), one in which appear personal advertisements for missing friends, private messages (often in cipher), appeals for charity &c agoraphobia, n [1 ágorafóbja, 2 ágara-fóbja] fr Gk agora, 'market place, place of assembly', see second element in panegyric, & -phobia (pathol) A morbid fear of being in open spaces or a public place agouti, n [1 agútis, 2 agútis] Fr, fr Span aguti, fr native name (zool) A Central American and West Indian rodent, genus Dasyprocta, about the size of a rabbit, nocturnal in habit and very destructive to sugar plantations &c agrarian, adj [1 agrárian, 2 agrérian] fr Lat agrarius, 'pertaining to land', fr ager, 'land, a field', & adj suff -an The Lat ager is cogn w Gk agros, 'field', & Engl acre These are all derived fr Aryan base *ag-, 'go', &c, see agent, so that acre &c is orig that wh is traversed 1 Relating to land or landed interest of any kind, specif, relating to cultivated land, and landed property Agrarian laws, those relating to tenure and distribution of land 2 (bot, of plants) Growing in a field agree, vb intrans [1 agré, 2 agrí] fr Fr agréer, 'to accept or receive with favour', fr d (Lat ad) & gré, 'favour, good will', fr Lat gratus, 'acceptable, pleasing, agreeable'. See grateful 1 Agree to consent, assent, to a proposal, offer, concur in, accept, statement, view &c, also agree to do, & absol I agree, I accept your view, proposal 2 Agree with a (of persons) (i) To be of same mind, share opinions of, (ii) (used absolutely) to be in harmony, get on together he and I don't agree at all, b (of things) to be conformable, to correspond your account hardly agrees with the facts, c (gram) to correspond in gender, number, case, person 3 To suit the health of, esp in neg, smoking doesn't agree with him agreeable, adj [1 agréabl, 2 agríabl] Cp Fr agréable, fr agree & -able 1 Pleasing, pleasant, delightful, (of persons) well-mannered, charming 2 (of persons) Willing, ready to consent agreeable to a plan, suggestion &c, also (colloq and vulg), I'm quite agreeable, I am ready to do what you want agreeableness, n Prec & -ness The quality of being agreeable agreeably, adv See prec & -ly 1 In an agreeable manner, delightfully, pleasingly to sing agreeably, agreeably surprised, ie that something is better than one expected 2 In accordance with, conformably to agreeably to my instructions agreement, n [1 agrément, 2 agríment] fr agrees & -ment Cp Fr agrement 1 Harmony, unanimity, of opinion, correspondence of feelings, sympathies, tastes &c, conformity of statement 2 A mutual understanding, bargain, arrangement &c, esp (law), a legal instrument in nature of an undertaking or contract which is binding on the signatories 3 (gram) Concord of words with others in gender, number, case, person agrestic, adj [1 agrestik, 2 agrestik] fr Lat agrestis, fr ager, 'field' See agrarian & -ic Rustic, rural, unpolished, uncouth agricultural, adj [1 agríkulchural, 2 agrí-kált[er]al] See agriculture & -al Connected with, pertaining to, agriculture Agricultural show, exhibition of farming produce and live stock, also of implements used in the various branches of agriculture agriculturalist, n [1 agríkulchuralist, 2 agrí-kált[er]alist] See agriculture & -ist A farmer, person concerned with, or having a special knowledge of, agriculture agriculture, n [1 agríkulchur, 2 agríkal[t]a] fr Lat agricultura, fr ager, 'a field', & cultúra, 'cultivation' See agrarian, culture

Art and theory of farming, including cultivation of the ground, sowing and harvesting of crops, and the raising of live stock.

agriculturist, n [1 agríkalchurist, 2 agrí-kált[er]ist] Prec & -ist One engaged or skilled in agriculture (Rare) See agriculturalist agrimony, n [1 agrímuní, 2 agrímení] Lat agrimonia, fr Gk argemónē, etymol unknown (bot) A common hedgerow perennial plant, with spike of small yellow flowers & hooked, clinging fruit, also name of other plants not belonging to the genus Agrimonia agrimotor, n [1 agrímotér, 2 agrímotér] fr Lat ager, agri, 'field', see agrarian, & motor A mechanically driven machine, used in agriculture, to draw ploughs &c agronomic(al), adj [1 agrónómik(l), 2 agrónómik(l)] Cp Fr agronomique See agronomy Pertaining to management and cultivation of land and production of crops agronomics, n [1 agrónómiks, 2 agrónómiks] See agronomy The science of the management of land and production of crops agronomist, n [1 agrónómist, 2 agrónómist] See agronomy & -ist One versed in agronomy agronomy, n [1 agrónomí, 2 agrónomí] fr Fr agronomie, fr Gk agronómōs, 'rural, wild', also as n, 'steward, overseer of land'; agros, 'field, land', q v under agrarian, & nomos, 'pasture, place for cattle', which word is cogn w Gk nómos, 'apportion, assign, manage', also drive (cattle) to pasture, feed' See further under nomad Theory and practice of production of crops, management of land aground, adv [1 agrúund, 2 agráund] See a- & ground (naut) On, or touching, the bottom in shallow water, and therefore unable to float, stranded to go, run, aground (of ships) ague, n [1 ágú, 2 éigú] O Fr, fr Lat (febris) acúla, 'acute fever' See acute A fever recurring periodically, accompanied by shivering fits, esp malarial fever aguish, adj [1 ágúish, 2 éigúish] Prec & -ish a (of fever) Resembling an ague, b (of persons) subject to ague and shivering ah, interj [1 ah, 2 á] Prob fr Fr An exclamation expressing surprise, delight, pity, threats, regret &c aha, interj [1 ah-há, 2 áh] Exclamation expressing esp triumph, mockery, irony &c ahead, adv [1 ahed, 2 ehed] See a- & head 1 (expressing movement) a In advance, in front of, leading to walk ahead of, b forward, onward to go, drive, run &c, ahead, (colloq) go ahead, go on, continue (story, work &c), also straight ahead 2 (expressing position) Before, in front of (lit and fig) Phr breakers ahead! 3 Ahead of, in front of, in advance of (lit and fig) to be, get, ahead of, further forward than, in advance of, (fig) succeed better than, surpasses to be, get, ahead of all others in a race, business, knowledge &c ahap, adv [1 aháp, 2 eháp] a- & heap In a heap, in a pile, piled up ahem, interj [1 ahem, 2 ehem] Conventionalized, literary form to express a deliberate cough of warning, surreptitious calling of attention &c Pronunciation from spelling ahoy, interj [1 ahói, 2 ehói] Probably literary mode of expressing a shout, perh influenced by hoy Call used in hauling ships ship ahoy!

ahull, adv [1 ahul, 2 ehál] See a- & hull (naut, applied to ship prepared to meet a storm) With sails furled &c, suggesting that vessel is reduced to a mere hull ai, n [1 áh é, 2 dí] Imitative, fr the cry of the animal The three-toed sloth of S America aid (I), vb trans [1 áid, 2 eid], fr Fr aider, O Fr aider, fr Lat adiutare, 'to help', freq of adjuvare, 'cherish, sustain, help', fr ad- & juvare, 'to help' See second element in coadjutor To help, assist, in any way, bring succour to to aid a person to do something, aid a person in an enterprise aid (II), n, fr Fr aide See aid (I) 1 Help, assistance of any kind 2 Person who, or thing which, supports, helps, assists he was my chief aid in the business, books are a great aid to reflection 3 (constitutional hist) Grant of money to the King for particular purpose, hence, tax levied for this purpose aide-de-camp, pl aides-, n Anglicized Fr pronunciation [1 áid de kóm, 2 éid de ká] Fr, 'assistant in the field' (mil) An officer personally appointed by a general to assist him in various ways in carrying out his duties agrette, n [1 agrét, 2 égrét] Fr agrette See egret A The egret, b a plume or tuft of feathers, used as an ornament for the hair aguille, n Anglicized pronunciation [1 ágwél, 2 eigwíl] Fr, 'needle' See aglet A sharply pointed peak of a mountain aguillette, n [1 ágwélet, 2 eigwílet] Fr dimin of prec Aglet, q v ail, vb trans & intrans [1 ál, 2 eil] O E eglan, 'to molest, trouble', op aid, egle, 'horrible, repulsive, sad', Goth agla, 'tribulation', aglus, 'hard, difficult', (us-) agljan, 'to trouble, afflict, weary' The word is prob cogn w O E ege, 'terror', Goth agis, O H G egi, 'fear', Goth (g-) agjan, 'frighten' Cp further Gk alhos, 'distress, mental pain', alhomai, 'suffer' &c a trans, usually impers To cause pain, trouble, afflict it ails me greatly that &c, what ails you?, what's the matter?, b intrans, to be, grow, weak and ill he ailed sadly during the winter aileron, n [1 áleron, 2 éler] Fr, 'little wing, fin', dimin of aile, 'wing', Lat ala, 'wing', orig 'shoulder', fr aksla*, cp Lat dimin axilla, 'armpit', cogn w O E earl, 'shoulder' See further under aisle, axil, axillary (aeronautics) Hinged flap attached to each end of main plane of a flying machine, which serves to preserve balance, and is used in turning sharply aillette, n [1 álet, 2 élet] Fr, fr aile, 'wing', see prec, & -ette, dimin suff Projecting plate of steel, somewhat resembling miniature wing, fixed so as to afford protection to shoulder when chain armour was worn ailing, adj [1 áling, 2 éling] fr Pres Part of ail Sickly, ill, suffering, esp in body ailment, n [1 álment, 2 élment] fr ail & -ment Illness, indisposition, infirmity, chiefly applied to one of a trifling character little, slight, ailment, occasionally serious ailment aim (I), vb intrans & trans [1 áim, 2 eim] M E aimen &c, 'estimate, intend', fr O Fr esmer, esmerer, fr Lat ad & aestimare, 'to estimate' See esteem & cp estimate The Mod Engl meaning implies calculated direction of effort to a given end A intrans Aim at 1 A to point, direct, level, a weapon or blow at a person or object with the intention of hitting him or it, b (fig) to direct an action, or remark at a person, with intention of affecting him in some way in doing (or saying) this I am not aiming at you 2 To direct the will or desires towards the attainment of an object, strive for particular purpose to aim at gaining the prize Phr to aim high, desire, strive for success, fine results &c

B trans a To point, direct, level (a weapon, missile, blow) at a mark to aim a gun, a stone, a shot &c, at, b (fig) to direct, level, an action or utterance, at to aim one's efforts at, aim in endeavour, strive &c, at aim (II), n, fr prec 1 The act of directing a weapon, blow, or missile towards the object intended to be hit, direction of a missile to take aim (at) 2 Purpose, design, intention, object to attainment of which one's efforts are directed aimless, adj [1 áimles, 2 éimlis] fr prec & -less (only fig) Without any particular aim, purpose, design, hence, trivial, futile aimlessly, adv Prec & -ly In an aimless manner aimlessness, n See prec & -ness Lack of fixed purpose

-ain, suff Fr form of Lat adj snff āneus, see -an air (I), n [1 āi, 2 eā], in ME, fr O Fr, fr Lat āer, 'air', fr Gk āēr, 'lower air surrounding earth', for auēr*, cp Gk āēm, fr nuēm*, 'I blow'. The Aryan base is wē*, the a in Gk being a pref. The cognates are Srt uāas, 'wind', O Slav vejati, 'blow', Lith vejas, 'wind', Goth uājan, O HG uājan, OE uāwan, 'blow'. See further under vent, wind.

1 a The invisible, elastic, gaseous substance which surrounds the earth, atmosphere, b (gen) space above the earth, the sky birds of the air, to leap into the air Fig Phrs in the air (1) (of rumours) current, (u) (of projects &c) having no foundation in reality, or not fully matured, shadowy, to take the air, to go out of doors, hot air, boastful, blustering, talk, to tread upon air, to be in an exalted condition of mind, to beat the air, to engage in futile pursuits or attempts, (to build) castles in the air, form fanciful schemes, unrealizable projects 2 A particular state or quality of the atmosphere fresh, bracing, air, Brighton is noted for its good air 3 A breeze, movement of the atmosphere a nice air, a slight air stirring &c 4 (mus) A tune, melody, esp the predominant motif, soprano part in harmonized compositions 5 outward appearance, mien, bearing, deportment, style, manner an air of import once, a lofty air, a triumphant air 6 (pl) An affected or haughty manner, assumption of superiority in bearing to put on airs, to give oneself airs Phr too many airs and graces, affectations of manner, finicking mannerisms air (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 a To expose to, put out in, the air for the purpose of drying, purifying &c to air clothes &c, b to let air into, ventilate to air rooms, c to expose to heat in order to remove dampness to air a bed, damp clothes &c 2 (fig) To publish abroad, parade to air one's opinions, theories, grievances &c B intrans 'to become aired, dried, purified to hang out clothes to air air-base, n The base of operations for aircraft, including repair shops &c air-bed, n A mattress inflated with air air-bladder, n A sac containing air, found in most fishes, the swim bladder or sound air-brake, n A railway brake worked by air pressure air-cell, n (anat) Cavity or receptacle for air in the body air-chamber, n Cavity filled with air air chief-marshal, n Title, rank, of an officer of the Royal Air Force, ranking next below the marshal and above an air marshal, equivalent to a general in the army air-cock, n Small tap or vent to allow escape of air from engine or pipe air commodore, n Title, rank, of an officer in the Royal Air Force, corresponding to colonel commandant in the army or rear admiral in the navy air-cooled, adj [1 āi kōold, 2 eā kōild] (esp of engines in motors) Cooled by means of radiators exposed to the air aircraft, n [1 āi krahīt, 2 eā krahīt] Any kind of flying machine aircraft-carrier, n A ship designed to carry naval aeroplanes, with special decks for starting and landing air-cushion, n Cushion inflated with air Airedale, n [1 āi dāl, 2 ē dāl] Place name in Yorkshire A large variety of terrier air-engine, n Engine worked by heated or compressed air airer n [1 āi r, 2 ē rā] air (II) & -er A frame on which clothes are aired or dried air force, n That branch of the armed forces of the realm which fights in the air, in aero planes or airships, the full title being Royal Air Force air-gas, n A gas used for lighting or heating obtained by saturating dry atmospheric air with vapour from various hydrocarbons, as petrol &c air-gun, n A gun from which the ball is discharged by compressed air air-hole, n One made to allow air to pass in or out, specif, hole in ice where a spring or current has prevented freezing, or one artificially made airily, adv [1 āi ri, 2 ē ri] See airy & -ly (of behaving, speaking) In an airy manner, lightly, jauntily, flippantly airiness, n [1 āi rines, 2 ē rines] See airy & -ness 1 The condition or quality of being airy, exposed to, permeated by, fresh air 2 Lightness of spirits, gaiety, levity airing, n [1 āi ring, 2 ē ai ring], fr Pros Part of air (II) 1 Exposure to air or heat for warming or drying to give clothes, room, an airing 2 Exercise in the open air for the sake of health to take an airing airless, adj [1 āi lres, 2 ē lres] air (I) & -less Deprived of, void of, air, unventilated, not communicating with the open air, stuffy airlessness, n Proc & -ness State, quality, of being airless air-lock, n Block caused in water pipe by bubble of air which prevents flow of water airman, n [1 āi rman, 2 eā rman] An aviator air marshal, n Title, rank, of an officer in the Royal Air Force, equivalent to lieutenant-general in the army air-pillow, n Pillow inflated with air airplane, n [1 āi rplān, 2 eā rplān] (American usage) Aeroplane air-plant, n An epiphyte air-pocket, n (aeronaut) Current or aerial disturbance which causes aircraft to drop suddenly a considerable distance air-port, n An aerodrome for the transport of passengers and goods by air, esp one with a customs house attached, for the collection of duties, examination of passports &c air-route, n Established route which aircraft take from place to place, for passenger and commercial traffic air-shaft, n Passage for admitting fresh air into a mine or tunnel airship, n [1 āi rship, 2 ē rīp] A machine for navigating the air, capable of being steered, supported by gas bags, and propelled by an engine or engines air-sickness, n An illness experienced in flying at great altitudes, akin to mountain sickness air-space, n Space containing air, extent of a respirable air in a hall, room, or building air-tight, adj Impermeable to air air vice-marshal, n Title, rank, of an officer in the Royal Air Force, equivalent to major general in the army airway, n [1 āi rwa, 2 eā rwa] a The passage in a coal or other mine in which the current of air, for ventilation, is carried, b an air route for aeroplanes airy, adj [1 āi ri, 2 eā ri], fr air (I) & -y 1 Exposed to the air, breezy an airy situation 2 A resembling air, thin, unsubstantial 'an airy spirit' (Shakespeare), b empty, visionary airy notions 3 A light, sprightly, graceful, delicate airy tread, b light hearted, vivacious, gay airy mood, manner &c, c from air (I), 6 (in unfavourable sense), showing levity, flippant, off hand aisle, n [1 āi li, 2 āi li] O Fr ele, fr Lat ala, 'wing', q v under aileron The s is due to association w Med Lat ascella fr azilla, 'armpit', wh is dimin of ala A side division of a church parallel to the nave, and separated from it by a row of pillars, passage between two rows of pews in a church ait n [1 at, 2 eit] See eyot aitch-bone, n [1 āi hōbn, 2 eit/bōbn] fr a nache bone (15th cent), O Fr nache, pl naches, 'rump, buttocks', as fr Low Lat notica (acc pl), Lat natis, 'rump' &c This is cogn w Gk notos, nōtos, 'back', further relations are unknown The rump bone, cut of beef over this bone ajar (I), adv [1 āi jar, 2 eā dō] MF on char (of window), fr a = O k on & cerre, 'turn' Cp Germ kehren See char (I), charwoman. (of a door or casement window) Not quite closed and latched, so that it will move in either direction ajar (II), adv a- & jar (II) (fig) In a state of discord, in a jarring state, out of harmony akimbo, adv [1 akimbō, 2 akimbō] ME in / ene boue, 'in a sharp curve' See keen & bow On the other hand, -ism may be connected w kink, and the word may represent the Icel kengboymn, 'bent in a crook' Only in Plur with arms akimbo, with hands on hips and elbows bent akin, pred adj [1 ākin, 2 ākin], fr a- & kin a (of persons) Of one blood or kin, related, often akin to b (of things) having similar properties, resembling, connected with 'pity is akin to love'

Akhadian See Accadian.

-al, adj suff A from Lat -ālis, direct or through Fr A living suff used in forming adjs fr ns of Lat or Gk origin, b fr Lat -al as in animal, or ālia, nent pl of ālis, used as n, direct or fr ME -ale, fr Fr Living suff used in forming ns fr vbs, as atavial &c alabaster, n & adj [1 ālabāster, 2 eālabāster] Lat alabastr, Gk alabastrōs & alabastron, prob derived fr Alabastron, name of a town in Egypt 1 n A soft white semi-transparent stone capable of receiving a high polish 2 adj a Made of alabaster, b like alabaster, as being smooth and white a la carte, adv & adj, Engl pronunciation [1 ā lah karte, 2 a lah karte] Fr (of a meal at a hotel or restaurant) Ordered course by course, as deared, from the bill of fare, contrasted with table d'hôte a adv, to dine à la carte, b obj, an a la carte dinner alack, interj [1 ālak, 2 eālak] Perh fr a- & lack Exclamation expressing sorrow or dismay, regret, also alack a day, alas and alack (obs or lit) alacrity, n [1 ālakriti, 2 eālakriti], fr Lat alacritas (em), alacritas, 'cheerfulness, ardour, eagerness', fr alacer, 'cheerful, brisk', connected w Gk elaunō, 'set in motion', Goth ahjan, 'zeal', O E ellen, 'courage' Eager and willing readiness alala, n [1 ālāla, 2 eāli] Gk alala, fr alalos, 'speechless', a-, 'not', & alalos, 'talkative', cp lalō, 'chatter, babble, make one participate noise' Base belongs to a group of imitative words, cp Srt lalalla, imitation of stammering, Lat lallare, 'to sing a child to sleep' Cp further Mod Germ lallen, 'stammer', Lith lāliti, 'stammer' (med) Speechlessness, loss of speech alar, adj [1 ālar, 2 eāli], fr Lat ālāris, fr ala, 'a wing' Cp alieron. A connected with, having, winged, wing-shaped, b (anat) auxiliary alarm (I), n [1 ālarm, 2 eālm], fr Fr alarme, fr Ital allarme = all arme, 'to arms' See arm (II) 1 A sudden call to arms, a warning of danger to sound, give, the alarm 2 The emotion caused by anticipation of danger, fear, anxiety alarm (II), vb trans fr prec 1 (mil) To call to arms, to give warning of danger, rouse to action 2 To cause dread or anxiety to, frighten, make anxious alarm clock, n A clock which can be set to rouse sleepers at a given time by a noisy beating of a small gong alarmed, adj [1 eālmrd, 2 eālmrd], fr P.P. of alarm (II) a Roused to action and vigilance, b frightened, dismayed alarming, adj [1 ālarmīng, 2 eālmīng], fr P.P. Part of alarm (II) Causing anxiety, fear, anticipation of danger or disaster alarmist, n [1 ālarmist, 2 eālmist], fr alarm (I) & -ist A nervous, timid person, given to anticipating the worst, one who starts rumours of disaster on a slight basis alarum, n [1 ālarum, 2 eālarum] Same as alarm (I) 1 Poetical for alarm 2 Sound made by alarm clock, mechanical device for making this sound alary adj [1 ālari, 2 eālari], fr Lat ālārius, fr ala, 'a wing' See alar, alieron. - Alar.

alas, interj [1 alás, 2 alds] Fr hélas, fr ha, exclamatory, & las, 'wretched' See lassitude Exclamation expressing regret, sorrow, pity, or apprehension alastrim, n [1 alástrim, 2 alēstrim] Invented word (med) An infectious disease, accompanied by fever and a rash, apparently a mild form of smallpox alate(d), adj [1 álát(cd), 2 elēst(id)] fr Lat álatus, 'furnished with wings, winged', fr ála, 'a wing' See aileron Winged alb, n [1 alb, 2 elb], fr Lat alba (vestis), 'white (garment)' Albus, 'white', has but few cognates outside Lat, but cp Gk alpos, alpos (rare), 'white', & the old Gmc word for 'swan', O H G albiz, elbiz, O E elfe, lit 'the white bird' Albion (England) & Alba, Ir for Scotland, are prob Celt representatives of the base, meaning the 'white land', the former named for the cliffs, the latter possibly fr its snow-covered mountains 'The white vestment', a long white vestment with a girdle and tight sleeves, worn by the celebrant at Mass over the cassock and under the chasuble albacore, n [1 albakör, 2 albakör], fr Span albacora, & Port albacor, fr Arab al, 'the', & bulr, 'young camel, heifer, pig' A large species of tunny, allied to the bonito albatross, n [1 álbatros, 2 albatros] Thus in Todd's 'Johnson', 1773 Perh influenced by Lat albus, 'white' The name is apparently 'corrupted' by Dampier (d 1712), who writes alcatrosses, fr Port alcatraz, 'cormorant, or other large sea bird', wh is a variant of Port alcatraz, 'bucket on a water wheel', this is an Arab word, al-qadiz, 'the water-carrier, pehcan', because it carries water in its pouch, the Arab word is itself borrowed fr Gk kados, 'cask, jar', the Gk word is said by Boissacq to be borrowed fr Phoenician Large web footed sea bird related to the petrel, genus Diomedea, found chiefly in the Southern hemisphere albeit, conj [1 awlbít, 2 álht]=al(though) it (so) be (that) Even though, although, nevertheless albert, n [1 álbert, 2 albat] Kind of watch chain named after Prince Albert, also Albert chain albescent, adj [1 albécent, 2 alhécent], fr Lat albescens (em), Pres Part type of albescere, 'to become white', fr albus, 'white' See alb Becoming white, passing into a whitish shade albinism, n [1 albinizm, 2 albinizam] See albino & -ism Physical condition in men and animals, in which the proper amount of pigment or colouring matter is lacking albinistic, adj [1 albinístak, 2 albinístak] See next word & -íst & -ic Affected with albinism albino, n [1 alhéno, 2 alhinou] Span or Port albino, 'whitish', fr Lat albus 'white', see alb, the term was originally applied by the Portuguese to negroes on the coast of Africa who were mottled with white spots Man or animal suffering congenitally from a lack of pigment, true albinos have white hair and either pink or very pale blue eyes, which are unable to bear strong light albite, n [1 álbit, 2 albat] Fr, fr Lat albus, 'white' See alb & -ate (minerol) A white feldspar, a silicate of aluminium and sodium album, n [1 olhum, 2 alhom] fr Lat album, 'a white tablet on which anything is inscribed', neut sing as n of albus, 'white' See alb A book, with blank pages in which photographs, literary extracts, outographs, newspaper-cuttings, or stamps &c are inserted or boxed albumen, n [1 álhūmen, 2 alhyumen], fr Lat albumen (found once, in Pliny), fr albus, 'white' See alb A White of egg, b a complicated chemical constituent of most organic matter, in scientific terminology, usually albumin albumenize, vb trans [1 olhūmeniz, 2 al- hūmeniz], fr albumen & -ize To cover, coat, with albumen, to treat with an albuminous solution albumin, n [1 álhūmin, 2 alhyumin] (chem) Albumen, one of a class of proteids albuminoid, adj & n [1 álhūminoid, 2 al-hūminoid], fr albumen & -oid a adj Like albumen, b n, (usually in pl) a chemical constituent of organic matter, proteids albuminous, adj [1 álhūminus, 2 alhyūminas] albumen & -ous Belonging to, containing, albumen albuminuria, n [1 álhūminūria, 2 alhyū-minjūria], fr albumen & Gk -ouria, fr ouron, 'urine', q v The presence of albumen in the urine, usually, but not necessarily, a symptom of kidney disease albumum, n [1 albérum, 2 albérum] Lat, fr albus, 'white', see alb Soft white wood growing between the bark of trees and the heartwood or duramen, sap-wood alcahest See alkahest alcaic, adj & n [1 álkák, 2 álkai-ik], fr Lat Alcaeus, Gk Alkaios, fr Alkaios (Alcaeus), a lyric poet of Mitylene, contemporary w Sappho (610 B C) a adj Pertaining to Alcaeus, or to the metre invented by him, esp alcaic metre, b n, alcaics, lines written in this metre cp Tennyson's 'Milton, a name to resound for ages' alchemy(al), adj [1 álkemik(l), 2 álkemik(l)] See alchemy & -ic & -al Relating to alchemy alchemically, adv Prec & -ly By alchemy or its processes alchemist, n [1 álkemist, 2 álkemist] See alchemy & -ist Student or professor of alchemy alchemy, n [1 álkemí, 2 álkemí] In M E alchemye, alconmye &c, on anal of astronomye O Fr alchēme, arguēme, fr Arab al-kīmiya, fr al, def art, & Gk khēmeia, 'transmutation of metals, later 'alchemy, chemistry', of doubtful origin, possibly fr Khēmeia, 'the black land', fr Khēmi, the Egyptian name for Egypt, & so meant orig 'the art practised by the Egyptians', in later Gk the word was confused w khēmos, 'juice', fr khēin, 'to pour', cogn w Lat funderere, see found (II), cp chemist & chemistry Chemistry as practised down to middle of 17th cent, the main objects of which were the discovery of the philosopher's stone (for transmuting all metals to gold), and the elixir of eternal youth alcohol, n [1 álkohol, 2 álkohol], fr Arab al kohl, orig a fine powder of antimony, the change of meaning to rectified spirit is European in origin 1 a Pur, rectified spirit, a volatile, intoxicating fermentation product contained in wine, beer, spirits, or other distilled or fermented liquors, specif, ethyl alcohol, obtained by fermentation of saccharine solutions, b (by extension) intoxicating liquor containing this not to touch alcohol, drink no intoxicating drink 2 (chem) A large group, the alcohols, of compounds analogous to ordinary 'ethyl' alcohol, which are hydroxides derived from hydrocarbons, common examples are methyl-alcohol, wood spirit, and amyl alcohol, the main constituent of fusel oil alcoholate, n [1 álkoholat, 2 álkoholest], fr alcohol & -ate (chem) A compound of an alcohol and a metal alcoholic, adj & n [1 álkoholik, 2 álkohalik] Prec & -ic 1 a adj, pertaining to, olecohol, containing alcohol alcoholic drinks, b caused by alcohol alcoholic gastritis 2 n A person who makes a habit of drinking alcoholic liquors in excess, and whose health is thereby impaired alcoholism, n [1 álkoholizm, 2 álkoholizam] alcohol & -ism The condition of an habitual drunkard, diseased state of the system caused by excessive use of alcoholic liquors chronic alcoholism alcoholize, vb trans [1 álkoholiz, 2 álkaholiz] alcohol & -ize To steep in, bring under influence of, alcohol alcoholometer, n [1 álkoholometer, 2 álkaholomētr] alcohol & -o & -meter Instrument for measuring the alcoholic strength of spirits by weight or volume, hydrometer

Alcoran, n [1 álkorán, 2 álkardn] Al, Arab = 'the' See Koran alcove, n [1 álkōv, 2 álkōv] Fr, fr Span alcoba, fr Arab al gobbah, 'vault' A recess, esp in the wall of a room, summer-house in a garden, private apartment aldehyde, n [1 áldehid, 2 aldehyd] Shortened fr alcohol dehydrogenatum, i e deprived of hydrogen (chem) A volatile colourless liquid, with offensive pungent smell, obtained by the oxidation of alcohol alder, n [1 állder, 2 álld] O E alor, O H G elira, Mod Germ erle, cp also Lat alnus, 'alder', fr alinos*, Lith alksnis Same orig base as Lat ulmus, 'elm' See elm Small European tree related to birch alderman, n [1 álwiderman, 2 áldēman] O E (aldarmann, 'prince, chief, governor', fr aldor, 'chief' & c, fr ald, 'old, senior' See old One of the senior members of a city or county council, distinguished from ordinary councillors by being elected for a long period or for life, so that they are not obliged to contest their seats aldermanic, adj [1 álwidermanik, 2 áldēmanik] Prec & -ic Pertaining to an alderman, characteristic of an alderman aldermanry, n [1 álwidermanni, 2 áldēmanni] alderman & -ry a The office or dignity of an alderman, b a district or ward of a borough represented on the city council by an alderman aldermanship, n [1 álwidermanship, 2 áldēman[ship]] alderman & -ship The office of an alderman

Aldine, adj [1 áldin, 2 áldin] See below & -ine (biblog, of editions of books) Aldine edition, printed by Aldus Manutius and his family in Venice between 1490 and 1597, bearing the sign of an anchor entwined by a dolphin ale, n [1 ál, 2 el] O E calu, alu, 'ale, beer', gent (calop, O N, Swed, Dan øl The word occurs in no W Gmc language except Engl, where it is very old It exists also in O Slav olu, & Lith alus, 'kind of beer', & perhaps in alium In some compounds -al(c) formerly meant a feast of which the liquor was consumed See bridal In general popular usage this word and beer, q v, are applied indifferently to a thinish, fermented malt liquor aleatory, adj [1 álēatr, 2 elēatr], fr Lat alēatorius, fr alēator, 'dice player, gambler', fr álēa, 'die' Etymol contested, perh fr alēia*, cogn w Sert alēas, 'die', possibly fr same base as oculus, 'eye' (see ocular), meaning 'studded with eyes' or spots, another suggested connection is w Gk éleas, élos, 'crazed, distracted', w wh cp also Gk alē, 'wandering of the mind, madness', & aldōma, 'wander about' Depending on chance, on cast of a die, hence (law) depending on some uncertain event such as bets, lotteries aleatory contract ale-conner, n [1 ál kōner, 2 el kōna] See ale & con (I) & -er (hist) An old manorial official who tested quality of ale and measures used in sale &c alee, adv [1 álē, 2 al] See a-, 'on', & lee (naut) On the lee side of a ship, to leeward alegar, n [1 álēgar, 2 alēga], fr ale, & Fr agire, 'sour' Cp vinegar (provinol) Sour ale, vinegar made of this ale-house, n Humble public-house, shop where ale is sold alembic, n [1 álēmbik, 2 alēmbik] In M E alēmbikes, Fr alēmbic, fr Arab al ambīq, 'the still', borrowed fr Gk ambik (os), ambiz, 'cup' An apparatus of glass or metal, formerly used in distilling, (also fig) alembic of the mind &c alert, adj [1 alért, 2 alít], fr Fr alerte, formerly ollerie & d'orte, Ital allerta, 'on the alert', lit 'on the look out', fr erla, 'a look out, a watch tower', fem of erla, PP of erlere, Lat erigere, 'to raise or set up'. See erect. Watchful, vigilant, wide awake, ready, in mind and body, esp in Phr on the alert alertly, adv Prec & -ly In an alert manner alertness, n See prec & -ness The state or quality of being alert, briskness, activity aleurone(s), n [1 alúron, 2 alúron], fr Gk aleuron, 'wheat flour or meal', fr alcó, 'grnd', cogn w Sert apud, 'thun, fine' (hot) A protein substance food, as minute granules, in the ripening seeds of wheat and other cereals alevin, n [1 alévin, 2 alévin], fr Fr alevine, fr O Fr alever, 'to raise, rear', fr Lat elevare, see elevate The young newly-hatched fry of trout or other fish of the salmon family while the yolk-sac is still attached alewife, n ale & wife A female proprietor of ale house, b (in USA) popular name of a species of herring

Alexandrine, n [1 aléksándrin, 2 aléksándrin], fr Alexandrin Perb because this style of verse was used in O Fr in poems on Alexander the Great (pros) In English poetry a line with six stresses, e.g. 'A need- less Alexandrine ends the song, That, like a wounded snail, drags its slow length along' (Pope) alexandrite, n [1 aléksándrit, 2 aléksándrit], fr Alexander II. of Russia & -ite A dark green gem stone, with red reflections, a variety of chrysoberyl alexipharmic, adj & n [1 aléksifármik, 2 aléksifármik], fr Gk alexipharmakos, 'warding off poison', fr aléxein, 'to ward, drive, keep off', & pharmakon, 'drug, poison'. See pharmacology The first element is cogn w Sert roksati, 'to protect', OE ealgar, 'to defend', ealh, 'temple', Lett ēls, 'idol' a adj Able to drive away, counteract, poison, having the quality of an antidote, b n, an antidote alfa, n [1 álfa, 2 alfa], fr Arab halfa Esparto grass alfalfa, n [1 alfalfa, 2 alfalfa] Span, fr Arab alfafra, 'good fodder'. Lncerne alfresco, adv & adj [1 alfréskó, 2 alfréskó], fr Ital al fresco, lit 'in the fresh (air)' a adv In the open air, b adj, open air an al fresco luncheon alga, n, pl algae [1 álga, aljé, 2 álga, aljé], Lat alga (pl algae), seaweed. Cp Norw ulva, 'sticky slime' (bot) The name of a large group of lowly organized plants, not differentiated into root, stem, or leaf, but possessing chlorophyll, including the seaweeds and similar weeds found in stagnant or slow-flowing fresh water algebra, n [1 álgebra, 2 aljébro] Arab al jébr, 'putting together of fragments'. Branch of mathematics dealing with relations and properties of numbers by means of symbols algebraic(al), adj [1 álgebraik(i), 2 aljébréik(i)] Prec & -io & -al Concerned with, relating to, algebra algebraically, adv Prec & -ly By means of algebra algebraist, n [1 álgebraíst, 2 aljébréíst] algebra & -ist Student of, expert in, algebra

-algia [1 aldzha, 2 aljézi] Suff representing Gk algos, 'pain', see neglect, & -ia Pain, e.g. neuralgia algoid, adj [1 aljóid, 2 aljóid], fr alga & -oid (bot) Resembling algae alogological, adj [1 alolójikal, 2 alolójikal] aljology & -ical Of, pertaining to, aljology alogologist, n [1 alolójíst, 2 alolójíst] See prec & -ist Student of aljology alogology, n [1 alolój, 2 alolój], fr alga & -logy Study of algae, that branch of botany which deals with algae algorism, n [1 aljorizim, 2 aljorizim], fr Mod Lat algorismus, fr Arab al Khwarizmi, 'the man of Khiva', Abu Ja'far ben Musa, Arab mathematician of 9th cent, the transl of whose work introduced the Arabian numerals to Europe a Arabic system of notation of 10 and 0, b the Arabic numerals algum, n [1 aljüm, 2 aljüm] Hob A tree and its wood, mentioned in A V 2 Chroo n 8 & c Also transliterated almug

Alhambra, n [1 alhambra, 2 alhambra] Arab al hamra, 'the red house'. The ancient royal Moorish palace at Granada in Spain alhambresque, adj [1 alhambrésk, 2 alhambrésk] Prec & -esque Made or decorated like the Alhambra alias, adv & n [1 álias, 2 álias] Lat alias, 'at another place, at another time', fr alius, 'another', Gk allos, 'other', cp Goth alys, 'other', alyar, 'elsewhere', OE elles, 'otherwise' (cp else) See alien, alibi, altruist a adv Otherwise, otherwise called Israel Cohen alias Jon Colquhoun, b n, assumed name alibi, n [1 álibi, 2 álibi] Lat alibi, 'else where, at another place', alius, 'other', & ibi, 'there', cp prec word (law) Plea in criminal charge that accused was somewhere else when the crime was committed, and therefore cannot be guilty of it Phrs to set up an alibi, prose on alibi alidade, n [1 alidád, 2 alidád] Fr, fr Arab al hídada, 'a rule' a The moving indicator of an astrolabe, b the vernier or indicator of optical or surveying instruments alien, adj & n [1 álien, 2 élien], fr Lat alienus, 'belonging to another', fr alius, 'another'. See alias, else & c 1 adj a Belonging to another country, race, strange, foreign alien subjects, alien shores & c, b alien to, strange, remote from, repugnant to, out of harmony with quite alien to my thoughts 2 n A foreigner, stranger, specif, a non naturalized, foreign born resident in a country alienability, n [1 ályeoabíliti, 2 élienabíliti] See next word & -ity Liability to be alienated alienable, adj [1 ályenabl, 2 élienabl] alien & -able Capable of being separated from one ownership and transferred to another (of property) alienage, n [1 ályenij, 2 élienidj] alien & -age Condition of being an alien alienate, vb trans [1 ályenát, 2 élienéit], fr Lat alienat (um), PP type of alienare, 'to make different, to surrender, give up, lose, to estrange', fr alienus, 'belonging to another'. See alien. 1 To estrange, render unfriendly, lose friendship of (a person), to turn away affection, regard & c from 2 (of property) To transfer to another's ownership alienation, n [1 ályenášhan, 2 élienéíjon], fr Lat alienation (em), 'a transferring or surrendering of a thing to a person, aversion, hatred, insanity, madness'. See alien & -ation The act of alienating or state of being alienated, specif a estrangement (of a person), turning away elsewhere (his affection & c), b (law) legal conveyance of property to another, c derangement of the mind, insanity (not strictly an English usage) alienator, n [1 ályeoáster, 2 élienéit] alienate & -or One who alienates, esp in legal sense alienee, n [1 ályené, 2 élienj] (law) One to whom property is transferred alienist, n [1 ályeníst, 2 élieníst] alienation & -ist Specialist in mental diseases aliform, edj [1 álform, 2 álform], fr Lat ala, 'wing', & -form See alieron & related words Wing shaped alight (I), vb intrans [1 álit, 2 alait] OE alhtan See light (V) 1 To get down, dismount (from a horse, a vehicle & c), hence, to conclude one's journey to alight at Oxford

2 a To descend and settle, come to rest, as from air to earth (of birds, aeroplanes), b alight on, strike with in falling or jumping to alight on one's feet alight (II), adj See a- & light (I), n. Lighted (up), in a flame, on fire (lit and fig) align, vb trans & intrans [1 alio, 2 alajo], fr Fr aligner, fr al (Lat ad) & ligne (Lat linea), 'line'. See line 1 trans To range, draw up, in line, bring into line 2 intrans To form in line, fall into line (of troops) alignment, n [1 alíment, 2 alíment], fr Fr alignement See align & -ment 1 Arrangement in a line, formation in a straight line, esp of soldiers on parade, also of sights of gun and target 2 (ongun) The ground plan of a railway or road as distinct from gradient or profile alike, adj & adv [1 álik, 2 aláik] OE ge lic, 'like'. See a- & like (I) 1 adj (only used pred) Similar, having strong resemblance, without difference 2 adv In the same manner or degree, similarly, equally Phr shore and share alike, to share equally aliment, n [1 álíment, 2 alíment], fr Lat alimentum, 'nourishment', fr alere, 'to rear, nourish, support', cp Goth alan, 'grow up' (cp Lat adulesco under adolescent), ON ala, 'nourish'. The same base is found also in OE éald, áld, 'old', Goth alpeis, OHG alt, the sense of wh was 'grown, matured, old'. See old. Food, nutriment, means of support alimental, adj [1 alímentál, 2 alímentál] See prec & -al Supplying food, nourishing alimentary, adj [1 alímentári, 2 alímentári], fr Lat alimentarius, 'of or relating to nourishment'. See aliment & -ary 1 Nutritive 2 Belonging to nutrition or functions of organs of nutrition, alimentary canal, channel in animal body through which food passes, including a whole length from the mouth, through intestines to natural exit alimentation, n [1 alímentášhan, 2 alímentéíjon], fr Low Lat alimentashon (em) See aliment & -ation. Nutrition, the act of providing nourishment, condition of being nourished alimony, n [1 ályumum, 2 alímanj], fr Lat alimonia, 'nourishment, sustenance', fr alere, 'to nourish'. See aliment Maintenance, means of living, specif (law) provision made for support of a woman out of her husband's income after a legal separation aliphatic, adj [1 álfátik, 2 alífatik], fr Gk aleiphat (os), aleiphat, 'oil, fat'. Cp adipose & see -ic Derived from fat, fatty, specif (organic chem) of a series of hydrocarbons aliquant, adj & n [1 álikwant, 2 alíkwant], fr Lat aliquantum, 'some what', fr alis (us), 'other', & quantus, 'how great' 1 adj Not dividing without remainder 6 is an aliquant part of 16 2 n An aliquant number aliquot, adj & n [1 álikwot, 2 alíkwot] Lat, 'some, several', fr alis (us), 'other', & quot, 'how many' 1 adj Dividing exactly without remainder 6 is an aliquot part of 18 2 n An aliquot number alive, adj [1 aliv, 2 alav] OE on life, 'in life, living'. See on & life (gon used pred) 1 Living, possessing life, in a living state, not dead (of bodily and spiritual life) 2 In force, being, operation, existent, unextinguished to keep a right, claim, alive 3 Active, brisk, lively, alert, vigorous very much alive, a man who is thoroughly alive, adverb, look alive, be brisk, be quick, (colloq expletive) man alive!, saves alive! & Alive with, swarming, thronged with a pool alive with fish, alive with vermin 5 Alive to, susceptible to, aware of, able to perceive alive to a fact, to possibilities, dangers alizarin, n [1 alizarén, 2 alizarín] Fr, fr alazar, 'madder', prob fr Arab al-azharah, 'juice of a plant', fr azara, 'to press'. A red or reddish-yellow dye, originally obtained from madder, now produced synthetically from anthracene alkahest, n. [1 álkahest, 2 álkahest] A pseudo-Arab word, prob. coined by Paracelsus. A supposed liquid which would dissolve gold and all other substances, one of the objects of search of the alchemists.

alkali, n. [1 álkah, 2 álkál] Fr. fr. Arab al qálí, 'charred ashes'. 1 The soluble product obtained from the charred ashes of certain plants, soda ash or potash. Specif. 2 (chem.) a base or compound which neutralizes an acid and forms a salt, particularly, one of the hydrates of sodium and potassium or of the alkali metals, cesium, lithium, and rubidium, also ammonia solution, distinguished from an acid by turning red vegetable colours, as litmus paper, blue.

alkalimeter, n. [1 álkaliméter, 2 álkaliméter] alkali & -meter. Instrument for ascertaining the strength of alkalis or alkaline mixtures.

alkaline, adj. [1 álkalín, 2 álkalín] Preo & -ine. Belonging to, having the character of, an alkali.

alkalinity, n. [1 álkalinité, 2 álkalinité] Preo & -ity. Quality, property, of an alkali, alkaline property.

alkaloid, n. [1 álkalóid, 2 álkalóid] alkali & -oid (chem.) Any of various nitrogenous organic substances having basic or alkaline properties, esp. such as are derived from plants, as contrasted with the ptomaines, usually highly poisonous and of acrid taste, many, as morphine, strychnine &c., are used as drugs.

alkanet, n. [1 álkanot, 2 álkanet] fr. Span alcana, fr. Arab al-henna, 'the henna plant', & -et. A kind of anemone or bugloss, the root of which yields a red dye, b dye obtained from this plant.

all, adj., n., & adv. [1 awl, 2 ál] O E & M E all, in all Gmo languages. Apparently no cognates outside Gme. 1 adj. a The entire amount, quantity, extent of, the whole of all day, all night, all the time, all his life, all England, Phrs for good and all, for ever, finally, once for all, implying never again, b the greatest possible with all speed, in all haste, with all respect, c every, every one of, every kind of all men, in all directions, on all sides, all manner of, at all points, in all respects, at all times, at all events, in any case, maid of all work. 2 n. The whole number, quantity, amount, everything or everybody all is lost, that's all, all in good time, all are agreed, i.e. all men, to lose one's all, everything one has, with of=the whole all of it, every one all of you. Phrs after all, when everything has been taken into account, nevertheless after all, it might have been worse, all-in-all (to me), my best-loved object, all's one (for that), it's just the same, and all, and everything else, and the rest, in all, altogether, in total number a dozen in all, all told, all counted, at all (esp. in neg. or interrog. sentences), in the least degree, to the least extent not at all stupid, is he at all suitable for the post? 3 adv. Wholly, completely, altogether, entirely, quite he's all agog with excitement, all covered with mud, all over, all too soon, all the better, (colloq.) you're all wrong! Phrs all at once, suddenly, all but, almost, nearly he all but collapsed, all right! (colloq.) expressing assent or approbation, all one, just the same thing, immaterial, indifferent, all the same, nevertheless, all over, (colloq.) resembling in all respects that's John all over, what one would expect from John, it's all over with, all up with (him &c.), (colloq.) he is ruined, finished, done for.

Allah, n. [1 ála, 2 ála] Arab, 'God'.
allantois, n. [1 álantóis, 2 álantóis] fr. Gk allantí-(os), allás, 'sausage' (anat.) A membranous sac in the foetus or embryo of mammals, birds, and reptiles.

allay, vb trans [1 álá, 2 álá] O E allegan, 'put down, diminish' &c., M E aleyan. See a- & lay (III). 1 To quiet, put to rest, appease, calm (a disturbance, excitement &c.)

2 To alleviate, assuage, relieve (of pain, anxiety, trouble &c.)

allegation, n. [1 álgháshun, 2 álghéshun] fr. Lat allegātō-(em), 'despatching a mission', fr. allégare, 'despatch on business', by metonymy, 'allege, adduce'. See legate. 1 An assertion, affirmation, statement, esp. one not supported by evidence, op. a mere allegation. 2 (law) Statement made before a court of law &c. of something which it is proposed to prove by evidence.

allege, vb trans [1 áléj, 2 álédž] M E alleggen, 'bring forward as evidence', fr. A-Fr allegier, Central O Fr esliger, 'to clear at law', as fr. Lat exlīgare. Op. litigate. 1 To affirm, assert positively to allege as a fact. 2 To bring forward as an argument, plea, excuse, extenuating circumstance &c. to allege illness, error of judgment &c.

allegiance, n. [1 áléjens, 2 álédžens] M E, fr. O Fr higeance. See liege (in feudalism). Duty, loyalty which a man owes to his sovereign or overlord, hence generally, loyalty, devotion.

allegoric(al), adj. [1 álghórík(l), 2 álghórík(l)] fr. Fr allegorique, fr. Lat allegoricus & -ia, fr. Gk allegorizō. See allegory. Pertaining to allegory, figurative, symbolical.

allegorically, adv. Preo & -ly. By means of allegory.

allegorist, n. [1 álghóríst, 2 álghéríst] Cp. Fr allegoriste. See allegory & -ist. One who uses allegory, a writer of allegory.

allegorize, vb trans [1 álghóríz, 2 álghéríz] fr. Fr. allegoriser, fr. Lat allegorizāre. See allegory & -ize. To turn into, treat as, allegory.

allegory, n. [1 álghóri, 2 álghóri] fr. Lat allegoria, fr. Gk allegoria, 'speech made in public assembly', fr. allos, 'other', see alias, & agoreuō, 'I speak (in the assembly)', fr. agora, 'place of assembly'. See baso ag-* under agent. Description, or narrative conveyed by means of another differing from it, but resembling it sufficiently to suggest it, a figurative story in the nature of a parable, the purpose of which is often to enforce a series of moral teachings.

allegretto, n., adj., & adv. [1 álégrétó, 2 álégrétó] Ital, dimin. of allegro (mus). 1 n. A movement in music not quite as brisk as allegro. 2 adj. Rather brisk, somewhat brisk. 3 adv. Rather briskly.

allegro, n., adj., & adv. [1 álgró, 2 álgró] Ital, lit. 'cheerful, gay', fr. Lat alacer, 'lively'. See alacrité (mus). 1 n. A quick movement in music intermediate between andante and presto. 2 adj. Quick, brisk. 3 adv. Quickly, briskly.

alleluia, n. & interj. [1 álilóya, 2 álilóje] Lat form, fr. Gk állēloua, of Heb hallelūyah. See hallelujah. A song of praise, b interj., exclamation of joy, praise, and exultation.

allergy, n. [1 álérj, 2 álédž] A coined term, fr. Gk allos, 'other, different', see alias & else, & energy (physiol.) Condition in which the reaction to a second infection by a toxin, serum &c. differs from that following a first infection, op. anaphylaxis.

allerton, n. [1 álérion, 2 álérion] Fr. also alerion, etymol. doubtful (her.) An eagle, displayed with expanded wings but with feet out off and no beak.

alleviate, vb trans [1 álévniat, 2 álévniat] fr. L. Lat alleviāt-(um), P P type of alleviāre, fr. Lat alleviāre, fr. ad- & leviāre, 'to lighten, ease', fr. levi, adj., 'light'. See levity. To lighten, lessen, mitigate, relieve (pain and suffering of body or mind).

alleviation, n. [1 álévniashun, 2 álévniashun] fr. preo & -ion. The act or process of lightening, relieving pain, sorrow &c., relief, mitigation.

alleviative, adj. & n. [1 álévniatí, 2 álévniatí] See preo & -ive. a adj. Tending to alleviate, b n., that which alleviates.

alley (I), n. [1 áli, 2 áli] O Fr alee, 'a going, passage'. Op. Fr aller, 'go, walk' &c. Etymol. of this common word is doubt ful, but Meyer-Lübke suggests Lat ambulare, 'go, walk', w. assumption of mb to l, through intermediate ambiar. The Lat word itself is not satisfactorily explained, connexion w. Gk alaoma, 'wander', is suggested, the first element being amb- (op. ambō, 'around'), the second ul-, cogn. w. Gk al-, 'wander'. Cp. amble (I). See aleatory. 1 Path, shady walk bordered by trees &c. in pleasure grounds. 2 Narrow passage between buildings, a narrow squalid street in a slum, blind alley, (lit. and fig.) path, way, that leads nowhere. 3 Narrow, enclosed space for bowls or skittles.

alley (II), n. See ally (III).

All Fools' Day, n. The 1st of April, when people are made April fools.

all fours, n. [1 áwl fórz, 2 ál fóz] 1 a All four legs of an animal, b the two arms and legs of a human being. Phr on all fours with, exactly corresponding, alike. 2 a card game, also called 'seven up'.

All-Hallows, n. [1 áwl hálów, 2 ál hálów] See all & hallow. All Saints' Day, the 1st of November.

All-Hallow's Eve. See Hallowe'en.

allacious, adj. [1 álákshus, 2 áléshas] fr. Lat allium, álum, 'garlic', & -aceous, álum, ong. 'the strong smelling plant', is fr. earlier an slom*, fr. base an-* 'breathe, smell', see annus (bet.) Of, belonging to, the genus of plants, Allium, which includes the onion and leek as well as garlic.

alliance, n. [1 álíans, 2 álíans] M E alliance, O Fr alliance, Fr alliance, fr. O Fr aher, Fr aher. See ally (I). a A union between families by marriage matrimonial alliance, b a friendly union between states, nations, parties &c., esp. by treaty or pact, for achievement of a common interest in peace, war, politics &c. allied, adj. [1 álid, 2 álid] fr. P P of ally (I). a United together, connected by marriage (of families), or by treaties (of states), b akin, related, connected by similarity of character history and allied subjects.

alligator, n. [1 álgháter, 2 álghéshas] fr. Span el lagarto, 'the lizard', fr. Lat lacerus, also lacerta, 'a lizard'. See lizard (zool.) Large carnivorous aquatic reptile of the crocodile family, found only in America and China, having rather shorter blunter snout than the crocodile, and teeth in lower jaw which shut into indentations in upper.

alligator apple, n. A tree of the West Indies and tropical America with wood used as cork and a pulpy fruit or berry, an inferior kind of custard-apple.

alligator pear, n. A tree of the West Indies and tropical America, the avocado.

alligator tortoise, n. The snapping turtle.

alliterate, vb intrans [1 álitórát, 2 álitórát] fr. Lat al for ad- & littera, 'a letter of the alphabet', see letter, literal, w. vb suff. -ate, on anal w. obliterate a (of words in sentence or group) To begin with the same consonantal sound or with the same or a different vowel sound, b (of writers and speakers) to construct phrases, sentences, verses, of words which begin with same sound.

alliteration, n. [1 álteráshun, 2 álteráshun] fr. preo & -ion. Recurrence of the same consonantal sound in stressed syllables of several words in a series, in prose or verse.

alliterative, adj. [1 álitératí, 2 álitératí] alliterate & -ive. Connected with, characterized by, alliteration alliterative poetry, that in which alliteration is a structural feature, as in O E and in some M E poems.

alliteratively, adv. Preo & -ly. According to the principles of alliteration.

allocate, vb trans [1 álókát, 2 álókát] fr. Low Lat allocat-(um), P P type of allocāre, fr. Lat ad & locāre, 'to place', See ad- & locate. To assign, allot.

allocation, n [1 alɒkəʃən; 2 ələkəʃən].

See prec & -ion. Apportionment allocation, n [1 alɒkəʃən; 2 ələkəʃən], fr Lat allocutio (em), 'an address', fr alloqui, 'to speak', fr ad- & loqui, 'to speak'. See locution. An address, esp of an authoritative, admonitory character al(l)odial, adj [1 alɒdial; 2 ələdial], fr Med Lat allodialis. See al(l)odium. Referring to system of land tenure which existed to some extent among the Anglo Saxons, and more widely, and down to a later age, in Norway, in which land was held without obligation to an overlord, practically equivalent to freehold, contrasted with feudal al(l)odialism, n [1 alɒdializm; 2 ələdial-izəm], fr prec & -ism. The allodial system al(l)odialist, n [1 alɒdialist; 2 ələdialist]. al(l)odial & -ist One who holds allodial land al(l)odially, adv [1 alɒdial; 2 ələdial].

al(l)odial & -ly By allodial tenure al(l)odium, n [1 alɒdium; 2 ələdium], fr Med Lat allodium. The word is pure Gmc, being derived fr Frankish alōd, 'entire property', fr all (see all) & ōd, 'property', O H G ōt, O E ēad, 'prosperity, wealth', cp O E ēadig, 'prosperous, rich, blessed', also O E ēaden, 'granted', extra Gmc cognates appear to be lacking (law) Land held as the absolute property of the owner without being subject to any rent, or service, due to an overlord. See al(l)odial allo-, pref used in forming many scientific compounds, fr. Gk. allos, 'other'. See alias & else allogamy, n [1 alɒgəmi; 2 əlɒgəmi]. See allo- & -gamy (bot) Fertilization of one plant by pollen from another, cross pollination, contrasted with autogamy allomerism, n [1 alɒmərizm; 2 əlɒmərizəm]. See next word & -ism (mineral and chem)

Quality, state, of being allomeric allomeric, adj [1 alɒmərik; 2 əlɒmərik]. See allo- & -merous (mineral and chem)

Varying in chemical composition without change of form allopathy, n [1 alɒpəθi; 2 ələpəθi]. See allopathy. Allopathist allopathic, adj [1 alɒpəθik; 2 ələpəθik]. Cp Fr allopathique. See allopathy. Be longing to allopathy allopathist, n [1 alɒpəθist; 2 ələpəθist]. allopathy & -ist One who practises allopathy allopathy, n [1 alɒpəθi; 2 ələpəθi]. See allo- & -pathy (med) The ordinary system of medical treatment which aims at curing disease by remedies having an opposite effect upon the body to that caused by the disease. Name given in contrast to homeopathy allophylian, adj & n [1 alɒfiliən; 2 ələfiliən], fr Gk. allophyllos, 'foreign, of another tribe', fr allos, 'other', see allo-, & phyllos, 'tribe', phylon, 'stock, race', see phylo-

Of another race, foreign. Specif, applied to the non-Aryan peoples and languages of Europe and Asia allot vb trans [1 alɒt; 2 ələt]. O Fr aloter, of Gmc origin. See lot. To distribute, apportion, assign, as a share or lot, to allotment, n [1 alɒtmənt; 2 ələtmənt]. Fr allotement. See allot & -ment. 1 The act of allotting or apportioning 2 That which is allotted, a share or portion granted to a person, specif a small portion of land let out at a low rent for cultivation under various enactments such as the Allotments and Small Holdings Acts, b appropriation of shares in a company to applicant, on issue allotropic(al) adj [1 alɒtɹɒpik(al); 2 ələtɹɒpik(al)]. See allotropy & -ic. Of or pertaining to allotropy allotropically, adv. Prec. & -ly. Bv allotropy allotropism n [1 alɒtɹɒpizəm; 2 ələtɹɒpizəm]. See allotropy & -ism. Allotropy allotropy, n [1 alɒtɹɒpi; 2 ələtɹɒpi], fr Gk. allos, 'other', see allo-, & tropos, 'turn, direction, way'. See trops (chem) Property possessed by certain chemical elements, such as carbon, of existing in two or more distinct forms all-overish, adj [1 ɔlɒvərɪʃ; 2 ələvərɪʃ]. See all over, -ish (colloq) Having general sensation of discomfort and indisposition to feel rather all overish all-overishness, n. Prec. & -ness (colloq) Condition of health in which general discomfort and uneasiness are felt allow, vb trans & intrans [1 ələu; 2 ələu]. M.E. alouen. Two orig distinct vbs have been confused, O Fr alouer, 'place, use, assign', fr Low Lat allocare (see allocate), & O Fr aloer, 'approve', Lat adlaudere, 'extol'. See laud. A trans 1 To permit, give consent, assent to, an action being done smoking is not allowed here, b permission to (a person) doing something I can't allow you to behave like that 2 To give, yield, provide, accord, make possible this gate allows access to the garden 3 To make a fixed, periodical grant or payment to allow a person so much a year 4 To acknowledge, admit, concede, accept as true or valid allow a claim, argument &c, I allow that I was a bit hasty 5 To make a deduction from payment due to allow a shilling in the pound, allow discount &c. B intrans Allow of (an excuse &c), admit, allow for, take into consideration, provide for allowable, adj [1 ələuəbl; 2 ələuəbl]. allow & -able Of such a character that it can be allowed, permissible, lawful allowably, adv. Prec. & -ly. In a manner that may be allowed, permissibly allowance (I), n [1 ələuəns; 2 ələuəns], fr O Fr alouance. See allow & -ance. 1 The act of allowing, permission, (rare in this sense) 2 Something which is allowed, a fixed quantity or ration of anything which is periodically served out, e.g. of food, money &c, specif, periodical payment of money to a person 3 A Deduction, discount an allowance for cash on a bill, b the taking into account of extenuating circumstances to make allowance for his youth allowance (II), vb trans, fr prec. To put (persons) on an allowance of money, food &c, to assign definite amounts of food or money &c, at fixed and regularly recurring periods alloy (I), n [1 ələi; 2 ələi]. O Fr alei, aloi, fr alever, 'combine', fr Lat alligare, 'bind'. See ligature. 1 Combination, mixture, fusion, of two or more metals 2 The standard of purity of gold or silver 3 A Base metal mixed with precious one, b (fig) something bad combined, mingled, with something superior pleasure without alloy alloy (II), vb trans, fr prec. 1 To reduce the purity of a metal by mixing it with a baser metal 2 To mix (metals) 3 (fig) To debase, impair, detract from the value of

All Saints' Day, n. Festival in honour of all the Saints, Nov 1st, All Hallows

All Souls, n. The faithful departed, often used as a title of dedication of a church &c

All Souls' Day, n. Nov 2nd, a day on which prayer is offered, esp in RC Ch, for the souls of the faithful departed allspice, n [1 ɔlspɪs; 2 əlspɪs], fr all & spice. A highly pungent West Indian spice, Pimenta pimenta, supposed to combine the flavour of several different condiments allude, vb intrans [1 əlud; 2 əlud]. fr Lat alludere 'to play with, joke, to refer to', fr ad- & ludere, 'to play a game, frisk'. See further under ludicrous. Followed by to a refer to in speech or writing, b (often with idea of furtiveness) to refer to indirectly, covertly to hint at, c to mean, intend to say when I say a hero, I allude to my friend opposite allure, vb trans [1 əlɜr; əlɜr; 2 əlɜr əlɜr]. fr O Fr alleurer. See ad- & luro. To draw on, tempt, by a lure, to entice, win over, to attract, charm (often in a bad sense) allurement, n [1 əlɜrmənt; 2 əlɜrmənt]. Prec. & -ment. That which allures, enticement, attraction, fascination, often in bad sense the allurements of the wicked world alluring, adj [1 əlɜrɪŋ; 2 əlɜrɪŋ], fr Pies Part of allure, Attractive, enticing, tempting alluringly, adv. Prec. & -ly. In an alluring, enticing, manner allusion, n [1 əlʒʒən; 2 əlʒʒən], fr Lat allusio (em), fr allus (um), PP type of alludere, see allude, & -ion. A reference to, in speech or writing, whether direct or indirect and covert allusive, adj [1 əlʒʒv; 2 əlʒʒv]. fr base seen in prec & -ive. 1 Containing an allusion (to), full of allusions. 2 (her) Allusive arms, canting arms, q.v.

allusively, adv. Prec. & -ly. By way of allusion, by implication or suggestion allusiveness, n. See prec & -ness. The quality of being allusive alluvial, adj, [1 əlʒʒvɪəl; 2 əlʒʒvɪəl]. See next word & -al. Relating to, composed of, alluvium, of soil washed from one place and deposited in another by flowing water alluvion, n [1 əlʒʒvɪən; 2 əlʒʒvɪən]. Fr alluvion, fr Lat alluvio (em), lit 'an overflow, inundation', also 'alluvial land', fr alluere, 'to wash against', fr ad- & luere, 'to wash', cogn also w Lat lavare & lavere, Gk lōō, 'wash'. See lave. Addition to land bordering on sea or river caused by gradual silt up of soil, new land formed in this way alluvium, n [1 əlʒʒvɪəm; 2 əlʒʒvɪəm]. Lat, neut of adj alluvius. See alluvion (geol) Matter derived from natural waste of rocks, carried away by running water, and gradually deposited in some other place, there forming new soil ally (I), vb trans [1 əli; 2 əli]. fr O Fr aler, fr allier, 'to join, unite', fr Lat alligare, fr ad- & ligare, 'to bind'. See alliance & ligature. 1 To combine, unite, bind together, esp of individuals and families by marriage, of states by treaty, and of political parties, (gen used in the pass or reflex, followed by with) to ally oneself with (a family or party), England and France were allied in the Great War 2. (in pass) To be allied to, closely connected, by common descent or strong resemblance, having similar character or constituents English is nearly allied to Dutch; physical disease and insanity are often allied, coal is chemically allied to the diamond ally (II), n, fr prec. A state united with another by agreement or treaty, for political or warlike objects, b an individual who co-operates with, supports, helps, another, in a particular work, for common object, supporter, friend ally (III), alley, n [1 əli; 2 əli]. Prob an abbr form of alabaster. A large, choice marble or taw, used in playing marbles almagest, n [1 ɔlməʒest; 2 əlməʒest]. Fr, fr Arab al majisti, 'the greatest work', fr Arah al, 'the', & Gk megiste, fem sing of megistos, 'greatest', superl of megas, 'great'. See mega-. The name given by the Arabs to their translation of the great astronomical work of Ptolemy of Alexandria, hence later applied to other astronomical and astrological treatises

Alma Mater, n [1 ɔlma mətər; 2 əlma mətər]. Lat, 'fostering mother' Alma, -a, -um is connected w vb alo, 'rear, nourish, support'. See further adult, adolescent, aliment, old. Applied to the university, college, or school at which a person has been educated.

almanac, n [1 ɔlmanək; 2 əlmanək]. Low Lat, also in Fr, Span, & Ital. Origin unknown. Last or table of days, months of the year, together with astronomical data, and indications of feasts, holidays &c. See calendar almandine, n [1 ɔlməndɪn; 2 əlməndɪn]. For earlier alabandine, fr Lat alabandina, name of gem stone found at Alaband, in Asia Minor A deep red variety of garnet, the noble or precious garnet, known as carbuncle when out en cabochon almighty, adj & n [1 ɔl'mɪtɪ, 2 ɔl'maɪtɪ] O E almihtig, almihlig See all, adv, & mighty 1 adj All-powerful, omnipotent 2 n The Almighty, God almond, n [1 ɔl'mʌnd, 2 ɔl'mænd], fr O Fr amande, fr amande, Ital amondola, fr Lat omygdolo, Gk omugdalē, 'an almond', etymols proposed are not satisfactory, the word is prob a foreign loan into Gk Agreeably flavoured kernel of the stone-fruit of the almond tree, allied to the peach and plum, eaten as a nut, the fruit itself is not edible almond-eyed, adj Having long, almond-shaped eyes, esp of Mongolian type almoner, n [1 ɔl'mʊnər, 2 ɔl'mənə] O Fr oumoner, fr Low Lat almosinarius, eleemosynarius See alms Official distributor of alms, esp in Royal Household Lord High, Hereditary Grand, Almoner almoury, n [1 ɔl'mʊrɪ, 2 ɔl'mʊrɪ] Fr oumonerie See poor word Official residence of almoner, place where alms are distributed almost, adv [1 ɔl'mɒst, 2 ɔl'mʊst] O E callmest See all & most, adv Nearly, all but alms, n [1 ɔl'mz, 2 ɔl'mz] O E ælmyssa, fr Lat eleemosyna, fr Gk eleēmosynē, 'mercy, alms' Cp eleos, 'pity, mercy, compassion', eleēō, 'pity, show mercy upon' The etymol of these Gk words is unknown Money given in charity for relief of the poor, specif, money given in obure for charitable and religious purposes almsfolk, n [1 ɔl'mz'fɒk, 2 ɔl'mz'fɒk] Persons living on alms (arohaio) almsgiver, n [1 ɔl'mz'gɪvər, 2 ɔl'mz'gɪvə] One who gives money &c for charitable purposes almsgiving, n [1 ɔl'mz'gɪvɪŋ, 2 ɔl'mz'gɪvɪŋ] Act and practice of giving money for charity almshouse, n [1 ɔl'mz'həʊs, 2 ɔl'mz'həʊs] A house endowed by private charity for the housing and maintenance of a certain number of aged or disabled poor almsman, n [1 ɔl'mz'mən, 2 ɔl'mz'mən] A person supported by charity almug, n [1 ɔl'mʌŋ, 2 ɔl'mag] Name of a tree and its wood, probably sandal-wood, referred to in 1 Kings x 11, 12 Also algun alnage, n [1 ɔl'nɪ, 2 ɔl'nɪdʒ], fr O Fr alnage, fr alme, ell, & ee-age (hist) Measurement and inspection of woollen cloth by the ell alnager, n [1 ɔl'nɪjər, 2 ɔl'nɪdʒə] Prec & -er (hist) Official charged with the inspection and measurement of woollen cloth aloe, n [1 ɔl'ə, 2 ɔl'əʊ], fr Lat aloe, Gk alōē 1 (bot) A genus of succulent plants, with spikes of red or yellow flowers and fleshy leaves yielding a bitter juice, the American aloe, the agave, q v, or century plant 2 (med, pl) A purgative drug obtained from the bitter resinous juice of aloe leaves aloetic, adj & n [1 ɔl'əɪtɪk, 2 ɔl'əʊɪtɪk] Cp Fr alodique See prec & -ic adj Containing aloe, of the nature of aloe, b n, a medicine containing aloe aloft, adv [1 ɔl'ɔft, 2 ɔl'ɔft], fr Scand, for lofte, 'in the air', cogn w O E lyft, 'air' See loft & lift On high, high up, specif (nant) at the mast head, up among the rigging, overboard, hence (fig and colloq) in Heaven, to Heaven to go aloft, to die alone, adj (following the n) [1 ɔl'ə, 2 ɔl'əʊ], fr all & one, the latter in O E sense of 'alone, sole' a By oneself, apart from others, exclusive of others, solitary to be, live, alone, all, quite, alone, b only, exclusively, solely I alone know the story Phrs to let, leave alone, refrain from interfering with, let alone that, not to mention along, adv & prep [1 ɔl'ɒŋ, 2 ɔl'ɒŋ] O E andlang, 'continuous', ME anlong See long (I) And-, 'facing, against', is found in OHG, Goth, & other Gmc languages It is further cogn w Lat ante, 'before', Gk anti, 'over against, opposite' See ante, anti- 1 adv a On, onward, forward, away from present position to go along, to get along, go, get, away from here (colloq), b along with, in company with, together with come along (with me), c (of time) throughout whole duration, all the time, in Phr all along I knew it all along 2 prep (expressing movement and position) By or through the length, from one end of anything towards the other end (or any part of the length) of, opposed to across along the road, the river alongshore, adv [1 ɔl'ɒŋʃɔr, 2 ɔl'ɒŋʃ] In the water near or by the shore alongside, adv & prep [1 ɔl'ɒŋsaɪd, 2 ɔl'ɒŋsaɪd] 1 adv By the side, esp (naut) a (of small boat) close to the side of larger ship, b (of ship) close to side of dock or landing-place 2 prep Alongside of, by the side of, side by side with to sit, walk, alongside of aloo, adv & prep adj [1 ɔl'ɒf, 2 ɔl'ɒf] Lat 'on the loof' Formed fr Du loef, a naut word, q v under loof, with a-, on anal of ofoof, oground &c At a distance, apart, away (lit and fig) to stand aloof, hold aloof from &c (Sometimes used as prep adj, esp in moral sense) aloofness, n Prec & -ness The state of being aloof (lit and fig) alopecia, n [1 ɔl'ɒpɪsɪə, 2 ɔl'ɒpɪsɪə], fr Gk alopēia, 'mange of foxes, bald patch on head', fr alōpēx, apparently cogn w Scrt lōpāś, 'fox' The medical term for baldness aloud, adv [1 ɔl'əʊd, 2 ɔl'əʊd], formed fr a- (as though fr on) on anal of abed, ahead & other advs, & loud (ht) In a loud manner Loudly, with some resonance of voice, so as to be generally audible, not whispered or smothered to speak, read, laugh, aloud aloo, adv [1 ɔl'ə, 2 ɔl'əʊ] See a- for on, & low (III) (naut) In a lower part of a vessel, below alp, n [1 ɔl'p, 2 ɔl'p] Fr, fr Lat alpēs, pl 'alps', Celt word, prob cogn w Lat albus, 'white' See alb A high mountain, specif pl the Alps, the lofty mountain ranges of Switzerland, France, and N Italy, note that in the Swiss valleys alp (in Tirol, alm) is used of a summer mountain pasture below snow level alpaca, n [1 ɔl'paka, 2 ɔl'paka] Span, fr Arab ol-, 'the', & Peruv paco, name of animal 1 A kind of llama found in Peru having long woolly hair, b the wool of this animal 2 Very thin, light cloth made from the wool of this animal, often mixed with silk or cotton, much cloth sold as alpaca is made from mohair with silk or cotton admixtures alpenstock, n [1 ɔl'pɛnstɒk, 2 ɔl'pɛnstɒk] Germ Lat 'Alp stick' A long staff with an iron point used in climbing mountains, esp in Switzerland alpha, n [1 ɔl'fə, 2 ɔl'fə] Gk alpha, Heb aleph 1 The first letter in the Greek alphabet, hence, the first or the beginning the Alpha and Omega, the beginning and end 2 In astronomy and other scientific terminology, the first of a series, as Alpha Centauri, the first, brightest star in that constellation, Alpha rays &c alphabet, n [1 ɔl'fabet, 2 ɔl'fabet], fr Gk alpha & bēta, the first two letters of the Greek alphabet A Whole series of letters used in writing a language, generally arranged and learnt in a particular order, b (fig) the elements of any study alphabetic(al), adj [1 ɔl'fabetɪk(l), 2 ɔl'fabetɪk(l)], fr prec & adj suffix -ic & -al Connected with the alphabet, esp alphabetic(al) order, arranged according to usual order of the letters alphabetically, adv Prec & -ly In the order in which the letters of the alphabet are arranged

Alpine, adj [1 ɔl'pɪn, 2 ɔl'pɪn], fr Lat Alpinus, 'of or belonging to the Alps', fr Alpēs, 'the Alps' See alp 1 Of or pertaining to the Alps or any high mountains, belonging to lofty regions Alpine flora, Alpine snous &c 2 Like the Alps, lofty Alpine heights

Alpinist, n [1 ɔl'pɪnɪst, 2 ɔl'pɪnɪst] Prec & -ist One who climbs the Alps or other high mountains, one skilled in mountain climbing already, adv [1 ɔl'reɪdɪ, 2 ɔl'reɪdɪ] See all, adv, & ready Prior to a specified time (past, present, or future), beforehand, previously, by this time alright Wrong form of all right See all, adv

Alsacia, n [1 ɔl'sæʃɪə, 2 ɔl'sæʃɪə] Low Lat name of Fr Alsace, Germ Elsass 1 Name of an old French province lying between France and Germany, on the border of Switzerland, long a 'debatable ground' or 'no man's land' 2 a (hist) A district, in Whitefrans, between Fleet Street and the Thames, in London, which during the 16th and 17th cents was a recognized 'sanctuary' for debtors and criminals till 1697 'With his bravoes of Alsacia and his pages of Whitehall' (Macanlay), b any asylum or refuge

Alsatian, adj & n [1 ɔl'sæʃɪən, 2 ɔl'sæʃɪən] Prec & -an 1 adj Of, pertaining to, Alsace or its inhabitants 2 n A An inhabitant of Alsace, b an Alsatian dog

Alsatian dog, n A large breed of sheep dog, bred originally in Alsace, having a distinct strain of wolf also, adv & conj [1 ɔl'səʊ, 2 ɔl'səʊ] O E ol(l) suā, 'likewise, just as, as' See all & so In like manner, in addition, besides, as well alt, n [1 ɔl't, 2 ɔl't], fr Lat altus, 'high, lofty, tall, shrill' (of the voice) The word orig meant 'well nourished', hence 'fully grown, tall', & is connected w vb ole, 'nourish', q v under adult, adolescent, & old (mus) First octave of musical notes above treble staff C in alt altar, n [1 ɔl'tər, 2 ɔl'tə] Already in O E, fr L Lat altare, allāre, allārum, Lat allōria (only in pl), (1) 'things pertaining to the altar, that which was placed upon the altar for burning of victim', (2) 'a high altar' (poet), fr alta ara, 'a high altar' For altus, -a, op alt Ar (earlier āso) is an altar, prob orig one for burning sacrifices Some connect the word w Lat oreo, 'become dry, parched', & ardus, 'dry', ardeo, 'burn', fr base ās-*, 'burn', as in Scrt dasā, 'ash' (cp ash (I)) Others consider the fundamental meaning of āra to be 'mound, shelf of rock', & cp Gk ἄλσῆ, fr ḱsōn*, 'sea-bank, river-bank, beach' 1 A raised structure or block, of stone or wood, with a flat top, upon which sacrifices were offered to a deity 2 (in Christian Church) Stone structure upon which the sacrifice of the Mass is offered, Communion Table Phr to lead (a bride) to the altar, to marry altar-cloth, n Cloth of silk, linen &c, often richly embroidered and embossed, which hangs down from top and covers front of altar in Christian churches altar-piece, n Ornamental carving behind and above altar, reredos altar-rail, n Railing fencing off altar and steps leading to it from the rest of the chancel, flat top to this, upon which communicants may lean in kneeling or rising altar-tomb, n Tomb built in form of an altar altazimuth, n [1 ɔl'tæzmʌθ, 2 ɔl'tæzmʌθ] Combination of altitude & azimuth An astronomical instrument attached to a telescope for observing simultaneously the altitude and azimuth of a star and thus fixing its exact apparent position alter, vb trans & intrans [1 ɔl'tər, 2 ɔl'tə], fr Fr alterer, fr Low Lat alterare, 'to change', fr Lat alter, 'the other (of two)' The last word is prob fr same base as alius, 'another' (see alias, alibi), & suff tero*, identical w that of compar, & here (in alter) limiting the choice to one of two Cp -ther 1 trans a To change in some respect, to make different, to vary to alter one's course, one's mode of life &c, b to modify (a decree &c), alter a house, change style of architecture, disposition and size of rooms &c, alter clothes, make them fit better, adapt for different purpose &c 2 intrans To become different, to change, vary, specif (of persons) to change for the worse in appearance, show signs of age or illness alterability, n [1 álterabiliti, 2 álterabiliti] See next word & -ity Capacity for being altered or of altering alterable, adj [1 álterabil, 2 álterabil] fr alter & -able Capable of being altered alteration, n [1 álteracashun, 2 álteracashun] See alter & -ation A act of altering any thing, b condition of being altered, change alternative, adj & n [1 álterativ, 2 álterativ] See alter & -ative 1 adj Liable to, causing, change 2 n (med) Medicine or treatment which produces certain changes in the system altercate, vb intrans [1 álterekát, 2 álterekát] fr Lat altercari, altercatus, 'to wrangle, quarrel, with another', fr alter, 'another' See alter (rarely used) To contend in words, to dispute, wrangle (with) altercation, n [1 álterekashun, 2 álterekashun] fr Lat altercation (em), 'a wrangling, dispute', see prec & -ion A wordy contest, a hot dispute, noisy wrangle alter ego, n [1 álteregó, 2 álteregó] Lat, lit 'other I' One's other self, an intimate friend who is constantly with one and who shares one's tastes and thoughts alternant, adj [1 álternant, 2 álternant] fr Lat alternans (em), Pres Part type of alternare See alternare (of geol structure) Composed of alternating layers alternate (L), vb trans & intrans [1 álternat, 2 álternat] fr Lat alternat (um), PP type of alternare, 'to do first one thing then another', fr alternus, 'every other, alternate', fr alter, 'the other (of two)' See alter 1 trans To carry out, or cause to happen, two actions severally, by turns to alternate weakness with severity 2 intrans a (of two events) To happen successively, first one, then another good harvests alternate with bad, hope and fear alternate in my breast, b (of electrical current) to change direction and reverse periodically alternate (II), adj [1 álternat, 2 álternat] Lat alternatus See prec Occurring by turns, in time or position each alternate day, Shakespeare's sonnets have twelve lines with rhymes in alternate lines, and o' rhyming couplet at the end alternately, adv Prec & -ly In alternate order or succession alternating, adj [1 álternátung, 2 álternátung] fr Pres Part of alternare (I) Changing in turns or in succession, specif, alternating current, electric current which passes through a repeated cycle of changes of magnitude and direction at regular intervals alternation, n [1 álternacashun, 2 álternacashun] Aot of alternating, state of being alternate alternative, adj & n [1 álternatív, 2 álternatív] fr Med Lat alternativus See alternate (I) & -ive 1 adj Offering choice of two things, (less correctly) of several 2 n A Choice (limited to one) between two possible things, or lines of action, b (less correctly) choice of one among more than two things, or lines of action alternatively, adv Prec & -ly In an alternative manner with the choice of two things alt-horn, n, fr alt & horn (mus) A brass wind instrument used in military bands See saxhorn

although, conj [1 álwídhó, 2 álwídhó] fr all, adv, & though Though, notwithstanding, in spite of the fact that altigraph, n [1 áltígráf, 2 áltígráf] fr altitude & -graph A form of aneroid barometer which automatically records on a chart altitudes reached, as in flying altimeter, n [1 áltímetr, 2 áltímetr] altitude & -meter An aneroid barometer with dial marked in meters or feet, recording the altitude reached, as in flying altitude, n [1 áltítűd, 2 áltítűd] fr Lat altitudo, fr altus, 'high' See alt 1 a Height of objects from bottom to top (not applicable to that of human beings), b height above sea level, c high place, region (esp in pl) 2 Specif (astron) angular height in degrees of a star above the astronomical horizon alto, n [1 áltó, 2 áltó] Ital, fr Lat altus, 'high' See alt (mus) 1 a Highest male voice, counter tenor, now, the lowest female, or boy's, voice, contralto, b the part in a score taken by this voice 2 An alto singer altogether, adv [1 áltótogedhor, 2 áltótogedhor] See all, together A Wholly, completely, totally, entirely altogether bad, b all things considered, on the whole altogether, I'm not sorry I stayed after all alto-relievo or alto-relievo, n [1 áltó relévo, 2 áltó relévo] Ital (r), 'in high relief' See alt & relief (II), n (sculpt) High relief, a term designating that kind of sculpture in which the figures project from their background by more than half their thickness, and in which the limbs and head are often entirely detached from background, contrasted with bas relief altruism, n [1 áltroizm, 2 áltroizm] fr Fr altruisme, O Fr altru, Mod Fr altru, & -ism, fr Lat alter hinc, 'to this other' See alter The principle of putting the interests of others before one's own interests, unselfishness Converse of egoism altruist, n [1 áltroíst, 2 áltroíst] See prec & -ist One whose conduct is governed by what he conceives to be in the interest of others rather than of himself altruistic, adj [1 áltroístik, 2 áltroístik] Prec & -ic Regarding of others, unselfish altruistically, adv [1 áltroístikál, 2 áltroístikál] Prec & -al & -ly In an altruistic manner, unselfishly alum, n [1 álum, 2 álum] fr O Fr alum, Mod Fr olum, fr Lat alumen, prob cogn w Gmo alup*, 'beer', whence O E calu, see ale A chemical crystalline substance, the double sulphate of aluminum and potassium, used as a styptic and astringent, b (chem) any of a series of sulphates, including above, in which sodium, ammonium &c takes the place of potassium, and chromium or other metal that of aluminum alumina, n [1 álúmina, 2 álúmina] fr Lat alumen, alum (chem) A mineral earth, the oxide of aluminum aluminum, n [1 álúminum, 2 álúminum] See alum A white metal of remarkable lightness and malleability

alumnus, n, pl alumni [1 álumnus, f, 2 álumnus, o] Lat alumnus, 'a nursing, foster son, disciple', fr alere, 'to nourish' See adult & words there referred to One who has received his education at a given school, college, university, or other institution, a member of such institutions alveolar, adj [1 álvéolér, 2 álvéolér] See alveolus & -ar (anat) Of, pertaining to, or resembling, alveoli See alveolus (phon) Point alveolar consonants, those formed by point of tongue against the alveoli, or honeycomb structure just behind upper teeth alveolate, adj [1 álvéolat, 2 álvéolat] fr Lat alveolatus, fr alveolus (bot) Pitted with small cavities like a honeycomb alveolus, n, pl alveoli [1 álvéolus, i, 2 álvéolas, ai] Lat alveolus, dimin of alveus, 'a hollow, cavity' a (anat) A small hollow, esp the socket of a tooth, structure in roof of mouth just behind upper teeth, b (zool) a small cavity as in a shell, fossil, or coral, c a cell in a honeycomb always, adv [1 álwíró, 2 álwíró] See always (archaic or poet) Always always, adv [1 álwíwáz, 2 álwíwáz] O E calne weg, 'the whole way, always' The final s in present day form is that of an adv geot a At all times, over, continually, b on all occasions, invariably, uniformly, opposed to sometimes or occasionally alyssum, n [1 álsum, 2 álsum] fr Gk. alysson, name of a plant used to cure hiccup, fr a- (priv) & lysein, 'to hiccup', cogn w M H G sluc/en, 'to swallow' (hot) Genus of rock plants with hairy leaves and clusters of yellow or white flowers am, vh [1 om, m, 2 am, em, m] O E com, eam In Gmc this form is found only in O E, and in O N em, & Goth im, hut cp further Sert asm, Gk emi (for esm*), O Lot esum, Lat sum, O Slav esmi, Lith esmi, Ir am The final m is a survival of the ending mi, orig 1st pers proo 1st pers sing of vb be amadour, n [1 ámádó, 2 ámádó] Fr, fr Provenç, Port amador, fr Lat amator, 'lover', so called from the substance easily catching fire See amatory Spooky substance made from a species of fungus, used as tander amain, adv [1 amán, 2 amén] As though fr O E on magne, 'with force', on anal of asleep, ashore &c, 16th cent See a- & main (archaic and poet) Vigorously, violently, at full speed amalgam, n [1 ámalgám, 2 ámalgám] fr Fr amalgame, Mod Lat amalgama, prob fr Lat malagma, fr Gk molagma, 'a soft mass', fr malassó, 'I make soft', fr malalos, 'soft' The base mal* is found in other forms in Lat molles, 'soft', molère, 'grind in a mill', mulcäre, 'heat', mulcäre, 'stroke, touch gently' See emulsion, mill, molar, meal (I) A mixture of a metal or metals with mercury, b any loose combination or mixture of different substances, also fig amalgamate, vh trans & intrans [1 ámálgamat, 2 ámálgamat] Prec & -ate A trans 1 To form an amalgam of (metals) 2 (hy trans and fig) To combine, consolidate to amalgamate companies, businesses, interests &c B intrans 1 (of metals) To combine in an amalgam 2 (by trans and fig, of persons, classes, ideas &c) To mix, unite, to blend satisfactorily, agree amalgamation, n [1 ámálgamáshun, 2 ámálgamáshun] See prec & -ion 1 The mixing or blending of different groups of human beings, races, societies &c, the union of two or more bodies into one amalgamation of railway companies, businesses &c 2 The act of mixing or compounding mercury with another metal amalgamative, adj [1 ámálgamatív, 2 ámálgamatív] See amalgamate & -ive Inclined, tending, to amalgamate

amanuensis, n [1 amanuensis, 2 amanuensis] Lat, 'clerk, secretary', a(b) manu, 'from, by, the hand', & adj suff entis See manual Person employed to write what another dictates or copy what he has written, a literary assistant, secretary amaranth, n [1 amaránt, 2 amaránt] Gk omorontos, 'unfading', fr a-, 'not', & maronó, 'put out, quench, waste away' (th is due to confusion w Gk onchos, 'flower'), cp Lat marcere, 'wither, droop, fade', Goth ga margyan, 'shorten', fr wh base comes also O E myrre, myrr, 'pleasant, delightful', org 'transitory, lasting but a short time' See merry 1 Poetical name of an imaginary flower supposed never to fade 2 (bot) A genus of annual plants with richly coloured flowers (esp purple or crimson), including 'Love lies bleeding' amaranthine, adj [1 ámáranthin, 2 ámáranthin] fr prec & -ine Of or pertaining to amaranth a Unfading, undying 'Tis hers to pluck the amaranthine flower of Faith' (Wordsworth), b of a purple colour amaryllis, n [1 amarillus, 2 amarillus] Lat, fr Gk Amarillus, the name of a country girl in Theocritus and Virgil 1 (poet) Conventional name for a maiden in pastoral poetry Cp 'To sport with Amaryllis in the shade' (Milton, 'Lyonesse'). 2 (hort) A family of bulbous plants amass, vb trans [1 amās, 2 amās], fr Fr amasser, fr Low Lat amassare, fr Lat ad- & massa, 'a lump, mass' See mass To pile up, heap together, accumulate (esp riches, treasure(s) &c) amateur, n [1 amateur, amateur, 2 amateur, amateur] Fr, 'one who is fond of something', fr Lat amator (-em), 'a lover', fr amare, 'to love' See amative, amatory A One who pursues any form of study, art, sport &c from a natural love of it, not to make money, b (in disparaging sense) one who lacks complete knowledge of a subject, or skill in a pursuit, through insufficient training and practice a mere amateur Opposed to professional amateurish, adj [1 amateurish, 2 amateurish] Prec & -ish Like, after the manner of, an amateur, like the works of one, hence, betraying lack of skill and practice (of persons), not well done, clumsy &c (of work) amateurishly, adv Prec & -ly In an amateurish manner amateurishness, n See prec & -ness Lack of skill and practice amateurism, n [1 amateurism, 2 amateurism] amateur & -ism Amateurishness

Amati, n [1 amati, 2 amati] Violin made at Cremona in 16th or 17th cent. by member of the Amati family of violin-makers amative, adj [1 amativ, 2 amativ] Fr amativ, fr Lat amatus, P.P. of amare, 'to love', & -ivus, see -ive The origin of this base is very uncertain, Walde compares amita, 'father's sister' (see aunt), & thinks the starting point was a childish word of endearment a Pertaining to love, b inclined, disposed, to love, amatory amateness, n Prec & -ness Propensity to be affected by feeling for the opposite sex amatol, n [1 amatol, 2 amatol] Combination of ammonium & toluene A high explosive, a mixture of ammonium, nitrate, and trinitrotoluene amatory, adj [1 amatori, 2 amatori] fr Lat amatorius, fr amator, 'lover', fr amare, 'to love' See amative Pertaining to, inducing, love for opposite sex amaurosis, n [1 amaurosis, 2 amaurosis] Gk, fr amauros, 'dark, dim, faint', prob fr a-, 'without', & stem mar-*, seen in marmarizein, 'to shine, glimmer', see marble, & -osis (pathol) Partial or total decay or loss of sight, due to disease of the optic nerve, without change in the external eye amaze (I), vb trans [1 amāz, 2 amāz], OE amasian See maze To fill with astonishment, to surprise, astound amaze (II), n (poet) Amazement, bewilderment amazed, adj [1 amāzd, 2 amāzd], fr P.P. of amaze (I) Filled with astonishment, astounded amazedly, adv [1 amāzdh, 2 amāzdh] Prec & -ly In an amazed, astounded manner, with astonishment amazement, n [1 amāzdhnes, 2 amāzdhnes] See prec & -ness Astonishment, surprise amazement, n [1 amāzment, 2 amāzment] amaze & -ment The condition of mind produced by something unexpected, wonder, astonishment amazing, adj [1 amāzing, 2 amāzing], fr Pres Part of amaze (I) Causing amazement, wonderful, surprising amazingly, adv Prec & -ly To an extent, in a manner, which causes amazement

Amazon, n [1 amazon, 2 amazon] Gk Amazon A foreign word, but derived by Greeks by popular etymol fr a-, 'without', & maros, 'breast', the Amazons being supposed to cut off a breast to facilitate use of the bow, masōs, another dialect form of the word, means 'hillock' as well as 'breast' The ultimate connexions are doubtful, some authorities connect the base w words meaning 'flowing', others w those meaning 'fat, plump', others again w supposed cognates meaning 'nourishment', see Boisacq, under madān 1 Female warrior belonging to fabulous race in Scythia 2 A tall, strong woman of masculine habits and mind

Amazonian, adj. [1 amazonian, 2 amazonian] Prec & -ian Of, pertaining to, or like an Amazon, war-like, of masculine manners amazonite, n [1 amazonite, 2 amazonite], fr river Amazon & -ite A semi-precious stone of a bright green colour, also called Amazon stone ambages, n [1 ambāgēs, 2 ambāgēs] Lat, 'roundabout way', also 'shuffling, quibbling, ambiguity', fr ambi, 'about', & base ag-*, 'go, drive' See ambi- & agent (now chiefly in fig sense) Roundabout way of speaking or acting ambagious, adj [1 ambāgus, 2 ambāgus], fr prec & -ous Roundabout, circuitous (fig, more rarely lit) ambassador, n [1 ambāsader; 2 ambāsader], fr Fr ambassadeur, fr Ital ambasciatore, cp Low Lat ambasiare, 'relate, announce', also ambactus, 'vassal depending upon a lord' This is believed to be a Celt word, containing base ag-*, common to Lat & Celt, meaning 'drive' &c (cp agent), the pref. being ambi-, 'about' The word is also borrowed in Goth andbahts, 'servant', andbahts, 'service' 1 A messenger, herald, bringer of news an ambassador of peace 2 An agent or intermediary to act as another's ambassador in a negotiation 3 Specif, an official of highest rank, employed by the supreme power in a state to represent it abroad, esp at a foreign court, and to transact diplomatic business between the two countries ambassadorial, adj [1 ambasadorial, 2 ambasadorial], fr prec & adj suff. -al Of, connected with, an ambassador ambassador, n [1 ambasades, 2 ambasades], fr prec & -ess a The wife of an ambassador, b female employed as intermediary in a negotiation amber, n & adj [1 āmbēr, 2 āmbēr], fr Fr ambre, Ital ambra, Span ambar, fr Arab alambār, 'ambergris' 1 n Hard, pearly yellow, transparent fossil resin found upon certain seashores 2 adj Having colour of amber The word originally referred to ambergris, q.v.

ambergris, n [1 āmbēgrīs, 2 āmbēgrīs], fr Fr ambre gris, 'grey amber' Substance of wax like consistency found floating in tropical seas, used in perfumery, a secretion of sperm whales ambi-, pref representing a Lat ambi, 'about, around', cogn w Gk amphō, O.S. & O.H.G. amphō, O.E. ymb, (emb), 'around', b Lat ambō, 'both', cogn w Gk. amphō The forms are cogn ambidexter, n [1 āmbidēkster, 2 āmbidēkster], fr Lat ambo, 'both', see ambi-, b, & dexter, 'right hand' See ambidextrous A person who can use both hands with equal facility ambidexterity, n [1 āmbidēksteria, 2 āmbidēksteria] Prec & -ity See ambidextrous The faculty of using both hands equally well ambidextrous, adj [1 āmbidēkstrus, 2 āmbidēkstrus] See ambi- & dextrous Capable of using both hands with equal facility and skill, esp able to perform with left hand acts usually performed only with right ambidextrously, adv Prec & -ly With both hands equally well ambidextrousness, n See prec & -ness Ambidexterity ambient, adj [1 āmbient, 2 āmbient] Lat ambient (em), 'going round', Pres Part of ambire, 'to surround', fr ambi, 'around', & ire, 'to go' See ambi- & itinerant Surrounding, encompassing ambiguity, n [1 āmbiguitas, 2 āmbiguitas], fr Lat ambiguitas (em), 'double meaning', fr ambiguus See ambiguous The quality or state of being ambiguous, double meaning, hence obscurity, lack of clearness ambiguous, adj [1 āmbigūus, 2 āmbigūus], fr Lat ambiguus, 'shifting, changeable, doubtful', fr ambi-, 'about', & agere, 'to go', see agent, & -ous The first element may be used in sense of 'in two directions' Cp, however, Lat ambigere, 'wander about, go around' Doubtful, obscure, liable to be understood in more than one way, equivocal (of a statement, style &c.) ambiguously, adv Prec & -ly In an ambiguous manner ambiguouslyness, n See prec & -ness Ambiguity ambit, n. [1 āmbit, 2 āmbit] Lat ambitus, 'a going round, circuit' See ambient Circuit, compass, sphere, scope, extent ambition, n [1 āmbitiō, 2 āmbitiō] Lat ambitiō (em), 'a going round of candidates canvassing for office', hence 'a seeking after fame', fr ambire See ambitious 1 Strong desire for success in a worldly matters, e.g. personal distinction, prosperity, advancement, b in accomplishment of aspirations and ideals 2 The object of such desires and aspirations ambitious, adj. [1 āmbitiōus, 2 āmbitiōus] fr Lat ambitiōus, 'going about in order to solicit', hence 'obsequious, anxious to please, fond of display, ostentatious' See ambition & -ous 1 (of persons) a Possessing ambition, anxious to attain success, fame, distinction, power &c, filled with inordinate desire for these, b desiring strongly, eager for, (followed by of before n) ambitious of wealth, power &c 2 (of human action, works, ideas) Characterized by, showing, arising out of, ambition, hence aspiring an ambitious attempt, conception, scheme &c ambitiously, adv. Prec. & -ly In an ambitious manner ambitiousness, n See prec & -ness. Ambition amble (I), vb, intrans [1 āmbli, 2 āmbli], fr O Fr ambler, Lat ambulare, 'to go about, walk', fr amb, 'about' (cp ambi-), & a base found also in Gk. ol-ē, 'ceaseless roaming', al aomai, 'wander about', al olēs, 'vagabond' See alley (I) A To move at an easy, unhurried pace (of horse), b (of persons) to move in a way resembling this pace, esp to amble along, about amble (II), n, fr prec A Pace of horse when it ambles, b of persons who walk in manner resembling such pace ambling, adj [1 āmbhng, 2 āmbhng], fr Pres Part of amble (I) Moving at an easy, unhurried pace ambling trot amblyopia, n [1 āmbliōpia, 2 āmbliōpia] Gk, fr amblyos, 'dull, blunt, dim', cogn w malalōs, 'soft', see malaco-, & ops, 'eye', see optic (pathol) A weakening, gradual impairment of eyesight, the incipient stage of amaurosis, q.v.

ambo, n [1 āmhō, 2 āmbow] Low Lat, fr Gk ambōn, 'a ridge, raised place', later 'pulpit'; usually derived fr anabainem, 'to go up, ascend', but more prob cogn w Lat umbo, 'boss', see omphalo-, umbilicus, & navel (eccles archt) A large, ornamental reading desk, in Romanesque and Byzantine churches, from which the Epistles and Gospel are read and sermons preached amboyna, amboyna (wood), n [1 āmbōina (wood), 2 āmbōina (wood)], fr Amboyna, one of the Molucca Islands Finely grained wood from tree growing in Amboyna ambrosia, n [1 āmbrosia, 2 āmbrosia] Gk ambrosia, fr ambrosios, 'immortal', fr a-, 'not', & brōds, 'mortal', fr mbrods*, wh stands for mrotos* & is cogn w Lat mortem &c, 'death' Cp. Sert amrtas, 'immortal'.

See mortal (III), & murder 1 (Gk mythol) The food of the gods 2 (fig) Anything having a delicious taste ambrosial, adj [1 ambrósiál, 2 ambróziál], fr prec & -al Pertaining to, resembling, ambrosia in taste, therefore delicious, also (poet) fragrant ambrosial locks ambry, ambury, n [1 ámbri, ámburi, 2 ambri, úmbri], earlier form of mary, hence often taken to be a contraction of almosny, more prob fr O Fr almare*, fr ormore, Mod Fr ormore, 'cupboard', fr Med Lat armámo, 'bookcase, cupboard', armárium, 'armoury', fr Lat armo, 'arms, tools, implements' See arm (II) 1 (arohau) A cupboard, repository 2 (speci coeles) A closed recess or small alcove, usually on the north side of the chancel in a church, in which were kept the Eucharistic vessels or the reserved Sacrament ambry-ace, n [1. ámbz ás, 2 ámbz eis] O Fr ambry as, Lat ambas, 'both', & os See ace Double aces, the lowest throw at dice ambulance, n [1 ámbuláns, 2 ámbuláns] Fr, fr Lat ambulare, 'to walk', & -anco See amble 1 A moving hospital attached to an army in the field, organization for giving first aid, and for conveying sick or injured people to hospital 2 A vehicle for conveying wounded from battle, one for carrying sick or injured people to hospital ambulatory (I), adj [1 ámbulátr, 2 ámbulátr] Lat ambulatorius, 'movable', fr ambulat (um), PP of ambulare, 'to walk', see amble (I), & -ory A connected with walking, b movable ambulatory (II), n (archit) A covered way in which to walk, as a cloister, or arcade, esp a processional way round the eastern end of a cathedral behind the high altar ambuscade (I), n [1 ámbuskád, 2 ámbuskád] Fr ambuscade, Span emboscada See ambush (mil) A concealment of troops in a secret place for the purpose of a surprise attack, b place where such troops be concealed, c trap laid for enemy, an ambush ambuscade (II), vb trans & intrans 1 To conceal troops in ambush, 2 To attack from a hidden place or ambush ambush (I), vb trans [1 ámbush, 2 ámbush] Earlier embush, O Fr embuscher, fr Low Lat imboscure, lit 'to set in a bush' See boscage, bush a To place troops in hiding, or in ambush for surprise attack, b to surprise, and attack from an ambush ambush (II), n, fr prec A arrangement of troops in concealed position for surprise attack, b body of troops so concealed, c place in which troops are concealed ameer, amir, n [1 amér, 2 amir] Arab, 'commander, nobleman, prince' See emir Title adopted by various Mohammedan rulers, esp those of Afghanistan and Bokhara ameliorate, vb trans & intrans [1 ameliyurát, 2 ameliyurát] Fr ameliorer, Lat ad- & melior, 'better', & at, on anal of many vbs in 1st conjug The base mel-* has sense of 'strong, great, good', cp Gk mala, adv, 'very, very much, quite', maleros, 'very strong', also malos, 'soft, feeble, lit, 'not strong' (a = 'not') Another form of same base is seen in Lat. multus, 'many' See multi- a trans To make better, improve, b in trans, to become better amelioration, n [1 ameliyuráshun, 2 ameliyuráshun] See prec & -ion a Act of making better, b state of being improved, c improvement, betterment ameliorative, adj [1 ameliyurátiv, 2 ameliyurátiv] See ameliorate & -ive Tending, conducing, to improvement amen, interj & n [1 ámen, áhmén, 2 ámen, áhmén] Gk amén, 'verily', fr Heb, the root meaning being 'strength, stability' a interj So be it! Phr to say amen to, be in agreement with, b as n, the word itself uttered at end of a prayer &c to sing the amen amenability, n [1 aménabíliti, 2 aménabíliti] See next word & -ity Condition of being amenable (in various senses) amenable, adj [1 aménabl, 2 aménabl], fr Fr amener, 'lead hung up to', & -able 1 ho Fr vb is fr Low Lat amindre, fr o- 'to', & minäre, 'lead, conduct', also 'drive out, chase', Lat minäre, 'to threaten' See monaco, mnatory 1 Liable to be called to account, answerable, responsible, (followed by to, or absol) amenable to justice 2 a Tractable, submissive, willing to yield, (followed by to, or absol) amenable to discipline, b capable of being won over by, responsive to amenable to flattery amenableness, n Preco & -ness Quality or condition of being amenable amenablely, adv See prec & -ly In an amenable manner, agreeably to, in accordance with amenablely to the rules amend, vb trans & intrans [1 aménd, 2 aménd] Fr amender, fr Lat emendäre, 'to free from faults', fr ē, 'out, out of', & mendum, 'error, blunder', cp also menāda, 'defect, blemish', these words are cogn w Sert mund, 'bodily defect' Cp emend A trans 1 To correct, free from faults or error, improprio to amend one's life, conduct &c 2 To alter wording of a bill before Parliament, or of a motion before a legislative or administrative body, so as to render it more generally acceptable B intrans To reform oneself, improve in conduct, behave better amendment, n [1 améndment, 2 améndment] Preco & -ment 1 Improvement, reform, of life and conduct 2 Alteration of text of legislative measure, specif, alteration of words proposed at meeting of legislative body, instead of those standing in text as first presented, conator proposal brought forward at a public discussion of measures to move, propose, second, an amendment amends, n pl [1 améndz, 2 améndz] Fr omende, 'a fine' See amend Reparation, compensation, made in consideration of a loss, injury, insult, inflicted to make amends amenty, n [1 améntu, 2 améntu] Fr omente, Lat amentäl (am), 'delightfulness, a pleasure', fr omente, 'pleasant, charming' Connected w omäre, 'love' See amative Quality of delightfulness, agreeableness, a (in places, buildings) arising from beauty of site, pleasantness of climate, suitability of design &c, b (in persons) attractiveness due to urbane and courteous manners, gentleness of disposition &c ament, n [1 áment, 2 áment], fr Lat amentum, amentum, 'thong, strap', prob fr amentum*, fr base seen in apere*, 'to bind', see apt (bot) The drooping, downy flower spike or inflorescence of the willow, hazel &c, catkin amentaceous, adj [1 ámentásus, 2 ámentásus] Preco & -aceous (bot) a Like, formed of, aments or catkins, b amentiferous amentiferous, adj [1 ámentíferus, 2 ámentíferus] See prec & -iferous (bot) Bearing aments or catkins amercer, vb trans [1 amérz, 2 amérz] M.E. amerchen, 'to fine', A Fr amercher, fr Low Lat amerciare, 'to fine', formed fr a, 'to, at', & mercere, 'pay, salary, reward, cost, retribution, punishment' Cp further Lat merc, 'goods, wares', mercari, 'to trade', the base is possibly connected w O.H.G. marah, O.E. meath, 'mare' For transference of meaning cp fee See mercy To fine, more generally, to punish amercement, n [1 ámercément, 2 ámercément], fr prec & -ment A infliction of a fine by a court, b the fine or penalty imposed amerciable, adj [1 amérçíabl, 2 amérçíabl] See amercer & -able Liable to infliction of amercement American, adj & n [1 améríkan, 2 améríkan], fr America, fr Amerigo (Amerigo) Vespucci, & -an 1 adj a Of, pertaining to, the continent of America, North, Central, and South American Indian &c, b of, pertaining to, the United States of America American politics, the American navy &c 2 n a An aboriginal inhabitant of America, Amerindian, b citizen of the United States of America, c inhabitant of South or Central America, of European descent Latin or Spanish American American cloth, n A textile fabric, of cotton or linen, with a surface imitating leather Americanism, n [1 améríkanizm, 2 améríkanizm] American & -ism Peculiarity, esp of pronunciation, idiom, vocabulary, manners &c, common to Americans, c of the United States, or derived through American influence Americanize, vb trans [1 améríkaníz, 2 améríkaníz] See prec & -ize (of speech, manners, ideas &c) To mould or modify according to American (U.S.A.) models and practices Amerindian, n [1 amerindian, 2 amerindian] American & Indian (ethnol) A member of the native, aboriginal races of North, Central, or South America amethyst, n [1 ámístust, 2 amístust], fr Gk amethystos, 'a remedy against drunkenness', fr a-, neg, & melhuin, 'to be drunken', melhuin, 'drunkenness' &c, the stone amethyst was supposed to have the power of preventing intoxication, the above Gk words are fr Gk melhu, 'wine', see methy & mead (I) A precious stone, usually of a purple colour amethystine, adj [1 ámístistin, 2 amístistin] Preco & -ine Made of, resembling, amethyst, esp in colour amiability, n [1 ámiabíliti, 2 ámiabíliti] See amiable & -ity The quality of being amiable amiable, adj [1 ámiabl, 2 ámiabl] O Fr amiable, fr Lat amicabilis, 'friendly', see amicable Exhibiting, and evoking, affection, lovable, pleasant, affable (of persons and manners), good natured, of such a character as facilitates easy and agreeable social intercourse, ingratiating, friendly amiably, adv Preco & -ly In an amiable or pleasant manner (of behaviour, mode of address &c) to speak, behave, amiably amianthus, n [1 ámianthus, 2 ámianthus] Corrupt of Gk amosmos, 'undefiled, pure', fr o- (priv) & miamein, 'to stain' (see masma), the word was applied specif to a greenish stone A fine variety of asbestos, with long, silky fibres amicability, n [1 ámikabíliti, 2 ámikabíliti] See next word & -ity Quality of being amicable amicable, adj [1 ámikabl, 2 ámikabl] Lat amicabilis, 'friendly', fr amicus, 'friend', fr amäre, 'to love' See amative Friendly, peaceful, carried out in friendly spirit an amicable meeting, settlement amicableness, n Preco & -ness Friendliness, goodwill amicably, adv See prec & -ly In an amicable manner amice (I), n [1 ámis, 2 ámis] M.E. amysse, O Fr omis, omit, fr Lat amicus, 'mantle, cloak', fr PP of omicare, 'wrap, throw around', fr amb, 'around', & jacere, 'throw, fling' See ambr & jactitation (cooles) Vestment worn by the celebrant at the Mass, consisting of a square piece of white linen placed round the neck and shoulders amice (II), n Often confused with above, fr O Fr amuce, Low Lat almuco Origin unknown Fur lined hood worn formerly by the clergy and by pilgrims amid, amidst, prep [1 amid(st), 2 amid(st)] O.E. form on middan, 'in the middle', M.E. on midden, midde(n), whence amid, or w common advbl (gent) a, amides &c The final t is due to a common tendency of pronunciation (cp against) and has no functional significance See a- & mid. In, or into, the middle of, surrounded by historical event, b event or thing which is, or would be, incompatible or out of keeping with, incongruous in, the period at which it happens or exists, or is alleged to have happened or existed anachronistic, adj [1 anākronistik, 2 anākronistik] Characterized by, involving, anachronism anaclastic, adj [1 anaklastik, 2 anēklastik] fr Gk anaklastos, 'bent back, refracted', fr ana- & klastos, 'breaking', connected w klastos, 'to break', fr further Gk klastos, 'fragile', & Lat clades, 'disaster, calamity' See also variants & cognates of same base under halt (1), 'lame', & (opt) Produced by the refraction of light anacoluthon, n, pl anacolutha [1 anākōluthon, -tha, 2 anākōluthōn, -pā] Gk, 'inconsequent', fr an-, 'not', & akolouthos, 'following, agreeing with', the adj is fr syn-, 'one' (wh base see under simple), & Gk keleuthos, 'road, path, track', w wh op Lat callis, 'mountain track', Lith kėlėnys, 'I travel', remoter connection w Goth klaupjan, O E hlēpan, 'leap', is possible See leap & op acolyte Defect of style, consisting in ill constructed sentence in which the syntax of second part is not in agreement with that of first part, lack of grammatical sequence anaconda, n [1 anākōnda, 2 anēkōnda] Perh Ceylonese 1 a Name originally given to a python of Ceylon, b hence, in popular language, any large snake which crushes its victim 2 (zool) A large water-snake, of the Boa family, of tropical S. America anacreontic, adj & n [1 anākriōntik, 2 anākriōntik] fr Anacreon, Gk lyrical poet, c 560 B.C. a adj (of poetry) Having lyrical character and manner of Anacreon's poems, b n (pl) lyrical poetry written in this style, celebrating love and wine anacrusis, n [1 anākriōsis, 2 anēkriōsis] Gk anākriōsis, 'a pushing back, cheeking', fr anākriōmēn, 'to thrust back, cheek', fr ana- & kriōmēn, 'to knock' Cp O Slav krušiti, 'snap off', Lith krušti, 'emash' (pros) Unstressed syllable(s) preceding stressed syllable in a verse which normally begins with a stress anadem, n [1 anādēm, 2 anēdēm] Gk anādēmā, 'a head band', fr ana dēō, 'bund, up, bund round', op Lat re dēmitre, 'bund, wreath round', Sort dāma, 'bond' See diadem Garland, chaplet, wreath anadromous, adj [1 anadrōmōs, 2 anēdrōmōs] fr Gk anadrōmos, 'running up ward' See ana- & first element of dromedary (of fish) Going up rivers from sea to spawn, e.g. the salmon anaemia, n [1 anēmīa, 2 anēmīa] Gk anēmīa, 'bloodlessness', fr an-, 'without', see an-, & haima, 'blood', fr haima* Cp O N hūnange seinir, O H G seinir, 'virgin honey' See also haemal (med) Deficiency of blood, or unhealthy condition of this, generally indicated by pallor of complexion anaemic, adj [1 anēmik, 2 anēmik] fr ana- & -ic Pertaining to, associated with, disease of anaemia, bloodless Anaemic-looking, pallid anaerobic, adj [1 anērōbik, 2 anērōbik] fr Gk an-, 'not', & ēr, 'air', see air, & bios, 'life', see biology Capable of living without air, esp. of bacteria which do not require oxygen for their existence anaesthesia, n [1 anēsthēsia, 2 anēsthēsia] Gk, 'insensibility', an- (priv), see an-, & sthēsis, 'perception by the senses, feeling', fr sthēnanomai, 'I feel' See aesthete General or local insensibility, usually caused by disease, drugs, or specific by anaesthetics anaesthetic, n & adj [1 anēsthētik, 2 anēsthētik] fr Gk anēsthēlos, 'without feeling, unfelt' See pre- & -ic (med) 1 n Substance which induces local or general insensibility, such as chloroform or ether, commonly used during surgical operations 2 adj Having property of producing insensibility anaesthetist, n [1 anēsthētist, 2 anēsthētist] See pre- & -ist Medical attendant whose duty it is to administer anaesthetics during surgical operations anaesthetize, vb trans [1 anēsthētiz, 2 anēsthētiz] See anaesthetic & -ize To administer anaesthetics to, render insensible by administering anaesthetics anaglyph, n [1 anaglif, 2 anaglif] Gk anaglyphon, 'sculptured in relief', fr ana- & gluphein, 'hollow out, engrave', cogn w Lat glūbere, 'deprive of bark, peel', O S khoban, O E clifan, O H G khoban, 'split, cleave' Cp also Germ Luft, Engl cleft See cleave Embossed ornament, sculptured in low relief, such as a cameo anagogic(al), adj [1 anagōgik(l), 2 anagōgik(l)] See anagogy & -ic & -al Of, pertaining to, using anagogy, mystical, spiritual, allegorical anagogy, n [1 anagōgē, 2 anagōgē] fr Gk anagōgē, 'a leading up', fr ana-, 'up', & agēn, 'to lead' See agōn A mystical, spiritual, or allegorical interpretation of the Scriptures, esp. of the Old Testament anagram, n [1 anagram, 2 anagram] fr Gk ana, 'back', see ana-, & gramma, 'a written character, a letter' See grammar New phrase or word made out of a phrase or word by transposing the letters anagrammatical, adj [1 anagrammatik, 2 anagrammatik] See ana- & grammatical Arranged as, containing an anagram anagrammatically, adv Pre- & -ly By means of, as an anagram anal, adj [1 anal, 2 anal] See anus & -al (anat) Connected with the anus analekts, analekts, n pl [1 analekts, analekts, 2 analekts, analekts] Gk analekta, 'things gathered up, chosen', fr ana-, & hase leg*, 'choose, pick out', op Gk legein, 'speak', earlier, 'choose words' See lecture Collection of literary fragments analeptic, adj & n [1 analeptik, 2 analeptik] fr Gk analeptikos, 'restorative', fr analembanēn, 'to take up, restore' See ana- & cataplexy (med) 1 adj Restorative, invigorating, tonic, of medicines & 2 n A restorative medicine, a tonic analgesia, n [1 analgēsia, 2 analgēsia] Gk, 'want of feeling', fr ana- & algos, 'pain', see -algia a Absence of pain, b (med) diminution or loss of the sense of pain, local insensibility to pain analgesic, adj & n [1 analgēsik, 2 analgēsik] Pre- & -ic 1 adj Producing analgesia, diminishing, stopping pain 2 n Drug & which effects this, an anodyne analogical, adj [1 analogik, 2 analogik] See analogy & -ic & -al Resulting from, based upon, analogy analogist, n [1 analogist, 2 analogist] See analogy & -ist One who uses or reasons by analogy analogize, vb trans & intrans [1 analogiz, 2 analogiz] See pre- & -ize 1 trans To explain, represent, by analogy 2 intrans a To use analogies, b to reason, argue, by analogy analogous, adj [1 analogos, 2 analogos] See analogy & -ous Comparable, corresponding, similar to analogously, adv Pre- & -ly By analogy analogue, n [1 analog, 2 analog] Fr, fr Gk analogon, noun adj, 'according to due ratio or proportion' See next word That which corresponds to, or is compared with, something else analogy, n [1 analogi, 2 analogi] Fr analogie, Gk analogia, 'proportion' See ana-, & logos, 'lecture for base, *log-, *leg- 1 (gen sense) Partial resemblance or agreement between two things, esp. those points of agreement upon which a comparison between two things is based there is a certain analogy between the functions of a chairman and those of the Speaker of the House of Commons 2 Specif (philol) process whereby words and grammatical forms are built up on the model of others with which they have points of resemblance in meaning, grammatical function, or sound new forms are often constructed on the analogy of (by analogy with) words originally unrelated 3 (log) Form of reasoning whereby it is concluded that if two or more things agree in certain respects, they will probably do so in others also analphabetic, adj [1 analfahetik, 2 analfahetik] fr an- & alphabetic Expressing the sounds of speech by some other graphia means than by letters analyse, vb trans [1 analiz, 2 analiz] fr Fr analyser, fr analysis, ending confused w vb in -ize 1 To resolve, divide, any compound substance into the elements of which it is composed, specif a to discover constituent parts of (a compound) by chemical process, b (gram) to examine minutely the structure of (a sentence) and distinguish precise function of each word 2 (fig) To examine critically (a statement, argument &c), separate out, distinguish the true from the false, test the soundness of analysis, n [1 analisis, 2 analisis] fr Gk analusis, 'a loosing, releasing', fr ana- & lusis, 'a loosing', fr luen, 'to loose', cogn w loose 1 Separation, decomposition of any compound substance into its component parts (specif in chem) 2 (fig) A critical examination, testing, of an argument, statement &c, b parsing of a sentence analyst, n [1 analist, 2 analist] See pre- & -ist One who analyses, esp. one who applies chemical tests to discover constituent parts of substances, or to test their purity, an analytical chemist analytic(al), adj [1 analitik(l), 2 analitik(l)] fr Gk analoghōs See analysis & -ic (& -al) a Relating to, apt at, accustomed to carry out, analysis an analytic mind, analytical chemist, b (of languages), contrasted with inflectional, expressing grammatical relations by separate words instead of by inflections analytically, adv Pre- & -ly By analysis or analytical methods anamnesis, n [1 anamnēsis, 2 anamnēsis] Gk, 'recollection', fr ana- & root mnā*, of mimnēskō, 'to remember' See mnemonics Recollection, remembrance, esp. of events &c of a supposed previous existence anamorphosis, n [1 anamorfōsis, 2 anamorfōsis] Gk, fr anamorphōmēn, 'to change the form of, to transform', fr ana- & morphē, 'form, shape', see morphology 1 A distorted drawing or projection of an object, as seen in a reflection in a convex mirror &c, which assumes its proper shape when looked at from a certain angle or when reflected in such mirror 2 (biol) A gradual change in form, in the evolution of a type, not amounting to metamorphosis 3 (bot) An abnormal change or degeneration in form, giving the appearance of a different species, as in certain fungi &c ananas, n [1 anahnas, 2 anahnas] Span, fr Peruv nānas (rarely used) Pineapple anandrous, adj [1 anandrus, 2 anandrus] fr Gk anandros, 'husbandless, unmanly', fr an-, & andr (os), anēr, 'man' See androgynous (bot) Having no stamens

Ananias, n [1 anānias, 2 anānias] fr name of Biblical character. Acts v A liar (colloq and vulg) anapaest, n [1 anapēst, 2 anapēst] Lat anapaestus, fr Gk anapaistos, 'struck back, rebounding', fr ana- & paierō, 'to strike' See base paw* &c 'strike', under anapaest (pros) A reversed dactyl, i.e. a foot consisting of two short syllables followed by a long, or two unstressed syllables followed by a stressed, e.g. Engl overcome, to the grate anapaestic, adj [1 anapēstik, 2 anapēstik] Pre- & -ic Pertaining to, consisting of, anapaests anaphora, n [1 anāphōra, 2 anāphōra] Gk, fr ana- & phērein 'to bear' See -ferous & bear (1) a The Eucharistic service in the Greek Orthodox Church, b (rhet) a repetition of words or phrases at the beginning of a succession of clauses anaphrodisiac, adj & n [1 anafrodizial, 2 anafrodiziek] Gk an-, & aphrodisiakos, 'venereal', see aphrodisiac (med) 1 adj Tending to subdue or reduce sexual appetite 2 n A drug having this property anaphylaxis, n [1 anafilaksis, 2 anafilaksis] An invented word See ana- & prophylaxis (med) A term applied to an exaggerated susceptibility to a second injection of a protein substance, such as a serum, following a first injection, after a certain interval of time, also applied to the susceptibility of some people to illness after eating shell fish, raisins &c anarch, n [1 anark, 2 anark] Gk anarkhos, 'without a head or chief', fr an- & arkhos, 'leader, chief', cogn w Gk arkhē, 'beginning, origin' See arch- Leader in anarchy, one who excites lawlessness anarchic(al), adj [1 anarkik(l), 2 anarkik(l)] fr prec & -ic & -al Having character of anarchy anarchically, adv Prec & -ly In an anarchical manner anarchism, n [1 anarkizm, 2 anarkizm] fr anarchy & -ism Political theory on which anarchy is based, that organized government is an evil anarchist, n [1 anarkist, 2 anarkist] anarchy & -ist One who supports anarchy, one who practises or supports active political agitation to the point of terrorism anarchy, n [1 anarkia, 2 anarkia] Gk anarkhia, 'state of being without government', fr anarkhos See anarch 1 Political condition in which there is no government, no supreme power in the state, hence, absence of order, political and social confusion 2 (by extension) Absence of order and discipline generally, in any sphere, chaos anarthrous, adj [1 anarthrus, 2 anarthrus] fr Gk anarthros, 'without joints', fr an- & arthron, 'joint', see arthritic, & -ous 1 (Gk gram) Used without the article 2 (zool) Having no joints, unarticulated anasarca, n [1 anasarka, 2 anasarka] fr ana- & Gk sark (os), sarz, 'flesh' See earco- A diffused form of subcutaneous dropsy anastomose, vb intrans [1 anastomōs, 2 anastomōs] See next word To communicate, join by anastomosis anastomosis, n [1 anastomōsis, 2 anastomōsis] Gk fr anastomōs, 'to furnish with a mouth or opening', fr ana- & stoma, 'mouth' See stomach Intercommunication of branched vessels, as arteries, veins, of the veins or sap vessels of leaves of plants &c, or of channels of a river system, and the like anastomotic, adj [1 anastomotik, 2 anastomotik] See prec & -otic Pertaining to, exhibiting, joined by, anastomosis anathema, n [1 anáthema, 2 anáthema] Lat anathema, 'an excommunicated person, or the curse of excommunication', fr Gk anathema, orig 'a thing devoted', later, 'a thing devoted to evil, a thing accursed', variant of anathēma, 'a thing set up', fr anathēmē, 'I set up', fr ana- & thēmē, 'I place', for base of this vb see thesis (Gk), fact (Lat), do (Engl & Gmc) 1 A curse or ban pronounced with and by ecclesiastical authority, accompanied by excommunication 2 Strong imprecation, malediction, uttered by anyone 3 A person or thing against whom anathema, 1, is pronounced, b person who or thing which is heartily disliked, condemned, reprobated, for the combination Anathema Maranatha, 1 Cor xvi 22, see maranatha anathematization, n [1 anathematizashun, 2 anathematizashun] See next word & -ation Pronouncement of anathema against a person or thing, denunciation anathematize, vb trans [1 anathematiz, 2 anathematiz] fr Gk anathematizein See anathema & -ize To pronounce an anathema against, put under a ban, denounce anatomic(al), adj [1 anatōmik(l), 2 anatōmik(l)] Fr anatomique, Lat anatomicus, fr Gk anatomikōs, 'skilled in anatomy', See anatomy & -ic (& -al) Relating to, connected with, anatomy or dissection, or to the details of structure of the animal body anatomically, adv Prec & -ly From the point of view of anatomical science anatomist, n [1 anatōmist, 2 anatōmist] anatomy & -ist One skilled in, a student of, anatomical science, a dissector anatomize, vb trans [1 anatōmiz, 2 anatōmiz] See prec & -ize To dissect animal bodies in order to study their structure anatomy, n [1 anatōmi, 2 anatōmi] fr Fr anatomie, Lat anatomia, cp Gk anatomē, 'dissection', connected w anatomēnē, 'I cut up', fr ana- & temnēnē, 'out' Cp also Gk tomē, 'place from which something has been cut', tōmos, 'a cut slice', tōmos, adj, 'cutting, sharp', O Slav liti, 'to split', Ir lannaim, 'I mutilate' 1 Meaning originally dissection of bodies for the purpose of studying their structure, the word has come to mean a the art of dissection, b the science of animal (including human) structure, learnt from dissection, c the details of animal structure of which the science treats, d a treatise on anatomical science, or on the structure of particular animals (The word is also applied to the structure of plants, though less commonly) 2 A skeleton (popular and archaic), sometimes shortened to atomy, as though = 'anatomy' annatto, annatto, n [1 anātō, 2 anātō] prob a native name An orange red colouring matter, obtained from the seeds of a South American tree, Bixa orellana, used for colouring cheeses anbury, ambury, n. [1 ánberi, 2 ánberi] Etymol doubtful, prob fr OE ang, 'painful', see agnail, & berry A soft tumour or wart on a horse's or ox's neck, b a disease of cabbages, turnips, and other plants, affecting the roots, due to a slime fungus, also called club root, or finger and toe

-ance, suff [1 ans, 2 ans] fr O Fr ance, direct fr Lat antia, forming abstract ns of quality, action &c, fr Pres Part stems in ant Cp -ence ancestor, n [1 ánsester, 2 ánsester] O Fr ancestre, ancestor, Mod Fr ancêtre, fr Lat antecessor, 'predecessor', fr ante, before, & cess, P P type of cedere, 'go' See cede 1 One from whom a person is directly descended, whether on father's or mother's side, forebear, forefather. 2 (biol &c) Individual animal or plant from which later animals or plants are derived, progenitor 3 (law) Person from whom an estate is derived by legal succession, independent of whether he be the progenitor of the heir ancestral, adj [1 ánsestral, 2 ánsestral] fr O Fr ancestral See prec & -al Connected with, derived from, having character of, ancestors ancestral possessions, ancestral forms (of life &c) ancestry, n [1 ánsestri, 2 ánsestri] Cp O Fr ancestrerie See ancestor & -y Series of ancestors, lineage, descent anchor See antiar

anchor (I), n [1 ánker, 2 ánker] OE ancor, fr Lat ancora, Gk agkúra, 'an anchor', fr agkúra, a bend, cp agkúlos, 'crooked, curved', cogn w Lat uncus, 'hook' See uncial 1 Instrument for mooring ships and boats when floating in the water, consisting usually of a strong iron or steel bar having at one end curved arms with a fluke or hook at each extremity, which becomes embedded in sea or river bottom, and at the other end a ring to which a cable is attached that is fastened to the ship Phrs to cast anchor, let anchor down into sea from ship, weigh anchor, to haul anchor out of the sea, therefore (of ships) to start upon a voyage, to come to anchor, let anchor down into the sea, cease sailing, ride at anchor, be made fast to, and held safe by anchor 2 (fig) Anything which gives feeling of security from being fixed and steady

Sheet anchor, formerly name of largest type of anchor, now chiefly (fig) that upon which one mainly relies for support anchor (II), vb trans & intrans a trans To make a ship fast by letting down anchor anchor a ship in the bay, b intrans, to come to anchor anchorage, n [1 ánkerij, 2 ánkeridž] See anchor & -age Place suitable, specially prepared, for ships to anchor anchoress, n [1 ánkeres, 2 ánkeres] See anchoret & -ess Female recluse anchoret, anchorite, n [1 ánkeret, ánkerit, 2 ánkeret, ánkerait] The former is the more historical form, the latter that more commonly used now, fr Lat anchōrēta, Gk anakhōrētēs, fr anakhōrēō, 'I retire', fr ana- & khōrēō, 'give place, withdraw', cp khōros, 'room, free space', see chori- With this, Gk khēros, 'empty, deprived of', khērā, 'widow', khērōō, 'make desolate, widow' &c, are prob cogn, & further, Lat hēres, 'heir' See further under heir Person who renounces the world, esp for religious reasons, hermit, recluse anchovy, n [1 ánchovi, ánchovi, 2 ánčfavi, ánčfóvi] Span anchova Origin doubtful Small fish resembling herring in appearance, possessing very rich pungent flavour, much used in savouries and sauces anchusa, n [1 ánkúza, 2 ánkúza] popularly, [1 ánchúza, 2 ánčfúza] Lat anchúsa, fr Gk agkhoussa, 'plant whose root yields a red dye' (hort) Various species of plants of boraginaceae family, with prickly leaves and stems, cultivated for their graceful clusters of purple or bright blue blossom anchylosed, adj [1 ánkhlōzd, 2 ánkhlōuzd] As though P P of vb to anchylose, wh hardly exists See anchylosis Afflicted with anchylosis or stiffening of the joints anchylosis, n [1 ánkhlōsis, 2 ánkhlōsis] Gk, fr agkulos, 'crooked' See anchor, angle (I) Stiffening of the joints through formation of adhesions ancient (I), adj & n [1 ánshent, 2 énshent] fr Fr ancien, cp Span anciano, Ital anziano, fr Low Lat antihānus, 'old, former', fr Lat ante, 'before', the final t is moraic See ante- 1 adj Old, of long standing, having existed from times past (of persons and things, now chiefly of latter, application to persons being archaic or literary), specif (law) enjoyed without interruption for twenty years or more ancient lights, right to uninterrupted light to windows of house &c 2 n A n old man (archaic), b Ancient of Days, God, c in pl the ancients, those who lived in antiquity, specif, one of the classical writers ancient (II), n corrupt of ensign (archaic) a A standard, ensign, b bearer of a standard, ensign anciently, adv ancient (I) & -ly In times gone by, in ancient days, formerly ancientness, n See prec & -ness Antiquity ancillary, adj [1 ánslari, 2 ánslari] Lat ancillaris, 'relating to female servants', fr ancilla, 'maid-servant' Cp also Lat anculus, 'servant', both are dimin of a Sabine word ancus, 'servant', the earlier history of wh is obscure Subordinate, auxiliary ancipital, ancipitous, adj [1 ánspital, -us, 2 ánspital, -us] fr Lat anceps, ancipiti-, 'having two heads, double', fr an, for amb, see amb-, & base of caput, 'head' See capital & -al, -ous (bot) Of stems of certain grasses &c, having two edges, flattened, not rounded.

angle See ankle

ancon, n [1 ánkon, 2 ánkon] Lat, fr Gk agkon, 'a bend, elbow' See anchor (I) a (anat) The elbow, b (archit) a console bracket for supporting the cornice of a doorway

-ancy, suff [1 ansi, 2 ance, cp -ancy & see noting quality or state, of de-

and, conj [1 an(d), 2 ænd, ən(d)] O E and, O H G anti, enti, unt &c. Mod Germ und, the same element occurs in Gk anti, anta, 'opposite, over against', Lat ante, 'before, in front of, facing' (see ante-, anti-), the idea of 'opposite, over against' is still expressed in Germ particle ent- in entgegen, 'against, over against', in antworten, 'answer, give word for word', & in O E and-swerian, see answer. From the sense of opposing something else to what has been said comes finally the sense of addition, whence the copulative function arises, note that the final d of Engl and shows that the form arose in an unstressed position. The word serves as link joining parts of a sentence, and expresses an addition to what has already been expressed. It is equivalent to 'also', 'in addition', 'moreover' &c. b in order to, (colloq) after try, come, go try and do it, come and see, go and look at it andante, adv & n [1 ɛndəntə, 2 ɛndəntə] Ital, Pros Part of andare, 'to go', the etymol of wh is unknown (musical term) a adv (play) Slowly, b n, a slow movement andiron, n [1 ɛndɪrən, 2 ɛndɪrən] M E anderne, avundarne, avundyr(n) &c., O Fr andier, Mod Fr landier, fr l'andier, remoter history obscure, the latter part of Engl word has certainly been influenced by iron. Iron utensil consisting of an upright bar supported by two feet in front, and another bar at right angles to it supported by one foot, used for supporting burning logs on a flat, open hearth androecium, n [1 ɛndrɪsɪəm, 2 ɛndrɪsɪəm] Neo Lat, fr Gk andro-, 'male', see next word, & oikos, 'house'. See economy (bot) The stamens of a flower, taken collectively.

androgynous, adj [1 ɛndrɒɡɪnəs, ɪnəs, 2 ɛndrɒɡɪnəs, -dʒɪnəs] Gk androgynos, 'a man-woman, hermaphrodite', fr andr, andros, 'man', & gynē, 'woman'. See latter under gynaeco-, quean & queen. Gk andr is cogn w Lat (Sabius) nēria, 'bravery', & nērō, 'strong', cp further Sert naryas, 'virile', & O Ir nertam, 'I strengthen'. Unitng the characters of male and female, hermaphrodite, esp (bot) having stamens and pistils in the same flower androphobia, n [1 ɛndrɒfəʒiə, 2 ɛndrɒfəʒiə] Gk andro, fr andr, 'man' (see prec), & phobos, 'fear, flight'. See -phobia. Unhealthy dread of the male sex

-androus, suff [1 ɛndrəs, 2 ɛndrəs] fr Gk andro-, 'male', see androgynous, & -ous, used esp in botanical terminology to form compounds indicating presence of stamens

-ane, suff [1 ɛn, 2 ɛn] Variant form of -an, fr Lat -anus as a parallel form of an, often with differentiation of meaning, as human, humane, urban, urbane &c. b (chem) of the paraffin series of hydrocarbons methane & near, prep & adv [1 ɛnə, 2 ɛnə] a- & near (rare) Near anecdote, n [1 ɛnekɒdɒt, 2 ɛnekɒdɒtɪz] See anecdote & -age. A collection of anecdotes (rare), b (facet) tunc of life at which trivial anecdotes form staple of a person's conversation (Formed jocosely, fr dotage) anecdotal, adj [1 ɛnekɒdɒtəl, 2 ɛnekɒdɒtəl] See next word & -al. Concerned with, teeming with, anecdotes anecdotes, n [1 ɛnekɒdɒt, 2 ɛnekɒdɒt] Fr, fr Gk anekdota, 'unpublished things', fr an- & ekdota, fr ekdidomi, 'I give out', ek, 'out', & didomi, 'I give', redupl form of base dō*, 'give'. See donation for other Aryan cognates. Account of an isolated event, a biographical detail, trivial story anale, vb trans [1 ɛnəl, 2 ɛnəl] M E anelen, 'anoint with oil', fr O E an & ele, 'oil', loan-word fr Lat oleum. See oil (archaic or obs) Lat to put oil upon, that is, specif, to administer Extreme Unction to Cp 'Hamlet' unhousel'd, unanel'd anemometer, n [1 ɛnemɒmɪtər, 2 ɛnemɒmɪtə] Gk anemos, 'wind', see anemone, & meter. Gauge for measuring speed of wind anemone, n [1 ɛnəmən, 2 ɛnəmən] Gk anēmōnē, the wind-flower, lit 'daughter of the wind', fr anemos, 'wind', & -ōnē, fem patronymic suff, Lat animus, 'soul' &c. & Goth us anan, 'breathe out', are cognates. See animus. 1 (bot) White, star shaped, woodland flower, the woodflower, Anemone nemorosa, also in other many-coloured wild and cultivated species. 2 (zool) Sea-anemone anent, prep [1 ɛnɛnt, 2 ɛnɛnt] O E on efen, onemn, 'near to, close by', M E anen, onēnt, anentis &c., 'near to, against', the final t is excrement, fr an-, on-, & efen, emn, 'even, equal'. The compound is an old one, & first of all, expressed physical propinquity, cp O H G inēben, nēben, Mod Germ nēben, 'near, by the side of', O S on eban. The first sense was 'on a level with'. See on & even (II) (rare and obsolete) a With regard to, about, concerning, b over against, near

-aneous, suff [1 ɛneəs, 2 ɛneəs] fr Lat adj in -aneus. See -an & -ous

aneroïd, adj & n [1 ɛnerɔɪd, 2 ɛnerɔɪd] Fr aneroïde, Gk an, 'not', see an-, & nēros, nāros, 'flowing, liquid', & -oid, nāros is connected w vb naein, 'flow, water'. See further under neroid. a adj Dry, containing no liquid mercury (of a kind of barometer), b n, barometer of this kind, in which the air-pressure acts on the elastic lid of a container from which most of the air has been exhausted aneurism, n [1 ɛnʊrɪzəm, 2 ɛnʊrɪzəm] fr Gk aneurismos, 'dilatation', fr ana & euriā, 'wide', cogo w Sert urūā, 'wide' (med) Pathological distension of the walls of an artery anew, adv [1 ɛnə, 2 ɛnə] fr a-, unstressed form of of, & new. Afresh, again, once more anfractuosity, n [1 ɛnfræktʊəsi, 2 ɛnfræktʊəsi] Fr anfractuositē, Lat anfractus, 'curving, circuitous route', (fig) 'proximity in speech', fr an-, for ambi-, and see fracture. Circuitousness (lit and fig) angary, n [1 ɛngəri, 2 ɛngəri] fr Fr angarie, fr Med Lat angaria, 'compulsory service, especially for the Imperial post', fr Gk aggaresa, 'office of a courier', fr aggaros, 'courier'. See angel (internat law) In French, droit d'angarie, the right of a state at war to seize and use the property of an enemy or neutral on belligerent territory for its own military purposes, or to prevent its use by the enemy angel, n [1 ɛnʃl, 2 ɛnʃl] fr Lat angelus, fr Gk aggelos, 'a messenger', cp aggello, 'I announce'. The word, in the form engel, was borrowed fr Lat in the O E period, but the Mod Engl form is not derived direct fr this, as the vowel of the first syll shows, vb presupposes a M E angel, a form undervivable fr the O E form, it is possible that Fr ange may have influenced the first vowel in the M E form, & that the rest of the word is fr the O E type. The Gk word is cogn w Gk aggaros, 'Persian messenger', see prec word, & w Sert aggarat, 'divine being'. See evangel. 1 a Supernatural, celestial being, endowed with immortality, and greater than human powers and intelligence, messenger from God to man, b guardian spirit, spiritual protector. Phrs to rush in where angels fear to tread, interfere foolishly and presumptuously in what does not concern one, c to entertain angels unwares, not to appreciate fully the merits or importance of one's company. 2 (fig) Human being of either sex of great beauty or goodness (esp of beautiful children, and of women who are both good and lovely). 3 Formerly the name of an English gold coin worth about ten shillings, from its bearing figure of St Michael angel-fish, n A fish, Angulus squatinus, a kind of ray or skate, allied to the sharks, with wing-like pectoral fins angelic, adj [1 ɛnʃlɪk, 2 ɛnʃlɪk] angel & -ic. a Like an angel in appearance or character, appearing at once beautiful and benign an angelic expression of countenance, b coming from, belonging to, angel or angels angelic voices angelica, n [1 ɛnʃlɪkə, 2 ɛnʃlɪkə] fr Med Lat angelica herba, 'the angelic herb', fr its medicinal properties. a Pungent herb used for flavouring, also formerly in medicine, b sweetmeat made from root of this plant candied angelical, adj [1 ɛnʃlɪkəl, 2 ɛnʃlɪkəl] angelic & -al. Chiefly in Angelical doctor, St Thomas Aquinas angelically, adv Prec & -ly. After the manner of an angel to behave angelically angel lights, n Prob corrupt of 'aogle lights' (archit) The small lights on the outside at the top of a perpendicular window angelolatry, n [1 ɛnʃlələtri, 2 ɛnʃlələtri] See angel & -latry. Worship of angels angelus, n [1 ɛnʃlɪs, 2 ɛnʃlɪs] Devotion of the Roman Catholic Church which commemorates the Incarnation, so called from opening words, Angelus Domini nuntiavit Mariam, recited three times a day, at 6 a.m., noon, and 6 p.m. Angelus bell, one rung to announce the hour of the service anger (I), n [1 ɛngə, 2 ɛngə] M E anger, fr O N angr, 'affliction, sorrow', Goth aggwas, 'narrow', O H G angr, engr, O E eng, 'narrow, painful', are cogn, & outside Gmc, Lat angere, 'to throttle, to cause pain, to torment', Gk aglēhein, 'choke, throttle'. Rousing of wrathful passion, stirring of resentful displeasure and strong antagonism, by sense of injury or insult, wrath, indignation, rage, ire anger (II), vb trans, fr prec To rouse antagonistic, resentful emotion in a person, provoke anger, to incense he was greatly angered by his friend's ingratitude angina, n [1 ɛnjɪnə, ɛnjɪnə, 2 ɛndʒɪnə, ɛndʒɪnə] Lat angina, 'quinsy', cp angere, 'press tight, throttle' &c. Gk aglēhein, 'throttle' &c. fr same base as anger (med) Constriction and spasmodic affection of throat and chest, esp angina pectoris, spasmodic contraction of the great blood vessels of the heart anginal, adj [ɛnjɪnəl, 2 ɛndʒɪnəl] Prec & -al. Relating to, caused by, indicative of, angina angio-, pref, fr Gk aggelion, 'vessel, receptacle', dimin of aggos, 'chest, box', cogn w O Ir aien, 'dish'. Form used in making compound words, meaning contained in, covered by, a vessel, as seed- or blood-vessels angiosperm, n [1 ɛnjɒspɜrm, 2 ɛndʒɒspɜrm] angio- & sperm (bot) Any of a very large class or primary division of plants, including all flowering plants whose seeds are enclosed in an ovary, contrasted with gymnosperm angle (I), n [1 ɛngl, 2 ɛngl] Fr angle, fr Lat angulus, 'an angle, corner', cp Gk aghlōn, 'hind, angle'. See anchor & uncial. 1 (geom) Space near meeting-place of, and between two lines converging to a point. 2 The sharp corner of anything resembling or forming an angle in shape angle (II), n O E angel, also in other W Gmc languages, fr same base as above. Fish-hook, fishing tackle generally (archaic) angle (III), vb intrans, fr prec a To use an angle for fishing, to fish to angle for trout &c., b (fig) To use some device, trick, intrigue, to obtain one's ends, hold out cunning inducements to a person to do something to angle for promotion

Angle (IV), n Lat Angulus, fr Gmc angl-*, see English. Member of a Germanic tribe which settled in Northern, Eastern, & Central England angler, n [1 ɛnglɪ, 2 ɛnglɪ] fr angle (III) & -er. a One who angles, a fisherman, b species of fish which attracts smaller fish near its jaws by means of filaments attached to its head, which somewhat resemble the line and bait of a fisherman

Anglican, adj & n [1 ɛnglɪkən, 2 ɛnglɪkən] Med Lat Anglicanus, 'English', fr Anglicus, 'English', fr Anglus, see Anglo (IV) a adj. Belonging to, connected with, the Church of England, b n, a member of the Church of England

Anglicanism, n [1 ángghkanizm, 2 ángghkanizm] Prec & -ism The theological principles and practice of the Church of England anglice, adv [1 ángghlis, 2 ángghlis] Lat In English anglicism, n [1 ángghsizm, 2 ángghsizm] See Anglican & -ism English principles, practice, custom, specif, English idiom wrongly introduced into another language anglicize, v trans [1 ángghsiz, 2 ángghsiz] See prec & -ize a To render (a person) English in character, habits, feelings, appearance &c. b to turn into English speech, or idiom angling, vbi n [1 ángghing, 2 ángghing] fr angle (III) Fishing, the art of the fisherman

Anglo- pref [1 ángghlō, 2 ángghlō], fr Angle (IV) Pertaining to the English, originating in England, eg Anglo Catholic, Anglo Indian, a British by birth, hnt living in India, b Eurasian anglomania, n [1 ángghlōmānia, 2 ángghlōmēnia] Anglo- & mania Exaggerated admiration for, and imitation of, English customs, institutions &c, esp on the part of foreigners anglophobia, n [1 ángghlōfōbia, 2 ángghlōfōbia] Anglo- & Gk phōbos, 'fear' See -phobia & -phobe (reverse of prec) Hatred or fear of all things English, of England, and the English

Anglo-Saxon, adj & n [1 ángghlō sáksun, 2 ángghlō sáksun] 1 adj a Pertaining to the Germanic tribes which settled in England in the fifth century Anglo Saxon institutions, b pertaining to the English race, of English birth or descent 2 n a Member of Anglo Saxon tribes, b language spoken in England before the Conquest, now usually called Old English angola, angora, n [1 ángghlōa, ángghlōa, 2 ángghlōa, ángghlōa] Later fr name of town in Asia Minor, former a substitution for the name A cloth made from hair of Angora goat or from some other soft fine wool resembling this angora cat, n One with long, silky fur angostura, adj [1 ángghlōstūra, 2 ángghlōstūra] fr place in Venezuela a Angostura bark, bark of South American tree having pungent taste, and used as tonic, b Angostura bitters, liquor used as appetizer made from above angrily, adv [1 ángghrli, 2 ángghrli], fr next word & -ly In an angry manner angry, adj [1 ángghri, 2 ángghri], fr anger & adj suff -y (The word expresses rather a passing mood than a permanent trait of character) a Filled with anger, stirred by wrathful passion, enraged angry (with a person) about, at (a thing), b (fig, of a wound or sore) inflamed angvine, adj [1 ángghwin, 2 ángghwin] Lat angvinus, fr anguis, 'a snake', cogn w Gk ekhis, viper' See echidna (rare) Snake like, serpentine anguish, n [1 ángghwish, 2 ángghwish] ME angwys &c, O Fr anguisse, Mod Fr angoisse, fr Lat angustia, 'narrowness, deficiency, perplexity', fr angustus, 'narrow, critical, difficult' &c, fr same base as in angina a Intense physical pain, bodily suffering, torment, agony, b (fig) acute mental and moral suffering, grief, anxiety anguish of body and mind angular, adj [1 ángghlār, 2 ángghlār], fr Lat angulus, fr angulus See angle (I) Having angles, sharp cornered (of persons) a Ganut, lacking in natural degree of plumpness, b cantankerous, inclined to quarrel, hard to get on with angularity, n [1 ángghlārīti, 2 ángghlārīti], fr prec & -ity Quality of being angular (lit and fig) angularly, adv [1 ángghlārli, 2 ángghlārli], fr angular & -ly With angles, in an angular manner angulate, adj [1 ángghlāt, 2 ángghlāt] See angle (I) & -ate Having angles in literal sense anhydrite, n [1 anhidrit, 2 anhidrit] See next word & -ite Anhydrous calcium sulphate anhydrous, adj [1 anhidros, 2 anhidros], fr Gk anhydros, 'waterless', fr an- & hudōr, 'water', see hydro- & -ous (chem and mineral) Of substances which have no water in their composition, esp of crystals which have lost the water of crystallization, as anhydrous calcium sulphate anigh, adv [1 anī, 2 anī] Modern formation on anal of afar &c See a- & nigh Near, nigh anights, usually o' nights, adv [1 anits, 2 anits] Adv fr nigh, w double formation, O E on nih(e), 'at night', with addition of advbi genit suff (archaic) At night, hy night, nightly anil, n [1 anil, 2 anil] Fr, fr Span, fr Arab, fr Sert nīla, 'dark blue' Shrub from which West Indian indigo is made anile, adj [1 anil, 2 anil] Lat anilis, fr anus, 'an old woman', cp O H G ana, 'great grandmother', ano, 'great grandfather', Mod Germ ahn, 'ancestors', also Mod Germ amme, 'nurse' Like an old woman, verging on imbecility aniline, n & adj [1 anilin, 2 anilin] See anil & -ine 1 n Chemical product used in manufacture of dyes, originally obtained from indigo, now chiefly from coal tar 2 adj Of, pertaining to, aniline aniline dyes &c anility, n [1 anilita, 2 anilita] See anile & -ity Condition of being anile, senility, dotage animadversion, n [1 animadvērshun, 2 animadvērshun] Lat animadversio (em), 'attention, inquiry, censure', fr animadvers (um), P P type of animadvertere, 'to notice, punish' See animadvert Depreciatory reference to, or remarks upon, blame (followed by on) animadversive, adj [1 animadvērsv, 2 animadvērsv] See prec & -ive Imputing blame, disparaging (Rare)

animadvert, v intrans [1 animadvért, 2 animadvért], fr Lat animadvertere, 'to notice', contracted fr animum advertere, fr animus, 'mind', & ad, 'to', & vertere, 'to turn' See animus & version To refer, allude to, comment upon (usually with implied disapproval), hence, to blame, censure animal (I), n [1 animal, 2 animal] Lat animal, 'a living being', fr animāle, 'of air, living', fr anima, 'air, breath, life', & adj suff ālis See animus & -al 1 Living creature possessing power of voluntary motion, as distinguished from, and contrasted with, plant, on one hand, and from man, human being, on the other Often also lower animals 2 A man of low type and character, a brutish, sensual human being animal (II), adj fr prec 1 Pertaining to living beings animal life, habits &c 2 Pertaining to lower nature and physical appetites of human beings, sensual, carnal man's animal nature, passions, desires &c animalcular, adj [1 animalkūlar, 2 animalkūlar], fr animalcule & -ar Pertaining to, of the nature of, an animalcule animalcule, n [1 animalkūl, 2 animalkūl] Low Lat animalculum, dimin of Lat animal See animal (I) Minute living creature, perceptible only by means of a microscope animalism, n [1 animalizm, 2 animalizm] animal & -ism. Animal character, lower nature, sensuality animalize, v trans [1 animaliz, 2 animaliz] animal & -ize To render like an animal, develop, emphasize, lower nature animate (I), v trans [1 animāt, 2 animēt] Lat animatus, P P of animare, 'to fill with breath or air', fr anima, 'air'

See animus & -ate To give life to, fill with life, enliven, inspire animate (II), adj, fr prec Living, organic, as distinct from lifeless and inorganic animate nature animated, adj [1 animāted, 2 animētid], fr P P of animate (I) a Full of life, lively, active, mobile, spirited, brisk, vivacious an animated gesture, conversation, expression, face &c, b inspired with or by, actuated, influenced animated by (or with) the highest motives &c animatedly, adv Prec & -ly In a lively, spirited manner animating, adj [1 animāting, 2 animēting], fr Pres Part of animate (I) Life giving, inspiring an animating impulse, motive &c animation, n [1 animāshun, 2 animēshun] animate (I) & -ion Life, liveliness, spirit, condition of being brisk, vivacious a face devoid of animation, a speech delivered with animation animism, n [1 animizm, 2 animizm], fr Lat animus, 'soul' See animus & -ism. Name given to various doctrines or theories concerning the soul, of which the chief are a Doctrine that the soul is the vital principle which produces all forms of organic life, b primitive religious belief found among many savage tribes, that all objects, even inanimate things, possess life and are endowed with souls, this belief has various developments and forms animist, n [1 animist, 2 animist] See prec & -ist One who holds any of the various forms of animism animosity, n [1 animōsiti, 2 animōsiti] Lat animōsitas (em), 'boldness, vehemence, enmity', fr animōsus, 'bold, spirited' fr animus, 'courage, spirit, passion' See animus & -ity Violent hatred, dislike, prejudice, often leading to outward expressions of hostility animus, n [1 animus, 2 animus] Lat, meaning 'spiritual principle of human life, rational soul, disposition, courage, pride, vehemence, wrath' The primitive sense, wh underlies the large group of words in Lat related to this, is found in anima, wh means 'air, breath, the breath, principle of animal life' (as distinct fr animus, 'living being'), outside Lat we have Gk anemos, 'wind' (see anemone), Goth us anan, 'breathe out', O E anda, 'malice, anger' &c, O N andi, ond, 'soul, spirit', O Slav conya, 'vapour, breath' 1 In English chiefly used in bad sense of animosity, prejudice, grudge to have, feel, show, (an) animus against a person 2 (specif, law) Intention, as in Lat Phrs animus furandi, of stealing, testandi, of making a will &c anise, n [1 anis, 2 anis] Fr anise, fr Lat anison, fr Gk anison, 'anise, dill', origin unknown Plant with pungent, aromatic seeds, used for flavouring and in manufacture of the liqueur anisette aniseed, n [1 anisēd, 2 anisēd] Seed of anise, used for flavouring cakes &c, also yielding an aromatic, carminative oil anisette, n [1 anisēt, 2 anisēt] Fr, dimin. of anise Sweet, strong flavoured liqueur made from aniseed aniso-, pref, fr Gk anisos, 'unequal', fr an-, neg pref, & isos, 'equal' See an- & iso-

Form used in making scientific terms, meaning 'unequal, dissimilar, unsymmetrical', as converse of those in iso- anker, n [1 ángker, 2 ángker] Dn & Germ, etymol doubtful, Low Lat ancera, 'leg, vat' a An old liquid measure for spirits, about 8½ imperial gallons, b keg containing such quantity ankh, n [1 ángk, 2 ángk] Egyptian The ancient Egyptian symbol of life, a tan cross or T, surmounted by an oval ankle, angle, n [1 ángkl, 2 ángkl] ME angle, prob Scand, cp Dn & Swed ankel, cogn w Lat angulus, 'angle, corner', Sert. agam, 'hmb' See further cognates under anchor, angle (I), uncial. a The joint in human beings which connects the foot with the leg, b slender part of the leg between this joint and the calf anklet, n [1 ɒŋklet, 2 ɒŋkɪt], fr preo & dimin suff -let Ring for the ankle, whether worn as ornament or as a fetter ankus, n [1 ɒŋkus, 2 ɒŋkəs] Hind An elephant goad, consisting of a pointed spike with hook attached, applied to the head by the mahout ankylosed See anchedylosed ankylostomiasis, n [1 ɒŋkɪləstɒmɪəˈsɪs, 2 ɒŋkɪləstɒmɪəˈsɪs], fr Gk agkulos, 'crooked', see anchor, & stoma, 'month', see stomach, & -iasis (pathol) Disease caused by the parasitic hookworm, characterized by great anaemia, esp affecting miners anlace, n [1 ɒnləs, 2 ɒnləs] Etymol unknown A short dagger with broad, tapering blade, formerly worn in the girdle anna, n [1 ɒnə, 2 ɒnə] Hind āna a An Indian monetary term, small copper coin; the sixteenth part of a rupee, b applied colloquially in India to persons of mixed blood to have so many annas of dark blood annalist, n [1 ɒnəlɪst, 2 ɒnəlɪt] See next word & -ist Writer of annals annals, n pl [1 ɒnəlz, 2 ɒnəlz] Fr annales, fr Lat annales (sc libri), 'chronicles, yearly records', pl of annālis, 'pertaining to a year', fr annus, 'year' See annual A Yearly record of events, yearly chronicle, historical records, history, b periodic publication containing record of progress of knowledge in science &c annates, n pl [1 ɒnəts, 2 ɒnəts] L Lat annāta, fr annus, 'year' See annual First-fruits of an ecclesiastical benefice, paid to the Pope in Roman Church anneal, vb trans [1 ɒniəl, 2 ɒniəl] OE an-ēlan, 'burn, kindle, inflame', ME anēlen, 'burn, melt', OE ēlan, fr aihan*, earlier aiþi-yan*, cogn w Lat aedes, 'hearth' &c, it belongs to group of words discussed under aedile, aestivate &c The ME & Mod Engl forms may have been influenced to some extent by O Fr neeler, 'coat with black enamel', fr Low Lat negellare, fr negellus, dimin of nyer, 'black' See under negro To temper glass or metals by subjecting them to heat, for purpose of reducing brittleness annelida, n [1 ɒnəlɪdə, 2 ɒnəlɪdə] Lat annelus, annelus, 'a little ring', dimin of anulus, & Gk eidos, 'form, shape' See annular & idol (zool) Division of segmented worms, so-called from their being formed, as it were, from a number of small rings annex (I), vb trans [1 ɒnɛks, 2 ɒnɛks] Lat annexus, PP of annectere, 'to bind to', fr ad- & nexus, 'bound', cp nexus 1 To add, join, attach, append to 2 Specif (of a state) to add territory or another smaller state to itself by bringing the former under its control and governance annex(e) (II), n [1 ɒnɛks, 2 ɒnɛks], fr preo or Fr annexe Something joined on, espent, a smaller building added to larger ones, either in actual communication with it or situated sufficiently near to provide extra accommodation for the inhabitants of main building, esp an annex(e) to a hotel annexation, n [1 ɒnɛkzəˈʃən, 2 ɒnɛkzəˈʃən] See annex (I) & -ation Act or process of taking over of extra territory, or another smaller state, by one which is more powerful, and placing it under the control of the latter annihilate, vb trans [1 ɒnɪlət, 2 ɒnɪlət], fr Lat annihilat (um), PP type of annihilare, fr ad- & nihil, 'nothing' See nil, nuhlist To bring to nothing, demolish, destroy utterly annihilation, n [1 ɒnɪləˈʃən, 2 ɒnɪləˈʃən] See preo & -ion Destruction, complete demolition anniversary, n & adj [1 ɒnɪˈvɛrsəri, 2 ɒnɪˈvɛrsəri] Lat anniversārius, 'yearly', fr annus, 'year', & vertere, versum, 'to turn' See annual & version 1 n a The day of the year on which an event happened or is celebrated, b the yearly celebration of an event 2 adj Belonging to an anniversary

Anno Domini, adv [1 ɒnɒ dɒmɪni, 2 ɒnɒ dɒmɪni] Lat in the year of our Lord, 10 of Christian era, usually in abbreviation A n annotate, vb trans [1 ɒnəˈtæt, 2 ɒnəˈtæt], fr Lat annotat (um), annotare, 'to note down', fr ad- & notare, 'to mark, note', see note (I) To supply explanatory notes or commentary to a document, esp to literary text or treatise annotated, adj [1 ɒnəˈtætɪd, 2 ɒnəˈtætɪd], fr PP of preo Containing, supplied with, explanatory notes *an annotated edition annotation, n [1 ɒnəˈtʃən, 2 ɒnəˈtʃən] See annotate & -ion Act of annotating, note(s) supplied to a text by way of explanation or commentary annotator, n [1 ɒnəˈtʃər, 2 ɒnəˈtʃər] See annotate & -or One who writes notes upon a text announce, vb trans [1 ɒnəʊns, 2 ɒnəʊns], fr Fr annoncer, fr Lat annunciare, fr ad- & nunciare, nunciare, 'to relate, report', fr nuntius, 'messenger' See nuncio 1 a To declare, publish (news &c), b give notice of (a visitor's) arrival by calling out his name the servant announced Mr and Mrs Jones 2 To convey information through the senses, otherwise than by word or written message an occasional shot announced the presence of the enemy announcement, n [1 ɒnəʊnsmənt, 2 ɒnəʊnsmənt] See preo & -ment Public statement, made verbally, or in writing or print, giving notice that an event has happened, or is to take place in the future announcer, n [1 ɒnəʊnsər, 2 ɒnəʊnsər] See preo & -er One who announces, esp official who introduces each item of a broadcast programme, reads the news &c annoy (I), vb trans [1 ɒnoɪ, 2 ɒnoɪ] O Fr annoyer, fr anoy, 'vexation', Mod Fr ennuyer, fr Lat in odio, as mihi est in odio, 'it is hateful to me' See noisome & odious To trouble, vex, worry, harass annoy (II), n See preo (rare and obsolete) Injury, worry, something distasteful, painful emotion caused by what is distasteful annoyance, n [1 ɒnoɪəns, 2 ɒnoɪəns] See annoy (I) & -ance a Act of annoying, b that which annoys, c feeling of irritation caused by action or event which is unpleasant annoying, adj [1 ɒnɔɪ-ɪŋ, 2 ɒnɔɪ-ɪŋ], fr Pres Part of annoy (I) Causing, productive of, annoyance, irritating, vexatious annoyingly, adv Preo & -ly In a manner which annoys annual (I), adj [1 ɒnʊəl, 2 ɒnʊəl] L Lat annuus, fr annus, 'year', wh stands for atnos*, & is thus exactly cogn w Goth apn, 'year' The base of both occurs also in Sort at-at, 'he goes, moves on' Yearly, coming every year annual (II), n a Something which appears each year, eg a periodical volume published once a year The Boy's Own Annual, or b a plant which springs up, flowers, seeds, and dies within a year, and which does not come up again, contrasted with perennial Phr hardy annual, (faceious) an event which recurs each year with wearisome iteration.

annually, adv See annual (I) & -ly Each, every, year annuitant, n [1 ɒnɪˈtʃənt, 2 ɒnɪˈtʃənt] See annuity & -ant One receiving an annuity annuity, n [1 ɒnɪˈtʃi, 2 ɒnɪˈtʃi] Fr annuité, fr Lat annuus, 'yearly', fr annus, 'year' See annual & -ity Fixed sum paid every year as income, at one or more regular intervals, during lifetimes of recipient annul, vb trans [1 ɒnəl, 2 ɒnəl] Fr annuler, fr Lat ad nullum, 'to nothing' See null To render null and void, to make of no effect, nullify, do away with (esp of laws, legal decisions, customs &c) annular, adj [1 ɒnʊlər, 2 ɒnʊlə], fr Lat an(n)ulāris, fr an(n)ulus, dimin of anus, 'a ring', the latter is perh fr aneno*, & in this case may be compared w Sort aknas, 'curved', & further w Lat uncus, 'crooked', see under uncial Ring-like, annular eclipse, one in which a ring of light is left on sun's disk annulate (d), adj [1 ɒnʊlət(ed), 2 ɒnʊlət(ed)] See annular & -ate (d) Furnished with rings, formed of rings annulation, n [1 ɒnʊləˈʃən, 2 ɒnʊləˈʃən] See preo & -ion A ring-like formation annulet, n [1 ɒnʊlət, 2 ɒnʊlət] Dimin formed fr Lat an(n)ulus, 'a ring' See annular A small ring, specif (her) small ring borne as a charge annulment, n [1 ɒnʊlmənt, 2 ɒnʊlmənt] See annul & -ment a The act of annulling, b declaration that a law &c is null and void annulose, adj [1 ɒnʊləs, 2 ɒnʊləs], fr Lat an(n)ulus, 'ring' See annular & -oid & -ose Ring-like, formed of ring like segments annunciate, vb trans [1 ɒnʊnsiət, 2 ɒnʊnsiət], fr Lat annunciāt (um), PP type of annunciare See announce & -ate (rare) announcement, n [1 ɒnʊnsiəˈʃən, 2 ɒnʊnsiəˈʃən] Lat annunciātō (em) See preo & -ion 1 The act of announcing 2 Specif (cap) announcement by the angel Gabriel to the BVM of the Incarnation 3 Festival of Christian Church commemorating this, falling on March 25th anode, n [1 ɒnəd, 2 ɒnəd], fr Gk ánodos, 'way up', fr ana- & hodos, 'way' (see homometer), wh is cogn w Slav choditi, 'to walk' Ultimately fr same base as sed-*, 'sit' (see set), of wh orig sense was 'to place' either part of the person upon a seat, or the foot upon the road in order to go

Positive electric pole, specif (wireless) element of thermionic valve which attracts electrons emitted by its filament, also styled plate

anodyne, adj & n [1 ɒnədɪn, 2 ɒnədɪn], fr Lat anodynus, fr Gk ánodynus, 'painless', fr an- & odynē, 'pain' The most plausible etymol is that connecting the latter word w Gk duē, 'distress', & daō, 'light up' (fr daupō*), further w Sort dunōti, 'afflict, ill treat, burn', & the Sort n daval, 'conflagration', dōman, 'torment' (the pref o- in odynē is unexplained) With the above words may be equated OE teon, 'suffering, injury, wrong', see teen a adj Allaying pain, soothing, b n, anything which soothes pain, something which calms the mind, specif, drug which soothes and relieves pain anoint, vb trans [1 ɒnoɪnt, 2 ɒnoɪnt] O Fr enoint, PP of enindre, fr Lat unuiat (um), PP type of ungere, fr in, 'on', & ungere, 'to smear' See ointment & unction 1 To apply ointment to, pour oil upon, smear or rub with oil or ointment 2 Specif, to induct (priest or king) to an office by the use of consecrated oil as a religious ceremony anointed, adj [1 ɒnoɪntɪd, 2 ɒnoɪntɪd] PP of anoint 1. Smear or rubbed with oil or ointment 2 (absol) The Lord's Anointed, a Christ, the Messiah, b a king by divine right anointing, n [1 ɒnoɪntɪŋ, 2 ɒnoɪntɪŋ], fr Pres Part of anoint a Act of applying ointment, b consecration of a king &c by such an act anomalism, n [1 ɒnəˈmaliʒm, 2 ɒnəˈmaliʒm] See anomaly & -ism State of being anomalous or irregular, an anomaly anomalistic, adj [1 ɒnəˈmaliːstɪk, 2 ɒnəˈmaliːstɪk] See anomaly & -ist & -ic Tending to be anomalous, esp (astron) anomalistic month, time taken by moon to pass from perigee to perigee, anomalistic year, time taken by earth or other planet to pass from perihelion to perihelion anomalous, adj [1 ɒnəˈmaliːs, 2 ɒnəˈmaliːs], fr Lat anómālos, fr Gk anómālos, 'uneven, irregular' See next word & -ous Deviating from the ordinary rule or procedure, irregular, abnormal, unusual anomaly, n [1 anomalí, 2 anómali], fr Lat anómaliā, fr Gk anómaliā, 'inequality', fr an- (priv) & homalós, 'even, level, of like degree', fr homós, 'one and the same, belonging to two or more jointly' This word stands for somós*, & is cogn. w Sort sam, 'together with', O Slav sa, 'with', Goth sama, 'same' (cp samne) With the longer form homalós, cp Lat similis, 'like' (see similar), & further under homo- 1 A irregularity, departure from a common rule (applied to natural phenomena and to apparent irregularities in grammar &c), b inconsistency, paradox (in human affairs and conduct) 2 Specif (astron.) a angular distance of a planet from its perihelion or satellite from its perigee, b angle measuring apparent irregularities in planet's motion anomo-, pref In composition, 'irregular', chiefly in scientific terminology, fr Gk. anomos, 'without law', fr a-, 'not, lacking', & nómos, 'anything assigned, usage, custom, enactment, law', cogn. w Gk. némō, 'distribute, assign, allot, hold, possess, control' cp Goth. O E. &c niman, 'take' See nomad, nomis anon (I), adv [1 anón, 2 anón] O E on án, on ánym, adv, 'continually, continuously, immediately', M E anon See on & one anon, in a little while, directly Ever and anon, from time to time, every now and then anon (II), adj Abbr. of anonymous anonomaceous, adj [1 anónakshus, 2 anónakshus], fr Mod. Lat anóna, 'pome apple', see ananas & -aceous (bot) Relating, belonging to the pome apple anonym, n [1 anonim, 2 anonim] Fr anonyme, Lat anonymus, fr Gk. anónimos, an-, 'without', ónoma, 'name', cogn. w Lat. nómen, 'name', Gk. namō, O E nama See name, nominal a A person whose name is not revealed, b a pseudonym, an assumed or false name anonymity, n [1 anonimti, 2 anonimti] See prec & -ity Condition of being anonymous anonymous, adj [1 anonimus, 2 anonimus] See anonym & -ous a (of persons) Not named, having one's name concealed to remain anonymous, an anonymous donor &c, b (of liter and other works) not bearing author's name an anonymous book, letter &c anonymously, adv Pre & -ly Without revealing publishing, bearing, a name (of a book) published anonymously anophèles, n [1 anofélēs, 2 anofélēs] Gk. anophélēs, 'useless, harmful', fr an-, 'without', & ophelēs, 'use, help', cogn. w Sort phala, 'gain, success' A genus of blood-sucking mosquitoes, which act as carriers of the malaria parasite anosmia, n [1 anosmia, 2 anosmia] Gk. an-, 'without', & osmé, 'scent, odour', the Attic form fr odmā*, cp Doric odmā, Hom odmē, 'stench', cogn. w Lat odor, 'scent' See odour (med.) Loss of the sense of smell another, pron, n, & adj [1 anudher, 2 anadher] See an (I) & other 1 (of things and persons) Same thing different a as n, I don't like this one, show me another, b as adj, I must put on another coat before going to the party, I saw one play yesterday, and another, much better one, today 2 a as n. Something in addition, a further, additional thing I've had one cup of tea, but I should like another, b as adj, followed by a n, have another try 3 (reciprocally, preceded by one) Love one another, let each one love the other, or others. 4 adj or n One (person or thing) of the same character, class, degree, kind as, one closely resembling, one that has preceded for all we know this young man was a bit of another kettle, I have had one horse that exactly suited me, and I can hardly expect to find another anousous, adj [1 anousous, 2 anousous], fr Gk. an-, 'without', & ousōs, 'tail', wh. is cogn. w

Gk. ourakhos, 'butt end of a spear', Lat uruncum, 'lower part of an ear of corn', cp uro- (zool) Tailless anserine, adj [1 anserin, 2 anserin] Lat anserinus, fr anser, 'goose', for ghans*, cp Gk. lhen, Sort hana, O H G gans, O E gōs, whence goose Like, pertaining to, a goose answer (I), n [1 áhnser, 2 ánser] O E andswaru, M E andsware, answere, 'a reply', orig a statement made on oath, affirmation And here has the sense of 'in reply, in return' See and & swear 1 Statement, spoken or written, made in reply to a question, reply, response 2 Solution of a problem, esp in mathematics 3 A statement made, or b action taken, in reply to an attack or accusation, c (law) defence (in criminal case), pleading of defendant (in civil action) answer (II), vb trans & intrans O E andswarian, andswarian, 'answer, reply', M E answere &c, fr prec A trans 1 a To reply in speech or writing, or by signal, to (a question, remark &c, stated or written) to answer a question, b to write in return for (a letter received) not necessarily involving reply to questions) to answer a letter Phr answer (a person) back to make an impertinent reply 2 To do something in return for, or by way of retaliation answer blows with blows 3 To respond to (a summons) answer a call, the bell &c 4 To suit, be adequate to, be adapted to, fulfil (a purpose &c) that will answer my turn, to answer its purpose Intrans 1 a To make a reply I asked him several questions, but he never answered, b to write in return for letter received I wrote to him last week, but he hasn't answered yet, c to indicate by word or sign that one has heard a call when I call you, you should answer at once Phr answer to a name, as knowledge it as one's own by replying when one is addressed by it 2 To succeed, achieve the desired end our plan, experiment, hasn't answered at all C Followed by prepositions Answer for, a to be responsible for I can't answer for his honesty, for the truth of the statement, b to suffer the consequences of we must all answer for our sins some day Answer to, a to correspond with, agree with answer to a description, b to act in response to action on the part of another, react to external stimulus (of a horse) to answer to the whip, to answer to medical treatment answerable, adj [1 áhnserabi, 2 áhnserabi] Pre & -able (Followed by to before names of persons, and for before names of actions) 1 Responsible, liable to be called to account you are answerable to me for your conduct, (also absol) irregularities have occurred, and someone must be answerable 2 Corresponding, in proportion to, commensurate with the results were not answerable to the hopes that had been formed 3 Capable of being answered (rare), cp unanswerable answering, adj [1 áhnsering, 2 áhnsering], fr Pre Part of answer (II) a Replying an answering voice, b corresponding, agreeing with a person answering to this description ant, n [1 áhnst, 2 ánt], more rarely [1 ant, 2 ent], to distinguish fr aunt O E æmet, whose variant émet produced emmet, M E ante &c This must be a common W Gmc word, cp O H G ameiza, Mod. Germ. ameise. Perh connected w Gath mailan, 'to cut', O H G meizen, cp Mod. Germ. meissel, 'chisel' The W Gmc form fr wh the OE & O H G words for ant come wd be amantjo*, & might mean orig 'the insect that cuts (bites) off', in reference to its habit of biting through the stems & roots of plants &c, the origin of the word, however, is by no means certain. Small gregarious insect of the family Formicidae, varying in colour according to species, sometimes organized with wings, having highly-developed social organization, very active, and strong for its size, and constructing 'hills' or piles of pine needles &c in which chambers and passages are formed

-ant, suff [1 ant, 2 ent] Through Fr or direct fr Lat -ant(ēn), ent(ēn), Pre Part Expresses agent or instrument in nouns applicant, irritant antacid, adj & n [1 ántásid, 2 ántásid] See anti- & acid (chem and med) a adj, Counteracting, neutralizing, an acid, preventing acidity, b n, substance, as an alkali, which counteracts or neutralizes an acid, a preventive of acidity antæa, n pl [1 ántē, 2 ántē] Lat, perhaps fr ante, 'in front, before', or cogn. w Sort ántā, 'door frame', O N gnd, 'ante-room' (class archit) Projecting flat pilasters or piers at each corner of the portico of a temple &c Phr in antis, of columns between these pilasters antagonism, n [1 ántagonizm, 2 ántagonizm], fr Gk antagónisma, fr antagónizōmai, 'struggle against'. See antagonize 1 State or condition of being opposed to something, active opposition (to or against) to be or act in antagonism to, to be, come into, be brought into antagonism with 2 Mutual hostility of forces, principles, persons antagonism between Capital and Labour antagonism, n [1 ántagonist, 2 ántagonist], fr L Lat antagónista, fr Gk antagónistēs, 'rival' See antagonize & -ist One pitted against, and striving with, another in any kind of contest, enemy, opponent, a rival in a competition for the same object antagonistic (all), adj [1 ántagonistik (I), 2 ántagonistik (II)] Pre & -ic & -al Opposed to, hostile to, incompatible with antagonistically, adv Pre & -ly In an antagonistic manner antagonize, vb trans [1 ántagoniz, 2 ántagoniz], fr Gk antagónizōmai, 'struggle against', fr anti- & agónizōmai, 'I struggle', fr agōn, 'a contest', see agonistic 1 To oppose, contend with, dispute the mastery with (of like forces) 2 To bring into opposition, render hostile, make an enemy of antalkali, n [1 ántálkali, 2 ántálkali] anti- & alkali (chem) Substance which counteracts or neutralizes an alkali antalkaline, adj [1 ántálkalin, 2 éntálkalin] Pre & -ine Counteracting, neutralizing, an alkali antaphrodisiac, adj & n [1 ántafrodizak, 2 ántafrodizak] See anti- & aphrodisiac. a adj Counteracting sexual desire, b n, medicine, drug &c used for this purpose antarctic, adj & n [1 ántáktik, 2 ántáktik] See anti- & arctic a adj Opposite to the north, or arctic, pole, pertaining to the south pole or the regions near the south pole, b n, (caps & with def art) the Antarctic, south pole or south polar regions ant-bear, n The great ant eater ante-, pref [1 ánta, 2 énta] Lat, 'before, in front of', of space & position, 'earlier than, before', in time, cogn. w Gk anti (see anti-) & and Cp also first element in answer ant-eater, n Name given to various edentate mammals, chiefly of tropical America, which live on ants laked up by their long sticky tongue, the great ant eater or ant bear, the pangolin, tamandua &c antecedence, n [1 ántásidans, 2 ántásidans], fr Lat antecedentia See antecedent 1 Action of going before, state of being before, in point of time, precedence, priority 2 (astron) Retrograde motion of a planet antecedent (I), adj [1 ántásident, 2 ántásident] fr Fr antecedent, fr Lat antecedent(ēn), Pre Part of antecedere, fr ante, 'before', & cēdere, 'to go' See ante- & cēdo Being or going before in time, prior, preceding, previous (to) antecedent (II), n, fr prec 1 a Something which precedes, goes before, happens before, a thing or circumstance which goes before in time or order, hence, b word or clause referred to by pronoun, esp by a relative pronoun 2 (pl) Facts or circumstances that have happened before in the history of Apocrypha, n [1 apókrisa, 2 apókrisa], fr Gk apókryphos, 'hidden', fr apo- & kruptein, 'to hide'. See crypt. Certain books of the Old Testament contained in Septuagint and Vulgate, but not regarded as part of the Canon either by the Jews or by the Protestant Reformers.

apocryphal, adj [1 apókrisal, 2 apókrisal]. See pre & -al a Belonging to, connected with, the Apocrypha, b of doubtful authority, not genuine, fictitious, false.

apodal, adj [1 apodal, 2 apodal], fr Gk apous, apod (os), 'footless', fr a- (priv) & pod (ós), pous, 'foot', &c. See pedal & -pod (zool) Lacking feet or pelvic fins.

apodeictic, adj [1 apodiktik, 2 apodiktik], fr Gk apodeiktikos, fr apodeiknūmi, 'to point out, show, prove by argument'. See apo- & deictic (log) Capable of being clearly proved or demonstrated, absolutely certain, clearly proved and established.

apodeictically, adv [1 apodiktikal, 2 apodiktikal]. See apo- & -al & -ly In an apodeictic manner, by clear proof or demonstration.

apodosis, n [1 apódosis, 2 apódosis]. Gk, 'a giving back, return', fr apodidōmi, 'to give back', fr apo- & didōmi, 'I give'. See hase under donation. The consequent clause, expressing the result, in a conditional sentence, correlative of protasis.

apogee, n [1 apogē, 2 apodē]. Fr apogée, fr Gk apogaios, 'away from land', more directly fr apo- & gē, 'earth', see geo-. The point at which a heavenly body in its course is farthest away from the earth, contrasted with perigee.

apolastic, adj [1 apolastik, 2 apolastik], fr Gk apolastikos, fr apolastein, 'to enjoy', the have 'lau', who does not occur uncompounded in Gk, is cogn w Lat lucrum, 'profit, gain', Sert lōam, 'booty', Goth launs, O E lean, 'reward, wages', see lucre & loot. Given over to pleasure.

Apollo, n [1 apólō, 2 apólō]. Gk Apollōn, earlier Apellōn. Etymol. doubtful. Boissac tentatively suggests an Arjan base apel*, 'to promote, provoke, excite, cause to grow', etc, whence perhaps also Gk apella, 'assembly'. The Greek god of the sun and of poetry.

Apollyon, n [1 apólion, 2 apólion], fr Gk. apollūōn, Pres Part apollūōn, 'to destroy utterly', fr apo- & olluein, 'to destroy', cogn w Gk olethros, 'loss, ruin, death', Lat (abolēre, 'to destroy'. See abolish. The destroying angel of the bottomless pit, Rev ix 11, hence, the Devil.

apologetic (I), also apologetical, adj [1 apologetik(I), 2 apologetik(I)], fr Fr apologetique, fr Lat apologēticus, fr Gk apologētikos, 'fit for defence', fr apologēomai, 'speak in defence, defend oneself against a charge'. See apology. (The primary sense has now become secondary.) 1 A Excusing with regret, and with desire to conciliate, a wrong done, or slight offered, whether deliberately or inadvertently, by word or deed he was very apologetic, make an apologetic speech &c, b (of manner &c) conciliatory, deferential an apologetic tone. 2 Defending (statements, opinions &c) against attack, explanatory, though not admitting wrong (of an essay, treatise &c). apologetic (II), n, fr pre a Formal apology or defence written or spoken, b (in pl) apologues, specif, that branch of theology concerned with reasoned defences of revealed religion.

apologetically, adv [1 apologetikal, 2 apologetikal], fr apologetic (I) & -ly So as to convey regret and excuse to speak apologetically.

apologist, n [1 apologist, 2 apologist], fr Fr apologiste. See apology & -ist a One who defends a person, cause, or institution, b specif, one who defends religious and theological doctrines against attack.

apologize, vb intrans [1 apologiz, 2 apologiz], fr Gk apologizomai, 'give a full account of', fr apologia, see pre, & -ize Engl meaning more closely associated w those of apology. To acknowledge slight or injury inflicted, whether intentionally or inadvertently, and express regret if I have offended you, I apologize, to apologize to a person, for rudeness &c. apologue, n [1 apolog, 2 apolog]. Gk apologos, 'story, tale'. See apo- & logos. Story invented to enforce a moral truth, moral fable.

apology, n [1 apology, 2 apology], fr Gk apologia, 'a speech in defence'. See apo- & -logy. 1 Expression of regret for slight or injury that one has inflicted on a person, or for discourtesy, rudeness &c towards him, in deed or speech, explanation that no offence was intended to offer, accept, an apology. 2 Vindication, defence. See apologetic (II). 3 A poor substitute for something else, makeshift a mere apology for a dinner.

apophthegm, apophthegm, n [1 apophthegm, 2 apophthegm]. Gk apophthegma, 'thing uttered, sententious answer, terse saying', fr apophthegmos, 'speak one's opinion plainly', fr apo- & vb phthēggomai, cp phthēgma, 'voice, saying, cry, roar'. This is in gradational relation to Gk phthēgōs, 'voice, speech, sound'. No cognates known. Cp second element in diphthong. Terse, pithy, instructive saying, moral maxim.

apophysis, n [1 apophysis, 2 apophysis]. Gk apophysis, 'off shoot', fr apo- & phusis, 'nature, natural growth', see physio- a (anat) A protuberance or process on a bone, b (hot) swelling on the spore cases of mosses.

apoplectic, adj [1 apoplektik, 2 apoplektik], fr Gk apoplektikos, 'disabled by a stroke, crippled, astounded'. See apoplexy & -ic a Having character of, tending to cause, apoplexy, b (of persons) liable to be attacked by apoplexy.

apoplectically, adv [1 apoplektikal, 2 apoplektikal]. See apo- & -ly In an apoplectic manner.

apoplexy, n [1 apopleks, 2 apopleks], fr Fr apoplexie, fr Lat apoplexia, fr Gk apoplexia, fr apopleseōn, 'strike down, disable', fr apo- & plēsein, 'strike, smite, wound', op further, Gk plēgē, 'blow', Doric plāgē, borrowed into Lat as plāga, whence plague. Sudden loss of sensation and consciousness, usually caused by rupture of a blood-vessel in the brain.

apospesis, n [1 apospesis, 2 apospesis]. Lat, fr Gk apospesis, fr apospesōs, 'I am silent', fr siōpē, 'silence'. The origin of this word is very obscure, & its relations outside Gk very dubious, connexion suggested w Goth swetian, 'to cease', or w O H G swigen, Mod Germ schweigen, 'be silent', is hardly possible. Rhetorical device, which consists in suddenly breaking off speaking in the middle of a sentence, eg when I looked into the room, the first thing I saw—but I dare not describe that dreadful sight.

apostasy, n [1 apostasi, 2 apostasi], fr Lat apostasia, fr Gk apostasia, lit 'standing away from', i.e 'defection, revolt', later form fr apostasis. See apo- & -stasis a Voluntary and deliberate desertion or renunciation of, defection from, one's faith, principles, as formerly professed, b desertion of a cause which one has championed.

apostate, n & adj [1 apostat, apostat, 2 apostat, -ate], fr Fr apostat, fr Lat apostata, fr Gk apostatēs. See apostasy an One guilty of apostasy, b adj, guilty of apostasy.

apostatize, vb intrans [1 apostatiz, 2 apostatiz]. See pre & -ize To become an apostate, desert, betray one cause &c for another to apostatize from Monarchism to Bolshevism.

a posteriori, adv & adj [1 a posteriori, 2 a posteriori]. Lat, 'from what comes after'. See posterior (log) Applied to mode of reasoning which arrives at general principles from the observation of facts, which infers causes from effects adv, to reason a posteriori, adj, a posteriori argument, contrast a priori.

apostle, n [1 apōs, 2 apōs], fr Gk apōstolos, lit 'one sent forth, a messenger', fr apo- & stēlein, 'set in order, equip, dispatch, send'. See stale & op epistle & stole (I). 1 One who is sent forth to preach, to advocate a cause, a messenger, specif a (cap) one of the twelve sent forth by Christ to preach the Gospel, b (cap) the first Christian missionary to a country. St Augustine was the Apostle of the English, c a zealous advocate of a moral, social, or political measure or reform an apostle of Free Trade, of Protection &c. 2 One of the twelve officials of the Mormon sect.

Apostles' Creed, n Creed of the Christian Church, said at morning and evening prayer, it is the earliest of the creeds, at least in origin, if not in the present form.

apostleship, n [1 apōstlesh, 2 apōstlesh]. See apo- & -ship Condition, state, of being an apostle.

apostle spoon, n Silver or silver gilt spoon with figure of one of the Apostles on the handle.

apostolate, n [1 apōstolat, 2 apōstolat]. See apostle & -ato Office, authority, functions, of an apostle.

apostolic (al), adj [1 apōstolik(I), 2 apōstolik(I)]. Gk apostolikos. See pre & -to & -al. 1 Belonging to, connected with the Apostles and their times. 2 Derived from, according with the spirit of, the Apostles. Apostolic Church, Apostolic doctrine, teaching &c, Apostolic(al) Succession, continuity of Orders from the Apostles. 3 Connected with St Peter, chief of the Apostles, hence, with the Pope the Apostolic See, i.e Rome.

apostolically, adv See apo- & -ly a After the manner of the Apostles, b by, through, the Apostles.

apostrorophe, n [1 apōstrophē, 2 apōstrophē]. Gk apostrophē, 'a turning away'. A figure in rhetoric in which the orator turned away from rest of audience to address one person. See apo- & strophe. 1 An exclamatory, hortatory address to a person or thing, present or absent, occurring either in a speech or a literary work. 2 The mark (') in punctuation, used when a letter is omitted, and before or after the possessive suffix -s in the singular or plural respectively of nouns.

apostrophize, vb trans [1 apōstrophiz, 2 apōstrophiz]. See pre & -ize To address an apostrophe (1) to.

apothecary, n [1 apōthekari, 2 apōthekari], fr Lat apothēcarius, 'a warehouseman', fr apothēca, 'storehouse (esp of wine)', fr Gk apothēkē, fr apothēkēmi, 'I put away', fr apo- & tithēmi, 'I place', q v under thesis. One in ordinary use, except as title of the Society of Apothecaries. One who prepares medicines and sells drugs, pharmaceutical chemist, formerly, the apothecary was a subordinate and inferior kind of medical practitioner who prescribed, as well as dispensed, medicines.

apothegm. See apophthegm.

apothem, n [1 apōthem, 2 apōthem], fr apo- & Gk thēma, 'that which is placed', fr tithēnai, 'to place, set down'. See thesis (math) Perpendicular drawn from the centre to any one of the sides of a polygon.

apotheosis, n [1 apōthēosis, 2 apōthēosis]. Lat, fr Gk apothēosis, fr apothēōs, 'deify, make a god of', fr apo- & thēōs, 'god'. See theo-. 1 Raising of a mortal to the rank of a divinity, act of putting a mortal among the gods and counting him as divine. 2 Supreme exaltation, glorification, of a person or thing.

apotheosize, vb trans [1 apōthēosiz, 2 apōthēosiz]. See pre & -ize To exalt to rank of a divinity, make a god of.

appal, vb trans [1 apāw, 2 apāw]. M E apallen, 'make, become, pale', fr O Fr appallir, 'grow pale'. See pale, pallid. To terrify, horrify, dismay.

appalling, adj [1 apáwling, 2 apáling], fr Pres Part of prec Terrible, horrifying appallingly, adv Prec & -ly To a shocking extent, in a deplorable manner appanage, apanage, n [1 apány, 2 apánidz], fr Fr apanage, fr O Fr apāner, lit 'to provide with bread, to endow, provide with means of subsistence', fr Lat ad- & pānis, 'bread' See panification & other words referred to under that heading 1 Provision made from Crown property for younger members of a royal house 2 Dependency, property or emolument attached as a perquisite to an office 3 (fig) A personal quality, attribute, or endowment which accrues by nature, right, or custom admiration is a natural appanage of beauty apparatus, n [1 aparátus, 2 aparéitās] Lat, 'preparation, making ready', fr apparāre, 'to make ready for', fr ad- & parāre, 'to make ready' See pare, & compare & prepare 1 Instruments devised, arranged, and got ready for accomplishing a desired end, a collection of utensils, or mechanical contrivances, for carrying out a given work an apparatus for pumping water, driving piles, heaving a building &c, b delicate and complex instruments for experiments in physics, chemistry &c scientific apparatus, c group of bodily organs which co operate in a given set of functions digestive, respiratory, apparatus &c 2 Collection of literary, historical, and other materials necessary for critical study of a document apparatus criticus or critical apparatus apparel (I), n [1 aparel, 2 aparal] ME appareil, fr O Fr, fr vb appareiller, 'clothe', fr ad- & pareiller, lit 'to put together things of the same kind', cp Fr pareil, 'like, similar', fr Low Lat pariculus, 'like', all fr Lat base pār, 'equal, similar' See par, peer (I) Clothing dress, attire apparel (II), vb trans ME aparaslen, fr O Fr appareiller See prec To clothe, dress apparent, adj [1 apárent, 2 aparéant], fr Lat appārent (em), Pres Part type of appāre, 'to become visible, appear', fr ad- & pāre, 'to appear' See appear 1 A visible, capable of being seen apparent to the naked eye, b easily seen, obvious, plain apparent to the most casual observer Her apparent, the next direct heir by birth to the sovereign, or holder of hereditary title or estate (contrasted with heir presumptive) 2 According to appearances, seeming the apparent cause of his illness was excessive drinking apparently, adv Prec & -ly So far as can be judged by appearances, actually as it appears to the eye or the mind, but not necessarily really and truly so he was apparently a loyal and devoted friend apparition, n [1 aparishun, 2 aparishun] Fr, fr Lat appāritiō (em), 'service, attendant', fr appāri (um), P P type of appāre. See apparent & appear Something which appears, esp suddenly and inexplicably, hence, supernatural visual impression, ghost apparitor, n [1 aparitor, 2 aparitō] Lat appāritōr, 'an attendant, public servant, lictor', see prec & -or a An officer in attendance on judges and magistrates in a civil court, b one who executes the orders, esp in serving summonses, in an ecclesiastical court appeal (I), vb intrans & trans [1 apél, 2 apél] fr Fr appeller, 'to call', fr Lat appellāre, 'to call upon, address, entreat', fr ad- & pell, wh occurs in various other compounds & is prob cogn w Goth spellan, 'inform, recount', O HG spellan, 'recount', spill, 'narrative', OE spell, 'narrative, message', see spell (I) A intrans 1 a To call upon another to decide a question, confirm one's statement or opinion I appeal to you to say whether I'm not right, speaking the truth &c, b to appeal to the umpire, b to call to witness in corroboration of one's statement I appeal to history, and to the common experience of mankind 2 To make an urgent demand, request, for help we must appeal to the public on behalf of the hospitals 3 (of politicians, esp the party in power) To appeal to the country, take the feeling of the constituencies at a general election as to whether they approve the policy proposed by the government 4 (law) To demand the judgement of a higher tribunal to quash or reverse that of a lower to appeal against a decision, (also absol) to appeal, carry a case to a higher court 5 (fig) To make an unsuccessful demand, hence, to move the feelings, attract these pictures do not appeal to me, the prospect of happiness thus presented appealed to him strongly B trans (legal hist and archaic) To challenge, call before a court to meet a charge of treason or other heinous crime appeal (II), n Fr apel See prec 1 a Urgent demand for aid, entreaty, challenge to make an appeal to one's feelings, charity &c, b request for a decision an appeal to the umpire 2 (law) Action by which a cause is brought by an unsuccessful party from a lower to a higher court, in hope of obtaining a favourable decision, court of appeal, any court of law to which cases from a lower court may be brought for revision &c appealable, adj [1 apélabl, 2 apélabl] See appeal (I) & -able (rare) That can be appealed, a against, b to appealing, adj [1 apéling, 2 apéling], fr Pres Part of appeal (I) Full of entreaty, of a nature to move the feelings an appealing gesture, tone, glance appealingly, adv Prec & -ly In an appealing manner appear, vb intrans [1 apr, 2 apé] fr O Fr apparoir, fr Lat apparēre, fr ad-, 'to', & parēre, 'to come forth, show oneself' See pare 1 To come before the eyes, become perceptible to sense of sight, become visible to appear on the horizon, the swallow has appeared in the south of England 2 a To be brought before a judge, magistrate, tribunal &c appear before (as prisoner to be tried), b to present oneself before a court of justice as an advocate or as a person to be tried for an offence, or as plaintiff or defendant in a suit to appear for the prosecution 3 a To come before the public as writer, actor, lecturer, entertainer &c to appear in public, at Covent Garden, b to go into society to appear in society, at social gatherings, c (of a book) to be published, come out 4 To be obvious, manifest to the mind a (impers) it appears from what you say, that &c, it appears to me that you are all wrong, b to seem, to convey the impression to appear to be suffering appearance, n [1 apérans, 2 apérans], fr appear & -ance 1 a The act or process of appearing the comet duly made its appearance as predicted Phr to put in an appearance, to appear, b specif, act of appearing in a court &c to enter an appearance 2 a The act of coming before the public, esp on the stage, b the publication of a book &c 3 a The condition or form in which a person or thing appears, outward semblance, look, aspect to have a very poor appearance, the sky had a threatening appearance Phr to all appearance, as far as can be seen, b something conveying particular impression to have the appearance of being half starved, c outward look, show, as distinguished from reality to keep up appearances 4 Something appearing mysteriously and inexplicably, esp a strange phenomenon a queer appearance in the sky, b a phantom, ghost appeasable, adj [1 apézhil, 2 apézhil] See next word & -able Capable of being appeased, in all senses appease, vb trans [1 apéz, 2 apéz], fr Fr apaiser, 'to bring to peace, pacify', fr d & O Fr pais, fr Lat pāis, pācis, 'peace' See pax & pacify 1 a To pacify, soothe, propitiate, conciliate (an angry person), b to calm, assuage &c (passions and emotions of the mind, anger, indignation, greed &c)

2 To satisfy, content, physical needs appease hunger, thirst, one's appetite &c appeasement, n [1 apézment, 2 apézment] Proc & -ment Cp Fr apaisement Process of appeasing, assuaging, satisfying appellant, adj & n [1 apelant, 2 apelant], fr Fr appellant, Pres Part of appeller, fr Lat appellānt (em), Pres Part of appellāre See appeal (I) (law) 1 adj Appealing, pertaining to an appeal 2 n Person who appeals to higher court appellate, adj [1 apélat, 2 apélat], fr Lat appellāt (um), P P of appellare See appeal (law) Having power to hear and determine appeals appellate jurisdiction &c appellation, n [1 apélashun, 2 apéláshun], fr Lat appellatiō (em), fr appellare, 'to call upon' See appeal (I) & -ation Name, title, designation, by which particular person or thing is known.

appellative, n & adj [1 apélativ, 2 apélativ] See prec & -ive a n Appellation, b adj, pertaining to a common noun, naming appellatively, adv Prec & -ly By name appellee, n [1 apélé, 2 apél], fr Fr appellé, P P of appeler See appeal (I) (law) The defendant in an appeal, one tried for an offence at the instance of another, as distinct from appellant append, vb trans [1 apénd, 2 apénd], fr Lat appendere, 'to hang something on', fr ad- & pendere, 'to hang' See pendant 1 To hang something on, attach it (esp by a string &c) to, something else to append a label to a trunk, append a seal to legal document 2 To add something in writing, send, enclose, an additional message, or another document, together with a letter &c, furnish further matter by way of supplement to a book I append X's letter herewith, to append a list of names (to a document), or notes, a bibliography &c (to a book) appendage, n [1 apéndy, 2 apéndidz] Proc & -age Something hang on, attached to, hanging from, in literal sense appendant, adj & n [1 apendant, 2 apéndant] Fr, Pres Part of appendre See append & -ant 1 adj (rare) Attached to, dependent from a notice appendant to a door, b specif (law, of rights &c) attached by prescription to an estate in land, contrasted with appurtenant 2 n Something attached, hung on, an adjunct appendicitis, n [1 apendisitis, 2 apendisitis] See appendix & -itis (med) Inflammation of the vermiform appendix appendix, n [1 apéndiks, 2 apéndiks], pl appendices [1 apendisēz, 2 apendisēz] Lat, 'something hung on, appendage', fr appendere, 'to hang to' See append

1 Something appended or added afterwards, supplement, addition to a book, document &c 2 (anat) Vermiform appendix (first word often omitted where no ambiguity can exist), small narrow tube with blood end leading out of the caecum, q v apperception, n [1 aperseshun, 2 apasépshun] Fr aperception, fr Lat See ad- & perception Consciousness of act of perceiving, self consciousness appertain, vb intrans [1 apértán, 2 apertem], fr Fr appartenir, fr Lat ad & pertinere See ad- & pertain To belong to, as a right conferred by nature, custom, or office, or by possession the power of ordaining priests appertains only to the Episcopate appetence, n [1 apétens, 2 apétans] Fr, 'instinctive desire', fr Lat appetentia, 'longing after something, desire', fr ap petent (em), Pres Part of appetere, 'seek after, try to get', fr ad- & petere, 'demand, require' See petition. Strong natural desire, specif, sexual appetite appetency, n [1 apétensi, 2 apétans] See prec & -cy a Natural desire, appetite, appetence, b natural propensity, inclination (of animals) towards certain habits and behaviour, o (of inanimate objects) affinity, attraction.

appetent, adj [1 apetent; 2 apetant] Fr, fr Lat appetent (em), Pres Part See appetence Possessing, filled with, appetence appetite, n [1 apetit, 2 apitant] O Fr apetit, fr Lat appetitus, 'onset', & (fig) 'passion, desire', fr PP of appetere, q v under appetence 1 Natural desire, inclination, craving a for gratification of a physical need human, animal, appetites, b specif, desire for food, hence, the gusto with which a hungry person eats to have a good, poor, appetite, lose, spoil, one's appetite, through illness, eating too much at wrong time &c 2 (fig) Desire for mental or emotional stimulus, satisfaction, and enjoyment an appetite for work, reading, music &c appetizer, n [1 apetizer, 2 apitantza] On model of Fr appétissant, 'appetizing', as though fr 'to appetize', &-or Anything taken to give an appetite or relish for a meal appetizing, adj [1 apetizing, 2 apitantzing] as though fr Pres Part of vb appetize See pro & appetize Provoking the appetite, savoury (of food), attractive, pleasing appetizingly, adv Pres & -ly In such a way as to provoke the appetite applaud, vb intrans & trans [1 aplawd, 2 aplawd] fr Lat applaudere, fr ad- & plaudere, 'to clap the hands in approbation' See plaudite 1 intrans To express approbation and agreement by clapping the hands, cheering &c 2 trans a To express approval of by clapping hands &c, b to approve, commend I applaud your decision applause, n [1 aplawz, 2 aplawz] fr Lat applaus (um), PP type of applaudere See applaud a Expression of approbation, agreement, concurrence, by clapping of hands, shouting &c, b approval, concurrence, commendation he won general applause by his scientific discoveries applausive, adj [1 aplawziv, 2 aplawziv] fr pres & -ive Expressing applause apple, n [1 apl, 2 apl] O B appel, O H G aphul, Mod Germ apfel, op W afal, Russ yabloko Origin of word unknown Well-known round or oval red and yellow fruit, with firm, juicy flesh and smooth skin, of the genus Malus Special uses apple of one's eye, (1) the pupil of the eye, (u) much cherished object, apple of discord, one contended for by Juno, Minerva, and Venus, hence, cause, subject of dispute, apples of Sodom, fruit which turned into ashes when one bit it Plur to upset the apple cart, to spoil his plans, put spoke in a wheel apple-cheese, n Cake of pomace from cider press apple-jack, n Spirit distilled from apple-juice or cider apple pie, n Tart made of apples Plur apple pie bed, one in which upper or lower sheet has been so folded as to prevent a person from getting into it, apple pie order, thoroughly good order apple pomace, n Pulp of apples from which the juice has been pressed in making cider appliance, n [1 aplance, 2 aplance] See apply & -ance 1 Mechanical device or contrivance, used as a means to a particular end, apparatus 2 Act of applying, application (rare and obs) applicability, n [1 aplikabilita, 2 aplikabilita] See applicable & -ity a Capacity for being used for, or applied to, a particular end or purpose, b appropriateness in reference to particular person or object applicable, adj [1 aplikabl, 2 aplikabl] fr Lat applicare (are), 'to apply', &-able See apply a Capable of being applied to particular purpose, b having reference to particular person or object, appropriate applicableness, n See pro & -ness Appropriateness applicant, n [1 aplikant, 2 aplikant] fr Lat applicans (em), Pres Part of applicare See apply One who applies for anything, specif, candidate applying for a situation or appointment application, n [1 aplikashun, 2 aplikashun] fr Lat applicatio (em) fr applicat (u r), PP type of applicare See apply 1 Putting of one thing upon, or over against, another (in various senses, lit and fig) a (lit) act of applying, placing, directly upon application of a dressing, plaster, to a wound, b (fig) act of using for particular purpose application of drastic remedies, punishment &c, application of a theory in actual practice &c, c (fig) (1) use or mention of a term as referring to a person or thing the application of the title 'Good' to Henry VIII would hardly be appropriate, (u) appropriateness, relevancy of such use such terms as 'cruel' or 'kind' have no application in connexion with Justice, d act of directing the mind intently upon intellectual objects, diligence to show application in one's studies 2 A act of demanding, requesting, requesting I was unsuccessful in my application to the Minister, b the demand, request, itself I have seen your application and must refuse it 3 Specif, act of presenting oneself as candidate for a post, the document announcing the candidature appliqué, adj & n (Anglicized pronunciation) [1 aplikā, 2 aplikā] Fr, PP of appliquer See apply a adj Applied, attached, of ornament, pattern of one material laid or put on the surface of another, as in metal work, embroidery &c appliqué work, b n, applique work apply, vb trans & intrans [1 apl, 2 apl] fr O Fr applier, Lat applicare, 'to fasten, attach to', (fig) connect with, to direct intently upon, devote to', fr ad-, 'to', & plicare, 'fold, lay together, fasten', see plicate A trans 1 To place upon, or close to, bring into contact with to apply a cautery to a wound, apply a match to a candle, apply one's eye to a telescope &c 2 To turn to use, employ for particular purpose, devote to to apply a sum of money to the relief of taxation, for the benefit of the mentally afflicted &c, apply skill and care to 3 To use (epithet or term) in reference to, and as appropriate to, a person or thing I should hardly apply the term scholarship to such learning as his 4 (of the mind, attention &c) To direct intently upon to apply one's mind to study 5 (reflex) Apply oneself to, betake, set oneself to, direct one's attention upon B intrans 1 To fit, suit, be relevant, have relation to that argument does not apply in this case 2 A To make an application, turn, go to a person in order to obtain something apply to me for instructions &c, b offer one self as candidate for a post, appointment very few have applied for the vacant office appoggiatura, n [1 apodattura, 2 apodattura] Ital, 'a support', fr Lat ad-, 'to', & podium, 'elevated place', fr Gk podion, 'footstool, gallery to lean on', op Ital poggio, 'support', fr base 'ped-, 'pod-', 'foot' See pedal & foot (mus) A grace-note appoint, vb trans [1 apoint, 2 apoint] M.E. apponien, fr O Fr apointer, 'arrange, settle', Low Lat appunctare, fr ad- & punct (um), PP type of pungere, 'to prick, sting' The idea seems to be to bring to a point or head See point, puncture 1 a To decree, ordain, prescribe, set down as lawful and binding each man performed his appointed task, prayers appointed to be read in churches, b to arrange, organize, set in good order, govern to appoint one's house, estates &c on sound lines 2 To fix, determine (time, place) for to come at the time appointed 3 To nominate (a person) to and place (him) in, an office, employment, designate by authority to appoint a man ambassador, appoint to a professorship &c 4 (law) To determine disposition of (an estate) appointment, n [1 apointment, 2 apointment] See pro & -ment 1 A fixed arrangement for a meeting, an assignment, engagement to keep, break, an appointment, an appointment for 6 o'clock 2 A The act of authoritatively placing a person in an office or position, b the office assigned to receive a good appointment 3 (law) Disposition of an estate by deed or will, esp by means of a power of appointment 4 (pl) Outfit, equipment, esp the furniture &c of a house all the appointments were good apport, n [1 aport, 2 aport] Fr, fr apporter, 'to bring', fr Lat apportare, see ad- & port (IV) (in spiritualistic parlance) A material object appearing at a seance without visible agency apportion, vb trans [1 aporehun, 2 aporehun] Fr apportioner, fr Low Lat apportionare, 'divide into portions' See portion To divide out, distribute justly and suitably, assign in due proportion to apportion one's time between various occupations, to apportion blame, praise, credit (among several persons) apportioned, adj [1 aporsund, 2 aporsund] fr PP of pro Allotted, assigned an apportioned task apportionment, n [1 aporsundment, 2 aporsundment] See apportion & -ment A act of apportioning, b results of this act, the distribution, mode of sharing arrived at apposite, adj [1 aposit, 2 aposit] fr Lat apposit (um), PP type of apposere, 'put near, by side of, apply to', fr ad-, 'to', & ponere, 'to place, put' See apose & position Apt, to the point, relevant (to) an apposite remark appositely, adv Pres & -ly To the point, suitably, appropriately appositeness, n See pro & -ness Suitability, relevance apposition, n [1 apozishun, 2 apozishun] Lat appositio (em) See apposite & -ion 1 a Placing in conjunction, b (speaking) appending (of seal) 2 (gram) Placing of a word, esp a noun, in same syntactic relation as another in the same sentence appraisal, n [1 aprazal, 2 aprazal] See next word & -al Act of appraising, valuation, estimate appraise, vb trans [1 apraz, 2 apraz] fr O Fr apreiser, Lat apprætare, fr prætare, 'price' See appraise & price To set a price on, fix, estimate the value of anything, specif, of an article of commerce (by a professional valuer), also of non material things and qualities, to estimate moral or aesthetic worth and merit of appraisement, n [1 aprazment, 2 aprazment] See pro & -ment A action of estimating monetary value, b estimated value; o in both senses, of non material things appraiser, n [1 aprazer, 2 aprazer] See appraise & -er Professional valuer appreciable, adj [1 apreashabl, 2 apreashabl] Fr See appraise & -able Capable of being estimated, large enough to be perceived appreciably, adv Pres & -ly To an appreciable extent appreciate, vb trans & intrans [1 apreashabl, 2 apreashabl] fr Lat apprætare (um), PP type of apprætare, 'to set a price to', fr ad- & prætare, 'price'. cp Fr apprécier See appraise & price A trans 1 (archaic) To set a price to, estimate the value of, judge to be worth so much 2 To judge correctly, estimate at true value, feel the force of to appreciate the full meaning of what is said, appreciate the difficulties of a situation &c 3 (of non material qualities) A To estimate correctly, set high value on, feel grateful for I greatly appreciate your kindness, b to distinguish fully the merits of, be sensible of, alive to qualities of, judge with discriminating enjoyment to appreciate poetry keenly, to appreciate a rest after hard work B intrans To increase in value (of material and non-material things), opposite of depreciate appreciation, n [1 apreashablun, 2 apreashablun] fr Fr appréciation See pro & -ion 1 A act of appreciating in all senses, b correct estimate exact perception appreciation of the beauties of Shakespeare, c grateful recognition of merit, goodness &c appreciation of kindness received 2 Increase in value appreciative, adj [1 apréshiativ, 2 aprishiativ] See appreciate & -ive Feeling, showing, appreciation (in various senses) appreciatively, adv Prec & -ly In such a way as to manifest appreciation appreciatory, adj [1 aprishiatéri, 2 aprishiatéri] See appreciate & -ory Appre ciative apprehend, vb trans [1 apréhénd, 2 aprihénd], fr Lat apprehendere, fr ad- & prehendere, 'to seize' See prehensile 1 To arrest, take into custody 2 (fig) To grasp with the mind, understand, perceive meaning of 3 To foresee, look forward to, anticipate, esp with anxiety, hence, to dread apprehensibility, n [1 apréhénsibiliti, 2 aprihénsibiliti] See next word & -ity Capacity for being apprehended apprehensible, adj [1 apréhénsibl, 2 aprihénsibl], fr Lat apprehensibilis, fr apprehens (um), P P type of apprehendere, see apprehend, & -ible Capable of being apprehended apprehension, n [1 aprihénešun, 2 aprihénšun], fr L Lat apprehensio (em), fr apprehens (um), P P type of apprehendere, see apprehend, & -ion 1 Act of apprehending, a (lit, rare) seizing, grasping the hands for apprehension, b grasping with the mind, faculty of understanding a person of feeble apprehension, c mental perception 2 Arrest, seizure (of criminals) 3 Gloomy foreboding, dread anticipation (often in pl.)

apprehensive, adj [1 apréhénsiv, 2 aprihénsiv] See prec & -ive 1 Capable of apprehending, apt at understanding (of persons) 2 Relating to, connected with, sensuous perception, or intellectual understanding 3 Full of fears, uneasy in mind, prone to anticipate evil things apprehensively, adv Prec & -ly In an apprehensive manner (in various senses) apprehensiveness, n See prec & -ness A Power, faculty, of intellectual apprehension, b condition of habitual anticipation of evil apprentice (I), n [1 apréntis, 2 apréntis] Fr apprentis, through Low Lat apprentis*, 'one laid hold of', fr Lat apprehendere, 'seize' See apprehend 1 One who is learning a craft or trade, and who is bound by agreement to serve his employer for a specified time in return for instruction Phr To bind apprentice to (a tradesman) 2 A novice, tiro (rather rare) apprentice (II), vb trans, fr prec To make or bind a person apprentice his father apprenticed him to a butcher apprenticeship, n [1 apréntisšip, 2 apréntisšip] See apprentice (I) & -ship A State of being an apprentice, b service rendered as an apprentice, c period or term during which the service lasts Phr to serve one's apprenticeship apprise, vb trans [1 apriz, 2 apraviz], fr Fr appris, 'instructed', P P of apprendre, 'to learn, teach', fr Lat apprehendere See apprehend To inform to apprise a person of something approach (I), vb trans & intrans [1 apróh, 2 aprout], fr Fr approcher, fr Low Lat appropiare, fr ad-, 'to', & propiare, 'to draw near', fr prope, 'near', the origin of wh is doubtful See propinquity

A trans 1 To move towards, come near to, arrive close to to approach the city, one's home 2 (in transferred or fig senses) A To get within close proximity to, to draw near to to approach mankind, to approach completion, b to attain similarity, almost equality to, in quality, amount, character something approaching perfection, the required sum, success &c, o to make advances, overtures, to (a person), upon negotiations with will you approach the General on the matter? B intrans 1 To lessen the distance between some person or thing by moving towards him or it, to come near, nearer to be unable to approach any nearer 2 (in transferred or fig senses) To draw near, come on (of time, events &c) winter, death, the end, approaches approach (II), n, fr prec Act or process of coming near or nearer (in various senses, lit and fig) 1 a (in space) The enemy fled at our approach, b (in time) (the approach of night, o (in amount, extent, character &c) resemblance, approximation to some approach to truth 2 a District, country surrounding a place, which must be crossed before place can be reached the approach to the village was wild and desolate, b specif, mode road leading to a house, drive, avenue, o (fig) preliminaries, mode of access to a subject of study or discussion practical study of living languages is an excellent approach to philology, d specif (golf) atroke to land ball on green 3 (pl) Attempts to open personal relations, enter into negotiations the other's approaches were not encouraged by the great man approachability, n [1 apróhábiliti, 2 aproutshábiti] See next word & -ity n (of things, places) Quality of being easily reached, accessibility, b (of persons) disposition which receives personal advances from others with politeness and courtesy approachable, adj [1 apróhábil, 2 aproutshábil] See approach (I) & -able a Easy of access, b welcoming, friendly to, advances approaching, adj & n [1 apróhčing, 2 aproutšing], fr approach (I) & -ing 1 adj Advancing towards one, coming nearer approaching footsteps, death &c 2 n (golf) That part of the game which consists in playing the ball on to the putting green approbation, n [1 apróhábšun, 2 apróbéšun], fr Lat approbatio (em), fr approbāt (um), P P type of approbare, 'to approve, assent to', fr ad-, 'to', & probare, 'try the goodness of', fr probus, 'good' See probate & op approve Act of assenting to, sanctioning, something done, with a certain pleasure, hence also commendation, approval approbatory, adj [1 apróbatori, 2 apróbubtri] See prec & -ory Marked by approbation appropriate (I), adj [1 apróprjat, 2 aproutprjat], fr Lat appropriat (um), P P type of appropriare, 'to make one's own', fr ad-, 'to', & proprius, 'one's own' See proper Originally, set apart for a particular purpose or person, hence, suited, adapted to particular purpose, fit, suitable, for particular person, thing, occasion appropriate (II), vb trans [1 apróprjat, 2 aproutprjat] See prec 1 a To take, and convert to one's own exclusive use, b to do thus illegally, by force or fraud, to steal 2 To devote, set apart, assign to particular use or person appropriately, adv [1 apróprjatli, 2 aproutprjatli], fr appropriate (I) & -ly In an appropriate manner, suitably appropriateness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being appropriate appropriation, n [1 aprópršahun, 2 aproutpršahun] See appropriate (II) & -ion 1 a Act of appropriating, setting aside something and assigning it to a particular person or use, b conversion of something to one's own use 2 Ecclesiastical benefice which is in the hands of a bishop or a spiritual corporation, as distinct from impropriation appropriative, adj [1 apróprjativ, 2 aproutprjativ] See prec & -ive Having nature of, tending to, appropriation appropriator, n [1 apróprjater, 2 aproutprjater] See prec & -or Holder of an ecclesiastical benefice, as a bishop or spiritual corporation, as distinct from impropriator approval, n [1 apróvval, 2 aprúvval] See approve & -al 1 Approbation, consent to, sanction of an act the scheme had the approval of the committee 2 Critical examination, judgement, verdict (implying expectation that this will be favourable, though the reverse is possible) I should like to submit what I have written for your approval Phr to send goods on approval, for customer's decision whether he will buy or not approve, vb trans & intrans [1 apróv, 2 aprúv], fr Fr approuver, O Fr aprover, fr Lat approbare See approbation & probate 1 a trans. To hold, and express, favourable opinion concerning, consider and pronounce good, also, and more usually, approve of I quite approve (of) your choice, I don't approve (of) his conduct, b intrans, I have heard all the proposals, and I don't approve at all 2 trans (of a legislative or administrative body) To sanction formally, confirm by resolution to approve a report 3 (reflex) To demonstrate, prove, give evidence of, one's quality to approve oneself a good teacher approver, n [1 apróvver, 2 aprúvva] Prec & -er An informer, one who turns King's evidence approximate (I), adj [1 aprókšmat, 2 aprókšmit], fr L Lat approximā (um), P P type of approximare, 'to come near to', fr ad-, 'to', & proximus, 'nearest, very near' See proximal Approaching correctness, fairly exact, esp coming very near to in amount, extent, quality &c, nearly resembling an approximate account of what happened, approximate value, cost, distances &c approximate (II), vb trans & intrans [1 aprókšmat, 2 aprókšmit], fr prec a trans (rare) To bring close to, cause to come near, b intrans, to come near to, approach, be nearly equal to, or identical with, almost correspond with, esp in amount, extent, quality &c to approximate to the truth, to what was said, to the description approximately, adv [1 aprókšmatli, 2 aprókšmitli] See approximate (I) & -ly In a manner, to an extent, which is nearly exact, almost, very nearly, to all intents and purposes, approximately what I want, approximately correct.

approximation, n [1 aprókšmášun, 2 aprókšmášun] See approximate (II) & -ion Act of coming near, of becoming almost identical, something which comes near to exact identity, equality, resemblance &c a very close approximation to the truth, a mere approximation, that is, not accurate in every particular appui, n [1 apwé, 2 apwé] Fr, fr appuyer, 'to prop, support', fr Low Lat appodiare, fr ad- & podium, 'pedestal, support' See pedal. (mil) Support, base, esp in Phr point d'appui [1 pwéu dapwé, 2 pwéu dapwé], a fixed point on which troops pivot in manoeuvres appurtenance, n [1 aprétanans, 2 aprátanans] A fr appurtenance See appertain, pertain, & -ance 1 That which appertains to something else larger or more important, an adjunct, accessory to something, which is regarded as the principal object of the group 2 (law) Right, property, subsidiary or accessory to property, acquired otherwise than by prescription, contrasted with appendant appurtenant, adj & n [1 aprétunant, 2 aprátunant] a adj Annexed to some other more important thing, accessory, incident, to, b n, an appurtenance, apricot, n [1 áprkot, 2 éprikot] Formerly apricock, abrical, the word has been chased through a number of languages, first to Fr abricot, thence to Port albricoque, & Span albaricoque, & further still to Arah al bargú (al, 'the'), but it does not stop here The word was borrowed by the Arabs fr Med Gk praídákon, wh is itself fr Lat praecox, 'opercots', neut pl of praecoxius, another form of praecox, 'early ripe' See precocious & cook 1 Round, soft, stone fruit, deep orange red in colour, allied to plum and peach 2 Orange red colour, also attributive, apricot colour.

archaeopteryx, n [1 ʔrkəʊptərɪks, 2 ʔkəʊptərɪks], fr Gk arkhaios, 'ancient', see archaeo- & ptérx, 'wing', see ptero- Name of a fossilized bird with marked reptilian characteristics, type of a link between birds and reptiles archaic, adj [1 ʔrkáik, 2 ʔkáiik], fr Gk arkhaiós, 'antiquated', fr arkhaios, 'ancient' See arch- & archaeo- & -ic Old-fashioned, primitive, antiquated, (esp of language) belonging to an early period, no longer in ordinary current use archaically, adv [1 ʔrkáikali, 2 ʔkáiikali] Preco & -al & -ly In an archaic manner, as an archaism archaism, n [1 ʔrkáizəm, 2 ʔkái-izəm], fr Gk arkhaios, 'ancient' See archaeo- & -ism A use of an old or obsolete word, idiom or form in speech, or literary style, b an obsolete word or expression archaist, n [1 ʔrkáist, 2 ʔkái-ist] See prea & -ist One given to the use of, partial to, archaism archaistic, adj [1 ʔrkáistik, 2 ʔkái-istik] Preco & -ic Characterized by archaism archaize, vb trans & intrans [1 ʔrkáiz, 2 ʔkái-iz], fr Gk arkhaizein See archaiz- & -ize 1 trans To make archaic or archaistic 2 intrans To use archaisms archangel, n [1 ʔrkáŋjel, 2 ʔkándžel] See arch- & angel Principal, chief, angel archbishop, n [1 ʔrkbiʃp, 2 ʔtʃiʃp] OE ærcbiſcop See arch- & bishop Bishop at the head of an ecclesiastical province, metropolitan archbishopric, n [1 ʔrkbiʃprik, 2 ʔtʃiʃprik] See prea & suff in bishopric A Ecclesiastical province over which an archbishop's jurisdiction extends, b office of an archbishop archdeacon, n [1 ʔrəhdēkən, 2 ʔtʃdēkən] OE ærcdeacon See arch- & deacon Ecclesiastical dignitary, having special charge, under the bishop, of a part of a diocese, in respect of discipline and other matters The archdeacon, as such, is a priest, though it may happen that he is in episcopal orders archdeaconry, n [1 ʔrəhdēkənri, 2 ʔtʃdēkənri] Preco & -ry A division of a diocese, made for ecclesiastical purposes, governed under the bishop, by an archdeacon archdiocese, n [1 ʔrəhdioʊs, 2 ʔtʃdēvəʊs] See arch- & diocese The diocese (as distinct from the province) ruled over by an archbishop archducal, adj [1 ʔrəhdūkəl, 2 ʔtʃdūkəl] See arch- & ducal Connected with an archduke archduchess, n [1 ʔrəhdʊtʃes, 2 ʔtʃdʊtʃis] See arch- & duchess Wife of an archduke, princess of the Imperial house of Austria archduchy, n [1 ʔrəhdʊchi, 2 ʔtʃdʊtʃi] See arch- & duchy Territory ruled by an archduke archduke, n [1 ʔrəhdūk, 2 ʔtʃdūk] See arch- & duke Prince of the Imperial house of Austria arch-enemy, n [1 ʔrəh ɛnəmi, 2 ʔtʃ ɛnəmi] See arch- & enemy Chief enemy, the arch enemy (of mankind) Satan archer, n [1 ʔrəʃə, 2 ʔtʃə] A-Fr, O Fr archier, Lat arcarius, fr Lat arcus, 'bow' See arc & -ary One who shoots with a bow and arrows, Bowman archer fish, n A small East Indian fish, Toxotes jaculator, which squirts drops of water at the insects on which it feeds archery, n [1 ʔrəʃəri, 2 ʔtʃəri], fr archer & -y A Use of bow and arrow in war or in hunting, b the art of shooting with bow and arrows, c organized force of archers

Archies, Court of [1 ʔrəʃi, 2 ʔtʃi] See arch (I) An ecclesiastical court of appeal for the province of Canterbury, originally sitting in St. Martin's Bow Church, Beata Maria de Arcubus, Dean of Archies, judge of this Court archetypal, n [1 ʔrkətip, 2 ʔkətip], fr Gk archétypon, 'pattern, model' See arch- & -type Original pattern, prototype archfiend, n [1 ʔrkfiend, 2 ʔtʃfiend] See arch- & fiend The chief, or worst, of fiends, Satan

Archibald, n [1 ʔrəhibəwɪd, 2 ʔtʃiʃbɪld] (in Great War) Soldier's term for an anti-aircraft gun, usually abbreviated, Archie archidiaconal, adj [1 ʔrkidiakənəl, ʔrki, 2 ʔtʃidiakənəl, ʔtʃi-] See arch- & diaconal Belonging to, connected with, an archdeacon or archdeacons archdiocese, n See archdiocese archepiscopacy, n [1 ʔrkəpiʃkəpi, ʔrki-, 2 ʔtʃiʃpiʃkəpi, ʔtʃi-] See arch- & episcopacy System of ecclesiastical government in which archbishops have chief power archepiscopal, adj [1 ʔrkəpiʃkəpəl, ʔrki-, 2 ʔtʃiʃpiʃkəpəl, ʔtʃi-] See arch- & episcopal Belonging to, connected with, an archbishop or his office archepiscopate, n [1 ʔrkəpiʃkəpət, ʔrki-, 2 ʔtʃiʃpiʃkəpət, ʔtʃi-] See arch- & episcopate Office, reign, state, of an archbishop archil, n [1 ʔrəʃil, 2 ʔtʃil] O Fr orchel, Ital ocello Etymol unknown A violet dye obtained from lichen archimandrite, n [1 ʔrkimándrit, 2 ʔkimándrait] L Lat archimandrita, fr L Gk arkhimandritēs, 'principal of a monastery' See arch- Mandira meant orig 'a stable, fold' Cp Sert mandir, 'stable', manduan, 'room, house, palace, temple' (eccles.) In Greek Church the superior of a large monastery, or group of monasteries, corresponding to abbot in Western Church

Archimedean, adj [1 ʔrkimēdian, 2 ʔkimēdian], fr Archimedes, a Gk mathematician c 230 BC A Pertaining to Archimedes, b esp Archimedean principle, (1) the lever, (2) the doctrine of the relation of the weight of a body immersed in water, to the amount of water it displaces &c, Archimedean screw, one formerly used for raising water, rotating in a hollow cylinder, which is in a slanting position and partly immersed archipelago, n [1 ʔrkəpiʃeləgə, 2 ʔtʃiʃeləgə] Ital arcipelago, fr Gk arkhi, 'chief', see arch-, & pelagos, 'sea', see pelagic Lat 'chief sea' 1 A The Aegean Sea between Greece and Asia Minor, hence, b any sea or sheet of water in which there are numerous islands 2 A group of islands architect, n [1 ʔrkitekt, 2 ʔkitekt] Fr architecte, fr Lat architectus, fr Gk arkhi-tēktōn, 'master-builder, director of works' Gk tēktōn, 'carpenter, builder', is related to Gk tēktōn, 'art, skill, craft' &c, & w Sert takon, 'carpenter' See arch- & technical 1 A professional student of building as an art and a science, who designs buildings, draws plans, and directs process of construction, the term is extended also to a designer of ships, a naval architect 2 (fig) One who creates, shapes, and moulds non material things the architect of his fortunes Ppr the Great Architect of the Universe, God as Creator architectonic, adj [1 ʔrkitektɒnik, 2 ʔkitektɒnik] Gk arkhi-, 'chief', & tēktōnikos, 'skilled in building' See prea & Related to architects and architecture, b constructive, c connected with the systematization of knowledge architectonics, n pl, fr prea The architectural art and technique architectural, adj [1 ʔrkitektʃərəl, 2 ʔkitektʃərəl] architectural & -al Connected with, having the qualities of, architecture architecturally, adv Preco & -ly From point of view of, after the manner of, architecture architecture, n [1 ʔrkitektʃə, 2 ʔkitektʃə] Fr, fr Lat architectūra See architect & -ure 1 The science and art of building and construction in masonry, esp of houses, churches, bridges 2 Style, mode, design of building, as having certain distiguishing features according to the period and nationality of the work 3 Construction generally, creative workmanship the architecture of a parliamentary bill, of a speech &c architrave, n [1 ʔrkitrāv, 2 ʔkitrāv], fr Ital architrave, fr Gk archi-, see arch- & Lat trabs, trabis, 'a beam' See trabeation (archit) a Lowest part of the entablature which rests directly upon the column, b moulding above and on either side of the top of the opening of a door or window archival, adj [1 ʔrkival, 2 ʔkaval] See archive & -al Belonging to, contained in, archives archive(s), n [1 ʔrkiv(z), 2 ʔkav(z)] Fr, fr L Lat archivum, fr Gk arkheion, 'public building, residence of chief magistrate' Cp archon & see arch- A Place where public records and documents are kept, b records and historical documents stored in such a place archivist, n [1 ʔrkivist, 2 ʔkivist] Preco & -ist Keeper of public records archivolt, n [1 ʔrkivolt, 2 ʔkivolt], fr Ital archivolta, fr Lat arcus, 'bow, arch', see arch (I), & volta, q v under vault Inner part of curve of an arch, moulding surrounding the curve of an arch archion, n [1 ʔrkion, 2 ʔkion] Gk arkhōn, 'ruler, magistrate', fr arkhō, 'I rule' See this base under arch- One of the nine chief magistrates of ancient Athens archpriest, n [1 ʔrkpriest, 2 ʔtʃpriest] See arch- & priest Formerly a priest who acted as chief assistant under a bishop archway, n [1 ʔrkwaɪ, 2 ʔtʃwaɪ] See arch (L) & way Passage going through an arch archiform, adj [1 ʔrkifɔrm, 2 ʔkifɔrm], fr Lat arcus, 'bow' See arch (I) & -form Curved, shaped, like a bow or arch arctic, adj & n [1 ʔrktik, 2 ʔktik], fr Lat arcticus, fr Gk arktikos, 'of the Bear, northern', fr arktos, 'bear, the constellation of the Great Bear, the North', w arktos of the cognates Lat ursus, fr ursos*, see Ursa, Sert risa, W arkh 1 adj A Belonging to the extreme Northern latitudes, polar, b very cold, as in arctic regions the weather has become absolutely arctic 2 n (usually cap) The arctic circle or regions arcuate(d), adj [1 ʔrkutəd, 2 ʔktutəd] fr Lat arcuatus, PP of arcuare, 'to curve like a bow', fr arcus, 'bow' See arc arcuate, bent, like a bow arcuation, n [1 ʔrkutʃiən, 2 ʔktutʃiən] Preco & -ion A act of curving or arching, b (archit) use of arches in building, c series of arches

-ard, suff [1 ʔrd, 2 ʔd], forming ns, fr O Fr, fr Gmc, cogn w hard, also spelled -art, as in drunkard, elugard, braggart &c ardency, n [1 ʔrdənsi, 2 ʔdɒnsi] See next word & -cy Condition of being ardent, heat of emotion, vehemence ardent, adj [1 ʔrdənt, 2 ʔdɒnt], fr Lat ardens (em), Pres Part of ardere for ardere, 'to burn, glow', lit & fig, fr ardus, ' parched', w wh cp also ardere, 'become dry' &c The r in these Lat words is for z, earlier s, the base was therefore orig as*, & is found in Sert aser, 'ash, dust', ardus, 'black, ash-coloured', the same base appears in Gmc w an additional formative suff, Goth asō, 'ash', O H G asca, O I asc(e) See further under ash (I) & arid 1 Burning, fiery, hot, glowing, humming The figurative use is now more common than the literal The latter survives, however, in ardent heat (esp of sun), ardent spirits, referring to parching, hot effect on the throat 2 Otherwise, the word is applied, a to emotional states, to express vehemence ardent love, hate, hopes, desires &c, b to persons, in sense of eager, zealous an ardent admirer, supporter &c ardently, adv Preco & -ly In an ardent, eager manner, with ardour, eagerly ardour, n [1 árður, 2 áda] Lat ardor, 'heat, flame', also 'eagerness' See ardent & -or a Warmth, violence, of passion, emotion, feelings, b zeal, earnestness patrician, religious ardour arduous, adj [1 árduus, 2 áduas] fr Lat arduus, 'high, steep, difficult', cogn w Gk oríthē, 'straight, erect' See ortho-, also arbor 1 High, steep, difficult to climb (obs) 'arduous path' (Pope) 2 Difficult to accomplish, laborious, severe an arduous task 3 (of persons, transferred sense) Capable of accomplishing difficult tasks, therefore energetic, strenuous arduously, adv Preo & -ly With hard work and toil, laboriously arduousness, n See preo & -ness State, quality, of being arduous are (I), vb [1 ar, 2 á] & o, pres pl indie of be, fr OE Northumbrian typo aron, ME áre(n) Ar- here is fr earlier *az, Aryan *os-, w wh op forms w different gradation in es, q v under am are (II), n [1 ar, 2 á] Fr, fr Lat area See next word In metric system, a unit of surface=100 sq metres, 119.6 sq yards area, n [1 ária, 2 ária] Lat area, 'vacant piece of ground (esp in a town), building plot' Origin doubtful, perb related to Lith dras, 'the open air' 1 Space, extent of ground, whether enclosed or not, it may be applied to a the surface expanse of floor of a building, such as a-dinner or hall, b enclosed space upon which a building stands, c specif, sunk, paved court or yard, before a town house, railed off from street, approached from ground level by steps, and giving access and light to basement 2 Particular tract of the earth's surface, region wheat growing area, areas of population 3 (fig) Range, scope area of thought, investigation & o areca, n [1 areka, árka, 2 árika, árika] Port, fr Canarese Species of palm found in parts of Asia, and in Malay Archipelago, bearing pungent, astringent fruit areca nut, n Fruit of areca, used for chewing, betel arena, n [1 árēna, 2 árēna] Lat arena, harēna, 'sand, sandy place, seashore, place of combat (fr being strewn with sand) in Roman amphitheatres', hence 'the combats in the amphitheatres', prob fr ghasēna*, & cogn w M Ir ganem, 'sand', fr ghasēnā*, further relationships doubtful 1 Used in above Latin senses, except that the notion of sand has been entirely lost 2 (fig) The scene of any conflict or vigorous action the arena of the World War, to enter the arena of politics arenaceous, adj [1 árēnashus, 2 árēnashus] formed fr Lat arenāce (us), 'sandy', & ceus, fr arēna, 'sand' See preo & -aceous Sandy, resembling sand areola, n [1 árēola, 2 árēola] Lat, 'small open space', dimin of area A very small area, e g between veins of a leaf, or between the stiffening ribs of an insect's wing, b (anat, med) rosy areole surrounding nipple, red in flamed ring round a pustule areometer, n [1 árēometer, 2 árēómēta], fr Gk arade, 'thin, not dense, rare', cogn w Sort rit, 'without', O Slav orit, 'to dissolve', & perh w Gk erēmos, 'solitary', see hermit & -meter Hydrometer

Areopagite, n [1 árēopagīt, 2 árēópagāt], fr Gk Areopagitis See next word (Gk -hust) Member of the Areopagus

Areopagus, n [1 árēopagus, 2 árēópagos] Lat, fr Gk Areopagos, also Aresos pagos, 'hill of Ares or Mars' For the second element see under pax (Gk hust) A hill west of the Acropolis, Athens, seat of an ancient judicial tribunal, b this tribunal arête n [1 árēt, 2 árēt] Fr, 'a fish house', also sharp ridge of roofing', fr Lat arista, 'awn or beard of an ear of grain', origin uncertain Sharp ridge or crest of mountain argali, n [1 árǵala, 2 árǵala] Hind hargila Large Indian stock, raptant-bird.

argali, n [1 árǵali, 2 árǵali] Tatar name Large, wild Asiatic sheep, Ovis ammon, with large, curved horns argand burner, n [1 árǵand bérner, 2 árǵand hána] Burner (for gas) for the argand lamp argand lamp, n [1 árǵand lǵamp, 2 árǵand lǵamp], fr name of Swiss physician, Aimé Argand (1755-1803) Lamp with cylindrical wick, allowing current of air inside as well as out argent, n & adj [1 árǵent, 2 árǵent] Fr, fr Lat argenteus, bt 'the white metal, silver', op Gk argē, 'bright, white' See argil 1 n a The metal silver (archaic or poet), b (poet) whiteness, something white 'The polished argent of her breast' (Tennyson), c (her) silver tincture on shield 2 adj Resembling silver, silvery white, white argentiferous, adj [1 árǵentiferus, 2 árǵentiferus] See argent & -ferous (of ore) Containing silver argentine, adj [1 árǵentin, 2 árǵentain] Lat argentinus, 'of silver' argent & -ine Resembling silver in colour, made of silver, giving out a clear silvery sound when struck argil, n [1 árǵil, 2 árǵil], fr Fr argile, 'clay', fr Lat argilla, fr Gk argillos, 'white clay, potter's earth' Cp Gk argē, 'white', argē, 'shining, bright, glistening', the last word, & not 'white', is apparently the primitive sense Cp the cogn Sort pyras, 'red, glowing' See argent Potter's clay argillaceous, adj [1 árǵilashus, 2 árǵilashus], fr preo & -aceous Resembling, having nature of, containing, clay, olayey argilliferous, adj [1 árǵiliferus, 2 árǵiliferus] See argil & -ferous Bearing, rich in, clay

Argive, n [1 árǵiv, 2 árǵiv] Lat Argivus, 'a Greek of Argos, a Greek', fr Argos & -ive a An inhabitant of Argos in Peloponnesus, b (hy extension) any (ancient) Greek (poet) argon, n [1 árǵon, 2 árǵon], fr Gk argos, 'idle, inert', fr argos, fr a-, 'not, without', & ergon, 'work' See argon & op also work (chem) Inert gas existing in the atmosphere

Argonaut, n [1 árǵonawt, 2 árǵonšt], fr Lat Argonauta, fr Gk Argonautēs, 'a sailor in the ship Argo', fr Argo & nautes, 'sailor' See nautical 1 (Gk mythol) One of the heroes who sailed with Jason in the ship Argo in quest of the Golden Fleece 2 (zool) Genus of mollusc, allied to the cuttle fish, found in the Mediterranean, the paper nautilus argosy, n [1 árǵosi, 2 árǵosi] Formerly Ragusey (in pl), 'richly laden merchant-ships', from the Dalmatian port Ragusa Large ship, esp a merchantman argot, n [1 árǵō, 2 árǵō] Fr Etymol unknown Low, popular slang, esp of Paris Specif, thieves' slang arguable, adj [1 árǵuābl, 2 árǵuābl] See argue & -able (of a proposition) Having sufficient probability, basis of possible truth, to be capable of support by argument argue, v trans & intrans [1 árǵū, 2 árǵū], fr O Fr arguer, fr Lat arguere, freq of arguere, 'make clear, prove', fr same base as Lat argentum, 'silver', see argent, the primitive meaning of wh is 'shining, clear' Cp argute A trans 1 a To debate, discuss, bring reasons for and against to argue a case, question & o, b to persuade by discussion and reasoning to argue a man out of an opinion & o 2 To prove, indicate his action argues him a man of weak intelligence B intrans To maintain an opinion by giving reasons, to reason, dispute keenly to argue in favour of a theory & o, to argue that black is white Argue against (a person), oppose in argument, (a proposition) try to prove by argument that it is false, argue about (a thing), dispute concerning, argue with (a person), exchange arguments with argument, n [1 árǵument, 2 árǵument] Fr, fr Lat argumentum, 'argument, proof, evidence', fr arguere See preo & -ment.

1 Reasons, line of reasoning, adopted for purpose of convincing others of truth of a proposition, reason, or series of reasons adduced to influence, and persuade to acceptance of conclusions strong, weak, unconvincing, argumen(s) 2 Process of reasoning, controversy, discussion, debate to rely on, trust to, argument for persuasion 3 Summary of the subject matter of a book, plot of a story & o argumentation, n [1 árǵumentāshun, 2 árǵumentāshun] Fr argumentation, fr Lat argumentatō (em), 'adducing of proof', fr argumentāre, 'to argue', see argument, & -ation Act, process, of adducing reasons and drawing conclusions, debate argumentative, adj [1 árǵumentātiv, 2 árǵumentātiv] Fr argumentativ, see preo & -ive a (of persons) Fond of, given to dispute and argument, disputatious, b (of utterances & o) abounding in, characterized by, argument, controversial argumentatively, adv Preo & -ly In an argumentative manner argumentativeness, n See preo & -ness

Argumentative, n See preo & -ness

Argus, n [1 árǵus, 2 árǵus] Lat Argus, fr Gk Argos, a mythological person with a hundred eyes Chiefly in argus eyed, keensighted, observant, vigilant, argus pheasant, n, a bird of the East Indies, resembling a pheasant, but allied to the peacock, the male having large, ocellated wing feathers and tail argute, adj [1 árǵūt, 2 árǵūt] Lat argutus, lit 'made clear, clear, sharp, acute, witty, cunning', & o, fr arguere, 'make clear' See argue Quick, sharp (in physical or mental activities) argyrodite, n [1 árǵirōdīt, 2 árǵirōdāst], fr Gk argyrodēs, 'rich in silver', fr arguros, 'silver', fr argos, 'shining, bright', see argil, & eidos, 'shape, form', see idol & idea A rare, steel grey mineral, containing silver and germanium aria, n [1 árēna, 2 árēna] Ital, fr Lat ārē, 'air' See air (mus) An air, tune, melody; esp elaborate air sung by a single voice in an oratorio

Arian, adj & n [1 árēan, 2 árēan] fr Lat Arīanus, fr Arīus, Arīus, Gk Arīos, Arīos, name of a heretic of Alexandria in 4th cent AD, who taught that Christ is merely the first and noblest of all created things, that the Son is not of the same substance as the Father a adj Pertaining to the doctrine of Arīus, b n, one who holds this doctrine

-arian, suff [1 árēan, 2 árēan], fr Lat -ārīus (us) & -ārīus See -ary & -an Used in forming adjs & ns, generally a sect, class, school of thought & o, e g proletarian, humanitarian, Unitarian

Arianism, n [1 árēanizm, 2 árēanizm] Arian & -ism The heretical doctrines of Arīus and the Arians arid, adj [1 árīd, 2 árīd], fr Lat aridus, 'dry, parched', fr arēre, 'to be dry' See ardent a (of soil & o) Dry, parched, barren, b (fig, of the mind and the products of mental activity) barren, jejune, uninteresting aridity, n [1 árīdita, 2 árīdita] Fr ariditas, Lat ariditas (em), 'dryness', fr aridus, see arid, & -ity State of being arid (lit and fig) ariel, n [1 árēl, 2 árēl] Arab ariyah, 'stag' Arabian gazelle

Aries, n [1 árēs, 2 árēs] Lat, 'ram', genit arīus Cp Gk eryphos, 'kid', Lith, eritis, 'lamb', Ir earb, 'kid' (astron) Constellation, the first of signs of the zodiac aright, adv [1 árīt, 2 árīt] a-, for on, & *right Rightly arid, n [1 árīl, 2 árīl], fr Low Lat arillus, 'dried grape' (hot) An accessory seed-covering, developing after fertilization, as in the passion flower arioso, adv [1 árīosō, 2 árīosō] Ital, fr aria, & oso=Lat -osus, adj suff See -ous (mus) In a flowing, melodious manner.

arise, vb intrans [1 ariz, 2 araz] a- & rise 1 (archaic and poet.) To get up, rise from bed, from recumbent position, from lower to higher position, (of persons, and esp of heavenly bodies) 2 To spring up, to come into existence, action, notice, be born great confusion arose, many false prophets shall arise, many great men have arisen from very humble beginnings, (fig, of sound) a shout arose from the crowd, became audible 3 To spring from, proceed, issue, result from great consequences may arise from trifling causes, nothing arises out of that statement arista, n [1 arista, 2 arista] Lat See arête (hot) The awn or beard of grain, grasses &c aristate, adj [1 aristāt, 2 aristēit], fr preo & -ate Bearded (of grains) aristocracy, n [1 aristokrasi, 2 aristōkrasi] Fr aristocratie, fr Lat aristocrata, fr Gk aristokratia, 'rule of the best', fr aristos, 'best', cp Gk aristōn, 'better', aretē, 'virtue', aretēin, 'to make good, console, please' &c, & see -ocracy 1 Government by the best citizens (i.e. those most distinguished by birth, fortune &c), therefore, government by a small class, oligarchy 2 Body from whom ruling class comes, the nobility of birth 3 Best and most distinguished representatives of a body, class aristocracy of talent, intellect &c aristocrat, n [1 aristokrat, 2 aristokrāt], fr Fr aristocrate, fr aristocratie, aristocratique See preo & -crat Person of ancient and distinguished birth, a member of the hereditary nobility, whether titled or not aristocratic, adj [1 aristokratik, 2 aristokrātik], fr Fr aristocratique, fr Gk aristokratikos See preo & -ic 1 Pertaining to, favouring, an aristocracy to have aristocratic leanings, sympathies &c 2 Bo longing to the aristocracy by birth, well born, resembling an aristocrat, having distinguished bearing and manners aristocratically, adv [1 aristokrātikl, 2 aristokrātikl] Preo & -al (rare) Anstocratic

aristocratically, adv Preo & -ly In the manner of, like, an aristocracy or aristocrats arithmetical, adj [1 arithmetik, 2 arithmētik], fr Lat arithmetica, fr Gk hē arithmētikē (so lehānē), 'art of counting', fr arithmētikos, adj, fr arithmēō, 'I number, count, reckon up', fr arithmos, 'number, a numbering or counting', perh connected w Lat reor, PP ratus, 'to think, imagine', & Lat ratio, 'process of thinking, reckoning', see rata (I), also w Goth raþþō, 'number, account' a The science of numbers, art of computing, b treatise on this subject arithmetically, adv [1 arithmētikl, 2 arithmētikl] Preo & -al Pertaining to, connected with, based on, arithmetical arithmetically, adv Preo & -ly By means of arithmetical arithmetician, n [1 arithmetišun, 2 arithmēt(ə)n] See arithmetical & -ician One proficient in arithmetical arithmometer, n [1 arithmometer, 2 arithmōmētr], fr Fr arithmomètre, fr Gk arithmōs, 'number', see arithmetical, & -meter A calculating machine ark, n [1 ark, 2 āk] OE arc, earc, 'Noah's Ark, a box, coffin', fr Lat arca, 'chest' See arcaneum 1 A chest, receptacle (rare and poet.), specif, Ark of the Covenant, Jewish receptacle of sacred things 2 Specif a the vessel in which Noah was saved from the Flood, b Noah's ark, child's toy in imitation of the ark, containing wooden figures enclosed to resemble men and animals arles, n [1 ariz, 2 āiz] Scots & Nbna variant of obs cries See earnest (III) Earnest-money arm (I), n [1 arm, 2 ām] OE earm, arm, Common Gmc arm*, cogn w Lat armus, 'shoulder where it joins the shoulder-blade', Gk harmos, 'joint', fr same orig base as armz (II) 1. Upper limb of the human body between the shoulder and the hand Plur to walk arm-in-arm (with), to give, offer, one's arm (to), to take one's arm, to receive a person with open arms, very cordially, a child in arms, very young child who must be carried, to keep (a person) at arm's length, treat coldly, make a long arm, stretch arm out to its fullest length 2 a Part of clothing covering an arm, a sleeve the arm of a coat, b that part of a chair or other seat which supports the arm of either 3 (fig) Grip, power, authority the arm of the law 4 Anything remotely resembling the arm in shape arm of a tree, big branch, of a river, river fork, of the sea, estuary arm (II), n, commonly in pl, arms, fr Fr arme, fr Lat arma (only in pl), 'implements of war, weapons', also 'implements of agriculture, the tackle of a ship' &c, ultimately fr same base ar-*, 'join, fix' &c, as seen in arm (I), cp further, Gk harma, 'chariot, chariot and horses', armena, 'tackle, rigging of a ship, any tools or implements', armazein, 'to fit together, join, prepare, make ready' See also art, arthritis 1 Weapon, instrument of attack or defence fire arm, small arms, pistol, rifle Plur to take up arms (against), enter into hostilities, to arms!, call to take up arms, to bear arms, to be a soldier, to lay down arms, cease hostilities, either a to surrender, or b to grant peace, in arms, armed, ready to fight, up in arms, roused to indignant protest, under arms, armed and organized as fighting force, deeds of arms, military exploits 2 A branch of the fighting services of a state, the cavalry, infantry, or artillery, also of navy or air-force 3 pl (her) Devices borne by members of a family on a shield, banner &c as hereditary marks of distinction, similar heraldic devices used by countries, cities, institutions &c, coat of arms, shield bearing proper heraldic devices, King of, of Arms, one of the chief officials at Herald's Office or College of Arms, sergeant at arms, the mace-bearer of the Lord Chancellor and Speaker, responsible for discipline arm (III), vb trans & intrans, fr Fr armer, fr Lat armare, 'to furnish with weapons, implements &c, to equip' See preo A trans 1 To furnish, equip, with weapons 2 a To furnish with tools, or appliances, suitable for particular work, or to meet circumstances (extended to any form of equipment) to be armed with umbrella and golf-shoes, b (of mental and moral preparation) to be armed at all points, with information, arguments &c 3 (reflex) to arm oneself (lit and fig) B intrans To take up, provide oneself with arms war is certain, we should arm without delay armada, n [1 armāda, 2 armēda] Span, fr Lat armātus, -a, -um, 'equipped, armed', PP of armare See arm (III) A fleet of warships, specif that fleet sent by Philip II of Spain against England in 1588 the Spanish, also Invincible, Armada armadillo, n [1 armadillo, 2 armādillō] Span, dimin of armado, 'armed creature', fr Lat armātus, PP of armare See arm (III) (zool) S American toothless, burrowing mammal, which is protected by small hard horny plates resembling armour

Armageddon, n [1 armagedon, 2 armagedōn], fr Gk Harmagedon, in Rev xvi 16, etymol doubtful, usually taken as equiv to Hob har megiddon, district of Megiddo, in Palestine, scene of many great battles, possibly the word represents the name of an old Babylonian deity a Place where the last great battle before the Day of Judgement is to be fought, b (by trans) a great final or decisive battle between the nations armament, n [1 armāment, 2 armēmōnt], fr Lat armāmentum (pl), 'implements, fittings for any purpose', fr armare, 'to arm, equip' See arm (III) & -ment a Forces, esp naval, equipped and armed for war, b great guns of men-of-war, together with torpedoes and ammunition of all kinds, c act or process of fitting out army and navy for war armature, n [1 armāchur, 2 armāt(ə)] Lat armātūra, 'armour', fr armāre, 'to arm' See arm (III) 1 a Armour, anything worn to protect the body, hence, b any covering of a protective character, of means of protection of animals or plants, wire covering round a cable &c Specif 2 a (elect) core of laminated iron wound round by coils of insulated copper wire, the part of a dynamo which rotates in the magnetic field, b a short bar of iron across the poles of a horse shoe magnet armchair, n [1 armchār, 2 armt(ə)] See arm (I) & chair Chair with supports for the arms arme blanche, n [1 arm hlabnsh, 2 arm blāf] Fr, 'white arm' a The cavalry sabre, b cavalry armed (I), adj [1 armd, 2 āmd] arm (I) & -ed Relating to the human arm, usually in compounds, long armed, white armed &c armed (II), adj, fr PP of arm (III) Furnished with weapons armet, n [1 armet, 2 āmet], fr O Fr armette, dimin of arme See arm (II) & -et A steel helmet, of the 15th cent, with closely fitting round head-piece, a movable visor, and a jointed neck-piece armful, n [1 armfool, 2 āmful] See arm (I) & -ful As much as can be held in the arms, hence, a large quantity an armful of hay armiger, n [1 armijer, 2 āmīdžə] Lat, 'weapon bearer', fr arma, 'weapons', & gerere, 'to bear, carry' See gerent An escutcheon, person possessing, and entitled to bear, heraldic arms armigerous, adj [1 armijerus, 2 āmīdžərus], fr preo & -ous Possessing, entitled to bear, arms an armigerous family armillary, adj [1 armilari, 2 āmīlārī], fr Lat armilla, 'armlet, bracelet', fr armus, 'shoulder', see arm (I), & -ary a Pertaining to a bracelet or ring, b consisting of rings, or spheres Armillary sphere, ancient astronomical instrument consisting of a hollow sphere made up of series of circles, and turning upon its polar axis arming, n [1 armīng, 2 āmīp] See arm (III) & -ing a Act or process of supplying arms, b heraldic arms

Arminian, n & adj [1 arminian, 2 āmīnīən], fr Arminius, Dutch theologian, d 1609 a n Adherent of Arminianism, b adj, pertaining to Arminianism

Arminianism, n [1 arminianizm, 2 āmīnīnīzəm] Preo & -ism The anti Calvinist theological doctrines of Arminius armistice, n [1 armistis, 2 āmīstis] Fr, fr Low Lat armistitium*, fr Lat arma, 'weapons' (see arm (II)), & -sistere, -situm (in compounds), fr sistere, 'to cause to stand (still), stop', fr stāre, 'to stand', see state, on anal of solstitium, 'standing still of the sun' (mil) A suspension of hostilities by mutual agreement between belligerents, a truce armlet, n [1 armlet, 2 āmlet] arm (I) & -let 1 Band, or oriole, of cloth or other material worn round the arm 2 A small inlet of the sea, a branch of a river armorial, adj & n [1 armōrial, 2 āmōriāl] See armory & -al (her) a adj Pertaining to heraldic arms armorial bearings, b n, a book of coats of arms armory, n [1 armōri, 2 āmōrī], fr O Fr armoire, armoire, fr armoir, armoyer, 'to blazon heraldic arms', fr Lat arma 'arms', see arm (II) Science and art of heraldry armour (I), n [1 armur, 2 āmā], fr O Fr armēure, fr Lat armātūra See armatura 1 Protective covering for the body in war, made either of chain mail, or of metal plates fitted to the trunk, arms, legs, and head (that for the latter being the helmet), and riveted together 2 Steel plates used to protect ships, forts, motor cars, tanks &c from artillery or rifle fire armour (II), vb trans, fr preo To furnish with steel plates as a protective covering, usually in P.P. armoured armour-bearer, n See armour (I) & bearer armour-clad, adj See armour (I) & clad.

 Covered, protected, by armour armour clad warriors, armour clad ships armoured, adj [1 armurd, 2 ámed], fr P.P. of armour (II) Furnished with, protected by, armour armoured cruiser armourer, n [1 armurar, 2 ámará], fr O Fr armurier, armeurier, fr armelleur, 'armour' See armour (I) & -er 1 a Formerly, one who made, repaired, cleaned, and fitted armour, b one who makes and repairs arms 2 One in charge of the small arms of a ship or a regiment armour-plate, n See armour (I) & plate Steel plate used as armour of ships armour-plated adj Provided with armour plate armoury, n [1 armuri, 2 ámeri] armour (I) & -y Place where arms of war are kept army, n [1 armí, 2 ámi], fr Fr armée, lit 'armed force', cogn w Span armada, Ital armata, fr Lat armatus, P.P. of armare, 'to arm' See arm (II) & (III) 1 a Organized body of men, trained, armed, and equipped for fighting against the enemies of their country, specif b the whole of such men belonging to a state Great Britain's army is very small in relation to her responsibilities, Phr ta enter, ga into, join, the army, standing army, one consisting of professional soldiers, permanently under arms, c military unit consisting of two army corps, commanded by a general 2 An organized body of persons engaged in special work Salvation Army 3 A very large number, great multitude a whole army of workmen were engaged upon the new road army corps, n See army & corps Military unit consisting (in the Great War, according to English organization) of three infantry divisions with various corps troops of artillery, engineers, cavalry, and auxiliary services, commanded by a lieutenant-general army list, n See army & list Official list published at regular intervals, giving name, rank, regiment, or actual post, of every officer holding His Majesty's commission arnica, n [1 arnika, 2 ánika] Etymol unknown a Genus of plants, b drug or tincture made from the root of the plant, used for sprains, bruises &c. arout interj [1 arout, 2 árint] Etymol doubtful Sileat suggests derivation fr OE (ge)rým (pū) 'mark room', fr OE rūm, 'spacious, wide' See room Usually in Phr arout thee! Be off! Begone! (obs) aroma n [1 aróma, 2 ároma] Lat, fr Gr arōma, 'seasoning, spice' Etymol obscure Fragrance, delicate, clinging perfume, flavour, (also fig) characteristic quality or atmosphere in work of art aromatic, adj [1 áromatik, 2 áromatik] fr Fr aromatique, fr Lat aromaticus, fr Gr arōmatikos See aroma & -atic Giving off a fragrant, spicy odour arose, vb [1 aróz, 2 árouz] Pret of arise O.L. eris V.L. arosis around adv & prep [1 áround, 2 áarúnd] a- fr or & round 1 adv See round (I) Pounded about, in circles to and fro in the neighbourhood to go around, (colloq) to hang about 2 prep See round (II) On all sides of, about, encompassing arousal, n [1 árouzal, 2 árouzál] See next word & -al (true or archaic) The act of arousing the act of being aroused arouse vb trans [1 áruiz, 2 áruiz] See arouse & -se a (of persons) to awaken from sleep or inactivity b (of passions) to excite cause to become active arpeggio n [1 árquio, 2 áripidió] Ital fr arpeggio pl 'arpeggio', fr arpe 'harp', see harp (true) Playing of notes of a chord in rapid succession, resembling harp-fingering in a solo melodic style arquebus, also barquebus, n [1 árkwibus, 2 ákwibus], fr Fr (h)arquebuse, fr Ital archibuso, of Gmc origin, cp M.H.G. hakenbüchse & LG hakenbüchse, lit 'hook gun', so called because orig slung fr a hook, the first element is cogn w hook, but has been influenced by Ital arco, 'bow for shooting', the second element is Germ büchse, 'box', then 'a gun' See box, & cp -bus in blunderbus The earliest form of hand gun, precursor of the musket, it was of large bore, and had a hook near the muzzle by which it could be attached to a rest stuck in the ground from which it was fired arquebusier, harquebusier, n [1 árkwí búzier, 2 ákwíbyúziz] Prec & -ier Soldier armed with an arquebus arrack n [1 árak, 2 árak] O Fr, fr Arab 'araq, wh meant first 'sweat', then 'the evaporation of sap drawn from date palm', finally, 'strong drink, distilled spirit' (Yule and Barnell) In the East the name is also applied to spirit made from rice or molasses arraign (I), vb trans [1 árán, 2 árin] M.E. arainen &c, fr A- Fr arainer, arainer, fr Lat ad-, 'to', ratio (em), 'reason, account' See ratio & rate (I) 1 (law) To indict on a criminal charge Hence, 2, to call to account, call in question, examine publicly and critically to arraign before the bar of public opinion arraign (II), n, fr prec (law) Arraignment, indictment, only in Clerk of Arraigns, deputy of the Clerk of Assize, who reads the indictment arraignment, n [1 áránment, 2 árinment] See arraign (I) & -ment Process or act of arraigning or indicting, or of being arraigned arrange, vb trans & intrans [1 áránj, 2 árinđj] Late M.E., fr O Fr aranger, fr a, 'to', & ranger &c, 'put into line' See range (I), & rank A trans 1 a To put into order, to group, place, in systematic manner, classify, sort (of persons and things) to arrange an audience (in their proper seats), arrange one's house, affairs, arrange one's books, papers, collections &c, b (fig, of non material things) to arrange one's arguments, ideas &c 2 a To settle a dispute, esp by agreement between the parties let us arrange our differences, b to settle controversial questions in advance by a mutual understanding the discussion was a sham, everything had been arranged before the meeting 3 To adapt a piece of music, or a literary work, to a new purpose, or give it a new form to arrange a piece for four voices, for the violin, arrange a novel for the stage B intrans a To come to an agreement arrange with a person about a matter, b to manage, smooth out difficulties, get something done I will arrange somehow, I will arrange to do us you wish &c arrangement, n [1 áránjment, 2 árin(d)jment] See arrange & -ment 1 The act or process of arranging, putting in order, classifying &c the arrangement of a library takes a long time 2 Result of above process, manner of grouping classifying the arrangement adopted in this library makes it difficult to find the book required 3 (pl) Preparation, measures for the carrying out of a purpose to make one's own arrangements 4 Settlement, adjustment of a dispute, agreement to come to an arrangement 5 Adaptation of a musical or literary composition arrant adj [1 áránt, 2 árant] Variant of arrant 1 Wandering, vagrant (obs) Hence 2, notorious, outstandingly bad, unforgotten thorough an arrant thief, rogue, rascal &c, arrant nonsense &c arrantly adv Prec & -ly Notoriously, infamously arras n [1 árás, 2 áras] fr town in Artois France, where this fabric was manufactured a Rich figured tapestry, b hangings, wall covering of such material array (I), vb trans [1 árak, 2 áris] M.E. arrian O Fr arier, 'array, prepare, arrange', all fr Ror amo type 'arradere, as in Ital, formed w Lat pref ar- (ie ad- before -r-), & W Gmc reids*, 'ready, equipped', cp O Frs rédi, 'ready', O E riēde, 'ready, mounted', & O E gerēdu, 'trappings, armor', op also Goth cogn garaipe, 'fixed, ordained' See ready 1 To place, set, in order, line, esp a to marshal, dispose (of troops, for battle), b to impanel a jury, (fig, of parties in a debate, counsel in law case) a formidable list of counsel was arrayed against us 2 To dress up, deck out, adorn (hit and fig) 3 (reflex) To array oneself in all one's finery array (II), n See prec 1 Order, line, of battle, disposition of troops battle array 2 A military assemblage, troops 3 A panel of jurors 4 An imposing assemblage or display of persons or things, massed, aligned, grouped together a formidable array of eminent men, of authorities &c 4 Dress, apparel, equipment in fine array arrear, n [1 árér, 2 áris] O Fr arere, cp Mod Fr a-rrière, 'behind', fr L Lat ad retrō, 'backwards' See retro- (in pl) a That in which one has fallen behind arrears of work, correspondence &c, b specif, debt unpaid and overdue arrears of rent, wages &c Phr in arrears (a), behindhand, esp in paying a debt arrears, n [1 árérj, 2 árisáridj] Prec & -age (archaic, rare) That which remains behindhand, that remaining unpaid arrest, adj [1 árék, 2 árek], fr Lat. arrest (um), P.P. type of arripere, 'to set upright, to raise, erect', fr ad-, 'to', & regere, 'to stretch, to keep or lead in a straight line', then 'to guide, lead, direct, rule' See base in right Pricked, cooked (of the ears), on the alert (rare) arrest (I), vb trans [1 árest, 2 árestj], fr O Fr arrest, 'stop', Mod Fr arrêter, cp Ital arrestare, fr Low Lat adrestare, fr ad-, 'to', & restare, 'to stop', fr re-, 'back', & stare, 'to stand' See state & rest (III) 1 a To stop, check the course of, retard, slow down to arrest progress, development, b (law) to delay proceedings on ground of error to arrest judgement 2 (law) To take into legal custody, seize (a person) by legal authority, for a crime &c 3 (of mental activities) To attract and fix, catch and hold to arrest one's attention arrest (II), n, fr O Fr arreste, 'stoppage, delay', & arrest, 'act of arresting' See prec 1 Stoppage, check, retarding (of movement) 2 (law) a The seizure or detention of a person in custody by legal authority, Phr under arrest, in custody, b arrest of judgement, staying (of judgement) for legal cause arresting, adj [1 árísting, 2 áristing], fr Pres Part of arrest (I) Having the property of attracting or exciting the attention and interest, interesting striking an arresting speech, work of art &c arrestive, adj [1 árístiv, 2 áristiv] See arrest (I) & -ive Having tendency to fix and hold the attention arrestment, n [1 árístment, 2 áristment] O Fr arrest (I) & -ment (rare) Act or fact of arresting, detention arriere ban, n [1 áriárban, 2 áriséban] Fr fr O Fr arrier ban, fr O.H.G. harr ban, for second element see ban (II), first element is O.H.G. harr, Mod Germ heer, 'host army', see harry (I), in secondary sense this was confused w arriere, 'behind', fr L Lat ad retrō, 'backwards' See retro- (hist) 1 a Summons to war issued by the French kings to their vassals, b body of vassals so summoned 2 (incorrectly) The summons of the vassals to their tenants as inferior vassals hence, Phr ban et arriere ban arriero pensee, n [1 árí-r pánsi, 2 árisé pánsi] fr Thought which one hides, while revealing another, reticence arris, n [1 árís, 2 áris] fr O Fr ariste, Mod Fr ariste, Lat arista, 'ear of grain' See ariste Sharp ridge formed by junction of two surfaces at different angles, esp edge of moldings arrival, n. [1. arival; 2. aríval] ME arriualle Soc arriuo & -al 1 a The act of coming to the end of one's journey, of reaching destination, advent, b coming to port, or station, of a ship or train 2 Person or thing which arrives or has arrived new arrivals at a hotel &c arrive, vb intrans [1. ariv; 2. aríiv] fr O Fr ariver, oogn w Ital arrivare, Spon arribar, fr Low Lat arribare, arripare, 'come to shore', fr arripare, fr ad-, 'to', & ripa, 'shore, bank'. See riparian 1 To come to, reach, destination, come to end of a journey, to appear on the scene, he brought to arrive at last, early, in London, upon the scene &c 2 (fig) a To come to, reach, a state of mind to arrive at a conclusion, conviction &c, b to reach a state, time, of life to arrive at the age of discretion 3 (of time) To come the time, day, has arrived 4 Used trans by Milton 'ere he arrived The happy isle (P L n 409, 10) arrogance, n [1. árogans; 2. arrogans] O Fr, fr Lat arrogantia See arrogant & -ano The assertion of one's own importance, together with contempt of others, disdainful assumption of dignity or authority, haughtiness arrogant, adj [1. árogant; 2. arrogant] fr O Fr arrogant, fr Lat arrogant-em, Pres Part type of arrogare, 'to claim what is not one's own' See arrogate Self-asserting, given to insisting on one's own fenced rights and importance, haughty, overbearing arrogantly, adv. Pres & -ly In an arrogant manner, with arrogance, haughtily, disdainfully arrogate, vb trans [1. árogāt; 2. árogot] fr Lat arrogāt(-um), P.P. type of arrogare, 'to ask for oneself, to claim what is not one's own', fr ad-, 'to', & rogare, 'to ask' See rogatum 1 To lay claim to something, claim for oneself, without just cause, advance undue pretension to to arrogate the rights of a superior, also to arrogate to oneself (more usual) 2 To ascribe, attribute, to another arrogation, n [1. árogāshun; 2. árogāshun] Pres & -ion Act of taking, or claiming, more than one is entitled to, a presumptuous claim arrondissement, n [1. arondēsman; 2. ar-dīsmā] Fr, fr arronder, 'to round, fill out', fr d & round, round Subordinate administrative district of a department or city arrow, n [1. áró; 2. érou] OE carh, arh, ME arewe, cogn w Goth arhwazna, 'arrow', the words are cogn w Lat arcus, 'bow', & meant orig 'missile for a bow' See arc & arch A straight, slender rod with a sharp point, and a feathered end, shot from a bow arrow-head, n See arrow & head a The head of an arrow, b mark on British Government stores the broad arrow, q.v.

arrowroot, n [1. áróroot; 2. aróurót] See arrow & root So called from its juice used by natives as an antidote for poisoned arrows West Indian plant, from which a nutritive, starchy powder is derived, used as food for invalids arse, n [1. ars; 2. ás] OE ears, ars, ME ers, ars, cogn w Gk árras, fr orsos*, 'tail, rump', & ors, fr orsua*, 'tail', see uro- (II) The buttocks (familiar and vulgar) arsenal, n [1. arsena; 2. ársenal] Fr, fr Ital arsenale, fr Arab dar acina'ah, 'house where things are made', fr dar, 'house', ah, 'the', ah, 'art' The final -al in Fr & Engl is fr Ital -ale. State establishment where ammunition and guns are manufactured and stored.

arsenic (I), n [1. ársenik; 2. ársenik] fr O Fr, fr Lat arsenicum, fr Gk arsenikón, arsenikón, 'yellow orpiment', fr Heb zarniq, fr Pers zarnika*, the word was associated in Gk., by popular etymol., w arren, arsenikós, 'malo', fr arsén, 'malo', cogn w O Pers srén, 'man'. The alchemists divided the elements into male and female a A metallo poison, white arsenic, trioxide of arsenic, b (chem) a semi-metallic element of a steely-grey colour, usually found in the arsenic ores, orpiment, and realgar &c arsenic(al) (II), adj [1. ársenik(l); 2. ársenik(l)] Pres & -al Of, containing, arsenic, caused by arsenic arsenical poisoning arsenious, adj [1. ársénus; 2. ársínus] See arsenoso & -nus Connected with, containing, arsenic, (chem) of trivalent compounds of arsenic arsenious oxide, white arsenic arsis, n [1. arsis; 2. ásis] Lat arsis, fr Gk arsis, 'raising, lifting', fr arsis, fr arsis*, & arsis, fr arsis*, 'I raise, lift', Sort arsis, 'height, point', Lat verruca, fr versica*, 'wart, swelling', soc verruca, O E wearr, 'swelling', fr wearr*, soc apparently cognates (pros) The unaccented part of a foot in Greek and Latin prosody, in English prosody by reversal of usage, the stressed part arson, n [1. ársun; 2. ársun] O Fr, fr L Lat arsion (em), 'a burning', fr Lat ardere, arsum, 'to burn' See ardent The act of deliberately and intentionally setting fire to property, whether one's own to obtain insurance money, or another's as a piece of malice or revenge art, n [1. art; 2. át] fr O Fr art, fr Lat artem, noc of ars, fr ari*, Ser plim, 'use, usage', rit, 'manner, mode', conquered w Lat artus, 'joint, limb', & Gk artizein, 'to prepare' See also artia (I & II), all these are fr base ar*, 'join, put together', art orig is 'a fitting, adjusting, joining' 1 A human skill and industry as applied to adapting and modifying natural objects to man's requirements, human intervention for this purpose, as opposed to the action of natural forces a cavern hollowed out partly by nature, partly by art, b human effort, skill, practice, applied to non-material things a fine voice comes by nature, but is assisted by art 2 Certain branches of human thought and learning considered as instruments of intellectual development, such as grammar, logic, and mathematics the liberal arts, a Master of Arts, Faculty of Arts (in a university) 3 Set of principles, rules, precepts, gained by experience, which teach a systematic method for carrying out operations requiring skill and training, such as the exercise of a craft, or performance of any series of complex activities the art of building, the industrial arts, the art of war, the healing art &c, the Black Art, magic, necromancy 4 Application of skill, dexterity, knowledge, taste, to the esthetic expression of feeling and emotion, or production of beauty, through the medium of colour, form, words, musical sound &c the art of the painter, sculptor, poet, musician, the Fine Arts, the art of Shakespeare or of Beethoven &c 5 Cunning, artifice, skillful contrivance to persuade or deceive, craftiness she put forth all her arts of attraction artefact, variant of artifact Artemisia, n [1. ártémisia; 2. ártémisia] Gk, 'wormwood' (bot) A genus of plants which includes southernwood, or lad's love, and wormwood arterial, adj [1. ártíriál; 2. ártíriál] Fr (16th cent), Mod Fr artériel See artery & -al Connected with, having character of, an artery or arteries arterial blood, as opposed to venous, soc arterialize, arterial road, a main road, arterial traffic &c arterialization, n [1. ártírializashun; 2. ártírializashun] fr next word & -ation The conversion of venous into arterial blood arterialize, vb trans [1. ártírialíz; 2. ártírialíz] fr artírializer arterialize & -ize (of blood) To transform venous blood into arterial blood by impregnating it with oxygen, a process carried out in or through the lungs arteriotomy, n [1. ártíriótóm; 2. ártíriótóm] fr Lat artériotomia, fr Gk artériotomia rec artery & -tomy. (med) The cutting open of an artery artery, n [1. ártéri; 2. ártéri] fr Lat artéria, fr Gk artéria, 'the windpipe, artery', origin doubtful, prob related to Gk arrein, 'to raise', see arsis, fr wh have also aorta, a One of the larger blood-vessels, which carry blood from the heart to all parts of the body, b (fig) something which serves as a channel of supplies, o.g a river or main road artesian, adj [1. ártízián; 2. ártízián] fr Fr artésien, fr O Fr Artes, Mod. Artes, an old province of France Artesian well, one which is bored into a water-bearing stratum, from which a constant supply of water rises through a narrow pipe artful, adj [1. ártíful; 2. ártíful] See art, 5, & -ful (of persons and actions) Deceitful, cunning, crafty artfully, adv Pres & -ly In an artful manner, cunningly, craftily artfulness, n See prec & -ness Cunning, skill in deceiving, craftiness arthritic, adj [1. ártírtik; 2. ártírtik] fr Lat arthriticus, fr Gk arthritikos See arthritis & -ic Liable to, suffering from, affected by, having nature of, arthritis arthritis, n [1. ártírtis; 2. ártírtis] Lat arthritus, fr Gk arthritus, fr arthron, 'a joint', & -itis Arthron is fr base ar*, 'join' & c, seen in arm, art (med) Chronic inflammation of the joints, often leading to stiffening and deformity arthropod, n [1. ártíropod; 2. ártíropod] fr Gk arthron, 'joint', see prec, & -pod (zool) Any member of the great phylum Arthropoda, which includes the crustaceans, arachnids, and true insects artichoke, n [1. ártíshók; 2. ártíshók] fr Ital artichoco, a corrupt of Arab al-harshuf a A plant somewhat resembling a large thistle, whose flower heads have scales or bracts at the bottom, with fleshy edible bases, called also globe artichoke, b Jerusalem artichoke, an entirely different plant, in reality a kind of sunflower, the edible portion of which is the root, Jerusalem is a popular adaptation of Ital girasole, 'sunflower', see girasole article (I), n [1. ártíkl; 2. ártíkl] Fr, fr Lat articulus, dimin of artus, 'joint', fr ar*, 'fit, join' See arm, art 1 An item, particular material object, considered as separate and distinct from others of same class, or a substance representing a class, as distinct from other classes to buy several articles at a shop, coal and iron are important articles of trade 2 Separate portion or clause of a document, setting forth a distinct principle, precept, condition, point, in a statute, treaty, contract, agreement, profession of faith &c, each charge or count in an indictment The Thirty-nine Articles (in Book of Common Prayer), articles of apprenticeship (also special called Articles); Articles of Association, of a joint stock company &c 3 A literary composition dealing with a particular topic, and included in, and forming part of, a newspaper, magazine, encyclopedia &c, but self-contained and independent 4 (gram) Small word (a, the) standing before nouns, or adjectives followed by nouns, with a slight defining function articles (II), vb trans See prec a To bind by articles of apprenticeship (see prec, 2), b to detail charges against accused in an indictment articled, adj [1. ártíklid; 2. ártíklid] fr prec & -ed Bound by articles: articled clerk, apprentice articulate, adj [1. ártíkulár; 2. ártíkulár] fr Lat articulatus, fr articulus See articulo & -ar Connected with the joints articulate (I), vb trans & intrans [1. ártíkulát; 2. ártíkulát] fr Lat articulāt(-um), P.P., of articulare, 'to separate into natural divisions', of speech, 'to utter distinctly', fr articulus, 'joint' See articulo a trans 1 (anat) To connect the joints of a skeleton by wires, so that it forms a unity with each separate bone in its right place 2 To put speech sounds and words together into properly connected utterances, pronounces, utter distinctly, give utterance to ideas. B intrins 1 (anat) To form a joint with (of the extremities of two bones united by, and moving by means of joint) 2 To utter speech sounds, pronounce words, speak, distinctly articulate (II), adj [1 artikülät, 2 ätsk-jlit] See prec 1 (zool, bot, and anat) Provided with joints 2 a (of animal speech) Consisting of distinct sounds and words, clearly distinguishable from each other, as contrasted with the cries of animals, b (of human beings) clear in utterance, speaking, able to express their thoughts and ideas, expressive, c (of products of the mind, treasures &c.), clear, systematically arranged articulation, n [1 artikülätsjum, 2 ätsk-jlesjan] fr Lat articulatio (em), 'jointing', of vines, 'putting forth new joints', fr articulatio (m), PP type of articular. See articulate & -ion 1 a (anat) Junction, joint, between two bones, b (bot) junction between two parts in plants, capable of spontaneous separation 2 Act of putting together, jointing 3 Act, mode, of articulating, or uttering speech sounds, enunciation, speech articulatory, adj [1 artikülätum, 2 ätsk-jleisjan] See articulate & -ory Of, or pertaining to, articulation in any sense artifact n [1 artifikat, 2 ätsfekt] fr Lat ars, art-(em), 'art', & factus, 'made' See artifice & fact (archaeol) Object, such as early palaeolithic flint, made and shaped by human art and skill, as opposed to natural object, shaped by weather, water &c artifice, n [1 artidis, 2 ätsdis] Fr, fr Lat artificium, 'skilled handicraft, skill, in genuity', also in bad sense 'cunning device', cp artifex, fic (em), 'craftsmanship', art (em), 'art', see art & -fic, 'make', form of facere, 'to make' See fact A device, contrivance, ingenious expedient, b (in bad sense) trick, cunning device artificer, n [1 artifizer, 2 ätsfizer] Prec & -er a skilled worker, craftsman, mechanic, b a petty officer in the engineering branch of the navy artificial adj [1 artifizhal, 2 ätsfizhal] fr Lat artificialis See artifice & -al 1 (of things) Made by art, as contrasted with what is produced by nature, produced or contrived by human skill as a substitute for, or in imitation of, what is real, natural artificial flowers, artificial limbs, artificial teeth 2 (of persons, emotions &c.) Feigned, fictitious, not genuine, affected artificial smile, manner &c artificiality, n [1 artifizhaliti, 2 ätsfizhaliti] See prec & -ity The state or quality of being artificial artificialize, vb trans [1 artifizbaliz, 2 ätsfizbaliz], fr artificial & -ize Render, make, artificial artificially, adv [1 artifizhal, 2 ätsfizhal] artificial & -ly a By means of art, not naturally chick artificially hatched, b in an affected manner artificialness n [1 artifizhalnes, 2 ätsfizhalnes] See prec & -ness Artificiality artillerist, n [1 artillerist, 2 ätslirist] See next word & -ist Artilleryman, gunner artillery, n [1 artilleri, 2 ätsliri], fr O Fr artillerie, fr artiller, 'to fortify, provide with engines of war', fr Low Lat articularius, fr artilla, noun pl, dimin of art (em), 'art skill, device' &c See article & art 1 Big guns (not including machine guns), cannon, for discharging shells, as opposed to small arms 2 That branch or arm of the army which has the management of the big guns artilleryman n [1 artilleriman, 2 ätslirimän] See artillery & man One who serves a gun or belongs to the artillery, gunner artisan n [1 artizan, 2 ätsizän] Fr, fr Ital artigiano (fr Low Lat. artificianus) fr Lat artis in PP of artire, 'to instruct in arts', fr art (em) See art One employed in an industrial art, mechanic handicraftsman artist, n [1 ärtist, 2 ätsist] Fr artiste, fr Ital fr Low Lat artista, fr art (em), see art & -ist 1 A skilled performer, one who is proficient, one possessing address, competence, neatness in execution, combined with aesthetic feeling and taste a true, thorough, artist 2 Person who practises one of the fine arts as a profession, (in popular usage) a painter of pictures artiste, n [1 ärtist, 2 ätsist] Fr See prec Term applied (generally by themselves) to public professional performers on the music-hall stage, in the circus &c, quite independently of merit artistic, adj [1 ärtistik, 2 ätsistik] Fr artistique See artist & -ic a Possessed of aesthetic knowledge and sensibility, combined with skill in execution of one of the fine arts, b fond of, appreciative of, the arts artistically, adv [1 ärtistikali, 2 ätsistikali] Prec & -al & -ly After the manner of an artist, so as to show artistic skill artistry, n [1 ärtistri, 2 ätsistri] See artist & -ry The qualities of aesthetic sensibility and taste combined with skill, possessed by an artist artless, adj [1 artles, 2 ätsles] See art & -less Free from art in bad sense, not cunning, crafty, insinuating or artificial, natural, simple, unaffected, innocent, unsophisticated, naïve artlessly, adv Prec & -ly In an artless manner naturally, innocently artlessness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being artless, simplicity, innocence arum, n [1 ärum, 2 äsrum] Lat, fr Gk aron, cogn w Lat (h) or ada, 'reed' a (bot) The wild lily, Arum maculatum, also called 'cuckoo pint', 'lords and ladies', 'wake robin', b popular name of cultivated white lily, usually arum lily, Richardia

-ary, suff [1 äri, 2 äri], forming adjs & ns, fr Lat arius, -a, -um Occurring in words borrowed direct fr Lat, or if fr Fr w corresponding suff -aire, re formed on Lat model

Aryan (I), adj [1 äran, 2 äsran], fr Scrt ärya, 'noble', & -an, cp also the cogn Pers äran, 'Persia', cp Iranian Persh cogn also w Gk aristos, 'best', see aristocrat The Gk name Ärea for Eastern Persia is borrowed fr the Scrt 2 adj a Belonging to, forming part of, the large family of languages, called also Indo European, and Indo Germanic, which includes those Indian dialects and languages related to Sanscrit Persian, and most of the European families of speech, Albanian, Armenian, Hellenic, Italic, Slavonic, Germanic, Celtic, the term was first used by Max Müller, b specif, connected with the hypothetical ancestor of all Aryan languages, c connected with the Sanscrit and Persian branches of Indo Germanic 2 a Belonging to the race which spoke the original Aryan language, b belonging to a race using Aryan speech. It was formerly held that identity of language implied identity of race, a view now abandoned Since it is uncertain which of the races using Aryan speech were the original transmitters of it, the term is now, if applied to race, generally used in sense b

Aryan (II), n, fr prec 1 a Aryan speech in general, b specif, primitive Aryan the hypothetical mother tongue from which all the Aryan families of speech are derived The term is used in this sense in the etymological discussions in this book 2 a A speaker of an Aryan language, b (i) a member of the supposed primitive Aryan race or a descendant of this race, (ii) a European or Asiatic speaking an Aryan language (see remarks under Aryan (I) 2 b), contrasted esp with Semitic as (I), adv [1 az, 2 äz], & rel pron [1 az, 2 äz, w] O E as, whence, whence in ME also, in stressed positions, & as, as as in unstressed the loss of l occurring orig in the latter See also In various senses and functions 1 a Expressing identity of or equivalence in amount, degree, manner history will regard this man as the saviour of his country (cp different force of as in 2 b), ye shall be as gods, do as you are told, I promise to do this as I hope for salvation, I see men as trees walking, b followed by infinitive to be so good as to obey, c in comparisons asserting equality as good as I am 2 Expressing a substitution of a person or thing for another, symbolization, characterization, representation by a person or thing of another, in the character of, in the capacity of, in the light of to act as commander in chief, to appear as Macbeth, b limitation to one special aspect from one point of view he may be regarded as the saviour of his country (cp different force of as in 1 a) as prose style this is bad 3 Denoting time during or at which I was shot as he was escaping, often preceded by just, at the very moment that just as he was speaking there was a loud explosion 4 Introducing a fact or condition from which certain results follow, since, seeing that as he had been properly taught he had no difficulty in dealing with the matter, as you are sorry I'll forgive you 5 Implying, a mitigation of, attenuation of, allowance for insufficiency or incompleteness bad as this horse is, it's the only one I have, I was glad of his help, slight as it was, b depreciation, deduction, from a certain stated degree of adequacy good as it is, it's not enough 6 Introducing words standing for particular instances or illustrations of a general statement, for example, for instance some animals, as the fox and the squirrel, have bushy tails 7 Expressing equality in comparison as old as the hills, cp (with neg) not so young as he looks 8 Adverbial phrases of various kinds, expressing a degree or extent as far as as far as the eye could reach, (fig) all right as far as it goes, b time as soon as, simultaneously with; as yet, so far, up to now, as long as, to such time as, for a certain duration of time keep it as long as you like, as often as, whenever, every time that c conditional as long as, provided that as long as you apologize I'm satisfied, d resemblance, probability, as if he looks as if he hadn't long to live, as though he spoke as though he were thoroughly frightened, e relationship as to, as for, as regard, with reference to, speaking of, with regard to, f purpose so as to, in order that 9 Idiomatic phrases as good as, as good as dead, very nearly, as good as one's word, equivalent to, performing what one promised, (just) as well as (just) as well you did come to day, fortunate that, as well as hit in the leg as well as in the head, in addition to, as much I thought as much, I expected this, as such a poor teacher as such, but a learned man, as it were, as u/o should say, so to speak 10 Pro nominal uses such as, those who, as many as, all who as (II), n [1 as, 2 as] Lat Perh orig 'thin piece of metal' Cp Lat assa, 'plank, disk, slice' See also ace Roman copper coin asafoetida, n [1 äsafetida, 2 asafetida] Span azufetida, fr Pers äz, 'resin', & Lat foetida, 'stinking' See fetid A gum derived from a Persian umbelliferous plant, with a very nauseous taste and smell asbestine, adj [1 äzbéstin, 2 äzbéstain], fr Lat asbestinus, fr Gk asbestos See next word & -ine Pertaining to, or having the properties of, asbestos, non combustible asbestos, n [1 äzbéstos, 2 äzbéstas] Lat, fr Gk asbestos, lit 'unquenchable', fr a-, 'not', & bestos, fr abēnnēmi, 'I quench' The base fr wh these forms spring is believed to be znāks*, & to occur also in Lith žarai, O Slav gasiu, 'to go out', & in Goth gastjan, 'destroy', O HG gustan White or greyish mineral substance found in form of long fibres which can be compressed and moulded into any shape required, or woven into a kind of fabric, asbestos is completely non combustible, and is much assail, vb trans [1 asál, 2 aséil] ME assailen, O Fr assailir, asailr, fr Low Lat adassire, fr ad & salire, 'to leap, spring', op Lat assilire, 'to leap, spring upon' See salient 1 To make a violent physical attack upon, assault (a person, fortress, or military position) 2 To attack with arguments, hostile criticism, ridicule &c, to overwhelm with questions, entreaties &c, also assailed by doubts, fears, temptation, 3 To tackle a difficulty, obstacle &c in the determination to overcome it assailable, adj [1 asálabl, 2 aséilabl] fr prec & -able Capable of being attacked, liable to attack (lit and fig) assailant, n [1 asáilant, 2 aséilant], fr Fr assailant, Pres Part of assailir See assail One who assaults, attacks, an enemy assart, n & vb [1 asart, 2 aséat] O Fr essart, 'grubbing up of trees', Low Lat exartum, fr Lat ex-, 'out', sarrire, 'to grub, hoe', cp sarculum, fr sart-lom*, 'hoe', w these cp Gk saron, 'besom', sardō, 'I sweep, cleanse', also sarā, fr sargō*, 'I sweep away', & further Sort sarā, 'olephant goad' sarī, 'sickle' 1 n a Act (formerly an illegal act) of grubbing up trees, bushes &c, in converting forest into arable land, b land so cleared of trees 2 vb To clear land of wood, make a clearance or assart assassin, n [1 asasin, 2 asesin] Fr, fr Ital assassino, fr Arab hashishī, 'drinkers of hashish', q v, sect of fanatics in Palestine in 13th cent, whose chief object was to stab Crusaders, fr 15th cent assassin became equiv to murderer A secret, treacherous murderer assassinate, vb trans [1 asásinat 2 asesinat], fr prec & -ate To strike down treacherously, murder by violence assassination, n [1 asásinashun, 2 asesinashun] Prec & -ion Treacherous, violent murder, a single, specific act of this assault (I), n [1 asawit, 2 aséit], fr O Fr assaut, fr assaut, fr Lat ad- & saltus, 'a leap', fr salire, 'to leap, spring' See assail & salient 1 A military attack, by sudden rush upon a fortified post to take a town, fortress &c by assault, b a violent physical attack upon a person, c (law) either performance, or threat, of physical violence, if latter be accompanied by menacing gesture, such as raising stick or clenched fist 2 An attack upon a person by words, arguments &c, an attack upon institutions, customs, opinions, made in the hope of destroying them assault (II), vb trans See prec 1 a To attack (fortress &c) by a sudden rush, b to attack (person) with physical violence 2 (archaic) To attack with hostile words, abuse, severe criticism &c assay (I), n [1 asá, 2 aséi], fr O Fr assai, assay, oogn w Ital assaggio, fr Lat exagium, 'a weighing', fr engere, 'to weigh, measure, examine', fr ex- & agere, see agent See also essay Trial, test, keep of the weight, quality, value &c of gold, silver, and other metals assay (II), vb trans, fr prec a To make trial of, to test, specif, to test the purity of valuable metals (gold, silver &c), or to discover the constituents of a metal or ore, b to attempt, endeavour assayable, adj [1 asáabl 2 aséiabl] Prec & -able Capable of being assayed assayer, n [1 asáer, 2 aséi] See prec & -or One who assays metals, esp one who practises assaying as a profession assaying, n [1 asáing, 2 aséi-ŋ] assay (II) & -ing The trial, testing, of metals assemblage, n [1 asémbli, 2 asémbliž] fr Fr assemblage, fr assembler, see assemble, & -age 1 A the act of assembling, of coming, of bringing together, b act or process of putting, fitting together, parts of an engine or other machine 2 A collection of persons, a gathering, company, concourse, (less formal than assembly) 3 A collection of things, a group, cluster.

assemble, vb trans & intrans [1 asémbli, 2 asémbli], fr Fr assembler, oogn w Span asemblar, Ital assembla, fr Lat assemblare, in late sense of 'to collect at the same time', fr ad- & simul, 'at the same time, together' See simulate A trans 1 To collect, cause to come together, into one place, to bring together, convone to assemble an audience &c 2 To put together the parts of some mechanism to assemble a watch, an engine &c B intrans To come, meet, together, to congregate (of a number of individuals) assembly, n [1 asémbli, 2 asémbli], fr O Fr assemble, n, fr fem PP of assembler See prec 1 The act of assembling, or the state of being assembled, a meeting, gathering the assembly of Parliament 2 (only of persons) A company of persons collected together for a common purpose (e.g. legislation, deliberation, entertainment), assembly room, a room in which persons gather together for social entertainment 3 (mil) Signal by drum or bugle for troops to assemble assent (I), vb intrans [1 asént, 2 asént], fr O Fr assenter, Lat assensire, fr ad- & sentire, 'feel, perceive' &c See sense, sentient To agree to, acquiesce in to assent to a proposal, (also absol) some demurred, but most assented assent (II), n O Fr assente See prec The mental act of agreeing to a thing, agreement, acquiescence, consent to give one's assent Royal assent, formal approval given by the British sovereign in Parliament to a bill which has passed both Houses assentation, n [1 aséntashun, 2 aséntéshun], fr Lat assentation (em), fr assentāre, 'to assent habitually, to flatter' See assent & -ation (rare) Ready assent, pretended agreement assentient, adj & n [1 aséntient, 2 aséntiant], fr Lat assentient (em), Pres Part of assensire See assent (I) a adj, Assenting, b n, one who assents.

assentive, adj [1 aséntiv, 2 aséntiv] See prec & -ive Assenting, complying assert, vb trans [1 asért, 2 aséit], fr Lat assert (um), PP type of asserere, 'to join to, lay claim to, vindicate, protect, defend', fr ad- & serere, 'to join, connect, range in a row' See series 1 To maintain, defend, support (a cause or claim), vindicate a claim to assert one's rights, liberties 2 To declare, affirm, state positively, aver to assert that such a thing happened 3 (reflex) Assert oneself a to vindicate one's rights, claim to be heard, b (in bad sense) to claim too much, thrust oneself forward unduly assertion, n [1 asérsbun, 2 asáfén], fr Lat assertion (em), 'a formal declaration respecting the freedom or servitude of a person', fr asserere See assert & -ion, 1 The act of insisting on, urging, claims, rights &c, self assertion, undue insistence on one's rights, claims, importance &c 2 A Declaration, positive statement, b a statement unsupported by evidence a mere assertion assertive, adj [1 asértiv, 2 aséitiv] assert & -ive Positive, given to asserting, claiming, esp with undue insistence and confidence assertively, adv Prec & -ly Dogmatically, presumptively assertiveness, n See prec & -ness Action, esp when habitual, of asserting with confidence and insistence assess, vb trans [1 asés, 2 asés], fr O Fr assesser, fr Low Lat assessare, fr Lat assess (um), PP type of assidere, 'to sit beside, to assist in office' & qg as an assessor, in Low Lat specif 'to apportion a tax', fr ad- & sedere, 'to sit' See sedentary, sit 1 To estimate value of property, esp with view to imposition of a tax or fine, payable by owner to the state, b to estimate amount of damage done to property and the fine payable to owner in respect of this, c judge (person) liable for fine of so much to assess (a person) in damages of such an amount assessable, adj [1 asésabl, 2 aséséabl], fr. prec & -able Capable of being assessed, liable to be assessed assessment, n [1 asésmont, 2 asésmant], fr assess & -ment 1 A Act of assessing, determining, the amount of taxation, fine &c to be paid by a person or persons, b the amount so determined 2 Valuation of income, property &c for purpose of taxation, the value assigned assessor, n [1 aseser, 2 asessa], fr assess & -or 1 (law) A person sitting with judge or magistrate to assist and advise in technical questions, b one who acts as expert consultant to, without being an actual member of, a commission, committee &c 2 One who assesses taxes or estimates the value of property for purpose of taxation assets, n [1 asets, 2 asets] O Fr asetz (=te), Mod Fr asetz, 'enough', fr Lat ad satis, 'sufficiently' See satis Assets was orig an adv, then used as an adj, & finally as a n In this function it was a conj, but is now felt & used as pl, fr wh a new sing, asset, has been formed 1 (law) Property, of a deceased person which is liable to be applied to discharging his debts and paying legacies 2 Whole property, of every kind, of an insolvent individual or corporation, liable to be administered for benefit of the creditors 3 (by extension) A Possessions, property generally (often as singular referring to a single object), b a valuable object, favourable circumstance, which adds strength, support, or which benefits in any way good health is a great asset, you will be a valuable asset to our society asseverate, vb trans [1 aséverát, 2 aséverét], fr Lat asseverāt (um), PP type of asseverāre, lit 'to act with earnestness', of speech, 'to assert strongly', fr ad- & severus, adj, 'serious, stern, hard, firm' See severe To affirm solemnly, aver, assert positively asseveration, n [1 aséverashun, 2 aséverashun], fr Lat asseveration (em) See asseverate & -ion Solemn, positive, declaration assibilate, vb trans [1 asibilát, 2 asibilot], fr Lat assibilāt (um), PP type of assibilāre, fr ad- & sibilāre, 'to hiss' See sibilant To make sibilant, give a hissing sound to (Vague, unsatisfactory term not applicable in exact phonetic terminology) assibilant, n [1 asibilashun, 2 asibiléshun] Prec & -ion Action or process of assibilating assiduity, n [1 asidúti, 2 asidjúté], fr Lat assiduitas (em), 'attendance', fr assiduus, lit 'sitting by', hence 'in constant attendance, indefatigable, industrious', fr assidere, fr ad-, 'by, near', & sedere, 'to sit' See sedentary Constant and unremitting attention, persistent application, directed to a particular end, diligence, industry assiduous, adj [1 asidúus, 2 asidjús], fr Lat assiduus See prec & -ous a Having capacity of sticking to a task, b solicitously attentive assiduously, adv Prec & -ly In an assiduous manner, perseveringly, diligently assiduousness, n See prec & -ness The quality of constant, careful, conscientious attention to duty, to a specific task &c (applied to permanent feature of character or to specific manifestation of it) assign (I), vb trans [1 asín, 2 asain], fr Fr assigner, fr Lat assignare, 'to mark out for, allot', fr ad- & signare, 'to mark, mark out', fr signum, 'mark, token, sign' See sign (Always followed by to before names of persons) 1 (law) To make over, transfer (property &c), to another 2 To allot (things to persons), b appoint, designate (persons for particular duties) 3 To fix, determine, appoint, a time (for), or a limit (to) something 4 To ascribe, attribute an event, custom &c to a particular date, credit a person with particular words, actions 5 A To ascribe, a motive &c to a person, b to fix upon, discover, reason for an action.

assign (II), n (law) One to whom property, right, or interest is legally transferred, esp in Pr heirs and assigns See assignee assignable, adj [1 asignabl, 2 asignabl] assign (I), & -able Capable of being assigned (in any sense) assignable property, assignable rector &c assignat, n [1 assignat, 2 assignat] Fr See assign (I) Paper money issued by the French revolutionary government, 1790, on security of lands confiscated by the State assignment, n [1 assignashun, 2 assigneishun] assign (I) & -ation 1 A An appointment to meet at particular place and time, b often used of meeting arranged between lovers, c sometimes in unfavourable sense of secret, illicit meeting 2 Assignment, 1 assignee, n [1 asine, 2 asine] O Fr asigne, fr PP of assigner, see assign (I) & -ee (law) a Person empowered to act for another, b an assign assignment, n [1 asignment, 2 asignment] assign (I) & -ment 1 A Legal transference of a right or property, b document authorizing such transference 2 Act of assigning, attributing, referring to assimilate, vb trans & intrans [1 asimilat, 2 asimilat] fr Lat asimilāt (um), PP type of assimilare, 'to liken', fr ad-, 'to', & similis, 'like', see similar A trans 1 To make alike, cause to resemble to assimilate one's mode of speech to that of one's companions 2 (of living organisms) To convert, by physiological process, matter which is different from, into matter identical with, that of which the organism is composed, to incorporate into the system, digest 3 (fig) a (of mental process) To absorb into the mind, grasp, thoroughly understand, appropriate as part of one's thought, knowledge, or principles &c. to assimilate the idiom of French, b (of an institution, political or other organization) to incorporate with itself, absorb the old Russian Empire assimilated innumerable smaller peoples and states B intrans To become absorbed, blend, amalgamate Europeans and Jews do not readily assimilate assimilation, n [1 asimilashun, 2 asimileishun] fr Lat asimilātō (em) See prec & -ion a The act or process of assimilating, b state or condition of being assimilated (in any sense) assimulative, adj [1 asimilativ, 2 asimilitiv] assimilative & -ive Tending to, inclined to, assimilate assist, vb trans & intrans [1 asist, 2 asist] fr Fr assister, 'to stand by, help', fr Lat assistere, 'to stand by', fr ad- & istere, 'to place, to stand', redupl form of stare, 'to stand' &c, see state & stand A trans 1 To help (a person), b to further, advance (an undertaking, process &c) 2 Specif, to give financial help to B intrans To be present, as a spectator, at a ceremony, public meeting &c assist at (a French idiom) assistance, n [1 asistans, 2 asistans] Prec & -ance a Help, succour, support, b persons present, as spectators &c (Colloquialism) assistant, n [1 asistant, 2 asistant] See assist & -ant One who assists another, esp as permanent helper or co worker in a specific occupation assize, n [1 asiz, 2 asiz] ME, fr O Fr assise, fem PP of assoir, 'to be seated', fr Lat assidere, sit at or near See assess 1 A Trial, inquiry, inquest, before a jury, b (also in pl) Assizes periodical sessions of judges in every English county to try criminal and civil cases, Par the Great Assize, the Day of Judgement 2 (just.) Rules of a court fixing the price and weight and regulating the sale of bread, ale &c associate, (I) vb trans & intrans [1 asosiat, 2 asosiat] fr Lat associat (um), PP type of associare, 'to join to, unite with', fr ad- & socius, 'companion, ally' See sociable A trans 1 (of persons) To join, unite with, as partner colleg-, a, participator, in an office, business, or enterprise &c the Government was only too glad to associate Mr X with their other supporters in the House 2 To connect (ideas) together in the mind, consider as related we naturally associate the name of Darwin with the doctrine of evolution 3 To connect, join together verbally (esp of names) a toast associated with the name of the chairman, the names of these two persons were freely associated by public rumour 4 (reflex) Associate oneself with, adhere to, express agreement with (a proposal, opinion, views, hopes &c) to associate oneself with the remains of So-and-so, that is with sentiments expressed thereby B intrans Associate with, frequent society of, keep company with, as a habit he associates with very undesirable characters associate (II), n [1 asosiat, 2 asosiat] fr Lat associatus, joined with, in company' See prec 1 A One united with others by common ties of occupation, enterprise, interest, colleague, partner, confederate, b one united with another by ties of social intimacy, one often in another's company, companion, familiar friend 2 Implying membership of a subordinate or inferior character, of certain institutions eg a of certain universities, in which Associate is a title conferred on persons who have pursued a truncated course of study, and passed examinations of a less thorough character than those required for a degree, or, b of academies of art in which the term is applied to juniors who have not yet attained to full membership as Fellows or Academicians Associate of the Royal Academy, A R A 3 (law) A member of a body of officials of the High Court of Justice, arranging the business of the court to which they are attached associate (III), adj a Closely connected, affiliated a group of associate societies, b sometimes prefixed to names of titles or offices, implying usually co operation, and intimate relation, without full status and responsibility associate professor, judge &c association, n [1 asoshashun, 2 asoshashun] fr Lat associatio (em) See prec & -ion 1 A Act of associating, b state of being associated, companionship, intimacy 2 Connexion, bond, between ideas, relation, existing in the mind association of ideas 3 Group of persons, united and organized, generally under conditions set forth in a legal bond, and acting together for some specific purpose, in furtherance of common aims, of a political, commercial, philanthropic character Conservative Association, Trading, Temperance Association &c, articles, deed, of association, legal document determining conditions under which an association, such as a partnership, company &c, exists and acts 4 Association football associational, adj [1 asoshashunal, 2 asoshashunal] Prec & -al Pertaining to, based on, the association of ideas associationism, n [1 asoshashunalizm, 2 asoshashunalizm] See prec & -ism Philosophic doctrines of the associationists associationist, n [1 asoshashunalist, 2 asoshashunalist] See prec & -ist Believer in system of philosophy which finds a basis in the association of ideas association football, n One of the two main forms of the game of football, in which there are eleven players a side, the ball is round, and has to be kicked through the goal posts under the cross bar, no handling of the ball is allowed except by goal keeper Op rugby assol, vb trans [1 asol, 2 asol] ME asolien, O Fr & A Fr assolier, Lat absolvere, 'loosen, free from, acquit' See absolve (archaic) To absolve (from sin), pardon, acquit of guilt assolize, vb trans [1 asoliz, 2 asoliz] Scots form of prec (Scots law) To acquit assonance, n [1 asonans, 2 asonans] Fr, as though fr Lat assonantia*, fr Lat assonant (em), Proc Part of assonare, 'to sound, respond to', fr ad-, 'to', & sonare, 'to sound' See sonant & sonna (I) a Agreement in sound between two words as regards the stressed vowels, although the following consonant sounds are different, thus forming an imperfect rhyme, eg tale—fate, or sharper—garter, b practice of using assonances as rhymes in verse assonant, adj [1 asonant, 2 asonant] fr Lat assonant (em), ep proc See sonant Agreeing, corresponding to, in vowel sound assonate, vb intrans [1 asonat, 2 asonat] fr Lat assonāt (um), PP type of assonare, ore assonance (followed by with) To agree with in vowel sound (of two words) assort, vb trans & intrans [1 asort, 2 asort] fr Fr assortir, 'sort, match', O Fr assortier, fr d, 'to', & sorte See sort A trans 1 (chiefly in PP) To separate and group into sorts or classes, classify according to similarity, or identity of character, appearance &c a well assorted, ill assorted pair, company &c 2 To furnish (goods) in an assortment or variety (chiefly in PP) assorted chocolates B intrans Assort with, to belong to same class, to match, suit (with), agree to assort well, ill, with assortment, n [1 asortment, 2 asortment] Proc & -ment 1 Act of assorting, classifying &c 2 Collection of objects classified and grouped according to their kind, set of several such groups assuage, vb trans [1 aswaj, 2 aswaj] fr O Fr assouager, assouager, fr Lat ad-, 'to', & suavis, 'sweet, pleasant', see suave A To allay, mitigate, reduce, soothe (physical suffering, pain, unrest &c), b (fig) to soften, still, render less acute (mental suffering grief, anxiety, fear &c), c to calm, soothe, relieve (passion, desire, anger &c) Generally applied rather to sensations and emotions than to the persons who experience them Intransitive use, to grow, become calm &c, now obsolete assuagement, n [1 aswajment, 2 aswajment] Proc & -ment Act or process of assuaging assumable, adj [1 asumabl, 2 asumabl] assume & -able Capable of being, open to being, assumed assumably, adv Proc & -ly By way of an assumption assume, vb trans & intrans [1 asum, 2 asum] fr Lat assumere, 'to take to, adopt, usurp', fr ad- & umere, 'to take', this vb is fr sub-, 'under', & emere, 'take, buy' See exempt A trans 1 To take to oneself, appropriate, seize, adopt to assume the reins of government, assume control of Phr (fig) to assume the offensive 2 (of inanimate things) To take the form of, become like, present appearance of his illness assumed a very grave character 3 To pretend to possess, put on, counterfeit to assume an air of innocence, importance &c, assume voice, manner, of someone else 4 To take for granted, suppose without definite proof to assume something for the sake of argument B intrans To be presumptuous, pretentious, to claim undue importance, display too great familiarity of manner assumed, adj [1 asumd, 2 asumd] fr PP of prec 1 Pretended, adopted in order to deceive, feigned, not real an assumed name, assumed air of benevolence 2 Taken for granted, supposed assuming, adj [1 asuming, 2 asuming] fr Proc Part of assumere Presumptuous assumption, n [1 asumshun, 2 asumshun] fr Lat assumptio (em), 'a taking, receiving', fr PP type assumpti (um) See assume & -ion 1 The act of assuming, seizing, adopting, by exercise of force or right assumption of power, authority, b of pretending to possess, adopting an or semblance or a quality or manner assumption of dignity, honesty &c 2 The act of taking for granted, without proof, that something exists, or that an event has happened, b that which is so taken as being true, or as having happened a mere, an unvaried, assumption 3 (cap) Meticulous removal at-home, n. [1 at (h)óm, 2 at (h)óum]. Social function at which guests are received at an appointed hour athwart, adv & prep [1 athwórt, 2 apwórt] See a-, 'on', & thwart (II) 1 adv across, from side to side, b (lit and fig.) across the course, implying opposition 2 prep across, extending from side to side of, b (lit and fig.) across the course, path of, implying hindrance or opposition

-atic, suff [1 atík, 2 atik], used to form adjs, dramatic &c, & these used as ns, fanatic, fr Fr -atique, Lat aticus atilt, adv & adj [1 atilt, 2 atilt] See a- & tilt Only in Phr to ride, run, atilt, run at as though tilting with a lance

-ation, suff [1 áshun, 2 ejsh] Used for forming abstract ns fr vbs, fr Lat atōn (em), formed fr PP type, -at-, of vbs of lat conjugation in -are, it occurs in Fr & Engl in words derived straight fr Lat words of this type, but also by extension of the type in many others formed on model of these, the frequency of this suff in Fr & Engl is due to the former using the type of 1st Lat conjugation as the commonest verbal type

-ative, adj suff [1 átiv, ativ, 2 etiv, etiv] Fr -atif, Lat -ativus Chiefly in formations fr vbs in -ate, demonstrative &c, but sometimes extended to adjs formed fr Engl vbs, talkative atlantes, n pl [1 atlantér, 2 atlantér] Gk, pl of Atlas See atlas (archt) Pillars supporting an entablature, sculptured to represent men with arms upraised as if carrying a heavy burden

Atlantic, n & adj [1 atlantík, 2 atlantík] Lat Atlanticus, fr Gk Atlantídē, fr stem of Atlās, the Atlas Mountains in NW Africa, fr the name of the god Atlas, see next word 1 n The ocean dividing the American continent from Europe and Africa 2 adj Connected with, found or situated in, this ocean an Atlantic liner, voyage, the Atlantic islands atlas, n [1 átlas, 2 atlas], fr name of a Gk god who was supposed to bear the world upon his shoulders This -ll is prob a reduced form of Aryan base tol*, tel*, 'to bear' See this under thole (I), & tolerato The figure of Atlas supporting the globe was frequently put on front page of an atlas 1 A collection of maps bound into a volume 2 (anat) The top vertebra of spinal column which bears the skull atmoslysis, n [1 atmólisis, 2 atmólisis] See first element in atmosphere, & -lysis (physios) Separation of mixed gases by making use of the different rates at which they are diffused through porous substances atmometer, n [1 atmómeter, 2 atmómeter] See first element in atmosphere, & -meter Instrument for measuring the rate of evaporation atmosphere, n [1 atmósfer, 2 atmósfer], fr Gk atmós, 'smoke, vapour', sphaira, 'ball, sphere' The first element is either for aue tmos*, & cogn w Gk aēmi, 'blow', see air, vent, wind (I), or it is cogn w Serb atmā & OE āpm, 'breath' For second element see sphere 1 Gaseous envelope surrounding the earth or other heavenly body 2 The condition of the air in any particular locality, esp as affected by heat, cold &c cold, stuffy, atmosphere of a room &c 3 (fig) Any surrounding mental or moral influence or environment a dense, electric atmosphere prevailed at the meeting atmospheric(al), adj [1 átmósferik(l), 2 atmósferik(l)] See atmosphere & -ic & -al Belonging to, connected with, the atmosphere atmospherics, n pl [1 átmósferiks, 2 atmósferiks], fr preo Strong ether waves, due to natural causes, as lightning, which interfere with the reception of signals in wireless atoll, n [1 atól, 2 atól] Malay A coral island, belt of coral reef surrounding a lagoon atom, n [1 atum, 2 atóm] fr Fr atome, fr Lat atomus, fr Gk atō-os, 'atom', lit

'unout, indivisible', fr a-, 'not', & tomós, vbl adj of temnō, 'I out, split' This base occurs also in M fr tanann, 'I mutilate', O Slav těti, fr tenk*, 'to split' See tome 1 a Originally, the smallest ultimate and indivisible theoretical portion of matter, now, however, divisible into electrons, see next word, b (in chem) the smallest portion of an element which exists alone or combined with other similar portions of an element, see next word 2 A minute portion of anything, some very small thing Phr to smash, break, to atoms atomic, adj [1 atómik, 2 atómik] See preo & -ic Of, connected with, atoms Atomic theory, a theory of the constitution of matter propounded by Democritus and other Greek philosophers, as first formulated in scientific shape by John Dalton, it declares that matter consists of uniform indivisible particles, atoms, alone or in combination, of a definite number of elements, modern research into the electrical theories of matter by J J Thomson and others has shown that atoms consist of complex systems of electrical charges (electrons) in rapid orbital motion Atomic weight, relative weight of an atom of an element, taken usually from hydrogen as unity or from oxygen as 16, elements are arranged in order of their atomic weights, and from these tables the existence of previously unknown elements has been deduced atomicity, n [1 atomísiti, 2 atomísiti] See preo & -ity Number of atoms in a molecule atomism, n [1 atómizm, 2 atómizm] See atom & -ism Doctrine that physical universe is composed of indivisible atoms atomist, n [1 atómíst, 2 atómíst] See preo & -ist One who holds doctrine of atomism atomization, n [1 atómizáshun, 2 atómizáshun] See next word & -ation Process or act of atomizing atomize, vb trans [1 atómiz, 2 atómiz], fr atom & -ize To reduce to atoms, convert liquids into fine spray atomizer, n [1 atómizer, 2 atómizer] Preo & -er Instrument for converting liquids to fine spray, esp for purposes of disinfection atomy (I), n [1 atóm, 2 atóm], fr anatomy, the first syll being taken for indef art Skeleton, (by extension) thin, emaciated person atomy (II), n See atom & -y Atom, minute creature at one, adv See separate words In agreement, of one mind, in harmony atone, vb intrans [1 atón, 2 atón], fr at, one, & preserving old type of latter word In earlier Mod Engl atone is used in physical sense of unite, thus and the trans use, to atone a crime &c, are now entirely obs Now always atone for to expiate, make reparation, amend, give satisfaction, for an offence, crime &c (often implying further suffering on part of person who atones) atonement, n [1 atónment, 2 atónment], fr atone & -ment A act of atoning, expiation, b specif, the Atonement, the expiatory work of the Saviour, in redeeming man and rousing him to God atomic, adj [1 atómik, 2 atómik], fr Gk atōnos, 'without tone', fr a-, 'without', & tonos See toneic a In vague terminology of popular phonetics used in sense both of unaccented (of syllables), and voiceless (of sounds) (best avoided in either of these senses) b (med) lacking vital energy, characterized by, arising from, such a lack atomic disease atrabilious, adj [1 átrabilus, 2 átrabilus], fr Lat áter, átra, 'dark, black', & biliōsus, 'bilious', fr bilis, 'bile, gall' See this under bilious, Lat áter is prob connected w O Pers átarē, 'fire', & perh w Serb & Little Russ voira, 'fire, hearth', the Lat word apparently meant o' burnt, burnt black' Melancholy, hypochondriacal, cantankerous, lit. 'suffering from black bile' atrabiliousness, n Preo & -ness State of being atrabilious atrip, adv [1 atríp, 2 atríp] a-, 'on', & trip (naut) Of an anchor, just clear of the ground when being drawn up atrium, n [1 átrium, 2 átrium] Lat, etymol is obscure, but connexion w Etruscan álar, 'stone', is suggested, the Lat word meant perh orig 'stone court, or chamber' 1 Central court or chief apartment of a Roman house 2 (anat) A chamber, cavity, esp of an auricle of the heart, or the tympanum of the ear atrocious, adj [1 átróshus, 2 átróshus], fr Lat átrōs, átrōsus, 'cruel', & -ous, none of the proposed etymols is very convincing, but the suggestion that the word is áter, 'black' (see atrabilious), & ar*, fr ol-*, 'ovs' (op Gk ops & compound glaukōps), is interesting See ferocious a Extremely cruel or wicked, heinous, b horrible, horrifying, abominable atrociously, adv Preo & -ly In an atrocious manner, colloquially used to express mere disapproval or dislike atrociously bad sermon, dinner, manners &c, thus used, the word has no sense of moral depravity atrociousness, n See preo & -ness Condition of being atrocious, action of atrocious character atrocious, n [1 átróshiti, 2 átróshiti], fr Lat átrōcīal (em), fr átrōs, 'fierce, cruel' See atrocious a Condition of being atrocious, b an act of extreme brutality, cruelty, or outrageous wickedness, (in pl) a series of shocking, cruel, and abominable deeds atrophic, adj [1 átrófik, 2 átrófik], fr atrophy & -ic Connected with, arising from, atrophy atrophied, adj [1 átrófid, 2 átrófid], fr PP of atrophy (II) Shrunk, reduced in bulk or amount through lack of nourishment, or through disuse atrophy (I), n [1 átrófi, 2 átrófi] Fr atrophie, fr Lat atrophia, fr Gk atrophia, fr atrophos, 'not nourished', fr a-, 'not', & trophē, 'nourishment', op Gk trophē, 'fatten, nourish', also 'thicken, coagulate', or also trophalos, 'curdled milk' The base is Aryan dhrēbh*, dhrōbh*, whence OE drif, 'turbid, muddy', drēfan (fr drōfan*), 'make turbid (of water &c)', ruffle, trouble (the mind), Goth drōþyan, 'excite, cause trouble', O HG truobi, 'dark, turbid' &c, Mod Germ trübe, & O HG truoben, 'make cloudy, disturb' &c, op further Lith drebt, 'splash with thick liquid, mud' &c See draft a Shrinkage, wasting, diminution in bulk through lack of nourishment, esp of an organ of the body atrophy of the lungs, liver &c, b (hol) cessation of development of a part or organ in animals or plants, supposed to be due to disuse during many generations of the species, c (fig) diminution, withering of moral qualities atrophy of conscience, virtue &c atrophy (II), vb intrans & trans, fr preo a intrans To waste away, shrink, become weak and useless through atrophy (lit and fig), b trans, to cause to waste away, produce atrophy in atropine, n [1 atropēn, 2 atropēn], fr Gl atropa, 'deadly nightshade', cp also atropos, 'inflexible, what cannot be turned aside', name of one of the Fates, fr a-, 'not', & tropē, 'turn, change', see trope, & -ine Alkaloid poison extracted from the belladonna or deadly nightshade attach, vb trans & intrans [1 atách, 2 atách] M E attachen, 'arrest a prisoner', fr O Fr attacher, a-, 'to', & latch, prob of Gmc origin Cp tack (I), 'small nail' A trans 1 (law) To arrest (a person), or seize (property) by legal authority 2 To fasten (one thg to another), by sticking, tying, binding &c to attach a stamp, a label, weight &c 3 (fig, of persons) A To cause to adhere, gain over to one's side, party, interests, b to connect with, allot to, by authority to attach an officer to a regiment, the staff &c, c to win affection, admiration, and, by (bess, the help and co-operation, of o person, attract, d (reflex) attach oneself, to join, unite with, another person, party, society &c 4 (of non-material things) a To affix, assign attach a name, blame, to, b to attribute, ascribe to to attach importance, significance &c to B intrans To where in, be incident to great responsibilities attach to power and position attachable, adj [1 atəbəl, 2 ətʃəbəl], fr prec & -able Capable of being attached attache, n [1 atəʃə, 2 ətʃeɪ] Fr, P P of attacher, 'to attach' See prec a Junior official, usually without salary, attached to staff of an ambassador, or minister plenipotentiary at a foreign court, b military or naval officer connected with the embassy of his own sovereign at a foreign court in order to report on military and naval affairs military, naval, attache attache case, n Small, flat leather bag for carrying papers and documents attached, adj [1 atəʃt, 2 ətʃtɪ], fr P P of attach a (of things) Fastened, fixed, appended to, b (of persons) officially connected with, assigned, allotted, to a particular post, office, set of duties &c, c (of persons) joined by taste, inclination, or affection, devoted to attached to one's friends, the brothers were deeply attached attachment, n [1 atəʃmənt, 2 ətʃtʃmənt], fr attach & -ment 1 Means whereby one thing is attached to another 2 Moral bond between persons, springing from affection and respect, affection to form an attachment for 3 (law) arrest or seizure by legal authority attach (I), vb trans [1 atəʃ, 2 ətʃk] Variant of attach, fr Fr attaquer, 'attack', Ital aliacare, 'fasten, attack' 1 a To make a violent physical assault upon with intent to cause injury, b specif (mil) to initiate hostile action with armed forces against enemy in the field, take the offensive, assault with military forces and appliances 2 (fig) To assail with hostile speech or writing, blame violently, direct strong unfavourable criticism against to attack o person, or a policy, on the platform, in the press &c 3 To set to work upon, begun operations upon (a task or problem) 4 (of disease, the elements &c) a To act in injuriously upon, affect prejudicially to be attacked by gout, malaria &c, the damp is attacking the walls, b (of chemical action) to act upon cause wasting acid attacks metals attack (II), n, fr prec 1 Violent hostile physical assault, a generally, of any such violence, b (mil) specif, offensive operation by organized armed force upon another, opposite of defence, c stroog adverse criticism, invective, directed against persons or measures, by speech or writing an attack in the House, in the press, against a minister, against the policy of government &c 2 Onslaught of disease, bout, access, fit an attack of measles, gout &c 3 Mode of beginning an action, esp a in speaking or singing, process of beginning utterance of a sound, way of uttering note at beginning of a passage, b in games such as cricket, tennis &c, way of playing a stroke attacker, n [1 atəker, 2 ətəkeɪ] Prec & -or One who attacks attain vb trans & intrans [1 atəɪn, 2 ətəɪn], fr O Fr ataign, ataign, stem of atindre, atindre fr Lat attingere, 'to come in contact with, touch, reach', fr rd-, 'to', & tangere, 'to touch' See tangent 1 trans To gain, reach, achieve, accomplish, as result of effort (aims, ideals, aspirations &c) 2 intrans Attain to, to reach, arrive at, come up to, (esp of non material things) a by natural development attain to man's estate, b by deliberate effort to attain to power, prosperity &c, c by moral or intellectual effort to attain to wisdom, knowledge &c attainability, n [1 atəɪnəbɪlɪti, 2 ətəɪnəbɪlɪti], fr next word & -ity Quality of being attainable attainable, adj [1 atəɪnəbəl, 2 ətəɪnəbəl], fr attain & -able Capable of being attained attainableness, n Prec & -ness Attainability attainder, n [1 atəɪndər, 2 ətəɪndəɪ], fr O Fr atindre, atindre, 'accuse, condemn', fr Lat attingere See attain, attain (law) Act of obtaining, condition, result, of being attainted, that is, loss of civil rights through judicial or legislative sentence, the extinction of civil and legal rights as the result of a sentence of death or of outlawry, bill of attainder, legislative act inflicting results of attainder without judicial trial attainment, n [1 atəɪnmənt, 2 ətəɪnmənt], fr attain & -ment 1 Act or process of attaining 2 Something attained, esp a personal mental accomplishment or acquisition, proficiency in any branch of knowledge &c (often in pl) o man of varied attainments attain (I) vb trans [1 atəɪn, 2 ətəɪnt] O Fr atindre, 'accuse, convict' See attainer Confused with taint 1 a To convict of crime (obs), b to convict of crime punishable by attainder, to subject to attainder 2 To sully, dishonour (partly through confusion with taint) attain (II), n, fr prec 1 a Tonch, hit (in a tournament, obs), b specif, wound on horse's leg caused by an overreach 2 Stain, disgrace (confusion with taint) attar, n [1 atər, 2 ətəɪ], also [1 ətə, 2 ətəɪ] Pers 'ater', 'perfume', fr Arab 'otaro', 'to smell sweet' Cp otto Pungent, volatile oil distilled from flowers, used in perfumery, esp attar of roses attemper, vb trans [1 atəmper, 2 ətəmpeɪ], fr Lat attemperare, fr ad- & temperare, 'to divide or proportion duly, to qualify, temper, to control manage, to moderate or restrain oneself' See temper (I), vb in all senses is now more usual 1 To mix in due proportion, to qualify by mixing, (of motale) to temper 2 To modify, moderate, soothe 3 To accommodate to, adapt attempered, adj [1 atəmperəd, 2 ətəmpeɪd], fr P P of prec Tempered, regulated, adapted attemperment, n [1 atəmpermənt, 2 ətəmpeɪmənt] See attemper & -ment Act or process of attempering attempt (I), vb trans [1 atempt, 2 atemptɪ] O Fr attemper, fr Lat attemperare, attemperare, 'strive after, attempt', fr ad-, 'to', & temperare, 'try, test' See tempt 1 To try, endeavour, to do, or secure, something, a (followed by vbl n or infin) to attempt flying, to fly, b (followed by n, vb 'to do' &c being understood) to attempt a difficult task, attempt the mountain (to climb understood), attempt too much, attempt a settlement of the dispute 2 To endeavour to master, or prevail over by force to attempt a person's life, to attempt a capture attempt (II), n, fr prec 1 An endeavour to do something, effort, esp to overcome a difficulty an attempt to save life, to stamp out disease, to do one's duty &c 2 An endeavour to overcome someone, or obtain something by force, hence, an attack, assault (on life, virtue &c of a person) attend, vb intrans & trans [1 atənd, 2 atəndɪ], fr Fr attendre, 'expect, wait for', Lat attendere, orig 'to stretch, bend mind to' See ad-, 'to', & tend. A intrans 1 (followed by to) a To direct the mind upon, fix one's thoughts on, give heed to, pay attention to to attend to what is said, to what is going on, to what one is doing, b to take care of, look after, give care in promoting or directing to attend to one's own business, to attend to the education of one's children, attend to another's comfort, to have a great deal to attend to 2 (followed by upon) a Wait upon (persons) with solicitude, in order to perform services, and carry out orders or wishes (of servants, officials) the duchess was attended upon by her own maid the first secretary attended upon the ambassador, b to listen, wait for, orders, instructions &c to attend upon a person's wishes, orders &c 3 (absol) To listen with care, direct thought in certain direction if you don't attend, you won't understand B trans 1 To be present at, take part in to attend a course of lectures, o church service, public meeting 2 To wait upon, be with, for purpose of rendering services, esp professionally, as a medical man the patient was attended by the best doctors, the army surgeon attended him daily 3 a To accompany, wait upon the equerry attended the prince on his journey, b to be present with, accompany as a consequence, or inseparable incident his gilon was attended with great difficulties, may good luck attend you attendance, n [1 atendəns, 2 atendənsɪ] attend & -ance 1 a The act of attending to be in attendance on o person, attendance at a meeting &c Plr to dance attendance upon (a person), to attend his (her) convenience, b specif, medical attendance, skilled care bestowed by doctor on patient 2 Those present at, or attending, a meeting, lecture &c a large, small, attendance attendant (I), adj [1 atəndənt, 2 atəndəntɪ] Fr, fr Pres Part See attend a Being present in attendance, in waiting the queen and her attendant train of ladies, b accompanying, consequential, connected war and its attendant horrors attendant (II), n Same as prec One who attends upon, accompanies, in any capacity, as friend, companion, keeper, servant attention, n [1 atenshun, 2 atensən] Fr, fr Lat attentio (em), 'bending of the mind' fr attent (um), P P type of attendere see attend, & -ion 1 Act of directing, applying, the mind or senses (in various shades of meaning), a careful observation, consideration, and thought to give one's best attention to, b careful, watchful notice, or observation by the senses to pay attention to a sound, sight &c, to direct o'ntention, c care, solicitude, serviceable kindness to receive immediate attention (eg from a doctor or nurse) 2 a Act of courtesy and kindness I regard this as a delicate attention on your part, (or in pl) they showed me o hundred little attentions, b specif, ceremonious politeness, or assiduous court, paid to a lady by a suitor to pay o lady marked attentions 3 (mil) a Interjectional word of command Attention!, cautionary word, given before one ordering a movement or manoeuvre, b as noun in Phrs to stand at, come to, attention, be in, assume, attitude of readiness preparatory to executing the next command attentive, adj [1 atəntɪv, 2 atəntɪv], fr Fr attentif See prec & -ive Given to attending, or to paying attention, heedful observant a attentive to what is said, b careful, assiduous attentive to duty, o specif, solicitous for well being of others, or d solutions in paying court to ladies attentively, adv Prec & -ly In an attentive manner, carefully attentiveness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being attentive attenuant, adj & n [1 aténuənt, 2 aténjuəntɪ] Fr, fr Lat attenuant (em), Pres Part of attenuare See attenuate a adj Tending to make (fluids) thin, to dilute, b n, medicine which does this attenuate (I), vb trans & intrans [1 aténuənt, 2 aténjuəntɪ], fr Lat attenuat (um), P P type of attenuare, fr ad-, 'to', & tenere, 'to make thin', fr tenere, 'thin', the latter has cognates in many Aryan languages, Sert amud, 'long, stretched out, tender', Gh. amud (in composition), 'long, slender', also amud, 'I stretch', O H G amud, O E pyne, 'thin', O Slav stnuka, 'thin', stn, 'thin', orig sense of base is 'stretched' See tenso, tender (IV), thin & trans 1 To make thin or slender, reduce in density, weaken consistency or potency of 2 (fig, rare) To minimize, reduce force, severity, or gravity of B intrans. (rare) To become thin, to grow less auric, adj [1. áwrik, 2. órik], fr Lat aurum, 'gold', & -ic See aureate & aurore Por taining to, derived from, gold auricle, n [1. áwrikli, 2. órikli], fr Lat auricula, 'external ear', dimin of auris, 'ear' See aural (II) a The external ear of animals, b (anat) one of the two chambers of the heart which receives blood from the veins and forces it into the ventricles So called from supposed resemblance to an ear in shape auricled, adj [1. áwrikld, 2. órikld], fr preco Auriculate auricula, n [1. áwrikúla, 2. órikúla] Lat See auricle (bot) Alpine primula, a species of primrose, of which there are many cultivated varieties, so called from shape of leaf auricular, adj [1. áwrikúlar, 2. órikúla] Preco & adj suff aris see -ar 1 Connected with the ear or with bearing auricular confession, one heard by a priest 2 Connected with the auricles of the heart auriculate, adj [1. áwrikulát, 2. órikulát] See preco & -ate Having lobes or appendages shaped like ears auriferous, adj [1. áwriferus, 2. óriferus], fr Lat aurifer, 'gold-bearing', fr aurum, 'gold', see aureate, & -ferous Containing, yielding, gold (of ores, mines &c) auriform, adj [1. áwriform, 2. óriform], fr Lat auri(e), 'ear' See audible & form Ear-shaped Aurignacian, adj [1. órignáshun, 2. óriyáshun, 2. órignáshun, 2. óriyáshun], fr Aurignac, France, where remains were first discovered Belonging to the latest period of palaeolithic culture, succeeding the Mousterian period, the peoples belonging to it, a race of hunter-artists, were probably the first of modern European man aurilave, n [1. áwrikáv, 2. órikáv], fr Lat auri (e), 'ear', see audible & ear, & lave Ear cleaner aurist, n [1. áwrist, 2. órist], fr Lat auri, stem of auris, 'ear', see audible, & -ist Surgeon specially skilled in diseases of the ear auroids, n [1. áwroiks, 2. óroiks] The English form is eccentric and is apparently due, as regards the spelling, to Mod Germ auerochs This OE úr is 'bison', O HG úr & úrochs The base úr is cogn w Sort -ura, 'ox', orig 'reddish-coloured animal', see ox Primitive European bison, now nearly extinct aurora, n [1. áwrora, 2. órora] Lat, 'dawn', stands for auwra*, op also Gk (Attic) hēōs, Aeohe auōs, 'dawn', & Sort uīdž, 'early light', Lith auwra, 'red of dawn', orig meaning of the base is 'shining', Lat aurum, 'gold', is prob also a cogn & so certainly is Engl east See combustion (poet) a The dawn, b goddess of dawn, c the colour of the sky at sunrise Aurora Borealis, luminous, quivering glow, seen at night in the sky in northern latitudes, Aurora Australis, similar phenomenon seen in southern latitudes See further boréal aurum, n [1. áwrum, 2. órum] Lat, see aurore The chemical name for gold auscultate, vb trans & intrans [1. áwskultát, 2. óskaltat], fr PP type auscultat (um), of Lat auscultare, 'listen' See next word To practise auscultation auscultation, n [1. áwskultášun, 2. óskaltášun] Lat auscultatio (em), fr auscultare, 'to listen to', aus preserves the -s-, wh has been lost in Lat audio, 'hear' (see audible), & changed to z, & then to r, in auris, 'ear' (see auricle &c) (med) Art of sounding or listening to noises made by heart, lungs, and other internal organs, and thence diagnosing their condition by applying ear to a stethoscope placed against chest, back &c auscultator, n [1. áwskultátor, 2. óskaltátor] Lat, 'bearer, listener' See preco & -or One who practises auscultation auscultatory, adj [1. áwskultátari, 2. óskaltátari] See preco & -ory Pertaining to auscultation auspice, n [1. áwspis, 2. óspis] Fr, fr Lat auspicium, lit 'a bird watching', fr avi-, 'bird', & spec-, 'look at, watch'. For first sloument see augur & aviary, for second see spores & spy Cp Lat ausper, 'bird-watcher', one who told the future fr flight of birds, auspice, 'to take the omens' by this means a Omen, generally in favourable senses, b (usually in pl) patronage, protection esp under the auspices of auspicious, adj [1. áwspishus, 2. ósp[is]us] Lat auspici- & -sus See preco & -ous Having favourable tokens or omens, accompanied by circumstances which promise well for the future, favourable, fortunate an auspicious event, circumstance, beginning &c auspiciously, adv Preco & -ly Favourably, under happy conditions, promising well for the future auspiciousness, n See preco & -ness Good omen, something portending good fortune austere, adj [1. áwstér, 2. óstri] Fr, fr Lat austerus, 'dry, harsh, stern', fr Gk austérōs, 'making the tongue dry and rough', hence 'harsh, stern', fr áidō, 'I dry', op aiōs, 'dry', fr ausos*, cp Lith sausas, 'dry' See further under soar (I) a (of moral conditions, manners &c) Harsh, stern, forbidding, b (of mode of life) severely simple, ascetic; c (of style in literature or other art) severe, sparing in ornament, obaste austerely, adv Preco & -ly In an austere manner austereness, n See preco & -ness Austerity austerity, n [1. áwstérta, 2. ósteriti] Fr austérité See austere & -ity The quality of being austere (in various senses) austral, adj [1. áwstral, 2. óstral], fr Lat austrālis, 'southern', op austr, 'south wind', thus word is fr ausra*, & cogn w Sort usraš, adj, 'of the morning, rosy', Lith auwra, 'red of the morning, dawn', further O HG ōstra, 'east' See aurore & east Southern, southerly authentic, adj [1. áwthéntik, 2. ópéntik] ME autentik, O Fr autentique, fr Lat authenticus, fr Gk authentikos, 'original, genuine', fr authentēs, 'one who does a thing himself, absolute master, murderer', also auto entēs, see auto-, 'self' &c, & ent- for 'sent, w wh op Lat sons for sent s, 'guilty, criminal' Waldo, however, disputes connection of sons w above Gk word See sooth a Of known origin, being what it purports to be, genuine an authentic signature, b having approved authority, reliable authentic news, c (law) properly and formally attested authentically, adv [1. áwthéntikali, 2. ópéntikali], fr preco & -al & -ly In an authentic manner authenticate, vb trans [1. áwthéntikát, 2. ópéntikát], fr Low Lat authenticiā (um), PP type of authenticare, 'to make authentic' See authentic a To make authentic by formal attestation, b to prove genuine, establish beyond doubt the origin of authentication, n [1. áwthéntikášun, 2. ópéntikášun] Preco & -ion The act of authenticating authenticity, n [1. áwthéntisiti, 2. ópéntisiti], fr authentic & -ity a State or quality of being authentic, of established authority the authenticity of the Gospels, b genuineness author, n [1. áwther, 2. ópa] ME au(ctor), fr O Fr autor, autcur, fr Lat audor, 'one who enlarges, originates, master, one entitled to decide on a matter, author of a literary work', fr aud (um), PP of augere, 'to make to grow, to increase' The -th was at first more or less scribal, but became fixed, & has influenced the pronunciation See auction 1 One who brings something into being, originator, creator of anything God the Author of our being, the author of mischief 2 Spoof, one who produces literary work, writer author of a novel &c 3 (by extension) The works of an author to have many authors on one's shelves, i.e. their works authoress, n [1. áwthures; 2. ópares] Preco & -ess A female author authoritarian, n & adj [1. áwthoritárian, 2. ópóritárian] See authority & -arian a n Believer in rigid exercise of authority, b adj, pertaining to (exercise of) authority authoritative, adj [1. áwthoritativ, 2. ópóritativ] See authority, -ate, & -ive 1 (of persons) Accustomed to exercise authority, to give orders and be obeyed, fond of command, inclined to assert authority, dictatorial, peremptory 2 (of statements, commands, documentary evidence &c) Having the sanction, weight, of authority, entitled to credit as proceeding from established authority, recognized knowledge &c an authoritative statement, opinion authoritatively, adv Preco & -ly In an authoritative manner authoritativeness, n See preco & -ness Quality of being authoritative authority, n [1. áwthóiti, 2. ópóiti] Fr autorité, fr Lat auctoritāt (em) &c, 'personal influence, importance, leading, command, responsibility' &c See author & -ity 1 a Power, legal right to command and to enforce obedience the authority of Parliament, of commanding officer &c, 'a man set in authority', b permission, right, to exercise, justification, sanction, for using, such power when delegated by legally constituted government to act, speak, with the authority of the Law, of the Church &c, by what authority was this order given? 2 (often in pl) Person or body of persons possessing authority, having right to govern, direct, control affairs, make laws &c the Municipal, County, Authority (-ies), the Authorities of the Army and Navy 3 Moral, intellectual weight, influence, power, derived from a person's character, knowledge, rank, position &c, and the esteem and prestige which these carry 'Authority forgels a dying king' (Tennyson), to have authority with the people 4 a Person who is relied upon, by reason of his special knowledge, experience, study, to give trustworthy testimony or a weighty and credible opinion on particular facts and events to be an authority on Roman law, philology &c, b books or documents in which such knowledge, experience, and opinions are embodied Voltaire's Mémoires are an important authority for the social and political life of his time, c weight of opinion, bulk of testimony the authority is overwhelming for the view I take &c authorizable, adj [1. áwthorizábil, 2. ópórazábil], fr authorize & -able Capable of being, suitable to be, authorized authorization, n [1. áwthorizášun, 2. ópórazášun] Fr, fr Lat See next word & -ation Act of authorizing, warrant, sanction authorizes, vb trans [1. áwthoriz, 2. ópóraz], fr authoriser, O Fr auctoriser, authoriser, fr Low Lat auctorizāre, fr auctor, see author, & -ize 1 To give authority to, empower, commission, (a person) to do something to authorize a person to act for one 2 a To sanction, permit (an action) conduct authorized by the law, b to justify, furnish adequate reasons for his action was authorized by the situation authorized, adj [1. áwthorizd, 2. ópórazd] PP of preco a Sanctioned, by law, custom, authority, or general approval, b (of persons) approved, commissioned by responsible authority to act an authorized agent &c

Authorized Version, n The translation of the Bible issued by authority in 1611

authorship, n [1. áwthorship, 2. ópá:p] author & -ship a Profession, business, of writer of books &c, b origin, question who was the author of a literary work a book of doubtful authorship auto-, pref Gk auto, in composition, fr autois, 'same, self', the origin of wh is doubtful, but wh is peih for asu* to, & related to Sort asui, 'life, life of the soul', in wh case the orig meaning wd be 'essence, essential principle' &c, thus pref occurs in Engl words borrowed directly, or indirectly, fr Gk & already thus compounded, e.g. autocracy, also in a host of recent scientific or popular concoctions, in which the second element may be from almost any source, e.g. auto suggestion, auto closing &c. The force of auto in compounds is 'done by and for oneself, independent, without the action and interference of others, spontaneous, absolute', e.g. atomaton, 'acting by and through itself', autocrat, 'absolute ruler', and so on.

auto, n [1 awtō, 2 ōtō] Abbreviation for automobile, q.v. (colloq., not much used).

auto-biographer, n [1 awtōbiōgrāfer, 2 ōtōbiōgrāfer] See auto- & biographer. One who writes an account of his own life.

auto-biographic(al), adj [1 awtōbiōgrāfik(l), 2 ōtōbiōgrāfik(l)] Preo & -ic (& -al) Connected with details of one's own life or with autobiography.

auto-biographically, adv Preo & -ly In a manner relating to one's own life, by way of autobiography.

auto-biography, n [1 awtōbiōgrāfi, 2 ōtōbiōgrāfi] Gk autobiographia. See auto- & biography. A art and practice of writing a narrative of one's own life, b partitioned work dealing with a person's life, written by himself.

autocar, n [1 awtōkār, 2 ōtōkār] See auto- & car. Another name for automobile or motor car, a road car propelled by its own engine.

autocephalous, adj [1 awtōsēfalūs, 2 ōtōsēfalūs] fr auto- & Gk kephalē, 'head', see cephalic, & -ous (of a Church or community) Having its own governing head, independent.

autochthon, n [1 awtōkthōn, 2 ōtōkthōn] Gk autochthōn, 'from the land itself', fr auto- & Gk khthōn, khthōnē, 'earth, soil', fr ghēim-*, cogn. w. Sans. bhūma-, 'earth', & w. Lat. humus, 'earth', see humus. (Usually in pl., autochthones) One of the primitive, original inhabitants of a country, who have dwelt there since before earliest history, an aboriginal.

autochthonal, -ous, -ic, adj [1 awtōkthōnal, -us, awtōkthōnik, 2 ōtōkthōnal, -us, ōtōkthōnik] See preo & various suffixes. Aboriginal, belonging to earliest known inhabitants of a country.

autochthonism, n [1 awtōkthōnizm, 2 ōtōkthōnizm] See preo & -ism. State of being an aboriginal of a country.

autocracy, n [1 awtōkrasi, 2 ōtōkrasi] Fr autocratie, fr Gk autokratia, fr autokratēs. See next word & -cracy. A system of government by a single, absolute ruler, b a government carried on according to this system, c a supreme and independent controlling influence in government. This statesman was said to have turned his office into an autocracy.

autocrat, n [1 awtōkrat, 2 ōtōkrat] Fr autocrate, fr Gk autokratēs, 'ruling by one self', fr auto- & kratos, 'might, power', see -cracy. 1 An absolute monarch, or other ruler, who has supreme and independent control of the government, the reverse of a constitutional ruler. 2 One who conducts affairs of any kind on his own initiative and authority, without consulting the views of others, a dictatorial, overbearing person.

autocratic, adj [1 awtōkratik, 2 ōtōkratik] fr autocrat & -ic. Pertaining to, resembling, characteristic of, an autocrat, or an autocracy. high handed, dictatorial.

autocratically, adv [1 awtōkratikāl, 2 ōtōkratikāl] Preo & -al & -ly After the manner of an autocrat, or an autocracy.

auto-da-fé, n, pl autos-da-fé [1 awtō dah fā, 2 ōtō dah fā] Port & Span, 'act of faith'. A the ceremony of the trial and sentence of a heretic by the Inquisition, b the carrying out of the sentence by burning.

autogamous, adj [1 awtōgāmus, 2 ōtōgāmus] See auto- & -gamous (bot). Self fertilizing, of flower which is fertilized by its own pollen.

autogenesis, n [1 awtōjēnesis, 2 ōtōjēnesis] Gk See auto- & genesis. Spontaneous generation.

auto-genetic, adj [1 awtōjēnetik, 2 ōtōjēnetik] See auto- & genetic. Pertaining to autogenesis.

autogenous, adj [1 awtōjēnus, 2 ōtōjēnus] fr Gk autogenēs, ēg, 'self produced', fr auto- & -genous. Self generating or self generated.

autogeny, n [1 awtōjēni, 2 ōtōjēni] See preo & -geny. Spontaneous generation.

autograph (I), n [1 awtōgrāf, 2 ōtōgrāf] fr Lat. autographum, fr Gk autographos. See auto- & graph. A person's own handwriting, esp. in common usage, a person's signature. autograph album, one containing specimens of the handwriting of different persons, b author's own manuscript of a literary work, c copy of writing reproduced by lithography.

autograph (II), v, trans, fr preo a To write with one's own hand, esp. to write one's name on a document (Popular and common for write one's name on, put one's name to), b to copy by lithography.

autograph(al), adj [1 awtōgrāfik(l), 2 ōtōgrāfik(l)] See preo & -ic & -al. A in one's, a person's, own handwriting, b in lithographic reproduction.

autography, n [1 awtōgrāfi, 2 ōtōgrāfi] See autograph. Direct reproduction of writing or drawing by lithographic process.

autogravure, n [1 awtōgrāvūr, vyūr, 2 ōtōgrāvūr, -vyūr] See auto- & grava (I), & -ure. Process for reproducing photographs, a form of photogravure.

autogyro, n [1 awtōjērō, 2 ōtōjērō] Span. autogiro. See auto- & gyro-. Type of aeroplane, designed for vertical ascent and descent, the main feature being an extra horizontal screw rotating under wind pressure.

auto-intoxication, n [1 awtōintōksikāshun, 2 ōtōintōksikāshun] See auto- & intoxication (med). Self poisoning, poisoning by toxic substances produced within the body.

automatic(al), adj [1 awtomatik(l), 2 ōtomatik(l)] fr Gk automatōs (see automaton & -ic & -al). 1 Having power of spontaneous motion (esp. of machinery and mechanical contrivances), working of itself. automatic telephone, pistol (in latter sense, also absolutely, as noun). 2 (of movements or actions of human and other organic beings) Not resulting from volition, unconscious, merely mechanical.

automatically, adv Preo & -ly By automatic action.

automatism, n [1 awtomatizm, 2 ōtomatizm] fr automaton. A state of being automatic, b power of movement without either volitional effort or external control, such as heating of the heart, c doctrine that the actions and movements of animals are not directed by consciousness but by purely physiological causes.

automaton, n [1 awtōmatōn, 2 ōtōmatōn] fr Gk automaton, neut. of adj automatos, 'self moving'. See auto-. The second element is fr. Aryan mantōs*, 'thinking', fr. which base comes also Lat. mens, 'mind', fr. mentōs*, see mental, & Goth. gimunde, 'memory', O.E. ge mynd, 'memory', see mind. Something which moves and acts of itself, specif. a mechanical device which does this, and b human being who acts unintelligently and mechanically, merely following a prescribed and customary routine.

automobile (I), adj [1 awtōmōbil, 2 ōtōmōbil] Hybrid Gk & Lat. See auto- & mobile. Self moving or self movable.

automobile (II), n [1 awtōmōbil, 2 ōtōmōbil] fr Fr, as preo. Specifically used to denote a vehicle propelled by an engine worked by petrol, less commonly by steam, more commonly motor car or motor.

autonomic, adj [1 awtōnomik, 2 ōtōnomik] See autonomous & -ic (rare). Autonomic.

autonomist, n [1 awtōnomist, 2 ōtōnomist]

See next word & -ist. One in favour of independent self government.

autonomous, adj [1 awtōnomus, 2 ōtōnomus] fr Gk autonomos, 'making or having one's own laws', fr auto- & nómos, 'law', q.v. under nomad, & -ous (of states, political units, institutions). Possessing political independence or self government.

autonomy, n [1 awtōnomi, 2 ōtōnomi] fr Gk autonomia, 'independence', see auto- & nomos. (of states and institutions) A condition of possessing and enjoying political independence, self-government, b political independence, self government, c community, political unit, possessing self-government.

autoplasty, n [1 awtōplastī, 2 ōtōplastī] fr Gk autoplastos, 'self formed', see auto- & plasma, plastic (surg). Restoration of destroyed skin and tissue by grafting healthy portions taken from other parts of the body of same person.

autopsy, n [1 awtōpsi, 2 ōtōpsi] fr Gk autopsia, 'a seeing with one's own eyes', fr auto- & opsis, 'a sight, the power of sight', see optic. Personal inspection, specif. post-mortem examination of a body. This is the common sense of the word in English.

auto-suggestion, n [1 awtōsujeshun, 2 ōtōsujeshun] Hybrid Gk & Lat. See auto- & suggestion. Suggestion coming from within, from one's own consciousness, and not received from outside.

autotoxin, n [1 awtōtōksin, 2 ōtōtōksin] See auto- & toxin (pathol). A toxic poisonous substance produced by changes within the body as contrasted with external bacterial infection &c.

autotype, n & v, [1 awtōtip, 2 ōtōtāp] See auto- & type. 1 n a Facsimile of writing or of a picture, b process of reproducing permanent copy of a photograph, copy made by this process. 2 v, to reproduce by this process.

autotypography, n [1 awtōtipōgrāfi, 2 ōtōtipōgrāfi] See auto- & typography. The process of making autotypes.

autumn, n [1 awtum, 2 ōtum] O Fr autompne, Fr automne, fr Lat. autumnus. The etymology is uncertain, but it has been plausibly suggested that aut- may be cogn. w. the group of Gmc. words, Goth. aut and aga, 'rich, happy', O.S. ōd ag, O.H.G. ōt ag, O.E. ēad ag, 'prosperous, happy, rich'. Autumn wd. thus mean the 'season of plenty'. A the third season of the year, between summer and winter, b (fig.) period of full maturity of life and development, when youth is past and decline has not yet set in.

autumnal, adj [1 awtumnal, 2 ōtumnal] fr preo & -al. Of or pertaining to, happening in, autumn, a (of plants) blooming or fruiting in autumn, b (fig.) connected with the middle period of life.

auxanometer, n [1 awkanōmeter, 2 ōkanōmētā] fr Gk auxanēn, 'to increase'. See auction & -meter. An instrument for measuring the growth of plants.

auxiliary, adj & n [1 awgziārī, 2 ōgziārī] fr Lat. auxiliāris, 'helpful', fr auxilium, 'addition, help', fr base aug*, 'increase', q.v. under auction, & -ary. 1 adj. Helping, assisting, subsidiary. auxiliary troops. Auxiliary verb, one like be, shall, will and often have, which has no function apart from the full verb whose mood or tense it helps to express. 2 n A helper, assistant, specif. (in pl.) foreign troops serving with another nation in war.

avail (I), v, intrans & trans [1 avil, 2 avēil] fr a (for Lat. ad-, 'to') & Fr vaille, fr vaior, 'to be worth', fr Lat. valere, 'to be strong, to be effective'. See valiant. 1 intrans. To be of use, worth, value, profit, to serve a purpose. Ask what avails the sceptred race (Lancelot). 2 (reflex.) To avail oneself of, to profit by, take advantage, make use of. To avail oneself of an offer, opportunity &c. 3 trans. To profit, benefit &c. Our wealth avails us nothing, all must die.

avail (II), n, fr prec Use, profit, benefit, advantage, only in a few phrases such as of no avail, useless, of little avail, very little good, of what avail is it &c availability, n [1 aválibliti, 2 avélibliti] See next word & -ity Quality of, capacity for, being available available, adj [1 aválibl, 2 avélibl], fr avail & -able a Capable of being used, handy, near at hand and easy to be obtained, b (special nso confined to trading companies &c) tickets (for railway or theatre) available on day of issue only, i.e. lawfully usable avalanche, n [1 aválahnsh, 2 avélahn] Fr dual form of avalance, 'descent', fr avalier, 'to descend', op à val, 'down hill', lit 'to the valley' a mass of snow and ice loosened by thaw which rushes down a mountain-side collecting more and more snow, together with earth &c, in its descent, b (fig) a thick shower of blows, missiles &c, a huge influx of papers, letters, circulars &c by post avant-courier, n (compromise Engl-Fr pronunciation) [1 aváhn kórier, 2 avé kúri], fr Fr avant, 'before' See advance & courier One who goes on ahead, before main body or principal person, in order to reconnoitre or to give notice of approach, pl, ecouts, advance-guard avanturine See aventurine avarice, n [1 aváris, 2 avéris], fr O Fr, fr Lat avaritia, 'greed', fr avarus, 'greedy', fr avere, 'to long for, covet' See audacious & ave & cp avid Greed for riches, eager desire to obtain and to hoard wealth, covetousness, cupidity avaricious, adj [1 avárisshus, 2 avérisshus] Fr avaricious, see prec Afflicted with avarice, afraid of losing or expending money, greedy, miserly, stingy avariciously, adv Prec & -ly In an avaricious manner avast, interj [1 avésh, 2 avésh] Prob fr Du houd vast, 'hold fast' (naut) Stop! leave off!

avatar, n [1 avátar, 2 avétar], fr Sort avatára, 'descent', fr ava, 'down' (cogn w Lat av, 'away', as in aufero, 'carry away'), & tar, 'go, cross over', as in tarati, 'crosses' (Hind mythol) Descent to earth of a Hindu deity and his incarnation as man or animal avant, interj [1 avávant, 2 avévant], fr Fr avant, 'to the front, forward' fr Lat ab ante, 'from before' See advance Begono! (arohaic, now only in mock heroics) ave, interj & n [1 áhvi, 2 ávi] Lat, 'hail, farewell', imperative of avere, 'to be happy, fare well', w wh the following are cognates Sort avai, 'he rejoices, helps, protects', avilar, 'helper, protector', avis, 'favourable', Gk enêls for 'en êwêls', 'affable', atêls for 'av itêls', 'benevolent, gentle', &c, finally, Goth awi lup, 'thanksgiving, song of praise' 1 Interjectional greeting (esp of farewell) 2 n a A devotional address or prayer to the BVM, from Ave Maria, first words of the prayer to say so many Aves, b a farewell avenge, v trans [1 avenj, 2 avéndž], fr O Fr avengier, fr a, 'to', & vengier, fr Lat vindicare, 'to claim as one's own, to avenge, punish' See vengeance, vindicate a To take satisfaction for an injury &c by inflicting punishment upon the wrongdoer, inflict retribution to avenge a wrong, to avenge a wronged person upon the oppressor, b to avenge oneself, to be avenged, to exact retribution for a wrong avenger, n [1 avonjor, 2 avéndž] Prec & -ar Ho who avenges avenging, adj [1 avenjng, 2 avéndžng] Pres Part of avenge Of, pertaining to, the person who or that which inflicts vengeance, exacting vengeance avens, n [1 ávenz, 2 avévenz], fr O Fr avence, etymol doubtful Rosaceous plant, herb benoit, wild species of the genus Geum aventurine, n [1 aventúrín, 2 avéntúrín] Fr, fr Ital avventurino, fr avventura, 'chance', op adventure, so called because discovered by accident 1 Kind of Venetian glass of brownish colour with gold spangles enclosed in it 2 A variety of edice, or crystalline quartz, traversed by fissures which reflect the light, and give a spangled appearance avenue, n [1 ávenü, 2 avénjü] Fr, fr fem PP of avénir, fr Lat advenire, fr ad-, 'to', & venire, 'to come', see venue A way of approach 1 a Principal road, or one of several, passing through private grounds to a house, usually bordered by trees on either side, drive, b roadway hordsred by trees, a donble row of trees without a road 2 A wide street with houses on either side, with or without rows of trees 3 (fig) Means of access or approach to non material things an avenue to success, prosperity &c avert, v trans [1 avér, 2 avé], fr Fr avérer, 'assert', fr Lat ad, 'to', & verum, 'true thing, truth' Soc very, verity &c a To declare to be true, assert, affirm, declare positively usually, to avert that an event happened, or absolutely, as he avers, b (law) to prove or justify (a plea) average (I), n [1 áverj, 2 aváridž] O Fr, fr Med Lat averagium, 'property, cattle', fr Lat habere, 'have', see habit, cp O Fr avies, vb & n, 'goods', there is also another word, Fr avarie, 'damage to goods in transit', at one time used of payment due to a port for each ship moored there The relationship, if any, between the two words is not clear, nor is the precise development of meaning There seems to have been confusion in English between the two words There is also a word arrage in Scots law, associated with carriage in leases, implying some kind of service to be rendered by a tenant to his fendal lord 1 a Mean proportion, the mean value or quantity of any number of sums, values, or quantities, obtained by dividing the totals by the number of the former, medial estimate on an (the) average, a cricketer's batting or bowling average, hence, b generally prevailing rate, common standard well up to the average 2 Estimate of probability or proportion, derived by generalization from number of specific cases to strike an average, esp in insurance (the original sense), a estimated proportion of actual compensation for loss to be paid, having regard to total amount of loss, and relation of this to the value actually insured, b (in marine insurance) general average, proportion of loss to be borne by all parties or insurers for damage through intentional acts done to save ship or cargo, particular average, that to be borne by owners or insurers for accidental damage average (II), adj See prec a Arrived at by process of average, containing a mean value average monthly rainfall &c, b of a usual standard, ordinary, normal average height, intelligence average (III), v trans, fr average (I) a To estimate, arrive at, the average of, b to distribute in a proportion arrived at by average to average a loss &c, c to amount to, work out at, on an average to average a certain monthly expenditure averment, n [1 avérment, 2 avément], fr aver & -ment 1 Act of averring, some thing averred, positive asseveration, declaration 2 (law) Offer to prove a plea, proof of a plea averruncator, n [1 áverungkátor, 2 avérungkótá], fr obs vb averruncare & -or, fr Lat averruncat-(um), PP of averruncare, 'to ward off, remove', fr av, 'off', & verruncare, 'to turn', also 'to turn out well', an old religious word, erroneously confused in meaning w Lat eruncare, 'to root out', the word should be avoided Device consisting of two curved pincer like blades at the end of a long pole, worked by a wire, used for pruning and lopping small houghs and shoots growing high above one's head (The instrument is far commoner than the name) averse, adj [1 avérs, 2 avás], fr Lat. avers (um), 'turned away', PP of avertere, see avort Sot against, opposed to, reluctant, disinclined for Normally and usually followed by to (before Pres Parts and vbl and other ns) averse to coming, not averse to a good dinner, or less frequently by infin averse to do (Very rarely, and now chiefly in affected style, followed by from)

averseness, n Prec & -ness State of being averse aversion, n [1 avérshun, 2 aváshn], fr Lat aversio (em), 'a turning away', fr avers (um), avertere, see avort 1 Strong feeling of dislike, antipathy, repugnance (followed by to) 2 Person or thing which inspires antipathy my chief aversion avert, v trans [1 avort, 2 avát], fr O Fr avertir, fr Lat avertere, 'turn aside from', fr av, 'from', & vertere, 'to turn' See version. 1 a To turn away from, turn aside in another direction to avert one's eyes, glance &c from, b to ward off, prevent from producing effect to avert a blow 2 (fig) To ward off, prevent, a disaster, illness &c averted, adj [1 avérshd, 2 aváshd], fr PP of prec Turned away (esp of the eyes), as though ashamed or horrified avertible, adj [1 avérshbl, 2 aváshbl] avert & -able (of non material things) Capable of being averted or prevented aviarist, n [1 áviarist, 2 avíarist] See aviary & -ist One who keeps an aviary aviary, n [1 áviari, 2 avíari], fr Lat aviarium, fr avis, 'a bird' The undoubted cognates of this common Lat word are not numerous, but include prob Scrt avis, 'bird', & Gk aielos, aielos, 'eagle' (for 'augelos') See angur, auspice Large cage or enclosed space for keeping birds aviation, n [1 áviashun, 2 avíashn], concocted fr Lat avi (s), 'bird', see prec & -ation Art of flight through the air by mechanical means, including everything connected with management of flying machines in the air aviator, n [1 áviltor, 2 avívtor], fr Lat avi (s), 'bird', & -tor, on anal of victor &c See prec & aviary One who flies by mechanical means, flying-man, one skilled in aviation aviculture, n [1 ávikulchur, 2 avíkalitj], fr Lat avi (s), 'bird', see aviary, & culture Breeding and care of birds avid, adj [1 avid, 2 avid], fr Lat avidus, fr avere, 'to be eager for, to desire', see audacious & ave & cp avarice Eager for, desirous of, greedy, followed by of or for avidity, n [1 aviditi, 2 avíditi], fr Fr avidité, fr Lat aviditas, 'longing, vehement desire', fr avidus See prec & -ity Ardent desire, eagerness, greed, hunger (lit and fig) to accept, to eat, with avidity avidly, adv [1 ávidi, 2 avíditi] avid & -ly Eagerly, hungrily avifauna, n [1 ávifáwna, 2 avífbóna], fr Lat avis, 'bird', see aviary, & fauna All the species of birds collectively distributed in a given region avizandum, n [1 ávizandum, 2 avízandam] Mod Lat, gerund of avizare, 'to consider', see advise (Scots law) Withdrawal or suspending of a case by a judge for further consideration avocado, n [1 ávokahdó, 2 avokáhdow] Span, 'advocate' Corrupt of Mexican name ahuacatl The fruit of a tropical American and W Indian tree, shaped like a pear, the alligator-pear avocation, n [1 ávokáshun, 2 avoukeshn], fr Lat avocatio (em), 'a calling off, diversion', fr avocare, -atum, fr av, 'from, off', & vocare, 'to call', see vocation (Original meanings, diversion, distraction of attention, now obsolete) a One's regular, habitual business, customary occupation, calling (also in pl), b minor, subsidiary, employments, occupations other than regular habitual business (in pl) avocet, avocet, n [1 ávōset, 2 avocet], fr Fr avocette, fr Ital avocetta Genus of bird with webbed feet, allied to the stilt avoid, vb trans [1 avōid, 2 avōid], fr O Fr evadere, 'to empty', fr Lat eo- & void, w charge of pref to a-, 'from' (Old meanings, to void, to depart, extricate oneself from &c, are now obsolete) To keep away from, eschew Specif 1 a to shun, give the slip to, escape meeting, refrain from society of (a person), b keep away from, abstain from going to (a place), c escape, prevent oneself from (suffering, calamity &c), d evade, refrain from doing (an action, one's duty &c) 2 (law) To annul (a plea), to make void, invalidate, quash (a sentence) avoidable, adj [1 avōidabl, 2 avōidabl] Prec & -able Capable of being avoided avoidably, adv Prec & -ly In an avoidable manner avoidance, n [1 avōidans, 2 avōidans] See avoid & -ance 1 The act of avoiding avoidance of difficulties 2 The vacation of an office or benefice 3 (law) In Plea of Confession and Avoidance, where in a defence to an action, certain facts are admitted but with new facts sufficient to 'avoid' or annul the legal effect of what is admitted avoidupois, edj & n [1 avōidupois, 2 evadupois] Incorrect form of avoir de pois, in O Fr avoir de pois, 'goods of weight', fr avoir, later avoir, 'goods', fr Lat habere, 'to have', op first element in avorage, & O Fr pois, 'weight', see poise 1 Avoidupois or as edj avoidupois weight, system of weights used in all English speaking countries for all articles except precious metals and medicines 2 (colloq and vulg) Excessive weight and stoutness of a person avouch, vb trans & intrans [1 avouch, 2 avouch] fr O Fr avouer, fr Lat advocare, 'to call, summon, as (legal) defender', fr ad- & vocare, 'to call' See vouch 1 trans a To avow, assert, affirm, that something is true, b to confess, acknowledge openly 2 intrans To give assurance, to assert avow, vb trans [1 avou, 2 avou], fr O Fr avouer, avoir, fr Lat advocare See vow & vote The meanings show confusion between advocare, 'vow', & advocare, 'call upon' See prec 1 a To declare openly, admit, confess to avow one's errors, b (reflex) to declare, admit, oneself to be avow oneself a believer in spiritualism 2 (law) To justify an act done, make a avowry of avowable, adj [1 avouabl, 2 avouabl], fr avow & -able Capable of being avowed or acknowledged without discredit avowal, n [1 avoual, 2 avoual] See avow & -al Free and open admission, confession avowed, adj [1 avoud, 2 avoud], fr PP of avow Self acknowledged, freely admitted, recognized an avowed Jew, the avowed author of the plot avowedly, adv [1 avouedli, 2 avouedli] Prec & -ly By admission and acknowledgment avowry, n [1 avouin, 2 avouin] O Fr avouerie See avow & -ry (law) Action of avowing, specif, justification of action by one disarming goods avulsion, n [1 avulshn, 2 avulshn] Lat avulsion (em), 'a tearing off', fr avuls (um), PP type of avellere, 'pull off, tear away', fr av-, 'away', & vellere, 'pull, pluck, twitch', see vulcate, the base is prob the same as that in Lat vellum, 'shorn fleecy' (see wool), & possibly Lat vulnus, 'wound', cp also Goth vulcan, 'to rob, take by force', also W quellaf, 'longs' 1 A tearing away, forcible separation 2 Specif (law) sudden removal or cutting off, of land by flood, or alteration in course of a river, from estate of one person, so that it is joined to that of another avuncular, edj [1 avungkular, 2 avungkular], fr Lat avunculus, 'maternal uncle', dimin of avus, 'grandfather', & -ar, see avunculus & eme, & cp uncle Pertaining to, in relationship of, an uncle await, vb trans [1 awāt, 2 awāt] Norman Fr awaiter, fr a-, 'to', & wait 1 (of persons) To wait for, be on look out for, expect to await a person, await arrival of, await a decision 2 (of things) To be prepared for, in store for, to overtake, follow of necessity a hearty welcome awaits you, death awaits us all awake (I), vb trans & intrans [1 awāk, 2 awāk] Formerly fr OE awacan & awacian, see wake (I), wh were intrans, the OE trans vb was awecan, ME awecchen See also watch (II) A trans a To rouse from sleep, b (fig) to rouse, stir up (a person), from mental lethargy, or indifference, inaction, excite into action or activity of any kind to awake a person from ignorance and sloth, c make a person conscious, aware of (followed by to) awake a person to a sense of sin, d excite lively feelings of interest, sorrow, delight &c to awake old memories, awake a desire for knowledge. E intrans a To come out of sleep, cease to sleep, b (fig) to enter upon bodily or mental activity, rouse oneself from indifference or inactivity, c to awake to, to become conscious, aware of, to realize to awake to one's danger, responsibilities &c awake (II), pred adj ME awake(n), str PP of prec Roused from sleep, no longer sleeping, (lit and fig) vigilant, mentally alert Awake to, conscious of, aware of, shive to to be fully awake to difficulties &c awaken, vb trans & intrans [1 awāken, 2 awāken] OE awecian, intrans, 'come to life, come into being' To awake, in various senses, lit & fig, esp to arouse to a sense of award (I), vb trans [1 award, 2 awōd] O Fr awarder See ward (I) a To give, allow (something claimed), by judicial pronouncement, b to assign, allot, something, esp a prize, palm, to a person after careful weighing of merits of various candidates, c to grant, allow to award (II), n See prec a Judicial decision, judgement, esp of arbitrators, b payment awarded by each decision aware, adj [1 awār, 2 awēa] OE gawer See wire, wary Knowing, conscious, informed aware of the facts, aware that there is danger awash, adv & pred adj [1 awōsh, 2 awōsh], fr a-, 'on', & wash (of a rock, sunken ship &c) On a level with the surface of the water so as to be washed by it away, ndv [1 awā, 2 awēa] OE onweg, ME awes &c, 'away' See a-, 'oa', & way (Orig 'oa the way' then w sense of removal to another place, & many differentiations of meaning) 1 (denoting rest or position) At a distance from given place or person far away, away from home, away at the wars &c 2 a (expressing motion, removal) To a distance, to another place, or in a different direction to go away, throw away, run away, to lean away from Phrs away with you, away with it, take it away, to fire away one's ammunition, explain away, minimize, lessen force of, whither away, where are you going? b expressing loss, diminution, destruction to draw away, ebb away, waste, pine, wither, away, take away (from) Phrs to pass away, die, to fall away (from), desert, withdraw support or adherence 3 Expressing the idea of immediate action, forthwith, without delay straight away, right away 4 Denoting continuous movement, or action, without intermission work away, peg away (pl) 5 (used as mere intens) Far and away the best awe (I), n [1 aw, 2 aw] Scand, ME āze, āwe, fr ON agi, cogn w Goth agis, 'fear, anguish', OHG agi, egzo (cp OE egesa, 'fear', & that wh inspires it) The corresponding OE word is eye, 'fear', wh has been lost Outside Gmc there is the cogn Gh akho, 'grief', & akhomai, 'I am afflicted' Respect mingled with fear, dread, startled wonder, feeling inspired by something at once terrifying and majestic or sublime to stand, be, in awe of, a feeling of awe awe (II), vb trans, fr prec To inspire with awe, to strike with respectful dread awear, adj [1 a-wēa, 2 awēa], fr a- & weary (poet) Weary aweless, adj [1 awēos, 2 āwa], fr awe (I) & -less A Not inspiring awe, b not feeling awe awesome, adj [1 awsum, 2 āsom], fr awe (I) & -some Inspiring awe, dreadful awestruck, adj [1 awstruk, 2 āstrak], fr awe (I) & struck Deeply affected with awe awful, adj [1 awfool, 2 āfal], fr awe (I) & -ful 1 a Apt to fill others with awe, inspiring awe, dreadful, appalling, b deserving and inspiring respect and reverence, solemnly impressive awful dignity 2 (colloq) Used as a more intensive an awful nuisance, awful nonsense awfully, adv Prec & -ly a In an awful manner, b (colloq, more intens) very, extremely awfully good &c awfulness, n See prec & -ness a Quality or fact of being awful, b (colloq) unpleasantness, disagreeableness, specif, bad behaviour &c awhile, adv [1 awil, 2 awail] a, indef art, as in OE āne hwile, or 'on', on anal of other old edvbs thus formed, & while, in any case the pref is gen felt as the art, cp wait awhile, or wait a little while For a short time awkward, adj [1 ākwārd, 2 ākwārd] Orig an adv meaning 'wrong way round, contrary', fr awik, 'wrong, contrary', & ward, adv suff, as in forward (see ward) Awk is fr ON ōfug, 'turning the wrong way, back foremost', of wh of is for af (see off, of), & -ug, Goth -uh, OS & OHG -uh, as in OS abuh, 'perverso, evil', OHG apuh, 'turned away' (corresponding to ON ōfug), is a suff, the precise force of wh is difficult to determine it is supposed to be cogn w Lat que, 'and' The history of awkward is thoroughly elucidated by Skeat 1 a (of material things) Difficult or dangerous to use or handle, inconvenient for particular purpose an awkward door to open, an awkward handle to hold, b (of non material things) embarrassing, inopportune, disconcerting an awkward situation, an awkward remark, pause, an awkward time for it to occur 2 (of persons or their actions) a Clumsy, ungraceful, embarrassed an awkward boy, awkward in his movements, awkward in society, Phr the awkward age, adolescence, b lacking dexterity, bungling an awkward workman, c (colloq) dangerous, formidable an awkward customer awkwardly, adv Prec & -ly In an awkward manner awkwardness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being awkward, in all senses, inconvenience, clumsiness, inopportune, lack of grace or dexterity awl, n [1 awl, 2 āw] OE ah, ME al, all, cognate w ON ala, OHG ala A small pointed tool for boring holes in wood, leather &c, distinct from a gimlet in having a pear-shaped handle, and no thread or arm awn, n [1 awn, 2 āa] Same in ME, OE has egenu (pl, fr egun*), 'chaff', but our present form must go back to an OE agan*, without mutation, or may be a Scand loan-word, cp Swed agn, 'husk', the word is well represented in Gmc languages, cp OHG agana, Goth ahana, 'chaff', these are cogn w Lat agrus (fr acrus*), 'straw', & Gh āhne, 'husk of wheat' &c, pl āhna, 'chaff' All these words are derived fr Aryan base al(h)*, 'sharp, pricking', whence come also a large number of words meaning 'oating edge, point, prickle', also (fig) 'pain, grief' &c See acid, acerbity, acrid, acuity, acute, ail, edge Spiky growth from end of the ears of oats, barley, some kinds of wheat, and from many kinds of grasses, called also beard.

awned, adj [1 awnd, 2 ɔnd], fr prec & -od Furnished with spikes or beard, like oats & awning, n [1 ɔwning, 2 ɔnp] Etymol doubtful, but op Fr auvent, 'shed, pontbonse'. Canvas sheet stretched on framework need as a protection from the sun, esp on deck of a ship awnless, adj [1 ɔwnles, 2 ɔnles], fr awn & -less Devoid of awn awoke, vb [1 awok, 2 əwɔk] Pret of awake, see wake awry, adv & pret adj [1 ɔri, 2 ɔri], fr a-, & wry 1 adv a Crookedly, askew, unevenly, b (fig, of human actions, events &c) wrong, erroneously, in a wrong manner or direction everything has gone awry, gone wrong, failed 2 pret adj Twisted, crooked, distorted (lit & fig) the picture is all awry, his life was awry axe, n [1 aks, 2 ɔks] O E acus; ax &c, O H G acchus, Goth akwiz, cp Lat ascia for acsa*, 'axe', also 'mason's trowel', Gk axinē, 'axo' Tool for cutting and splitting timber, with a heavy head, having one sharp edge and a long handle by which it is swung. Phrs the axe, (t) execution by be-heading, (u) drastic reduction of public expenditure, to have an axe to grind, to have personal, usually financial, advantages to gain by a certain course of action axial, adj [1 aksial, 2 ɔksial], fr axis & -al Of, belonging to, connected with, an axis axil, n [1 aksil, 2 ɔksil], fr Lat axilla, 'armpit', see aisle & axle Point at which a bough springs from the tree or a leaf from its stem axile, adj [1 aksil, 2 ɔksil], fr axis & -ile Belonging to, situated in, the axis axilla, n [1 aksila, 2 ɔksila] Lat, 'armpit', dimn of ala (fr ucela*) 'wing', see axil, aisle, axle a (anat) The armpit, b (bot) axil, q v axillary, adj [1 aksilari, 2 ɔksilari], fr axilla & -ary 1 (anat) Connected with the armpit 2 (bot) Connected with, arising from, the axil axillary bud axiom, n [1 ɔksium, 2 ɔksium], fr Fr axiome, fr Lat axioma, fr Gk axiōma, 'that which is thought fit or worthy', (philos) 'self evident proposition', fr axiō & 'I deem worthy, estimate', fr axios, 'worthy', op also dō, 'weigh, estimate', op Lat agina, 'frame of a balance', ex- agnum, 'weight', all ultimately fr base ag-*, 'go, move' &c, see act, action, agent &c 1 An accepted principle or assumption such as those upon which sciences are based 2 (math and log) A self-evident proposition, one which is so evident that it needs no proof or demonstration axiomatic(al), adj [1 ɔksiomatik(l), 2 ɔksio-matik(l)], fr Gk axiōmatikos, fr axiōma See axiom Of the nature of an axiom, belonging to, based on, undisputed principle axiomatically, adv Prec & -ly By the use of axioms, as based on axioms axis, n, pl axes [1 aksis, ɔz, 2 aksis, -iz] Lat, 'axle of a wagon, axis of the world, north pole, the whole sky', cogn w Gk axis, 'axle of a wheel', Scrt. akṣa, same base as axilla, see also axle, aisle, axil, axil Hypothetical central line of a body, in 'various special uses 1 (geom and drawing) Real or imaginary line which divides a figure into two symmetrical parts 2 (astron) An imaginary line about which a body rotates or may rotate Axis of the equator, imaginary straight line on which the earth rotates and which passes through the imaginary points called poles 3 (bot) Stem or central line along which the growths and organs of a plant are arranged axle, n [1 ɔksl, 2 ɔksl] M E axel &c, axellrec, the uncompound axel, axl, means 'shoulder' in OE, the Gmc cognates are O H G ahsala, Mod Germ achsel, O S ahsa, O N axi &c For this base in other families of language, see axilla, exir, axil, axil, axil a (rather loosely in common usage) The rod or bar which connects two opposite wheels, and on, or with, which the wheel revolves, b more exactly, the axles are the two ends of the bar which connects the wheels, the bar itself being strictly the axle-tree Axle box, box closed by detachable cap, in nave of wheel, through which the ends of the axle tree pass

Axminster, adj & n [1 ɔksminster, 2 ɔksminster], fr name of town in Devon, where carpets were formerly woven by hand Name of a type of carpet now made at Wilton near Salisbury

axolotl, n [1 ɔksolɔtl, 2 ɔksolɔtl] Mexican word Kind of amphibian water lizard or nealamander found in Mexico, which retains the gills of its tadpole form and breeds as such in the lakes where it lives, but has power of developing lungs and attaining its true nealamander form on land ay, aye, interj & n [1 i, 2 ai] Perh same as aye 1 interj Yes 2 n An answer in the affirmative, (pl) ayes, those who vote in the affirmative or in favour of a motion Parliamentary Phr the ayes have it, those in favour of the motion are in a majority ayah, n [1 iya, 2 aya] Anglo-Indian word, said to be from Span aya, Port aya, 'governess' Native Hindu nurse or lady's maid, esp one waiting on Europeans in India aye, adv [1 ɔ, 2 ei] M E ei, ai &c, fr O N ei, 'ever, always', the native Engl word cogn w this is ai, 'always', O H G eo, Goth aiu, 'always' These are fr the ns, O E æ(w), 'time, eternity', O H G ewa, Goth awa, see further on this base under aeon, age, eternal, ever Ever, always, forever, also for aye, eternally for ever and aye aye-aye, n [1 iyi, 2 aya] Madagascar word, perh fr cry of animal Small rodent about the size of a cat, with a bushy tail like a squirrel, & nocturnal lemur, Chiromys, found in Madagascar azalea, n [1 ɔzila, 2 ɔzila], fr Gk azalea, fem of azaleos, adj, 'burnt, dry', so named because the plant flourishes in a dry soil Op Gk aza, 'soot', azō, 'to dry, burn'

The Gk base is fr az-*, cp. Czech odst
'to dry up', fr same base, without -d, Goth azgō, 'onder' (see ash), and Lat aridus, 'dry', ardere, 'burn', fr aridus*, azidō* See ardent, arid Genus of shrubs with richly scented white, pink, yellow, or red blooms, allied to the rhododendron, chiefly natives of North America and China

azarole, n [1 ɔzard, 2 ɔzard], fr Fr azerole, fr Ital azzurulo, fr an Arab word Fruit of Neapolitan medlar, tree which bears this

Azilian, adj [1 ɔzilian, 2 ɔzilian], fr name of cavern, Mas d'Azil, French Pyrenees, where remains were found Pertaining to a stage of prehistoric culture linking the palaeolithic and neolithic periods azimuth, n [1 ɔzimuth, 2 ɔzimap] M E azimude (in Chaucer's 'Astrolabe'), fr Arab as-samūt, 'the paths' See zenith Distance of a star in angular degrees from N or S point of the meridian azimuthal, adj [1 ɔzimidhal, 2 ɔzimidhal] Prec & -al Pertaining to the azimuth azimuth compass, n Special form of compass with vertical sights used for taking the azimuth of a star azo-, pref, fr azote, old name for nitrogen, used in chemistry to form words denoting compounds containing nitrogen in various combinations azois, adj [1 ɔzɔik, 2 ɔzɔik], fr Gk azō (as), fr a-, 'without', & zōē, 'life' See zoic, zoology (geol) Belonging to that period of geological time before the appearance of organic life on the earth azois age azonic, adj [1 ɔzonik, 2 ɔzonik], fr Gk azōnikos, azōnos, fr a-, 'not', & zōnē, 'belt', zone, region' See zone Not limited to a particular region or zone azote, n [1 ɔzɔt, 2 ɔzɔt] Fr, fr Gk a-, 'not', & zōē, 'life' See zoic Old name for nitrogen, so called because it is incapable of supporting organic life azotic, adj [1 ɔzɔtik, 2 ɔzɔtik] Fr azotique See prec & -ic Pertaining to azote or nitrogen azotite, n [1 ɔzɔtit, 2 ɔzɔtit], fr azote &

-ite (obs) A salt of nitrous acid azotize, vb trans [1 ɔzɔtiz, 2 ɔzɔtiz], fr azote & -ize To nitrogenize, to deprive of oxygen

azure, adj & n [1 ɔzhnr, ɔzhnr, 2 ɔza, ɔza] M E, fr O Fr azur, fr Med Lat azura (cp Span & Port azul), fr Arab al-lazward See lapis lazuli 1 adj Of a sky-blue colour, of the sky, sea, and human eyes 2 n a The colour sky blue, b (poet) the sky itself when blue and cloudless, c heraldic name for blue azurite, n [1 ɔzhurit, 2 ɔzhurit] Prec &

-ite Basic carbonate of copper, from its colour azygous, adj [1 ɔzigos, 2 ɔzigos], fr Gk azygos, 'unyoked', fr a-, 'not', & zygon, 'yoke' See zygo- (anat, of an organic part, a muscle &c) Not one of a pair.

B

B, b [1 hɔ, 2 hɪ] 1 The second letter of the English and other cognate alphabets, for its use in abbreviations see end of Dictionary 2 As symbol, denoting the second in order or quality of a series, specif a (alg) the second of a series of known numbers, b (mus) the seventh note in the diatonic scale of C major, the scale in which the keynote is B baa, vb & n [1 bah, 2 ba] Imitative a vb To bleat, of sheep and lambs, b n, the cry made by these animals

Baal, n [1 bɔl, 2 bɔl] Semitic, 'lord' God of the Phoenicians, (fig) a false god or idol baa-lamb, n Childish name for a lamb or sheep babacote, n [1 bɔbəkɔt, 2 bɔbəkɔt], fr Malagasy babakoto (zool) Species of lemur found in Madagascar

babble (I), vb intrans & trans [1 bɔbl, 2 bɔbl] Intrans, cp Swed babbla, also Lat babuläre, Fr babiller 1 To speak inarticulately or incoherently, to utter a stream of trivialities 2 To tell what had best been kept secret, reveal secrets unwisely 3 (of streams) To murmur, make gentle sound in flowing babblo (II), n, fr prec Childish chatter, foolish talk, confused sound of conversation, as of crowds, badly articulated speech, the sound of streams babbler, n [1 bɔblər, 2 bɔblər] babblo (I) & -er 1 One who babbles (in various senses) 2 Species of thrush.

babe, n [1 bɔb, 2 bɔb] Prob connected w babblo a Baby, very young child, b an innocent, inexperienced person a mere babe in the ways of the world babel, n [1 bɔbl, 2 bɔbl] Heb Hābel, name of capital of Babylon, place where, in the OT narrative, human speech was confounded 1 a Confused sound produced by a number of persons speaking together at the same time a chattering, b sound produced by a number of persons speaking different languages 2 a place where there is a babel of sound, b place where several different languages are spoken babroussa n [1 bábrúsa, 2 bábrúsa] Malay, 'hog deer' Species of Indian hog, native of Celebes and Buru baboo n [1 bábhoo, 2 bábhū] Hind babu Hindu title=Mr Generally used contemptuously of an Indian who has had a European education and adopts English speech and manners baboon n [1 báboon, 2 báboon] ME baboon &c, fr babouin Origin uncertain A kind of large ape with short tail, dog like muzzle and bare, coloured patches on chest and buttocks, typical genus Papio babouche n [1 báboosh, 2 báboš] Fr babouche, fr Arab babush, Pers pa pash, 'foot-covering' An Oriental heelless slipper baby n [1 bábi, 2 bábi] Dimin of brabo 1 Very young child, applied also familiarly to young animals, esp monkeys 2 One having the behaviour or character of a baby, a frivolous, foolish, or cowardly person. Phrs a regular baby, cry baby, a child who cries for nothing 3 A thing of small size of its kind baby grand piano baby-farmer n A woman who makes money by taking in unwanted babies to board, esp one who neglects and ill treats her charges babyhood n [1 bábihood, 2 bábihood] baby & -hood Condition of being a baby babyish adj [1 bábi ish, 2 bábi ish] baby & -ish Like a baby, esp in sense 2 baccalaureate n [1 bákalawrat, 2 báka lórat] Med Lat baccalauratus, fr Lat baccalaris, see bachelor, influenced by Lat laureus, 'laurel' Lowest academic degree, that of Bachelor baccarat n [1 bákarah, 2 bákarā] Fr, perh fr name of town Gambling card game baccate adj [1 bákat, 2 báket] Lat bacca, 'berry', see bacci-, & -ate Bearing berries baccanalia n & adj [1 bákanal, 2 bákanal] fr Lat Bacchanalia, belonging to Bacchus (god of wine) & his rites, fr Gk Bakkhos, see bacchi- a n A reveller, noisy, drunk en reveler, b adj, belonging to, characteristic of, such a reveller

Bacchanalia n [1 bákanália, 2 bákanélie] Lat, neut pl, see prec The feasts and orgies of Bacchus Applied to noisy, drunken revelry

Bacchanalian adj [1 bákanálian, 2 bákanélian] Prec & -an Belonging to noisy, drunken feasts

Bacchant(e) n [1 bákant, bákanti, 2 bákant, bákanti] fr Lat bacchant, Pres Part of bacchari, 'to celebrate the festival of Bacchus' A male or (esp) female devotee of Bacchus, a woman given to wine and noisy mirth

Bacchic adj [1 bálik, 2 bálik] Gk Bakkhos (see), fr Bakkhos, see next word, & -ic Relating to Bacchus bacci-, pref Form of Lat bacca, bacca, 'berry', used in compounds, the word prob meant orig 'grape', & is connected w Gk Bakkhos, the god of wine Cp Bacchante bacciferous adj [1 báksiferus, 2 báksiferus] Prec & -ferous Berry bearing bacciform adj [1 báksiform, 2 báksiform] bacci- & -form Shaped like a berry baccivorous adj [1 báksivorus, 2 báksivorus] bacci- & -vorous Berry eating, feeding, living, on berries baccy n [1 báki, 2 báki] Colloq abbr for tobacco bacdre n [1 bakdór, 2 bakdó] Hind bag dor, 'bridle cord' Anglo Indian, a belt or leading rein bachelor n [1 bácheler, 2 bástjila] ME bachelere, fr O Fr, fr Lat baccalaris, 'tenant of a baccalāra or small farm', connected w bacca, 'berry' See bacci- Perb confused w bacca-laurea, 'laurel berry' Precise derivation of Fr word uncertain

Old sense in Fr, 'a young man aspiring to knighthood', then, 'a junior member of guild or university, a young unmarried man'

These senses all survive in Engl usage, together w others derived & extended fr them 1 An unmarried man of any age, very commonly old bachelor Phr bachelor girl, young unmarried woman living a free, unconventional life 2 One who holds a junior degree at a university Bachelor of Arts, Medicine &c 3 The lowest rank of knighthood Knight Bachelor bachelorhood n [1 báchelerdom, 2 bástjila] bachelor & -dom State of being an unmarried man bachelorhood n [1 báchelerhood, 2 bástjila] bachelor & -hood Bachelorhood bachelor's button n Popular name of several species of flowers belonging to the Centaurea, from their resemblance to buttons in shape bacillary adj [1 básilari, 2 básilari] See bacillus & -ary Rod shaped, consisting of or resembling small rods, pertaining to bacilli bacilliform adj [1 hástjiform, 2 hástjiform] bacillus & -form Shaped like a rod or bacillus bacillus pl bacilli, n [1 básilus, 1, 2 hástjia, oi] Coured fr Lat dimin bacillum, 'rod, staff', cp same base w different formative element, in Gk baktron, 'staff', see bacteria, cp O Ir bacc, 'crutch', peg is prob fr same base See further imbecile

Name given from their shape to a large genus of minute plant organisms, schizomycetes or bacteria, both harmful and harmless, which exist under a variety of conditions in many substances back (I), n [1 bak, 2 bek] OE bæc, ME bal, ON bal OHG bakho, 'bam'

See bacon 1 The hinder part of the human body which extends from the base of the neck to the end of the spine, the corresponding part in other animals, (by extension) the back of a seat, upper surface, from resemblance to back of large animal Phrs behind one's back, without one's knowledge, to put one's back into anything, work hard at, to use great efforts, to accomplish, to put a person's back up (as of a cat), to make him angry

2 That portion of a chair or couch which supports the back of a sitter 3 The hinder part of anything, farthest from the front, the part of anything remotest from that which normally faces outwards towards the person using it back of a driver, box, cupboard, back of a grate, back of the mouth, throat, the part farthest from the lips, in which the uvula is situated, back of the tongue, that part of upper surface farthest from tip, nearest root Phr at the back of one's mind, existing in the memory, but not prominent in one's consciousness

4 That part of anything which is at the opposite side from that brought into play when it is in use back of the hand, that portion of the hand which is uppermost when the palm is turned downwards, back of a brush, that uppermost when bristles are turned downwards, back of a knife, the non-cutting side of blade, opposite edge, back of a picture, the unpainted side of canvas, back of a house, rear part, that face which has not principal entrances The Backs at Cambridge, part of a park, into which the rear sides of several colleges look

5 In games such as football, hockey &c, position nearest the goal, behind front line of players, a player who occupies this position back (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 To form or provide a back for

2 To give support, help, countenance The Government's declaration of war was backed by the whole nation, his friends backed him strongly in his candidature 3 To put one's name on the back of a legal or financial document, bill &c, thus making oneself responsible to back a bill for a friend &c

4 To bet a sum of money on a competitor in a contest of chance or skill to back horses for the Derby 5 To cause to go or move backwards to back a car, a horse, to back oars, to back water, row backwards B intrans

1 To move backwards the horses of the mounted police backed into the crowd 2 To adjoin, be near to, look out on, at the back

ry garden backs on to a mews C Followed by adverbs Back down, to give up, abandon claim, charge &c Back out, to withdraw from a promise, undertaking &c Back up, to follow up in support, esp at games back (III), adj back (I) used attributively 1 Being behind, situated in the rear back door, garden, entrance, back brake, one on hind wheel of a bicycle 2 (phon) Back vowel, consonant, made with the back of the tongue, that part farthest from the tip, in more archaic and less accurate terminology, guttural vowel &c 3 No longer current, having appeared at an earlier date back number of a magazine or serial publication, also fig, of a person of reactionary tendencies and obsolete opinions back (IV), adv, fr back (I) 1 To the rear, to the opposite direction from the front, expresses movement towards, position at, in place and time to go, move, stand, back, go back several years, some time back, look back, (lit and fig) survey, consider events of a former period, (colloq) never to look back, to have no reversal of health or prosperity Phrs to go back on (one's friends), to betray them, (on one's word, principles) repudiate, be false to, to keep back, conceal fact, sum of money &c (usually in bad sense) 2 Expressing return to original place, position, state &c to give, pay, back, hard, send, back, go back to one's home, go back for something, return to one's starting point; take back (an offensive remark &c), withdraw, cancel Phrs to pay a man back (in his own coin), treat him as he has treated oneself, to answer back, reply to what has been said, esp in an impatient way back (V), n, fr Du bak, 'tub', cp Fr bac, 'punt, ferry boat' A shallow vat or tray used by brewers, dyers &c backache n [1 bálik, 2 bákeik] Pain in the back, lumbago backband n [1 bálbánd, 2 bákbánd] Strap passing over horse's saddle and supporting shafts of cart or carriage backbite vb trans & intrans [1 bákbít, 2 bákbait] a trans To speak maliciously of (persons) when absent, b intrans, to speak maliciously of absent persons backbiter n [1 bákbíter, 2 bákbíta] Prec & -er Person given to backbiting backbiting n [1 bákbítting, 2 bákbáit] backbite & -ing Action of one who backbites, malicious remarks about, censure of, the absent back-blocks n (Anstralia, colloq) District difficult of access, esp pastoral areas, far away from a railway, river, or sea-coast backboard n [1 bákbórd, 2 bákbórd] 1 Board placed at the back of anything, e.g. backboard of a cart, movable board closing it at the back, backboard of a picture, one fastened behind it for support 2 Board strapped for a certain time each day to the back of a young person with a weak or curved spine to give support to or straighten it &c backbone n [1 bákbón, 2 bákboun] 1 A the spine, b (fig) strength of character, firmness, courage, resolution, moral fibre 2 (fig) Principal support, vital, sustaining element or principle the square arch was formerly the backbone of the country, the backbone of a defence, a religion &c backbony adj [1 bákbón, 2 bákboun] Prec & -ed Having a backbone, vertebrate back-chat n (colloq) Interchange of facetious or insolent remarks between two persons, insolence backdoor adj [1 bakdór, 2 bakdó] (fig) Secret, covert, underhand backdoor methods, influence &c backdown, n [1 bákdown, 2 bækdown] Retreat, withdrawal, from one's position, surrender backed, adj [1 bakt, 2 bækt] back (I) & -ed 1 Covered, lined, at the back a curtain backed with satin 2 Chiefly in compounds, having a back of a specified kind straight-backed &c back end, n (provino) The late autumn backer, n [1 baker, 2 bæke] back (II) & -er One who backs (in varying senses), a one who bets on a horse, or on a sporting event, a one who assists, supports, believes in merits of, advocates cause of, another, a supporter, protector a young man as fortunate to secure powerful backers early in his career backfall, n [1 bákfall, 2 bækfál] Fall on the back sustained in wrestling back fire, n [1 bák fir, 2 bæk fæɪ] Premature explosion of gas in an internal combustion engine, which causes the piston to travel in reverse of the desired direction back-fire, vb intrans [1 bák fir, 2 bæk fæɪ] (of internal combustion engine) To undergo, produce, a back fire back-formation, n Grammatical form derived from another by a secondary and later process of analogy, the later form having the appearance of being the basal form from which the other is derived, e.g. to grovel, formed from grovelling, as though the latter were a Prose Part of a verb, instead of being an old adverb backgammon, n [1 bæk(g)ámun, 2 bæk(g)ámən], fr back & gammon, see also game Game played on a special board, with draughtsman and dice background, n [1 bækgrúnd, 2 bækgráund] The hinder area in a landscape, representation of this in a picture, the darker, less important part of a picture which is, or is represented as being, farthest from the eye, and against which the chief figures and images are grouped, the hinder part of a scene in a threatro Phr to keep in the background, to remain in comparative obscurity during an action or event backhand (I), n [1 bakhánd, 2 bækhænd] 1 Type of hand writing in which the strokes are sloped backwards, that is, from left to right 2 Stroke, in a game &c, delivered with the back of the hand turned outwards, the movement of the arm being from the player's left side towards his right backhand (II), adj, fr proo Made with the back of the hand turned outwards and held in the same direction as that in which the stroke is delivered backhanded, adj [1 bakhánded, 2 bæk-hánded] backhand (I) & -ed 1 Backhand a backhanded stroke, blow &c 2 (of written letters) Sloped backwards 3 (fig) Ambiguous, equivocal, uttered in, expressing, sarcasm a backhanded compliment backhandedly, adv Proe & -ly In a backhanded manner backhandedness, n See proe & -ness Quality of being backhanded backhander, n [1 bakhándér, 2 bækhándér] backhand & -er 1 Backhanded blow, or stroke 2 Glass of wine poured out by person at a table for his right hand neighbour before passing the bottle on in the proper direction from right to left backing, n [1 báking, 2 bækɪŋ] back (II) & -ing 1 Substance used to cover the back of an object mirrors have a backing of quicksilver 2 A act of one who backs (horses &c), a vagator, bet, laid on a sporting event, c (fig) assistance, moral support afforded by one person to another, efforts used in behalf of another with a view to furthering his interests he had strong academic backing in his candidature back page, n Last-hand page of a book backsaw, n [1 bák-saw, 2 bæk-sɔ] Saw with a bar of stiff metal welded to the upper edge to give strength and rigidity.

backshish See bakshesh.

backside, n [1 báksid, 2 bæk-sáid] 1 (archaic) The back, rear, remoter side of anything the backside of the desert (Bib), now written back side 2 The hinder parts, the buttocks, rump back slang, n Form of jargon or argot in which words are disguised by being spelt backwards and given the pronunciation thus suggested, e.g. gip for pig, ecrip for price, slop for police backslide, vb intrans [1 báksláf, 2 bæk-sláid] To fall away from a condition of grace, honesty, uprightness &c, to relapse backslider, n [1 báksláidér, 2 bæksláide] Proe & -er Person who backslides, one who falls back into sin, or relapses into bad habits backsliding, n [1 báksláidíng, 2 bæksláidíng] See proe & -ing Act of one who backslides, relapse into sin, error &c, fall from grace backstairs, n [1 bákstáirz, 2 bækstéarz] A staircase in a house leading from the servants' quarters, having a special entrance to each landing usually shut off by a door; contrasted with front stairs, principal staircase Phr backstairs influence, secret, underhand, covert influence backstay, n [1 bákstá, 2 bákstér] Rope, set of ropes, extending from the mast head to the side of a ship, sloping towards the stern, used to keep the mast in position and give it support backstop, n [1 bákstop, 2 bákstóp] 1 Fence behind the home base in baseball to stop the balls that pass the catcher 2 (cricket) Player who fields in a straight line behind the wicket keeper, longstop backstrap, n [1 bákstrap, 2 bækstráp] Strap passing along horse's backbones, from the saddle to the crupper backstroke, n [1 bákstrók, 2 bækstróuk] Backhanded stroke backsword, n [1 báksórd, 2 bæk-sórd] Sword with only one cutting edge, a broadsword backward, adj [1 bákwárd, 2 bæk-wárd] back (I) & -ward 1 Not advanced, standing, being, moving, towards the back a backward position, a backward movement 2 Lagging behind, retarded, not having made progress, in mental development, knowledge, studies, civilization &c a backward child, a backward people, a backward state of society 3 Slow, reluctant, disinclined to take action backward in asserting oneself, taking one's proper position &c 4 Behind time, late backward in one's preparations backwardation, n [1 bákwárdášun, 2 bæk-wárdášun] backward & -ation (Stock Exchange) Postponement of delivery of stocks and shares by mutual consent of buyer and seller, on payment of a premium to the former backward(s), adv [1 bákwárd(z), 2 bæk-wárd(z)] back (I) & -ward In a rearward direction, away from front, opposite of forward, in reverse direction to the normal the enemy's line was pressed backwards a few yards, to glance backwards over one's shoulder, to say something backwards, begun at the end, sitting backwards on a horse, i.e. looking towards its tail, to walk backwards, in contrary direction to that in which one is looking, to make an engine &c go backwards, revolve the contrary way from usual, from right to left, ring bells backwards backwash, n [1 bák-wash, 2 bæk-wáf] Waves, motion of water, caused by the passage of a vessel backwater, n [1 bák-wáter, 2 bæk-wáte] 1 Small creek containing stagnant water, leading into a stream or river 2 (fig) A condition of intellectual stagnation, and inaccessibility to new ideas &c, a group of persons among whom such a condition exists, place where such a group lives I live in a backwater in this small village backwoods, n pl [1 bákwúdz, 2 bæk-wúdz] Wild, only partially cleared forest region, remote from civilization, esp in Canada or USA backwoodsman, n [1 bákwúdzmán, 2 bæk-wúdzmán] 1 A settler, dweller, in the backwoods 2 (colloq, facet) A person who habitually lives in the depths of the country and rarely visits towns, specif, a peer who rarely visits the House of Lords, except when whipped up to vote on some special occasion bacon, n [1 bákm, 2 békma] ME bácon, O Fr & Med Lat baco(n), fr OHG bahho, 'buttock', cogn w OE bac, 'back' See back (I) Salted, pickled, flesh of the pig Phr to save one's bacon, escape loss or injury

Baconian, adj & n [1 bákmán, 2 békman] fr name of Francis Bacon, Lord Verulam (1561-1626), & -ian 1 adj Pertaining to Francis Bacon and his philosophy 2 n A student of Bacon's works, a supporter of the theory that Bacon was the real author of Shakespeare's plays bacteria, n pl [1 báktéria, 2 báktériə] More rarely used in sing bacterium [1 báktéríum, 2 báktériəm] Latinized form of Gk baktérion, dimn of baktérion, 'staff' See also bacillus & baculus A group of minute parasitic plant organisms, schizo mycetes, which exist in the air, water, soil, and the bodies of animals and plants Some are the cause of diseases, others convert dead organic matter into food for plants bacterial, adj [1 báktéríal, 2 báktériəl] Proe & -al Belonging to, consisting of, caused by, bacteria bactericide, n [1 báktérísid, 2 báktérísid] bacteria & -cide Substance which destroys bacteria, a disinfectant, antiseptic bacterio-, pref Form of bacteria, used in compounds bacteriological, adj [1 báktéríológikl, 2 báktéríológíkl] bacteriology & -ic & -al Belonging to, concerned with, bacteriology bacteriologist, n [1 báktéríológíst, 2 báktéríológíst] See next word & -ist One devoted to the study of bacteriology bacteriology, n [1 báktéríológí, 2 báktéríológí] bacterio- & -logy Science or study of bacteria bacterioscopy, n [1 báktéríóskopí, 2 báktéríóskopí] bacterio- & -scopy Microscopic investigation of bacteria bacteroid, n [1 báktéríoid, 2 báktéríoid] bacterio- & -oid Minute organism occurring in roots of leguminous plants bacteroid(al), adj [1 báktéríoid(al), 2 báktéríoid(al)] Proe & -al Having form of, resembling, bacteria baculus, n [1 bákülus, 2 békjulas] Lat, 'a rod', also baculum, see bacillus Official staff or rod, emblem of authority bad, adj [1 bád, 2 béd] Not found in OE, but ME badde in present sense 1 Proe related to OE bæddel, 'hermaphrodite', bædding, 'effeminate person', wh may contain base bād*-, as in OE bæðan, 'oppress' (see bide), orig 'restrain, cause to remain' The sense may have been 'hindered in growth, undeveloped, imperfect', whence sense of 'perverse' might easily arise Opposite of good, morally evil, vicious, imperfect, wrong Various shades of meaning and applications 1 Wicked, vicious, immoral, unrighteous bad men, habits, laws &c Phrs bad woman, one who is unchaste, bad language, verbal obscenity or profanity, a bad word, one which is profane or obscene, to go to the bad, he morally ruined, the bad disease, venereal, go from bad to worse (of persons and institutions &c), become steadily demoralized or ruined, bad debt, one which will never be paid, act in bad faith, dishonestly, insincerely, bad name (for), evil reputation, bad fairy, evil genius, bad hat (fig, colloq), good for nothing fellow, also bad lot (of men and women), put a bad construction on something, interpret unfavourably, be in a bad temper, be angry or cross, in a bad way (of health or fortunes) 2 (followed by for) Injurious, dangerous, hurtful, unsuited to, bad for the health, the eyes, morals, children &c 3 Offensive to the senses, nasty, disagreeable a bad smell, taste &c Phr to be in bad odour, in disfigure 4 Imperfect, inadequate, unsuitable, below standard, not reaching desired degree of excellence a bad light, dinner, clothes, manner, joke, voice. Phrs not bad (colloq), good, fairly satisfactory, not bad fun, amusing, not a bad idea, a good suggestion, with a bad grace, unwillingly, awkwardly, to see something in a bad light, regard it unfavourably, to have bad luck, be unfortunate, to be (taken) bad, be, fall, ill, a bad leg, eye, sore, painful, a bad half-crown, counterfeit, bad fair, anseund 5 Decayed, rotten a bad egg, this meat, fish, is bad, a bad tooth Phrs to go bad, become rotten, putrefy, esp of food, fruit &c, a bad egg, an untrustworthy, disreputable person 6 Sovereign, intense (said of something which in itself is 'bad') a bad cold, a bad pain, is the pain very bad, bad attack of the gout, bad head ache, heinous a bad crime &c badish adj [1 badiʃ, 2 badiʃ] Free & -ish Rather bad, either not very bad, or having considerable bad qualities badly adv [1 bəd, bəd, 2 bəd, bəd] Pret of bad. The first type of pronunciation represents O E bæd, M E bad, the second, M E bade, apparently fr M E bad w the vowel lengthened through the influence of the long vowel of the Pret pl & PP Cp spake badge, n [1 baj, 2 bɛdʒ] 15th cent bage, bagge. Etymol unknown Distinctive mark, or sign, worn to indicate particular office or rank badge of rank, in army, worn on cuff or epaulettes, policeman's badge.

badger, badgɜr, n [1 bədʒɜr, 2 bədʒɜr] fr Fern bād gir, 'wind catch' Arrangement common in Perso and in Sind for bringing air down into a house, for purposes of ventilation badger (I), n, [1 bājɜr, 2 bɛdʒɜr] Etymol unknown, not found before modern period The old name, brock, still survives in northern dialects and in Place-Names Large wild mammal, Meles lepus, of a grey colour, with long claws for burrowing, which lives in earths or burrows, and is still fairly plentiful in some parts of England.

badger (II), vb trans, fr prec To treat like a badger, hence (fig) to worry, tease, pester, to heckle with troublesome questions and contentious discussion.

badger-baiting, n [1 bājɜr bɑɪtɪŋ, 2 bɛdʒɜr bɑɪtɪŋ] The baiting or worrying of the badger by dogs, formerly a favourite sport badinage, n [1 bədɪnɑːʒ, 2 bədɪnɑːʒ] Fr, fr badin, 'jester', badiner, vb, 'jest, chaff', cp O Fr (Proveng) badar & -age Light, good natured pleasantry, chaff.

badly, adv [1 bədli, 2 bɛdli] bad & -ly In o bad, unsatisfactory, inadequate manner, ill, reverse of well badminton, n [1 bədɪntən, 2 bɛdɪntən] fr Duke of Beaufort's seat of that name 1 A game played with shuttlecocks and racquets over a net 2 A compound summer drink.

badness, n [1 bədnes, 2 bɛdnes] bad & -ness Quality of being bad baffle, vb trans [1 baɪl, 2 bɛɪf] Perb connected w archaic Fr beflier, 'ridicule', & bafouer, 'set at naught, hold up to contempt' Proveng Engl baff, 'useless, worthless', & Germ baff machen, 'to astound', are prob related. Origin of base perh imitative of sudden, unexpected blow which produces bewilderment A To puzzle, disconcert, bring to bewilderment, check, delude (persons), b to hinder, thwart, impede progress, prevent accomplishment of (plans, efforts &c) baffling, adj [1 baɪlɪŋ, 2 bɛɪfɪŋ] Pres Part of prec Puzzling producing hindrance, making obstacles, (of persons) inscrutable, difficult to understand baffy, n [1 bɛɪf, 2 bɛɪfɪ] Perh related to pret syll. of baffle, op proveng Engl baff, 'a blow' Wooden golf club used for 'lofting' a ball bag (I), n [1 bɪg, 2 bæg] ME bagge, fr O N baggi Origin doubtful 1 A Receptacle, made in various shapes and sizes, of leather, cloth, carpet &c, for holding and transporting movable articles of properly travelling bag, one for carrying clothes &c on a journey, lawyer's bag, in which he carries briefs &c, mail bag, for holding letters &c consigned to the post, game bag, for carrying game which has been shot, blue bag, containing blue powder used in laundry work, string bag, one made of net for carrying very light articles, money bags (fig), wealth Phrs bag of bones, very thin person or animal, whole bag of tricks, every possible device, all the necessities of anything, to let the cat out of the bag, divulge a secret inadvertently, to clear out, bag and baggage, with all one's belongings, completely, B pl (pair of) bags (colloq), trousers 2 All the game shot by a sportsman on a single expedition, (lit) contents of his game bag, applied to everything that he kills, including big game, elephant &c 3 In various fig, colloq, and jocular uses, eg a number of the evil doers whose names are taken down by a university proctor, b of material, esp if new and illuminative, collected by a scholar during his researches &c bag (II), vb trans, fr prec To put into a bag Used in various senses 1 (of sportsmen) To kill, secure as result of day's sport to bag a hare, to bag so many partridges &c, (fig) to collect, obtain possession of cp bag (I) 2 to bag subscriptions, anecdotes, butterflies (of a collector) &c 2 To obtain possession of without permission, help oneself to, other people's property (esp when of small value), mild term not implying dishonesty as a rule, (colloq) I have bagged some of your cigarettes, molches &c bag (III), vb intrans, fr bag (I) a To swell, as a sail in the wind, or garments in water, b to become baggy bag (IV), vb trans Proveng Engl Etymol doubtful To cut, esp of hedges, rough grass, weeds &c, with a stout hook, hence, bagging hook bagasse, n [1 bagəs, 2 bəgəs] Fr Etymol doubtful Sugar cane after it has been crushed in the mill, sometimes used as fuel bagatelle, n [1 bagətɛl, 2 bəgətɛl] Fr, fr Ital bagatella, 'trifle, worthless thing', Perh fr bacca, 'berry', fr Lat bacca, see bacca, w dimin snff, 'something small and valueless' 1 A trifle, something unimportant (often with mere) 2 A game played on a board, with holes instead of pockets, with ivory balls and small cues, a kind of inferior billiards baggage, n [1 bagɪ, 2 bəgɪdʒ] bag (I) & -age 1 Collection of bags and pockets, esp of travellers, of an army on active service &c, luggage 2 (by extension from sense of collection of worthless articles, now obs) An impudent, immoral woman, a jade, a hussy, esp an impudent baggage Also in playful sense, with no evil suggestion a merry, thoughtless young girl Baggage animals, mules, used to carry baggage of army or exploring party, baggage train, waggon carrying army's baggage baggy, n [1 bəgɪs, 2 bɛgɪs] Next word & -ness Condition of being baggy baggy, adj [1 bəgi, 2 bɛgi] bag (I) & -y Puffy, suggesting a bag, hanging in an irregular fold trouser baggy at the knees, baggy skin below the eyes bagman, n [1 bagmən, 2 bɛgmən] (colloq) A commercial traveller, from the habit of carrying his samples about with him in a bag baguio, n [1 bəɪnɔː, 2 bəɪnɔː] Ital bagno, 'bath', fr Lat balneum, see balneal, whence also Fr bain, 'bath', & baguier, 'take a bath', op Fr bagne, fr Ital word used in sense of convict prison 1 A bath, as applied to Italian and Oriental bagno, otherwise obsolete 2 A prison 3 A brothel bagpipe, n [1 bəɡpɪp, 2 bɪɡpɪp] Wind instrument in vogue among the Scottish Highlanders, with a monthpiece and finger-ring stops, the air being supplied from a leather bag which acts as the bellows, and is kept filled with air by the player, who holds it under his left arm and regulates the pressure by squeezing bahadur, n [1 bəbədʒɜr, 2 bəbədʒɜr] Hind, 'hero, champion' Title used in India, and affixed to names of European officers in documents, or in speaking ecremoniously, by natives—as Brown Sahib Bahodur, equivalent to 'the gallant officer' Among Europeans in India the term is applied to a haughty, pompous personage baignoire, n [1 bɛɪnwɔːr, 2 bɛɪnwɔːr] Fr, fr Lat balneum, 'bath', see under balneal, & -oire, see -ory, the word means 'bath, bathroom, box at the theatre', meaning extended apparently through intermediate sense of small private apartment Singe box at a theatre bail (I), n [1 bɛɪl, 2 bɛɪl] O Fr baill, 'custody', Low Lat ballium, connected w Lat bagulus, 'porter', baguläre, 'hear a burden' The transition of meaning is not clear Mod sense of Fr bail is 'lease' The etymol of bagulus is unknown Sum paid as security for an accused person's appearance at his trial, pending which he is released. Phrs to surrender to one's bail, appear only at trial, out on bail, released from prison pending trial, bail having been paid, to forfeit one's bail, i.e. by non appearance, (colloq) take bail, to run away, (fig) I'll go bail, I feel sure of something and therefore will bet on it, I'll be bound bail (II), vb, fr prec Generally bail out, to pay the sum demanded as security or bail for a person's appearance at his trial, thus securing his release on bail bail (III), n, fr O Fr baill, fr Lat boculum, 'little stick', q v under bacillus (cricket) One of two small pieces of wood laid across the top of the wicket, resting on all three stumps, the batsman is 'out' when either of these is knocked off by the ball when bowled, or when player is stumped, or run out.

bail (IV), also baile, vb intrans & trans, fr Fr bailler, 'bucket', fr L Lat bacula, dimin of Lat bacca, bacca, 'berry, grape', also 'wine jar', see bacca 1 intrans To throw water out of a boat by dipping into it some small vessel or bucket held in the hand 2 trans Bail out, to bail the water out of a boat bailable, adj [1 bɛɪləbl, 2 bɛɪləbl] bail (II) & -able Allowing of bail, of lighter offences bailee, n [1 bɛɪlɪ, 2 bɛɪlɪ] bail (I) & -ee Person to whom goods are committed in trust, and who has temporary property in them, under a contract of bailment, q v bailer, n [1 bɛɪlɜr, 2 bɛɪlɜr] fr bail (IV) & -er a Person who bails, b vessel used in bailing bailey, n [1 bɛɪlɪ, 2 bɛɪlɪ] O Fr baillie, 'palatide, enclosure', Me Lat ballium Courts or wards of a castle formed by spaces between the circuits of defences which surrounded the keep Name often retained after castle and its defences have disappeared, eg Old Bailey, the central criminal court of London which stands in what was the bailey of the City Wall, St Peter's le Bailey, Oxford bailie, n [1 bɛɪlɪ, 2 bɛɪlɪ] Form of bailiff. City magistrate in Scotland bailiff, n [1 bɛɪlɪf, 2 bɛɪlɪfɪ] fr O Fr baillif, 'custodian, magistrate', fr Low Lat bagulifer, fr bagulus, 'porter', see bail (I) 1 Originally a king's officer, now a sheriff's officer 2 A land agent, or one who manages the practical working of a farm for a landowner bailiwick, n [1 bɛɪlɪkwɪk, 2 bɛɪlɪkwɪk] See bailie & -wick. The district, jurisdiction, of a bailie baliment, n [1 bálment, 2 béliment] See bail (I) & -ment (law) The delivery of goods by a bailor to a bailee, on trust, under an express or implied contract to hand them back after the purpose for which they were delivered has been accomplished bailor, n [1 bálor, 2 bélis] See bail (I) & -or Person who commits goods to another, the bailee, in trust, under a contract of bailment bain-marie, n [1 bán máró, 2 bā mori] Fr Vessel or pan for cooking or heating food, it does not come into direct contact with the fire, but stands in another vessel which is filled with water and placed on fire

Bairam, n [1 bíram, 2 báirəm] Turk One of two Moslem festivals, one of which (Lesser Bairam) is held immediately after the fast called Remedan, and the other (Greater Bairam) seventy days after this bairn, n [1 hárn, 2 bēn] Scots, partially adopted into English OE learn, -barn, cogn w bear (I) A young child, a child of any age, offspring bait (I), v trans [1 bāt, 2 heit] ON beita, 'make to bite', cogn w OE bitan, q v under bite 1 To worry (beers, hedgers, bulls) with dogs, as an ancient form of sport 2 (fig) To tease (persons) excessively, to exasperate by continuous series of insults bait (II), v trans Proh same as prec w differentiated meaning, fr ON beita, ME bayte 1 To give food to (esp of horses) 2 To stop for food on a journey (men and horses) 3 To put bait (see below) in a trap for animals, or on a fish-hook Phr (fig) to bait the hook, to offer some inducement to a person to act in a particular way, allure (gen in unfavourable sense) bait (III), n See prec 1 Tackle for horses 2 Food, or imitation of it, put in traps or on hooks to attract animals or fish baize, n [1 báiz, 2 beiz] Orig pl bates, O Fr baise, 'bay coloured', see bay (V) Coarse woollen cloth, usually green bake v trans & intrans [1 bāk, 2 boik] OE bacan, ME bake, OHG bahhan, cogn w Gk phōgen, 'roast', connexion w Lat focus, 'fireplace, hearth', is improbable See focus, or also batch 1 trans A To cook by dry heat, usually in a closed chamber or oven, b used also of the sun's action when excessively strong, when it is said to bake the ground, harden and cake it, (fig) half baked, imperfect, undeveloped, immature (of persons and things) 2 intrans To undergo process of baking, to become baked bread bakes in the oven bakehouse, n [1 bákhous, 2 beikhaus] Part of a baker's premises containing ovens, where baking is carried on baker, n [1 báker, 2 beika] OE baccere bake & -er One who bakes, specif, a tradesman whose employment is to bake bread Phr pull devil, pull baker, said of a contest in which both sides struggle hard without decisive victory to either baker's dozen, n A Thirteen buns, small cakes &c, sold for the price of twelve, b thirteen objects of any kind bakery, n [1 bákeri, 2 beikori] bake & -ery A place where bread is baked, a bakehouse, b shop where bread is sold baking, adj & adv [1 báking, 2 beikri] Pres Part of bake (colloq) 1 adj Very hot the weather was simply baking 2 adv In Phr baking hot, so hot as to bake baking powder, n Powder containing cream of tartar, used in baking instead of yeast bakshesh, backshish, buckshesh, n [1 bak shish, 2 beiksh] Pers Hind bakshish Gratuity, tip, a bribe, used in Turkish, Persian, and Hindustani balaika, n [1 bálaika, 2 bálaika] Russ 1 Kind of guitar used, esp among the gypsies, in Eastern Europe 2 Concert of Russian folk-songs and popular music balance (I), n [1 bálsns, 2 bálsns] Fr, fr Lat bi-, 'two', see bi- & lanx, 'plate, dish, esp 'scale of weighing-machine'. Lanx is cogn w Gk lilos, lélis, lekánē, 'dish'. Etymol doubtful 1 Machine for weighing, the essential feature of which is a lever suspended by the middle, from either end of which a 'scale' or plate depends. When the weights placed respectively in either scale are exactly equal, the lever is straight, when they are unequal, the heavier causes that end of the lever to sink, while the lighter end rises. All the derived senses spring from the fundamental idea of weighing, and of comparing one thing with another as regards weight, and the behaviour of the lever or beam by means of which this is accomplished. There are many types of balance, for measuring the weight of different things, and possessing greater or less degrees of accuracy according to the nature of the substances to be weighed. Phr (mostly fig) (trembling) in the balance, undecided, depending on some slight cause to determine one way or another (of human actions, judgements, fate) 2 A State of equipoise maintained between two weights, opposing forces, as in walking, riding &c, or tendencies, as good and evil (lit and fig), hence, equilibrium generally, state of order and stability, Phrs keep, preserve, love, one's balance, to be (thrown) off one's balance, balance of power (between states), balance of probabilities, b special use, gymnastics, exercise on horizontal or parallel bars long arm balance, c mental equipoise, orderly, normal, reasonable state of mind 3 a Equality, exact correspondence between debit and credit side of an account, specif b that sum existing on credit side (esp balance at the bank), (popular) remnant, remainder, that left over he gave the balance of his dinner to his dog balance (II), v trans, fr prec A trans 1 To maintain anything in a state of balance, equipoise, equilibrium to balance a pole, as a juggler, i e keep it upright over one's head &c without propping or grasping it, merely by distributing the weight so that the pressure falls straight down, from the centre of highest point to that end which rests on the head &c, to balance (oneself) on the edge of a chair, to sit on extreme edge in a position requiring careful distribution of weight to avoid a fall 2 To weigh one possibility &c against another in one's mind, estimate relative value of two or more proposals, suggestions, plans 3 To show relation of expenditure and income, profit and loss in accounts balance one's accounts, books B intrans To become, be, balanced account would not balance balance-sheet, n Statement of receipts and expenditure, assets and liabilities, esp in a commercial enterprise, or business house balaniferous, adj [1 bálanifurus, 2 bálaniforus] Lat balanus, fr Gk balanos, 'acorn', & -iferous, Gk balanos is fr base *gʷel, *gʷel &c, 'gland', cp O Slav ieladī, Lat glans, & see gland (bot) Acorn-bearing balanoid, adj & n [1 balonoid, 2 bálenoid] First element of prec & -oid Acorn-shaped balas, n [1 bálas, 2 bálas] Fr balais, Med Lat balasus, fr Arab balakhshi A kind of ruby or red spinel balanstone, n [1 beldwstin, 2 beldstén] Gk balanston, flower of pomegranate tree, cp baluster, & -ine The pomegranate tree

Balbriggan, n [1 belbrigan, 2 bælbrigan] From place of that name in Ireland Knitted cotton fabric used for hosiery &c balcony, n [1 lálkuni, 2 bálkoni], earlier [balkoni], fr Ital balcone, cp Ital balco, 'scaffold', loan-word fr OHG balcho, 'beam', Gorm ballen See balls (of timber) A structure in the nature of a platform, supported by stone or wooden brackets, or on pillars, on outside of a building, it is protected by a railing or parapet, and windows open upon it, b in theatre, the tier of seats below the gallery and above the dress circle bald, adj [1 báld, 2 bǔld] ME bald, 'bald', orig 'white', prob fr W bah, 'whiteness'; cogn w O Slav bělŭ, 'white'; see further under phalarope, & cp fuller (I) 1 a Devoid of natural covering, esp of hair bald man, bald head Phrs bald as an egg, as a cool, as a billiard ball, b (of mountain-tops) bare, having no vegetation 2 (fig) A destitute of ornament, free from superfluous adornment, therefore, simple, plain a bald statement of fact, b lacking all the graces, therefore, poor, ugly, uninteresting a bald style, verse which is rather bald &c 3 (zool) Of certain birds and animals whose heads are devoid of feathers or hair, or have a white spot. In the latter case the original sense is preserved bald headed cool, bald faced stag Cp for sense mebald, skewbald baldacuin, n [1 báwdakun, 2 bǔldakun], fr baldequin, also in Ital form baldacchino [1 báldakón, 2 báldaknou], fr Baldacca, Ital name for Bagdad. Originally the word was applied to a richly woven cloth coming from Bagdad, then a covering or canopy made of such material, used esp for ecclesiastical purposes. The present uses are a covering or canopy of silk borne on four poles, carried over the Pope, and over the Blessed Sacrament, b the canopy over a Bishop's throne, c a structure of stone or marble supported by four pillars built over the altar balderdash, n [1 bálderdash, 2 báldodsh] Origin uncertain 1 (obs) A poor kind of mixed drink 2 Now only used in sense of foolish talk, or argument, devoid of sense bald-headed, adj & adv 1 adj Having a bald head, one partially or entirely devoid of hair 2 adv In Phr to go for a thing, or person, bald-headed, to pursue an object, attack a person, with the utmost vigour, and with disregard of everything else, esp of the consequences of one's action baldish, adj [1 báwdish, 2 bǔldish] bald & -ish Rather bald, just becoming bald baldly, adv [1 báwdli, 2 bǔldli] bald & -ly In a bald manner. Only fig, cp bald, 2 to write rather baldly Phr to put it (quite) baldly, without any toning down, brutally and plainly baldness, n [1 báwdnes, 2 bǔldnes] See prec & -ness State, quality, of being bald bald-pate, n See bald & pate A bald bearded person baldrib, n [1 báwdrib, 2 bǔldrib] A special out of pork from near the rump and looking fat baldric, n [1 háwdrik, 2 bǔldrik] ME baldric, brudric &c, fr O Fr bauldrerie, perh through Med Lat balderingus, borrowed fr OHG balderich, cogn w balst A belt, usually of leather or silk, worn over one's shoulder and under opposite arm, from which a sword or bugle was hung bale (I), n [1 báil, 2 beil] ME, fr O Fr bâle, perh connected w, & borrowed fr, OHG balla, 'round package' &c, cp ball Large bundle or package (esp of merchandise packed for shipment), (pl) bales, often used almost in mere sense of goods, merchandise, wares, with but slight underlying sense of 'wares made into bundles' bale (II), n O E bealu, a, balu, 'calamity, misery, wickedness', ME bale, OS balu, OHG balu, cp Goth balu jan 'to torment', balua wæses, 'wickedness' Outside Gmc, Gk phélos, 'deceitful', & other derived words, Lat fallere, 'cause to fall, to deceive, trick', see false, fail, O Slav bolŭ, 'disease', bólŭ, 'suffer pain', are prob cogn (post or archaic) Misfortune, injury, grief bale (III) Variant of bail (IV)

balen, n [1 bálen, 2 bǔlin], fr O Fr balenre, fr Lat balaena, balaena, apparently borrowed fr Gk phallaina, 'whale', but initial b instead of p or ph has not been explained. The Gk word is possibly cogn w whale, but this is doubtful. Whalebone balfire, n [1 bálfir, 2 bǔlfir] ME bál, OE bál, 'blazing fire', cogn w ON bal, 'large fire', cp Gk phalós, 'bright', Scrt bhāla m, 'brightness', see further under phelars & fuller (I) the second element is a late addition & tautological. A beacon fire, funeral pyre baleful, adj [1 bál'fúl, 2 bál'fál] bale (II) & -ful. Harmful, injurious, pernicious, malicious, sinister (Much commoner than the noun) balefully, adv Pre & -ly In a baleful, harmful, manner balefulness, n See pre & -ness The quality of being baleful, harmfulness balinger, n [1 bálmjər, 2 bálmɪdʒə] O Fr balengier, 'whale ship', cp Lat ballaena, ballaena 'whale' See baloon (obs) Small ship, originally a whaler balk, baulk (I), n [1 báwk, 2 báik] O E valca, 'ridge between furrows', ME balke is found in same sense, & later, meaning 'beam', OS balcō, OHG balcho, Mod Germ balken, & ON balkr, all mean 'a beam of wood' Something like this, the original meaning is preserved in OE cogn bolca, '(wooden) gangway of a ship' The Gh phalaga, 'trunk or log of wood', see phalanx, is possibly a remoter cogn fr same base It seems that the original meaning was a piece of timber, & the OE form may have been used in that sense, although it is not recorded. The sense 'boundary, partition' is found in O.N bálkr The development of the various meanings expressed by different forms of this base was apparently 'a log or piece of timber', whence a 'a wooden plank used as a gangway', & b 'a wooden partition', whence 'a dividing line generally', finally, 'the dividing ridge between furrows' 1 Piece of land left unploughed between furrows, formerly, a strip of unploughed land dividing acres or fields in common land. 2 Large timber or a principal beam in a house 3 A division of a billiard table at bottom end, from which play begins A hall is said to be in balk after it has been in a pocket, when it can only be played, in first instance, at balls which are outside balk balk (II), vb trans & intrans, fr pre 1 trans To hinder, prevent, frustrate to be balked in a jump, put off at last moment, to be balked of one's purpose, desires &c 2 intrans To hesitate, refuse, jib (esp of a horse in jumping)

Balkanize, vb trans [1 báw'kániz, 2 bál'kániz] Recent, fr Balkan & -ize To introduce a political condition such as exists in the Balkans, set up or create a group of mutually hostile national and political units ball (I), n [1 báwl, 2 bál] ME ballo, ball, fr Fr ballo, Gmc loan word, cp OHG ballo The orig meaning appears to be 'something swelled or blown out into a rounded form' Cp bowl w wh ball is connected, also belly, bellows A round or roundish body or mass, solid or hollow, composed of any substance and of any size In great variety of uses, e.g. ball of earth, ball of string, ball of the eye &c Three balls, pawnbroker assign 1 (poet) Referring to the earth this terrestrial ball 2 A missile fired by any kind of firearm, from a pistol to a cannon (Lat or now more often shell) 3 A Object used in various games large, inflated, and either round or egg shaped, in football, round, medium sized, and hard in cricket, hockey, fives, polo small, round, inflated, in lawn tennis, b the mode in which the ball is delivered in one of these games a good ball, slow ball, difficult ball &c Phrs to have the ball at one's feet, to have a favourable opportunity of making one's career, keep the ball rolling, keep anything going, cp conversation. 4 Large pill given to a sick animal, esp to a horse or cow ball (II), vb intrans, fr pre To collect or harden into a ball, as of snow in a horse's hoof ball (III), r Fr bal, O Fr baller, 'dance', fr Lat bal'are, 'to dance' The Lat word is borrowed fr Gk ballos, 'throw', & fr the same base comes Gk ballosion, 'to throw the legs about', hence 'jump dance'. The basic meaning is to throw one's legs, or oneself, about' Cp ballad, ballet & ballistic Social gathering, party for dancing Phr to open the ball, to start, make a beginning of, an action, begun operations ballad, n [1 baləd, 2 baləd] O Fr ballade, fr Provenç ballada Cp ball (III) Originally a song accompanied by a dance, a traditional popular story in a simple metre, supposed by some to have grown up among the people and to have been produced by combined effort of a company, each one adding something ballad poetry, b any simple song, generally of a pathetic character drawing-room ballad ballade, n [balə'd, 2 bəld] Late borrowing from Fr, see pre, with specific sense of a poem with three verses of eight lines each and an envoy of four, each verse and the envoy end with the same line or refrain ballade royal, n Special form of ballade, each verse of which has eight or ten lines balladmonger, n [1 baləd'mʌŋgər, 2 bəld'mæŋgə] One who makes or sells popular ballads, derivatively of an inferior poet balladry, n [1 bələdri, 2 bəldəri] ballad & -ry (archaic) Ballad poetry in general ballast (I), n [1 bləst, 2 bæst], fr Swed ballast, O Swed bar-last The origin of first element is doubtful The second is a common Gmc word meaning 'burden', cp OE hlæst, 'burden, freight', OHG hlasi, which is from same base as OE hladan, 'to lade, load', see lade 1 A Any heavy material, iron, stone, water, placed in hold of ship, or sand in balloon, to keep it straight and steady, b gravel, broken stone &c laid between railway lines to give steadiness 2 (fig) Mental ballast, elements of character which give steadiness and stability and poise ballast (II), vb, fr above To provide with ballast, to place thus in position ballasting, n [1 baləstɪŋ, 2 bæstɪŋ] Material used as ballast ball-bearing, n Bearing in which revolving parts of a machine turn upon steel balls, which diminish the friction ball-cartridge, n Cartridge loaded with ball or bullet, as contrasted with blank-cartridge ball-cock, n Device for regulating inflow of water, esp into cisterns, consisting of a floating ball which rises or falls with the height of the water, thereby shutting or opening valve of pipe through which the water comes in ballerina, n [1 balərɪna, 2 bəl'arɪna] Ital See ballet A female ballet dancer ballet, n [1 bála, 2 bələ] Fr, fr Ital ballo, dimin of ballo, 'dances' See ball (III) An elaborate series of dances forming a theatrical display, in which a number of persons take part ballet-dancer, n Person, usually a woman, who takes part in a ballet ball-flower, n (arch) Form of moulding, esp characteristic of 14th century Decorated, consisting of a ball placed within a globular flower whose petals form a cup to hold it ballistic, adj [1 bəlɪstɪk 2 bəlɪstɪk], fr Lat ballista, 'a large catapult for hurling stones', formed fr Gk baso ball, as in ballen, 'throw' The Aryan base was bal, whence Sert galati, dmpt, fall', OHG quellen, 'spurt out', ON leidda, 'sprung of water', cp leld in Engl Pl. Ns Pertaining to projectiles, or to the science and art of controlling the flight of these ballistics n pl [1 bəlɪstɪks, 2 bəlɪstɪks], fr pre The theory, science, and art of projectiles and the means of propelling these, and of controlling the flight direction, and distance of projectiles propelled by explosion ballon d'essai, n [1 balon d'ɛsɪ 2 bəl d'ɛsɪ] Fr, lit 'trial balloon', see balloon & essay (II) A proposal, suggestion, or put forward to test public opinion, experimental feeling balloonet, n [1 blə'lonət, 2 bələnɪt] Fr, dimin of ballon See balloon. One of set of small subsidiary gas or air bags, placed within the envelope of observation balloons or airships to maintain buoyancy or rigidity balloon (I) n [1 ba'loon, 2 bəlɪn] Fr ballon, fr Ital ballons, orig applied to a football First applied in present sense in reference to invention of the Montgolfier brothers (1783) Cp ball (I) & -oon Large bag of silk or other light material filled with gas and used for lifting weights, persons &c into the air and travelling considerable distances, used also of the inflated bag which supports a modern airship in the air Varieties of balloon observation balloon, one allowed to rise to considerable height and anchored to the ground, in which an observer sits aiming a telescope to report on movements and positions of the enemy's troops, guns &c, dirigible balloon, one capable of being-guided or directed in the air, an airship balloon (II), vb, fr pre To puff or swell out like a balloon, said of sails &c balloonist, n [1 bəl'loonɪst, 2 bəlɪnɪst] balloon (I) & -ist Person who practises ascents in a balloon balloon-tire, n A motor tire of large section for use under low pressure ballot (I), n [1 bəlot, 2 bælot], fr Fr ballotte, fr Ital ballotta, 'little ball', dimin of ballo Cp ball (I) 1 Originally a small ball used in secret voting, hence any object used for this purpose, whether a ball or paper or ticket 2 Act of voting secretly, by whatever method, for a candidate, esp for election to Parliament, or to any post filled by votes of electors Hence, 3, any voting by a paper or ticket, whether secret or not, for a person, or a motion at a legislative body Phrs to take a ballot, elect, vote, by ballot ballot (II), vb intrans, fr pre 1 To vote for, or elect, by means of a paper or ticket signifying one's choice of a candidate 2 To vote (esp secretly) for or against a resolution ballot box, n Box into which the voting papers are put at an election ballroom, n [1 bə'lrʊm, 2 bəl'rʊm] See ball (III) & room A apartment in which a ball takes place, b room specially built for dancing ballyrug, vb trans & intrans [1 hál'lræg, 2 bəl'lræg] Origin uncertain, but op to rag, in similar sense 1 trans A To treat (person) with rough, boisterous horse play b to scold, censure, severely, take to task 2 intrans A To indulge in rough, noisy play, b to scold balm, n [1 hɪbm, 2 bəm] ME basme, basme, fr O Fr baume, Mod Fr baume The O Fr form comes regularly fr Lat balsamum, 'gum or balsam tree itself borrowed fr Gk balsamon, balsam tree, resin or this tree', cp balsam The in the spelling of Mod Engl word is introduced fr Lat form The word is perb Semitic in origin 1 (bot) Perennial garden herb, Melissa officinalis, with fragrant, aromatic leaves and flowers 2 Aromatic, medicinal gum resin, obtained from various trees and plants, balm of Gilead, fragrant ointment made from the resin of a tree which grows in Asia and Africa 3 Any fragrant, healing ointment 4 (fig) Anything which heals mental pain balm for a mil heart &c Phr to pour balm into a person's wounds (fig) balmily, adv [1 bəlmɪli, 2 bəlmɪli] balm & -ly In a balmly manner balminess, n See pre & -ness Quality, state, of being balmly Balmoral, n [1 bəlmərəl, 2 bəlmərəl] fr the Royal residence, Balmoral Castle, in Scotland a A kind of striped woollen petticoat b A laced walking shoe or boot balmly, adj [1 bəlmɪ, 2 bəlmɪ] 1 A Possessing balm, or the qualities of this, b fragrant, aromatic, soothing balmly breeze &c 2 (colloq and vulg, more correctly barmy) Weak in the intellect balneal, adj [1 balneal, 2 bəlneɪl], fr Lat balneum, 'bath', & -al Balneum is contracted fr balnearum, a form of Gk balneion.

This is cogn. w Gk. bláien, 'gush out, bubble', & w bullein, 'hurl, throw'; & it is possible that Sort gálayati, 'pours forth', & jalani, 'water, that which is poured or which gushes out', also come fr the same base, Aryan g^h-el-*, 'gush, pour', if so, then Germ quell, 'source, well spring', may also be connected, the fundamental meaning of balaneion wd thus appear to be a place into wh water gushes. Pertaining to baths balneology, n [1 hálneolɔj, 2 bálnisledʒi] Lat balneum, 'bath', see preo, & -logy. The science of the therapeutic use of natural and medicinal baths and waters balsam, n [1 báwlsəm, 2 bálsəm], fr Lat balsamum, q v under balin. An aromatic resin, anything healing, soothing, restorative (lit and fig) balsam fir, n American coniferous tree, Abies balsamea balsamic, adj [1 báwlsámik, 2 bálsámik] Preo & -ic. Resembling balsam, soothing, fragrant balsam poplar, n American poplar, whose bnds are covered with an aromatic resin baltheus, n [1 báltsu, 2 báltis] Low Lat, fr Lat balteus, 'belt', of Gmo origin, see belt. Girdle or belt worn by the Pope, bishops, and other clergy of the Roman Catholic Church baluster, n [1 bálistər, 2 bálastə] Earlier form of banister. Fr balustre, 'small pillar', fr Ital balaustra, Lat balustrium, fr Gk balustrion, 'flower of wild pomegranate'. Applied to pillar in allusion to its shape (archt) Small pillar, usually swelling out in the middle and more slender at the top and base, supporting a coping or handrail balustrade, n [1 bálistrəd, 2 bálastreɪd] Preo & -ade. Set or series of balusters, together with rail or coping which they support, used as ornamental parapet to a terrace &c bam, vb trans & intrans [1 həm, 2 hæm] Abbr of bamboozle in 18th-cent slang. This phrase, 'Her Ladyship was playfully bam'd', occurs in Swift's 'Polite Conversations'. He refers to bam in the Introduction as a truncated form of bamboozle, as puzz is of positive. The meaning seems to be 'to annoy, worry, tease, puzzle, take in'. Also occasionally used as noun in 18th cent: a bam, hoax, fraud &c bambino, n [1 bambénɔ, 2 bæmbínəu] Ital, 'baby'. Specif, the Infant Jesus displayed with the B V M in a picture &c bamboo, n [1 bámbú, 2 bæmbú] Orig in Engl bambus, fr Dn form bambos, borrowed fr Malay or Jav bambu. Origin doubtful, found also in forms mambu, banbu. Name given to variety of giant grasses with hard, jointed stems growing in Africa, Asia, and America bamboo cane, n A walking cane of bamboo bamboozle, vb trans [1 bámbúzl, 2 bæmbúzl] 18th-cent coinage, according to Swift. Perh fr bambino, 'child, baby', w an ending formed fr association w foozle. Cp, however, Fr bamboche, 'marionette', bambocher, 'play the fool' (colloq and fam). To make a fool of, puzzle, take in, deceive, to confuse (a person) as to an issue ban (I), vb trans [1 ben, 2 ben] Common Gmo base ban-*, w slightly differentiated meanings, OE bannan, 'to summon, call out, proclaim, command', ON banna, 'forbid, prohibit, curse'. This base is cogn w that in Lat fā ma, 'common talk, report' &c, & fa-tur, 'he speaks' &c, Gk phē, phēm, 'I speak, tell' &c, see fame. To prohibit, forbid, interdict, to curse ban (II), n Same base as above. OE (ge-binn), 'summons, interdict', ON bann, 'prohibition', OHG ban, Mod. Germ. bann, 'prohibition'. Cp also bannus a Curio, anathema and excommunication proclaimed by ecclesiastical authority, b outlawry from Holy Roman Empire, o mulder form of public disapproval tacitly expressed though not formally pronounced d any kind of interdict or prohibition, Phrs to put under a ban, under the ban, excommunicated, in a condition of ostracism, e (Med. hist) proclamation calling out the king's vassals for military service, troops so called out, often ban et arriere ban, see arriers ban.

ban (III), n Pers bān, 'lord, master'. Governor of a province, hanat, in Hungary banal, adj [1 hánal, banahl, 2 bəneɪl, bəndɪl] Fr banal, fr Gmo bann*, see ban (II), w adj enfi -al. Originally a feudal word referring to something which all vassals had to do by order of their lord. Since these duties were incumbent upon everyone, banal, from 'compulsory (for all)', came to mean 'common to all', whence it is but a step to its present meaning. Trite, commonplace, matter-of-fact banality, n [1 bánalɪti, 2 bəneɪlɪti] See prec & -ity. Triteness, commonplace, trivial idea or expression banana, n. [1 banahna, 2 bəndəna] Span, fr S Am native name. Tropical fruit tree, the long, narrow, curved fruit of this tree, which is covered by a thickish, tough skin, yellow when ripe, pulpy in texture, without much juice, and faintly sweet in taste banat, n [1 bánat, 2 bənət] See ban (III). Jurisdiction of a han Banbury cake, n. [1 banburi kāk, 2 hénbəri kēik] fr name of Oxfordshire town. A cake of light, sweet paste filled with mincemeat banc, banco, n [1 báŋk(ə), 2 bæŋk(əu)] O Fr banc, fr Low Lat bancus, 'bench', Gmo loan-word, see bank (I) & bench. 1 Bench on which judges sit. Phr in banc, in banco (Lat abl), on the bench, in session, used of the Supreme Court of Common Law. 2 Banco (school slang, Charterhouse), evening preparation of work for following day, carried out in each 'house' band (I), n [1 hænd, 2 bænd] OE band, common to all Gmo languages, see bind. The original and fundamental meaning is that of something which binds, attaches, fastens one thing to another, or which acts as a fetter or shackle. Various shades of meaning. 1 A ligament or tie of any material with which a loose bundle (as hay &c) or a number of objects (as a faggot) may be fastened and kept together, so as to form a single more or less compact mass. hay band, often of twisted strands of hay, to fasten a truss, withy band, one of twisted withies to tie up a faggot, also called faggot band, iron band, e.g. which surrounds a cask and holds the staves of which it is composed in position, india rubber band, flat ring for holding papers &c. 2 (archt) 'Flat face or fascia, square moulding, or continuous tablet, series of ornaments encircling a building or continued along a wall' (Parker). 3 Flat strip of cloth making part of certain garments, and encircling a part of the body. neckband, waistband, wristband. 4 a Anything in the form of a flat strip, distinctive in material, texture, or colour from the rest of the object upon which it is applied. a band of iron across a door or box, a band of colour, e.g. upon a garment, shawl &c, differing from the colour of the rest, specif b (pl) bands, short strips of white material hanging down in front from the neck, worn as part of academic dress at universities by the Vice-Chancellor, Doctors of Divinity, Proctors &c, also in legal dress, as by barristers &c. 5 (probably associated with and influenced by sense of ban, i.e. persons outlawed. Cp bandit) a Body of persons united for a common purpose, association. band of robbers, brigands, band of brothers, said of Nelson and his captains, b special use. company of musicians. German band, regimental band band (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec. Often band together, to bring together, collect, unite, (of persons) to band people together for a certain purpose, to band together to resist oppression &c bandage (I), n. [1 bándi, 2 béndidʒ] Fr, fr bande, of Gmo origin, see band (I), & -age. Strip of soft pliable material, used esp for binding wounds and injuries bandage (II), vb trans, fr prec. To apply a bandage to, to surround with, secure, or protect with a bandage. to bandage a broken head, a cut finger bandan(n)a, n [1 handána, 2 bændənə] Hind bandhnu, 'a mode of dyeing in which the material to be dyed is tied in various places so that those do not receive the dye'. The word is doubtless connected w Sort bandh-, 'tie, bind'. See bind. Bright-coloured and spotted red or yellow handkerchief, generally of silk, also attrib bandanna silk handkerchief bandbox, n [1 ban(d)boks, 2 bən(d)bɔks] Originally a case in which a clergyman kept his linen bands, now a light case of cardboard for holding light articles, esp hats. Phr to look as if one had just come out of a bandbox, look very smart, spruce and span.

band brake, n Brake attached to a bicycle, motor-car &c, consisting of a steel band which acts by being tightened so as to grip the axle of the wheel.

bandeau, n [1 bándɔ, 2 bəndəu] Fr, fr earlier bandel, fr bande, Gmo loan word, see band (I), & dimin suff -el. Fillet for a woman's head banded, adj [1 bánded, 2 bændɪd], fr PP of band (II). United, federated. banded hosts banderilla, n [1 bándərɪljə, 2 bændərɪljə] Span dimin of bandera, banner. A barbed dart with a small streamer stuck into the hull by the bandilleros in a bullfight banderol(e), n [1 bándərɔl, 2 bəndərɔl] Fr, fr Ital banderuola, 'a long narrow flag or streamer attached to mast head, or to the end of a knight's lance, with armorial or other device upon it'. Dimin of bandera. 1 Used in above sense. 2 (archt) A flat bend with inscription, used on buildings of Renaissance period bandicoot, n [1 bándikút, 2 bændíkút] fr Telegu, meaning 'pig rat'. Large species of rat found in India and Ceylon bandit, n [1 bándɪt, 2 bændɪt] Fr, fr Ital banditto, 'outlawed', fr bandire, 'banish'. See ban (I) & banish. Robber, brigand, dishonest, rascally person banditti, n [1 bándɪti, 2 bændɪti] Ital, pl. of banditto. See prec. Members of organized bands of robbers, such bands generally bandmaster, n [1 ban(d)máster, 2 bənd(m) mástə] Conductor of a musical band or orchestra bandog, n [1 bándog, 2 bændog] band (I) & dog. A dog kept chained up as a watch dog, or on account of his ferocity, hence specif a mastiff or bloodhound bandolier, bandoleer, n [1 bándolér, 2 bændələ] fr Fr bandouliere, Ital bandoliera, fr bandola, dimin of banda, of Gmo origin, see band (I). Shoulder-belt with small pockets for holding cartridges bandstand, n [1 bándetænd, 2 bændstænd] Raised and covered place, open on all or most sides, in which a musical band plays in the open air bandy (I), vb trans [1 bandi, 2 béodɪ] Prob fr the game bandy (II). To throw about, toss backwards and forwards, esp bandy words (with a person), to exchange rapid remarks, to engage in altercation, to bandy a rumour, story, about, to pass it on from one person to another, to have one's name banded about, to have it talked of, generally unfavourably, in connexion with something bandy (II), n. Perh fr bend, in reference to the stick used. a Once a form of the game of tennis, now a form of hockey, b the stick, with a curved end, used in the game bandy (III), adj. Perh connected w bend, cp prec. Of the legs, having bowed or curved shin bones which bend outwards from the knees bandy (IV), n Telegu bandi, 'cart, vehicle'

A carriage, bullock cart, or buggy, used in many parts of India bandy-legged, adj Having bandy legs bane, n [1 bān, 2 bōn] OE bana, 'murder, murderer, slayer', ME bāne, 'destroyer, destruction', OHG bano, 'death, destruction', OS bano, 'slayer', cogn w Goth banya, 'wound', OE benn The Aryan hasse bhōn* does not seem to survive outside Gmc Gk phōnos, 'murder' &c, formerly often connected in the dictionaries w bane, has nothing to do w it, but goes back to Aryan gʰhōn* &c, wh see under gonfalon. The older meanings are now obsolete. In the oom pound raf's bane, the second element means poison, apart from this the independent word only occurs in such phrases as the bane of my life &c, with sense of cause of ruin, source of evil, worry, curse &c, or, occasionally, idleness has always been his bane &c, ruin, cause of injury baneful, adj [1 bānfool, 2 bānful] Prec & -ful. More used than n Harmful, pernicious, destructive, injurious, deadly, causing injury, esp baneful influence, effect(s) Also used of disease banefully, adv Prec & -ly In a baneful or injurious manner banefulness, n See prec & -ness (rather rare) Property or character of being baneful bang (I), vb trans & intrans [1 bang, 2 bæŋ] Of imitative origin, on also ON banga, 'hammer', & LG bangen, 'to strike' A trans 1 a To strike violently and noisily, to thump to bang o drum, a gong, b to bring into violent collision with something, to strike violently, to butt forcibly against to bang one's head, to bang oneself against a tree, to bang one's fist on the table, to bring the fist down noisily and violently on the table 2 To close violently and noisily, to slam to bang a door, to bang the lid of a box down, to bang a window down, to bang a door to, cause it to shut noisily by a violent movement 3 (colloq and vulg) To beat, thrash, knock (person) about roughly and brutally 4 Bang off (ammunition), to fire it off, esp uselessly B intrans 1 To explode, be fired, with a loud noise the gun banged 2 a (of door, window, lid of a box &c) To shut violently with a loud noise, to slam the door banged after him, I heard a window bang in the basement, b bang to, to close, be closed, with a loud noise bang (II), n See prec 1 A violent blow, a hard knock to get a bang on the head 2 Loud, sudden noise accompanying a violent action or movement to shut the door with a bang 3 Loud, sudden explosion, or report of fire arms the gun went off with a bang bang (III), interj & adv See bang (I) 1 interj Exclamation imitative of loud, sudden sound or explosion, often called forth by bearing this bang!, bang went the gun, and the bird fell 2 adv n Applied to an unexpected action or event, or to one beyond recall bang goes sixpence!, b describing effect of a sudden blow, movement &c, precisely, exactly, just hit him bang in the eye, the picture fell bang on his head, c completely, straight, right, clean &c he jumped bang out of the window bang (IV), n & vb trans Origin doubtful (archaic, colloq) 1 n Hair cut straight across the forehead, a fringe 2 vb To cut (hair) in this fashion bang (V) or bhang, n Hind bhāṅg Dried leaves and small stalks of Indian hemp which have an intoxicating effect when either smoked or consumed in a sweetmeat banged, adj [1 bāŋgd, 2 bēŋd], fr prec Under the influence of bang (V), intoxicated Phr banged up to the eyes bangle, n [1 bāŋgl, 2 bəŋgl] Hind. baṅgī, 'a ring of coloured glass worn on the wrist by women', baṅgī is applied to any native ring bracelet or anklet 1 Originally a circle of glass or metal worn round the wrist or ankle by Indian women 2 A bracelet of gold or silver, consisting usually of a slender circle, or small chain, worn by women, and sometimes by men, in Europe banian, banyan, n [1 bānyān, 2 bənyān] Port, fr Arab banyan Said to come fr Gujarati bānyā, 'a man of the trading caste', fr Sort vānyā, 'merchant' 1 A Hindu trader, esp from provinces of Gujarat, sometimes used by early travellers of persons of the Hindu religion generally 2 Extended to mean a broker, secretary, or steward 3 An undershirt such as that worn by Hindus, of muslin, wool, or silk, a loose garment resembling a dressing gown, similar to that worn by Hindu tradesmen, and adopted formerly by Englishmen in India as a form of undress banian-, banyan-day, n See prec Day on which no meat is eaten, so called from the fact that the banian, or merchant caste, professes so great a respect for animal life as to abstain from all animal flesh banian-, banyan-tree, n A species of Indian fig The name is said to have been given to a famous tree of the kind growing near Gombroon (old name for place on Persian Gulf now called Bandar Abbas), under which the Banians or Indian traders who settled there had built a little pagoda The branches of this tree are said, on touching the ground, to take root and send up new shoots, which in turn grow into trees banish, vb trans [1 bānɪʃ, 2 bənɪʃ] O Fr banir, 'put under a ban, to outlaw', see ban (I) & -ish 1 To condemn a person to leave his country, drive into exile 2 Generally, to send away, drive away, dismiss to banish a person from one's presence 3 (of mental action) To put away, remove to banish fear, shyness, anxiety, care &c banishment, n [1 bānɪʃmənt, 2 bənɪʃmənt] Prec & -ment 1 Act of banishing, sentence of exile 2 State of being banished, exile banister, n [1 bānɪstə, 2 bənɪstə] Popular, & now universal, form of baluster Usually pl banisters The hand rail and supporting pillars or bars which protect the open side or sides of a staircase in a house banjo, n [1 bānjō, 2 bəndʒou] Corrupted, in American Negro pronunciation, fr banyore, earlier bandore, Lat pandura, fr Gk pandōūra, 'a three stringed musical instrument', see pandora

Musical instrument having long neck and strings like a guitar, and a body with a front made of parchment like a tambourine, over which the strings pass, and which imparts a peculiar resonance to their note when they are plucked. Phr to play the cat and banyo with, reduce to confusion, upset banyoist, n [1 bānjōɪst, 2 bəndʒoɪst] Prec & -ist Player of, performer on, the banjo bank (I), n [1 bāŋk, 2 bəŋk] Not in OE, ME banke, perh Scand, ON bankr, cogn w bench. 1 A heap or mound of earth raised above level of immediate surroundings, often dividing fields, with a ditch on one side from which the earth forming the bank has been dug, hence, any mound resembling this, piled up by wind or water, as bank of snow, snow bank, bank of clouds, further, shelving ground at bottom of sea, higher than surrounding floor and causing a shoal sand bank, the banks of Newfoundland, the same in an estuary 2 The land along the edge of a river or other watercourse the banks of the Thames, river-bank, to bring a boat to the bank, reach the bank (when swimming in a river &c), a river flows between its banks 3 (naut) a The bench or seat on which the rowers sit in a galley, b (by extension) those seated upon it a bank of rowers 4 (min) Face of coal which is in process of working bank (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec. 1 trans N To pile up earth &c in form of a bank, to put a bank so as to narrow, impede, or stop the flow of a watercourse—often to bank up (a stream &c) 2 intrans a (aeron) To put machine at an angle in turning, so as to avoid a side slip, b (of sand &c in an estuary) to become piled up and form a bank or shallow bank (III), n See banco & bench 1 a Originally the table or counter of a money changer, hence, b an institution or establishment where money is dealt with, c the building in which the business of such an institution is conducted Phrs the Bank, the Bank of England, safe as the Bank, very safe, to have money in the bank, (fig) to have savings 2 a Sum of money held by keeper of, or stakeholder at, gaming-table from which he pays his losses, b a gambling game of cards, also banker bank (IV), vb intrans & trans, fr prec A intrans 1 a To keep a bank, b to keep the bank in certain gambling games 2 To keep money in a bank he banks with Barclay's B trans To pay (money) into a bank to bank one's earnings each week bank-bill, n Bill of exchange drawn by or on a bank bank book, n One in which the accounts of each customer of a bank are kept banker (I), n [1 bāŋkə, 2 bəŋkə] bank (I) & -er A horse which has been trained to jump banks banker (II), n bank (IV) & -er 1 One who keeps, or conducts the business of, a bank, [pl] a group of persons, or company, which does this merchants and bankers 2 (gaming) a Person who acts as stakeholder and pays losses from common fund called the bank, b a game of cards banket, n [1 bāŋkət, 2 bəŋkɪt] S Afr Du, orig name of a hard kind of almond toffee, Du form of banquet (min) A conglomerate gold mining reef in the Witwatersrand gold district of the Transvaal bank holiday, n One of several days in the year, other than Sundays, on which the banks are closed, day kept as a general holiday, specif (cap) one of the four statutory annual holidays banking, n [1 bāŋkɪŋ, 2 bəŋkɪŋ] 1 See bank (IV) The act of carrying on trade of a banker, the art and method of this business, the business itself he was engaged in the lucrative trade of banking, he had mastered all the mysteries of banking 2 See bank (II) A manoeuvre, an operation, executed when turning an aeroplane, to avoid a side slip bank-note, n Paper money, in form of a promissory note, payable on demand, whose face value is guaranteed by the bank which issues it bank paper, n Bank notes collectively, bills and drafts accepted by a bank bank rate, n Amount of discount fixed by Bank of England for doing business bankrupt (I), n [1 bāŋkrʌpt, 2 bəŋkrʌpt] Cp fr banqueroute, fr Ital bancarotta, fr bank (III) & Lat rupt (um), PP type of rumpere, 'to break, hurt' See rupture 1 Technically, a person who has been declared on his own or others' petition to be liable to bankruptcy laws, and who is therefore fore subject to have his property administered for the benefit of his creditors 2 Popularly, an insolvent person bankrupt (II), adj, fr prec 1 In the condition of being a bankrupt, in technical or popular sense Phr to go bankrupt, (i) to be made a technical bankrupt, (ii) to become insolvent, be ruined 2 Devoid of, destitute in, wholly lacking, something one ought to possess bankrupt in reputation, policy, ability, intelligence &c, to be morally bankrupt bankrupt (III), vb trans See prec To cause to become bankrupt, to make bankrupt bankruptcy, n [1 bāŋkrʌpsɪ, 2 bəŋkrʌpsɪ] bankrupt & -cy a Condition of being or becoming bankrupt, b moral or intellectual poverty banksia, n [1 bāŋksia, 2 bāŋksə], fr the botanist Sir Joseph Banks, d 1820. A genus of Australian evergreen shrubs, with clusters of small yellow flowers banner, n [1 bānər, 2 bənə] M E, banere, fr Fr banier, earlier bandiere*, op Ital bandiera, fr Low Lat bandum, 'flag', itself a Gmc loan-word, op Goth bandwō, 'sign'. The connexion of this base w ban or bund, or w Gk phainesthai, 'show', see fantasy, is doubtful. The development of meaning is 'sign, symbol', particular kind of symbol, hence 'a flag'. A flag of any kind enported on a pole, esp (fig) as symbol of a nation, a cause, or a person the banner of freedom, revolt &c, the banner of England was unfurled, to fight under the banner of a leader, under Christ's banner; to unfurl one's banner, to proclaim one's cause, opinions, enthusiasms banner-bearer, n a One who carries a banner, b (fig) one who proclaims a cause banneret, n [1 bānerət, 2 bānerət] M E baneret, fr Fr, see banner & -et. An order of knighthood superior to that of knights bachelor, originally a knight who could lead his vassals under his own banner, hence knight banneret bannerole, n [1 bānerəl, 2 bānerəl] Variant of banderole. Banner displayed at a funeral and placed over tomb banner screen, n Small fire screen in form of a banner, and hung from a rod bannock, n [1 bānok, 2 bānek] O E bannuc, 'oake' (<uo dimin ending); Gael bannach is prob borrowed fr this. A flat kind of oake made of oatmeal, barley, and sometimes of shortbread. (Word used only in Scotland or among Scots) banns, n pl [1 bānz, 2 bānz] For etymol see ban (II). Specialized use of ban; the public announcement that two persons are to be married, which must be made in the parish church of both parties on three successive Sundays before the marriage can take place in a church. Phrs to call the banns; have one's banns called banquet (I), n [1 bāŋkwet, 2 bāŋkwet] Fr, fr Ital banchetto, dimin of banco, 'bench'. See banco & bench. A feast, esp of an official character: Lord Mayor's banquet, Royal banquet &c, b any sumptuous, elaborate feast or repast: a regular banquet, a very good dinner banquet (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans To treat to, regale with, a banquet 2 intrans To regale, treat oneself, with (to) a banquet, to feast, as at a banquet banqueter, n [1 bāŋkweter, 2 bāŋkwetə] Prec & -er. Partaker of a banquet banquette, n [1 bāŋkét, 2 bāŋkét] Fr dimin of banco, of Gmc origin, see bank (I) (ml) The fire step of a trench banshee, n [1 bānshé, 2 bānshé] Ir bean, 'woman', & síd, 'fairy'. The first element is cogn w Engl quean, queen. A supernatural creature who in Ireland is believed to be connected with certain families, whom she warns, and terrifies, on the death of a member, by a dreadful wailing, the banshee is said to cry bantam, n [1 bántam, 2 bántam], fr name of province of Bantam at the western extremity of Java 1 Name given to various kinds of dwarf poultry brought by travellers from the above-mentioned part of Java. They are said originally to have come from Japan 2 (pl) Name given in the Great War to small but strong and healthy recruits, who were for a time formed into special battalions bantam weight, n Boxer not exceeding 116 pounds in weight banter (I), vb trans & intrans [1 bāntər, 2 bāntə] Origin unknown 1 trans To chaff, tease playfully and good-naturedly, subject to humorous and kindly raillery 2 intrans To indulge in good humoured raillery or persiflage, to be jocular banter (II), n, fr prec Light, good-natured chaff, persiflage, raillery, jesting.

banting, n [1 bánting, 2 bánting] System for reducing weight by avoiding sugar, fats, and farinaceous foods, proposed by William Banting (1897-1878), and named after him. While the word was still in use there was a tendency to regard it as a Pres Part or vbl n in such phrases as, you'd better try banting, and an mfn to bant was formed quite naturally bantling, n [1 bántling, 2 bántling] Possibly fr older Germ bānkling, see bank (I) & -ling, & op origin of bastard. A young child, young creature, often contemptuously

Bantu, n & adj [1 bántu, 2 bántu], fr native ba-ntu, 'men, mankind' 1 n a An African group or family of languages, embracing most of those spoken in Africa south of the Equator; b a member of any of the various African races which speak Bantu 2 adj Pertaining to Bantu, as language or speaker banyan, banyan-tree See banian, bamantree banzai, interj [1 bānzai, 2 bānzai] Jap '(may you live) ten thousand (years)'. Form of greeting used to the Emperor of Japan baobab, n [1 báobab, 2 báobab] Native name of an African tree, the trunk of which sometimes attains 30 ft in diameter bap, n [1. bap, 2 bəp] Scots Origin unknown. A small loaf or roll of bread with thin, soft crust baptism, n [1 bāptizm, 2 bāptizam] M E baptisma, baptim, baptism &c, fr O Fr baptisme, fr Gk baptismos, 'dipping in water', op bāptain, 'dip', bāptē, 'dyeing'. The Aryan base is gab-*, wb seems to have the meaning 'to plunge', op Skt gadhrāś, 'deep', gambha, 'abyss'. A sacrament of the Christian Church by means of which persons are admitted to membership. The essentials of the rite are sprinkling with, or immersion in, water, and the utterance of the words stating that it is performed in the Name of all three Persons of the Holy Trinity, who are severally mentioned, christening. The ceremony is generally accompanied by name-giving. Fig uses baptism of fire, a soldier's first battle or a severe ordeal, baptism of blood, martyrdom baptismal, adj [1 bāptizmal, 2 bāptizmal] Prec & -al. Relating to, made, conferred, in, baptism. baptismal vows; baptismal name baptist, n [1 bāptist, 2 bāptist] O F baptiste, Lat baptista, fr Gk baptistēs, 'one who dips, a dyer', later 'baptist' in Christian sense, op baptizma 1 One who baptizes, esp used of St John (the Baptist), the forerunner of Christ 2 Member of a sect (Baptists) who insist on total immersion at baptism, and believe that this sacrament should only be administered to believers in Christianity. They deny validity of infant baptism baptist(e)ry, n [1 bāptistəri, 2 bāptistəri] O F baptisterie, fr Gk baptisterion, 'bathing-place, swimming-bath', later adopted in Christian sense. See baptist & -ery. A Originally a separate building for the administration of baptism, b in Baptist chapels, a large tank used for complete immersion at the ceremony of baptism, c in the English and Roman Catholic Churches, that part of the church, sometimes separate from the rest, where the font stands, and where baptism is administered baptize, vb trans & intrans [1 bāptiz, 2 bāptiz] M E baptizen, Fr baptiser, fr Gk baptizemai, 'to dip under, baptize', see baptism 1 trans To administer the sacrament of baptism to, to admit (person) as member of Christian Church by the rite of baptism, to christen 2 intrans To perform, practise, the rite of baptism. Quakers do not baptize bar (I), n [1 bar, 2 bā] M E barre, 'bar', (in various senses), O Fr barre, Low Lat barra, etymol unknown. A strip or rod of metal or wood long in proportion to its breadth. Numerous derived meanings and special uses, generally with fundamental idea of obstruction, hindrance, or separation 1 A Strip or rod of iron or wood used for purposes of obstruction, esp bar of a door, shutter, window, extended use prison bars, prison, behind bolt and bar, in secure confinement, b (fig) moral and intellectual obstruction or hindrance a bar to progress, to happiness 2 Any long, narrow piece or rod of metal, e.g. crow bar, called also bar, or iron bar, the rounded piece of iron which goes into a horse's mouth, part of a bar bit, handle bar, of bicycle 3 Piece or mass of any material which is long in proportion to its breadth and thickness bar of soap, lead, gold, (fig) a ridge of any land. 'And over those ethereal eyes The bar of Michael Angelo' (Tennyson, 'In Memoriam') 4 A Obstruction, gatehouse, or gate closing a road, which could not be passed without payment of a toll, also toll bar, b gatehouse in fortified town or castle. Temple Bar 5 A non-material obstacle, hindrance, impediment. poverty is not necessarily a bar to happiness, though it often is to worldly success 6 Bank of sand or gravel alited up at mouth of a harbour &c 7 A Narrow strip of metal, crossing and sometimes clasping the riband of a military medal, with name of battle at which holder was present, in some campaigns a bar is added for every battle fought, b in some Crosses and Orders—Victoria Cross, Distinguished Service Order, Military Cross &c—the addition of a bar indicates that the distinction has been gained more than once by the wearer 8 (her) Stripe or band crossing the shield horizontally, not exceeding in breadth one fifth of total length of shield, popularly and improperly used instead of band, in bar sinister, mark of illegitimacy 9 (mus) a A vertical line drawn across the stave in the score, b the musical unit or division of notes indicated by this 10 Strip or shaft of colour or light 11 Final destruction of a claim, or action in law 12 Railing in a court of law which separates from rest of the hall the part where the judges sit, where prisoners are put for trial, and where the business of the court is carried on to be tried at Bar 13 Barrier in Inns of Court separating benchers and readers from the students. The latter took their seats at the bar on becoming entitled to take part in the debates and to become barristers. Hence, to be called to the Bar, enter the legal profession as a barrister, to be at the Bar, be a barrister, to go to the Bar, become a barrister 14 The Bar, the whole body of qualified and admitted barristers 15 A Railing in House of Commons to which persons are brought to be censured or examined by the House. the bar of the House, hence b a tribunal, esp an intellectual or moral tribunal. Phr the bar of public opinion 16 A A counter in a hotel or public house where drinks are sold, b the room in which the bar is bar (II), vb trans, fr O Fr barrer, see prec

1 To place a bar in position so as to make obstruction more complete, secure by means of a bar to bar a door, window shutter &c, to bar out (the masters), form of schoolboy misbehavior 2 To hinder, obstruct, in any way (lit and fig): that way is barred, all exits are barred, my prospects of success are barred 3 To exclude, rule out, prohibit bar one, in betting, spot barred (billiards), game in which a player is not allowed to hole the red from spot more than twice in succession, to bar discussion of a point, rule out, forbid, b (as prep) except, all but the list is complete bar (barring) a few names. Phr bar none, with no exceptions 4 (colloq) To object to, dislike what I bar is a man who talks of what he doesn't understand 5 To mark with streaks or bars of different colour or material the sky was barred with black clouds, crimson barred bar (III), n, fr Largo see fish.

barb (I), n. [1 barb, 2 bárb] Fr barbe, 'beard', Lat barba, 'beard', cogn w OE beard, see beard 1 Appended suggestive of a beard, e.g. the wattles of a barbel (fish), q v 2 That part of a piercing implement or weapon (fish hook, arrow, spear &c) which projects downwards a little below the point, having itself a sharp penetrating point, which prevents the hook or weapon from being withdrawn 3 That part, filament, of a feather which springs directly from the shaft 4 Linen cloth worn by nuns, which covers the throat and sometimes the chin barb (II), vb trans, fr preo To supply, furnish, with a barb barb (III), n, fr Fr barbe A breed of horse from Barbary barbara, n [1 bárbára, 2 bárbára] (log) The name of the first mood of the syllogism, from the scholastic Latin doggerel mnemonic beginning barbara celarent &c barbarian (I), n [1 bárbárian, 2 bárbárian] Lat, fr Gk barbar, see barbario, & -ian. In ME the form barbar, direct fr Fr, was used as a n 1 A person belonging to a savage, uncivilized race 2 A person who behaves like a savage, esp in having rough, coarse manners, and no refinement or cultivation of mind 3 Matthew Arnold defined his use of the word, and gave some currency to such usage, as expressing the aristocrat whose mind was diverted from culture by sports and pleasures, rather than by any active dislike to art and literature in themselves In this respect Arnold distinguished the 'Barbarian' from the 'Philistine', q v Gray had used the word in somewhat the same way; op 'young barbarians at play', referring to boys at Eton, in 'Ode on Distant Prospect of Eton College' barbarian (II), adj, fr preo Pertaining to barbarians, strange, foreign barbario, adj [1 bárbárik, 2 bárbárik] Older Fr barbarique, Lat barbaricus, 'outlandish, foreign', fr Gk barbarikos These words, and Gk barbaros, Lat barbarus, were applied to anything foreign, as distinct from what was respectively Gk and Roman The Gk pl hoi barbaroi, 'the barbarians', was applied to foreigners generally, or to those who did not speak Greek, very much as the Jews called all who were not Jews Gentiles The base, which is found in various forms in several Aryan languages, is ultimately of imitative origin, and refers to the speech, meaning stammering, stuttering, jabbering, uttering gibberish &c, op Scrt barbará, 'stammering, foreign', ie not speaking Scrt, Lat balbus, 'stammering, stammerer', Lith blebenis, 'babble', Bulg blabolya, 'jabber', Russ boloboli, 'chatter, jabber' Outlandish, rude, uncultivated, esp in reference to taste, ideals of splendour &c Op Milton's—'Or where the gorgeous East with richest hand Showers on her kings barbaric pearl and gold' barbarism, n [1 bárbárizm, 2 bárbárizm] Fr barbarisme, Lat barbarismus, fr Gk barbarismos, 'impropriety of speech', such as a foreigner would commit, see barbario & -ism 1 In English the word retains the Greek and Latin meaning as a special sense, barbarism in speech or writing, esp introduction of foreign words and phrases 2 The general sense is the condition of being uncivilized and savage, ignorant to relapse into a state of barbarism, esp of savages, when civilizing influence is withdrawn 3 Special sense derived from 2, cruelty, more often barbarity, q v barbarity, n [1 bárbáriti, 2 bárbáriti] Barbar, as in barbarian &c, & -ity Behaviour and conduct characteristic of barbarians, specif, cruelty, ferocity, mercilessness to be treated with the greatest barbarity barbarize, vb trans [1 bárbáriz, 2 bárbáriz], fr Fr barbariser, fr Gk barbarizō, speak or behave like the barbarians' See barbario & -ize a To make barbarous, introduce savage customs among (a people)

b to corrupt (a style) by introduction of foreign expressions &c barbarous, adj [1 bárbárus, 2 bárbárus] Lat barbarus, fr Gk barbaros See barbario & -ous a Savage, uncivilized, like a barbarian, b cruel, merciless; c unrefined, coarse &c, applied to persons, conduct, habits, tastes &c barbarously, adv Free & -ly In a barbarous manner, rudely, cruelly barbarousness, n See preo & -ness Barbarity, barbarism barbary, n [1 bárbári, 2 bárbári] Fr barbarie, barbar- as in barbario & -y (arohalo)

Barbarous, pagan, lands and peoples, paganism; formerly, specif used of the Saracens Barbary ape, n, fr barbarie, old name of N Africa Large tailless N African ape, found also on the rock of Gibraltar

Barbary sheep, n Wild sheep with large horns of N Africa barbate(d), adj [1 bárbát(ed), 2 bárbát(ed)] Lat barbatus, 'bearded', op barb (I), & -ato (bot and zool) Bearded, provided with hairy tufts or awns, as barley, oats &c barbeque (I), n [1 bárbákü, 2 bárbákü] Span barbacoa, fr native Haiti term

A Originally a wooden framework to sleep on, or on which meat was smoked or roasted; b animal roasted whole for a feast barbecue (II), vb trans, fr preo To roast (an animal) whole 'Send me, ye Gods, a whole hog barbecued' (Pope) barbed, adj [1 bárbəd, 2 bárbəd] barb (I) & -ed. a Furnished with barbs; esp barbed wire, strands of galvanized wire with sharp spines or barbs interspersed, used for fencing, wire entanglements &c, b (fig) barbed words, wit &c, stinging, sharp, wounding barbel, n [1 bárbəl, 2 bárbəl] Fr See barb (I) & -ol Large fresh water fish with filaments growing from mouth bar-bell, n [1 bárbəl, 2 bárbəl] Object resembling a dumb bell for developing the muscles, consisting of an iron bar with a round lump of iron at either end barber, n [1 bárbər, 2 bárbə] ME barbour &c, O Fr barbier, Fr barbe, Lat barba, see barb (I) & -ard. (lit) One who trims and shaves beards, now generally a hairdresser, barber surgeon, formerly one who both shaved and bled his clients when necessary, barber's pole, a pole used as a trade sign, hung out over a barber's shop

It was painted in two colours to resemble strips of cloth or bandages twisted round it, and symbolized the barber's function of bandaging his clients' arms after bleeding barberry, n [1 bárbəri, 2 bárbəri] Form of barberis, with influence of berry in second element barbet, n [1 bárbət, 2 bárbət], fr Lat, barbatus, see barbate (lit) The bearded creature Spent 1 several kinds of tropical birds with short stumpy bill, from the base of which there grow, as it were, bristles 2 A kind of hairy French poodle barbette, n [1 bárbət, 2 bárbət] Fr The name prob given fr the supposed resemblance of the row of guns mounted on the mound to a fringe of beard See barb (I) & -ette

A Platform, or mound of earth for mounting guns within a fortress, high enough to allow of the guns being fired over the parapet, b circular armoured platform with hood protecting heavy guns in warships barbican, n [1 bárbikan, 2 bárbikan] ME barbecan, O Fr barbican &c, 'outwork of a fortress' Prob fr Arab bāb al-khan, 'gate house', or Pers barbar khānah, 'house on the wall' The O Fr always has r (bar-), wh perhaps makes the latter more probable, origin is, however, uncertain

Enter defences of a city or fortress, such as strongly defended gateway or bridge barbical, n [1 bárbisəl, 2 bárbisəl] Lat barbicula, dimin of barba, 'beard', see barbate Minute process on the barbule of a bird's feather barbition, n [1 bárbition, 2 bárbition] Gk, prob, a foreign loan-word An ancient instrument of music like a lyre, having many strings barbule, n [1 bárbül, 2 bárbül] Lat barbula, dimin of barba, 'beard' See barbate A process along the edge of the barb of a feather, serving to unite the barbs into an unbroken surface barcarol(le), n [1 bárbárol; 2 bárbárol] Fr barcarolle, Ital barcaruola, 'boatman's song', fr barca, 'boat', see bark (V) Song of Venetian boatmen, any piece in similar rhythm bard, n [1 bárd, 2 bárd] Gael & Ir bardh, bard 1 A Celtic tribal singer, minstrel, poet, and ohromoler, still used for recognized singer at the Welsh musical festival, Eisteddfod 2 (arohalo and lter) A poet, the Bard of Avon, Shakespeare bardic, adj [1 bárdik; 2 bárdik] Free & -ic Belonging to, characteristic of, composed by, a bard, esp of old lays, bardic poetry bardolater, n [1 bárdólater, 2 bárdólater] See bard & idolater Worshipper, idolater, enthusiastic, uncritical admirer of the Bard, ie Shakespeare bardolatry, n [1 bárdólatri, 2 bárdólatri] See preo & -latri Worship, idolatry, of Shakespeare Bardolph, n [1 bárdolf, 2 bárdolf], fr name of Shakespeare's character in 'Henry IV' &c A red faced, tipping old rascal bare (I), adj [1 bárb, 2 bea] OE bær, ME bäre, O H G bar The Gmo base was perh *bas, in wh case the word must be cogn w O Slav bosil, & Lith basas, 'bare-footed', these, together w Armen bol, 'naked' (fr *bhas lo), go back to Aryan *bhas-, *bhes, fr wh latter form Germ ent behen, O H G inberan, 'to dispench with, go without, lack', are perh derived. 1 Naked; devoid of customary or usual covering bare feet, without shoes and stockings, to have one's head bare, without a hat, a bare floor, without a carpet Phrs the bare boards, same as bare floor, in one's bare skin, naked, to pick a bone, joint, bare, strip it of all the meat, to lay bare, uncover, display, to lay bare one's inner feelings, reveal, make known 2 A Empty, destitute (of), stripped, bereft (of) the house was quite bare, the larder was bare, had no food in it, the room looked very bare, empty of furniture, b in a moral sense to be bare of credit, have a bad or no reputation 3 A Just enough, mere, so much and no more, hardly as much as a bare majority, the bare supposition, idea &c, a bare hundred pounds, b very slightest, lowest possible bare(st) possibility, chance 4 Nothing beyond what is mentioned to believe a thing on one's bare word, without further evidence bare (II), vb trans, fr preo a To make, lay, bare; to uncover 'This sea that bares her bosom to the moon' (Wordsworth), specif, to bare one's head, take off one's hat, b in non material sense, to bare one's heart, soul, thoughts &c, to reveal, confess bareback, adj & adv [1 bárbək, 2 beabək] a adj (of a horse) Without a saddle, b adv (of manner of riding) without using a saddle to ride bareback barebacked, adj [1 bárbəkt, 2 beabəkt] Free & -ed. Without a saddle barefaced, adj [1 bárfäst, 2 beáfäst] Insolent, without shame or concealment, unblushing barefaced impudence barefacedly, adv [1 bárfäsdli, 2 beáfäsdli] In a barefaced manner, impudently, shamelessly barefacedness, n [1 bárfäsdnes, 2 beáfäsdnes] Impudence, shamelessness barefoot, adj & adv [1 bárfut, 2 beáfut] With bare feet, without shoes and stockings to be, go, walk, barefoot barefooted, adj [1 bárfutted, 2 beáfutted] Free & -ed Having bare feet.

bareheaded, adj & adv [1 bārēdēd, 2 hā-hēdēd] Having no covering, hat &c on the head, without a hat a bareheaded mendicant, to stand bareheaded barelegged, adj [1 hārlēgd, 2 bēlēgd] Having the legs bare, generally referring to bareness of knees and part of the calf of the leg, as of children with short skirts or breeches, and low socks, or persons wearing Highland kilt barely, adv [1 bārli, 2 hēali] bare (I) & -ly 1 In a bare manner, without cover, adornment &c, nakedly 2 (rare) Openly, without reserve, expensively 3 Scarcely, only just, merely barenecked, adj [1 hārnek, 2 hēnek] Having the neck bare, or uncovered, of ladies in low dresses bareness, n [1 bārnes, 2 bēnes] bare (I) & -ness State, quality, of being bare bare-sark, adj & adv [1 bārēark, 2 hēark] See bare (I) & sark Without shirt or coat of mail Modern form, based on wrong interpretation of berserker Said of ancient Norse warriors, who were supposed, when excited in battle, to strip off part of their armour so as to fight with greater fury and vigour bargain (I), n [1 bārgin, 2 bēgin], M E bargaine, bargain &c, fr O Fr bargaine Origin doubtful, but see next word 1 Pact or agreement reached, after discussion, between two or more parties, in regard to commercial transaction, buying and selling, agreement so reached concerning affairs generally Phrs to drive a bargain, carry on negotiations with energy, make a bargain with, come to an agreement, strike a bargain, conclude an agreement; a good, bad, bargain, favourable, unfavourable terms, a hard bargain, one in which one party gets rather covert terms, make the best of a bad bargain, face misfortune cheerfully, into the bargain, (1) in addition to agreed terms, also by extension, (2) besides, also, as he saved the lady from drowning, and married her into the bargain, that's a bargain, that is settled, a bargain's a bargain, we must stick to our agreement 2 Something obtained for a small price, esp below its real value to pick up bargains (at a sale), the house and grounds would be a bargain at such a price bargain (II), vb intrans O Fr bargainer, fr Low Lat barganiare, origin doubtful, but perh fr barca, ('trading vessel', wh brings goods to a port, & takes others away See bark (V) 1 (with a person, about a transaction) To haggle, discuss conditions of commercial or other transaction, with a view to buying something at a lower price than that asked, selling at as high a price as possible, or, generally, of getting the most favourable and profitable terms for oneself 2 To bargain for (gen with neg), to expect, be prepared for, be willing to accept or agree to I didn't bargain for that, for all this trouble &c, this was not in the agreement, I didn't expect, cannot consent to undertake it, more than one bargained for, an unpleasant surprise bargainer, n [1 hārginer, 2 bārgine] bargain (II) & -er One who bargains bargain hunter, n One on the look out for bargains (2), esp in pictures, old books, old furniture &c barge (I), n [1 hary, 2 bārd] Prob a variant of barley (V), barque a broad, flat boat, now used for transporting heavy goods on canals and broad rivers, and drawn or towed by horses, formerly a fashionable means of locomotion for passengers, up and down the Thames, when the barge was propelled by rowers, b large, ornamented rowing boat, for ceremonial use, usually state barge, c college head house, or house-boat, at Oxford barge (II), vb intrans, fr prec (colloq) a Barge about, of a clumsy, rough person, or a head rider on a horse, to plunge, or leap about without care or proper control of one's movements and direction, b barge into, run into, collide with (person or things) in a clumsy, awkward, rough fashion, whether from accident or design barge-board, n Gen derived fr verge board, but w no explanation of change, unknown in Engl since OE period, of v to b Possibly the initial of verge has been influenced by b in OE beorgan, M E bergen &c, 'to protect' Thick boarding, generally more or less decorated, which hangs down at right angles from outer edge of a gable, fastened so as to protect the projecting ends of the roof-lumbers bargee, n [1 baryē, 2 bārd] barge (I) & -ee A man who conducts a barge, (hy extension) a rough, insolent fellow a regular bargee, Phr to swear like a bargee, with coarseness, force, and variety baritone See barytone barium, n [1 bārium, 2 hēarium], fr Gk barys, 'heavy', see baro- (ohom) Silver-white or pale yellow metallic element of alkaline group, found in barytes bark (I), n [1 bark, 2 hāk] Scand Cp Dan & Swed bark; perh cogn w OE beorc, 'birch tree', q v under birch 1 Outer covering or rind of trees, which envelops trunk, boughs &c down to smallest branches and twigs 2 Special kind of bark, used medicinally, esp that of a Peruvian tree, cinchona, called also Peruvian, and Jesuit's bark bark (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To remove or strip bark from (a tree) 2 (colloq) To take the skin off to bark one's shins, elbows &c bark (III), vb intrans OE beorcan, ON berkja, 'hark', as a dog The hark is not found in the other Gmc languages The OE vb is strong, & has forms beor-, beare, birc, (beor-) These would represent Aryan bherg-, bherg-, bhryg* respectively If we might assume an orig base bherg-*, it might be possible to connect beorcan w Lat fragor, 'orash, noise, din' This word is, however, gen derived fr sphrag-*, & compared w Gk sphragos, 'noise' See under speak 1 Of certain animals, esp dog, fox &c, to utter the cry natural and peculiar to them 2 To make a noise resembling dog's bark, esp to cough loudly, also of a revolver, to explode noisily bark (IV), n, fr prec The noise, or cry, made by dog or fox Phr his bark is worse than his bite, of an ill-tempered, scolding person who is not actively harmful bark (V), also barque, n Fr barque, Ital barca 1 A particular kind of three or four-masted sailing-ship, with the fore mast and main mast square rigged, and mizzen with fore-and-aft 2 (poet) Any kind of boat bark-bound, adj Of a tree, stunted in its growth by reason of the bark not expending properly, and kept small and thin within a hard tight bark barkentine, bargentine, n [1 bārken-tēn, 2 hākautin] See bark (V) Three masted sailing vessel with square rigged fore mast, and two after masts fore and aft rigged barker, n [1 bārker, 2 bāka] bark (III) & -er. One who, that which, harks, esp (colloq) a revolver barking (I), n [1 bārking, 2 bākɪŋ] bark (III) & -ing Sound made by a dog when it barks barking (II), adj, fr Pres Part of bark (III) Given to uttering noisy barks a barking dog is a great nuisance barley, n [1 bārli, 2 bāli] OE bere, also barlic, prob 'barley-like' This base is found in ON barr, 'grain', & Goth bariz-uma, adj, 'made of barley' Outside Gmc, we have O Slav braš tno, 'food', Russ borošno, 'rye-meal', Lat far, garum, farra, fr fars-*, 'grain', spelt, also farina, 'meal', fr earlier farrina* fr farsina*, see farina The Aryan base was bhor-*, & must have referred orig to some kind of wild cereal, whose name was transferred among the various Aryan tribes to different species wh they severally first cultivated. A cereal plant, Hordeum vulgare, and the grain derived from it, esp used for malt in brewing and distilling, pot barley, grain of barley with the hard outer husk perled off, pearl barley, the white inner kernel barley-brake, -break, n Rural game in which one person chases a number of others, who 'break', or disperse, when pursued barleycorn, n [1 bārlikorn, 2 hālikōrn] 1 a A grain of barley, b an old measure, the third of an inch, based on approximate length of a grain of barley 2 John Barley corn, name given to whisky, or other malt liquor, from personification of the grain barley-sugar, n Transparent sweetmeat made from pure sugar, generally flavoured with lemon barley-water, n A drink for invalids made from pearl barley, which is hulled in water and strained off, leaving a clear or translucent liquid barren, n [1 harm, 2 hām] OE beorma, M E berme, L G barne, Germ bärne, 'yeast', cogn w Lat fermentum, 'leaven, yeast', (op ferment), wh perh comes fr fer-* mentum, & is related to Lat fervere, 'boil', glow', & older fervere w same meaning, also to ferus, 'heat, violence' The above Lat words are not connected w Lat formus, 'hot', q v under warm The orig meaning of the Aryan base bheru-* is 'boil, bubble (with heat)', & other cognates are: Ir brennim, 'bubble, spout forth', remoter relations are Goth brinnan, 'burn', & the various words in Gmc languages connected therewith See these under burn (I) Yeast, leaven, which are now the more usual words, except provincially barmaid, n [1 hārmād, 2 hāmāsd] See bar (I) & maid Woman or girl who serves customers in a bar where liquors are sold, chiefly in hotel or public house barren brack, n [1 bārm brak, 2 hām brak] A kind of cake or scones made with yeast, chiefly used in Ireland

Barmecide, adj [1 hārmesid, 2 hāmāsid], fr name of giver of such a feast in the Arabian Nights Only in Phr Barmecide feast, an apparently luxurious but in reality disappointing, miserable feast or entertainment barmy, adj [1 hārm, 2 hām] barren & -y Frothy, like harm, (fig) light headed, silly (In this sense often confused with, and written, balmy) (colloq and vulg) Barmy on the crumple, light headed, touched in the head, mad, to go barmy, become foolish or mad bar, n [1 harn, 2 hām] OE bern, berr, fr bera, 'barley' (see barley), & arn, 'boson', receptacle The older form of the latter is ren, ren, wh survives in a few compounds in OE It is possible that the word is cogn w Goth razn, 'boson', ON rann, wh, it is suggested, are cogn w Goth rausta, OE rausta, 'place of rest', see rest Building for storage of grain or hay, and other produce of a farm barnacle (I), n [1 bārnel, 2 bārnkl] M E bernacle, bernacle &c, 'a kind of bit for a horse', O Fr bernac, bernacle(s), etymol unknown 1 A Formerly a species of pincers used as an instrument of torture, b an instrument (also called twist) put on a horse's nose to hold him by, and keep him quiet when being shod or clipped 2 (ber) Representation of the pincers, displayed upon a shield 3 Since 16th cent (in pl) spectacles, in allusion to the instrument put on a horse's nose (1 b above) barnacle (II), n M E bernal, barnacle &c, a kind of wild goose, popularly supposed to come fr the shellfish of this name It is suggested that the origin of the name of the crustacean may be Gael barneach, 'lumpet' The name was then transferred to the bird. Cp Fr bernache & bernacle, wh are applied both to the goose & to the shellfish 1 The word in English is now used more particularly of those shellfish which remain permanently attached to rocks, the bottoms of ships, also to piers and masonry which are regularly covered by the sea at each tide 2 (fig) Person who adheres closely and refuses to be moved, esp from a post or office &c barnacle goose, also hernicle, n See prec Goose found in Northern Europe, allied to the brant goose barn dance, n A kind of dance resembling a ecottisebo, of rustic origin, of the kind which was in vogue among country folk using a barn as a hall room barn-door, n Large double doors, big enough to admit loaded waggon and horse, which give entrance to a barn Phrs as big as a barn-door, very big and broad, not to be able to hit a barn door (in shooting), to be a very bad shot barn-door fowl, n Common domestic, farm yard fowl barn-owl, n Large brown and grey owl which frequents uninhabited buildings, snob as barns, church towers &c barn-stormer, n See storm (II) Strolling actor who plays in buildings such as barns where a theatre is not available, the implication of the name is that such an actor delights and takes by storm the simple, rustic audience in a barn, but would not impress more experienced hearers, hence, an inferior actor barn-storming, n The practice or profession of performing as a strolling player baro-, pref, fr Gk baros, 'weight', cp barus, 'heavy', fr Aryen 'g-pro' &c, fr wh base comes also Lat gravis, 'heavy', see grave (IV) & gravid Used in words of scientific origin, expressing idea of atmospheric pressure barograph, n [1 bárográf, 2 bárográf] Preo & -graph A recording barometer which traces, on a revolving cylinder, by means of a style attached to a lever connected with the quicksilver which forms the barometer, a line showing the effects upon the latter, of the varying pressure of the atmosphere during a given period of time barology, n [1 baróloj, 2 baróloj] See baro- & -logy Science of weight or gravity barometer, n [1 barómeter, 2 barómeter] See baro- & -meter Instrument for measuring the degree of pressure of the atmosphere by means of quicksilver enclosed in a glass tube barometric(al), adj [1 barométrik(l), 2 báro-métrik(ll)] See prec & -metric, & -al Pertaining to, measured by, a barometer barometric pressure &c barometrically, adv Preo & -ly By means of a barometer baron, n [1 báron, 2 báron] O Fr barun, orig acc of ber(e), 'man, hero, warrior', also 'baron' in feudal sense The etymol of the word is much disputed Med Lat baro, baronis &c is certainly the starting point of the O Fr form The problem is whether this is derived fr Lat báro, 'fool, blockhead', or borrowed fr a Gmc word seen in OHG baro, 'man, free man', therefore one competent to render military service to the king In this case we may cp ON berja, 'strike', & esp (reflex) berja sk, 'fight' (cp Germ sich schlagen & Fr se battre) With this base there is a large number of cognates outside Gmc, Lat ferire, 'strike, smite, thrust', O Slav boriti, 'I strive, fight', Czech boriti, 'destroy', Lith bariti, 'I strive in words, quarrel', Ir beraim, 'I cleave, cut' With all these Gk pharō, 'cleave, divide' &c is also oogu The etymol fr older Lat báro, 'fool', may be dismissed as improbable on many grounds, & that fr OHG baro, 'fighting man' may be accepted The cognates given above show that the fundamental idea connected w baron is 'a warrior', one who strikes, fights, cleaves his way through his enemies The original meaning of baron in feudal times was one of a class of tenants holding his lands by military service from the king, or other superior lord The term was soon restricted to king's barons who were summoned by writ to the council The practice grew up that those once summoned had a right to attend, and the honour and privilege became hereditary Present-day usage 1 Lowest rank in hereditary peerage, used only in stating a man's rank he is a baron, is not of higher rank, also in enumerating a man's titles, and in legal descriptions Baron X of Y A baron is addressed and spoken of as Lord X, never as Baron X, except only in the case of foreign titles See however heroness 2 A judge of the Court of the Exchequer was called a Baron of the Exchequer, he was spoken of and addressed as Baron X The office and title are now abolished 3 A foreign nobleman a German, Dutch, baron &c 4 (law) Man, his hand, contrasted with free, woman, wife 5 Baron of beef, a double sirloin of beef baronage, n [1 bárunj, 2 bároidej] Preo & -age 1 The body of peers (strictly only the barons) of the realm, 2 a book which gives a list of these baroness, n [1 báruess, 2 báruess] baron & -ess 1 A wife of a baron, 2 lady who has inherited a barony, or who has had this honour conferred upon her personally The word is never used as a title for English women, apart from official or legal descriptions, and in enumerations of peeresses, except in cases which come under 2 Foreign lady who is the wife or daughter of a baron, in these cases the word is used as a mode of address, and as title prefixed to the name baronet (I), n [1 báranet, 2 bároet] baron & dimin suff -et. A person holding lowest hereditary English title This title and status were created by James I in 1611, as a means of raising money Landholders and others of sufficient wealth and antiquity could obtain the rank on payment of £1000

Baronets are addressed, like knights, as Sir John &c, according to their Christian name, and their style is Sir X Y, Bart, their wives are officially styled Dame Margaret &c or simply Lady G baronet (II), vb trans To raise to rank of baronet, esp in PP baronetted, made a baronet baronetage, n [1 bárunetj, 2 báronetidj] baronet & -age A whole body of baronets, 2 book containing list of these baronetcy, n [1 bárunetj, 2 báronetj] baronet & -cy Rank and status of baronet to confer a baronetcy upon baronial, adj [1 báronial, 2 bároünial] baron & -ial 1 Belonging to the condition of baron baronial rank &c 2 Splendid, stately, spacious, ample, as befitting a baron or important person baronial splendour, magnificence &c 3 (archit) Often slightly derivate, of a style of building found in some large, modern houses which exhibits a wealth of turrets and castellated parapets &c the Scots baronial style of architecture barony, n [1 bárun, 2 bárunj] ME baronie, fr O Fr, baron & -y 1 The domain of a baron bishops sat in the House of Lords originally as representing their baronies 2 Status, rank, of baron he gained his barony for his service in the Great War 3 An old division of an Irish county, corresponding to the English hundred baroque, adj [1 bárook, 2 bárojk] Fr, as adj, une parle baroque, Ital barocco, Port barroco, orig irregularly shaped pearl', etymol doubtful 1 Grotesque, queer, fantastic, applied to architecture, often equivalent to rococo, q v, (of taste) corrupt, bizarre &c 2 As noun, the baroque, baroque style, taste &c baroscope, n [1 bárooskop, 2 bároeskóp] baro- & -scope Instrument which shows the changes of pressure in the atmosphere barouche, n [1 bároúsh, 2 bároúj] fr Germ barutsche, fr Ital baroccia, earlier broccia, L Lat. birrotium, 'two wheeled chariot', Lat birotus for bis rotus*, adj, 'two wheeled' See bi- & rota A style of carriage now obsolete, having four wheels, a seat or box for driver, two double seats inside, and a flexible folding hood behind, it was drawn usually by two horses barque, barquentine, n See barik (V), barkentine barrack (I), n [1 bárák, 2 bároek] fr Fr baraque, 'wooden hut or shed', Ital baracca &c, perh related to bar, in sense of a temporary shelter put together fr boards & strengthened by stronger pieces of wood 1 (usually pl) Barracks, a set of buildings, or a single large building, for housing a military garrison These buildings are usually rather plain and devoid of architectural beauty Hence, 2 a large rambling, ugly house a regular barrack of a place barrack (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To quarter (troops) in barracks 2 (Australian) to look along, of crowd of spectators To utter cries of derision or, cheer derisively at, in order to upset, opposing players barracunda, barracouta, n [1 báralóda, -kóda, 2 bároakúda, kúda] Spon, prob fr native name A large, voracious, edible sea-fish, of the Caribbean Sea barrage, n [1 bárárb, 2 bároúj] Fr, orig a series of system of bars, see bar 1 (engin) Artificial obstruction placed in a river or watercourse to direct the stream, or cause increase of depth 2 (mil) During the Great War barrage was used for a curtain of artillery fire concentrated upon a part of the enemy's line, or upon an area between this and the Allies' lines for the purpose of preventing the enemy leaving his trenches to attack, a barrage was also concentrated just ahead of our troops when they went forward to attack, and so adjusted that it more or less conformed to their movements, creeping barrages Phr to lift the barrage, lengthen the range of a barrage barrator, n [1 bárátor, 2 bároto] ME barator, 'noter, quarrelsome person', O Fr barateur, 'swindler' See barter One guilty of the crime of barratry barratrous, adj [1 bárátrus, 2 bárotrus] See next word & -ous (law) A Of persons, inclined to, 2 of conduct, savouring of, tending to, barratry barratry, n [1 bárátri, 2 bárotri] O Fr barratry, 'to deceive' See barter & -ry (law) 1 (marin) Fraudulent or negligent breach of duty on part of master and crew of a ship whereby the interests of the owners are endangered 2 (gen) Involvement to, or encouragement of, litigation and quarrels barrel (I), n [1 bárol, 2 bároel] ME baril, fr O Fr baril &c, orig doubtful, but perh connected w bar 1 Cylindrical vessel or cask made of shaped wooden boards or staves, bound round each end and the middle by iron hoops, with flat boards shaped so as to close either end Barrels are so made as to bulge in the middle and become smaller top and bottom 2 A The contents of a barrel, esp of beer or cider, also barrel of pork, herrings, oysters, 2 liquors are often measured by the barrel, which may be of varying sizes, usually to contain 36, 18, or 9 gallons 3 A Metal tube of gun, rifle, revolver &c through which projectile passes, 2 revolving cylinder in a watch &c 4 The body (excluding head and legs) of a horse or cow not enough barrel, too slight in the body barrel (II), vb trans, fr prec To put (liquor) &c in barrels barrelled, adj [1 bároeld, 2 bároald] PP of prec 1 Provided with a barrel, a of guns &c, chiefly in compounds double, single barrelled, 2 of horses &c, well barrelled, with big girth of body 2 Put in barrels, as liquor &c barrel-organ, n Instrument for producing music by means of a revolving cylinder turned by a handle, studded with pegs, which set upon vibrating tongues of metal, chiefly used as a means of obtaining money in the street barrel-vault, n A vault, which presents a uniform concave surface throughout its whole length barren, adj [1 báren, 2 bároen] ME barren, fr O Fr brehaigne, baraigne, orig obscure 1 (of women) Sterile, incapable of bearing children 2 (of plants and trees) Unproductive of seed or fruit, unproductive 3 (of land, soil) Poor, unproductive, not yielding crops, as n pl, barrens, tract of barren country 4 a (of persons and their mental faculties) Unproductive, and, joyless, lacking creative power and initiative, b (of intellectual or literary output) devoid of spirit, interest, fire, or life, and, dreary 5 Devoid of, lacking barren of ideas, of interest, charm &c barrenness, n [1 bārennes, 2 bārēnnes] Prec & -ness Condition of being barren barroade, n & vb trans [1 barikād, 2 bār-kād] Fr, fr Ital barricata, or Span barricada, 'a barring up' Perb fr Span barrica, 'cask', or fr Low Lat barra, 'bar', & -ade 1 n A defence, or obstruction, esp across a street, hastily built of trees, earth, rough timber &c 2 vb To close, surround, protect, with a barricade barrier, n [1 bārrier, 2 bārre] M E barrere, Fr barrère, 'obstacle', derived fr barre &c See bar (I) & -ter 1 a An obstacle of any kind, anything which separates from, or prevents access to, anything, b a structure erected to keep the public away from certain parts of a building, e.g. a railway station, or from the roadway when a public procession is passing &c 2 Non-material obstacle, hindrance, bar, impediment barrier to progress, education &c, barrier to one's affection &c, the barriers of class or caste barrister, n [1 bārister, 2 bāraste] fr O Fr barre, see bar (I), & -ster Qualified member of that branch of the legal profession whose province is to plead in court as an advocate, or counsel, a member of the Bar, full form is barrister-at-law barrow (I), n [1 bārō, 2 bārōw] O E barrow, M E barrowe, 'barrow'; prob derived fr bær, a form of base 'to bear' See bear (I), bier &c A small hand-cart, generally with one or not more than two wheels, provided with handles to push it by, for conveying articles too bulky or heavy to be carried; also hand-wheel-barrow barrow (II), n O E beorg, 'hill, (burial) mound', M E berewe, barrowe, op OHG berg, 'hill', Goth barig ahes, 'mountain', O N bjarg, 'rock' Outside Gmo the cognates are Sort bjargr, 'high', & O Slav brǣgŭ, 'shore, bank' The fundamental meaning is 'something piled up, a heap' See further under borough & buoy Mound, tumulus, esp of ancient burial mounds long barrows, of Neolithic age, round barrows, of Bronze age barrulet, n [1 bārūlet, 2 bārūlet] Low Lat barrula, dimin of barra, see bar, & -et (ber) Small bar, one-fourth the width of a bar barruly, adj [1 bārūli, 2 bārūli] (ber, of the field) Traversed by barrulets barry, adj [1 bārri, 2 bārri] Fr barré, 'barred' See bar (I) (her) Traversed horizontally by an even number of bars barry-bendy, adj See prec & bendy (her, of the field) Divided by bars and bends with colours alternate barry-nebuly, adj barry & nebuly (her) Barry with wavy lines barry-pily, adj barry & pily. (her) Traversed by piles arranged barry barse, n [1 bars, 2 bās] O E bars, 'perch', prob fr the same base as bristle Op also baese (III) Common perch bars-gemels, n [1 bārz gemels, 2 bāz džemels] See bar & gemel (her) Barrulets arranged in pairs, double bars bar-shot, n Double shot, or two shots linked by a bar, formerly used in naval warfare to cut enemy's masts and rigging barter (I), vb intrans & trans [1 bārter, 2 bāts] M E barren &c, O Fr barater, 'to cheat' Origin doubtful, op O Ir brath, 'treachery' 1 intrans The original sense of cheating over a bargain has passed away, though a certain unfavourable shade of meaning still lingers, to haggle over a transaction, to traffic 2 trans To exchange to barter one thing for, against, another, barter away, sell at too low a price, (chiefly fig) of freedom, position, honour &c, to part with these for an illusory advantage barter (II), n, fr prec Exchange, traffic in, goods, usually without intervention of money, often exchange and barter

Bartholomew Fair, n [1 bartholomū fār, 2 bāp̄lām̄jū fās] Great annual fair beginning on St Bartholomew's Day, Aug 24th bartisan, n [1 bartizan, 2 bātizæn] Introduced by Sir Walter Scott, apparently from a popular 17th cent Scottish spelling bertisane, for brattising Small tower or turret projecting from a larger tower or from battlements barton, n [1 hārtun, 2 bdt(ə)n] O E beretūn, 'threshing floor, barn', lit 'barley enclosure', M E berūn &c See barley & town, & op barn A barton was a barn, or group of barns, in which the grain from the farms of a manor was collected The word is common in place names all over England, and still used provincially for 'barn' bar tracery, n bar & tracery (arohit) Ornamental window tracery, the patterns of which are formed by the intersections and curves of the mullions baruria, n [1 barūria, 2 bārūria] Gk barus, 'heavy' see bary-, & ōron, 'urine', see urine Pathological condition in which the urine shows an abnormal specific gravity, as in diabetes barv-, pref, 'heavy', Gk barus, 'heavy'. See baro- barycentre, n [1 bārisenter, 2 bārisanta] See prec & central Centre of gravity barycentric, adj [1 bārisāntrik, 2 bārisāntrik] Prec & -ic Belonging to the centre of gravity baryta, n [1 bārīta, 2 bārīta] Modern formation See bary- & barium. (chem) Barium monoxide barytic, adj [1 bārītik, 2 bārītik] Prec & -ic Connected with baryta barytone, baritone, adj & n [1 bārītōn, 2 bārītōn] The Ital spelling w -i- is usually now commoner in the musical sense Gk baritonos, 'heavy, low-toned'. See bary- & tone 1 adj (of the human voice) Between bass and tenor, and partaking of some of the quality of each 2 n a A baritone voice, b singer possessing such a voice 3 (Gk gram) A word not having an accent marked on final syllable, the grave accent being understood basal, adj [1 bāsāl, 2 bāsāl] fr base & -al Relating to, situated at, the base Esp common in fig uses, fundamental, at the bottom of, therefore that on which the whole (argument &c) is built, or from which it proceeds, hence, fundamentally important a basal argument, principle, condition &c basally, adv Prec & -ly In a basal, fundamental, manner, from the bottom, altogether basally wrong, unsound &c basalt, n [1 bāsawit, basawit, 2 bāsōlt, bāsōlt] Lat basaltis, African word, 'a hard, dark marble found in parts of Africa' 1 (geol.) Any dark coloured rock of volcanic origin, the columns of rock in the Giant's Causeway (Ireland) are of this character 2 A black kind of porcelain, made by Wedgwood basaltic, adj [1 bāsawitik, 2 bāsōltik] Prec & -ic Of the nature of basalt bascule, n [1 bāskūl, 2 bāskūl] Fr, 'seesaw' Origin doubtful Apparatus in which one end rises when weight or pressure is put upon the other, on the principle of the seesaw, esp bascule bridge, a kind of draw-bridge, raised and lowered by a system of weights and balances, e.g. the Tower Bridge, London base (I), n [1 bās, 2 bēs] Fr base, fr Lat basē, 'a stepping, pedestal, foot, base, foundation', fr Gk basē, 'step, walk, that on which one steps, ground, a pedestal' The word is related to Gk basō, 'to go, walk, step', wh goes back to earlier ban jē*, Aryan gʷ(e)mjē*, as bāse to earlier bāte*, fr Aryan gʷntē*, ep Sort gāt, 'going', wb is the exact cogn, as is also Goth ga gump, 'coming together' See further under corro, & op basis 1 Bottom, fundamental, lowest, part of anything, that upon which it rests, pediment, foot, support, foundation base of a mountain, pillar, building 2 (arohit) Lowest part, pediment of a column considered as a separate feature, or design, complete in itself, and having an independent design 3 (chem) A substance which combines with and neutralizes an acid, forming a salt, in general, an oxide 4 Substance used as a mordant in dyeing 5 (bot) The lower part of the field 6 (mil) The place or area from which the units of an army advance, from which it derives its reinforcements and supplies of all kinds, and from which the communications lead to the various sections of the force as they proceed towards their objectives 7 Starting point or goal in several ball games, e.g. baseball 8 (philol) A theoretical result of the last analysis of a word, that which is left when the various suffixes and prefixes have been stripped off, that common element which is recognizable in a group of cognate words, formerly called the root base (II), vb trans, fr prec To build, place, found, rest, anything upon something else as a foundation or support, use as point of departure, chiefly in fig use to base one's hopes upon, base one's inferences, arguments, conclusions, upon facts base (III), adj M E bās, O Fr bas, 'low', Lat baseus, only as cognomen, Low Lat w sense of 'thick, stumpy', perh borrowed fr Gk pdsōn, compo of pakhōs, 'thick, stout, coarse' The connexion of the latter w Lat pinguis, 'fat, plump', see pinguid, is now disputed 2 (of persons) a Low, low-born, mean, b having low motives and a vicious character 2 (of action, conduct, thoughts, motives) Unworthy, mean, sordid, reverse of lofty, dishonourable, wicked 3 (metal) Base metal, metal of inferior value, i.e. not gold or silver 4 (of language) Not classical, impure, debased base Latin &c baseball, n [1 bāsbawl, 2 bāsbōl] Chief national game of USA, somewhat resembling rounders highly elaborated and developed, played with a hard ball, four bases, and nine players on each side base-burn, adj 1 Of low, mean, humble, birth 2 Of illegitimate birth basely, adv [1 bāsh, 2 bēsli] base (III) & -ly In a base manner, esp in moral senses basement, n [1 bāsmēt, 2 bāsmēt] base (I) & -ment That part of a house which is below the ground, rooms, cellars &c constructed in the foundations, often having windows looking into a sunk, open area or yard, lighted from above baseness, n [1 bāsnes, 2 bēsnēs] base (III) & -ness The quality or condition of being base, chiefly of moral qualities, mean-ness, unworthiness, wickedness of character and conduct bash, vb trans [1 bash, 2 bāš] Origin doubtful, but ep Dan basle, 'beat' The form of the word has perh been influenced by smash (colloq) To strike violently, to hit or beat (a person) brutally and roughly, to thrash to bash one's head against a tree, to bash a person on the head bashaw, n [1 bāshaw, 2 bāšō] Variant of pasha (archaic) Sometimes applied disrespectfully to an official who takes himself and his functions too seriously, and attempts to be too bashful, adj [1 bāshfool, 2 bāšful] fr M E basch, 'to strike with confusion', see abash, & -ful Timid, shy, retiring, modest, coy, inclined to shun social prominence, backward in asserting or claiming one's rights bashfully, adv Prec & -ly In a bashful manner, shyly, timidly bashfulness, n See prec & -ness Timidity, shyness, coyness, reluctance to assert oneself basin-bazonuk, n [1 básh bazonúk, 2 básh bazonúk] Turk. A Turkish irregular soldier basin, adj [1 básh, 2 báshik], fr basin (L) & -ic 1 Pertaining to, at, the base of, fundamental, esp of non material things basin principles 2 (chem &c) Having the properties of a base or an excess of base or fundamental constituents, esp of a process of steel manufacture in which the furnace is lined with lime and magnesia which combine with and remove the phosphorus from the iron, forming phosphates, 'basin slag' basin slag, n Agricultural fertilizer made from a by product of steel manufacture See prec under 2 basil (L), n [1 bázil, 2 bázil] O Fr basile, Lat basilica, 'plant, supposed antidote to basilisk's bite', Gk. basilikos, 'kind of serpent, basilisk' Cp basilikos One of a group of aromatic plants of the mint family basil (II), n Corrupt form of earlier & obs basan, fr O Fr basane, fr Arab bizānah, 'linen' Sheepskin tanned with oak or other bark. basilic, adj [1 basilik, 2 basilik] Fr basilique See basilica A Belonging to a basilica q v, b (anat) basilic vein, an important vein of the upper arm running from elbow to armpit basilica, n [1 basilika, 2 basilika] Lat, 'public hall with aisles and colonnades', for administration of justice, or other business, fr Gk. basiliká (stoa), lit 'royal cloister, or roofed colonnade', fr basilikos, 'king' See next word. 1 The Roman basilicas were later often converted into churches, and the ground plan of these buildings was generally followed in the early churches which were built as such. The basilica was a long oblong hall, with rows of columns down the aisles, and divided into the atrium or entrance chamber, the nave, and the apse or semi-circular projecting chamber at the end farthest from the entrance. 2 Name given by the Pope to several churches in Rome as a title of honour. 3 A church built on the plan of the old basilica basilisk, n [1 bazilisk, 2 bázilisk], fr Lat basiliscus, 'a kind of lizard', fr Gk. basilikos, 'little king', dimin of basileus, 'king', name given to a kind of serpent & to the golden crested wren. The Gk. word for king, ong 'leader in battle', is derived fr bas, 'one who goes before, leads', op base (I), & lads, 'people, host, army', etymol unknown. For the development of meaning, op duke, & the O.E. heretoga, 'army leader', Mod Germ herzog, 'duke', usually a reigning duke. 1 A fabulous creature of the African desert whose glance and breath were supposed fatal. 2 A species of lizard with an erectile crest down the middle of the back. 3 Antiquated form of cannon ornamented with devices of serpents basin, n [1 básh, básh, 2 básh, básh] O Fr basin, Low Lat basinon, referred to by Gregory of Tours as a rustic word. The origin of this is obscure. 1 A hollow vessel or receptacle of porcelain, earthenware, metal, &c, usually shallow for its girth, with curving or sloping sides, for containing water for washing or any other purpose, or milk in dames from which cream is to be skimmed. 2 Cisterns of a basin basin of water. 3 Hollow space, natural or artificial, containing water, e.g. a bathing pool, deep part of a harbour &c. 4 Tract of country drained by a river. a river basin, the Thames basin. 5 (anat) Cavity of the pelvis basinet basinet, n [1 basinet, basinet, 2 basinet, basinet] M.E. & O Fr basinet &c. Dimin of basin See -et. Light steel helmet originally open in front and worn under leather battle helmet, later made with visor basin, n [1 básh, 2 básh] Direct fr Gk. basin, 'going', whence 'that upon which one walks', &c See base (I) That upon which anything rests, ground work, foundation, n (in material sense) the physical basis of life, b (in non-material sense) the basis of religion, morals, of an argument basin, vb intrans & reflex [1 bahsk, 2 básh] M.E. baske (rare), fr O.N. básk, reflex, lit 'to bathe oneself', básk is cogn w bathe, -sk is for O.N. sik, reflex pron, op Mod Germ nich 1 To steep, immerse, oneself in with enjoyment, to luxuriate in, expose oneself with delight to to basin in the sun, in the heat, in the sunlight &c, (also absolutely) I want merely to basin on a day like this 2 (of moral enjoyment) To be favoured with, to experience and take delight in to basin in a lady's smiles, in the patronage, favour, of the great, in the smiles of Fortune basinet, n [1 báshket, 2 báshket] M.E. bascale, bascale Prob dimin of O Fr basche, 'basket' This is apparently fr a Lat word bascula, found in Juvenal, & said to mean a brazen vessel. This word is supposed to be of Gaulish or British (Celt) origin. The transference of meaning of the word in Fr fr a brazen receptacle to one of a totally different material is by no means improbable. The Celt bascula may well be cogn w Lat fascia, 'band, girth, fillet' &c, & fascis, 'bundle', as suggested by Walde. Bascula may have been primarily a vessel bound w hoops, wh might apply equally either to one made of metal or of wicker. Fascia &c, are cogn w Ir bas, 'neckband', & prob w O.E. bas, 'inner bark of a tree', present day bas. A basket wd seem to be orig a receptacle bound or twisted together, or simply one w hoops. The W basinet is borrowed fr Engl. 1 A receptacle made of willow, cane, rushes, grass, or other flexible material, plaited and twisted into a frame of stiffer rods, and often strengthened by being bound round the top, middle, and bottom by twisted bands through which the uprights of the frame and the flexible materials of the main fabric pass. 2 By extension, a receptacle of metal or other material, somewhat resembling a basket in general structure, e.g. a receptacle of iron bars for holding coal or logs in a fireplace fire basket. 3 The contents or amount of stuff contained in a basket, a basketful a basket of eggs, apples, vegetables &c basket-ball, n Ball game played with inflated ball which is tossed into goals resembling baskets basketful, n [1 báshketful, 2 báshketful] Contents of a basket, as much as a basket will hold basket-hilt, n Sword hilt made in form of basket-work, to protect the hand basketry, n [1 báshketri, 2 báshketri] basket & -ry Art of making baskets, basket-work. basket-stitch, n Kind of stitch in embroidery, worked over a cord which gives it somewhat the appearance of basket-work. basket-wood, n Kind of West Indian climbing shrub, the stems of which are used in basket-making basket-work, n Interlaced work such as that used in making baskets basin shark, n [1 báshket shark, 2 báshket shark] A large, small toothed shark of the N Atlantic, also called saffish and sunfish. basin See basin

Basque (L), n [1 bahsk, 2 básh] 1 n One of a distinct race inhabiting the Western Pyrenees, b the language of this people. 2 A Formerly a man's doublet with a skirt-like continuation. b now, woman's bodice with short skirt.
Basque (II), adj, fr prec Pertaining to the Basques or their language bas-relief, bas-relief, n [1 básh relf, 2 básh relf] Fr bas 'low', relief, 'raised work', Ital basso rilievo See next word & relief bas-relief, n Sculpture in which the design projects but slightly from a flat surface, but is more raised than the design on a coin or medal bas (I), adj [1 básh, 2 básh] Fr bas, 'low', Ital basso, fr Low Lat basus, 'fat, thick, stumpy' See base (III) (mus) Low in tone, having a deep compass bas voice, bas notes bas (II), n, fr prec 1 A Clef that marks the bass or low range of notes, b the lower part of the musical register. 2 A The deep notes of a man's voice, b a voice of deep quality, c a man possessing such a voice bas (III), n [1 bas, 2 bas] Form of basse Species of fish of N America, resembling a perch, also, see basse, a European and American fish resembling a salmon Bassarid, n [1 básarid, 2 básarid] Gk. (Thracian) bassaros, 'fox', genit -idos A Menad, Bacchante bas-bar, n [1 báshbar, 2 báshbár] Strip of wood put lengthwise within the body of violins or other instruments of that class to give additional strength to withstand the string pressure upon the bridge bas drum, n [1 básh drum, 2 básh drám] The largest sized drum, with very deep note basset, n [1 baset, 2 báset], also basset hound. Fr, fr bas, 'low', see base (II), & -et. Variety of small hound, of French origin, with short legs basset griffon, n Wire haired variety of basset hound basset-horn, n Ital corno di bassetto, fr dimin of basso, 'bass', see base (I) Musical wood wind instrument with alto or tenor quality of tone. The end at which is the reed mouthpiece is bent, and the other end is bell-shaped and bent outwards bassinet, n [1 báshnet, 2 báshnet] Fr, dimin of basin See basin Child's cradle made of wicker work with a hood or canopy at one end, also type of perambulator basso, n [1 básh, 2 basou] Ital See base (I) a Deep bass voice, b man with deep bass voice basso buffo, n [1 básh búfó, 2 basou búfou] Ital See base & buffoon Comic bass singer bassoon, n [1 basoon, 2 basoon] Fr basoon See base (I) & -oon. Musical wood wind instrument with bass quality of tone, having a long curved reed mouthpiece, the bass hautboy or oboe, the tube is furnished with holes, some of which are stopped by the fingers, some by keys bassoonist, n [1 basoonist, 2 basoonist] Prec & -ist Player of a bassoon. basso profundo, n [1 básh profúndó, 2 basou profándou] Ital See base (I) & profund. A Bass voice of exceptional depth, b man possessing such a voice basso-rilievo, n [1 básh rilévó, 2 basou rilévou] Ital Bas relief bas viol, n [1 básh viol, 2 básh viol] A violoncello basswood, n [1 báshwood, 2 baswud] Corrupt of bast Tree of genus Tilia or lime, or its wood, applied also to tulip tree bast, n [1 bast, bas, 2 bast, bas] O.E. bást, bas, cogn w Lat fascia, 'band, hand-egg, fillet' &c, & fascis, 'bundle', lit 'that which is tied or bound up', see fascies The essential meaning of the Engl & Gmc word is 'stuff, or strips for tying'. Wooden fibre from certain trees, which forms long, tough strips, which are used for making cordage, mats &c, and by gardeners for tying up plants to stakes, pergolas &c bastard, n & adj [1 bástard, 2 bástard] M.E., fr O Fr bastard, Mod Fr bâtard, called also in O Fr fil de bast, 'son of a pack saddle', bas, 'saddle', & Gmc suff -ari Cp hantling bat, bat is fr Low Lat basium, 'pack saddle', wh is prob related to Lat. bastaga, 'carriage of baggage', bastagarius, 'baggage-master', basterna, 'litter, sedan chair', carried between mules. These words are all formed fr a Gk loan-word, bastai, 'I carry', wh may ultimately be cogn w Lat gerere, 'to bear, carry about', P.P. gerens, see geront, gent, gesture, & w Goth las, 'vessel, jug', O N lasta, 'to throw', see cast 1 n A child begotten outside lawful wedlock, an illegitimate, base-born child 2 adj a Not genuine, spurious, esp of an imitation of genuine thing, sham bastard good nature, charity, patriotism &c, b (by extension) applied to all sorts of things which are more or less abnormal in shape, size &c, or which differ in some way from standard type bastard apple, acacia, cherry, pine &c, bastard wheat, bastard type, having face larger or smaller than size proper to the body &c bastardization, n [1 bastardizashun; 2 bastardizeshun] Sss next word & -ation The act or process of making illegitimate bastardize, vb, trans [1 bastardiz, 2 bastardizesh] See bastard & -ize To render illegitimate, make a bastard of, as when a marriage is annulled, the offspring of it thereby become illegitimate bastardy, n [1 bastardi, 2 bastardi] O Fr bastardie See bastard & -y State or condition of being illegitimate baste (I), vb trans [1 bäst, 2 bäst] O Fr basser, 'soak' Origin unknown 1 To soak, moisten (roasting meat) with melted fat or gravy, the fat or gravy being poured over the joint with a ladle from time to time while the process of roasting is going on 2 a To thrash, or beat soundly, b (fig) to heckle, make verbal attack on, abuse baste (II), vb trans O Fr bastir, fr O HG oestan, 'sew with bast' Op bast To sew loosely, and temporarily, with big stitches bastille, n [1 bästél, 2 bästäl] Fr, 'a fortress', fr O Fr bastir, 'to build' See bastion Originally, a tower or shelter used in defence of a fortress, separate from the main structure of the fortifications The Bastille, ancient state prison in Paris, taken and destroyed by the mob in the Revolution, July 14, 1789

bastinado, n & vb trans [1 bästínádö, 2 bästínéidou] Span bastonada, Fr bastonade, 'a onslaught' Op baton 1 n Form of punishment formerly practised by some Orientals, such as the Turks and the Chinese, consisting of a severe beating with a stick administered to the soles of the feet 2 vb To administer the bastinado to basting (I), n [1 bästing, 2 bästing] baste (I) & -ing Action of one who bastes, process of being basted basting (II), n baste (II) & -ing Action or process of sewing loosely bastion, n [1 bästün, bästün, 2 bästün, bästün] Fr, fr Ital bastione, op O Fr bastir, Ital bastire, 'to build', same as Low Lat vb This is perh borrowed fr Gk bastazein, 'lift, carry', w idea of bearing a weight, op bastard A projecting part of a fortification, either in the form of a round half-tower built into the surface of the main wall, or constructed so as to form a salient angle with two faces bastioned, adj [1 bästüund, 2 bästüünd] Prec & -ed Provided with bastions bat (I), n [1 bat, 2 bat] O E bat, 'club, stick', ME batte, 'ougel' The Fr batte is a mallet with a long handle, something like a bottle or beetle, & is presumably connected w battre, 'beat' The resemblance between the Engl & Fr words is in this case accidental The origin of bat is unknown 1 Now applied almost entirely to the wooden implement with a flat blade and a cane handle used in the game of cricket, and, much more rarely, to a tennis racquet Phr to carry one's bat, to stay in till the end of an innings without being put out 2 A person who uses the bat in cricket, batsman, a good, a useful bat &c 3 (slang) A sharp blow 4 (colloq) Pace, rate of speed to go full bat bat (II), vb intrans, fr prec To use a bat, that is, to 'go in' in cricket, and endeavour to make runs bat (III), n Apparently a dual development of ME backe, wh is possibly of Scand origin, op Dan -balle, Swed -backa, 'bat', but may be a genuine Engl word, though not recorded in OE A small nocturnal mammal, like a mouse, with long forelegs joined to its hindlegs by a tough membranous structure which projects beneath the lower part of the body and enables it to fly or fit about with great swiftness Phr as blind as a bat, very blind batata, n. [1 batáhta, 2 batáhta] Span form of a native Am word The sweet potato batch, n [1 bach, 2 bat] ME bocche, 'batch' The OE equiv is not recorded, but wd be either b-ec or bæce, derived fr bacan, 'to bake', qv under bako 1 The whole product of a single baking, esp of loaves, cakes &c, also of china and pottery 2 A number, collection of things, or quantity of material produced by one effort, action or operation, or coming from same place of origin, or received as result of a single order, (of very wide application) a batch of cigars, batch of luggage, books, parcels, correspondences &c, said also of collections of persons closely associated by belonging to same family, occupation, institution or organization a batch of relatives, batch of recruits, batch of workmen, batch of undergraduates &c bate (I), n & vb trans [1 bät, 2 bat] Prob connected w Swed bata, 'to tan', & thus oogn. w bat (I) & bute 1 n An alkaline solution used in tanning 2 vb To steep (leather) in bate bate (II), n Etymol uncertain, possibly variant of bat (I) (colloq) Rage, temper to get in a bate about anything bate (III), vb trans, fr abate To diminish, reduce, mitigate, take something off from to bate one's demands, charges, claims &c bated, adj [1 bätid, 2 bätid] Prec & -ed. Reduced, suspended, chiefly in Phr with bated breath, in a state of suspense, anxiety, expectation, or awe bat-eyed, adj Mentally blind, obtuse, unobservant, liable to miss the finer shades of thought and feeling batfowl, vb intrans [1 bätfoul, 2 bätfoul] bat (I) To catch birds at night by dazzling them with a light, and knocking them down when they fly towards it batfowling, n [1 bätfowling, 2 bätfawling] Prec & -ing Sport, action, of catching birds in manner described above bath (I), n [1 bäht, 2 bäp], pl [1 bähtdz, 2 bähtz] O E bæð, ME bath, O HG bad, O N bap The word is found in every branch of Gmc speech except Goth The final -p is derivative & the base may be associated w that in Germ bähen, 'to warm by covering with hot bandages, foment' Cognates outside Gmc are very doubtful Connexion with Lat fomentum (fr fōmētum*) & fovere, 'to warm' &c, see foment, has been proposed by some and rejected by others Possibly we have here the same base as in bake The fundamental meaning wd in that case be 'hot immersion, or washing' 1 A vessel or receptacle in wood, metal, or porcelain made to contain water, in which the person may be immersed and washed 2 A washing or cleansing of the person in a bath to have, take, a bath, a hot bath, a wash or immersion in (a bath of) hot water, mud bath, immersion in mud or earth containing medicinal qualities, Order of the Bath, a British order of knighthood with civil and military division and three classes 3 (in pl) Baths, an institution where baths of various kinds may be taken Turkish baths, swimming baths, sea-water baths, &c 4 Liquid, or vessel containing it, in which objects are immersed to undergo a chemical process, e.g. hypo bath, for developing photographs 5 Vessel or chamber in which certain parts of machinery work in a water, air, or oil medium oil bath &c bath (II), vb trans New formation direct fr prec To give a bath to, esp to give a child its bath to bath the baby

Bath (III), n Town in Somerset, named from its hot, mineral springs Various attributive uses a Bath brick, a compound of various earths, used for cleaning metal and stone, b Bath bun, spiced fruit bun with knobly, sugared surface, c Bath-chair, three wheeled invalid chair for a single person, d Bath-elone, kind of limestone bathe (I), vb intrans & trans [1 bädh, 2 bæð] O E badian, ME bäð(s)(e)n, fr O E bæp, qv under bath (I) Note the difference in vowel sound & final consonant wh show derivation fr the O E vb, as distinct fr vb bath, derived direct fr the n in Mod. period A intrans 1 To take a bath, a to immerse oneself in water for purpose of washing, b to immerse oneself in the sea, in a river or lake for enjoyment, swimming &c, The word implies this as a rule, unless the context shows that it refers to washing in a bath B trans 1 To soak, immerse, steep, in water, apply water to to bathe one's face, eyes, feet &c, to bathe an injured part or limb 2 (fig) To immerse to bathe one's hands in blood, be guilty of a person's death by violence 3 a To lave, wash, wet, flow past, reach to, touch, of the waters of river or lake which are said to bath the shores, the feet of a cliff &c, b (of light, warmth &c) to surround, play upon, encompass bathe (II), n, fr prec The act or process of bathing in the sea, a swimming bath, river &c to have a pleasant, long, rapid bath, &c bather, n [1 bäðer, 2 bæðer] baths (I) & -er a One who bathes, in the sea, river &c, b one who takes medicinal baths at a watering-place batheic, adj [1 bæthek, 2 bæpék] fr bathos, on anal of pathetic Trite, characterized by bathos bathing, n [1 bädhing, 2 bæðing] See bathe (I) & -ing The act or habit of entering the sea &c to be fond of bathing, good bathing may be had from the beach, the bathing here is rather dangerous bathing machine, n Small hut on wheels, which can be drawn down to the water's edge at low tide, used by sea bathers for undressing and dressing bathometer, n [1 bathometer, 2 bæpómeter] See bathos & meter Lat 'depth measurer', an instrument for taking soundings and gauging depth, also called brithymeter bathorse, n [1 bät hors, 2 bæthors] First element is fr Fr bât, 'pack saddle', for etymol of wh see bastard A horse which carries baggage, esp in a military campaign bathos, n [1 bäthes, 2 bæpəs] fr Gk, bathos, 'depth, height', fr bathús, 'deep', etymol unknown A descent from the sublime to the ridiculous in style, triteness, triviality, matter-of-factness in style bathymetry, n [1 bäthimetry, 2 bæpšimetry] Name invented by Huxley, fr Gk bathus, 'deep', see prec, & metros, 'measure', see bio- A limy, gelatinous substance dredged up from the ocean bed at great depths and supposed, wrongly, to consist of protoplasm, it is now proved to be an inorganic substance bathymeter, n [1 bäthimeter, 2 bæpšimetry] fr Gk bathus, 'deep', see bathos, & -meter Instrument for measuring the depth of water as in the sea, lakes &c, also bathometer bathymetric, adj [1 bäthimétrik, 2 bæpšimétrik] fr Gk bathus, 'deep', see bathos, & -metric Pertaining to bathymetry or the measurement of the depth of water, as in the sea, a lake &c bathymetry, n [1 bäthimetry, 2 bæpšimetry] See prec & -metry Science of measuring the depths of seas, lakes &c batik, n [1 batik, 2 batik] Malay batik Method of colouring fabrics in marbled designs, originating in Java, in which the parts not to be dyed are protected by a coat of wax not to be dyed are protected by a coat of wax batiste, n [1 bätist, 2 bätist] Fr, fr name of first maker, Baptiste of Combray A fine lawn or cambric of linen, b a fine cotton muslin batman, n. [1 bátmán; 2 bátmán] See first element of bathhouse (mil) a Originally one who looked after the baggage animals, b now an officer's servant generally batmoneyn, n [1 bátmum, 2 bátmón] The first element is prob quite distinct fr thot in prec word, & comes fr Hind bhāt, 'advances made to ploughmen without interest', & by extension, 'extra allowances made to officers on special grounds' The Anglo Indian form is batta Field allowance to an officer on active service baton, n [1 bátn, 2 bátn], fr Fr bâton, 'stick, staff', O Fr baston, etymol un known. 1 A staff of office, symbol of rank, e.g. Field Marshal's baton 2 Short, thick staff, also called truncheon, used by the police for defence and attack 3 A slender staff used by the conductor of an orchestra for beating time 4 (her) An ordinary, in form of a band (q v) with its ends out off, and one fourth the breadth

Batrachia, n pl. [1 batrákia, 2 batréikíe] Latinized courage fr Gk batrakheios, 'pertaining to a frog', fr batrakhos, 'frog', etymol. doubtful a Amphibians generally, b speed, family of frogs and toads batrachian, adj [1 batrákian, 2 batréikíen] Prec & -an Pertaining to, resembling, the batrachia batta, n See batmoneyn battalion, n. [1 batályan, 2 batálnjan], fr Fr bataillon, fr Ital battaglione See battle & -oon 1 (mil.) A unit of an infantry regiment, consisting of four companies As a rule the full strength of a battalion in the English Army is about 1000 men 2 Extended general use, a large company, number, a band of people (rather rare) whole battalions of spies battel(s), n pl. [1 batlz, 2 batlz] & vb intrans [1 bátl, 2 bátl] Origin uncertain 1 n In the University of Oxford, college accounts for provision and stores of all lands are so called. 2 vb To battel, to live from the college kitchen and stores batten (L), vb intrans & trans [1 bátn, 2 bátn] ON baitna, 'to improve, grow better' The base bat is cogn w OE bet, 'better', wh. comes fr bati* See etymol under better, op also boot (L) a intrans To thrive, grow fat, to luxuriate in comfort and plenty b trans, to nourish, refresh, fatten 'Battening our flocks with the fresh dew of night' (Milton, 'Lyones', 29) batten (II), n & vb trans Variant of baton 1 n. Board or spar of timber from 2 to 6 inches wide, and from $\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 inches thick, used in flooring, and also to make firm the laths upon which plaster is laid 2 vb a To make firm with battens; b batten down, to fasten down securely, esp of the hatches in a ship, by nailing battens across battening, n [1 bát(e)ning, 2 bát(e)ning] Prec & -ing Woodwork consisting of battens nailed upon a frame batter (I), vb trans & intrans [1 bátr, 2 bátr] ME batteren, O Fr batre, Fr battre, Lat battuere, battuere, 'strike, beat', borrowed fr Celt bathu, 'strike' The genuine Lat forms of the base are seen in con fittere, lit 'strike down, check, repress', re fittere, 'restrain, repress', also in fatuus, 'stupid, foolish', lit 'struck silly', see fatuous The Aryan base was bhāu*, 'strike', vb occurs also in beat (I) 1 trans To beat, strike violently with repeated blows, with intent to injure, demolish, or make a loud noise to batter someone about the head, batter down, to batter a door, wall, down 2 intrans To batter at the door, make loud noise by striking batter (II), n fr prec A mixture of flour, eggs, and milk beaten up together and baked, baked, or fried batter (III), n, perh fr batter (I) (archit) a A slight slope inwards given to the walls of a tower, so that the circumference is smaller at the top than at the base, b a similar slope given to both sides of a wall in its construction, so that it is less thick at the top than at the base batter (IV), n bat (II) & -er Batsman at cricket battered, adj [1 báterd, 2 báterd], fr PP of batter (I) 1 (of persons) Rugged, weather-beaten, in appearance, showing effects of the stress of life 2 (of things) dilapidated, shabby, showing marks of wear and tear a battered top hat battering-ram, n [1 bátering rām, 2 báter-ij rām] 1 Military engine formerly used for knocking down walls, consisting of a large, heavily weighted beam, often with a head of iron moulded in the form of a ram's head, and swung between two supports or wheels 2 Any heavy object, such as a log or long pole, wielded and swung by several persons, for beating down a wall, a door &c battering-train, n [1 bátering trān, 2 báter-ij trān] (mil) Train of heavy artillery for a siege, now more often called siege train battery, n [1 báteri, 2 báteri] Fr batterie, fr batre, 'beat', see batter (I), & -ry 1 (law) Unlawful beating and assaulting of a person, esp in Phr assault and battery 2 (mil) a An artillery unit, consisting of a certain number of guns under a single command, including the officers, men, and am munition necessary for working the guns, b any group of guns on a warship 3 (elect) Group of cells in apparatus for generating an electric current bating, n [1 báting, 2 báting], fr bat (II) & -ing 1 Action of one who bats, as at cricket 2 Cotton, or cotton wool, in sheets for use in quilts &c battle (I), n [1 bátl, 2 bátl] ME battile, O Fr batoille, Lat battalia, battalia, 'fighting and fencing exercises of soldiers and gladiators' See batter (I) 1 A conflict, encounter, contest of arms, fighting, between opposing armies on land, between ships of war at sea, or between airships and aero planes in the air to win, lose, the battle (lit and fig) Phr half the battle, the advantage or better part in a discussion, cause &c 2 Extended from particular combats to war generally the light of battle, the love of battle is natural to all men 3 (fig) Struggle against moral forces, or against hardship, misfortune, fate &c the battle of life, the battle against sin battle (II), vb intrans, fr prec Op Fr bataillier, see prec To fight, struggle, 'con tend to battle with, against, the wind, opponents, misfortunes &c', to battle for the right, one's friends &c battle-array, n Order, line, of battle, equipment, armour &c battle-axe, n Heavy, long-handled axe, formerly an important weapon of offence battle-cruiser, n A large, fast, and heavily armed cruiser battle-cry, n 1 Word or cry used to rally troops round a leader, collect men of the same side in a fight, or to encourage soldiers to special efforts for a common cause 2 (fig) Phrase or word embodying or expressing a principle or ideal, and used by those who are combatting for a cause, slogan battledore, n [1 bátlidór, 2 bátlidór] ME bolydor, 'instrument for beating', prob fr Span batallador, 'a great warrior, champion' See battle & -tor 1 Wooden implement with a long handle and a flat round blade, shaped like a tennis racket, used for beating clothes that are being washed 2 Similarly shaped instrument, having the blade strung with cat-gut, or covered with stout parchment, used in the game of battledore and shuttlecock battle-field, n Locality, scene, of a battle, the place where a battle is being or has just been fought battle-ground, n Same as battle-field, also (fig) the cause for which men dispute, the subject of controversy battlement, n [1 bátlment, 2 bátlmant]

ME batelment, O Fr bataillement, op also O Fr bastiller, 'to fortify', see bastille See battle (I) & -ment, the first element was prob associated w the idea of 'building, or fortifying', as well as the closely connected one of 'combat', though the words, similar also in form, are quite distinct in origin A parapet on tower or wall, built with alternate open spaces and blocks of solid wall, originally for purposes of defence, later constructed as an ornamental feature battle-piece, n Painting of a battle battle royal, n A severely contested fight, (lit and fig) used of fight between game cocks, prize fighters, and of a general scrimmage, also of a heated argument between two disputants battle-ship, n Naval vessel, armed with guns and protected with armour-plates The name is now given specifically to a particular class of vessels, namely the largest and most powerfully armed, corresponding to the old ship of the line battue, n [1 báti, 2 bátji] Fr, lit 'beating' Op batter (I) a Beating of woods and covers for game, which are shot as they pass the guns, also b the game shot as a result of the process batz, n [1 bats, 2 bats], fr MHG peiz, beiz, 'a bear', the etymol of wh is obscure Small coin of low value bearing image of a bear, formerly struck in Berne, and current in Switzerland, now no longer in use bauble, n [1 báwl, 2 bóbl] ME bābel, fr O Fr baubel, 'toy', perh connected w habe 1 (arabac) Professional jester's stick or plaything, emblematic of his calling 2 a A trifling, glittering object of small intrinsic value, a gewgaw, b (contemptuous) earthly pomp, an emblem of human greatness, symbol of rank, wealth &c, regarded as transitory and worthless by the side of the infinite and eternal bandechein, n [1 báwdekin, 2 bádkin] In ME 'precious silk stuff', fr O Fr bande güm See baldachin, wh is fr the Ital form of same word baulk See balk

bauxite, n [1 báwksit, 2 bóksait], fr Les Baux, France, & -ite A clayey mineral, a hydrate of alumina, one of the chief sources of aluminium bawbee, n. [1 báwbé, 2 bábf] Etymol uncertain (Scots, colloq) A halfpenny bawd, n [1 báwd, 2 bádf] ME baude, 'pander, procurer', O Fr baude The ME adj has the less reprehensible meaning of 'joyous, boastful', & bauderie means 'gaiety, mirth', but also 'the act of a pander' The Fr word is borrowed fr Gmc bald*, bold. The word is now rare in English, and survives only in literary use, or as a deliberate archaism Still used in 17th and 18th cent Its meaning is procurer, sometimes prostitute bawdry, n [1 báwdri, 2 bádrí] See prec & -ry Obscenity, unchastity of conduct, lewdness Still used more widely than boud bawdy, adj [1 báwdi, 2 bádf] fr bawd & -y In ME boudi means simply 'dirty' Obscene, lewd, unchaste, esp of conversation bawdy talk, bawdy stories Hardly in popular use, but current among educated persons who deliberately adopt archaic and literary words bawdy-house, n A brothel bawl (I), vb intrans & trans [1 báwl, 2 bólf] Mod Icel boula, 'to low', ON baula, 'cow' It is almost inconceivable that this word shd be borrowed fr Mod Icel, & we must suppose that it was an old Scand. word. It is not recorded apparently in ME The relation of Mod Lat bavilare, 'bark as a dog', is obscure The latter may be a purely imitative word The word is now only used of human action 1 intrans a To utter loud, discordant cries, whether articulate as in weeping and lamentation, or articulate as in loud speech, the word always has a disparaging sense It is not generally used of shrill, high sounds, but is applied to the loud shouts of unruly children, the harsh, ugly sounds made by uncultivated persons in conversation shouted across some distance, in scolding, or in calling each other to bawl across the street, to bawl about the house, Phr to bawl and squall, to utter a series of loud, ugly noises and shouts in speaking or singing, to speak or sing unnecessarily loud, to speak or sing with effort and strain you needn't bawl, I can hear quite well, his delivery is very bad, he simply bawls 2 trans To utter loudly to bawl the news, 3 Followed by adverbs and prepositions To bawl at (a person), address him rudely with the voice raised, to bawl out, a intrans, to shout suddenly, call out, also b trans, to bawl out abuse.

bawl (II), n, fr proc A loud shout or cry bay (I), n [1 bā, 2 bō] Fr. baie, Low Lat. baia Etymol uncertain, but perh connected w Gmc base, baug*, bug*, 'bend', wh occurs in OE būgan, 'hond, bow', also in OE boga, 'bow' (for shooting arrows), bēag, 'ring' &c, op this base under bow (I) & (II), see also bight, 'bay'. Deep indentation of the land bordering on the sea or a lake, and forming an inlet for the water The land forms a curve round, and partly encloses, this portion of the water.

bay (II), n Fr. baie, O Fr. baie, 'an opening'. Connected w. bayer, 'gape', wh now survives only in Pres Part as adj béant, & P P (boucho) bé, 'gaping, yawning', op Ital badare, 'to open' 1 A principal division, or compartment, of a building, marked by some important feature, such as columns, pillars, pilasters, which divide up the building into regular portions 2 Recess in wall of a room See bay window 3 A part of a railway station consisting of a side line which forms a terminus, and a platform, separate from the main lines and platforms 4 Part of dock of ship where sick or wounded are placed sick-bay bay (III), vb intrans & trans, fr. earlier abaye, O Fr. abayer, 'to bark', Lat. ad- & baubari, 'to bark, howl' (of dogs) The Gk cognate is bauzan, 'bark, wail', lit 'to utter baw, bau', wh corresponds to our bow now The same imitative base occurs in Lith baubti, 'to low' a intrans To bark, esp continuously and with a deep note, as of hounds in full chase, b trans, as in Shakespeare's 'to bay the moon', is hardly current now bay (IV), n, fr proc Deep bark, esp as of a pack of hounds Phr at bay, adv, a said of hunted animal on which the hounds or hunters have gained, and which is obliged to face its foes and defend itself to the last, also (fig, of persons, nations) to be at bay, to be in desperate straits and compelled to carry on a fierce defence as a last chance, to keep someone or something at bay, to keep at arm's length, prevent from coming beyond a safe distance, to ward off to keep an enemy, a danger, a disease &c, at bay, to bring (an enemy &c) to bay, to reduce him to his last efforts of resistance, bring to account bay (V), adj & n Fr. bay, 'brown', of a horse, Lat. baduus, 'obscure brown', only of horses, op Ir buidé, 'yellow' 1 adj Of a reddish-brown colour, used only of horses 2 n. The bay, a fine bay &c, bay horse bay (VI), also bay tree, n [1 bā (trā), 2 bō (trā)] Fr. baie, fr Lat bacca, 'berry', see baecato 1 Species of laurel with leaves which are very aromatic when crushed 2 (pl) Bays, (fig) honours, rewards, fame, bestowed or gained in recognition of meritorious exploits, and achievements, from the garland of bay formerly bestowed upon a victor &c

Bayadère, n [1 bāyadār, 2 bāyadā] Fr. fr Port baïadère, 'ballot dancer', fr baïlar, 'to dance', see ballet A female dancer, esp one attached to a temple in Southern India

Bayard, n [1 bārd, 2 bārd] fr the name of a celebrated French warrior, the Chevalier Bayard (1476-1524) A very highly bred, chivalrous gentleman, of high courage and exquisite manners bayberry, n [1 bābəri, 2 bābəri] See bay (VI) A fruit of the bay tree, b West Indian myrtaceous tree bayonet, n & vb trans [1 bāonet, 2 bāonet], fr Fr baïonnette, prob fr Bayonna, where these weapons are said to have first been made The dialect forms baïonnet, baïnet can hardly be normal variants of Fr word, but are perh duo to association w baï, 'to out or back a hedge', & bagging hook, the hook used for this purpose 1 n A long dagger affixed to the muzzle of a rifle, and used in hand-to-hand fighting to charge with the bayonet, bayonet charge, charge of infantry with fixed bayonets, bayonet drill, military training and exercises in the offensive use of the bayonet in attack and defence Bayonets are sometimes made with a handle, so that they resemble a short sword, and can be used independently of the rifle, both for fighting and for cutting brushwood &c 2 vb To thrust with the bayonet at (an enemy), to kill with the bayonet bayou, n [1 bāyū, 2 bāyū], fr Amor-Ind, bayul. A sluggish, marshy, tideless inlet or creek, on the sea coast, or of a lake or river, in the southern states of the USA bay rum, n Aramaic liquid used in the toilet, distilled from West Indian bayberry bay-salt, n Perh fr bay (I) Coarse salt obtained by evaporation of sea water bay window, n Window built in a recess, or bay, in a room, projecting from outer wall, and usually having lights on three sides bazaar, n [1 bāzār, 2 bāzār], fr Pers bāzār, 'permanent market, or street of shops' The word is Arab & Turk, & has spread into most European languages 1 In the Oriental meaning when referring to the East 2 A large shop where a variety of fancy articles are on sale, a special department of a shop, e.g. a Christmas bazaar &c 3 A sale of articles of all kinds, presented to the organizers of the undertaking, but generally sold at prices rather exceeding their value, for some philanthropic object, e.g. to raise money for a church, a mission, a hospital &c The term is applied both to the sale itself and the building where it is held bdellium, n [1 dēllum, 2 dēllum] Through Lat, fr Gk bdellion, 'a fragrant gum', prob of Semitic origin 1 A substance mentioned in the Bible, Gen ii 12 and Num xi 7, and there variously understood to mean a resin or a precious stone 2 A gum resin obtained from various species of balsam trees be, vb intrans, copula, auxil [1 bē, 2 bē] In the conjugation of this vb three quite distinct bases are used, those seen respectively in be—been, am—is, was—were The etymol of these is doubt under the heading of each, that of the base be is dealt w bern In OE, in the pres indie, the sing forms bēon(n), bist, bip are used, & in the pl bēop These survive in ME, esp in the S & S Midl, as ich bē(o) &c, bist, bip, būp &c, & in pl bēn, bēp, būp &c At the present time be is only used in the pres in some provins (Sthn & S-W Midl) dialects The OE infin is bēon, ME bēn, been, bē The P P in OE has a form fr a different vb, ge-worðen, as a rule, but in ME idē(n), bē(n), whence our been The base is is used in the pres sing of vb 'to be', in OHG & Mod Geru bin, OS bim, & in Lat in various tenses fui, 'I have been', fueram, futurus &c The Balto-Slav languages also employ the same base Lith buti, 'to be', būtu, 'he was', O Slav bŭti, 'to be', bŭti, 'was', further Ir bŭth, 'to be', be, 'was', bud, 'will be' &c This base is seen also in Lat in the fut & imperf in -bo, -bam. The base blu-, bhŭ-, fr vb these are derived is widely spread throughout the Gmc & other Aryan languages, w the sense of 'remaining, dwelling', & so on

Op OE, OHG bŭan, ON bŭa, 'dwell', Gk phōman, 'I become, grow', phōtas, 'nature', see physio-, Sort bhavati, 'exists, happens', bhūmis, 'earth', Lith būtas, 'house', būliti, 'home, dwelling-place', Ir both, 'hut', op Scot bothie. 1 To exist, have existence, come to pass, happen 'whatever is, is right', I think, therefore I am, how can such things be?, the memory of what has been, and never more shall be, it was not to be 2 As auxiliary a (with P P of other vbs to form pass) the enemy were well beaten, the city was destroyed by the mob, I was deceived &c, (expressing futurity) 'Alan never is, but always to be, blest' (Pope), & (with Pres Part) to express (i) action, or process still going on, not yet complete, or continuous he was knocked down as he was crossing the street, I was talking to my son at the time, life is passing away, and we are doing nothing, as I write this the train is passing through the mountains, (ii) (with come and go, the latter followed by another vb, expressing intention of future action) I am coming home tomorrow, he is leaving next week, I am coming to see you today, I am going to write to him at once &c (see go) 3 As more copula joining subject and predicate a (expressing more relation, or indicating some quality and character) this man is the king, he is my father, trees are green, iron is hard, Alfred was king of all England, b (expressing identity) true contentment is real happiness, gold is the most precious metal, a straight line is one which lies evenly between its extreme points, 'Thou wert my guide, philosopher, and friend' (Pope) 4 To possess a certain value or price, to cost how much is this?, to what does it cost?, this one is half a crown. 5 To be equivalent to, to amount to, to be the cause of &c, to stand for, as a symbol to be the envy of all beholders, that will be the death of me, 'all the world's a stage' be-, pref OE be, weak form of bē (see by) As an independent pref OE be has the senses 'by, along, near (of place)', concerning, according to', as a pref it makes intrans vbs trans, & acts as intensifier In OHG both bē & bī exist, the latter used as a pref, as in Engl, in OS bē, bī, in Goth bī only is found, & is used there also in composition The base prob occurs in OE gynbe, 'around', OHG umbi, w wh compare Lat amb & Gk amphi, Sort abhi, 'about' See both Prefix, used to modify sense of verbs, or to make other words into verbs It has various functions, more than one of which sometimes are combined in the same verb Almost any verb might conceivably receive this prefix, and the same is true of almost any noun, but in practice, most of the verbs so made, which occur in the dictionaries, do not exist, except as fleeting literary, or popular colloquial creations The main functions of be- are 1 To make an intransitive verb transitive bemoan, betwile 2 To act as an intensifier, express thoroughness, completeness of action or process bespatter, besmire, bedeck (with flowers &c), bedebour 3 To form verbs from nouns The most commonly used forms of verbs so made are the past participles used as adjectives bewinged, bejewelled, beringed, bewhiskered &c beach (I), n [1 bēch, 2 bēch] Origin very doubtful Not found in O or ME It may be connected w OE bece, 'brook', wh is cogn w Gorm bach, 'brook, stream', OHG bah The Engl bece appears in Pl Ns, as -beach & -bach It appears improbable as that beach, if it be connected w this, is that beach, in its identical form, it may go derived fr a cogn w a different grade, OE bēok to a cogn w a different grade, OE bēok, 'margin', 'the bed, or margin by the side of a brook', thence, since this is often said of a brook', 'margin of pebbles, pebbles, coming to mean 'margin of a lake, or shingle by the side of water, of a lake, of the sea' This is purely conjectural, but not the sea' Thus is purely hypothetical OE bēok, impossible To this hypothetical OE bēok, the Gk pege, 'spring, source', wd be an exact equiv. op Pegasus Theshore by the margin of a lake, estuary, or of the sea, esp when composed of pebbles or sand. The word is most often used of the fringe of shingle between the edge of the sea and the land. Phr to be on the beach, to be hard up, ruined. For original meaning see beachcomber.

beach (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To run (ship, boat &c) on a beach, 2 to haul (boat &c) on to a beach.

beachcomber, n [1 béčbkómar, 2 bít/kóvme] beach & comber, in sense of wave (an Australian and Pacific Islands usage) a large, long wave rolling in from the ocean on to the beach, 2 (slang) a vagrant, loafer, who picks up a living somehow by haunting the shore and seaports of Pacific Islands, Australia &c. beachy, adj [1 béču, 2 bít/i] beach (I) & -y. Covered with beach, like a beach, pebbly and sandy.

beacon (I), n [1 békan, 2 bíkən] OE bēac(e)n, 'sign, token', also 'banner', ME beeke. The certain cognates in other Gmc languages are O Frs bēn, OS bēkan, OHG pouhhan. Beyond this the etymology seems not to have been carried, so far. We have here a Gmc base bauk*, for wh we may confidently reconstruct an Aryan predecessor bhaug*, wh wd have also the grades bheug*, bhūg*. Such a base appears in Gh phéugō, 'flee', phūza (fr phug ja*), 'bead long flight, ront', Lat fugire, 'flee', fuga, 'flight'. With these the etymologists connect Latb bugis, 'terrify', bugula, 'frightful' &c (See the prob related Gmc base brug*, būg* & under light, bow (I & II), where the development of meaning has gone on quite different lines). The base bheug* then seems to have the sense of running away fr something wh frightens one. It is now suggested that the base in Gmc came to mean 'fear of something dangerous, danger, sign of danger, warning', then, 'a sign or token' generally. Cp also beacon 2. A prominent object or landmark, such as a tower, or clump of trees on a hill. e.g. Crowthorough Beacon, in Sussex. 2. Specul., a lighthouse or beacon fire. 3. (fig) A warning, summons, call to action in support of a cause &c.

beacon (II), vb intrans, fr prec To act as a beacon, to warn, give notice, summon, encourage: 'The soul of Adonals like a star, Beacons from the abode where the eternal are' (Shelley, 'Adonals', iv).

beacon fire, light, n. One lighted as a warning, or to notify that some hoped for event has happened.

bead (I), n [1 bēd, 2 bíd] OE ge bed, 'prayer', ME bēde(s), 'prayer(s)', also 'beads', O Frs bēde, OS bēda, OHG bēta, Goth bīda. The OE vb is biddan (reflex), 'pray', fr bēd jan*. It has been proposed to equate w this base Sort biddhāt, 'compels, presses, urges'. The base apparently means 'urge with entreaties, importune with demands, beg and pray'. See also bid (I). The Mod Engl meaning of bead is an interesting case of transference fr the prayer itself to the small round objects on a string (rosary), used to help illiterate persons to remember how many prayers they had uttered, & wh particular prayer had been reached. 1. Small globular object of glass, wood &c, pierced so that it can be threaded on a wire or string. glass beads, pearl beads &c. To tell one's beads, make use of rosary, therefore to say one's prayers, though this is secondary, and the old meaning is lost in a direct application, draw a bead on something, to take aim. 2. Small round drop of moisture. beads of sweat, blood, pus &c. 3. (archit.) Small semicircular moulding, same as astragal, moulding in Norman work resembling a row of beads. 4. (in pl.) Prayers (obs). Still used in certain public schools, apparently without any reference to 'beads' in modern sense. Often spelt bēde. The old sense survives vaguely in bead roll, list of persons whose memory is kept in mind, originally list of those whose souls were prayed for, beadman, person receiving charity, originally one who was bound to pray for his benefactors.

bead (II), vb, fr prec 1 To cover, bedeck, with beads, as embroidery &c. 2 To say one's prayers, still, or until recently, used in special school slang at Charterhouse.

beaded, adj [1 bēded, 2 bīded] Having, provided with, beset with, beads, beadlike in shape. 'With beaded bubbles twinkling at the brim' (Keats).

beading, n [1 bēding, 2 bīding] bead (I) & -ing (archit.) Moulding, wooden strip applied as a finish to a frieze on the walls of buildings.

beadle, n [1 bēdl, 2 bīdl] OE bydel, S Eastern bedel, 'messenger, herald', ME budēl, bēdel, OHG būtil. The word is formed fr the grade bud- of base seen in OE bēdon, 'announce', OHG bōtan, Gtth -būdon. (This vb has been confused w biddan, the meaning of wh it has influenced Cp bīd.) Cogn w Gmc bēud-, būd, fr Aryan bheudh-, bhūd, are Gh peuthomas, 'ask, inquire, learn by asking', aor e puth omēn, op peuthō, 'tiding, news', O Slav budeti, 'wake, watch', Sort bōdhat, 'he watches, pays attention, considers', buddhit, 'perception' &c. A subordinate parish officer, now obsolete, who acted as official for the vestry in relief of the poor, also kept order in churches &c. Cp bumble, & see also bedell.

beadiedom, n [1 bēddidm, 2 bīddidm] Preo & -dom. Fussy, stupid interference of subordinate officials, bumbledom.

bead-roll, beadsman. See note at end of bead (I).

beady, adj [1 bēdi, 2 bīdi] bead (I) & -y. Bead like, esp. beady eyes, small, bright, round, and slightly prominent.

beagle, n [1 bēgl, 2 bīgl] ME begle, of O Fr origin, etymol obscure. A small, short-legged, smooth coated hound, used chiefly for hunting hares when those who take part follow the hunt on foot and not on horse back. a pack of beagles.

beagling, n [1 bēgling, 2 bīgling] Preo & -ing. The sport of hunting hares with beagles.

beak, n [1 bēk, 2 bīk] fr Fr bec, fr Lat beccus, said by Suetonius to be of Celt origin. 1. The horny projections from the mouths of birds, corresponding to the lips in mammals, the bill or nib of a bird. 2. A human nose which is hooked and prominent. 3. (by extension) Applied occasionally to the projecting portion of various objects, e.g. the rostrum of an ancient galley, ram of a war ship, the mouthpiece of a flute &c. 4. (colloq.) A magistrate. to be brought before the beak, b. (schoolboy slang), a schoolmaster, esp the headmaster.

beaked, adj [1 bēkt, 2 bīkt] Preo & -ed. Having, provided with, a beak (of birds), (also of land, rock &c) jutting out. beaked promontory.

beaker, n [1 bēker, 2 bīker] The late 16th cent biker, 'drinking cup' &c, cannot be the ancestor of present day form wh must go back to ME (Nthn ?) bēker*, wh, however, is not recorded, or, as seems more probable, to Du beeker. The word is found in most Gmc languages, OHG behar, Germ becher, ON bjarr, wh is the starting point of the only recorded early Mod Engl form. The word is clearly a loan word in Gmc & must be related to L Lat bezar, 'wine vessel, wine-glass', & baccus, 'vessel with a long handle, ladle'. The Ital bicchere is certainly related to this, but more closely resembles Gh bikos, 'wine-jar'. The origin of this is obscure. N. Goblet, onp, drinking-vessel, beaker folk, round beaked race which introduced round barrows and a knowledge of metal into Great Britain at the end of the Neolithic period, their culture being typified by a specific kind of beaker, b contents of such a vessel (gen poet) 'O for a beaker full of the warm South, Full of the true, the blushing Hippocrene' (Keats, 'Nightingale').

beaky, adj [1 bēki, 2 bīki] beak & -y. Like a beak, said esp in reference to a human nose which is hooked or prominent.

beam (I), n [1 bēm, 2 bīm] OE bēam, ME bēme, 'tree, beam (of wood), column of light', ME bēmes, 'beams of light', O Frs bām, OHG baum, OS bōm, Dn boom, 'tree'. It is certain that the W Gmc base was baum*, whether Goth bagms & ON baðm, 'tree', are fr the same orig, & if so, how their forms are to be accounted for, does not concern us here. The Aryan base, whence the W Gmc type was derived, must have been bheum*, bhoum*, bhum* &c, corresponding to Gh phuma, 'swelling, tumour, growth upon the body', ht. 'that which grows, is put forth', fr the base phu-* (Aryan bhu*), 'to become, produce' &c, seen in Gh phutan, 'to bring forth, engender', phuss, 'nature' &c, this is believed to be identical w bheu-* & dissonant under be. The common orig meaning of the W Gmc base is undoubtedly 'tree', whence in Engl considerable differentiation of meaning has taken place. The specific meaning 'tree' appears to be a specialized limitation of the earlier meaning 'growth'. The development of meaning in Engl is interesting. Tree, then, roughly bawn trunk, a large piece of timber used in building &c. From this meaning has branched off, at an early date, that of 'a pillar, column of fire, or light'. It seems strange at first sight that the name of so solid an object as a beam shd be transferred to light, but cp ray, fr Fr rais, Lat radius, 'staff', & shaft, orig a 'pole, handle' &c, for smaller streams of light. Already in OE we get sunnebeam, 'sunbeam', & the compound lēhtbēamede, adj, 'having beams of light'. The OE bēme, 'trumpet', is usually connected w bēam, & the meaning of this may possibly be, as seems to be gen assumed, 'a wooden thing', but this is not very convincing. Bēme may mean orig 'the instrument which sends forth "beams" of sound', peals as we shd say. In OE the same word is often applied both to sight & sound, op sunofol, 'clear', both 'bright' of light & other visible things, & 'ringing, echoing', of voices, sounds &c, cp further hador, wh means both 'bright, shining', & 'clear, resonant' of voices &c. 1. A thick piece of timber, esp one of the principal horizontal timbers in a building or a ship. Hence, 2, the extreme breadth of a vessel at widest part. Also (fig) of animals, and (colloq) of persons. broad in the beam. Phr to be on one's beam-ends, helpless. 3. Various special uses. A bar of a balance, from ends of which the scales depend, b wooden cylinder forming part of weaving loom, o pole of a two-horse carriage or wagon, on and to either side of which the horses are harnessed (arabac), d part of a plough to which the share and coulter are attached, and by which it is drawn, e long quill in wing of a hawk, beam feather, f main stem of stag's horn. 4. A shaft, ray or stream of light, generally also of the sun, moon, stars, b (in wireless telegraphy and telephony) system which uses low power and short wave, using reflectors to direct and increase the strength of the signals. the beam system, c (fig) a cheerful, kindly glance, goodness and kindness exhibited in looks and expression of countenance, or felt as an influence exerted. the beams of a smile, to enjoy the beams of o person's kindness, charity &c.

beam (II), vb intrans, fr prec 1 To shine, shed light, esp poetical and literary. 2 (fig) To smile happily and benevolently, to wear an expression of cheerful content and benevolence. he said nothing, but merely sat and beamed, to beam upon a person.

beauties, she has many beauties of mind and person, the landscapes had a beauty all its own; 'Paradise Lost' contains a thousand beauties 3 a A beautiful person, esp of a woman she was very attractive, but hardly a beauty; the pages of Grammont mention many once famous but now long-forgotten beauties, b used colloquially, in irony, in reference to a person who is the reverse of beautiful, or with whom the speaker is annoyed she's a regular beauty, isn't she, well, you are a beauty, you've lost me the game, c used jocularly, and affectionately in addressing persons and animals (esp dogs and horses) come along, my beauties beauty sleep, n Sleep before midnight, popularly supposed to be especially beneficial beauty spot, n Small patch of black plaster stuck on face to enhance, by contrast, the freshness of the complexion.

beaver (I), n [1 bēvər, 2. bīvə] O E beofor (fr bifur*), O.H.G. bibar, O.N. bjǫrr, Du. baver, cogn. w. Lat. fiber, O Slav. běbrŭ, Lith. bėbrus, Sort. babhrūs, 'brown', then 'larger ichneumon' The Aryan base bhru-* meant 'brown', the word bhru-*, 'beaver', is simply a reduplication of this, beaver, therefore, is 'the brown animal' beaver (II) & brown 1 A large rodent, genus Oastor, with a flat scaly tail, living in kind of huts, or 'lodges', which it constructs in streams, found in Europe and America. 2 a The fur of the beaver 'trimmed with beaver'; b originally this was used for making what are now called top hats, and the word was transferred to designate a hat of this kind, also beaver-hat (already in Chaucer) beaver (II), n Late 15th cent. bawers, fr. identical O Fr. form, lit. 'a bib', something to catch saliva, O Fr. & Mod. Fr. bave, 'saliva, foam from an animal's mouth', etymol. unknown (obs.) Lower, movable part of a helmet, protecting the chin and lips, worn with a vizor. 'O yes, my lord, he wore his beaver up' (Shakespeare, 'Hamlet') becalm, vb trans [1 bekalm, 2 bikalm] See be- & calm. Now chiefly in pass, w. P.P. becalmed, of a ship, deprived of wind and unable to make progress by sailing became, vb [1 bekām, 2. bekām] Pret. of become, see come because, adv [1 bekōz, 2 bikōz], fr. be- & wk form of by, & cause For the reason that he does it because he thinks it right, not because he likes doing it, because of, on account of, owing to beccafico, n [1. bekafēko, 2. bekafikou] Ital. lit. 'fig pecker', fr. beccare, 'to peck', fr. becca, 'beak', fr. Lat. beccus, see beak, & fico, see fig The name given to various small antumnal migrant birds, haunting fig trees and vineyards, netted for food and esteemed a great delicacy, specif., a kind of garden warbler, cp. ortolan bechamel, n [1 bechamel, 2. bēfamel] Fr., name of its inventor A rich white sauce bechance, vb [1 bechāns, 2. bēfāns] See be- & chance To happen, come about bêche-de-mer, n [1 bēshdemār; 2. bēfādemār] Fr. corrupt of Port. bicho do mar, 'sea slug'. The sea slug, trepang, a favourite Chinese dish beck (I), n. [1 bek, 2 bek], fr. obs. vb, shortened form of beekon A nod, sign made with the hand in greeting &c. 'Nods and becks and wreathed smiles' (Milton, 'L'Allegro') Phr. to be at a person's beck and call, to be constantly liable to come and go at his bidding beck (II), n, fr. O.N. bekkr Prob. cogn. w. beach Small stream, chiefly Nthn becket, n [1 beket, 2. bēket] Etymol. doubtful, prob. fr. Du. beek, 'beak', w. dimin. suff. -et (naut.) Name of various devices, such as a ring or loop of rope, for securing loose ends of rope, tackle &c.

beekon, vb trans & intrans [1 bekun, 2. bēkan] O.E. bēacnian, 'make signs, point out' Cp. beacon To make a sign with hand or finger to (a person), consisting of a rapid sweeping motion inwards, usually indicating a summons to approach becloud, vb. trans [1 bekloūd, 2. bikloūd] be- & cloud To dim, make dark, obscure, overshadow Often fig. of the eyes, the mind, or intelligence become, vb intrans & trans [1 bikām, 2. bikām] be- & come A. intrans 1 To pass from one state, condition, or set of circumstances, into another he became stupid as he grew old, he became king on his father's death, what was formerly a secondary matter, now becomes one of the highest importance 2 To happen to, befall (followed by of) what will become of the children left unprotected for? Special use (colloq.) 'What's become of Waring?' (Browning), where is he? B. intrans To besee, besit, suit, sit well upon it does not become me to speak on such a subject, his modesty became tell so great a man, this style of dress becomes you very well becoming (I), adj [1 bikūmīng, 2. bikāmīng], fr. Pres. Part. of prec. Suitable, appropriate, befitting, a (of conduct and action) it is not at all becoming in a man to speak with disrespect of his friend, b (of personal dress) specially suitable for a particular person, as setting off his or her personal advantages she wore a most becoming hat becoming (II), n become & -ing A coming into existence, or life, the beginning of the process of any kind of development, chiefly used in philosophy, perhaps as a translation of the German phrase Werden und Vergehen, lit. becoming and passing away becomingly, adv becoming (I) & -ly. In a becoming manner bed (I), n [1 bed, 2 bēd] O.E. bedd, O.H.G. beti, bedi, Goth. bedi, 'bed' The O.E. word is used not only in sense of 'couch', but also, in compounds, in that of 'garden bed, place where plants grow', cp. wyrt bedd, 'bed of plants or vegetables', hrōd bedd, 'reed-bed', in Germ. also, beet, variant of bett, means 'garden bed' This sense is apparently rather nearer than that of 'couch' to the primitive meaning, wh. seems to be 'place dug, or hollowed out' Lat. fodis has senses 'dig' & 'pierce, prick, stab', the first meaning being derived apparently fr. the idea of thrusting a spade into the ground Other Aryan languages employ the base sometimes in sense of 'prick, pierce', sometimes in that of 'dig, a place dug out, grave' &c., Lith. bedi, 'dig, hollow out', Lett. bedi, 'bury', bedre, 'pit, hollow', bedi, 'hollow out, bury', further Lith. bedyti, 'pierce, prick', O Slav. bosh, 'prick', bediti, 'thorn', Welsh bedd means 'grave', cp. Place Names such as Beddellert, Gh. bēthres, 'hollow', may be fr. same base but this is not certain The development of meaning of the n in Gmc. may have been 'place dug, scratched or hollowed out', whence the specialized meanings a place hollowed out by an animal to lie down in, a lair—this is extended to mean 'human resting-place'; b 'place where ground is dug up, or naturally broken up, in wh. plants grow' Thus a bed was originally a very primitive form of resting-place 1 A piece of furniture upon which human beings sleep or rest, applied generally to the article with all its parts, both the mattress and the wooden or iron frame which supports it Phrs. to be brought to bed (of), give birth to (a child), go to bed, retire for the night, enter one's bed, take to one's bed, remain in bed, from illness &c., to be too fond of one's bed, lazy, stay, lie in bed, bed of roses, easy, pleasant position, bed of sickness, die in one's bed, natural death 2 More specif., mattress feather bed, flock bed 3 Anything used as a resting-place for men or animals bed of straw, hay, leaves &c. Fig. Phr. as you make your bed, so you must lie upon it, you are responsible for your own misfortunes, & (fig.) The grave 'The cock's shrill clarion nor the echoing horn No more shall rouse them from their lovely bed' (Gray) 5 (fig.) The marriage state, condition of intimate relations between man and woman (gen. preceded by poss. pron.) 'I bed (II), vb trans, fr. prec. To place in a bed. 1 Virtually obsolete in sense of putting to bed 2 a To plant out flowers or plants of any kind in a bed (often with out) to bed out geraniums, b to lay anything on a bed to bed stones, bricks &c. in mortar &c.

Divorced old barren Reason from my bed, And took the daughter of the vine to spouse' (FitzGerald, 'Omar Khayyām'), the king banished his wife from his bed, separated from her, broke off cohabitation 6 Large mass of matter, collection of objects (stones &c.) closely packed together bed of clay, the river, ocean bed, ground underneath the water, bed of rock, gravel &c. 7 Piece of ground dug and prepared for planting, or naturally forming suitable spot in which trees and plants grow flower bed, onion bed, bed of peas, bed of rushes, nettles &c., withy bed 8 Foundation of solid substance upon which buildings, machines &c. are fixed, layer or course bed of masonry, mortar &c.

bedaub, vb trans [1 bedāwb, 2. bēdāwb], fr. be- & daub To daub or splash with moisture or filth bed-chamber, n bed & chamber Bedroom, arched or obs., except in title of certain officials of the Royal Household, as Groom, Lady, of the Bed chamber bed-clothes, n bed & clothes Sheets, pillows, blankets &c. for a bed bedding, n [1 bēding, 2. bēdīng] bed (I) & -ing Bed and bed clothes, materials, straw or litter, from which a domestic animal's bed is made bedeck, vb trans [1 bedēk, 2. bēdēk] be- & deck (I) To cover with, ornament, trick out, bedizen bedeck with flowers, jewels &c. (of persons), bedeck with flags (of buildings) bedegar, -gar, n [1. bēdegār, 2. bēdīgār] Fr. bédégear, fr. Pers. bādāgar, 'brought by the wind' A mossy growth on the stems of rose-bushes, caused by a gall insect bedell, n [1 bēdēl, 2. bēdēl], fr. Lat. bedellus See beadle A university officer, whose duties are to attend the chancellor or vice-chancellor and carry the mace in procession Esquire Bedell bedesman See beadsman bedevil, vb trans [1 bēdēvil, 2. bēdēvil] be- & devil To play havoc with, throw into confusion (of mind or circumstances), to bewitch, play the devil with bedew, vb trans [1 bēdā, 2. bēdāj] be- & dew To sprinkle with dew, (by extension and fig.) to sprinkle with, or cause drops of moisture of any kind to appear on eyes bedewed with tears bedfellow, n [1 bēdfēlo, 2. bēdfēlou] bed (I) & fellow a One who shares a bed with another, a wife, b (fig.) one who is associated with another by circumstances, Phr. an awkward bedfellow, a person difficult to live with, or to have to deal with in association, a strange bedfellow, an associate whom one would not expect to have owing to difference of tastes, habits, character &c. bedight, adj [1 bēdit, 2. bēdait], fr. P.P. of obs. vb 'to adorn, deck' See be- & dight (rare and archaic) Adorned (with) bedim, vb trans [1. bēdim, 2. bēdim] be- & dim To make dim, esp. of eyes, sight &c., to cloud, make obscure the vision eyes bedimmed with tears &c.

bedizen, vb trans [1 bēdīzn, 2. bēdīzn] be- & dizen To trick out, generally with tawdry, flashy ornaments, to cover to excess with ornaments, jewels &c.; (said of persons, usually reflex): bedizen oneself with, (or in P.P.) bedizened with &c. bedlam, n [1 bēdlām, 2. bēdlām] Old form of Belekeham, found in late M.E. 1 a (esp.) Originally a hospital, that of St. Mary of Bethlehem, London, in which, later, mad people were confined, b a madhouse 2 Now only used figuratively in sense of a state of affairs, confusion, noise &c resembling the supposed condition of a madhouse a regular bedlam, fit for bedlam (more literal here) bedlamite, n [1 bédlamit, 2 bédlamit] Free & -ito Madmen, lunatic Bedlington terrier, n [1 bédlington térier, 2 bédlington téria], fr Bedlington, village in Northumberland, where first bred. A breed of rough haired sporting terrier bedouin, n & adj [1 bédouin, 2 bédouin] fr, fr Arab badawin, 'dwellers in the desert', fr badu, 'desert' 1 n (sing & pl) A nomad Arab of the desert 2 adj Of, belonging to, the nomad Arabs bedraggle, vb trans [1 bédragl, 2 bédragl] be- & draggle To drag through the mire, make filthy, to make untidy (of one's dress, as though with much hard wear) she looked rather bedraggled bedridden, adj [1 bédridn, 2 bédridn]. O E bedrida, reda, 'one bedridden', lit a 'bed rider', now felt as PP Cp hay-ridden Compelled by illness and infirmity to remain permanently in bed bedrock, n [1 bédro:k, 2 bédro:k] bed (I) & rock A The bottom layer of rock, lying below superficial formations, b (fig) funda- mental principles Phr to get down to bedrock bedroom, n [1 bédroom, 2 bédroom] bed & room Room containing a bed, sleeping apartment bedside, n [1 bédaid, 2 bédaid] bed (I) & side 1 Side or neighbourhood of a bed to keep books at one's bedside 2 (fig) Of attend- ance on a sick person to watch, be, sit d.o at or by a person's bedside, to be near, attentive to his wants &c, bedside manner, one combining gentleness, sympathy, and cheerfulness suit- able to a person in attendance on invalids to have a good bedside manner, and of doctors, also (sarcastically) of those whose manners are exaggeratedly ingratiating bed-sore, n bed (I) & sore A sore on the back or other parts of the body subject to pressure, caused by long lying in bed bedstead, n [1 bédsted, 2 bédsted] bed (I) & stead Frame of wood or iron which supports bed and its appurtenances bedstraw, n [1 bédstraw, 2 bédstraw] bed (I) & straw Popular name of several plants of the genus Galium, esp Lady's bedstraw, with yellow flowers, and hedge bedstraw, with white flowers, the stalks when dry were formerly used for bedding, whence the name bedtime, n [1 bédtim, 2 bédtim] bed (I) & time Hour for retiring to bed it is past bedtime, usual, habitual, hour for going to bed my bedtime is 11 o'clock bee, n [1 bi, 2 bi] O E bēa, ME bee, O H G bīa, bi, n, Germ bi, ne, O Swed bī Outside Gmc, cognates are Lat ficus, 'drone, male of honey bee', for bhos* las, Lith bi š, Ir bech (w ko suff like ficus) Beyond this the relationships are uncertain It has been suggested, on the one hand, that bee is connected w the base bhis*, 'tremble, fear', wh appears in O E beofan, 'quake', O H G brēn, O Slav bęa, 'I am afraid', Serb bibeti, 'he is afraid', wh wd imply that the bee was orig thought of as the trem- bling, fitting creature, &, on the other, that it is named, fr its habit of constructing nests, fr the base bheu*, 'remain, dwell, make a dwelling', in sense of 'build' as in Germ bauen, in this case the bee is 'the builder' Cp under be for more information about bheu*, & under wasp, 'the weaver', for example of an insect named after its constructive habits 1 Small, flying, hum- ming insect with four wings, six legs, and a formidable stang, which gathers honey from flowers and stores it in wax combs, genus Apis Phrs buzzy as a bee, to swarm like bees, to be very numerous, to have a bee in one's bonnet, to be obsessed with an idea, esp a fad, to be slightly mad, like a bee in a bottle, of a buzzing noise 2 Collection of persons who meet together for pursuit of common purpose, such as a competition, or work of charity Never much used in England except in term spelling bee, a word now as obsolete as the institution bee bread, n Substance made of pollen of flowers, collected by bees for feeding the young brood beech, n [1 hēch, 2 bīt] O E bēte, 'beech tree', also bēc, bēc treō (unmutated) (op buck in buckmast, buckwheat), O H G buchha, Germ buche (fem), O N bōt With this, Lat fagus, 'beech', & Gk phēgos, phāgos, 'oak with edible acorns' are cogn The name of the tree goes back to Aryan times, hnt it was applied by different peoples to different trees It is tempting, in view of the Gk use, to connect the name of the tree w Gk phagēn, 'to eat' (cogn w Serb bhogati, 'he divides out', bhātam, 'portion of food', bhogat, 'lord and master', lit 'one who gives out food', cp lord & lady, & see -phagous), in wh case the beech wd be the 'tree with edible fruit' This, however, is now considered uncertain After all, there are several other trees wh have a more generally edible fruit than either the oak or the beech Tree of genus Fagus beechen, adj [1 bēchen, 2 bītchen] O E bēcen (hall), 'beech wood', op Lat fāginus, adj fr fāgus, Gk phēgēnos These show adj suff -ino, cogn w O E in Pertaining to the beech tree beechen wood (now more or less obs), made of wood of beech tree beechmast, buckmast, n [1 hēchmahst, bīk mahst, 2 bītāmst, bīkāmst] beech & mast Fruit, nuts, of the beech tree bee-eater, n Name of a family, Meropidae, of small, brightly plumaged birds of Southern Europe, which feed on bees, wasps, and other flying insects beef, n [1 bēf, 2 hīf] ME beef, beef &c, O Fr boef, boef, fr Lat bovem, acc of bōs, 'ox' For etymol of this, see cow, w wh it is cogn, & bovine 1 Formerly used of a living ox (pl beefs), now only used for carcase and flesh of an ox or cow considered as food, by extension also horse beef, horse- flesh as food 2 (fig and colloq) a Flesh generally, esp when redundant Phr beef to the heels, plump to excess, b hence, with transference of meaning, strength, vigour, muscle to put too much beef into a stroke, of tennis, billiards &c beefsteak, n [1 bēfsteik, 2 hīfsteik], fr beef & eater One of the Yeomen of the Guard The former ingenious derivation, fr beaufsteak, 'one who waited at the king's sideboard', is now given up, there never was the slightest historical or linguistic evidence in its favour The word means what it seems to mean Why it was applied to the Yeomen of the Guard is not known, unless Dr Johnson was right in saying 'because the commons is beef when on waiting' The name may be a rather derisive nickname suggesting that the yeo- men were well fed, and with the implication, perhaps, that eating was the chief part of their duties The function of this body was formerly to protect the king's person, they are now purely ceremonial beefiness, n [1 bēfines, 2 bīfines] See beefy & -ness The quality of being beefy beefing, n [1 bēfing, 2 bīfing], fr beef & -ing Name comes from deep red colour A kind of apple, also in variant form biffin Herefordshire, Xorshire, beefing beefsteak, n [1 bēfsteik, 2 bīfsteik] Thick slice of beef beef-tea, n [1 bēf tē, 2 bīf tē] Strong broth made from beef beefwood, n [1 hēfwood, 2 bīfwood] beef & wood Species of tree found in tropical countries, having slender, drooping, jointed branches and no leaves, it produces a very hard, red coloured timber, whence its name beefy, adj [1 bēf, 2 bīf] beef & -y Well covered with flesh, stout, also strong, vigorous bee hive, n bee & hive Straw or wooden structure in which domesticated bees live and store their honey bee-line, n bee & line A straight, direct line, shortest line between two points, as bee flies

Beelzebub, n [1 hēlēzəbuh, 2 bēlēzəbuh] Lat, fr Gk Beelzeboub, fr Heb Baal zebub, 'the lord or Baal of the flies', a Philistine deity (in New Testament) The Devil, Satan been, vb [1 bēn, 2 hīn] PP of be O E bēon, ME bēn bee orchis, n bee & orchis Species of orchis, whose flower bears a resemblance to a bee beer, n [1 hēr, 2 hīr] O E bēor, O H G bior, Germ bier, O N bjōrr, Fr biere is borrowed fr M H G bier There is a Gmc word for 'harley' wh appears in O E as bēow, wh is prob connected, in wh case beer was orig 'borley drink' Well known fermented drink of malted harley, hops, and water, of variable character, strength, quality, and colour, also of other fermented drinks, as ginger beer &c Small beer, very thin beer, (fig) anything trifling and unimportant Phr to think no small beer of oneself, have a very good conceit of oneself beer-engine, n Apparatus for drawing beer from the barrel in the cellar to tap in the bar of a public house, worked by a lever or beer-pull beerhouse, n [1 bērhous, 2 hīshaus] Public house licensed for sale of beer, hnt not of spirits or wines beer money, n Allowance paid to servants in lieu of supplying them with beer beery, adj [1 bēri, 2 bīri] beer & -y Like beer in taste or smell, suggesting influence of beer, (of persons) slightly drunk or bemused beestings, beestings, n pl [1 hēstingz, 2 hīstingz] O E beasting, fr bēost, 'first milk of cow after calving', O H G bīost, Germ beist, bīestmilk, cp Goth bēist, 'leaven, yeast' The last mentioned is certainly connected w Goth bēstan, bite &c, & bitter, but it is difficult, on account of the vowels, to connect it w the O E & O H G words The etymol is uncertain First milk of a cow after she has calved beesty, n See bheesty bee's wax, n [1 bēzwaks, 2 hīzwaks] Wax secreted by bees for making the honeycombs, used for various purposes, such as making candles, polishing and preserving wood &c beeswing, n [1 bēzwing, 2 hīzwing] bee & wing Thin crust formed on wine, esp port, after being long in bottle beet, n [1 bēt, 2 hīt] O E bēte, borrowed fr Lat bēta, 'beet', whence Fr bette rare, the O H G bēza, 'beetroot', is also an early loan-word fr Lat, etymol of the latter is unexplained, the word bēza, 'mangold wurzel', exists in Little Russ Name of a plant of two kinds, one with a red, sweetish root, used as a vegetable, in salads &c, the other with white root, used for making sugar, beet sugar, belonging to family known as Chenopodiaceae beetle (I), n [1 bētl, 2 bīt] O E butel, 'beetle', ME bētel, it seems certain that the word is fr the base bī, one of the forms of O E base bītan, 'bite', w the derivative suff -it, q v under -el, the beetle is there- fore 'the biting insect' See bite (I) Member of the order Coleoptera, of insects, some with wings, others wingless, with a hard scaly covering, of which there are a large number of varieties Applied also to insects which resemble, hnt are not properly beetles, as the black beetle or cockroach Phr blind as a beetle, beetle blind, very blind beetle (II), adj & vb intrans Suggested relation to beetle (I) seems very improbable Beetle-browed already in ME 1 adj Projecting, overhanging, esp of eyebrows beetle-browed 2 vb To project, overhang (of eyebrows and shins, used esp in Pres. Part) beetling cliffs, brow beetle (III), n [1 bétl, bítl; 2 bítl, bítl] O E biel, 'mallet'. This word is derived fr an earlier bēat*, lit 'a beater', the base being that of O E bēatan, 'beat'. See beat (I). A heavy wooden mallet with a long handle, used for driving wedges into thick pieces of timber in splitting it.

bestroot, n [1 bētrōt, 2 bītrūt] best & root. Root of the beel, a more general name than the uncompound word, esp as used in salads.

best sugar, n best & sugar. Sugar made from the white best.

bestall, vb trans & trans [1 befāwl, 2 bīfāl] O E beſellan, 'fall into' (a habit), the mod word perh is not a direct descendant of O E word, but a later formation, fr be- & fall (I), with different sense, associated w 'fall out' in sense of 'happen'. To happen, happen to, turn out, come to pass. I fear some evil will befall, a strange fate befell him.

besit, vb trans [1 beſit, 2 biſit] See be- & fit (III). To suit, be fitting for, be seemly.

besitting, adj [1 beſitting, 2 biſitting] Pres Part of besit. Suitable, seemly, well adapted to the circumstances.

besittingly, adv Pres & -ly In a suitable, 'fitting manner'.

befog, vb trans [1 befōg, 2 biſōg] See be- & fog. To surround with fog, (gen fig) a to obscure, make confused (a subject, explanation &c), b to puzzle, render muddled (persons).

befool, vb trans [1 befōl, 2 biſōl] be- & fool (I). To make a fool of, deceive, dupe, cheat.

before, prep & adv [1 befōr, 2 biſō] O E beſoran, 'in front of (order and place)', in presence of, anterior to (in time), ME bi-, before(n), fr be- & common Gmc for, q v under fore & former. 1 Expresses a precedence in order among a number of persons or objects, b position and place, c time a Order, coming earlier than someone or something else, proceeding in order. *King Richard reigned immediately before King John, Colonel X was given seniority in the service just before Colonel Y, to be before others in class (at school), (fig) referring to assumed order of merit as a poet Chaucer was before all his English contemporaries, i.e. excelled, was superior to, b place, position, in front of, opposite to a tree stands before the door of the house, 'The singers go before, the minstrels follow after', he sat just before me in church, 'a dainty dish to set before a king', (fig) of events, life &c, still to come, not yet reached 'The world was all before them where to choose Their place of rest' (Milton), his whole life is before him, Phr before the mast, as a common sailor, to sail before the wind, with wind behind, c time, anterior, antecedent, to, preceding, earlier he died before I was born, before Christ Phrs and special uses before long, soon, immediately, before now, earlier than the present moment, to be before one's time, or age, to have larger, clearer ideas than, superiority of insight compared with, one's contemporaries. 2 In the presence of, face to face with to stand before kings, to walk humbly before God, to speak out before everyone, publicly, to be brought before a magistrate Phrs (of a question, subject &c), to be before the meeting, the House (of Lords or Commons), to be under discussion, or capable of discussion, before one's (very) eyes, under one's observation, before one's face, openly, without secrecy.*

beforehand, adv [1 befōrhand, 2 biſōhand] Pres & hand Prior to, previously, in anticipation of, too early, prematurely, in good time he was to have spoken at the meeting, but fell ill beforehand, I knew what to expect, so was prepared beforehand, you are rather beforehand in your suspicions, I must be beforehand with my packing.

before-mentioned, adj [1 befōr mēnshund, 2 biſō mēnshund] Mentioned before, in an earlier part of speech or document.

befoul, vb trans [1 befōnl, 2 biſōnl] be- & foul. To make filthy, (fig) to cast aspersions on. Phr to befoul one's own nest, injure, make discreditable insinuations against one's family, or those persons and institutions with which one is associated.

befriend, vb trans [1 befrend, 2 bīfrēnd] be- & friend. To act as a friend to, come to assistance of, help, benefit in any way.

befurred, adj [1 befērd, 2 biſērd] be- & fur. Trimmed with fur. a befurred gown.

beg, vb trans & intrans [1 beg, 2 beg] ME beġen, possibly contracted fr O E bedecian, 'beg', connected w O E gebed, 'prayer' (q v under head), but this is very doubtful. Another suggestion is that the word is a contraction of beguino, member of mendicant order, the certain solution has, however, not yet been reached. A trans To ask, supplicate for, demand urgently, esp an act of charity to beg a few pence, to beg a meal, to beg one's life (from a judge, or from a murderer). Also, followed by of, governing names of persons to beg money of charitable people Phrs to beg one's bread, live on charity, ask for support without making any return, to beg leave, ask permission, to beg pardon, ask to be excused, I beg your pardon, polite, often meaningless formula of excuse for a real or fancied injury however slight, to beg the question, evade the real issue. B intrans (used absolutely) To ask for charity (for oneself), money, food, clothes &c to beg from door to door, also to solicit alms &c disinterestedly, for some charitable object. Phr to go begging, of goods &c, to fail to find a purchaser. C Constructions with prepositions a To ask for, make urgent plea for, followed by for governing name of thing demanded to beg for money, help &c, b address urgent petition to, entreat, followed by of governing name of person to whom demand is addressed I beg of you not to run any risk.

began, vb [1 begān, 2 biġan] Pret of begin. O E -gann, ME -gan.

beget, vb trans [1 begēt, 2 biġēt] O E beġetan, non WS beſetan, 'acquire, obtain, get, beget offspring', ME beġeten, giten, w same meanings as in O E (see be- & get). The compound bigiten is found in Goth in sense of 'come upon, find, reach'. O N uncompound geita has these meanings & also that of 'beget'. The mod sense is secondary. 1 To engender offspring (of male parent). 2 (fig) To produce, result in extravagance begets all kinds of misery, (with of in pass to express cause) fear is often begetten of guilt.

begetter, n [1 begēter, 2 biġēter] Pres & -er One who begets.

beggar (I), n [1 begār, 2 bēgār] Also in ME beġgere, either fr beg, w agent-suff -er, or fr O Fr beg(h)ard, 'a member of a male begging confraternity', corresponding to beguine. 1. One who begs, a mendicant, one in abject poverty, a person in the habit of collecting money for charitable purposes. 2 Used in a vague and perfectly general sense, equivalent to person, chap, fellow &c, often with playful, friendly intent poor beggar, an unfortunate beggar, nice little beggars (of children, young animals &c).

beggar (II), vb trans, fr preo To reduce to poverty to beggar oneself by speculation, the war has beggared whole families.

beggariness, n [1 begārines, 2 bēgārines] See next word & -ness. State of poverty, inadequacy.

beggarly, adj [1 begārli, 2 bēgārli], fr beggar & -ly Poor, mean, inadequate a few beggarly pounds, poor intellectually a beggarly amount of learning.

beggar-my-neighbour, n [1 begār mī nābur; 2 bēgār mī nēbur] A simple card game for two players.

beggary, n [1 begār, 2 bēgār] beggar & -y. State of poverty and want, esp reduce to beggary.

begging, n & adj [1 bēġing, 2 bēġing] 1 n Act of asking alms &c live by begging. 2 adj Concerned with asking alms a begging letter, one in which charity is demanded.

begin, vb trans & intrans [1 begīn, 2 biġīn] O E be ġinnan, ā ġinnan, but on ġinnan, 'begin', is commoner. In nearly all the Gmc languages the word is found, & always compounded, O S & O H G biginnan, O H G also inginnan, O Du beginnan, Goth du ġinnan, 'begin'. The compound is evidently an old one. The etymol is doubtful. There is an O Slav po čin, 'I begin', wb. must be cogn. The Gmc form must have been orig bī ġinnan*, whence, w voicing of h owing to pres stress, bī-ġinnan*, written w ġ in O E. It has been suggested that the base ġin-* is connected w that found in various forms in O E -ġinan, 'yawn', geonan, 'yawn, be wide open', & gānian, 'yawn'. This cannot be regarded as quite certain, but as far as the meaning goes we may cp our phrase to open proceedings where open has sense of 'start, begin'. To commence action of any kind, start, make a start, set about for first time, set things going. 1 trans To begin operations, begin one's breakfast, start eating it, begin French, start learning it, begin a new book, start reading it. 2 intrans a To start, open, pass from quiescence to activity, come into existence the play begins at 1 o'clock, who can tell when life on this earth began?, the royal house of Wessex begins a few generations before King Alfred Phrs and constructions (in most of the following begin can be used both trans and intrans) *to begin at, start from, begin by (doing something), start one's activities with a particular action, begin with (this or that person or thing), deal with, consider, in first place, begin on (a piece of work), set about, start, b followed by to and verb *begin to laugh, eat, think &c, I begin to understand you.

beginner, n [1 begīner, 2 biġīner] Pres & -er One who begins, esp one who is making a start, doing something for the first time, or is at commencement of his work, training, studies &c, and is therefore inexperienced, a tiro, untutored, inexperienced person not bad for a beginner, a mere beginner, don't trust yourself in an aeroplane with a beginner in the art of flying.

beginning, n [1 begīning, 2 biġīning] begin & -ing Start, commencement, opening of operations, inception, source, starting-point, origin to make a beginning, a good, bad, beginning, that was the beginning of all our troubles Phr the beginning of the end, first signs of final, hoped for, or inevitable result.

begird, vb trans, [1 begērd, 2 biġērd] be- & gird Chiefly in PP begirt (with), encircled, girded round, surrounded with.

begone, interj & vb intrans [1 begōn, 2 biġōn] Lat imporat be & gone, PP of go. Forceful command, meaning 'go away, clear out'. Not very common as imperat, chiefly used in such phrases as tell him to begone at once, I wish he'd begone &c, when the speaker prob feels the expression sometimes as a single vb used in infn, sometimes as two words, of wh first is infn & the second a PP.

begonia, n [1 begōnia, 2 biġōnia] Fr, named in honour of Michel Begon, 1638-1710, a patron of botany. A genus of fleshy leaved plants or shrubs, native in tropical countries, and much cultivated for their bright-coloured flowers, which have no petals but only sepals.

begot, vb [1 begot, 2 biġot] Pret of beget. For the vowel, see got.

begotten, vb [1 begōtn, 2 biġōtn] PP of beget. For vowel cp preo Cp O E PP beġeten.

begrimed, vb trans [1 begrim, 2 biġrim] be- & grime. To cover with grime, make dirty. Chiefly as pass in PP begrimed. The word refers esp to dirt from soot, coal, smoke, but degrimed with dust is used.

begudge, vb trans [1 begudj, 2 biġradj] be- & grudge. To envy (a person something), to part with something unwillingly, to be stung in giving to beguile a man his good fortune, I beguile good wine for much a purpose, he beguiles his wife money to buy clothes beguile, vb trans [1 hogil, 2 bigail] be- & guile 1 To deceive, cheat, mislead, persuade by false statements he was beguiled into parting with most of his money 2 To make time, a journey &c, pass quickly and pleasantly, by occupying oneself with something interesting he beguiled the weary hours with music, our journey was beguiled with pleasant talk beguilement, n [1 begilment, 2 bigdil ment] Prec & -ment Deception, snare, an amusement or occupation which makes time pass rapidly beguiler, n [1 heglier, 2 bigdile] See prec & -er Deceiver, seducer, one who coaxes and wheedles, either harmlessly, or with sinister motives beguilingly, adv [1 beglilingh, 2 bigoilingh] fr Pres part of beguile as adj, & -ly In an artful, persuasive, charming manner beguinage, n [1 begénabzh, 2 hégindz] Name given to cluster of cottages in which the communities of Beguines live

Beguine, n [1 hégén, 2 hégén] Member of religious community of women founded at Liège in 1170 by Lambert le Begue, and named after him begum, n [1 hégum, 2 bigam] Turk bigam, form of beg, 'chief, lord' Applied in India to Mosaic princesses and ladies of high rank Spelt variously begam, begun, begom, by early travellers begun, vb [1 hegum, 2 bigin] PP of begin OE gunnen, ME gunne(n)

behalf, n [1 behálf, 2 bihálf] OE healf, 'half', is also used in sense of 'side, part' in a battle or lawsuit Hence such phrases in ME as on his holte, 'on his part', bi halve him, 'concerning his part, for his part' &c From the combination bi halvea new n behalf has been formed The word is only used in such phrases as on my behalf, on behalf of my friend &c, meaning, in the interest of, for the sake of &c behave, vb intrans & reflex [1 beháv, 2 biháiv] See be & have OE behabban, 'detain, restrain' Fundamental idea is 'control oneself, have oneself in hand' The pronunciation of -have here comes normally fr ME hàve, & was used continuously, as rhymes show, in the independent word, right up to the first quarter of 17th cent When have was used as an auxl vb it was usually unstressed, & was pronounced w a short vowel háv (op have) The old stressed form w long vowel, now survives only in behave & behaviour 1 intrans (gen with adv) To conduct, comport oneself, evince a certain manner, to behave well, beautifully, judiciously &c, or to behave ill, badly, shamefully &c Said not only of human beings, but also of animals, such as horses and dogs, and (by extension) of machines, in the sense that they go, act, work, well or ill Applied to human beings, behave may refer to manners, breeding &c, as he behaves admirably in company, he doesn't know how to behave, or to conduct generally, as he behaved very badly over the whole business, he behaved very meanly to his children &c 2 reflex Generally, if unqualified, to conduct oneself well, to behave oneself, himself &c, in nearly same senses as a, but referring more specifically to manner and hearing behave yourself, conduct yourself properly, he must learn to behave himself behaviour, n [1 behávyur, 2 biháivya] An abnormal formation fr prec, prob influenced by obs havour, 'possessions, goods', also aver, q v under average Way of behaving, conduct, manners, whether good or bad a prize for good behaviour, he showed excellent behaviour under trying circumstances Phrs to be on one's good, best, behaviour, to take special pains to behave well, to put someone on his good behaviour, caution him to behave well behaviourism, n [1 beháivyrizim, 2 biháiv-yrizim] Prec & -ism Term applied to a psychological method in which the conduct or action of a person is observed purely objectively according to his reactions to various physical or mental stimuli behead, vb trans [1 behéd, 2 bihéd] OE beheafian be- & head To cut the head off beheld, vb [1 behéld, 2 bihéld] Pret of behold See hold behemoth, n [1 behémóth, 2 bshimowp] Hoh, pl of behamah, 'beast', an augmentative use of pl in sense of 'groat' (Bib) A huge beast, apparently the hippopotamus, referred to in Job xl 15 behest, n [1 behést, 2 bihést] OE behæst, 'vow', ME beheste Uncompounded hæst means a 'command' It is derived fr Gmc hast* (op Goth hast, 'order'), whence hastan*, hásan*, hæst*, the OE base being hót, as in hót on, vb, 'command, be called', further in OHG heisan, OS hētan, Goth haitan, the origin of wh is doubtful The final t in behest, wh is found already in ME, was prob added on some anal, possibly that of request, but such final consonants some times develop naturally in English, as in groft, q v, earlier graffe (poet) Command, order behind (I), prep & adv [1 behind, 2 bi hand] OE behindan, prep & adv 'behind' See be & hind (III) & hunder 1 To, or nt, the rear, in the direction away from which one is facing, at the back of behind the house, a cow's ears are behind its horns, his tail hung down behind Phrs behind one's back, secretly, without one's knowledge, to hote strong support behind one, backing one up, helping 2 On the other (back) side of, hidden by get behind a tree, behind the mountains, behind the curtain (at a theatre) Phrs behind the scenes, (fig) in secret, to be behind the scenes, to know private affairs, secrets, there is more behind, something not suspected or disclosed 3 Of time, in the past the follies of his youth are now far behind him Phr to be behind time, unpunctual, late 4 Remaining after one has gone from a place, to leave one's stick behind (one), the enemy in retreating left destruction and ruin behind him 5 Inferior to in merits, attainments &c our success is much behind what I had hoped, Swift is a long way behind Pope as a writer of the heroic couplet, he is behind other boys of his age 6 In a less advanced position, farther from the goal than others, in a course, journey, race 'And leave reluctant folly far behind', the leading horse was so fast that he soon left all the rest behind, the youngest of the party was still a long way behind when we reached home Phrs to fall behind, not keep up (with), (fig) behind the times, old fashioned behind (II), n, fr prec (colloq) Buttocks, rump behindhand, adj [1 behind hand, 2 bihind- hand] See behind & hand Only used predicatively Late, behind time, in arrears (with payment, work), out of date we must hurry, we are already rather behindhand, to be behindhand with one's rent, people who live in the country all the year round are apt to get a bit behindhand in their ideas behold, vb trans [1 behóld, 2 bihóuld] be- & hold OE beholdan, 'keep, possess, behave (reflex), consider, observe (laws), look at' The compound is an old one, & the last meaning given in OE in its simplest sense was 'keep in view, keep one's eye on' 1 To perceive by sight, look at, see, contemplate, regard 2 Used in imperative in sense of take notice! look! 'Behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy' (Bib and archaic) Phr to and behold, followed by a statement, in announcing something striking or unexpected.

beholden, adj [1 bohóldn, 2 bihóuldn] fr old PP of above, beholden, in sense of 'held, bound', &c (with to) Under an obligation, bound to someone by a service he has rendered I am greatly beholden to you for your kindness beholder, n [1 behólder, 2 bihóulder] behold & -er One who sees, esp some specific object her beauty charmed all beholders (all who saw it) behoof, n [1 hehtóif, 2 bihtóif] Cp OE behōfian, vb, 'need, require', behōf 'need', 'necessary', O Frs bihof, Du behoef, 'advantage', Swed behof, 'need', Germ behuft, M H G behuof, 'purpose, advantage' The base hōf is related to have, showing gradation a, as in OE far an, 'go', Pret for, or Late OE (fr Scand) takan, 'take', tōk, 'took' Used only in such phrases as in my, your, his behoof, for my sake, advantage &c behoove, vb impers [1 behóv, 2 bihóuv] OE behōfian See prec The present-day form wd normally be behoove [1 behóuv, 2 bihóuv] To be incumbent upon one it behooves you to work as hard as you can beige, n [1 bižh, 2 bežh] Fr, in O Fr bise, L Lat bisus, 'grey', op Ital bigio a textile fabric, made of unleached or undyed wool, b a greyish brown colour being, n [1 héung, 2 bliŋ] be & -ing 1 Existence, state of existing to come into being, the fleet in being 2 A human creature, living person, Deity the Supreme Being, human beings, those unfortunate beings who live by crime 3 Human life 'This pleasing anxious being' (Gray's 'Elegy') 4 Essence, nature thrilled to the very roots of his being belabour, vb trans [1 belábur, 2 hieibz] be- & labour To thrash, beat heartily (lit) to spend labour upon belated, adj [1 beláted, 2 biháted] be- & late & snif -ed a Overtaken by the night and darkness, b too late, unduly deferred belated efforts belaud, vb trans [1 heláwd, 2 biháld] be- & laud To praise greatly, overwhelm with praises Phr belauded to the skies belay, vb [1 belá, 2 bihá] be- & lay (III) OE beléagan, 'lay round, cover' &c (naut term) To hitch a rope round a (belaying) pin. (naut slang, in imperat) Belay! belay there!, stop, enough!

belaying pin, n [1 heláing pin, 2 hieibz pin] A fixed spike or pin of wood or iron in a ship, for latching a rope round and making it fast belch (I) vb intrans & trans [1 belsh, 2 helif] OE bealc (ian, belcetan, neither of wh is direct ancestor of Mod Engl word, prob related to first syll of bellow, w l suff, as in talk. 1 intrans To eructate 2 trans. (fig) a To utter violent, obscene language, belch forth curses, insults &c, b (also of a volcano, gun, engine) belch forth, out, flame, smoke &c belch (II) n, fr prec a Eructation, b spurt of flame, smoke &c belcher, n [1 helcher, 2 heltsz] Generally belcher handkerchief, a spotted handkerchief worn round the neck. Named after Jim Belcher, pugilist (1783-1854) beldam(e), n [1 belám, 2 belám] O Fr. bel dame, 'grandmother', orig term of honour, then used ironically A hideous, filthy, or violent, old woman beleaguer, vb trans [1 beléger, 2 hitgá], fr Du belegeren, 'camp round' Connected w laager, 'camp' See also leaguer & laur To besiege (lit and fig) bellemite, n [1 belémnit, 2 belémnat], fr Gk belémnon, 'dart', fr belos, 'dart, anything thrown', & enff -ite, belos is related to Gk ballan, 'throw, hurl', q v under ballistic & quell A cylindrical, tapering, pointed fossil of a kind of extinct ontlefish, which derives its name from a fancied resemblance in shape to the end of a dart bel esprit, n [1 bel espré, 2 bel esprí] Fr A wit, an intellectual person of superior parts.

belfry, n [1 bélfrī, 2 bélfrī] The word had orig no connexion w bell, M E berfray is fr O Fr berfrois (Mod Fr berfrois, 'watch-tower'), the Fr word is fr Low Lat. berfridus, a Gmc loan-word, cp M H G berfrid, 'watch-tower', berc, 'protection' (cp Germ bergen, cogn w O E beorgan, 'to protect', see borough) & frut, 'place of security', cogn w O E fridu, 'peace'. Since bells were often hung in these towers for giving the alarm, and since church towers also contained bells, the association was so strong that the meaningless ber- was naturally converted, in England, into the intelligible bel-, and belfry came to be considered primarily as a place in which bells were hung, hence, a bell-tower, b place in such a tower where the bells hang Behal, n [1 béhal, 2 béhal] Heb béhal, 'worthlessness' 1 In OT, esp in Phr sans of Behal, the wicked, the worthless, cp 1 Sam i & 2 In NT, Satan, The Devil, cp 2 Cor vi belie, vb trans [1 bélī, 2 bélī] O E belēogan, 'deceive', fr bo- & lēogan, 'tell lies'. See lie 1 To give a false impression of, show to be false his acts belie his words 2 To fall short of a promise, or hope the expectations based on his early successes were completely belied later on belief, n [1 bélif, 2 bélif] O E ge lēafa, 'believe, faith', O H G geloubē, gloube, Germ glaube, 'faith', OS gūðo, Du geloof, the present form arises in M E Soe believe 1 Something, a fact or statement, accepted as having an existence, and held to be true Specif, of a body of religious doctrine, faith the belief(s) of the Christian Church, The Belief, the Apostles' Creed 2 The conviction existing in the mind that certain things exist, that certain statements or doctrines are true his belief in Christianity was strengthened by his experience of life 3 Trust, confidence (always with in) I have no great belief in doctors, I have great belief in early rising believable, adj [1 bélivabl, 2 bélivabl] believab & -able Capable of being believed, credible, probable believe, vb trans & intrans [1 bélīv, 2 bélīv] O E ge lēfan, M E be lēven(n), fr ge lēafa, OS gūðian, O H G gūðuben The O E base lūf, Gmc lauf*, is cogn w O E lēof, Gmc leuf*, 'dear' Belief, therefore, is originally something one holds dear, & to believe is to value something greatly, hold it dear See further under lie 1 To hold something to be true, have faith, esp of religious doctrine a intrans (used absolutely) I believe, that is, I am a Christian, hold the doctrines of Christianity, b trans to believe a doctrine, statement &c, to hold, be convinced, that it is true, to believe a person means to be convinced that he is speaking the truth 2 intrans a To believe in (of persons and things), have confidence in, place reliance upon, trust to I believe in you, (i) hold you to be a man of honour, (n) I expect great things of you, I believe in plenty of exercise, hold it to be healthy and generally advantageous, b believe in, applied to the Deity implies faith (cp uses in 1 a and b), I believe in God, means I have the conviction that He exists, c the phrase is used in this sense also in relation to the prophets of other religions, to mythical personages, to philosophical or religious systems concerning which different opinions exist many millions of men believe in Buddha, no one believes nowadays in Jupiter and Neptune, many clever men have lately come to believe in spiritualism believer, n [1 bélīvər, 2 bélīvər] Preo & -er One who believes, specif, one holding a particular form of faith he is no longer a believer, not a Christian, also, followed by in, a person having confidence in something he is a great believer in small meals believing, adj [1 bélīvīng, 2 bélīvīng] fr Pres Part of believe Having faith in a particular doctrine a believing Christian, Jew &c.

belike, adv [1 bélīk, 2 bélīk] be- & like (I), (archaic and provinc) Probably, perhaps belittle, vb trans [1 bélīt, 2 bélīt] be- & little To make little of, depreciate, minimize, represent as of small account bell (I), n [1 bél, 2 bél] O E bellē, 'bell', also compounds bellering, 'bell-ringing', bellchū, 'bell-tower' The vb bellan in O E means 'bellow, grunt' (cp bell (III)), the same word in O H G means 'bark', as a dog The orig meaning of the base must have been 'loud noise, cry, shout' It is possible that Lat fleo, 'I weep' may be fr same base, as also Lett bil-dit, 'weep', & Lith bil-dit, 'speak' This association, however, is doubtful In any case the base appears to be of imitative origin, & used to express noise, sound, of various kinds in different languages Cp also bellow 1 Hollow, usually cup-shaped, vessel of metal, closed at smaller, upper end, open at lower, larger end, which gives out a musical note when struck The striker, in bells, is suspended inside from the top, except in modern electric bells where the striker operates from outside These are hardly bells at all in the original sense Phrs to bear away the bell, take the prize, win, clear as a bell, very clear, of sound, with bell, book, and candle, referring to form of ecclesiastical orsurg, cap and bells, part of costume worn by a court jester, passing-bell, one tolled at moment of death, sound of marriage bells, (fig) 'for wedding, all went merrily as a marriage-bell, in the most satisfactory manner, successfully 2 (naut pl), Bells, the half-hours of the watch as struck on the ship's bell, eight bells being struck at the end of each watch of four hours, at four, eight, and twelve o'clock 3 Anything shaped like a bell, esp the cup of certain flowers 4 Metal structure in which persons can go under water without being drowned or wetted a diving-bell bell (II), vb trans fr preo To furnish with bells Used only in Phr bell the cat, undertakes a dangerous enterprise, with reference to fable of the cat and the mice bell (III), vb intrans O E bellan, 'bellow', &c. Cp under bell (I) To make the cry of the stag in the rutting season belladonna, n [1 bélādōna, 2 bélādōna] Ital bella donna, Lat bella donna, 'beautiful woman' Cp beauty & dams So called from the supposed beautifying effect of the drug as a cosmetic 1 (bot) A poisonous plant, Atropa belladonna, with red flowers and lustrous, black berries, popularly called the deadly nightshade 2 (med) A poisonous, medicinal drug extracted from the leaves and root, which also yields the powerful alkaloid atropine bell-buoy, n Buoy carrying a bell, which is rung by the movement of the waves, used as a signal of danger from rocks, shoals &c belles, n [1 bél, 2 bél] Fr fem adj used as n For etymol see beauty A beautiful woman quite a belle, the belle of the ball, the best-looking woman there belles-lettres, n pl [1 bél lét, 2 bél lét] Fr See beauty & letter Writings which are purely literary, as distinct from technical and scientific works belletrist, n [1 bélétrist, 2 bélétrist] Preo & -ist One given to the study of belles-lettres belletristic, adj [1 bélétristik, 2 bélétristik] Preo & -ic Belonging to fine literature bell-flower, n (bot) Campanula, from shape of the flower bell-founder, n One who founds or casts bells, a maker of bells bell-foundry, n Foundry, place where bells are cast and made bell-hanger, n One whose trade it was to fix bells of the old-fashioned sort, worked by wires and levers, in houses bell-hop, n (colloq USA.) Page boy at an hotel bellicose, adj [1 bélīkōs, 2 bélīkōs] fr Lat bellicosus, 'warlike', Lat bellum, 'war', is for earlier duellum*, lit 'a struggle between two opposing sides', op duo, 'two' See dual & cp duel Bellicosus is a formation w adj suff -os (cp -ous) added to adj bellicus, 'warlike', wh itself is formed fr stem belli- by addition of suff -ic, -us Warlike, given to war and fighting, pugnacious bellicosity, n [1 bélīkōsiti, 2 bélīkōsiti] Lat bellicositas* (em), 'pugnacity' See preo & -ity Quality of being bellicose, pugnacity belligerency, n [1 bélīgerēnsi, 2 bélīgerēnsi] See next word & -ency The state of being a belligerent belligerent, n & adj [1 bélīgerent, 2 bélīgerent] Fr belligerant, fr Lat belligerant (em), Pres Part type of belligerare, 'wage war', fr bellum, q v under bellicose, & gerere, 'bear, carry on' &c, wh belongs to different conjugation fr form used in compound, the Pres Part of latter wd give ant, that of former -ent, for gerere see gerent & gesture a n Nation or party waging regular war, b adj, in belligerent powers, i.e those taking part in a war bell-metal, n bell & metal Metal used in casting bells, an alloy of copper and tin

Bellona, n [1 bélōna, 2 bélōna] Lat name of goddess of war, sister of Mars Connected with bellum, q v under bellicose Personification of war, by extension, a tall fine looking woman bellow, vb intrans & n [1 bélō, 2 bélō] This vb is connected w O E bellan, q v under bell (I), but not directly derived fr it The suff -ow, O E -gan, M E -even, -oven, may have been added on anal of other *vb*s, e.g hollow, or through the influence of O E cogn bylgan, fr bul-gan*, on the other hand bellow may be merely the S E ('Kentish') form of the latter 1 vb To make a loud outcry, esp. of sound made by oxen, extended also to loud human cries or shouts A man is said to bellow when he speaks unnecessarily loud, or sings loudly without art or expression, also used of the roaring of cannon, thunder, wind 2 n The sound made in bellowing a loud bellow bellows, n pl [1 bélōz, 2 bélōz] Variant of belly (I) Implement for blowing a fire or supplying a wind instrument, as an organ, with air, consisting essentially of a collapsible leather bag which is alternately squeezed and opened by means of handles, so that it sucks in air and expels it again with some force, usually referred to as a pair of bellows when portable, and as (the) bellows when fixed, as in a blacksmith's forge or organ bell punch, n A metal case containing a bell and punch, used by ticket collectors on tramway cars, omnibuses &c bell-ringer, n One who rings church bells, campanologist bell-ringing, n Act of ringing (church) bells, esp the art and practice of ringing changes on (church) bells, campanology bell-tent, n A conical, bell-shaped tent bell weather, n The leading weather of a flock of sheep, wearing a bell belly (I), n [1 bélī, 2 bélī] O E -belg, 'bag, pod', in bēanbelg, fr earlier bēlg*, M E bēl, in mod sense, Goth baig-s is 'a bag for wine, wine skin'; O H G baig & O N bēlg have same meaning All these forms are related to the O E vb belgan, 'to swell, puff out, be angry', & to the n ge belg, 'anger' The orig & basal meaning seems to be 'swell', wh still survives in belly (II); the word is a variant of bellows Cp also O Ir boig, 'bag', & bolgam, 'I swell' 1 The lower part of the trunk below the diaphragm in man and other mammals, also in fish, thought of from out side, the abdomen (The polite and usual word now is stomach) Phr pot belly, prominent abdomen. 2 The stomach itself, receptacle into which food passes as empty belly, belly ache, pain in the stomach, colic

3 (fig) a Groed, 'Such as for their bellies' sake Croap and intrude and climb into the fold' (Milton, 'Lyonesse'), b as the seat of vitality, feeling, and thought to have fire in one's belly, inspiration, genius & Protuberant, bulging surface of an object, as of a violin belly (II), vb, fr prec To swell out, as a sail in the wind, esp bellying sails belly-hand, n belly (I) & band. Girth of a horse's harness bellyful, n [1 bellyful, 2 bellyful] belly (I) & -ful a As much as one wants to eat, b (fig) satisfying amount of anything (esp of fighting) belong, vb intrans [1 belong, 2 belong] Not found as vb w pref be in OE, langian in OE means 'grow long, feel tedious, long for; befit, belong', gelang, adv. means 'at hand, attainable' Prob this meaning arose fr that of 'alongside of', gen enlang in OE, thence what was near at hand was thought of as something pertaining, belonging to, in a moral sense See along, long (I), adj, & (II) vb 1 To pertain to, be suitable to, to be in place, constitute a duty &c it does not belong to a minister to decide to his colleagues, this word belongs to this sentence, where do these things belong? 2 Belong to, to be a possession of that belonged to me, but I have given it away belongings, n pl [1 belongings, 2 belongings] See belong & -ing Possessions, goods and chattels, luggage beloved, adj & n [1 belovd, belovd, 2 belovd, belovd] PP used as adj See be- & love 1 adj Much loved X, the beloved wife of So and so, greatly beloved by all who know him [belovd, belovd], he lost his beloved wife [belovd, belovd] 2 n Beloved person, fiancée, husband, wife he brought his beloved to see us [belovd, belovd] below, adv & prep [1 belw, 2 belw] First in ME, the second element is Seand, ON lág r Seo be- & low (III) 1 adv Beneath, lower, in relation to a given position, at a greater depth from the hill top we could see the plains below, the place below, hell, although I was on the third story, I could hear the notes below, on a lower story, or in the street Phrs here below, the earth, in distinction to heaven, down below, in hell, the tomb, the bottom of the sea &c 2 prep a Lower, in place, in relation to a given position or level 'below the seats divine' (Pope), below the surface, under water, under the soil, buried, Phrs below ground, buried, below the mark, of inferior quality, in ill health, below par (Stock Exchange, of shares &c), below nominal value, hence (fig), in bad health, below stairs, the servants' quarters, to hit below the belt, of a foul blow in boxing, also fig, to deliver a mean, unfair, attack, b inferior intellectually, morally, in rank &c to be below a person in intelligence, character, social standing, in the ranks of a hierarchy &c, below a schoolfellow in class &c belt (I), n [1 belt, 2 belt] OE belt, OHG belt, loan word fr Lat balteus, wh perf stands for older dualt*, possibly cogn w Serb. diarati, 'confines, covers', this is, however, doubtful See also baldrac 1 Strap of leather, or any material, which encircles the waist, girdle, band round a woman's waist sword belt, Sam Browns belt, one supported by two straps crossing shoulders to take off weight of sword, specif, as symbol of investiture of an earl or knight, hence, belted earl &c 2 (mech) Strap, or broad leather band used in driving machinery driving belt 3 Narrow plantation of trees round a park or field 4 A stripe or strip of different colour, or material, superimposed upon another, op band, b the course of armour plate along the water-line of a warship belt (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To encircle with a belt, fasten by means of a belt to belt on a sword 2 a To thrash violently, from use of a leathern belt for this purpose, b of violent movement such as running, perhaps suggested by pell to belt along the road beliance, n [1 beltán, 2 beltém] Ir beal-terne, Gael bealluinn, ht 'blaze fire', for first element see bale-fire, second element, O Ir ten, 'fire', is fr Celt type, tepno-*, cogn w Lat tepere, 'to be warm' (see tepid), old connexions w Baal, Bel, have no foundation An old Celtic festival on May Day beluga, n [1 belúga, 2 belúga], fr Russ beluga, fr byely, 'white', op Lath ballas, 'white', cogn w Gk phalos, 'shining', see further under bal, phalarope, & fuller Tho 'white whale', a large kind of dolphin, of the Arctic seas, hunted for its blubber, oil, and hide, sold as 'porpoise hide' belvedere, n [1 belvédér, 2 belvidi:] Ital, 'fine outlook, view' a Turret in a building from which a wide view of surrounding country may be obtained, b garden summer-house so placed as to command a view The word is the Italian equivalent of the English place-name Belvoir [1 bôver, 2 bôve], which is from a French source benoan, vb trans [1 bemôn, 2 bumôn] be- & moan OE be-mānan, 'lament', shows mutation, the unmutated mān, 'crime', has entirely different sense To lament, sorrow for, express grief concerning something benuse, vb trans [1 bemúz, 2 bumúz] be- & rause (II) To render stupid, originally, apparently, to preoccupy, plunge in thought See, however, stymology of musa, vb benused, adj [1 bemúzd, 2 bumúzd], fr PP of prec Stupefied, esp with drink or drugs ben, n [1 ben, 2 ben] OE binan, 'with in', be- & nan, 'in', see in, op būtan, 'outside' (Seeta) The inner room of a two roomed cottage, usually but and ben, the outer and inner room.

bench, n [1 bench, 2 ben] OE beno, variant of bank. Orig a long shelf, or seat of wood, fr this the various senses are developed 1 A Long seat of wood, generally without a back, esp in old dining halls, as in ancient schools and colleges, by extension applied to seats of other material, e.g. stone bench in a formal garden, fixed slab of stone without a back, b seats in the Houses of Parliament ministerial benches, back benches &c, c thwart of an ancient galley 2 A Official seat of a judge or magistrate in a court of law, and those seats in the same line, on either side of this Mr Justice D was on the Bench, heard the case, the High Sheriff occupied a seat on the Bench beside the Judge, b (coll of judges and bishops) 'I call on this Right Reverend, and that most learned Bench' (Glanville), the whole Bench of Bishops, Phr to be raised to the Bench, be made a bishop or judge, c King's Bench, a division of the High Court of Justice 3 Wooden work table of solid construction at which certain handicrafts are carried on carpenter's bench, shoemaker's bench bencher, n [1 bensch, 2 bénje] Prec & -or Member of the governing body of one of the Four Inns of Court bench-mark, n bench, in sense of 'bank', & mark (I) A surveyor's mark, usually a broad arrow with line drawn through it to mark the line of a level.

bend (I), vb trans & intrans [1 bend, 2 bend] OE bendan, 'bnd, stretch, bend a bow' This meant orig to put a string or bend into a bow, the idea of curving it being secondary, although this is now the primary association w the word. See band, bind, & bindle This base in its various forms expresses the idea of 'fastening, tying'. A trans. 1 To curve, cause to curve or to depart from straight line, or into a different direction, applied chiefly to materials which possess a certain rigidity and offer some resistance, not to unresisting materials which can be folded or coiled, such as cloth or rope bend a stick, piece of wire, bar of iron &c

Phrs bend the knee, bow, pray, bend the neck, submit. 2 (fig) To apply one's mind, attention, thoughts (to) I can't readily bend my mind to this new work 3 (nant) To fasten, bind (a rope, only survival of orig meaning) 4 To curve (a bow) in order to string it, thus, formally, the original use, has, in reality, lost its old force, the uppermost idea now being the curving, not the stringing B intrans To depart from straightness, curve, droop, sag, give way willow rods bend but do not easily break, if you put much weight on that stick it will bend bend (II), n OE bend, 'band, chaplet, bond', & O Fr bende, variant of band 1 A curve, departure from straightness (slang) get a bend on you, look sharp, be quick, from the idea of bending the legs in running 2 (nant) A knot in a rope (very near orig sense) 3 (her) Charge on shield consisting of a broad diagonal band drawn from dexter chief to sinister base, or if reversed, from sinister chief to dexter base The latter is called bend sinister and implies bastardy bended, adj [1 bended, 2 bended] Either fr bend (I), w PP suff -ed, used as adj, or formed fr bend (II), w suff -ed Having a bend or curve, esp in Phr on bended knees, in attitude of prayer, and (fig) very earnestly, urgently, and imploringly, (also poet) with bended bow, strung, and curved by pulling string, ready for discharge of arrow See also bent, adj bendy, adj [1 bendy, 2 bendy], fr O Fr bende, Fr bandé bend (II) 3 & -y (her) Divided by bends (of an escutcheon) bene-, pref In compounds of Lat origin Lat bene, adv, 'well, happily, prosperously', &c, fr earlier duene*, cogn w bonus, 'good', fr duenos*, duonos*, connected w Lat beire, 'bless, make happy' See further under beatitudo beneath, prep & adv [1 benéth, 2 beníþ] OE bensoþan, 'beneath, below', fr be- & soþ, 'low, down', & an, 'from', cp noth, ME benéthe, OHG ndana Used in much the same way as below 1 prep (of physical position) Below, under, at the foot of, on the ground, at the base of anything higher than the soil a pillow beneath his head, sitting beneath a tree, playing beneath my windows 2 prep (of moral and social position &c) Inferior in moral worth, esteem, reputation, rank to be far beneath someone in intelligence, character, attainments &c Phrs beneath contempt, beneath notice, not worth notice, to marry beneath one, takes a wife or husband of inferior rank to one's own 3 adv Below, at a lower level the valley lay beneath Benedicite, n [1 benedicti, 2 benedicti] Lat imperat pl, 'bless ye', of benedicere See benediction Name of canticle beginning O all ye works of the Lord, bless ye the Lord &c, from opening words in Lat Benedicite omnia opera

Benedick, n [1 benedik, 2 benedik], fr character in Shakespeare's 'Much Ado' A newly married man, esp one supposed to be a confirmed bachelor who marries

Benedictine, n, fr name of St Benedict who founded (c 520) the order of monks bearing this name 1 [1 benediktin, 2 benediktin] A monk of this order, the chief duty is the prosecution of study, combined with manual work 2 [1 benediktin, 2 benediktin] A sweet, powerful liqueur made by the Benedictine monks benediction, n [1 benedikshun, 2 benedikshun] Lat benedictio (em), 'blessing', fr beno- & dictio, 'speaking, saying, uttering', fr dicere, 'say, tell, declare' See under dictate, diction &c, also op teach Full form of benison 1 Blessing, utterance of a blessing, esp that given by the priest at the end of a church service 2 (cap) Special service in Roman Catholic Church in which the priest blesses the people with the Blessed Sacrament benedictory, adj [1 benediktōr; 2 benediktār], fr Med Lat benedictorius See prec & -ory Of, pertaining to, expressing, a blessing benefaction, n [1 benefakshn, 2 benefakshn], fr Lat benefactio-(em) bene- & facio, 'doing, making', see factio, also deed 1 A good deed, act which confers a benefit 2 A charitable donation benefactor, n [1 benefaktūr, 2 benefaktōr] Lat, fr bene- & factor, 'doer, maker', fr facio, 'make, do', q v under fact One who confers a benefit, esp one who founds or endows an institution, such as a college or school Phr pious benefactors benefactress, n fem [1 benefaktress, 2 benefaktress], fr prec & -ess Female benefactor benefice, n [1 benéfis, 2 benéfis] Fr benéfice, fr Lat beneficium, wh in Low Lat meant 'grant of an estate', & in Class Lat 'well doing, kindness, good turn' See prec words & Lat words there referred to, -ficium is form of stem fac, 'do, make' &c See fact Church living, property held by an ecclesiastical officer for life, or during performance of certain duties. It is applied more especially to livings held by rectors and vicars beneficed, adj [1 benéfist, 2 hanfist], fr prec & -ed Provided with a benefice a beneficed clergyman beneficence, adj [1 benéfisens, 2 benéfisens] Lat beneficentia, 'active kindness', Fr beneficence See next word & -ce Habit or practice of doing active good, kindness, charity beneficent, adj [1 benéfisont, 2 benéfisont] Lat beneficent (em) Acc of Pro Part of beneficare, 'to do good' See benefice Charitable, kindly, conferring good, meriful (of persons and laws &c) beneficently, adv Prec & -ly In a beneficent manner beneficial, adj [1 benéfishal, 2 benéfishal], fr Lat benefici-(ālis) See benefico & -al Not applied to persons Conferring benefits or advantages, a having the quality of doing good to, or improving a system of strict discipline has a beneficial effect on conduct, the waters of Bath are very beneficial to the health of rheumatic persons, b (law) giving, having the benefit or usufruct of property, as under a trust beneficial ownership

beneficially, adv Prec & -ly In a beneficial manner beneficiary, n [1 benéfishian, 2 benéfishian] Lat beneficiarius See benefice & -ary 1 (law) One who holds under feudal tenure, holder of a living 2 Now chiefly used for one who benefits, or obtains property or other advantages, under a will or trust benefit (I), n [1 benéfist, 2 benéfist] ME fr O Fr benefit, prob influenced in first element by Lat form bene Lat beneficium, 'well done' See prec compounds & bene- & fact 1 Act of kindness, labour to confer (a) benefit(s) upon 2 Advantage, profit, improvement in condition I get no personal benefit from the business, he derived great benefit from the medicine Special use a performance at a theatre in which the actors give their services free, and the profits of which go to some particular person or charity a benefit night Phr for your special benefit, for your sake, to please you 3 Benefit of Clergy privilege claimed by ecclesiastical courts to deal with clerical offenders, and by persons charged with offences to be tried by these courts, extended so as to apply to all who could read like a clerk, or clergyman, a certain verse of the 51st Psalm The right was abolished in 1827 benefit (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans To confer a benefit upon, do something for one's advantage, to cause improvement in health &c 2 intrans (usually with by) To derive benefit from some action, treatment &c benevolence, n [1 benévolens, 2 benévolens], fr O. Fr benivolence, Lat benevolentia, 'goodwill, kindness', fr bene- & n formed fr volens, 'willing' Cp volition & will (II), 1 State of mind which consists in a disposition to do good, kindness of heart, love of humanity a man of great benevolence of character 2 Activity in doing good, and, specif, in showing liberality in giving, munificence his widespread benevolence enabled many struggling authors to live 3 (hist) A form of forced loan, resorted to by several English kings benevolent, adj [1 benévolent, 2 binsvalent] See prec Lat 'well-wishing', given to benevolence in both senses above Benevolent society, one which exists for the purpose of helping distressed persons belonging to certain categories Adors', Jews', Benevolent Society benevolently, adv Prec & -ly In a benevolent manner

Bengali, adj & n [1 bengawh, 2 bengāh], fr. name of Indian Province 1 adj Pertaining to, of, Bengal 2 n a Native of Bengal, b language of the natives

Bengal light, n [1 bengawlīt, 2 bengāllīt] A kind of firework, giving a very bright coloured light of some duration, esp used as signals of distress &c at night benighted, adj [1 benitid, 2 benitid] be- & night & -ed 1 Overtaken by the night and darkness 2 (fig) In a condition of moral or intellectual darkness, unenlightened, in a backward state of culture the poor benighted heathen benign, adj [1 benin, 2 binam] Fr benigne, fr Lat benignus, 'kindly, friendly, kindhearted, affable, fertile, copious' &c, fr bene-, 'well', & suff -gnus, 'producing', q v under gender, nature, op also kind & malignant 1 a Gracious, kindly, pleasing (of persons), b favourable, mild, fruitful (of climate and soil) 2 (med) Of a disease, growth &c, not cancerous, as opposed to malignant benignant, adj [1 benignant, 2 binignant] new formation direct fr Lat on anal of malignant, as if fr benignant em* Cp prec a Well disposed, kindly, b (of disease), mild, not cancerous benignantly, adv Prec & -ly In a benignant manner benignity, n [1 benigniti, 2 binigniti] ME & O Fr benignitas, Lat benignitas (em), fr benignus, q v under benign Kindness of heart and character benignly, adv [1 beninli, 2 bininli] benign & -ly In a benign manner benison, n [1 benizon, 2 benizon] ME benison, O Fr benison, popular form of Lat benediction (em), q v under benediction, wh is straight fr the Lat Blessing, benediction

bennet See bent-grass bent (I), adj [1 hent, 2 hent], fr old PP of bendan, q v under bend (I) Curved, crooked, of a bow &c, same as bended bent (II), n, fr prec or direct fr PP of bend (I) Inclination of the mind or taste, aptitude, bias to have a natural bent for study &c Phr to follow one's bent, pursue one's own inclinations and tastes For sense cp bend one's mind See bend (I) 2 bent-grass or bent, n OE beonet, OHG pinus, binus, Mod Germ binne, 'rush' No satisfactory etymol has yet been suggested a Staff, coarse, roedy grass, b land on which such grass grows The word occurs in the common English Place Name, Bent ley

Benthamism, n [1 benthamizm, 2 bentpamizm] System of philosophy and ethics propounded by Jeremy Bentham (1748-1832), the leading principle of which was 'the greatest happiness of the greatest number'

Benthamite, n [1 benthamit, 2 bentpamit] See prec & -ite Follower of Jeremy Bentham benethos, n [1 benethos, 2 benethos], fr Gk benethos, 'depth of the sea', poet variant of bathos, 'depth', see bathos An oceanographical term for various forms of life found at the bottom of the sea, op nekton & plancton benumb, vb trans [1 benūm, 2 banūm] Really an old PP OE benumen, fr benuman, 'deprive of, take away from', see numb, the final -b is unhistorical, but may have been pronounced at one time To deprive of sensation, esp by cold, also of the mind (usually in PP), benumbed paralysed, deadened, by some strong, sudden emotion, such as terror benzene, n [1 bēnzēn, 2 hēnzēn], fr benzoin (chem) An important hydrocarbon chemically known as phenyl hydride, a colourless liquid obtained by distillation of coal tar oil, an immense number of chemical substances called aromatic compounds are derived from it, and it produces aniline, the source of modern dye stuffs, it is also known as benzol benzine, n [1 bēnzēn, 2 hēnzēn] See prec & -ine A mixture of volatile hydrocarbons obtained from crude petroleum, often confused with 'benzene' and sometimes therefore called 'benzoline', it is a colourless liquid which easily vaporizes and forms with air a dangerously explosive mixture, it dissolves fats, and is used for household cleaning, preparation of varnishes &c benzoin, n [1 benzōin, 2 benzōin] (Also formerly called gum benjamin or benjamin) Resin of the tree called Styrax benzoin wh grows in Sumatra, used medicinally as a disinfectant The stuff & the name passed fr Arab traders among European peoples, & was named by the Arabs labdan-jawī, 'Java frankincense', whence Span. benjuy, Port benjow, benjowm, Ital benzoino, corrupted in Engl to benjamin benzol, n [1 bēnzol, 2 hēnzol] See prec & -ol Another name for benzene, particularly in France and Germany benzoline, n [1 bēnzolēn, 2 hēnzolēn] See prec & -ine Benzene, q v beplaster, vb trans [1 beplāster, 2 biplāste] be- & plaster To cover thickly with plaster, to plaster over bepowder, vb trans [1 bepōnder, 2 bipōuds] be- & powder To powder over, cover thickly with powder bequeath, vb trans [1 hekweðh, 2 bīkwēð] OE becepan, 'say, reproach, bequeath', fr be- & cepan, q v under quothe 1 To leave property (to a person) by will Strictly, bequeath is used only of personally (i.e. money), not real estate (land) 2 To hand on, transmit (name, works, example &c) to posterity bequest, n [1 hekwest, 2 hīkwēst] ME bequeste, rare, usual form bequede, cp OE cuode, 'saying, declaration', fr earlier kwēth*, fr base of cepan, 'say', see quothe The new ME form is doubtless influenced by, & made on the anal. of, quest, request a The act of bequeathing, b that which is bequeathed

Berber, n & adj [1 hērbēr, 2 bībēr], fr Arab barbar, 'people of Barbary' Origin is doubtful, a similar name is found early in Egypt for a Libyan tribe, possibly connected w barbaric 1 n a Member of an indigenous race inhabiting the hilly districts of N Africa, b language spoken by this race 2 adj Of, pertaining to, the Berbers or their language berberis, n, also herberry & barberry [1 bērbēris, 2 bībēris], fr Med Lat berberis, barbaris, origin unknown (bot) A shrub with yellow flowers and long, thin scarlet berries bereave, vb trans [1 berēv, 2 hīrv] OE berēafian, 'despoil, deprive one of something', fr be- & rafian, 'to plunder, ravage' See reave To deprive one of anything, remove, take away from, esp non-material things, hope, joy, expectations &c nothing can bereave me of my memories of the past Most common in PP, either bereaved or bereft, which are often used as adjectives.

bereaved, adj [1 berēvd, 2 hīrvd] See prec & -ed. Usually means, specif, deprived of by death to be bereaved of one's parents, wife, friends &c Special uses the bereaved husband, one who has just lost his wife, the bereaved (sing or pl), of those who have just lost some near relation bereavement, n [1 berévment, 2 berívment] hereave & -ment State of being bereaved, esp loss of a near relative by death bereft, adj [1 beréft, 2 buréft] PP of beraava Has more general meaning than baravaad, deprived of beréft of home and riches, special use to be utterly bereft, deprived of something essential to one's happiness or existence, very much afflicted, crippled in power of doing anything, and so on, bereft of reason, mad beret, n [1 béra, 2 bérei] Fr béret, fr Ital beretta See birotta A flat, round woollen cap, fitting close to the skull, as worn by the Basque peasants berg, n [1 bérg, 2 bāg] Swed, Dn, & Germ, 'hill', q v under barrow (II) A large mass of ice, an iceberg bergamot (I), n [1 bérgamot, 2 bāgmot], fr Bergamo, Italian elty Aromatic oil, much used in perfumery, extracted from the rind of Citrus limetta, or sweet lime bergamot (II), n Through Ital fr Turk beg or mudî, 'pear of a boy or prince' See bey Name of a highly flavoured pear berri-berri, n [1 bén béri, 2 béri béri] A Cingalese word, redupl intens form, of berri, 'weakness' A tropical, often epidemic, disease, a form of peripheral neuritis, accompanied by wasting, dropsy &c, due probably to the absence of certain vitamins in the food, notably in polished rice when the husk has been removed.

Berkeleyan, n & adj [1 berklían, 2 bāklíen], fr Bp Berkeley (1685-1753) & -ian a n Follower of Berkeley, in whose philosophy the objective existence of the external world is questioned, b adj, pertaining to, in accordance with, this system of thought

Berlin, n [1 berlín, 2 bālín] A four-wheeled carriage invented in Berlin in the 17th cent, and widely popular in France and England during the 18th Berlin black, a special form of best resisting black enamel, used for painting stoves &c, Berlin wool, a fine wool for knitting &c berm, n [1 bérm, 2 bārm] Fr berme, fr Gmo source, cp ON barmr, 'brim', cogn w Russ borona, 'edge' (mil) Term in fortification for level ground between parapet and ditch berry, n & vb intrans [1 béri, 2 berí] OE berig(e), 'berry', OHG perri, beri, Mod Germ beere, Dn be, beze, Goth bas, etymol doubtful, perh connected w Sert ba, bhas 'ti', 'eats, chews', in wh case a berry wd be 'the edible fruit', 1 n a Small, round, juicy fruit of certain trees and shrubs, b egg in pod of lobsters &c 2 vb To fruit np, come into, form berries bersaglieri, n pl [1 bārsahliári, 2 bērsahéri] Ital, lit 'sharp shooters', fr bersaglio, 'mark', etymol doubtful A corps d'élite of quick marching riflemen in the Italian army berserker, n [1 bārsērker, 2 bāsiāka] ON berserkr, 'bear shirt', name given to an ancient Norse warrior who fought with peculiar fierceness and fury See haar (II) & sark A hard fighting champion, one given to furious contests Phr berserker rage, fury, uncontrolled rage berth (I), n [1 bérth, 2 bíp] Etymol very doubtful, not found in OE Possibly same as birth, in sense of 'position in the world', or fr baar (I) in sense of 'make room for by bearing off', both are quite uncertain 1 (naut) Place, room, for a ship to swing at anchor, ship's place at wharf Phr (fig) to give one a wide berth, avoid 2 Sleeping quarters in a ship 3 A lodging, quarters, anywhere a comfortable berth, good quarters, b a situation, employment, billet, post to get a berth in some good business, a good berth, well paid, suitable situation.

berth (II), vb trans fr prec To berth a ship, to put a ship into position in harbour, or by the wharftide bertha, n [1 bértha, 2 bápa], fr woman's name A broad, round collar, extending over the shoulders, worn by women

Bertillon system, n [1 bártiyon sistém, 2 bástijá sistim], fr name of inventor A system of registering measurements of such parts of the body as the skull, hand, foot, forearm, or as a means of identification, esp of criminals, a special form of anthropometry beryl, n [1 béril, 2 béril] Fr béryl, Lat beryllus, Gr. berýllos a Gem stone of a sea-green colour, b (mineral) term given to a group of precious stones, crystallized silicates of beryllium and aluminium, which also includes the emerald, aquamarine, and chrysoberyl beryllium, n [1 berílium, 2 beríliem] See prec & -ium A metal chemically related to the beryl, very hard and silvery white in colour beseech, vb trans [1 béséch, 2 bístij] be- & OE secan, ME beseechen See seek Beseech a person to do something, or for, some thing, or that one may, entreat earnestly, demand urgently, beg, supplicate 1 beseech you to listen, he besought his master for permission to go home, to beseech that one may be allowed &c beseeching, adj [1 béséohing, 2 bístijip], fr Pres Part of prec Entreating, enphrant, appealing beseeching look, voice &c beseechingly, adv Prec & -ly In a beseeching, appealing manner beseeem, vb impers [1 básém, 2 bisim] be- & seem, ME besēmen, OE (se)semon, 'satisfy, settle dispute', but sense fr ON seima, 'to honour, appear, besit' Cp seem & seemly To besit, be suitable, be appropriate, esp with well and ill it ill beseeems you to be ungrateful, her modesty beseeemed her will beset, vb trans [1 bését, 2 bisét] OE besettan, 'set on, appoint, set about, adorn' See be- & set a To surround, close in (of persons) beset with questions, difficulties &c, b to encompass, assail (of temptations, difficulties &c) 'the sins which do most easily beset us', besetting sin beshrew, vb trans [1 beshrúv, 2 bífrd] ME beschreuen, 'deprave, pervert' be- & shrew Now only in deliberate archaism 'beshrew me', mock heroic imprecation, 'devil take, confound me' beside, prep [1 bésid, 2 bisaid] OE be sidan, 'by the side of' See be- & side Of position, near by, close to, alongside of the house beside the river, to lie, walk, beside (one) Phrs beside the mark, the question, irrelevant, beside oneself, mad besides, adv & prep 1 bésidz, [2 bisaidz] Same as above, w advbl (old genit) suff -(-e) In addition, over and above, more over, in addition to what has been said.

besiege, vb trans [1 béséj, 2 bisidzj] be- & siege Hybrid compound, w Gmo pref instead of that in O Fr asseoir, fr L Lat assediare 1 (mil) To lay siege to, beset (a city) with armed forces 2 (fig) To crowd round, press in upon, surround the War Office was besieged by anxious inquirers, as soon as he appeared he was besieged by his delighted constituents 3 To ply with, press upon, demand eagerly or urge acceptance of to beseege with attentions, invitations, requests besieger, n [1 béséjer, 2 bisidzja] Prec & -ar a One who besieges (fort, town &c), b (pl) besieging forces besigue See baziqua beslaver, vb trans [1 bésalaver, 2 bislaive] be- & slaver To slaver over, cover with slaver, (esp fig) to flatter fulsomely beslaved with compliments and praises besmear, vb trans [1 bésmeár, 2 bismia] be- & smear To cover with, daub, smear over besmurch, vb trans [1 bésimárob, 2 bismítj] be- & smurch To darken, stain, cast stain upon, soil (esp in fig sense), said of character, lift &c besom, n [1 bésum, 2 bésum, 2 bésum] OE bes(s)a, 'broom, rod for beating' ME besum, OD bessem, OHG besomo, Mod Germ besen Etymol doubtful, but perh connected w Gmo base bass*, seen in berry, as if made fr berry bearing shrub 1 Broom for sweeping lawns, paths, yards &c, made of a bundle of pliable twigs fastened to a long handle 2 (colloq, provine) Name of reproach for a woman, a jade besotted, adj [1 bésotéd, 2 bisótíd] be- & sot & -ed Stupified (with drink), foolish, infatuated besought, vb [1 bésáwt, 2 bisótj] Pret & PP of besoach ME besóht(e), see sought bespangle(d), vb & adj [1 béspángl(d), 2 bispóngl(d)] be- & spangle Cover(ed) with spangles bespatter, vb trans [1 béspátór, 2 bispátá] be- & spatter To splash, cover with, mud, slime, liquid dirt bespeak, vb trans [1 béspeík, 2 bispílk] OE besprecan, 'speak about, complain', ME bespeken, 'speak about' Cp Germ besprechen, 'to engage (rooms, seats &c), in advance' See be- & speak To claim, order in advance may I bespeak your interest for X?, every room is already bespoken The trade phrase bespoke is applied to goods that are made to order, as distinct from ready-made bespoke boots &c besprent, adj [1 bésprént, 2 bispréntj] ME besprynt, PP of besprengen, 'to besprinkle', see be- & op sprinkle (poet) Sprinkled, strewn with besprinkle, vb trans [1 béspríngkl, 2 bispríngkl] be- & sprinkle To sprinkle something with something else

Bessemer process, n [1 bésémer próses, 2 béséma próses], fr the inventor Sir Henry Bessemer, d. 1898 Process of steel making in which the iron is decarbonized by a forced draught of air through the molten metal

Bessemer steel, n Steel made by the above process best (I), adj [1 bést, 2 bést] OE beist, 'best', superl of gōd, OS best, Goth botist The base bat*, used for compar & superl of good in all Gmo languages, appears in another grade in OE bēt, 'remedy, compensation', cp boot (III), & in OE bētan, 'provide remedy for, compensate', fr bōtjan* Cp also Goth ga botian, 'profit, benefit' OE beist is exactly equiv to Goth but ist, & goes back to an identical form bat*: st, -st being the superl suff Connexions outside Gmo are doubtful See better 1 Used as superlative of both good and well, expresses both comparative and absolute excellence, possessing essential qualities in the greatest possible degree a Having the highest degree of moral or intellectual excellence the best heart, character, intentions, the best abilities, brains, talents &c, b having highest degree of suitability and adequacy for a particular purpose the best horse, road, cloth, boat, best book on the subject, best voice, the best father Phr the best thing to do, that most likely to be successful, what will be the best to do now?, c having greatest amount of completeness and perfection the best art, pictures, poetry, architecture, d possessing greatest amount of competency, efficiency, or skill in particular kind of work or activity the best painter, scholar, teacher, cook, rider, general &c, Phr the best man for the job, a having highest degree of equivalence between value and price paid, most profitable in view of effort expended the best value, bargain, best results, f affording greatest degree of satisfaction to the senses the best dinner I have eaten, the best cigar, best apple, best view, best scent &c 2 Best is also used as more intensive, expressing thoroughness &c, in such phrases as the best hated man 3 Various idiomatic phrases (in several of the following best, preceded by the, is used as a noun) All for the best, not so bad as it seems after all, to do, try, one's best, take greatest pains, have the best of it, win, be successful, make the best of it, or of a bad business, be cheerful in face of misfortune &c., to the best of my ability, as well as I can, to the best of my belief, so far as I know, the best part of anything, largest share, nearly all, make the best of one's time, be very busy, do as much as possible, best man, supporter of bridegroom at wedding, put one's best foot forward, go as quickly as possible, with the best, as well as anyone, to be at one's best, be brilliant, in a good temper, show the utmost one can do, Sunday best, or best clothes, make the best of one's way, go as fast as possible, at best, under the most favorable circumstances, the best of wives, distinguished among wives for goodness best (II), adv See prec 1 To the highest degree of excellence, competence, suitability to work, do anything, best 2 To the greatest extent, most thoroughly to love one best, I work best early in the morning Phr we, you &c had best do something, it would be suitable, to our advantage &c best (III), vb trans fr best (I) (colloq) To best someone, beat him, have advantage over, sometimes in bad sense to get an advantage over by unfair, dishonest, means bestead, adj [1 bestéd, 2 bestéd], fr old P P, M E bestad, fr besteden, 'place', O N stad, 'placed', etymated, fr stēga, 'fix, appoint' See be- & stead (arabao) Circumstanced, situated, in ill, well bestead bestial, adj & n [1 bestial, 2 bestial] Fr bestial, Lat bestialis Cp beast & -al 1 adj Like a beast, brutal, barbarous, unrestrained, disgusting, obscene 2 n (a Scots usage) Cattle collectively, as on a farm bestiality, n [1 bestialiti, 2 bestialiti] Prec & -ity a Brutishness, beastliness, a spell (law) unnatural sexual crime with an animal bestialize, vb trans [1. bestializ, 2 bestializ] bestial & -ize To make bestial or brutish bestially, adv [1 bestial, 2 bestial] bestial & -ly In a bestial manner bestiary, n [1 bestari, 2 bestari], fr L Lat bestiarius See beast & -ary One of the mediaeval collections of fables, allegories, semi-mythical accounts of animals, esp of wild animals bestir, vb, refl [1 bestir, 2 bestir] O E bestrian (rare), 'heap up', fr be- & stir To rouse oneself to action, exert oneself bestow, vb trans [1 bestó, 2 bestow] M E bestūen, 'place', be- & stow 1 To place, deposit, put I don't know where to bestow all my luggage 2 (with upon) To grant, give, confer (a benefit) he bestowed a fortune upon his nephews, Providence had bestowed many advantages upon him 3 (colloq.) To give quarters to, find room for can you bestow us somewhere for the night?

bestowal, n [1 bestóal, 2 bestowal] Prec & -al Act of bestowing in any of above senses bestrew, vb trans [1. bestró, 2 bistró] O E bestreowan, 'bestrew, cover' See be- & strew 1 To scatter over surface (not used of liquids), to cover thickly (with) to bestrew the floor with papers 2 To be thickly scattered about, over the leaves bestrew the lawn in autumn bestrewn, adj [1 bestróon, 2 bistrón], fr P P of prec Recent formation, the vb being orig weak More usual now than bestrewn Covered with the whole place was bestrewn with rubbish bestride, vb trans [1 bestrid, 2 bistrad] O E bestridan, 'mount a horse' See be- & stride 1 To put one's legs one on either side of anything (a horse, seat, narrow ditch, brook &c), to sit upon (a horse), ride 2 (fig and poet) To pass, reach, across, as of a rainbow, beams of sun, sound &c, across a valley, field &c 'Winds that the thunder bestrides' (Swinnburne) bestrode, vb [1 bestród, 2 bistróud] Pret of prec, see stride bet (I), n [1 bet, 2 bet] Etymol quite uncertain, the usual explanation given is that it is a shortened form of abet 1 A wager, offer to pay a certain sum of money, or give some article in the event of some event happening or not happening 2 The amount or thing wagered.

bet (II), vb trans & intrans fr prec 1 trans To lay as a wager (with person) he bet me a pound I would not do it, to bet five pounds on or against a horse &c Phr to bet one's bottom dollar on, that &c, to be absolutely certain that &c 2 intrans a To make practice of making wagers he never betted, b to wager with, on, against to bet on the favourite, I'll bet against your winning Phr you bet, you may be sure bēta, n [1 bēta, 2 bēta] Gk The second letter of the Greek alphabet (see B), fr Heb bēl, used for the second of a series of objects of which the first is alpha, A, as in stars of second brightness in a constellation, bēta rays &c betake, vb reflex [1 beták, 2 betak] M E betālen, 'entrust, commit to one's keeping' See be- & take To take, convey oneself, go betel, n [1 bētl, 2 bētl] Portuguese betre, belle, fr Malay vellila, fr veru ila, 'simple, or mere leaf' (Yule and Burnell) 'The leaf of the Piper belle, chewed with the dried areca nut (which is thence improperly called betel nut)' (Yule and Burnell) bête noire, n [1 bāt nrā, 2 best nrō(r)] Fr, 'black beast' A person or thing that one detests specially bethel, n [1 bēthel, 2 bēpl] Heb beth el, 'house of God' Derivative name for a Non-conformist chapel, esp little bethel bethink, vb reflex [1 bethíngk, 2 bēpíngk] O E bepencan, 'consider, (reflex) reflect' See be- & think To consider well, remember I suddenly bethought me how &c betide, vb intrans & trans [1 betid, 2 betaid] Defective Used only in 3rd sing pres subj O E tidan, 'to happen' See be- & tide a intrans To happen, come to pass what's'er betide, b trans, to happen to was beside you betimes, adv [1 betímx, 2 betímx] be- & later formed advl gent of O E tíma See time In good time, early to rise betimes, get up early betoken, vb trans [1 betókon, 2 betóukon] be- & O E tícnian, 'signify', see token To signify, augur, have as a meaning, indicate that betokens no good to me betony, n, [1 betúm, 2 betón], fr Fr bétonne, fr L Lat betonica, said to be of Gaulish origin (bot) Plant with a purple flower betray, vb trans & reflex [1 betrā, 2 bistrā] Hybrid compound, be- & M E traien, O Fr trair, 'betray', Mod Fr trahir, Lat trādere Cp traitor, treason 1 To play part of traitor towards, give up (a person, object) treacherously to enemies, to act falsely, deceitfully towards 2 To reveal (a secret) improperly, or inadvertently 3 (reflex) Betray oneself, to reveal one's true character, let out one's secret unconsciously or by momentary inadvertence 4 To deceive, seduce (a woman) betrayal, n [1 betrāal, 2 bistrāal] Prec & -al Act of treachery, treacherous delivery of a person &c to enemies betrayed, n [1 betrāer, 2 bistrāer] betray & -er Traitor, seducer betroth, vb trans & reflex [1 betródh, 2 bistróud] M E betreowien See be- & troth & truth To affianse, promise to marry, bind oneself or another, by a promise, to marry someone Esp in P P to be betrothed to becomes engaged to, betroth oneself to P P as adj, the betrothed pair betrothal, n [1 betródhā, 2 bistróudā] Prec & -al Ceremony or act of becoming affianced betrothed, n [1 betródhd, 2 bistróud], fr P P of betroth Engaged person (the betrothed, the pair, my betrothed, fiancé(e)) better (I), adj [1 beter, 2 bēta] O E bet (adv), bēlara (adj), O H G bēzra, Mod Germ besser, Goth bakra See further under best Compar of good & well Always used in relation to, & expressing comparison w, some other person, thing, or state, & differing in this fr best, generally followed by than 1 Expressing, generally, superiority to some one or something else See various categories under best Phrs the better the day, the better the deed, better than nothing, might be worse, no better than he, she should be, a doubtful character, one's better feelings, higher part of one's nature, better half, husband, or wife, be better than one's word, do more than one promised, one's betters, elders, persons of higher rank &c, I know better, I am not such a fool as to believe what you say, to know better, be able to judge that one has behaved ill, think better of something, change one's mind, think the better of someone, have a higher opinion, to have seen better days, have been richer, in a better position than at present, better sort, superior people, for better for worse, in good and bad fortune, to feel better, be less ill, recovering, I am, he &c is, better, improved in health, better late than never, not too late Special use a having greater degree of moral excellence, more virtues &c he is a better man than I am, b better is sometimes used positively, and well as implying superiority he is better, but not well yet, the word being here contrasted with ill, not with well better (II), adv See prec 1 In a superior manner he does it better than I do 2 More thoroughly, completely he is better loved than ever, better feared, better served, obeyed &c Phr we, you &c had better (do something), it would be suitable, to our advantage &c better (III), vb trans & reflex, fr better (I) To improve, improve on, do better than John Howard endeavoured to better the condition of prisoners in jails, he never bettered his earlier work, you can't better that Better oneself, raise oneself to a position, obtain situation of greater emolument, importance, and responsibility than one has held before in a few years he had bettered himself considerably by his talents and industry better, -or, n See bet (II) & -er, -or One who bets betterment, n [1 bēterment, 2 bētsment] better (I) & -ment Improvement, special increase in value of a landed estate, other wise than by mere repairs &c betting, n [1 bēting, 2 bētr] bet (II) & -ing Practice, habit, of laying wagers, the making of bets, esp on horse races &c betting-book, n Book in which bets are recorded betting-man, n One who makes a habit of betting between, prep & adv [1 betwén, 2 betwín] O E betwēnan, betwēnum, 'between', fr. be- & twēnum, adv formed fr base of twā, two, w dat pl suff An old construction separated the compound, as be sēam twēnum, 'by seas two, between the seas' 1 Original use expresses relation of one to two other units whether individuals or groups, the sense being that one is in the middle with one of the two others on either side This relation may be a in respect of place, the relation being maintained either (i) in a state of rest the house stands between a river and a wood, I sat between John and Henry; or (ii) during motion to walk between two hedgerows, the river flows between wooded banks, b in respect of two places in order, precedence in a series between the top and the bottom of the hill, majors in the army rank between colonels and captains, c in respect of two periods of time between youth and middle age, between 1914 and 1918 Phrs between two fires, attacked on both sides, between the

between the deep sea, no escape possible, between the cup and the lip, of disappointed hopes, hit, got, between wind and water, in a tender spot, between whiles, during intervals, in between, spaced out among; be twixt and between, half and half 2 (expressing reciprocity) Confined to (two or more persons) and shared by each let us keep this strictly between ourselves, the money was divided equally between the crew Phrs between you and me, ourselves, speaking confidentially, settle it between you 3 Expressing separation let us have no quarrels between gentlemen, let nothing come between us, the shadow of the past came between him and happiness 4 Expressing union, bond of connexion, common to there was great love between them, I cannot quarrel with him after all there is between us Phr a go-between, agent between two persons or parties betwixt, prep & adv [1 betwixt, 2 betwixt] OE betwæx, betwux, 'between', earlier twisk-*, ME betwixe, OS twisk, OHG zwisk, zwiska, 'twofold', OHG zwisclên, Du. tusschen, 'in the middle between two' Arohaia and poet for between, chiefly in Phr betwixt and between, neither one thing nor the other, of indeterminate character beurre, n. [1 bêr, 2 bîr] fr Fr beurre, 'butter' French name, used in England for several kinds of pear beurre rance, beurre d'Amant &c bevel, n. [1 bêvl, 2 bevl] O Fr bevel, Mod Fr bezeau, etymol unknown. A sloping edge, a joiner's tool for adjusting angle of bevel Also as adj, having a sloping edge, and vb, to impart a bevel to, usually in P.P. bevelled beverage, n. [1 bêvân, 2 bevaridz] 16th cent Engl. O Fr bouvaige, Ital beveraggio, 'drink', cp also beverie, 'action of drinking', bevere, 'to drink', fr Lat bibere, 'to drink', q v under bibulous Liquid used for drinking, that which can be drunk, a drink.

bevy, n. [1 bôv, 2 bevl] Not found before 16th cent; fr Fr beve, 'flock of larks, or quails', fr Ital beva Etymol. doubtful, but perhaps orig a flock of birds gathered to drink, & hence v transference of meaning, a company of people come together for social purposes, cp O Fr beve, Ital bevere, 'to drink' See prec word. A gathering, troop, company, esp of ladies, maidens, beauty bewail, vb trans [1 bewâl, 2 bewâl] See be- & wail To lament, mourn over, regret deeply, complain of beware vb [1 bewâr, 2 bewâs] Apparently a descendant of OE bevarian, 'watch over, guard', bot now as though fr vb be & OE wær, 'cautious, aware of'. See wary To be cautious, careful of, on guard against Always preceded by another verb unless in imperative, or when be would be naturally used, as you must beware of bad companions, I will beware of lobster at night, tell him to beware of strangers, beware of the dog!

bewilder, vb trans [1 bewilder, 2 bewilde] A late word, though Engl in origin OE wildern, ME wilderen means 'wilderness', bewildern is lit 'to lead into the wilderness, or lead astray', wildern survived later in provine Engl, cp wilderness To puzzle, perplex, throw into confusion of mind.

bewildering adj [1 bewildring, 2 bewildring], fr Pres Part of prec Puzzling, confusing, causing confusion of mind.

bewilderment n [1 bewilderment, 2 bewildment] bewilder & -ment. State of being bewildered bewitch, vb trans [1 bewich, 2 bewit] See be- & witch. 1 To cast a witch's spells over, operate on by magic 2 To charm, enchant, fascinate, delight extremely bewitched, adj [1 bewicht, 2 bewit] fr P.P. of prec Affected by magic, enchanted, delighted, charmed.

bewitching, adj [1 bewiching, 2 bewit] fr Pres Part of prec Charming, delightful, fascinating, captivating bewitchingly, adv Free & -ly In an enchanting, captivating manner bewray, vb trans [1 berâ; 2 birêt] be- & OE wregan, 'accuse', ME be, buereyen, 'reveal, disclose', w wregan, we connect OE wrôht, 'accusation'; also OHG ruogan, 'accusa', Mod Germ rügen, OS wrôgan, Goth wrôh-s, 'accusation', wrôhan, 'accuse' The base has not been traced outside Gmc To proclaim, betray, reveal 'thy speech bewraysith thee' bey, n [1 bâ, 2 be] Turk bây [bâ], 'lord, prince'. a A governor of a town or district in the Turkish dominions, placed after the name of the person Ismet Bey, b title often borne formerly by English and other European officials, and by English officers of the rank of major in the army serving in Egypt beyond, adv & prep (& n) [1 beyond, 2 bynd] OE begeondan, ME beyonde, 'beyond', be- compounded w Gmc base jand*, 'there' Cp yon, yonder Beyond means originally 'over there' 1. On the other, further, side (of), past, further on beyond the river, tree &c; beyond the last house, (fig) beyond the tomb Phrs beyond one's depth, into deep water, beyond seas, the other side of the ocean 2 (of time) Later than, more advanced than beyond the hour when he was expected 3 (of non material things) Out of reach, out of one's range, outside one's understanding, further than one's powers take one, surpassing beyond my intelligence, beyond my humble powers, he has gone far beyond me in learning Phrs beyond compare, incomparable, very excellent, beyond control, uncontrollable, beyond one's depth (fig), too difficult, beyond one's expectations, better than one hoped, beyond expression, greater than I can say, beyond one's grasp, out of reach, beyond hope, hopeless, beyond the mark, too far, irrelevant, beyond possibility, impossible, beyond measure, greater than can be measured, very great (ly); beyond all praise, beyond price, priceless, beyond reason, unreasonable 4 (as n) The beyond, the other life Phr the back of beyond, a very remote place bezant, n [1 bezant, 2 bzant] O Fr bezan, Lat. Byzantius nummus, 'coin of Byzantium'. 1. A gold coin current in Eastern Roman Empire and Europe generally from 4th to 16th cents and current in England in 13th and 14th cents 2 (her) Representation of above, a gold circular figure covered with dots bezel, n [1 bezl, 2 bēzl] O Fr bezel, Mod Fr bezeau Etymol very doubtful, but possibly Low Lat. bis alia, 'stone which has two angles', or faces This may be, as Skeat suggests, Lat bis alia, 'double wing' a sloping faces of a cut gem, sloping edge of a chisel, b that part of a ring which holds the stone bezique, n [1 bezik, 2 bizik] Fr bélique. Etymol unknown. A card game for two or four players, b scoring point made by combination of queen of spades and knave of diamonds bezor, n [1 bēzôr, 2 bēzōs] Corrupt of Pers pāzahr, Arab bazahr, orig a term in old Oriental matéria medica for an antidote Later used for hard concretions found in bodies of certain animals, and supposed to have antidotal properties, sometimes called snake stone, the term is also applied to hamball, q v

Bexonian, n [1 bēzōnian, 2 bēzōnian] Also bisoxian, fr Fr bisogne, 'knave, rogue', fr Ital bisogni, pl, 'new recruits for an army in need of money', fr bisogno, 'need' Etymol doubtful (archaic) Knave, beggarly fellow, familiar from Pictol's 'wider' La Châque, Bexonian &c (2 Henry IV) bhang n [1 baq, 2 bng] See bang (V) bheesty, n [1 bēst, 2 bēst] Anglo-Indian word for the domestic who supplies a household with water, a water carrier generally Etymol is dubious, possibly fr Pers bēst, 'person', or fr bēst, 'paradise' bi- [1 bi, 2 bai] Lat pref much used in Engl, esp w words of Lat origin, but also w others Lat bi, 'twice', fr bis, w loss of s in compounds, cp Lat bicornis, 'two-horned', bis & cornu, 'horn' Bis is for earlier dius*, connected w duo, 'two', q v under dual & two Cp b for du in Lat bellum, q v under bellicose The force of the pref bi- is 'double, twice, having two' The chief uses of bi- in Engl are 1 Having two bicuspid, having two cusps or points, doubly, in two ways 2 Lasting for two, occurring every two biennial, bimonthly 3 (chem.) Having double the amount of acid or base indicated by the uncompounded form bicarbonate.

bias, n & vb trans [1 biss, 2 baias] Fr bias, 'oblique, obliquity', etymol doubtful, perh fr Lat bifax, ace bifacem, 'two faced', Low Lat, 'crooked' 1 n a (1) Deflection from straight line or course, or in a particular direction, (u) that which produces such deflection, whether lopsidedness in shape, or a weight on one side, esp in bowls, which are so made that they swerve from a straight course when rolled, b (fig) influence brought to bear on the mind or opinions, prejudice, predisposition, for good or ill to have a bias against, in favour of, a person, idea &c, c an oblique line across the texture in a fabric or cloth. 2 vb (esp fig) To influence, prejudice, usually in unfavourable sense to be biased against a person &c biaxial, adj [1 biāksial, 2 bāksial] bi- & axial Of crystals, having two axes bib (1) n. [1 bib, 2 bib] Prob connected w following word. Piece of linen worn by young children over the breast at meals, to protect clothes Phr best bib and tucker, best clothes bib (II), vb, gen intrans Prob. fr. Lat bibere, 'drink' See bibulous To drink, esp in sense of to partake too frequently or opionously of strong liquor.

bibber, n [1 biber, 2 bib] Free & -er. One given to excessive or too frequent drinking of strong liquor bibbing, n [1 bibing, 2 bibing] bib (II) & -ing The habit, or act, of excessive drinking

Bible, n [1 bībl, 2 baībl] ME & O Fr bible, fr Lat biblia, fr Gk biblia, 'collection of writings', pl of biblion, 'little book, scroll' This is a derivative of biblos, 'inner bark of papyrus', and is an Egyptian loan-word. 1 a The collection of sacred writings, or canonical books, which constitute the Holy Scriptures (The Bible), b a copy of these (a Bible) Phr Bible oath, a solemn and binding one, as if taken on a Bible 2. (by extension) Any authoritative book The Oxford English Dictionary is the Bible of all students of the English vocabulary

Bible Christian(s), n Religious sect, offshoot of Methodists, professing that their tenets are derived solely from what they conceive to be the true interpretation of the Scriptures

Bible clerk n Name applied to a person in position of an exhibitor at All Souls' College, Oxford, who receives free board and lodging, and has the duty of reading the Lessons in the College Chapel biblical, adj [1 biblikl, 2 biblik] Lat biblicus, adj See Bible & -ic & -al 1 Contained in, in accordance with, the Bible, of doctrine, custom, phrase &c biblical teaching, practice, name &c 2 Pertaining to, concerning, text and history of the Bible biblical studies, biblical scholar biblio-, pref Form of Gk. biblion (cp Bible) used in composition It re-enters in some words specifically to the Bible, in others to books in general.

bibliographer, n [1 bibiōgrāfer, 2 bibiōgrōf] See bibliography & -or One concerned with, or occupied by bibliography bibliographical, adj [1 bibiōgrāfikl, 2 bibiōgrāfik] See bibliography & -ic & -al Belonging to bibliography.

bibliographically, adv. Preco & -ly. By means of, as in, a bibliography, by a bibliographer.

bibliography, n [1 bibliográfi, 2 bibliográfi] Gk bibliographia. See biblio- & -graphy. 1 The study or account of the history of books from the external side as distinct from their subject matter, description of the making up of books, the various editions and impressions and the differences which distinguish those. 2 List of books and writings dealing with a particular subject, or written by a particular author. a bibliography of philology, of philological books, a Tennyson bibliography, list of all editions & of Tennyson's works, and of books about him and them.

bibliolater, n [1 bibliolater, 2 bibliolátr], fr biblio- & Gk latreia, '(hired) service, especially service of the gods, worship'. Cp Gk latreuo, 'work for hire, serve the gods', latris, 'servant, slave', latron, 'pay, hire', Lat lātro, 'hired servant'. These & many other words in the Aryan languages are fr a base l̥t̥*(s), 'possession, safe keeping, earn, gain'. Cp Gk a-laios, 'poor', lit 'without corn land', O Slav leti, 'permitted', Goth un-lēda, 'poor', lit 'without property', O E lēp, 'division of land, property', & un-lēd, 'poor', lit 'un-propertied'. See also idolatry, idolater & -latry. Lit 'book-worshipper, book-slave'. One who has a great enthusiasm for the Bible, which takes the form of an exaggerated attachment to the literal word of Holy Writ.

bibliolatrous, adj [1 bibliolátrus, 2 bibliolátrus] Preco & -ous. Given to exaggerated reverence for the literal interpretation of the words of the Bible.

bibliolatry, n [1 bibliolátri, 2 bibliolátri] See preco & -y. Respect, enthusiasm, for literal meaning of the words of Scripture.

bibliomancy, n [1 bibliománsi, 2 bibliománsi] See biblio- & -mancy. Divination by opening a Bible at random and taking the first verse to meet the eye as a prophecy of future events, guide to conduct &c. bibliomania, n [1 bibliománia, 2 bibliománsi] biblio- & -mania. Book madness, excessive enthusiasm for collecting books.

bibliomaniao, n [1 bibliománia, 2 bibliománsi] See biblio- & -mania. One afflicted with bibliomania.

bibliophil(e), n [1 bibliófil, -fil, 2 biblioufál, -fil] biblio- & -phil(e). A book lover, one who is fond of books, rather perhaps as a collector than as a reader.

bibliopole, n [1 bibliópōl, 2 biblioupōl] biblio- & Gk pólos, 'merchant, seller', cogn w Lat pelmas, 'pay, reward', Russ peloná, 'booty', O H G fāl, Mod Garm fēl, 'to be sold, vana'. Bookseller, esp seller of rare books.

bibulous, adj [1 bibulus, 2 bibulus] Lat bibulus, 'given to drinking freely', Lat bibō, 'I drink', a redupl form, is fr earlier piō*, w assimilation of p to b. The base is found in many forms in Aryan languages & the orig forms & variants pō*, pō*(s), pī*, are assumed, ep Gk piō, 'drink', Sort piatā, 'he drinks', O Slav pi, 'to drink', O W iben for geben = Lat bibimus, 'we drank'. Further cognates are Sort pānam, 'a drink', pūās, 'having drunk', Gk pōlos, 'drinking bout', pō ma, 'draught, potion', Lat poitatio, 'drinking bout', pōtic, 'draught', pōtic, 'drinker', pōculum, 'drinking cup', fr pōclom*, w wh ep Ir ol, 'draught', fr pōllo*, O Slav poje, 'I would have drunk', pivo, 'a drunk', Russ pivo, 'beer', Lith pyvas, 'beer'. See imbibe, poison, potion. Given to drinking strong liquor, slightly overcomes with drink (of persons).

bi-cameral, adj [1 bikameral, 2 bikameral], fr bi- & Lat camera, 'chamber', & -al, sec camera & chamber. Of logarithmic bodies, having two chambers or houses bicarbonate, n 1 bikarbonat, 2 baidkbat] bi- & carbonate (chem). A carbonate with two equivalents of carbonic acid to one of a base, e.g. bicarbonate of soda.

bice, n [1 bis, 2 bais] Fr bis. Origin unknown. Blue or green pigment.

bicentenary, n [1 bisenténari, 2 bdisenténari] Lat bi- & centénarius, adj 'relating to a hundred years'. See centenary. Celebration of existence of a building or institution for two hundred years, or of the two-hundredth anniversary of a person's birth or death or of an historical event &c.

bicentennial, adj [1 bisenténial, 2 bdisenténial] Lat bi- & centum, 'hundred', q v under cent, & annus, 'year', wh appears as -enn- in composition, as in biennium, 'period of two years'. See annual & biennial. Having lasted for two hundred years, occurring every two hundred years.

bicephalous, adj [1 bisfalus, 2 baisfalus] A hybrid word fr bi- & Gk kephalē, 'head', see cephalic, & -ous. Two headed. biceps, n [1 biceps, 2 baisp] Lat biceps, adj, 'two headed', fr bi- & caput, 'head'. See capital, chief. Name given to flexor muscle with double attachment, esp that of the upper arm, but also applied to that in leg which bands the knee.

bichloride, n [1 biklóríd, 2 baidklárid] bi- & chloride. Chemical compound with double amount of chlorine combining with metals, as bichloride of mercury, corrosive sublimate.

bicker, vb intrans [1 bikor, 2 bika] ME bikeren, freq active vb formed w suff -er fr base bik-, pick- &c. See pick. To squabble, engage in repeated petty disputes.

bicuspid, n [1 bikuspíd, 2 baidkspíd] Lat bi- & cuspis, 'point'. See cusp. Tooth, such as molar, having two points or prominences.

bicycle, n & vb intrans [1 biskl, 2 baiskl] Lit, 'two-wheel'. Lat bi- & cycle, fr Gk kuklos. 1 n Well known machine used as mode of progression, with two wheels in same line, a seat for one person, handle bars by means of which the front wheel is directed as required, and pedals whereby the back wheel is driven, now usually styled a push bicycle, as contrasted with motor bicycle. 2 vb To ride upon a bicycle.

bicycling, n [1 biskling, 2 baiskling] fr preco & -ing. Riding of a bicycle.

bicyclist, n [1 bisklist, 2 baisklist] See bicycle & -ist. One who rides a bicycle.

bid (I), vb trans [1 bíd, 2 bíd] In OE there were two strong vbs wh had certain meanings in common biddan, Pret sing bæd, (Pret pl bædon), PP bēden, wh means 'entreat, request, demand', & the same vb compounded, ge biddan, (reflex) meaning 'pray', & bēdan, Pret sing bēad (Pret pl bēdon), PP bēden, meaning 'invite, or challenge to fight, announce, proclaim, threaten, command'. It is obvious that the pres & infin types of bíd are fr biddan, that the Pret bæde [bæd] is fr bæd, while the PP bidden cannot be derived fr those of either of the OE vbs, but is after the model of ridden &c of the 'ride' class. During the 15th & 16th cents, bæd & bæde were used in the Pret, while the PP had both bēden & boden forms. A form bāde was also used in Pret as early as the 15th cent, & 'Euphues' (1586) has for bidden. Bid corresponds to OS biddan, Goth bīdjan, pray, beg, & goes back to a Gmc bēd-*. Cp bēad. With this it is difficult to connect Goth bēdan, 'expect', OE bīdan, 'wait, bide' (cp bide), Lat fīdē, 'trust', or Gk peithō, 'persuade' &c, as is sometimes attempted OE bēdan, OS bōdan, 'offer', Goth ana-bīdan, 'order, command', go back to Gmc bēud-*, wh is cogn w Gk peithō-ama, 'ask, inquire, learn', Sort bēdhāma, 'I observe'. The two bases appear to have overlapped in meaning very early, & the meanings of both are certainly blended in bíd. 1 To command, order. 'Bid me discourse, I will enchant thine ear', do as you are bid. 2 To invite; (archaic) 'the worthy, bidden guest' (Milton), chiefly in PP bidden to a feast &c. Survives in bidding prayer, in which congregation are invited to pray for certain things. 3 To announce, proclaim only in archaic Phr to be bidden, have one's banners called, bid defiance, make known &c, and perhaps in to bid fair, promise, show promise. Phr to bid farewell, welcome, good night &c. This use of the word might belong either to 2 or 3. 4 (with for) A To offer, make an offer at a sale or auction. to bid twenty pounds for a horse, b also (obsolesc) to make an offer. will no one bid (for the horse)?

bid (II), n, fr preco. An offer of a price. Cp bid (I), 4. biddable, adj [1 bidadl, 2 bidadl] bíd & -able. Obedient, easily persuaded, docile (not common).

bidden, vb [1 bīdn, 2 bīdn] PP of bíd (I) bidden, n [1 bīder, 2 bīde] bíd (I) & -er. One who bids, esp at an auction.

bidding, vb [1 bīding, 2 bīding] See bíd (I) & -ing. 1 Command, order to do your bidding, obey you. 2 Bids, offers at auction. bidding was brisk.

bide, vb trans & intrans [1 bíd, 2 bais] OE, OS bīdan, O H G bītan, 'await' &c, Goth bēdan, 'await'. It is not quite certain that Lat fīdō 'trust', see fidelity, Gk peithō, 'I learn by asking', Peithō, 'Persuasion' personified as a goddess, pius, 'trust, faith, belief', are cognates of the Gmc base bīd-, bēd-, bād-, though this & the above Lat & Gk words wd all go back to Aryan bhēd-, bhōd-, bhād-. For abide (archaic, poet and provino) to wait, stay, delay. Regularly used in Phr to bide one's time, wait a favourable opportunity. Note dialectal use you bide where you be, stay where you are.

bidree, n, also buddery [1 bīdrē, 2 bīdrē] fr Hind bīdr, fr Bidar, town in India. Alloy of zinc, tin, lead, or copper, used for making an Indian ware, bidree ware, inlaid with gold and silver decoration.

biennial, adj & n [1 bīfēnial, 2 baisfēnial] fr Lat biennus, adj, biennium, n, 'period of two years', fr bi- & annus, 'year', q v under annual, & -al adj. Lasting for two years, recurring every two years, b n, a plant which lives for two seasons and then dies off, contrasted with perennial.

bien-sance, n [1 byansāns, 2 bjēnsāns] Fr, 'well becomingness', fr bien, 'well', Lat bene-, sāns, n, fr sāns, Pres Part. of seor, 'sit', Lat sedere, see sedentary. That which is fitting and suitable in conduct and morals, decorum, decency.

bier, n [1 bēr, 2 bī] OE bēar, 'bier, litter', O H G bēra, fr common Gmc base bēr-*, 'bear'. The same type of gradation occurs in OE Pret pl bēar on, Goth bērun, O H G bār-um. Lat fer crum, 'bier', is fr same base, but shows a different form of gradation. See further under bear (I). Fr biere is borrowed fr Gmc. 1 A frame of wood, sometimes on wheels, on which coffins are borne. 2 (fig) Death. friends who but a short while ago were delighting in his society are now weeping round his bier, regretting his death.

biff, n & vb trans [1 bif, 2 bif] prob imitative (slang, colloq) 1 n Blow, smack. a biff in the eye, also fig. 2 vb To strike, hit. biffed on the nose.

biffin, n [1 bifin, 2 bifin] Variant of beefing.

bifid, adj [1 bīfid, 2 baisfid] fr Lat byfane, 'split in two parts', fr bi- & fīd, stem of findere, fīe um, 'to split'. See fissile (bot). Split, divided into two equal parts or lobes.

bifocal, adj [1 bīfōkal, 2 baisfōkal] bi- & focal. Of lenses &c, having two foci. See focus.

bifoliate, adj [1 bīfōliat, 2 baisfōliat] Lat bi- & fōliatus, 'leaved', see folio & -ate. Having two leaves.

bifurcate, vb intrans & trans [1 bifērkāt, 2 bāfākrāt]. Lat bi- & furca, 'fork with two prongs', q v under fork, & -ate To divide into two branches, streams &c, said of a bough, river, road &c bifurcate(d), adj [1 bifērkāt, 2 bāfākrāt, -kedid], fr PP of preo Forked, divided into two bifurcation, n. [1 bifērkāshun, 2 bāfākrēshən] See bifurcate & -ion Forking, division into two big, adj [1 big, 2 big] ME big, origin unknown 1 Possessing great size, ampleness, bulk, or magnitude generally Of things as they extend in space in every dimension, the usual word to describe anything having largeness of any kind, a (of bulk, mass) big lump, clod, loaf, pudding, trunk of tree, body, book &c, b (of height) a big man, tree, chimney, spire &c, c (of width) having great lateral extension, covering wide surface big margin, field, shoulders, chest &c, d having great containing capacity big room, cash, box, hole, e (of sound) having great volume, range, compass a big voice, big roar, noise &c Phrs big-bellied, (obs) pregnant, to look big, assume important air. tall big, boast, big with child, young (obsolesc and later), pregnant, hence, big with fate 2 (fig uses) a (of mind, character, affections) liberal, magnanimous, generous, noble big intelligence, nature, heart, b (of persons, offices, news) important, distinguished, also (of persons) having qualities mentioned under a. Phr a big wing, important person 3 (specific designation) The big toe, the big house, chief house in a village bigamist, n [1 bigamist, 2 bigamist] See bigamy & -ist Man with two wives, woman with two husbands bigamous, adj [1 bigamūs, 2 bigamūs] See bigamy & -ous a (of person) Guilty of bigamy, b (of marriage) involving bigamy bigamously, adv Preo & -ly In a bigamously manner bigamy, n [1 bigamī, 2 bigamī] O Fr bigame, 'twice married', compounded of Lat bi- & Gk gamos, 'wedding' This word, together w Gk gamōs, 'I marry', gambrōs, 'son in law', i.e. one related by marriage, seems to be connected w a number of words implying relationship, relationship by marriage &c, all sprung, & variously formed, fr o base gem*, 'to pair, bind together' & so on Thus Sert gamis, 'related, in sisterly relation to', gāmātor, 'daughter's husband', Lat gener, 'son in-law', geminus, 'twin, paired, double', are a few words fr among many other cognates See others, more remote, under gender, nature, kun, op -gamy The crime of having two wives or two husbands at the same time bigaroon, n [1 bigarōon, 2 bigarōon] O Fr bigaron, bigarreau, fr bigarré, 'variegated' The latter is perb bi-, & some word con-nected w Engl garish, 'bright coloured' The etymol of this, however, is also doubtful Skeet suggests connexion w gaze, a Scand word. If bigarré belongs to this group, the second element must be a Gmc loan word Large whiteheart cherry, from its striped colouring big-horn, n A mountain sheep of western North America, with curved horns, of a greyish-brown colour, Ovis canadensis, also called Rocky Mountain sheep bight, n [1 bīht, 2 bait] OE byht, 'a bend', fr būht* Connected w OE būgan, 'bend, bow', q v under bow (I) A twist or hitch in a rope, b a bend or curve in a coast line, a bay bigot, n [1 bigot, 2 bigot] Fr, etymol dubious, perh fr form of Pisigot very doubtful One who holds a creed or opinion in an obstinate, narrow minded way, and is inaccessible to all reason in respect to it bigoted, adj [1 bigoted, 2 bigotid] Preo & -od. Narrow minded, prejudiced, obstinately imbued with a belief bigotry, n [1 bigotri, 2 bigotri] bigot & -ry, op Fr bigoterie The condition of being a bigot bijou, n [1 bēzhō, 2 bīzō] Fr, 'a jewel, treasure' Etymol unknown Chiefly attrib, as n house agent's word, implying something small, but perfect and elegant of its kind bijou villa, residence, flat &c bijouterie, n [1 bēzhōteri, 2 bīzōteri] Fr See preo Articles of jewelry, trinkets &c bike, n & vb [1 bik, 2 bail] Colloq abbr of bicycle bilateral, adj [1 bīlateral, 2 bailateral] See bi- & lateral Having two sides bilberry, n [1 bīlberi, 2 bīlberi] bil- is Scand Op Dan bolle bærr, prob meaning 'ball', a term wh might be applied to any berry See berry Small, low growing, wild shrub with small, blue, sweetish berries, also called blackberry and whortleberry

bilbo, n [1 bīlbō, 2 bīlbō] fr Bilbao in Spain, noted for iron smelting works and foundries 1 (archaic) Kind of sword or rapier 2 (pl) Bilboes, fetters with chain and bar, used for confining prisoners on board ship, probably same as 1, the word occurs earliest in this sense bile, n [1 bīl, 2 bail] Fr bile, Lat bīlis, 'gall, bile', origin doubtful 1 (med) Secretion of the liver, stored in gall bladder, which aids digestion 2 (fig) Bitterness of feeling, ill humour bilge, n [1 bīlj, 2 bīldz] Said to be a form of O Fr boulge, Lat bulga, 'leather sack', though the vowel change is difficult to account for, Mod Fr is bouge, wh means a low, equalled chamber or hovel See also bulge 1 That part of the bottom of a ship which is broadest, and nearest the horizontal 2 a Fifth and moisture which cook into, and collect in this part of the ship, foul dirt collected in any vessel or sink, b (fig and colloq) nonsensical, stupid, incompetent writing or talk bilge-keel, n Projecting ridge of timber or steel plating fastened along the side of a ship, at the line of the bilge, to check or prevent rolling bilge-water, n Foul smelling water collected in ship's bottom bilharzia, n [1 bīlharzia, 2 bīlharzia] fr T Bilharz, discoverer of the worm as cause of the disease A parasitic trematode worm, which from water, drunk or bathed in, gets into the blood and bladder and causes the chronic disease Bilharzia, common in Egypt, tropical Africa &c, the chief symptom of which is the passing of bloody urine bilhary, adj [1 bīlyari, 2 bīlyari] Fr bilhary, Lat bīlis, see bile, & arius, q v under -ary Pertaining to bile bilingual, adj [1 bīlīngwāl, 2 bīlīngwāl] Lat bilinguis, adj, 'speaking two languages', fr bi- & Lat lingua, 'tongue, language', & -al See lingual Speaking two languages, esp from childhood, as a Welshman speaks Welsh and English without remembering how he learnt either bilious, adj [1 bīlyus, 2 bīlyae] Fr bilieux, Lat bīliōsus See bile & -ous 1 Connected with, caused by, derangement of bile bilious complaint, a bilious headache 2 Unable to suffer from such derangement bilious subject, patient 3 (fig) Given to taking a gloomy view of life biliousness, n Preo & -ness The state of suffering from derangement of bile -bility, suff [1 bīliti, 2 bīliti] Used to form ns fr adjs ending in -bile, fr Lat adjs in -bilis, & ns in bilitat (em), -bilitas See -able & -ity bilk, vb & n [1 bīlk, 2 bīlk] Origin unknown 1 vb (colloq) To swindle a person out of money due to him, as by avoiding meeting him or by slipping away without paying to bilk a cabman 2 n One who practises mean, petty evasions of payment, a bilker bilker, n [1 bīlker, 2 bīlks] Preo & -er One who bilks, petty swindler bilking, n [1 & -ing Th swindles bill (I), n [1 bīl, 2 bīl] OE bill, 'sword', ME bylle &c, Gorm bīle, 'pickaxe', op Du byl, 'axe', Gorm beil, Dan bīl, O N bīldr, bīlda It is hardly possible to separate the two types, perh bill is for bīlō*, in wh. case connected w bate, & meaning 'the splitting weapon' 1 A type of curved, short, and broad axe or halberd, now obsolete 2 A kind of curved chopping tool for cutting and lopping brushwood, hedges &c Billhook is the more current name for this It may be that this tool is a survival in a slightly modified form of the OE bill, put to different uses, cp use made by soldiers of the bayonet for cutting wood &c bill (II), n & vb intrans OE bīle, etymol not determined, perh related to bill (I) In this case the orig meaning is 'the splitter' 1 n a A bird's beak, that is, the horny, projecting extremity of a bird's mouth, b the point of the fluke of an anchor, c a small promontory, in Placo Namas, eg Portland Bill 2 vb a (of pair of doves or other birds) To touch bills, stroke bill against bill, b (fig) to caress Phr to bill and coo bill (III), n, fr Low Lat billā, Lat billā, orig a 'bubble, knob, blob', then applied to the blob of lead or wax affixed to documents which received the impress of the seal, then the seal itself (that is, the impression of it attached to a document), then a sealed document, finally a document in general See also bull (III) Term applied to documents of many different kinds 1 Parliamentary Bill, draft of proposed legislation, as presented to the Houses of Parliament, Phr to pass, throw out, the Bill 2 (law) Statement of a case submitted to Grand Jury, Phr find a true bill 3 (commerce) Bill of exchange, name given to document or negotiable instrument used in commerce as a means of payment, bill of lading, statement or description of freight of a ship, bill of sale, document transferring personal property, and authorizing its seizure by money-lender & list, statement, of various sorts a bill of fare, list of food at a hotel or restaurant, b theatre bill, programme, state mont posted up of the forthcoming performances of plays, and other entertainments 5 Statement by a tradesman, doctor &c of money due for goods supplied, or service rendered Phr (fig) to foot the bill, bear expenses, accept responsibility for payment bill (IV), vb trans, fr preo To announce, proclaim by means of bills or placards, an actor is billed to appear in such and such a part &c bill-broker, n See bill (III) & broker Person who deals in bills of exchange bill-discounter, n [1 bīl dīskāunter, 2 bīl dīskāuntē] See bill (III) & discount (II) One who discounts or advances the value of bills of exchange billet (I), n [1 bīlet, 2 bīlt] Dimin of Fr bille, or modification of Fr dimin bīlot, 'block of wood, trunk of a tree' Origin of word unknown A block of wood, esp part of a big log which has to be split up for fuel billet (II), n Fr billet, fr O Fr bīlle, 'document' See bill (III) 1 A document, and, specif, on order requiring householder to give board and lodging to a soldier Hence, 2 a the accommodation so provided, any accommodation or quarters, esp for soldiers, (often in pl billetts) to be in billetts (of soldiers housed elsewhere than in barracks or in a camp or bivouac), b since the Great War especially the word is widely used for lodging quarters by civilians 3 (by extension, fig) An appointment, paid situation, place, occupation a good, bad, billet, wall, ill paid, situation billet (III), vb trans, fr preo To put a person into a billet (2, a) to billet a man upon a householder bullet-doux, n [1 bilā dōb, 2 bilēs dā] Fr, 'sweet note', i.e. love-letter. Used in same sense in English, also, ironically, of a letter one would rather not receive, containing a bill or a complaint billhook, n [1 bilhook; 2 bilhuk] See under bill (I) billiards, n [1 biljardz, 2 biljadz] Fr billard, 'billiard table' Cotgrave gives Fr billard as meaning a ongel, & also what we call a cue or queue at billiards. But Fr billé also means a ball. See ball, bullet (I). Both ideas seem to exist in the name of the game. Game played with ivory balls which are struck with leather-tipped rods, (onee, or queues), upon a large, oblong, fixed table with a slate top covered with tough, smooth, green cloth, and provided with pockets at the corners and in the middle of the long sides. Billiard ball, cue, table &c., billiard room, one set apart for the game, billiard marker, attendant who keeps the score at the game

Billingsgate, n [1 bilŋgzgāt, 2 bilŋgzgt] fr Billingsgate, fish market in London. Foul, abusive, obscene, blasphemous language, such as is supposed to be natural and habitual to fishwives billion, n [1 biljūn, 2 biljēn] Portmanteau word coined fr bi-, or Fr bi(s), 'again', & -illion, fr million. In England a million millions, in France and USA a thousand millions billon, n [1 bilūn, 2 bilēn] Fr, orig 'lump', Cp billet (I). An alloy of silver with a preponderating amount of copper, used for a debased currency billow, n [1 bilō, 2 bilōw] fr ON bylga, 'wave', Swed. bilga, Dan bølge. These are all derived fr Gmc base bēlg-, bulg-, 'to swell', q v under belly, bellows, & bulge. A wave, esp a large swelling wave, (poet) wave, generally, e.g. the gentle billows billowy, adj [1 bilōi, 2 bilōus] Prec & -y Undulating, broken by waves or swellings (of the surface of the sea, and of land) bill-poster, -stickler, n One who posts or sticks placards and advertisements of all kinds on walls or boardings billy, n [1 bilh, 2 bile] Prob same as the abbr form of William (Australian colloq). Tin can used as a camp kettle &c bullycock, n [1 bulkok, 2 bilkok] Orig bully-cocked, i.e. 'cocked as bullies wore their hats'. An obsolete name for a hard, round felt hat, a bowler hat bully-goat, n The first element is the man's name, op nanny for a female goat. A male or he goat bulbinate, adj [1 bilōbāt, 2 bilōubet] See bi- & lobe & -ate (bot) Having two lobes bulitong, n [1 bilōng, 2 bilōŋ], Du, fr bul, 'rump', & tong, 'tongue', wh the strips resemble in shape. Sun dried meat, of antelope, oxen &c., cut in long strips, used by hunters &c. in South Africa biannual, humanous, adj [1 bimānūal, -us, 2 bimēnēl, -is] bi- & Lat manus, 'hand', see manual (I), & snff -al, -ous (zool) Having two hands, belonging to two handed order of mammals, now an obsolete term of scientific classification bimane, n [1 bimān, 2 bimēmēn] Fr bimane, fr Lat Cp prec (zool) Individual belonging to human mammals bimetalism, n [1 bimetalizm, 2 bimētalizm] See bi- & metal & -ism System of coinage in which two metals, gold and silver, are employed as currency standards and legal tender bimetalist, n [1 bimētalist, 2 bimētalist] See prec & -ist. One who advocates bimetalism bi-monthly, adj [1 bimōnthl, 2 bimānthl] See bi- & monthly. Happening, appearing, twice every month bin (I), n [1 bin, 2 bin] OE binna, 'manger', loan-word fr L Lat benna, 'two-wheeled cart with a body of basket-work', itself borrowed fr Gaul; the word still exists in W. benn, 'cart, vehicle' 1 A covered receptacle or box of wood or iron, used in stables to hold corn or other grain 2 Receptacle, fixed (of bricks) or movable (of iron), esp for household rubbish, dust, ashes &c., whence dustbin &c 3 Division, in a wine cellar, usually separated from others by partition of brick, in which wine of a particular vintage is stored bin (II), vb trans, fr prec To place, store, in a bin, esp used of wine bin-, pref = bi-, before vowels binary, adj [1 binār, 2 binārs] Lat binārus, 'consisting of two', fr bin, 'two together', fr base of bi-, & -rus, q v under -ary Dual, involving two (mus) binary measure, having two beats to the bar, (astron) binary system, that of two stars revolving round common centre &c binate, adj [1 bināt, 2 binōst] Lat bin See binary & -ate (bot) Double, growing in pairs (of leaves &c) bind (I), vb trans & intrans [1 bind, 2 band] OE bindan, 'bind', in all Gmc languages, fr Aryan bhēndh-*, Sort bandhai, 'he ties up, binds', Gk peisma, 'cable', fr phenh*, fr bhēndh*, penherōs, 'father-in-law, connexion (by marriage)', Lat of-fend-ix, 'knot, band', of-fend, mentum, 'strap for tying up the chin', Lith beid-ras, 'companion' The primitive & fundamental idea expressed by the base is 'tie up, fasten, connect' Cp band, bond, bond, bundle

A trans 1 To tie, make fast, fasten together, or one thing to another, surround, confine one, or a collection of things with a cord or band to bind sheaves, bind two spars together, bind one's legs together, bind one to a stake, have one's hands bound &c

Phr (fig) bound hand and foot, hindered by circumstances 2. (with up) To tie up, bandage, esp of wounds, broken limbs &c

Phr (fig) bound up in, of one's interests, affections &c, engaged in, identified with, absorbed by 3 (reflex) Bind oneself to, to pledge oneself, enter into an undertaking to do something 4 To fasten the sheets of a book, manuscript, or other loose sheets together, and fix them in a cover of leather or cloth to bind books 5 To fasten some other material (as brad) to the edge of carpet or cloth 6 To render ostive (of the action on the bowels of certain kinds of food or drugs) 7 (with over, law) To cause one to appear in Court of Justice by means of a bond 8 Piece under a legal obligation to serve for certain period bind an apprentice, to be bound apprentice. B intrans to be bound apprentice. B intrans to coalesce under pressure into a hard, firm mass (of snow, mud, clay &c) bind (II), n, fr prec Hardened clay between coal strata bind, n [1 bindr, 2 bindrē] bind (I) & -er. A person who, or machine which binds (in various uses) binding (I), n [1 binding, 2 bindrē] bind (I) & -ing That which binds or covers, esp (of a book) the material, also the manner and style in which a book is bound binding (II), adj, fr Pres Part of bind (I) Having force or authority to hold one to a pledge, oath, agreement &c a promise given under compulsion is not binding bindweed, n [1 bindwēd, 2 bindwid] A weed with long runners which encircle stems of other plants growing near, applied esp to the wild convolvulus bine, n [1 bin, 2 ban], for bind, w loss of final -d, cp. lawn for laund Name applied to plants with runners or climbing stems, esp to hops, also in names of climbing plants, e.g. woodbine binacle, n [1 bināk, 2 binēh] Modern form, earlier bittacle, fr Port bitacola, Fr habitable, all fr Lat habitablem, 'little dwelling'. This was formerly applied to a small shelter for the steersman of a ship. See habitation

The first syll may have been influenced by bin Box for a compass on a ship.

binocular, adj & n [1 binōkular, 2 binōkylē] Lat bin, 'two together', see bi-, & oculus, 'eye', see ocular 1 adj a Using both eyes at once binocular vision, b adapted for such vision. binocular microscope &c 2 n (usually pl) Binoculars, field or opera glass through which both eyes look at the same time binomial, adj & n [1 binōmial, 2 binōmial] cp Lat binōmīus, adj, 'having two names'. See bi- & nominal. The above word is formed as though fr binōmīus* & -ālis. See -al 1 adj a (alg) Having, consisting of, two terms binomial equation, binomial theorem, of Sir Isaac Newton, formula for expressing the result of raising a binomial equation to any power without multiplication at length, b (but and zool) composed of two names or words, more usually binominal, q v

2 n. (alg) Expression, equation, consisting of two terms, joined by the plus or minus sign binominal, adj [1 binōminal, 2 binōminal] Lat See prec Having two names, esp binominal system, that adopted in zoology and botany of describing animals and plants by genus and species binurong, n [1 binūrōng; 2 binūrōŋ] Native Malay name (zool) A small animal, allied to the ovet-cat, with tufted ears, prehensile tail, and coarse black hair bio-, pref Form of Gk bios, 'way of life', used in mod compounds, bios is fr Aryan gʷenos*, wh appears also in Lat vitare, 'to live', fr gʷenere*, vitus, 'living', fr gʷenos*, see vital, Sort gimti, 'he lives', O Slav živ, 'I live', Goth gus, 'living', is fr Gmc kenwas*, the exact representative of Aryan gʷenos* From the same base, though w an unexplained medial or final -s- sound, come further OE cniht, OS gnih, OHG quec, 'living', see quick. From differing forms of the same orig base come further Gk zōō, 'I live', mfin zōō, fr gʷjō-* & zōōs, 'living', q v under zoo-bio-chemistry, n [1 biō kēmistrī, 2 biōu kēmistrī] See bio- & chemistry Branch of physiology which deals with the chemical constitution of the bodies of living animals and plants biogenesis, n [1 biōgēnesis, 2 biōu gēnesis] See bio- & genesis Lat 'origin of life', specif, the name of one particular doctrine concerning the origin of life, that living cells or organisms can only arise from parent organisms like to themselves in character and structure, contrasted with abiogenesis biograph, n [1 biōgrāf, 2 biōu grāf] See bio- & -graph Lat 'living picture', continuance, also called cinematograph, for depicting action and movements by means of a series of photographs, passed rapidly before the eyes, each representing a stage in the movement, so that the effect is natural and continuous biographer, n [1 biōgrāfist, 2 biōu grāfist] fr bio- & Gk graphō, 'I write', see graph, & -er One who writes an account of a person's life biographic(al), adj [1 biōgrāfik(l), 2 biōu grāfik(l)] See prec & -ic & -al Pertaining to biography, consisting of facts about a person's life biographically, adv Prec & -ly After the manner of biography biography, n [1 biōgrāfi, 2 biōu grāfi] Gk, fr bio- & graphia, 'account', q v under -graphy History, account, description, of a person's life biological, adj [1 biōlōjīk, 2 biōu lōjīk] See biology & -ic & -al Belonging to the science of life, belonging to the life of animals and plants biologically, adv Prec & -ly From the point of view of biology biologist, n [1 biōlōjst, 2 biōu lōjst] See biology & -ist One who is engaged in the study of biology biology, n [1 biōlōj, 2 biōu lōj] bio- & Gk lógos, 'discourse'. See -logy (lit)

Science of life The study of animals and plants, of their physical and other characteristics, their habits and mode of life generally, their genealogical relations one to the other, the distribution of the various genera and species over the earth, the facts concerning their birth, and, as far as is ascertainable, of the origin and nature of life itself biometrics, n pl [1 bīōmētriks, 2 bīōu-mētriks] See bio- & metric That branch of biology which deals with the statistical, quantitative analysis of the facts of biology biometrics, n pl [1 bīōnōmiks, 2 bīōu-nōmiks] Formed fr bio- and second element of economics That branch of biology which deals with the adaptation of organisms to their surroundings & op ecology bioplasm, n [1 bīōplāzm, 2 bīōu-plāzēm] bio- & Gk plēma, 'mould, anything moulded' See plasma, plastic Germinal matter which lies at the basis of physical life, the germ plasma bioplast, n [1 bīōplast, 2 bīōu-plāst] Cp preo & Gk plasts, 'moulded' Bioplasm, germ plasma bioscope, n [1 bīōskōp, 2 bīōu-skōup] fr bio- & Gk skōpōs, 'watcher', fr skōpōs, 'I look at', see -scope New contrivance on anal of telescope & Biograph bipartite, adj [1 bīpārtīt, 2 bīpārtīt] See bi- & partite 1 (bot) Divided into two parts bipartite leaf & 2 Having, drawn up in, two corresponding documents, as shared by two parties bipartite contract, treaty &c biped, n & adj [1 bīpēd, 2 bīpēd] Lat bīpēs, adj, 'two footed', fr bi- & pēs, ped is, 'foot' See pedal An animal with two feet, such as a man, a monkey, or a bird Used, though rarely, as an adj 'naked, biped beast' (Byron) biplane, n [1 bīplān, 2 bīplōn] Recent word, coined fr bi- & Lat plānum, 'flat surface' See plane Aeroplanes with two planes birch (I), n [1 bīrōh, 2 bārt] OE birce, OHG biricho, 'birch tree', prob related to bark (I) 1 Name of tree with smooth, thin bark, the outer layer of which is white, peels off, and is renewed each year, genus Betula 2 The timber of this tree, also steth birch tree, birch bark, birch wood, birch broom 3 A weapon for inflicting corporal punishment, esp upon schoolboys, consisting of a bundle of twigs like a broom, fastened together, not necessarily of birch twigs, also called birch rod birch (II), vb trans, fr preo To inflict corporal punishment upon, to flog, beat, by means of a birch rod birchen, adj [1 bīrōhen, 2 bārt] fr birch (I) (arohano) Made of birch wood, consisting of birch trees birchen forests

bird, n [1 bārd, 2 bād] OE & ME bridd, later, w. metatb, bird, 'young bird' Ordinary word for bird in general in OE is fugol, q v under fowl. Bridd has given some trouble, since it does not occur in any other Gmc language It seems reasonable, so far as the meaning goes, to connect it w brood & brood The difficulty felt in identifying a base w: w one v 6, w has been a stumbling block, is, however, not insuperable Brood represents OE brōd, whose vowel, as OHG brūt shows, goes back to Gmc ō Thus may well be fr Aryan ō, wh wd have the so called weak grade ' If this identification be justified, then OE bridd means orig a creature 'bathed out by warmth' Cp bread & brew for further etymol details 1 A feathered biped which lays eggs bird of prey, g hawk, eagle, owl &c, game bird, g partridge, pheasant &c 2 Appld to human beings a with affectionate admiration my bird (to a young child), a bonny bird (to a pretty young girl), b vaguely meaning no more than 'fellow, person' &c a gay bird, a lively bird, a queer bird, old bird, equivalent to old buffer 3 Phrs and idioms

(fig) a little bird told me, some unnamed revealer of secrets, birds of a feather, persons of the same profession, or character, a bird in the bush, unknown possibilities, a bird in the hand, something certain, since already gained or known, the bird is (or has) flown, prisoner escaped, person one expected to find, gone away, fine feathers make (do not make) fine birds, well dressed people may appear superior to what they really are, kill two birds with one stone, attain two objects at once, bird of passage, migratory bird, or (fig) a person who stays but a short time in a place, to sing like a bird, easily, freely, and clearly, to do something like a bird, willingly bird-cage, n Receiptacle of wicker, or of wires, with wooden or metal frame, for housing birds in captivity bird-fancier, n One who knows about, is interested in, breeds, and sells, birds bird-limo, n Sturdy material, spread on twigs to catch small birds bird of paradise, n Family of birds from New Guinea, with splendid plumage bird-seed, n Small seed, used esp for feeding birds in cages bird's eye, n See bird & eye a (bot) The speedwell, b kind of fine ant tobacco, in which the sections of the stems somewhat resemble the eye of a bird, o in Phr bird's-eye view, extensive view of a town or country seen from above; general survey of a subject or argument bird's nest, n Nest of a bird bird's nesting, search for nests in order to collect eggs birme, n [1 bīrm, 2 bā(s)rim] fr bi- & Lat rēmus, 'oar', wh may stand for 'ret mo', cp Gk erēmdn, 'oar', erēsd, 'row', Scrt aritrā, 'propellant, oar', aritr, 'rower' These are all fr forms of base erē*, 'drive forward, row' See row (II) Galley with two banks of oars birretta, n [1 bīrēta, 2 bīrēta] Ital berretta, Low Lat birretum, fr birrus, 'cape of silk or wool', perh fr Gk purrds, 'yellow, flame coloured', fr pur, 'fire', q v under pyro Cap of peculiar shape worn by Roman Catholic clergy, cardinals having red, bishops purple, and priests black berettes This head gear has recently been adopted also by some clergy of the Church of England birth, n [1 bērt, 2 bāp] The genuine OE form is (ge) byrð, 'birth, parentage', in ME thus gives place to the form brīte, borrowed fr ON byrðr, this is cogn w the OE form, the d in the latter being due to a type w the accent on a different syll in pre Gmc — bhr̥t* giving the Engl type, bhr̥t the ON type The orig base is bher*, cp bear (I), burden Primitive meaning is bearing 1 The act of bringing forth off spring three at a birth, childbirth 2 a The physical process of being born the day of one's birth, 'Our birth is but a sleep and a forgetting' (Wordsworth), b (fig) spiritual regeneration a birth unto righteousness 3 That produced in child bearing a monstrous birth 4 Descent, lineage, family, pedigree a (gen) a man of good, humble, mean, birth, he behaved as became his birth, b specul, good, distinguished lineage a person of birth, of no birth Phr a man of birth and breeding birthday, n [1 bērtidē, 2 bāpde] The day on which anyone's birth takes place, the anniversary of the day Birthday book, one in which people enter their names under the date of their birth Birthday cake, specially large, good, decorated cake made for a birthday Birthday honours, honours and titles bestowed, as is beloved, upon deserving persons, in connexion with the birthday of the Sovereign birth-mark, n See birth & mark (I) Discoloration, or patch upon some part of the skin of the body, dating from birth, and usually ineradicable, a zosterus birth-place, n See birth & place House, or town, at which a person is born birth-rate, n See birth & rate (I) Proportion of births to population of a country birthright, n [1 bērtit, 2 bāprait] That which belongs to one by virtue of his birth, inheritance, that which falls to one because of his nationality or race freedom of speech and action is an Englishman's birthright bis, adv [1 bis, 2 bis] Fr & Ital, fr Lat, 'twice, again' See under bi- (mus) Used to denote that a passage is to be played over again, English equivalent, repeat biscuit, n [1 biskit, 2 biskit] Fr biscuit, fr Lat bis coctus, 'twice cooked' The spelling byskit is found in 16th cent Engl, implying a pronunciation like our own See decoot & cook (III) 1 A thin, crisp cake, made of flour and eggs, sometimes spiced and mixed with currents, sweetened or unsweetened, made in many varieties and sizes and very popular in England Ship's biscuit, an old-established, coarse kind of biscuit, used at sea as a substitute for bread biscuit ware, n Baked, unglazed pottery, a fine pottery imitating china bise, n [1 bēz, 2 biz] Fr Origin unknown Cold (north east) wind which blows from snow covered mountains in Switzerland bisect, vb trans [1 bīsekt, 2 baisekt] fr bi- & Lat secl (um), PP type of seclre, 'to out', see under sect, section (lit) To out in two, (namely, esp in math) to divide into two equal parts bisection, n [1 bīseksjən, 2 baiseksjən] Preo & -ion Act of bisecting bisector, bisectrix, n [1 bīsektor, -trix, 2 baisekta, -trika] bisect & -or (geom) Line which bisects a line or an angle bisexual, adj [1 bīseksjuəl, 2 baiseksjuəl] bi- & sexual Having both sexes in one individual, as certain plants and hermaphrodite animals bishop, n [1 bīshup, 2 bīshp] OE biscop, O H G bisep, borrowed in W Gmc period at latest, fr Lat episcopus, fr Gk episkopos, 'overseer, guardian', fr epi, 'upon, over', & skopōs, 'watcher' See epi- & scope 1 An officer of the Christian Church specially consecrated by another bishop and given authority to perform certain duties, he has a certain spiritual functions, the conferring of ecclesiastical orders, i.e the ordaining of deacons and priests, and consecration of other bishops, and confirmation, which he alone can perform, and b responsibility for the superintendence, guidance, and organization of the spiritual, educational, and social work of the Church within his sphere of jurisdiction or bishopric, a bishop also performs all the functions of a priest 2 Name of a piece in chess which has a top carved into the shape of a bishop's mitre 3 Name of a drink made of spiced wine bishopric, n [1 bīshnprīk, 2 bīshprik] OE biscoprice, fr biscop, see preo, & rice, 'realm, dominion', a word found in most Gmc languages, & prob borrowed very early fr Celt rik s, ri (op personal names such as Vercingetorix &c, the base of wh is cogn w Lat rēx, 'king', rego, 'I rule' &c see rex. From same stem are Scrt rāj, rājan, 'king, rajah', rājati, 'he rules, is powerful', the fundamental meaning is 'powerful', wh survives in the OE adj rice, 'powerful, mighty', see rich The forms in other Gmc languages are OS riki, OHG rihhi, Mod Germ reich, 'empire, dominion, rule', Goth reih, 'rule' &c, reihis, 'mighty' The office of bishop, the area or diocese over which the jurisdiction of a bishop extends bismillah, interj [1 bīsmilla, 2 bīsmilla] Arab bismillāh, 'in the name of God' Pious ejaculation uttered by Mohammedans before entering upon an enterprise bismuth, n [1 bīzmuth, 2 bīzməp] Origin unknown, first called ismuth by Basil Valentine who recognized it in 15th cent One of the metallic elements, used in metallurgy as an alloy, and as a medical drug bison, n [1 bīsn, 2 bāsn] Lat bīsn, -ontis, also in Gk, but apparently Gmc in origin, op OE wasend, OHG wasunt, ON wasundr. Wild ox of which two species only exist, the European aurochs and North American buffalo, with very powerful humped shoulders, a mane, and short horns.

bisque, n [1 bisk, 2 hisk] Fr, in first sense connected w biscuit, origin of other senses unknown. 1 Unglazed porcelain used for statuettes. 2 A rich thick soup, made with crayfish &c. 3 A point given to another in certain games, which he may take at any stage, as in a sett or at a hole in golf &c.

bissextile, adj & n [1 bīskstīl, 2 bīskstīl] Fr (annee bissextile), fr L bīskstīl annus, a year having an extra day intercalated, formerly Feb 24, wh was the sixth day before the oisends of March (March 1), there were therefore two days of same name, lit 'twice the 6th'. See bī- & soxt & -ile. Name for leap year, still used in French.

bistort, n [1 bīstort, 2 bīstīt] fr Fr bīstorte, fr Low Lat bīstorta (herba), 'twice twisted plant', fr bīst, 'twice', see bī-, & fort (um), PP type of torquere, 'to twist'. See torque. A perennial plant, allied to buckwheat, with twisted root stock, the plant yields an astringent medicinal drug.

bistoury, n [1 bīstūr, 2 bīstūrī] fr Fr bīstour, of unknown origin. A thin, straight, or slightly curved surgical knife or scalpel.

bistre, n [1 bīstēr, 2 bīstēr] Fr, origin unknown. A dark-brown pigment or colour.

bit (I), n [1 bīt, 2 bīt] OE bīta, 'morsel, bit', lit 'portion bitten off', connected w bītan, op under bite. The orig onomopon in sonso w bīting has entirely disappeared fr present day usage. 1 A portion, piece, part, detached from some larger thing, a small quantity (in various uses). Phrs to give a person a bit of one's mind, speak plainly in pointing out faults, a nice bit of money, a good deal, to have a bit of dinner, some dinner, bit by bit, gradually, not a bit better &c, not at all, to do one's bit, one's share of duty &c. 2 Specif, a small coin sixpenny, threepenny, bit (obsolesc). 3 Part of an instrument for boring, a drill, worked by a brace, also centrebit.

bit (II), n. Closely connected w proo. There is no precise ancestor recorded in OE, bīto, 'bit for a horse', has dimin suff, ge bātū, 'bit and bridle', is fr earlier bātū*, the primary grade of same stem. The primitive meaning is 'something on which (a horse) bites'. A bar of steel, or two short, rounded bars linked together placed in a horse's mouth, from which he is ridden or driven, kept in place by straps, and to which the reins are attached. Phr to take the bit between (the, one's) teeth, (of a horse) to run away, (fig) to be out of control.

bit (III), vb trans, fr proo. To put a bit in mouth of (horse &c).

bit (IV), vb. Pret of bite. ME bīt, fr tho OE PP type, see bitten. The regular ME Pret bāt, fr OE bāt, survived until the 16th cent.

bitch, n [1 bīch, 2 bīt] OE bīcce, cogn w ON bīkka. Origin unknown. 1 Female of dog, wolf, or fox. 2 (in low speech) Woman of bad character.

bite (I), vb trans & intrans [1 bīt, 2 bāt] OE & OS bītan, OHG bīzan, Goth bīstan, ON bīta, 'bite'. Cogn w Lat fīdere, 'cleave, split', of wh forms without the nasal are seen in perf fīdī, & PP fīssum, fr fīd lom*, see fissile, op also Sort bīstās, 'split' &c, exactly cogn w Lat fīssus, fr bīdām, 'I split, ont, smash', further Gk phēdōmas, 'I am sparing', phēdō, 'sparing, thrift'. The idea is that of cutting oneself off, from, depriving oneself. The Gmc languages have specialized the use of the stem for the meaning 'to split, divide, with the teeth'. 1 A To use the teeth upon, cut into with the teeth, also, cut into, penetrate, of a knife or sword. Phrs to bite the dust, fall to, roll on, the ground, bite one's thumb at, (fig) show contempt for a person, bite one's lips, show annoyance, much bitten with, taken with, filled with enthusiasm for, b (used also with prep) bite at, snap at, bite into, make deep incision in, bite off, separate, detach, a portion of something with teeth, (fig) to bite off more than one can chew, to undertake something beyond one's powers. 2 To have a habit of attacking with teeth (of animals) or sting (of insects), use teeth on without provocation does your dog bite?, he never bites, I've been dreadfully bitten by a flea, gnat, mosquito, do dragon flies bite? 3 (extended use) a To act on by friction, catch, grip (of machinery, wheels) the rails were so slippery that the wheels of the engine would not bite, the brake will not bite, b to act on chemically, as an acid. 4 To cause pain to, make to smart, to nip. this mustard doesn't bite much, the frost will bite the fruit blossom, (fig) to hurt the feelings, wound susceptibilities. Pope knew how to make his satires bite. 5 To take a bait (of fish) the fish were biting well, also (fig, of persons), to accept an offer, or suggestion, allow oneself to be oayed or deceived. I hinted that I would lend him my house, but he wouldn't bite, he offered great advantages to those who joined the society at once, hoping many would bite.

bite (II), n, fr proo. 1 A nip, snap, with the tooth. Phr his bark is worse than his bite, not so dangerous as he appears. 2 Wound inflicted with teeth or sting. dog's bite, gnat's bite. 3 A small quantity of food. a bite of dinner &c. 4 Sharp physical or mental pain, smart, sting. the bite of a wound, the bite of a lampoon. 5 Pungency, sting. whisky with a bite in it, (fig) point, cogency, of style, of an epigram, jokes &c. 6 An attempt by a fish to take angler's bait, b (fig) tentative offer or advance by a person towards accepting a proposed bargain, suggestion, hint &c.

biter, n [1 bīter, 2 hāt] fr bīto (I) & -or. One who bites, in various senses (lit and fig). biting, adj [1 bīting, 2 bātīng] fr Pres Part of bīta (I). In varying senses piercing, cold, of wind, hail, etungent, pungent, painful (esp fig) biting sarcasm, hony &c.

bitingly, adv. Proo & -ly. In a biting manner.

bitten, vb [1 bītn, 2 bītān] PP of bīto, OE bīten, ME bīten.

bitter (I), adj, adv, & n [1 bīter, 2 bīte] OE bīter, OS, OHG bīttar, Goth bīttar, 'bitter', in lit & fig senses, connected w bīto (I). 1 adj. A tasting acid or sour, the reverse of sweet, as wormwood or quinine, bitter beer, light clear beer, with slight astringent taste, due to hops &c. b (fig) painful, grievous, distressing, hard to be borne, malignant, acrimonious, rankling, envious, relentless. bitter pain, hardship, grief, disappointment, poverty, bitter quarrel, strife, bitter enemy, bitter rival. Phr to the bitter end, this may be nautical in origin, op next word. 2 adv. Bitterly 'tis bitter cold'. 3 n. A Bitterness, b (glass of) bitter beer.

bitter (II), n. See bitts (nant). Also bitter end, the inboard end of a cable fastened to the bitts.

bitter apple, n. Colocynthis. bitterling, n [1 bīterīng, 2 bītīng] bitter (I) & -īng. A small freshwater fish of the carp family, with a bitter flavour.

bitterly, adv [1 bīterlī, 2 bītālī] bitter (I) & -ly. In a bitter manner (esp fig) to regret bitterly, opelak bitterly, resentfully.

bittern (I), n [1 bītern, 2 hītān] ME bītour, fr Fr būtor, fr Low Lat būtōrius, 'bittern', Lat būtō, 'huzzard', būtō, 'bittern', op also Lat būbo, 'owl', būtō, 'to nter the cry of an owl', op further Gk būzō, 'I cry like an owl', būzā, 'owl'. The stem is imitative in origin & refers to the booming cry of the bird. The final -n in the Engl word may be due to anal w heron, hern, another marsh bird closely related to the bittern. European marsh bird allied to the heron, with speckled and streaked dark plumage and deep booming call.

bittern (II), n, fr bitter (I). The very bitter liquor remaining after crystallization in salt works.

bitterness, n [1 bīternes, 2 bītēnis] fr bitter (I) & ness. 1 The taste of anything bitter. 2 (fig, esp of feelings) Severity, virulence, animosity, grudging, envy, relentlessness, ill feeling.

bitters, n pl [1 bīterz, 2 bītēz] See bitter (I). Liquors made from various herbs, alcohol, sugar &c, used mixed with stronger drinks, such as gin, sherry &c as appetizers.

bitor sweet, n, fr bitor (I) & sweet. A trailing plant, Solanum dulcamara, the woody nightshade.

bitts, n pl [1 bīts, 2 bītēz] Earlier (16th cent) beetes. Proo Scand, op Dan bēting, 'bitts', Swed bēting, 'a bitt', & perh ON bīte, 'beam'. Etymol doubtful. Pair of heavy vertical timbers or iron posts on ship's deck to which hawsers, cables &c are secured.

bitumen, n [1 bītūmen, 2 bītūman] Lat bītūmen, 'mineral pitch', an Oscean Umbrian dialect form, instead of true Lat bītūmen*. This points to an earlier form of the stem, gītū-*, wh appears in Sert gītū, 'lac, gum', & in Gmc, in OE cwidu, cudu, 'gum, resin', & OHG quīt, Mod Germ līt, 'cement, gum, mastic'. Natural mineral pitch, asphalt.

bituminize, vb trans [1 bītūmīnz, 2 bītūdmīnānz] See bitumen & -ize. To impregnate, cover, with, convert into, bitumen.

bituminous, adj [1 bītūmīnus, 2 bītūdmīnēs] bitumen & -ous. Belonging to, impregnated with, having the consistency or smell of bitumen.

bivalence, -cy, n [1 bīvalēns(ī), 2 bīvēlōns(ī)] fr bī- & valēncy (chem) State, condition, of being bivalent.

bivalent, adj [1 bīvēlānt, 2 bīvēlōlānt] (chem) Having a valency of two, having power of replacing two atoms of hydrogen.

bivalve, n [1 bīvēlv, 2 bīvēvēlv] fr bī- & valve, Lat valva, 'leaf of a door'. Mollusc, such as the oyster or mussel, which has a double, hinged shell.

bivouac (I), vb intrans [1 bīvōcak, 2 bīvōcakz] Fr, earlier bīvāc, introduced during Thirty Years' War, fr Germ beiwache, lit 'a guard, a keeping watch', fr bei, prep, q v under by, & wache, q v under wake (I), watch (I). Originally, to be on guard against surprises. Now, simply to camp temporarily, in improvised shelters, and usually without tents.

bivouac (II), n. See proo. A temporary night encampment for an army or military detachment.

bizarre, adj [1 bīzār, 2 bīzāz] Fr, fr Span bizarro, 'valiant', said to be a Basque word. It seems to have originally signified 'furious, enraged', then in 16th cent Fr 'brave, intrepid', later 'capricious', & finally 'strange, fantastic' (of persons). Eccentric, peculiar, queer, having a strange appearance, dress &c., (of taste, style, art &c.) fantastic, extravagant, grotesque.

blab, vb intrans [1 blāb, 2 blēh] fr ON blabba, Dan blabbre, 'babble, gabble'. To reveal confidences or secrets.

blabber, n [1 blāber, 2 blēbe] Proo & -er. One who blabs, tale teller, sneak.

black (I), adj [1 blāk, 2 blēk] OE olac, 'black', OHG blāh. It is possible that this word belongs to the same group as Lat flamma, 'blazing fire, flame', fr flag ra*, related to flagrāre, 'to blaze, glow, burn', Gk phleg em, 'burn, scorch', phleg ma, 'heat, inflammation', phlōz for phlōg*, 'flame, blaze', phlog ists (same suff as flamma), 'blaze' &c & many other Gk words of kindred meaning, further Sort bharg ad, 'gleam, radiance' &c. In this case black means primarily, 'burnt, scorched, darkened by fire'. The differentiation in meaning fr 'glowing, blazing' to 'black' represents aulforant ways of considering the same thing, or different effects of the same cause. See also flagrant, flame, phlegm. 1 Having the property of absorbing the light rays, therefore colourless, dark, sombre, swarthy, colour of soot, the opposite of white. black clouds, black darkness. Phrs black in the face, dark red, from passion or effort, black art, neuromancy, witchcraft, magio, to be in one's black books, in disgrace, black and blue, very much bruised, black cap, worn by judge in pronouncing death sentence, a black eye, bruise round orbit, black flag, pirates' emblem, signal of execution, black sheep, person of bad character, to prove that black is white, try to establish a paradox, argue against evidence, black as soot, as night, as your hat, very dark. 2 (fig. in variety of senses) a (of thoughts) Gloomy, despondent, sad, dismal, b (of the character) wicked, perverse, infamous. a black soul, heart &c, c (of appearance, expression of face &c) sullen, angry, ill-tempered. black looks, d (of one's fortunes, position in the world, prospect, fate &c) hopeless, desperate, giving rise to despondency. Phrs to look black at one, disapprovingly, not so black as he is painted, better than his reputation. black (II), n, fr. prec. 1 The pigment or colour of black, the darkest colour, that of coal or soot. 2 Applied to a variety of things which are black in colour. a clothes to wear black, clad in decent black, b small particles of soot, such as falls from the atmosphere in towns, c a negro, d dirt, a smear of any kind to hose some black on one's hands, black and white, pen and ink drawing, have something (down) in black and white, keep a written record. black (III), vb trans, fr. black (I). To put black stuff on to certain things, esp. to black boots (polish with blacking), to black a grate, polish with blacklead, black out, obliterate (printed matter) with printer's ink. blackamoor, n [1 blakamōr, 2 blakamō] black & Moor (I) Negro. black-and-tan, n. See black & tan. Black with spots or markings of tan or brown colour, esp. black and tan terrier, a small smooth-haired terrier with such markings, the Black and Tans, popular name of a special British force employed in Ireland at the end of the War, dressed in khaki uniform with black caps, belts &c, like those of the Royal Irish Constabulary. black-a-vised, adj [1 blāk a vīd, 2 blāk a vīd] Hybrid word. Black & Fr a vis, 'to sight', & -ed. See visage. Dark, swarthy, in complexion. blackball, vb trans [1 blakbawl, 2 blakbōl] To vote against in a secret ballot, esp. for membership of a club, by putting a black ball in ballot box. blackbeetle, n [1 blakbētl, 2 blakbētl] Popular name of the cockroach, q v, which is neither black nor a beetle. blackberry, n [1 blakberri, 2 blakberri] Small black juicy fruit, full of seeds, which grows wild on brambles. blackbird, n [1 blakbērd, 2 blakbērd] 1 Common wild bird, Turdus merula, allied to the thrushes, with dark plumage, sometimes piebald, with a very sweet note. 2 In Australia and Pacific Islands, name given to natives, Kanakas, who used to be kidnapped and shipped to work under forced indentures, whence the term blackbirding for this practice. blackboard, n [1 blakbōrd, 2 blakbōrd] Sheet of wood painted black, used in lecture-rooms and schoolrooms by the teacher, who writes upon it with chalk. black buck, n. The Indian antelope. blackcap, n [1 blaklap, 2 blaklap] Name of a species of warbler, Sylvia atricapilla, the cock having a black capped head. blackcock, n [1 blakkok, 2 blakkok] Another name for the black grouse, black game, or heath cock, the female of which is the 'grey hen', found in the Highlands of Scotland, north of England, in Ireland, and many parts of Europe and Asia. black-currant, n. Small black juicy fruit, with peculiar pungent odour and taste, Ribes nigra. Black Death, n. Epidemic, resembling what is now called bubonic plague, which spread over the greater part of Europe in 14th century. So called from the symptom of internal hæmorrhages which darkened the skin of sufferers. black-draught, n. Aperient medicine composed of senna and Epsom salts. Black Eagle, n. Title of the first order of knighthood of the former kingdom of Prussia. blacken, vb trans & trans [1 blāken, 2 blāken] black (I) & -an 1 trans To grow black. 2 trans a To make black. blacken one's face, b (fig) to speak ill of, attribute bad conduct &c to, cast aspersions on reputation, blacken a person's character. blackfellow, n [1 blākfēlō, 2 blākfēlō] Popular name of an Australian aboriginal. Black Friar, n. Friar of Dominican order. blackguard (I), n [1 blāgard, 2 blāgard] 1 Name originally given to the lowest class of menials employed in a kitchen, from the dirty nature of their occupation. 2 A low, disreputable ruffian, a scoundrel, a man of low moral character and devoid of honour. blackguard (II), vb trans, fr. prec. To abuse violently, to call (person) a blackguard. blackguardism, n [1 blāgardizm, 2 blāgardizm] See prec. & -ism. Ruffianly, rowdy behaviour, dishonourable, immoral conduct. blackguardly, adj [1 blāgardh, 2 blāgardh] See prec. & -ly. 1 Having character or appearance of a blackguard. a blackguardly fellow. 2 Disreputable, unprincipled, dishonourable, ruffianly. blackguardly conduct &c. blackhead, n [1 blākhēd, 2 blākhēd] Small pimple on the face &c caused by the blocking of a sebaceous duct, the head of which is blackened by dirt. black-hearted, adj. Having an evil, malignant nature. blacking, n [1 blāking, 2 blāking] black (I) & -ing. Black substance used for blackening and polishing boots. blackish, adj [1 blāklush, 2 blākish] black (I) & -ish. Rather black, tending towards black or dark shade of colour, not quite black. black-jack, n. See black (I) & jack (III). Large leather onp, or can, for drink (obs). black-lead, n. A mineral, graphite, or plumbago, dark grey in colour, quite different from lead, composed of carbon with small proportion of iron, used in making pencils, and for polishing grates. blackleg, n [1 blākleg, 2 blākleg] Origin unknown. 1 A swindler and cheat, esp. at cards and in rousing. 2 A workman, member of a Trade Union, who, when a strike is threatened or declared, offers to work at lower rate of wages than that for which his Union is contending. black-letter, n & adj. 1 n Type, also called Gothic, in which earliest books were printed. It still survives in common use in Germany. 2 adj. Of documents and books written or printed in black letter type. black-letter book, early printed book. black-list, n & vb trans. 1 n List of persons against whom charges are made, convictions are recorded &c. 2 vb To enter the name of (person) on a black list. blackmail, n. & vb trans [1 blākmail, 2 blākmail] black (I) & -mail, 'rent', fr. O N māl, 'agreement'. 1 n Extortion of money by threats to expose a discreditable secret. 2 vb To threaten a person with exposure unless he pays a price for silence, to extort money from by such threats. blackmailer, n [1 blākmailōr, 2 blākmailōr] Prec. & -er. One who practises blackmail. black Maria, n [1 blakmaria, 2 blakmaria] Van, painted black, in which prisoners are conveyed between the gaol and the court of law where they are tried. black mass, n. 1 A mass, or onchastio service, in which the vestments &c are black as at a Requiem Mass. 2 An obscene travesty of the mass, as celebrated by worshippers of Satan. blackness, n [1 blāknes, 2 blāknie] See black (I) & -ness. 1 The quality of being black. blackness of the night. 2 (fig.) Wickedness. blackness of men's hearts. black-pudding, n. A kind of sausage made from pig's blood, suet &c. Black Rod, n. A high official of the Order of the Garter acting as usher in the House of Lords, so called from his ebony rod of office. black-rot, n. A fungus attacking various cultivated vegetables. black rubric, n. See rubric. An ordinance or declaration as to kneeling, printed, in black, not red, and therefore not strictly a 'rubric', at the end of the Communion Service in the Prayer Book of 1661. black-rust, n. Disease in cereal plants. See rust. blacksmith, n [1 blaksmith, 2 blāksmith] See black (I) & smith. A smith who works in iron, commonly applied to the smith who shoes horses, properly farrier. black-strap, n. Name given colloquially to a strong, immature, or inferior kind of port wine, also to a mixture of rum and molasses. blackthorn, n [1 blakthorn, 2 blākthōn] See thorn. 1 The species of thorn tree, Prunus spinosa, which bears the sloe. 2 (esp. in Ireland) A stout cudgel out from this tree. blackwater fever, n [1 blakwater fēver, 2 blākwater fēver] An acute disease, esp. of tropical Africa, characterized by intermittent fever, vomiting, and presence in the urine of hæmoglobin, which turns it deep red or black in colour. bladder, n [1 blader, 2 blāde] OE blæddre, 'blister, bladder', connected w Gmc stem *blā(w), 'blow, inflate', q v under blade, blow (I), blast, blossom. 1 (anat.) Bag or sac consisting of tough elastic membrane, in the bodies of animals, which holds secreted liquids. gall bladder, urinary bladder &c, the latter usually called the bladder. 2 a Any tough, inflated membranous bag, o.g. football bladder (of india rubber, inflated, which keeps the ball tight and in right shape, and resilient), bladder of lord &c, b an air sac, as the swimming bladder, sound of fish, or as in seaweeds &c. 3 (fig.) A pompous, loquacious person, o.p. windbag. bladderwort, n [1 bladerwōrt, 2 blādwōrt] See prec. & wort. An aquatic plant which has small vesicles or sacs which catch floating insects &c. bladdery, adj [1 bladeri, 2 blāderi] See prec. & -y. Puffed out, inflated, like a bladder. blade, n [1 blād, 2 bleid] OE blæd, 'leaf', is very rare, the common word being, as now, leaf. In O H G blat is the normal word, Mod Germ blatt. These words belong to the stem seen in OE blouon, 'to bloom', blōsma, 'blossom', Goth blōma, OS blōma, O H G bluoma, 'flower', & OS blōnan, O H G bluoen, bluoen, 'to flower, bloom' (see blow (IV)). OE blād, a different form of gradation, means 'growth (of trees, plants &c), fruit, flower'. All these are cogn. w Lat flōs, 'flower', flōrē, 'to flower', & various other words connected w 'flower', see flower. Ir has bláth, 'a flower'. The Aryan stem was *blāh, *blhē, *bhā, corresponding respectively to Gmc *blō, *blā, *blā, as seen in the above Gmc words. The meaning, 'swell out into bud, to bloom', was early specialized fr the orig. wh. was 'puff up, swell', in a more general sense. The stem in blow (I), of the wind, is probably the same, & further that in belly & bellows. 1 Blade is now used chiefly of the young narrow leaves of corn, and of grass, otherwise rather vaguely, in poetry of foliage. 2 (by extension) Applied to various long, narrow flat objects. a blade of a sword, knife the cutting part, b blade of an oar, of a paddle (for sweepers), o shoulder-blade, flat bone, d (fig sense, from a) a merry, rollicking, swaggering, boisterous young fellow a gay, lively &c blade, cp the use of musketts, sabres, bayonets, meaning those who carry them, men, soldiers blaeberry, n [1 bláberí, 2 bleibéri], fr blae, 'blue', see blue & berry A name for the bilberry, q v, or whortleberry blah, n [1 bláh, 2 blā] (slang, USA) Rubbish, blether blain, n [1 blān, 2 blēm] OE blegen, ME blaine, fr Pr OE blegin*, fr stem blag*, Aryan bhlagh-, 'swell', the full form of wh is bheleg-. See remarks under belly, bulge, & other words there referred to Blain means ultimately 'swelling' Small swelling, pimple or pustule blame (I), vb trans [1 blām, 2 blēm] Fr blāmer, O Fr blasmer, fr Lat blasphēmāre, 'abuse, vituperate', a Gk loan-word fr blasphēmē, 'I speak profanely, speak ill of' See blaspheme 1 To find fault with (a person), gen with for he is greatly to be blamed for his negligence 2 To attack, fix responsibility for an offence, failure &c upon a person, hold culpably responsible we know not whom to blame for the disaster, who is to blame for setting the house on fire? (colloq.) Phr To blame something upon a person, hold him responsible blame (II), n, fr preo 1 Censure, fault-finding, expression of disapproval he justly incurred great blame for his incompetence 2 Responsibility for an offence or failure where does the blame lie for the failure of our diplomacy? 3 It is small blame to you that you have been unsuccessful Phrs to lay the blame upon (a person) for, to bear the blame, take the responsibility, incur reproach blameless, adj [1 blāmles, 2 blēmles] Preo & -less Free from blame, innocent, immaculate, virtuous blamelessly, adv Preo & -ly In a blameless manner blamelessness, n See preo & -ness Innocence, piety, virtue blameworthy, adj [1 blām-wērdh, 2 blēm-wādi] See blame (II) & worthy Deserving of blame, of censure blanch, vb trans & intrans [1 blānsh, 2 blānʃ], fr Fr blanchir, 'make white', fr blanc, 'white' See blank (I) a trans To make white to blanch almonds, take the skin off them, to blanch sea kale, and other plants, by keeping them in the dark, b intrans, to grow, turn pale, esp with shame or fear blanchmange, n, pseudo-Fr pron [1 blā-mōnz, 2 blēmāz] Fr blancmanger, 'white food' See blank & manger Sweet dish with insipid, mawkish taste, made in a mould, of milk stiffened with cornflour, isinglass, or gelatine bland, adj [1 'bland, 2 blænd], fr Lat blandus, 'smooth-tongued, having a winning address' Various explanations have been offered in explanation of this word, several of wh present phonological difficulties That wh connects the word w Lith balandis, 'dove', Lett blādu, blāsi, 'to chatter', is on the whole the most probable With it, the Lat words blaterāre, 'to babble, chatter', blatero, 'babbling', may also be connected The ultimate meaning wd thus be 'talkative, flattering, well spoken' 1 (of manner and address) Ingratulating, courteous, gentle, caressing, pleasant 2 (of climate) Mild, balmy, genial, temperate blatantly, vb trans [1 blāndsh, 2 blēndʃ], fr Lat blandiri, 'flatter', fr blandus, & -ish See bland To flatter, coax, persuade with soft words blatishment, n [1 blāndishment, 2 blēnd-ʃment] Preo & -ment Flattery, persuasion, (often pl) arts of persuading, (gen in slightly unfavourable sense) artful flattery with ulterior motive blatly, adv [1 blāndh, 2 blēndi] bland & -ly In a bland, gentle manner blatness, n. See preo & -ness The quality of being bland, mildness, gentleness blank (I), adj [1 blāngk, 2 blēngk], fr Fr blanc, op Ital bianco The word is Gmo in origin, cp OHG blanch, 'white, shining', OE blanca, blanca, 'white horse', ON blakkr (for blankr*, 'white horse') Prob related to blink, & ultimately to Gmo blik-*, 'shine', OE &c blitan, 'shine' See further under bleach & bleak Orig meaning, 'bright, dazzling' 1 Empty, vacant, void (chiefly in extended sense, not written on or marked, of paper), original sense of white has practically disappeared a blank page (in a book), a blank sheet of paper, a blank space (on a page) Phr a blank cheque, one not filled up, hence (fig) to give a blank cheque, unlimited amount of money, blank cartridge, one without shot or bullet 2 Empty, unoccupied (of ground) many blank spaces are still left in the suburbs 3 (fig) a Lacking ideas, having forgotten: my mind, memory, is perfectly blank on the subject, b lacking expression in the face, as through a shock, disappointment a blank look, expression 4 Unrhymed (of verse) blank verse, usually of ten syllables, or five feet 5 A vulgar expletive, used instead of a genuine oath, this modern vulgarity in speech is due to the habit of printing oaths with the initial followed by —, as d—blank (II), n, fr preo 1 Empty, unoccupied space, gap, esp on a page (see preo 1), a piece of paper with nothing printed or written on it, as a ticket in a lottery which does not win a prize Phr to draw a blank, (lit) receive a useless ticket, hence, to fail in any enterprise or quest 2 (fig) Vacancy, emptiness of mind, esp from shock or strong emotion my mind became a complete blank, I forgot everything 3 Space, emptiness, left when something has been lost or removed (lit) now that the picture has been taken down it leaves a great blank on the wall, (fig) her son's death has made a great blank in her life blanket (I), n [1 blāngkt, 2 blēngkt], fr Fr blanc, see blank (I) & -et, dunn suff, 'the white thing' a Thick, soft woollen cloth, often bleached nearly white, but also sometimes grey, yellow, or striped, b covering for a bed made of this material, c rug strapped on to a horse in the stable Phrs to be in a blanket, schoolboy practice of tossing a person from a blanket, into which he falls, wet blanket, (fig) any depressing influence which damps hopes or enthusiasm blanket (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 To cover with a blanket 2 (naut) To take the wind out of the sails of (another vessel) by steering between her and the wind blankly, adv [1 blāngkly, 2 blēngkly] blank (I) & -ly In a blank manner, esp a (of look, manner &c) vacantly to stare blankly at &c, b (of statements) flatly, cp point blank blankness, n [1 blāngknes, 2 blēngknes] See preo & -ness State, quality, of being blank blare, vb & n [1 blār, 2 blē] Prob loan-word, fr Du blaren, ultimately imitative, cogn w blaze (I) & blow (I) 1 vb To peal out, esp of a trumpet, to utter noisily 2 n Noise made by something which blares blare of a trumpet &c blarney, n & vb [1 blārn, 2 blāni], fr Blarney Castle, in Ireland, where is said to receive the gift of being persuasive and agreeable of address 1 n Flattery, pleasant, persuasive, cajoling humbug, insincere compliments 2 vb To flatter, cajole, speak coaxingly and persuasively blaze, adj [1 blāzā, 2 blēzi] Fr, PP of blāzer, 'to take the edge off, to pall' Sated, surfeited, bored through having enjoyed too much of anything blaspheme, vb intrans & trans [1 blāsfēm, 2 blāsfīm], fr Gk blasphēmēin, 'speak profanely, speak ill of someone', a compound of blas- & phēm, 'speak' The origin of blas-* is doubtful It is perh. fr mlaps*, Aryan mlak-, or mlag-, op Gk blabē, 'hurt, damage', & blap ian*, 'to harm' &c, these are cogn w Lat mulcare, 'to beat', for mulcāre, & mulctā, 'punishment, fine', for mulcta* (see mulct), perh w Sort marāyah, 'he insults', & O Slav u-mldčiti, 'to curb, restrain' Gk phēm, 'I speak', phēmia, 'speech', is cogn w Lat fā rī, 'to speak', fā na, 'rumour, common talk' &c See further under fame a intrans To utter imputes, profanities, curse and swear, b trans, to rail against with profanity, revile blasphemer, n [1 blāsfēmer, 2 blāsfīm] Preo & -er One who utters blasphemies, speaks profanely, one who reviles blasphemous, adj [1 blāsfēmūs, 2 blāsfīmūs] See preo & -ous a (of persons) Given to blasphemy, b (of language &c) of a blasphemous, profane, character blasphemously, adv Preo & -ly In a blasphemous, profane, manner blasphemy, n [1 blāsfēm, 2 blāsfīm] Gk blasphēmia See blaspheme & -y Foul, impious talk, profanity, profane abuse blast (I), n [1 blāst, 2 blāst] OE blæst, 'blast, a blowing', connected w OE blātan, 'blow', & -st-formative suff Cp blow (I) 1 Sudden, violent movement of the wind, a squall, a boisterous gust of wind 2 The draught in a smelting furnace Phr to be in, out of, blast, of a furnace, working or not, hence (fig) of any kind of activity, in full blast 3 Sound of a wind instrument blast of a trumpet &c 4 (fig) Scorching, withering effect of malicious rumour, lying reports &c 'The rage of power, the blast of public breath' (Pope) 5 Detonation caused in breaking up rocks by explosives; the charge of explosive used in a single operation of the kind blast (II), vb trans, fr preo OE blāstan, 'blow' 1 To shatter by explosion, blow up, esp of rocks in quarrying operations 2 To wither, shrivel up, scorch as with fire, or excessive cold a single night's frost in May often blasts the fruit buds, and ruins the crop for that year, a blasted woodland, heath &c 3 (fig) To destroy, ruin, bring to nothing (of reputation, honour, good name, hopes &c) 4 An oath (not particularly forcible, but chiefly used in low society) blast it!, (adj fr P P) a blasted nuisance &c blast-furnace, n Type of smelting furnace in which hot air is blown in under pressure at the bottom, producing an intense heat blastoderm, n [1 blāstodārm, 2 blāstodām], fr Gk blāstos, 'bud, sprout, growth', & dērma, 'skin' Etymol of first element doubtful, derma, the usual word for skin, 'hide', means lit 'that which peels off', & is cogn w the base of derō, 'Bay', Goth Jaran, 'to tear', OHG -zeran, OE tecan, Mod Engl tear, derive fr same base See derm & tear (I) (biol) The layer of cells arising from the germinal disk in the early stages of segmentation in the life of an embryo blatancy, n [1 blātāns, 2 blēātāns] See next word & -cy State, quality, of being blatant blatant, adj [1 blātānt, 2 blēātānt] Word apparently invented by Spenser in 'Faery Queen', used of the Blatant Beast The word has no history, the suggestion that it is connected with bleat seems highly unlikely Noisy, vulgarly and ineffectively loud in speech. Applied also to a self-assertive, boisterous manner blatantly, adv Preo & -ly In a blatant manner blather See blither blaze (I), n [1 blāz, 2 blēz] OE blāse, 'torch, fire', ME blāse, M H G blāse, 'bald', orig 'shining' (cp use of bald, marked with white, & blaze (II)), OHG blāse, 'white', Mod. Germ. blasse, 'pale' The base is that fr wh blast & blow are derived. 1 Burst or spurt of flame, flame, fire the fire sprang into a blaze. Phr as a blaze, on fire 2 A patch, or mass, of brilliant, striking colour, strong glow of light a blaze of colour, of light 3 (in pl) Blazes, mild expletive, chiefly in phrases go to blazes, work, run &c like blazes, i.e. excessively, vigorously, what the blazes am I to do? &c blaze (II), vb intrans, fr prec 1 (of fire) To burn brightly, burst into flame, (of eyes, countenance &c) to gleam, be lit up with strong emotion Also blaze up, burn up Phrs (fig) blaze up, to get into a sudden rage, blaze out (at), direct violent anger against 2 Blaze off, away, fire off ammunition rapidly, also merely to fire ammunition to blaze away at a rabbit &c Phrs (fig) blaze away at one's work &c, keep vigorously at it, (in imperat) blaze away then, equivalent to 'start, go on, get to work', blazing indiscretion, patent, notorious, rashness; blazing ecst (in fox-hunting), strong, reverse of a cold scent 3 (of light) To shine brilliantly lights were blazing in every window blaze (III), n & vb trans, fr blaze (I) 1 n. a White mark on forehead of a horse or ox, b mark on a tree made by hacking off a piece of bark 2 vb To mark a tree for felling by chopping out a piece of bark, thus making a 'blaze' or white spot on it Phr to blaze the trail, make a path through a wood &c in a boy's manner blaze (IV), vb trans O.N. blāza, 'to blow', op O.H.G. blāzan, Goth. (uf) blāsan, 'to blow', cogn. w. blast, blow (I) 'To publish news loudly and widely From idea of proclamations made with a trumpet, esp blaze about, abroad blazer, n [1 blāzer, 2 blēzə] Lit 'that which blazes', fr the bright colours in wh blazers are often made See blaze (II) Light flannel coat, often dyed with colours of some particular club or institution, worn instead of ordinary coat, with garments suitable for boating, tennis, cricket, or other games blazon (I), n [1 blāzun, 2 blēzun] O Fr blason, 'shield', later 'coat of arms', M.E. blazon, blazoun, 'shield' &c Etymol somewhat obscure, but the Fr word wh we borrowed is prob due to Germ blasen, 'blow, proclaim', later this M.E. word was associated w the M.E. blāze 'blow, proclaim' (blaze (IV)), & the meaning extended fr 'shield which proclaims a man's lineage &c' to that of 'proclamation' 1 (her) a Shield bearing heraldic devices, coat of arms, b substantive heraldic description of arms and bearings 2 (fig) Account, record of virtues, titles to fame blazon (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To paint or inscribe a shield with proper arms of bearer 2 Esp blazon abroad, proclaim widely (In this sense partly influenced by blaze abroad)

blazonry, n [1 blāznrī, 2 blēznrī], fr prec & -ry 1 Display of armorial bearings 2 Heraldic art and method of inscribing, arranging on a shield and describing these

-ble, suff. [1 bl, 2 bl] Derived through O Fr, fr Lat adj. suff. -bilis See -able bleach vb [1 blēch, 2 blit] O.E. blēcan, 'make pale, whiten', fr blac, 'pale, shining' (not to be confused w O.E. blāc, 'black') Blac is cogn. w the O.E. vb blīcan, 'shuno', cp also O.H.G. bleih, 'pale', Mod Germ bleich, O.N. bleikr, q.v. under bleak The fundamental meaning of the base appears to be 'shuno, glit' &c, cp O Slav blīstati, 'to shuno', blīstati, 'gleam', n, Mod Russ blēst, 'flash', & so on. More remote in form are Lat. flagrare, 'to flame, burn', ferre, 'burn', fr jag-ina* Gk. phlogos a 'blaze' &c. See flame & black. Note how the same orig. base may develop mean- ings wh are the exact oppos. to each other e.g. O.I. blac, 'shining' (like fire), pale', & O.I. blac, 'dark', as though burnt black, scorched by fire To 'blen', esp. of cloth &c by exposure to light, or b chemical process bleaker n [1 blēker, 2 blī'ja] Prec & -er One who bleaches, esp. one engaged in the business of bleaching linen, cotton, or other textiles bleaching powder, n. [1 blēching pōnder, 2 blit[s] pōnde] Chemical, such as chlorine, or chloride of lime, used for bleaching bleak (I), adj. [1 blēk, 2 blk] Cogn. w. bleach, but borrowed in M.E. (in form blēle) fr O.N. bleikr, 'pale' &c The native Engl. adj., O.E. blāc, 'pale', precisely cogn. w. bleit, has been lost in Mod Engl., but survives in M.E. blāle, see, however, bleach Original meaning was, lacking in colour, nor a (of a landscape), dreary, dismal, b (of a situation, tract of country) wind swept, exposed, cold, o (fig, of a person's face, expression) harsh, dismal, forbidding, gloomy, sad bleak (II), n, fr O.N. bleikja, cogn. w. prec. Small silvery, cyprinid fish, found in rivers, Alburnus lucidus, also allied sea fish bleakly, adv. bleak (I) & -ly In a bleak manner bleakness, n. See prec & -ness. State, quality, of being bleak blear, adj. & vb [1 blēr, 2 blē] M.E. blēre, etymol. doubtful (rare) Dim. sighted, lustreless 1 adj. Esp. in compound, blear-eyed, dim sighted 2 vb a To dim the sight, b to cast a cloud or vapour over glass or shining surface, c to make the outline vague and indistinct, equivalent to blur bleat, vb & n [1 blēt, 2 blit] O.E. blētan, 'bleat' Of imitative origin, op Du. blaten, & see feebly 1 vb a To make the characteristic cry of the sheep, b (fig) to speak in a feeble, quavering voice resembling that of a sheep, c to talk nonsense 2 n. The cry made by a sheep or lamb, feeble, foolish talk bleater, n [1 blēter, 2 blit] Prec & -er A foolish, timid person who expresses groundless apprehensions, esp. in a whining voice bleating, n [1 blēting, 2 blit] See bleat & -ing Cry of sheep, foolish, trivial talk bleh, n [1 blēb, 2 blit] Origin unknown, prob. connected w blob, whose origin is equally obscure (rare) Small bluster bled, vb [1 blēd, 2 blit] Pret. & PP of bleed M.E. bledde, (tybled, fr O.E. blēdde, gebled) bleed, vb intrans & trans [1 blēd, 2 blit] O.E. blēdar, vb, fr blēd, 'blood' 1 intrans a To give out, flow with, blood, lose blood, from any cause (fig) my heart bleeds for you, I feel grief on your account, b (of trees) to lose sap from a cut through the bark, or from place where bough has been lopped or broken off 2 trans a To draw or let blood from a patient, for medical reasons, b to extort money from bleeder, n [1 blēder, 2 blit] Prec & -er Person suffering from a pathological state known as haemophilia, in which bleeding takes place from a very slight blow or injury to any part of the body bleeding, n. [1 blēding, 2 blit] See prec & -ing a Flow of blood, haemorrhage bleeding of the nose &c, b blood-letting blemysh (I), vb trans [1 blēmish, 2 blēmish] Fr blēmīr, O Fr blēmīr, 'to grow pale, livid' Etymol. very doubtful, said to come fr Gmc source, but none at all convincing has yet been suggested. The Engl. word is fr blemas, as in Fr Pres Part. To injure mar, deface, esp. of beauty, and in a moral sense, reputation &c blemysh (II), n, fr prec A physical or moral defect or imperfection, anything that detracts from beauty or perfection blemysh vb intrans [1 blēmish, 2 blēmish] O.E. blēcan, 'to deprive', M.E. blercher, 'turn aside' Prob. connected w blank, w meaning influenced by blank Origin of form & development of meaning both obscure To flinch, quail blend (I), vb trans & intrans [1 blēnd, 2 blēnd] The O.E. vb is blēndan, 'to mix', v.h. cannot be the precise ancestor of blend nor of M.E. blendan, 'to mix', whence the present-day form comes. It is possible tha.

an unrecorded O.E. blendan* existed formed fr blāndjan*, cp O.E. geblōnd, 'mixture, mixing, tumult'. The vb blāndan, 'mix', is found in O.S., O.H.G., & O.N. The word is undoubtedly connected w blend 1 trans. a To mix together, mingle things of one sort with others, or varieties of same thing together, used especially in various trades to blend tea, coffee, spirits &c, b used in literary style, chiefly in passive good and evil are blended (together) in life, the diverse elements in his character were strangely blended. (The archaic PP blent is much used in poetry.) 2 intrans To mingle easily and suitably, be adaptable to something different, unite so as to form harmonious whole oil and water will not blend, these shades of colour blend beautifully, Orientals and Europeans never really blend blend (II), n, fr prec Mixture of different things or varieties, esp. of tea, spirits, tobacco &c blende, n [1 blēnd; 2 blēnd] (metal) One of the principal ores of zinc. Name said to be derived fr Germ blendendes erz, 'deceiving ore', so called because it resembles lead ore although it contains no lead blending, n [1 blēnding, 2 blēnding] blend (I) & -ing Process of mixing different types of the same article (esp. tea, spirits &c) so as to produce a marketable, and if possible an agreeable, combination

Blenheim orange, n [1 blēnum ɔrɪŋ, 2 blēnum ɔrɪŋ] From Duke of Marlborough's seat. Name of large reddish apple Blenheim spaniel, n. A breed of toy spaniels, so called because originally bred at Blenheim blenno-, pref, fr Gk blenna, 'slime, mucus', see blenny, used in medical terminology, e.g. blennorrhoea, [1 blēnorēa, 2 blēnorēa], a morbid discharge of mucus, esp. from the urethra blenny, n [1 blēni, 2 blēni] Lat. blennius, fr Gk blennos, name of a fish, fr blenna, 'slime', fr glen-, base glen-, 'to stick', cp M.H.G. līenen, 'stick', O Slav glēni, 'slime' See also glue A small spiny sea fish, so called from the mucus which covers the skin bless, vb trans [1 blēs, 2 blēs], PP blest & blessed [1 blēst, blēsd, 2 blēst, blēsd] O.E. blēdsan, blētsan, 'bless, consecrate' Only found in Engl., but derived fr Common Gmc blōd, 'blood', w. suff. -jan The vb meant orig. 'to sprinkle with blood', as a priest at a sacrifice See blood 1 To pronounce words and perform acts which produce, or are attended by, a supernatural effect, consecrate, dedicate the priest blesses the elements at Holy Communion, 'Bless, O Lord, these Thy gifts to our use' 2 To invoke Divine favour upon, pronounce a benediction. (This use has been influenced by translation of Lat. benedicere as 'bless') 'They brought little children to Him and He blessed them', at the close of the service the priest blesses the people, common in colloq. use in Phrs (God being understood, but rarely expressed, before each) bless me, bless my soul, bless the child, well, I'm blest, indicating surprise Special use bless oneself, make sign of cross on one's forehead and breast Phr not a penny to bless oneself with, very poor 3 To praise, revere, worship 'We praise Thee, we bless Thee, we glorify Thee', 'We bless Thy Holy Name' 4 To wish happiness and prosperity for a person, wish well to, feel gratitude towards I bless the day I met him, those who enjoy the advantages offered by the ancient colleges of Oxford may well bless the founders Phr to bless one's stars 5 To render happy, fortunate, cause to prosper (followed by with) their union was blest with many offspring, he was blest with an ample fortune, (followed by in) I am greatly blest in my children (This meaning has been influenced by that of bless which has been confused with bless, although quite independent in origin) See bliss bloody-minded, adj. Cruel, bloodthirsty bloom (I), n [1 blóm, 2 blóm], fr O N blóm(s), found as blóme in M E. The O E type is blōtma, q v under blossom. One of the numerous words of variously differentiated meaning, fr the prolific Aryan base bhlō-, bhlō- &c, meaning 'swell, blow, sprout, bud, spirt' &c, among the nearest cognates are Lat flō s, 'flower', Gk blasío, 'bud, sprout, burst forth', blastēma, blastē, blatēos, 'a bud, sprout, leaf, growth' &c. See further under blade, blow (IV), folio 1. Flower of a plant. Hence, 2. The season, or time of life, at which plants and human beings reach greatest degree of perfection, vigour, and beauty, primo esp bloom of youth, in full bloom, (of plants) covered with blossom. 3. A The dusty, powdery covering on the skin of such fruits as grapes and plums, b (fig) glow, flush of health on the cheeks bloom (II), v trans, fr preo a To put forth flowers, b (fig) to be in full beauty and perfection, to flourish bloom (III), n O E blōma, 'mass of molten metal'. Origin unknown, unless related to blāwan, 'blow', see blow (I). Metallurgical term for rough mass of iron after smelting bloomer, n [1 blōmēr, 2 blōma] Origin doubtful, prob connected w blossoming (slang) A mistake, blunder bloomer(s), n [1 blōmēr(z), 2 blōma(z)] Costume for women, invented by Mrs Amelia Jenks Bloomer of New York, in 1851. It consisted of a coat with a belt, a short skirt, and baggy trousers fastened in round the ankles. The word is now as obsolete as the garments blossoming, adj [1 blōsmung, 2 blōmng], fr Pros Part of bloom (II) a In a state of flower, b (of human beings) presenting an appearance of health or beauty she looks blossoming, o slightly vulgar, mild exploitive or intensive, equivalent to confounded, also used with hardly any meaning as needless epithet the whole blossoming lot, every blossoming thing &c (Owing to this vulgar use of the word, that under b is becoming obsolete, except predicatively, since blossoming health, blossoming cheek &c are liable to a ludicrous ambiguity) blossom (I), n [1 blōsum, 2 blōsəm] O E blōsma, M E blōsme, blossom. See cognates & etymol under bloom (I). Cp Gk blasēma, for oogn w closely related formation a flower, esp on fruit trees, b total mass of flower on a tree, esp a fruit tree blossom (II), v trans, fr preo To put forth flowers, to come into flower blot (I), n [1 blot, 2 blōt] Origin doubtful. Found in 14th cent. 1 A spot or stain, esp of ink on paper. 2 (fig) Disgrace, cause of reproach blot on one's character, reputation. 3 An ugly, unsightly object, esp when unsuitable to its surroundings a blot on the landscape blot (II), v trans, fr preo a To make spots or blots of ink on (paper), b to blur, smudge (words newly written) before the ink is dry, c (poet) to erase (what is written) Blot out, a to destroy, obliterate, b to obscure from view the landscape was blotted out by the fog blotch, n [1 blōch, 2 blōt] Only since 17th cent, perh a mixture of blot & patch a Eruption, spot or purple on the skin, b spot, stain, discolouration on any surface blotchy, adj [1 blōchi, 2 blōtʃi] Proo & -y Covered with spots or blotches blotting-paper, n [1 blōtng pāper, 2 blōtng pēpə] Pros Part of blot (II) & paper Absorbent paper, used to dry up quickly what has been written in ink blouse, n [1 blōuz, 2 blauz] Fr word Etymol unknown a French workman's cotton or linen overall, belted at waist, b loose outer garment, kind of shirt, worn by women on upper part of the body blow (I), v trans & trans [1 blō, 2 blow] O E blāwan, M E blāwen, Gmo blāwan*, fr Aryan base bhlō-*, 'blow, swell, puff up' &c, op Lat flā-re, no doubt ultimately connected w base discussed under bloom, blossom, & w that in blow (IV) A intrans 1 (of wind, air &c) To move, stir, produce current or gust (impers) it is blowing very hard, otherwise with wind or air as subject the wind blows from the east &c Phr to blow great guns, of a violent gale. 2 To expel air forcibly from mouth or nose Phrs to puff and blow, to pant, labour in breathing, to blow hot and cold, keep changing one's opinions or intentions, alternately praise and blame. B trans 1 To drive air from one's lungs into a wind instrument, sound it to blow a trumpet. Phr to blow one's own trumpet, boast, praise oneself. 2 To drive air mechanically into a fire, or organ-pipes blow the bellows, blow (up) the fire, blow an organ (by means of bellows). 3 To clear by driving air through esp a to blow one's nose, b to blow an egg, expel contents by blowing through small hole made in shell. 4 Mild oath (only in imperat) blow it &c = confound it &c, or in PP I'm blowed if I will &c (PP always blown except in this expression). C With various adverbs and prepositions Blow over, (intrans, fig, of misfortune, rumours &c) to pass away, be forgotten Blow out, extinguish with puff of air (of candles &c), (trans and intrans) to puff up, inflate, distend (of effects of food), special usage blow out one's brains or blow one's brains out, kill oneself by shooting in the head. Blow up, (trans and intrans) (i) to explode, cause to explode, destroy by means of explosives, (ii) to pump air into, inflate, pneumatic tire of motor-car or bicycle, (iii) (slang) to scold, take to task Blow upon, to discredit, take away charm or interest of anything blow (II), n, fr preo Arring, whiff, taste, of fresh air to go for a blow on the cliffs blow (III), n Origin doubtful, not recorded before 15th cent, possibly fr blow (I), starting w idea of a violent gust of wind, op Fr use of coup, 'stroke, blow', in coup de vent, coup de poing, coup de dash &c, though here the meaning 'blow' in general sense is the starting-point. 1 A violent stroke, knock, from fist, weapon, or tool, deliberately given, or b violent collision, sudden impact, between two objects, one or both of which are in motion a blow from a sword, blows of a hammer on an anvil, blow from a falling stone. Phrs at one blow, with single stroke, by single action, come to blows, begin fighting, exchange blows, fight, without striking a blow, without effort, strike a blow for, help, strike a blow against, oppose, try to prevent. 2 (fig) Misfortune, sudden disagreeable shock, disaster, disappointment a blow to one's hopes, plans &c blow (IV), v trans O E blāwan, 'to flower, bloom, flourish', OHG blūgan, Mod Germ blühen, 'bloom', connected w bloom & blossom, fr Gmo base blō* (w-), Aryan bhlō-*, 'sprout' &c. Cp also blood O E blāwan, 'blow', of wind, is ultimately connected, though fr a different grade, Gmo blō* (w-), Aryan bhlō-*, of same stem. The differentiation of meaning, as of form, is exceedingly early. To bloom, blossom, put forth flowers blow-ball, n Head of dandelion in seed blower, n [1 blōer, 2 blōwə] blow (I) & -er Plate of metal which can be drawn down in front of a grate to create draught blow-fly, n Species of fly to which the meat-fly or bluebottle belongs blow-hole, n Aperture in whale's head, through which it spouts water blown, adj [1 blōn, 2 blōwn], fr PP of blow (I) O E blāwen, M E blāwen Breathless, out of breath from violent exertion blow-pipe, n A pipe through which stream of air is kept playing on a flame so as to increase its intensity, used by plumbers in soldering, b long pipe used by some savage tribes, through which a dart is driven by air from the lips blow, adj [1 blōi, 2 blōi] blow (I) & -y Gusty, windy blowzy, adj [1 blōuzi, 2 blauzi] Origin unknown Slatternly, untidy, frumpish (of a slutish woman) blub, v [1 blub, 2 blab] Shortened form of blubber (I) blubber (I), v trans [1 blūber, 2 blabs] Origin unknown, found as blober in M E, perh imitative Schoolboy word meaning to weep, cry, esp loudly blubber (II), n M E blober, 'bubble, foam', perh imitative Fat of the whale blubber (III), adj See preo (of lips only) Thick, swelled, protruding, as a negro's bluchers, n pl [1 blūchəz, 2 blōtʃəz] Old-fashioned boots which came half-way up the calf. Called after the Prussian Field Marshal Blucher bludgeon, n & v trans [1 blūdʒən, 2 blādʒən] Origin unknown a n Stout, heavy stick or cudgel, b v, to use this upon someone, to harrass with heavy weapon so as to injure severely blue (I), adj [1 blō, 2 blū] M E blew, fr Fr bleu, itself a Gmo loan word, cp OHG blao The word blā occurs in O E in the compound blā hēwen, 'blue'. The Gmo base, in spite of the difference of meaning, is cogn w Lat flāvus, 'yellow, gold coloured', further relations of this base are very doubtful. Ancient colour-words are very variable in meaning when distributed among the different tribes of Aryan speakers. Nothing as a rule is more difficult than to ascertain the precise shade of colour intended even in modern descriptions, unless there be comparison w some natural object whose colour is more or less fixed, but even that may vary in different lights. Another Gmo cogn of blue is O N blār, wh means 'livid, leaden hued'. 1 Any of the various shades of that colour seen in the sky on a clear, sunny day, and, in consequence, in the sea also under certain atmospheric conditions, applied to the pale, grayish, misty shade of distant hills the blue hills of Sussex, also to wreaths of smoke from a wood fire &c. Various shades designated as pale blue, bright blue, cornflower blue, dark blue, blue black &c. Phrs to look blue, disconcerted, dismayed, ill, in a blue funk, very much frightened, till all is blue, continuously, for very long time, blue blood, aristocratic birth, once in a blue moon, very rarely, blue water school, those who insist on the necessity of a strong navy, true blue, loyal to a good cause, blue ruin, bad, deleterious gin. 2 Indecent, obscene (of stories, conversation) blue (II), n, fr preo The colour of blue, specif 1 The sky, esp in a belt from the blue, (lit) thunderbolt from the sky, (fig) anything unforeseen, unexpected, startling. 2 A Person who plays cricket, football &c for Oxford or Cambridge University, or who rows in the inter university boat-race or represents university in athletics to be a blue, b the fact of being a member of the principal cricket or football team of one of the universities, or of being one of the crew who row in the boat-race to get one's blue. 3 The blues, esp a fit of, melancholia, extreme depression of spirits (colloq) & The Blues, n, Royal Horse Guards (Blue), from colour of their uniform. 5 Kind of blue powder used by laundresses in their work. blue (III), v trans 1 (fr preo) To treat (laundry) with blue. 2 Prob corrupt of blew, Pret of blow (I), in sense of 'to scatter' (slang and colloq) To squander, waste, spend foolishly (money or other property) Bluebeard, n [1 blūbērd, 2 blūbrəd] Person who makes away with several wives, from personage in Perrault's story of the same name bluebell, n [1 blūbəl, 2 blūbəl] A flower, name applied (esp in Scotland) to the harebell, a variety of wild campanula, and, in England, to the wild blue hyacinth blue-book, n Official report, or document of any kind, published by authority of Parliament, from colour of paper cover blue-bonnet, n Highlander, esp Highland warrior, from head dress bluebottle, n [1 blúbótól, 2 blúbótól] Large, buzzing fly with a blue body, the blow fly blue-coat boy, n Pupil of the Blue coat School, or Christ's Hospital, from colour of long skirted coat worn by them blue gum, n Eucalyptus tree bluejacket, n [1 blúbjaket, 2 blúbjaket] Seaman belonging to Royal Navy blue john, n (metal) Purple fluorspar blue light(s), n Firework used in signalling

Blue Mantle, n Heraldic title, one of the Pur servants of Arms, instituted by Edward III as additional officer of the Order of the Garter blue mould, n Kind of mildew or fungus, esp on cheese blueness, n [1 blúbness, 2 blúbness] blue (I) & -ness Quality of being blue

Blue Peter, n (orig repeater) Blue flag with white square in centre, hoisted when a ship is about to sail blue pill, n Pill the medicinal ingredient of which is mercury blue ribbon, n Order of the Garter, hence, any recognized and coveted distinction bluestocking, n [1 blúbstoking, 2 blúbstoking] Learned, pedantic lady Name given in 18th cent to clubs of learned and literary ladies and a few men, which met to enjoy improving conversation Some of the male members wore blue stockings instead of customary black silk, to show contempt for convention blue stone, n Vitriol bluethroat, n [1 blúbthrot, 2 blúbthrot] Small bird akin to redstart, so called from colour of its breast blue whale, n The rorqual bluff (I), adj [1 bláf, 2 bláf] Etymol unknown a (of cliffs, or ships' bows &c) Having broad, steep, perpendicular front, b (of manners or persons) rough, gruff, rather rude, but honest, hearty, frank bluff (II), n, fr prec Steep headland bluff (III), vb trans Origin unknown Originally used in certain card games, esp poker, now, generally, to deceive, give false impression, hoodwink, humbug, bamboozle bluff (IV), n, fr prec Deception, deliberate giving of false impression bluffer, n [1 blúfer, 2 bláf] bluff (III) & -er One who bluffs in order to deceive others bluffness, n [1 blúbness, 2 blúbness] bluff (I) & -ness a Steepness (of a bluff), b rough honesty (of manner) bluish, adj [1 blúbish, 2 blúb] blue (I) & -ish Somewhat blue in colour, verging on, tinged with, this colour blunder (I), vb intrans & trans [1 blúnder, 2 blúnder] Etymol doubtful, M E blúnder (in different sense), perb connected w O E blándan, 'mix' See blend (I) & blund (I) 1 intrans a To move hesitatingly, clumsily, to stumble over or against objects in one's path, esp a blunder about, along, against, into, b to err in judgement, speech, or action, say or do the wrong thing he blundered badly in answering the questions put to him 2 trans To spoil, upset, mismanage (plans, negotiations), do work in clumsy, inefficient manner the delicate negotiation was hopelessly blundered by the minister blunder (II), n, fr prec A mistake, error, ill judged, clumsy speech or action there are many blunders in this translation, he committed a blunder in refusing to receive the deputation, the general's manoeuvre was a tactical blunder blunderbuss, n [1 blúnderbus, 2 blúnderbas] Altered fr Dr. donderous, lit 'thunder box', buss is cogn w Germ büchse See thunder & box. Short heavy firelock gun with very wide bore, and sometimes a bell shaped muzzle, used in 17th and 18th cents blunderer, n [1 blúnderer, 2 blúnderer] blunder (I) & -er One who blunders, a clumsy, tactless, unskilful person blundering, adj [1 blúndering, 2 blúndering], fr Pres Part of blunder (I) Clumsy, tactless, lacking in taste, judgement, or skill blunderingly, adv Pres & -ly In a blundering manner, clumsily, tactlessly blunt (I), adj [1 blúnt, 2 blúnt] Origin unknown a Dull, lacking in point or edge (of piercing and cutting weapons and tools), b (fig) obtuse, lacking in finesse and delicacy (of the understanding, intelligence, feelings), c (fig) lacking in refinement and polish, abrupt, downright, outspoken (of men, manners, mode of address &c) blunt (II), n (vulg slang) Coin, money blunt (III), vb trans, fr blunt (I) a To take the edge or point off (tool or weapon), b (fig) to render insensitive, less acute (of the feelings and intelligence) bluntly, adv [1 blúntli, 2 blúntli] blunt (I) & -ly In a blunt manner, (usually fig) in an abrupt, rough, outspoken manner bluntness, n See prec & -ness The quality of being blunt in any of senses given under blunt (I) blur (I), n [1 blér, 2 blá] Origin unknown Suggested connexion w blear & blot unhelpful, as their origin is equally obscure a smear, a blot, spot, or blemish which renders outlines of writing or of a picture indistinct, a misty, indistinct view blur (II), vb trans, fr prec a To smear or blot writing, or a picture, b to render indistinct or dim, any prospect or view thick wreaths of smoke blurred the landscape, c to efface from, or weaken image of anything in the memory blurb, n [1 blérb, 2 blárb] Invented word a publisher's laudatory announcement of a book, often printed on the jacket with which it is issued blurred, adj [1 blérb, 2 blárb] PP of blur (II) Dimmed, indistinct, smoky blurt, vb trans [1 blúrt, 2 blárb] Origin doubtful, possibly imitative To utter something suddenly and without deliberation, reveal a secret involuntarily and indiscreetly, usually to blurt out blush (I), vb intrans [1 blúsh, 2 bláf] O E blýcan, 'to blush, grow red' Etymol. very doubtful, possibly related to blaze, cp O E blýca, 'torch, blaze', which may be connected w O E bláse, 'torch, fire', though it is difficult to account for the vowels 1 To grow red, (esp of the face) to be suffused with a reddish glow, under stress of strong emotion 2 (fig, extended sense from above) To be ashamed to blush for very shame, I blush for you, I blush to think of such conduct &c, 'Do good by stealth and blush to find it fame' (Pope, 'Epil to Sat' 1. 136), 'When statesmen, heroes, kings in dust repose, Whose sons will blush their fathers were thy foes' (Pope, 'Ess on Man', iv 387 8) blush (II), n, fr prec Rosy glow which mantles in the cheeks of sensitive and modest persons under stress of strong emotions, such as shame or shocked modesty, indignation &c Phrs a to put to the blush, cause to blush, from modesty &c, at the first blush, at first sight, spare my blushes, don't flatter blushing, adj [1 bláshing, 2 bláfing], fr Pres Part of blush (I) Rosy, covered with blushes, hence modest blushing bride blushingly, adv Pres & -ly In a shame faced manner, modestly bluster (I), vb intrans [1 blúster, 2 blúster] Origin unknown 1 (of winds and waves) To rage, storm violently and boisterously

2 (fig, of persons) To hector, scold, threaten, in a bullying manner, complain in a noisy excited manner, often to bluster at bluster (II), n, fr prec a Noise of stormy wind or waves, b (fig) noisy, fussy, excited complaints, or scolding &c, empty threats blusterer, n [1 blústerer, 2 blústerer] Noisy, fussy, excitable, scolding person blustering, adj [1 blústering, 2. blústering]

Noisy, stormy, violent (of wind &c), given to loud complaints, threats &c (of persons) blusteringly, adv Pres & -ly In a blustering manner bo, interj [1 bó; 2 bou] Imitative Exclamation used to startle or frighten someone Phr can't say bo! a goose, of person very timid or inordinately shy boa, n [1 baw a, bóa, 2 bóa, boua] 8 Am word 1 a Genus of large snakes found in tropical America and Madagascar, sometimes 12 ft in length, also boa constrictor, from its habit of winding itself round its prey and crushing it to death in its folds, b python. 2 Wrap of fur or other material which ladies wind round their throats, presumably so called from fancied resemblance to a snake.

Boanerges, n [1 bóanérjéz, 2 bóanérjéz] Heb., sons of thunder' (Mk in 17) Applied to a fiery orator with a powerful voice boar, n [1 bór, 2 bój] O E bár, M E boor &c, O H G pār, bār, fr Gmc base bhar-* Origin unknown The plausible identification w Lat ferus, 'wild', which would make the boar 'the wild, savage beast', suggested by many of the dictionaries, breaks down, since not only do the vowels present difficulties, but ferus is shown by the Gk. cogn thér, see therian, & Lat ferus, 'wild beast', to be fr Aryan gʰerhas*, which at once rules out any identification of these words w the Gmc form No more happy is the proposed identification w bear (the animal) The vowels here again offer serious difficulty 1 a The male, un-gilded, domestic pig, b the wild swine, esp the male 2 Its flesh, esp of the boar's head board (I), n [1 bórd, 2 bód] O E bord, 'plank, table, shield' &c, also in O S, O H G bort, Goth baurd, O N borð cp further the cognates O E bred, 'board, tablet', O H G bret, 'board, shield', Mod Germ brett, 'board' Beyond this we cannot at present carry the etymol See also border. 1 Plank, strip of wood, considerably longer than its width, and rather thin in proportion to length (Technically, in builders' and joiners' terminology, a board is at least 4½ in broad, and not more than 2½ in thick If these dimensions are changed, the piece of wood receives another name) Phr to tread the boards, be on the stage, be an actor Many derived senses 2 Tablet of wood on legs, table, at which various kinds of work are carried out, and food is eaten The sense table preserved in certain contexts and combinations hospitable board, greening board, plentifully spread table, above board, (lit) on the table, openly (orig of cards), sweep the board, (lit) take all cards or stakes on the table, (fig) be very successful, win Hence, 3 food received at a board, meals, esp in sense of meals regularly taken at same house, for stipulated payment board and lodging, food and house room, cp board wages below & 4 Thin slabs of wood covered with leather or cloth, on which certain games, such as chess, draughts, dice &c are played 5 Official, legally constituted body with certain administrative functions, so called from meeting round a table or board Board of Admiralty, Trade, School Board, Board of Directors, Guardians &c 6 (naut) a The side of a ship to go by the board, (of masts &c) to fall over, (also fig of plans &c) to be abandoned, to fail completely, on board, aboard, also of team &c, b line of a ship's course between tack and tack board (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 To cover with boards, to board up, close by nailing boards across, a window, door &c. 2 To supply with daily meals, (intrans) to board out, take one's meals in different house from that in which one resides, trans, place (children) in a house or institution other than their homes, where they are lodged and fed. Phr to board with, receive board and lodging at a person's house in return for agreed payment 3 (derived from board (I), 4, colloq, and gen. pass) To examine

- an officer of army or navy before a medical board he was boarded yesterday and passed for general service 4 To go into, go on board, a ship, whether for peaceful purposes, or, in a naval action, to enter an enemy ship in order to take possession
- boarder, n [1 bɔːdər, 2 bɔːdə] Preo & -er One who boards at another person's house, a schoolboy who lives at school, contrasted with day boy
- boarding, n [1 bɔːdɪŋ, 2 bɔːdɪŋ], fr board (I) & -ing Collection, construction, arrangement, of boards for any purpose
- boarding-house, n a One at which visitors may reside and obtain daily meals in return for payment, b house in connexion with a public school where a certain number of boys live in charge of a master
- boarding-school, n One where boys or girls live entirely, and are housed and fed, during term time, in distinction to a day school
- board meeting, n Meeting of a board of directors &c
- board school, n Elementary school, administered by a school board, now obsolete
- board-wages, n See board (I), 3, & wages Wages paid to servants while their masters are away from home, which include cost of food &c
- boar-hound, n boar & hound. A large type of hound, of various types, originally specially bred for hunting the wild boar
- boast (I), n [1 bɔːst, 2 haʊst] Found in M.E., but etymol. very doubtful 1 Vain, arrogant, self-glorifying assertion, self-glorification at the beginning of the war, the enemy's boast was that he was invincible 2 Cause for satisfaction, something of which one is justly proud Nelson's proud boast, when dying, was that he had done his duty Phr to make a boast of, to claim proudly or boastfully 3 A stroke off the side wall in tennis
- boast (II), vb intrans & trans, fr preo 1 intrans a To praise oneself, tell stories to one's own credit, extol in vain and arrogant manner, and rather in excess of their deserts, one's own abilities, possessions, position, or anything connected with oneself he boasts too much he is always boasting of his house and pictures, he boasted of having a fine voice, Phr not much to boast of, inferior, second rate, b (special usage) to have the advantage of possessing the town boasts of a fine church, many Oxford colleges can boast of beautiful gardens 2 trans To assert arrogantly one's superiority to other people, proclaim in a vain manner that one can do certain things, possesses certain aptitudes, abilities &c (usually boast that) he boasts that he is one of the best shots in the country, to boast that one can sing, ride, dance well &c, (also in P.P.) he boasted wealth
- boaster, n [1 bɔːstər, 2 haʊstər] Preo & -er One who boasts, a vain bragging fellow, a braggart
- boastful, adj [1 bɔːstfʊl, 2 haʊstfʊl] boast (I) & -ful a (of persons) Inclined to boast, fond of boasting, vainglorious, b (of language &c) expressed in vainglorious words
- boastfully, adv Preo & -ly In a boastful manner
- boastfulness, n See preo & -ness Quality of being boastful
- boat (I), n [1 bɔːt, 2 baʊt] O.E. bāt, 'ship, boat', O.N. betr, not found in other languages except as a loan fr Engl., etymol. unknown 1 Hollow receptacle, whose essential property is that it floats in water and sustains a considerable weight, formerly constructed of wooden planks fastened to a wooden frame, recently also of steel or iron plates on an iron frame The word is a generic term for water-craft of every description, large or small, whether used on the sea, on rivers or lakes, and no matter how propelled, whether by oars, a single paddle, a pole, steam or internal combustion engine, or electricity Phrs to be (all) in the same boat, in the same circumstances, sharing same risks &c, to burn one's boats, commit oneself irrevocably to a line of action, the university, college, boat, the crew who represent the college, university, in boat races 2 Various boat-shaped articles, e.g. a small silver or porcelain receptacle for holding sauce, gravy &c at table sauce-boat, b a boat-shaped swing for two persons at fairs, swing boat or boat-swing
- boat (II), vb intrans, fr preo To go on the water in a boat, esp. for pleasure, travel in a boat to boat down the river, to go boating
- boat-bill, n Name of a large S. American wading bird, allied to the herons, whose bill resembles an upturned boat
- boater, n [1 bɔːtər, 2 baʊtər] Trade name for hard, flat brimmed straw hat
- boatful, n [1 bɔːtfʊl, 2 baʊtfʊl] boat (I) & -ful The crew and passengers of a boat or ship
- boat-hook, n Hook at end of a pole, used to draw a small boat in to shore, or steady it while entering or leaving &c
- boat-house, n Shed in which small boats are kept, usually either opening on to a wharf or platform sloping towards the water, or constructed over a small creek, or outlying in a river-bank, so that the boats rest in the water under cover
- boating, n [1 bɔːtɪŋ, 2 baʊtɪŋ] boat (II) & -ing The sport or amusement of rowing, boating man, one who rows in boat races
- boatman, n [1 bɔːtmən, 2 baʊtmən] a One who lets out boats for hire, b person who forms one of the crew of a small boat, one who manages, is in chief charge of, a small boat, c a freshwater insect, water-boatman, which uses its legs as paddles in swimming on surface of water
- boat-race, n Competition, trial of speed between crews of two or more specially built rowing-boats, specif. The Boat race, annual race between the rowing crews of the universities of Oxford and Cambridge
- boatswain, n [1 bɔːn, 2 baʊn] O.E. bātswegen, 'boatman', of wh. swegen is Late O.E. form of O.N. sværn, 'boy, servant' See swain, Ship's officer who superintends crew on deck, boats, rigging &c, and calls the men to duty by sounding a whistle
- boat train, n One timed to reach a port in such time that persons travelling by it may catch an out-going steamer, one which brings passengers arriving by steamer at a port to London or other important centre
- bob (I), vb intrans & trans [1 bɒb, 2 bɒ] Etymol. unknown 1 intrans To move rapidly up and down to bob up and down, about (used of any such movement, but esp. of any floating object which appears and disappears on surface of the water) Special uses bob up, of speaker rising hastily and frequently to address meeting, to appear suddenly and unexpectedly after prolonged absence, bob at someone, to curtsy, esp. in a rustic ungainly manner 2 To go in a bob sleigh, q.v. 3 trans a To dock (the tail of horse or dog), b to cut (the hair of women) short in form of a mop Cp bob (III) 4 To catch with lips at (cherries held suspended from teeth by the stalk)
- bob (II), n, fr preo A jerky, springing movement, a clumsy courtesy
- bob (III), n, fr bob (I) Various uses a a short wig, also bob wig, contrasted with full-bottomed one, b any small round mass at the end of something, e.g. weight on pendulum of a clock, on tail of a kite, c docked tail of a horse or dog, bobbed hair of a woman
- bob (IV), n Etymol. doubtful Term in bell ringing, applied to changes in long peals, bob major, minor, royal &c
- bob (V), n Etymol. doubtful (slang) A shilling, (does not take -s in pl.) five bob &c
- bob (VI), n Perh. fr personal name Robert a Dry bob, boy who plays cricket, wee bob, one who rows (school expressions at Eton); b light bob, old name for soldier in light infantry companies or regiments
- bobbed, adj [1 bɒbd, 2 bɒbd] P.P. of bob (I), 2 a Docked, of tail of horse &c, b out short like a mop, of woman's hair or of woman with hair so cut
- bobbery, n [1 bɒbəri, 2 bɒbəri] Anglo-Indian Said to be fr Hindin exclamation of surprise or grief, bāp rē, 'O father' (cp Engl. colloq. my aunt!), hence, that which provokes the exclamation, a disturbance, row
- bobbery-pack, n Pack of bounds of different breeds, or no breed, used by the British in India and other parts of the East to hunt jackals, benches, a scratch pack
- bobbin, n [1 bɒbm, 2 bɒbm] Fr bobine, 'reel' (for thread) Origin unknown a Cylinder for holding, and paying out, thread, wire, string &c, reel, spool, b small ball of wood hung from a string, which lifts an old-fashioned door latch
- bobbish, adj [1 bɒbɪʃ, 2 bɒbɪʃ] Connected w bob (I), vb, & -ish (slang) Lively, cheerful, in good condition
- bobby, n [1 bɒbi, 2 bɒbi], fr Sir Robert Peel (slang) A policeman
- bobolink, n [1 bɒbəlɪŋk, 2 bɒbəlɪŋk] Said to be fr Bob Lincoln, w.b. note of bird is supposed to resemble Migratory bird of N. America, otherwise called rice bunting
- bob-sleigh, n [1 bɒbsleɪ, 2 bɒbsleɪ] See sleigh (I), & cp bob (I) Sledge carrying three or four persons, which runs down snow- or ice covered incline by its own weight, steered by a movable portion in front, worked by small wheel, used for winter sports in Switzerland
- bobstays, n [1 bɒbstæɪz, 2 bɒbstæɪz] See bob (I) & stay (III) (nant) The ropes or stays fastened to the cutwater, which hold the bowsprit of a sailing-vessel downwards
- bobtail, adj & n [1 bɒtɪl, 2 bɒtɪl] bob (I) & tail, a adj Having the tail cut short, or docked, b n, an animal so treated. Vulgarly, of garments, esp. coats out very short, or outgrown Phr tag, rag, and bobtail, disreputable rabble, crowd of undistinguished persons
- bob-tailed, adj Bobtail, adj
- Boche, n [1 bɒʃ, 2 bɒʃ] Origin doubtful. (French army slang) A German
- bode, vb trans [1 bɒd, 2 bɒd] O.E. bodan, 'announce, foretell', fr bud-yan*, formed fr that grade of the stem vb occurs in O.E. bod-en, fr bud-an*, P.P. of bēdan, 'to announce' See bud & bead To portend, signify, be an omen of (good or ill) this bodes you no good, that bodes a happy ending
- bodiful, adj [1 bɒdɪfʊl, 2 bɒdɪfʊl], fr preo or obs n & -ful Ominous, threatening
- bodega, n [1 bɒdʒə, 2 bɒdʒə] Span, fr Gk apothékē, 'place where things are stored, or laid up, a granary, magazine' See apothecary A wine shop, where wine is sold on draught and consumed on the premises
- bodice, n [1 bɒdɪs, 2 bɒdɪs] Orig. pl. (pair of) bodies, op slays Woman's garment covering upper part of person above waist, usually rather close fitting, with or without sleeves, applied both to a garment worn outside and one worn underneath the outer body-coverings
- bodied, adj [1 bɒdɪd, 2 bɒdɪd] P.P. of body (I) & -ed. Only in compounds able-bodied, full-bodied &c
- bodkin, n [1 bɒdɪkn, 2 bɒdɪkn] Dimin. of body Entirely obsolete oath, 17th cent. In full, 'O'd's bodkin, 'God's' &c
- bodiless, adj [1 bɒdlɪs, 2 bɒdlɪs] body & -less Disembodied, divided from the body
- bodily, adj [1 bɒdɪli, 2 bɒdɪli], fr body & -ly Belonging to, concerned with, the body, physical as contrasted with spiritual, bodily fear, fear for, of, injury to, the body, bodily suffering
- bodily (II), adv, see preo a In the flesh Christ is said to be bodily present in the Eucharist, b in person, actually he came bodily and defended himself against all imputations, c as a whole the building was transported bodily to another place

boding, adj [1 bōding, 2 bōding] fr Pres Part of bode Ominous, filled with promise of evil boding care.

bodingly, adv Prec & -ly In an ominous manner bodkin, n [1 bōdkin; 2 bōdkin] ME boydel-in, 'dagger' Origin unknown An instrument, like a very large needle, with blunted or rounded point, for running tape &c through a loop or hem Phr to sit, travel, bod-in, of person wedged tightly between two others in a carriage &c body (I), n [1 bōdi, 2 bōdi] Exclusively Engl as regards usage, prob also as regards the word itself The etymol is very uncertain O E bodig, ME bōdi, have the same sense as their present-day descendant in its primary meaning, beyond that all is obscure The suggestion has been made that the word is ultimately the Gk. apothēlē, 'storehouse' (see bodega & apothecary), through Med Lat butica, whence also Mod Germ butich, 'cask', O HG botahha, see hoot (I) This is a pure speculation, and so far, quite unsupported by any evidence It is not impossible More cannot be said in its favour 1 The physical organism, corporeal frame, as a whole, of man and animals 'Your bodies are the temples of the Holy Ghost', if we wish to have healthy bodies we must live healthily and regularly, heirs of one's body, descendants 2 The flesh, the physical as distinct from, and contrasted with, the spiritual and intellectual part of human beings the Inquisition burnt and destroyed the bodies of heretics in the hope of saving their souls Phrs to keep body and soul together, just keep alive, absent in body, present in spirit 3 The trunk, upper part of the human frame which contains the lungs, heart, and the digestive organs, but exclusive of the head and the limbs to be wounded in the body, to run a man through the body 4 Dead body, corpse several bodies were washed ashore from the wreck, Nelson's body was brought to England and buried with great pomp 5 Short, tight-fitting garment, covering the body in sense 3 Same as bodice. 6 A The main portion of a structure, as distinct from appendages the body of a church, hall, ship, aeroplane &c. b main portion of a literary work, distinct from preface, introduction, notes, appendix &c 7 A Group, collection, assembly of human beings large bodies of the unemployed were gathered in different parts of the city, b specif, organized assembly of persons with legal status and legislative or administrative or other functions body politic, legislative body, body of electors, learned bodies 8 Human being (colloq) a decent honest body, poor body 9 Mass, piece of matter, a substance distinct from others the heavenly bodies, sun, moon, stars, a metallic body 10 Consistency, substance, comparative density (of wine, colour &c) a wine of full body body (II), vb trans, fr prec To exhibit in outward form, typify, generally body forth bodyguard, n [1 bōdigard, 2 bōdigard] body (I) & guard. 1 A military corps, attached to and guarding the person of the sovereign, his representative, or other high authority His Majesty's Body Guard of the Yeomen of the Guard &c 2 A Escort, force of police &c watching and protecting a person's life, b body of faithful followers, supporters &c his old pupils acted as a bodyguard body-snatcher, n body (I) & snatch, 'to seize', & -er Name given to one of the 'resurrection men', who stole corpses from grave to sell to anatomists for dissection.

Boer, n [1 bōr, bōr, 2 bār, bōr] Du word for peasant, farmer, cp Germ bauer, cogn r O E gebūr, 'peasant' (see boor & also neighbour) & cp O E būr, 'dwelling' (see bower & byre), the Gmc base bū*, whence all these words come, means 'to dwell, to till the land to plant', cp O HG būon w these meanings The ultimate source is Aryan bū*, 'to be, become, spring, produce', whence also Gk. phūma, 'growth', phūsis, 'nature' (see physic), Lat fui, 'I was', futurus, 'about to be' (see future), also Scrt bhūm, 'earth', bhūti, 'existence' See be S African colonist of Dotob origin bog, n. & vb [1 bog, 2 bog], fr Gael or Ir bog, 'soft' a n Soft, wet, marshy, miry ground, a swamp, quicksand, b vb (usually pass), to be bogged, to become stuck in a bog, or in miry ground bog butter, n Greasy mineral substance found in Irish bogs bogey (I), n [1 bōgi, 2 bōgi] Origin doubtful See boggla Ghost, evil spirit, bugbear, something of which one has special dislike or horror, imaginary terror bogey (II), n Said to be fr Colonel Bogey, an imaginary person, fr prec (golf) Number of strokes in which a good player should play a hole or get round a course boggle (I), n [1 bōgl, 2 bōgl] A Scotch word, not much used in Engl, perh connected w base in W buog, 'ghost' Goblin, spectre, supernatural visitant boggle (II), vb intrans, fr prec (always boggle at) To shrink from, have a horror of, make difficulties about, feel scruples concerning something he boggled at undertaking fresh responsibility, he is not the man to boggle at trifles of that kind bogie, n [1 bōgi, 2 bōgi] Etymol unknown, occurs first as a Northumbrian word A wheeled, pivoted framework placed beneath the front of a locomotive or long railway coach, enabling the train to take curves more safely and easily bog-myrtle, n bog & myrtle Popular name of gale bog-oak, n bog & oak. Oak of ancient date, found buried in peat bogs, of deep black ebony colour, often used for carved ornaments &c bog-spavin, n See bog & spavin Soft swelling or tumour on the inner side of the hock of a horse bog-trotter, n bog & trotter Contemptuous name for an Irishman, as living among bogs bogus, adj [1 bōgus, 2 bōgus] Origin unknown, introduced fr USA Sham, not genuine bogy See bogey (I) bohea, n [1 bōhé, 2 bōhu] Chinese W-u [1 bōh, 2 bui] name of district Inferior variety of black China tea

Bohemian, n & adj [1 bōhémian, 2 bōhémian], fr Fr Bohémien, 'gipsy', orig meaning inhabitant of Bohemia, where the gipsies were supposed to come from Un conventional (person), given to free and easy mode of life, untrammelled by ordinary rules of social life boil (I), n [1 boil, 2 boil] OE byl(e), ME bile, cogn w O HG būlla, 'swelling', M HG bule, Da bui, Goth uf baul jan, 'to puff up', might be connected, but this wd prohibit the more probable relationship w Lat flemina, 'swelling on a joint', wh is supposed to contain base bhel-* (bero bhlz*), q v under blow (I), blast, bloom &c, & w Gk. phléma, 'bleeding wounds on horses' feet' The present form of boil no doubt influenced by that of boil (II), we shd expect bule. Small inflamed swelling, filled with pus, on neck or other part of the body boil (II), vb intrans & trans ME boile, O Fr boillir, 'to boil', fr Lat bullire, 'boil', connected w bulla, 'bubble', fr an Aryan base bhel*, 'swell', parallel to bhel*, w same meaning see bold & ball A. intrans 1 A To bubble, be agitated, as water is when a certain degree of heat is reached water boils at 212 degrees Fahrenheit, b to be in the process of boiling (of liquid or food being cooked) the potatoes are boiling Phrs boiling hot, very hot (of food or anything heated by fire, also of weather &c), to keep the pot boiling, to make a living somehow, cp pot-boiler 2 To be violently agitated, churned up, made to bubble, as the sea through action of wind, or swiftly flowing river among rocks, or in a narrow channel &c boiling waves, waters &c 3 (fig) To be violently excited by some powerful emotion such as anger, indignation to boil with rage, Phr to make one's blood boil Boil away, (of water) to evaporate in steam, boil over, a (of liquids) to reach boiling-point and overflow vessel in which they are being boiled, b (fig) to be unable to restrain one's indignation &c B trans 1 To submit liquids to great heat, cause liquids to bubble by raising temperature 2 To cook food in a vessel containing water which is kept boiling to boil eggs, vegetables &c 3 To submit anything to great heat by immersing in water which is kept boiling to boil clothes (in laundry work), boil down, to reduce by boiling boil (III), n, fr prec Boiling-point, in such Phrs as bring to, keep on, at, the boil boiler, n [1 boiler, 2 bōile] boil (II) & -er 1 A person who boils something Chiefly in compounds soap boiler &c 2 Metal vessel in connexion with a furnace in which water is either boiled so as to generate steam (for engines), or in which it is kept hot (for baths, or heating apparatus) boiling (I), n [1 bōiling, 2 bōiling] boil (II) & -ing 1 Act or process of making liquids &c boil, or of cooking by boiling food is often cooked by boiling, the skilful boiling of food is a fine art 2 A The whole of a number of things boiled in the same vessel, or by a single act or process a boiling of potatoes, b (fig, colloq) things produced by single process, hence group, party of associated persons or things, esp the whole boiling boiling (II), adj, fr Pres Part of boil (II) a (of liquids) in a state of bubbling from exposure to heat, b (lit and fig of anything) very hot boisterous, adj [1 bōisterus, 2 bōisterus] ME boistous, brustous, 'rough, clumsy, boisterous', origin unknown a (of persons) Rude, rough, noisy, exuberant in manner, b (of wind, sea, weather &c) violent, strongly agitated, tempestuous boisterously, adv Prec & -ly In a rough, boisterous manner bolas, n [1 bōlas, 2 bōulas] Pl of Span bola, 'ball' Implement consisting of several heavy balls attached to a thong, used in S America by the Gauchos for hurling at the legs of horses and cattle to trip them up bold, adj [1 bōld, 2 bōld] OE bald (WS beald), O HG bald, ON baldr, fr bald r*, Goth balþs, 'boldness', balps, balþ aba, boldly, possibly fr Aryan base bhel-*, 'to swell', q v under ball, bullock, hally &c 1 Daring, brave, courageous, stout hearted 2 (in bad sense) Impudent, shameless, immodest, esp of women bold hussey &c 3 Confident, well-assured I'll be bold, or I make bold, to say &c, I am sure, & a Prominent, precipitous (of cliffs, promontories &c), bnce, b striking, vigorous, emphatic (of drawing, architecture &c) bold lines, curves, a bold design bold-faced, adj 1 Impudent, lacking in proper modesty 2 (typog) Having conspicuous, heavy face, or style of cutting boldly, adv [1 bōldh, 2 bōldh] bold & -ly a In a bold, courageous manner to act boldly &c, b clearly, conspicuously to stand out boldly from a background boldness, n See prec & -ness a Bravery, daring, b (in bad sense) effrontery bole (I), n [1 bōl, 2 bōul] ME bōle, fr O.N. bōl r, trunk of a tree, cp Mod Germ bohle, 'tree trunk', cogn. w Gk. phalour, 'large round piece of wood, log', fr Aryan stem bhel*, 'swell out' Cp also ball, ball, bolley &c Stem or trunk of a tree bole (II), n, fr Fr bol, 'round mass', Low Lat bōlus, 'lump, clod', fr Gk. bōlos The latter is cogn w Scrt glauḥ, 'lump, ball', wh. shows that the Aryan base was grel*. Another related word is Gk. bulanos, 'scurf', see palmiferous Tough red clay, found between layers of basaltic lava, and formed by decay of underlying surface of this bolelection, n [1 bōlēkshun, 2 bōlēkshən] Origin unknown (arab.) Portion of a moulding which projects above general surface bolero, n [1 bolārō, 2 bolēarō] Span 1 Kind of Spanish dance accompanied by castanets and lively music 2 Short female garment or coat reaching to the waist boletus, n [1 bōlētus, 2 bōlēlēs] Lat, fr Gk bōlētes, 'mushroom, fungus', fr bōlēos, 'lump' See bole (II) A genus of fleshy fungi, growing in woods, often brightly coloured, some being edible bolide, n [1 bōlīd, 2 bōlēlīd] Gk bōlēis, gent bōlēos, 'anything thrown, missile', connected w ballō, 'I throw', q v under ballistic Meteor followed by train of light, often exploding boll, n & vb [1 bol, 2 bōl] OE bolle, 'bowl', ME bolle, prob fr base bhel-*, 'swell' Cp bole (I) & references there given 1 n Round seed-vessel of flax or cotton plant, boll weevil, a very destructive small weevil which infests cotton fields a vb To form seed pods bollard, n [1 bolard, 2 bōlārd] Prob bole (I) & -ard Stout post of wood or iron on deck of a ship, or on a landing stage, around which ropes holding vessels are hitched bolo, n [1 bōlō, 2 bōlōw] Span Long, single-edged knife bolometer, n [1 bōlōmeter, 2 bōlōmētē] fr Gk bōlē, 'stroke, blow', fr ballēin, 'to throw', see ballistic, & -meter (phys) Instrument for measuring radiant heat

Bolshevik, n & adj [1 bōlshevik, 2 bōlshevik] Russ (pl Bolsheviks), lit 'one in, those forming a majority', fr bolshe, 'greater, more', for base see second element in debile, opposed to Menshevik, orig name given to the party forming a majority at a Russian Socialist conference at Lausanne, 1903 1 n A member of the advanced Communist party of Russia, which established the 'dictatorship of the proletariat' after the revolution of 1917, a general name for a Russian Communist or for a Communist or violent revolutionary in any country 2 adj Of, pertaining to, the Bolsheviks or Bolshevism, Bolshevik

Bolshevism, n [1 bōlshevizm, 2 bōlshevīzəm] Prec & -ism Principles, policy, of the Bolsheviks

Bolshevist, adj & n [1 bōlshevīst, 2 bōlshevīst] See prec & -ist 1 adj Of, pertaining to, the Bolsheviks or their policy, communistic, violently revolutionary 2 n A Bolshevik bolster (I), n [1 hōlster, 2 hōlstē] OE bolster prob = the puffy, swelled, thing' See base bhel-* under ball, belly, pillow & Long, round cushion upon which the pillows on a bed rest bolster (II), vb trans, fr prec To support, prop, (esp fig) bolster up, to support, a person or cause which is rather insecure, and would collapse without extraneous help bolt (I), n [1 bōlt, 2 bōltē] OE bolt, 'arrow', OHG & Mod Germ bolz Origin doubtful, Kluge suggests that the word may be a re-fashioning of Lat (cata)pulta See catapult 1 Short, stout arrow, or dart, fired from a crossbow Phrs (fig) to shoot one's bolt, make one's effort, attempt, or attack, my bolt is shot, bolt upright, quite straight, straight as a bolt Cp straight as a dart 2 Lightning, meteorite falling from the sky, thunderbolt, esp in Phr a bolt from the blue, unexpected occurrence 3 a A thick metal bar on a door, which is shot into clasps or hasps fastened to framework, and prevents the door being opened, b a catch on a spring fastened to upper sash of a window which locks under a piece of metal placed to receive it on lower sash, and prevents window being opened from outside, c sliding bar which locks the breech of a rifle 4 One of a variety of similar devices for holding two things together (o.g. a ring, knocker, bolt-fastenings & so to a door) consisting of an iron pin in form of a screw, which often has a fixed bead at one end, and a small flat piece of pierced iron, or nut, which is tightly screwed on to the other bolt (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 To fasten a door or window by means of a bolt bolt the door, window & so 2 To run away quickly, said a of a horse which is frightened, and cannot be stopped by rider or driver, also b of rabbits & so, which run on being aroused from cover into the open, c of persons who run away from something which alarms them, d (extension of c) to run away from home & unexpectedly and disappear, elope & his wife has bolted with her cousin and all his money In the above senses the idea doubtless is 'to run as fast as a bolt from a crossbow' 3 To swallow food rapidly and greedily - to bolt one's dinner bolt (III), n, fr prec A rapid run, escape, dash, uncontrolled flight Phrs (colloq) make a bolt for it, do a bolt, run away bolt (IV), bōlt, vb trans ME bolte, 'sift', O Fr buleter, buleter, Mod Fr bluter, Low Lat buratara, orig to sift anything by passing it through a coarse kind of cloth, called in O Fr bure, L Lat burra Cp also Ital buratto, 'sieve' See bureau To sift Obsolete, except in archaic figurative phrase to bolt to the bran (already in Chaucer), to sift the evidence, inquire closely into anything bolter (I), n [1 bōlter, 2 bōltē] bolt (II) & -er One that bolts, esp of horse given to bolting or running away bolter (II), vb trans Provins, also bolter, 'to met, entangle' Etymol doubtful Archaic, esp in blood-boltered, of hair & so, matted with blood, 'Maohoth' bolus, n [1 bōlus, 2 bōlūs] Late Latinized form of Gk bōlēos, 'lump' & so See bole (II) Big pill, esp one administered to an animal bomb (I), n [1 bom, 2 hom] Fr bombe, fr Lat hombus, 'deep, humming, or buzzing sound', as of bees, also of a horn, fr Gk bōmbos, same sense, cogn w Sort bambara, 'beo', O Slav badŭnŭ, 'drum', of imitative origin, the name being given to the missile on account of the peculiar noise made by its passage through the air See also bound (III) 1 a Spboreal, explosive shell, fired from a mortar, or dropped from an aeroplane or air ship, b general name for various forms of grenade, q v, thrown by hand, as Mills' bomb & so 2 (fig) A startling, unexpected event, statement of surprising character Cp bombshell bomb (II), vb trans, fr prec To heave bombs at, attack with bombs (This verb had become obs, but came again into common use during the Great War) bombard, vb trans [1 hōmbārd, 2 hōmbārd] Fr bombarder, vb, bombarde, n See bomb (I) & -ard Orig a noun, 'that which drones or hums', applied to a musical instrument, b a primitive cannon. In first sense the word occurs in Engl in 14th, & in latter in 16th cent Cp Ital bombarda, 'kind of cannon' The Engl vb is derived fr the n in the sense, 'to use a hombard', i.e. cannon Shakespeare uses the noun in sense of 'drinking vessel' 1 To attack with artillery, also, in milder sense, to pelt to bombard with confetti, bouquets & so 2 (fig) To assail frequently and vigorously with questions, complaints, applications & so bombardier, n [1 hōmbārdēr, 2 hōmbārdēr] 2 bōmbardē, bāmbardē, fr prec Fr bombardier, 'soldier who throws bombs, artilleryman' Originally a soldier in charge of a bombard, or cannon, for throwing bombs, now lowest rank of non commissioned officers in Royal Artillery bombardment, n [1 hōmbārdmēt, 2 hōmbārdmēt] See bombard & -ment Artillery attack bombardon, n [1 hōmbārdun, 2 hōmbārdun] Ital bombardone Cp bombard a Deep-toned musical instrument of bassoon class, b one of the stops on an organ.

bombazine See bombazine bombast, n [1 hōmbast, 2 hōmbāst] O Fr bombace, 'cotton' Lat bombyx, 'silk-worm, something made of silk, any fine fibre, cotton', fr Gk bōmbux, 'silk-worm, silk', origin unknown The development of meaning of bombace, fr 'cotton' to 'padding', & the fig use of the word is not difficult to follow The final -t of the Engl word was developed in accordance w a habit, still found among vulgar speakers, but common in all classes fr 16th to 18th cent, of pronouncing a -t after a final -s Thus laste occurs for loss in 16th cent High sounding, flowery, rather empty and insincere, verbiage,rodomontade bombastic, adj [1 hōmbāstik, 2 hōmbāstik] Prec & -ic (of speech, manner) Pertaining to bombast, characterized by high flown, inflated, rhetorical expression bombastically, adv [1 hōmbāstikali, 2 hōmbāstikali] Prec & -al & -ly In a bombastic manner

Bombay duck, n [1 hōmhā duk, 2 bōmbei dāk] Anglo-Indian word for a kind of dried fish (the bummalo) which has a very strong and rather rank taste, used to give savour to curries & so, and considered a great delicacy bombazine, n [1 hōmbāzēn, 2 hōmbāzēn] O Fr bombasin, L Lat bombygenum, 'silk fabric', fr bombyx See further under bombast Kind of twilled fabric, mixture of silk and wool, used for women's dresses, esp for mourning garments bomber, n [1 hōmēr, 2 hōmē] bomb (II) & -er a Aeroplane & carrying explosive bombs, b soldier who throws hand grenades or bombs bombproof, adj [1 hōmprūf, 2 hōmprūf] Secure against effects of explosion of bombs, esp bombproof shelter, a specially constructed chamber reinforced in various ways bomb-shell, n Explosive shell, same as bomb, (now gen fig) a regular bombshell, great surprise, source of agitation & so bona fide, adj & adv [1 bōna fīdē, 2 bōna fīdē] Lat words meaning 'in good faith', Genuine, reverse of sham, or imitation bona fides, n [1 bōna fīdēs, 2 bōna fīdēs] Legal Honest intention, good faith bonanza, n [1 bōnanza, 2 bōnanza] Span Lit 'good luck, prosperity' Rich vein of ore in a mine, anything that shows prosperity, run of luck, fine weather and good, plentiful crops on a farm bonbon, n [1 bonbōn, 2 bōbō] Fr, reduplicated form of bon, 'good', fr Lat bonus, 'good' See under bonus & bonest bonbonnière, n [1 bonbōniār, 2 bōbōniār] Fr, fr prec A small ornamented box or case for sweetmeats & so bond (I), n [1 bond, 2 bōnd] OE band, bond Variant of band, & related to bind 1 Shackle, something which restrains freedom of movement (only in pl) 'Let us break their bonds in sunder and cast away their cords from us' 2 (fig) Anything which unites, a connecting link bond of friendship, common tastes form a bond between us 3 (law) a An agreement by which one is bound, a covenant to enter into a bond with a person, b the document, signed and sealed, which embodies such an agreement Phr his word is as good as his bond, of a very honest person, c (specif, finance) an instrument issued by a government or corporation which acknowledges that a certain sum has been lent, as evidence of debt which the holder can recover 4 (building) System of ties, or unions by which adjacent stones or bricks, or courses of stones or bricks, are held together, by overlapping in various ways 5 State of certain goods, wines, tobacco & so, kept under government supervision till Customs duties are paid in bond, out of bond bond (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To tie materials in building by means of a bond. 2 To convert a loan into a debt secured by bonds.

bondage, n [1 bɒndɪ, 2 bɒndɪdʒ] Med. Lat bondagium, fr OE bōnda, q v under bōnd- zman, & agrum, q v under -aga 1 Condition of being a bonda or person cultivating and holding land by villain service, hence, lack of freedom, restraint on liberty of action, subjugation, still further extended to imply slavery, captivity 2 (fig) Any thing or set of circumstances which impose(s) moral restraint or subjection bondage of sin, vice & c bonded, adj [1 bɒndəd, 2 bɒndəd] fr bond (I), 3 & 5, & -ed 1 (finance) Secured by bonds 2 Placed in government warehouse called a 'bonded warehouse', pending payment of duty bondmaid, n [1 bɒndmæd, 2 bɒndmæd] See bondman Female slave bondman, bondsman, n [1 bɒndmæn, bɒndzmæn, 2 bɒndmæn, bɒndzmæn] OE bōnda, 'householder', later 'a villain', fr ON bōndi, older bāndi, lit 'dweller, householder', a man who tilled his own land, a free man. See Boer After the Conquest a change of tenure reduced the status of these small landholders and they become villeins, holding their land fr the lord of the manor & w their liberties curtailed. Although quite unconnected historically w bond, 'chockle' & c, bōnda became confused w it, & the meaning changed fr 'freemen' to 'serf' Hence bondsman now means a person in bonds, a serf bond-servant, n Bond(s)man, serf bone (I), n [1 bɒn, 2 bəʊn] OE bān, 'bone', OHG bein, 'bone, leg', Mod Germ bein, 'leg', OLG bēn, 'bone', ON bēn, 'bone', & 'leg', cp also ON beinn, 'straight'. Thus may be the orig meaning of the base, in which case the derived sense in bone & c wd start fr 'straight bones', wh makes it at least possible that the word referred first of all, to the bones of the thigh & shins as in Germ. The tempting equation of the word w Lat femur, 'thigh', must be rejected. So far the base seems confined entirely to Gmc 1 A portion, one of the parts, of the hard structure which composes the framework or skeleton supporting the soft tissues and organs of vertebrate animals the bones of the head, the thigh bone & c Plur a bone of contention, cause of dispute, to have a bone to pick with someone, subject of argument, cause of complaint, to be frozen, drenched, to the bone, thoroughly, extremely, cold or wet, to make no bones about, have, or show no scruple, dry as a bone, very dry 2 The hard substance of which the bones are formed 3 Various hard structures found in the animal body, e.g. whale bone, or the hard inner shell of outle fish, also ivory 4 (pl, hv extension of 1) The dead body as a whole his bones were laid in Westminster 5 (in pl) Thin strips of ivory or bone, a pair of which is held between the fingers of each hand and clattered together in time to music or rhythmical movement bone (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To remove the bones of to bone a turkey, leg of mutton & c 2 (slang) To steal, appropriate what does not belong to one bone-bed, n (geol) Layer of rock containing fragments of bone boned, adj [1 bɒnd, 2 bəʊnd] bone (I) & -ed A having bone of particular kind large boned, raw boned, b having bones removed boned turkey & c bone-dry, adj Dry as an old bone which has been exposed to the weather, (also fig) Very thirsty bonedust, n [1 bɒndɪst, 2 bəʊndɪst] Finely ground bones, used as manure bone-setter, n A person, generally an unqualified surgeon, who has special skill in manipulating injured or diseased bones and joints, and in setting fractured limbs, an osteopath boneshaker, n [1 bɒnʃeɪkə, 2 bəʊnʃeɪkə] Used derisively of a bad, antiquated, dilapidated bicycle bone spavin, n Growth of bone on horse's knee, which causes lameness.

bonfire, n [1 bɒnfɪr, 2 bɒnfɪə] Perh fr bone, said to be so called because bones were formerly chief materials used Large fire lighted on festive occasions as a sign of rejoicing bongo, n [1 bɒŋgə, 2 bɒŋgəʊ] Native name A large striped antelope of E and W Africa bonhomie, n [1 bɒnɒmi, 2 bɒnɒmi] Fr, 'good nature', bon, 'good', homme, 'man', See bonus & bane & homage Geniality, good nature, pleasantness of manner

Boniface, n [1 bɒnɪfəs, 2 bɒnɪfɪs] fr name of character in Farquhar's 'Beaux Stratagem', 1707 Inn keeper, esp one who is jovial and genial bonito, n [1 bɒnɪtə, 2 bɒnɪtəʊ] Span, etymol unknown Name of various large kinds of tunny of the mackerel family, of Atlantic Ocean & c, esp the striped tunny which pursues the flying fish bon mot, n Fr lit 'good word, saying' Pronounced w remote imitation of Fr as [1 bɒn mɔ, 2 hɪ mɔʊ] A jest, humorous, witty, pointed saying bonne, n [1 bɒn, 2 bɒn] Fr word, fem of bon, 'good', see bonus, specialized in sense of children's nurse, female domestic In England sometimes used formerly of a Frenchwoman who acted as nurse to English children Generally French bonne, used to be pronounced [1 bʌn, 2 bʌn] bonne bouche, n [1 bɒn hɒʃə, 2 bɒn hɒʃ] Fr, lit 'good mouthful', fr fem of bon, 'good', see bonus & c, & douche, 'mouth', fr Lat bucca, 'cheek', see buccal, the Engl. sense is not a Fr one Tit bit bonnet (I), n [1 bɒnɪt, 2 bɒnɪt] O Fr bonet, Mod Fr bonnet, Span bonete Origin unknown Perh refers orig to material of wh the thing was made Meyer Lubke quotes as oldest mention chapel de bone 1 Head dress of various shapes and material, applied either a to kind of cap with strings worn on the head out of doors by women, b to soft cap covering head and ears worn by babies, c to a peculiar kind of flat cap worn in Scotland, esp by Highlanders 2 Extended to various structures which have nothing in common with a bonnet in original sense except that they cover something e.g. a owl or hood fixed to the top of a chimney to regulate draught or prevent down draught, b contrivance to arrest sparks on funnel of locomotive, c covering of metal on motor or other machine, to protect valve chambers, cylinders & c 3 (colloq, slang) Decey, accomplice in a swindle, doubtful gambling transaction, who acts as a cover to the principal bonnet (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To provide with a bonnet (rare) 2 To cover a man's face with his hat, by striking it down over his eyes 3 (extended meaning) To cover, protect, as a fire from draught, damp down, extinguish.

bonnet rouge, n [1 bɒnə rʊʒ, 2 bɒnə rʊʒ] Fr, 'red cap', fr head dress worn by revolutionary mob in French Revolution. A red republican bonny, adj [1 bɒni, 2 bɒni] ME bons. Origin uncertain, possibly connected w Fr bon, 'good', see bonus (Not much used in South of England, common in Scotland and North country) Handsome, buxom, esp of good looks combined with, or arising from, the glow of health a bonny boy, her bonny face & c bonspiel, n [1 bɒnspeɪl, 2 bɒnspeɪl] A Scots usage, earlier bonspiel, prob borrowed fr Du, the second element is Do spel, Germ. spiel, 'game', prob cogn w spell, 'turn of work' see spell (III), first element may be Du bond, 'league', early sense was that of a match at archery or other game of skill. A match, esp an important one, at curling bonus, n [1 bɒnəs, 2 bəʊnəs] Lat bonus, 'good', earlier duneros, fr duneros* Some identify the base w that in Sert dunet, 'veneration, worship', dunssyah, 'respects, acknowledges, praises' See further under bone & beauty Early proposals to connect duneros* w Gk dunamis & c, 'power', are now gen rejected See further dynamite 1 A gratuity, additional payment over and above what recipient is strictly entitled to 2 Specif, extra sum added, out of accumulated profits, by Life Insurance Co to the value of a policy above the sum originally insured for bony, adj [1 bɒni, 2 bəʊni] fr bone & -y. 1 Like bone in structure, or hardness bony growth, bony swelling & c 2 Full of bones. the herring is a very bony fish 3 Possessing large, prominent bones a tall bony man, a bony horse & c bonze, n [1 bɒnz, 2 bɒnz] Jap bonzi, bonzō Term applied by Europeans in China to Buddhist priests, originally derived from Japan Found in forms bonzō, bonzi, in English writings from 18th cent booh (h), interj & vb trans & intrans [1 bʊ, 2 bʊ] Imitative of sound made by a oow 1 interj Exclamation uttered to express disapproval or contempt, also to chase away an animal 2 vb a To utter the exclamation, to say booh, b to chase away by uttering the cry booh a dog out of the garden, c to utter the cry in order to express disapproval of a person or his opinions booby, n [1 bʊbi, 2 bʊbi] Span bobo, 'fool', fr Lat balbus, 'stammering, stuttering', cp Ital balbo, O Fr baup, fr ébaubi, 'astounded, amazed', lit 'struck dumb' The Lat word is of ancient imitative origin, & ultimately connected w Gk. barbaros, 'not Greek, foreign' See barbarous a A clumsy, stupid dunce, a loutish, heavy fellow, b a sailor's name for various seabirds, esp the gannet.

boobyish, adj [1 bʊbi-ɪʃ, 2 bʊbi-ɪʃ]. Prec & -ish. Like, pertaining to, a booby booby-prize, n Prize awarded in good-natured derision to the last in a race or other competition booby-trap, n Kind of practical joke which consists in placing some object where a person must pass, so that he will trip over it, or that it will fall upon his head.

boodle, n [1 bʊdl, 2 bʊdl] Perh fr. caboodle, the origin of wh is unknown. (vulg slang) Money, cash boohoo, n & vb intrans [1 bʊhʊ, 2 bʊhʊ]. Imt, redupl of boo a n Noisy weeping, henceous, b vh, to utter loud lamentations & c book (I), n [1 bu:k, 2 bu:k] OE bōc, 'hook, document, charter', Common Gmc word, fr same stem as beech (tree), fr ancient custom of inscribing runic letters on thin shavings or boards of beech 1 A Collection of blank, printed, or written sheets or leaves, of paper, or other material, fastened together, and bound in boards, covered with cloth, leather, or paper & c, so as to form a unity or volume a note book, account book, book of MS, printed book & c, b entries in a record book of sale Plur to bring to book, call to account, to be in one's black books, in disfavour, from idea of a person's name being in a record of misdeeds 2 a A literary composition, compilation or treatise of any kind, which, when printed and bound, constitutes a book in above sense (1), b (extended fig meaning) studies at one's books Plur to speak without the book, from memory, the Book, the Good Book, Bible 3 A considerable portion, division, or section of a literary work Milton's 'Paradise Lost' consists of twelve books 4 The words which are sung in opera, same as libretto the music was fine, but the book was very poor 5 The whole of a person's bets on a single race, or at single race meeting to make a book on the Derby Plur (fig) to suit one's book, to be in accordance with one's plans or wishes 6 Six tricks taken by one side at whist, the number after which each additional trick taken counts in the score custom obtained only in certain English boroughs, that in French boroughs being the ordinary one of primogeniture borrow, vb trans & intrans [1 bórō, 2 b්රော] O E borgian, 'to give or take a loan, to lend, also borrow', formed fr borg, 'pledge, security', connected w beorgan, 'protect', & o, q v under borough A trans 1 To receive anything, or the right to use anything, belonging to another, as a temporary loan, on promise to pay back the thing or sum of money lent, the lender often holding security of some kind, and receiving interest until repayment is completed his necessities compelled him to borrow money at exorbitant interest 2 Applied also to informal temporary loans of other persons' belongings may I borrow your pony for the afternoon? 3 (arith) Term used in subtraction when the figure to be subtracted is greater than that from which it is to be subtracted, and one is taken from the next higher denomination and added to the smaller figure B intrans 1 To borrow money he is always trying to borrow of his friends 2 (golf) To allow for the effect of wind or a slope on the ball borrower, n [1 bórder, 2 b්රော] Preo & -er One who borrows borrowing, n [1 bórōng, 2 b්රော] See preo & -ing Act of one who borrows Borstal, adj [1 bórstal, 2 b්රော] fr name of site of first prison in Kent Pertaining to Borstal or the system, Borstal system, of separate prisons and treatment of young criminals between the age of 16 and 21 borzoi, n [1 borzoi, 2 b්රော] Russ, lit 'swift' A Russian wolf-hound, a large high-standing hound of greyhound type, but with thick, soft, and silky coat, usually white with yellow markings boscage, n [1 boskij, 2 b්රော] fr O Fr boscage, 'grove', fr L Lat boscus, boscus, 'thicket', & -agium, see -age Buscus, whence Fr buis, is prob a form of buzus, 'box-tree', wh appears in Gk as puzos & is thought to be of foreign origin See further under bush & box (I) A woody region, thicket, grove bosh, n [1 bosh, 2 b්රော] Said to be Turkish word w much the same sense as it has in Engl 1 Foolishness in word or deed, nonsense what you say is all bosh, to talk bosh 2 Used as rather rude exclamation, equivalent to Nonsense!, Humbug!

bosky, adj [1 bóska, 2 b්රော] fr L Lat boscus See boscage & -y Wooded, covered with woodland, bushy bosom, n [1 boozum, 2 buzam] O E bōsm, bōsum, OHG buosum, OS bōsm, etymol doubtful, but perh for bōgema*, & connected w O E bōg, 'shoulder, arm', & meaning orig 'the part covered by the arms when folded in front of one', & as it were, 'armful, embrace' Cp elbow & bough Now chiefly used figuratively 1 a The human breast (obsolesc or poet), b that part of the clothing which covers the breast, fold of a dress or robe (obs) he thrust the book into his bosom Such phrases as shirt bosom, bosom of a dress &c are no longer current in England 2 (fig) The affections, passions, inmost thoughts to take someone to one's bosom, his sorrows were locked in his own bosom Phrs wife of one's bosom (obsolesc), bosom friend, very intimate friend 3 a The surface of the earth or sea, b the inner depths of the earth, below the surface minerals torn from earth's deepest bosom, c embrace, keeping, guardianship bosom of the Church, bosom of one's family bosomed, adj [1 bózum, 2 buzam] a Having a bosom, esp in combinations b g-bosomed, deep-bosomed, b (poet) placed, situated in the bosom, e g of a sheet of water, or a wood an islet bosomed in the lake, a house bosomed in trees, surrounded by boss (I), n [1 bos, 2 bos] Fr bosses, 'protuberances', in various applications Origin unknown; common in various forms in Romance languages, Ital bozza, 'swelling, lump of stone' &c, bozzo, 'rough plan', perh op botoch 1 Any protuberant part, a knob &c, e g a projecting metal stud on a shield 2 (archit) Projecting carving or moulding, used as an ornament, as in arches and roofs boss (II), vb trans Perh same as preo, Cp Ital (ab-) bozzare & bozzare, 'sketch out roughly', Port esboçar, Fr ébaucher &c See botoch, (II) (slang) To bunglo, make a bad job of, esp to miss something aimed at boss (III), n. Dn baas, 'master' (slang, rather vulg) A master, the head or chief man in any undertaking or institution In modern sense imported from USA, where the word meant first of all a person who pulled wires in political intrigue The word in Marlowe's 'Tamburlaine' (1588), applied to a woman 'Disdainful Turkish and unreverend boss' ('Tam' pt 1 Act iii sc 3, l 168), has probably a different origin boss (IV), vb, fr preo To play the master or leader, to be too masterful, to attempt to assert undue authority over boss-eyed, adj boss (II) & eyed (colloq) Squinting, cock-eyed boston, n [1 bóstun, 2 b්රော] fr town in Massachusetts, USA 1 (obs) Mode of hair-dressing formerly practised by fops 2 Kind of valse

Boswell, n [1 bósweal, 2 b්රော] One who plays the part of zealous admirer to a person, esp one who collects and records sayings of a great man, as James Boswell (1740-95) did for Dr Johnson. to be a, act the, Boswell to &c

Boswellian, n [1 bóswehian, 2 b්රော] Preo & -ian Admirer and student of Boswell's Life of Johnson

Boswellize, vb trans [1 bóswelez 2 b්රော] See preo & -ize To deal with a person's life and sayings as Boswell did with those of Dr Johnson bot, boti, n [1 bot, 2 b්රော] Origin unknown Parasitic maggot (of the bot-fly) which infests skin and intestines of horses and other animals Bots, botte, pl, disease, an irritable swelling caused by the bot fly botanic(al), adj [1 botamk(l), 2 b්රော] See botany & -ic & -al Relating to the science of botany, relating to plant life botanically, adv Preo & -ly. From a botanic point of view, according to botany botanist, n [1 botanist, 2 b්රော] See botany & -ist Student of botany botanize, vb intrans [1 botaniz, 2 b්රော] See preo & -ize To collect plants for study, to study plants botanizer, n [1 botanizer, 2 b්රော] Preo & -er One who botanizes botany, n [1 botáni, 2 b්රော] Fr botanique in same sense Engl -y suff due to anal of astronomy &c, wh is as fr Gk. -nomia, Gk. botanē means 'pasture, fodder', but the adj botanikos, 'relating to herbs', is later applied to the science of botany The prime meaning of the base is seen in the Gk. vb bōskō, 'to feed, pasture cattle', & in boslos, 'feeder of cattle' The orig form is bōd*, 'to feed', op Lath gauja, 'herd'. It is possible that Gk boiō, 'ox', is fr same base, see bovine & cow & op proboscis The science of the structure, growth, and life of plants botoch (I), n [1 bosh, 2 b්රော] ME boche, O Fr boche, 'swelling on the skin' Op boss (I) 1 A swelling, or spot &c, on the skin 2 A clumsy piece of work Originally a lump, shapeless swelling botoch (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 To bunglo anything, carry out work clumsily and unskilfully 2 To patch roughly (a boot &c) botcher, n [1 bócher, 2 b්රော] A rough sort of cobbler, a bad, clumsy workman both, pron, adj, & adv [1 bóth, 2 b්රော] ME bōpe, bōthe, fr ON bápar The ending -th may perh be fr the pl def art, ON þeir, þ er, þau, O E þā for all genders, O H G.

Goth In bayð þu, adj, & Mod. Germ have a corresponding ending in bei ðe, 'both', wh is lacking in the other languages, O E has begen maso, bā fem & neut, Goth bai maso, bā neut The base is found also in second element of Lat am-bō, 'both', am bi, 'around, both sides', inseparable pref, Gk am-phō, 'both', am-phē, 'around', Sort u-bhāu The Aryan base was apparently bhōs*, bhās*, bhā*. See ambi- The word thus occurs in Gmc, Italic, Hellenic, & Sort, but no further light can be thrown upon its origin The two (persons or things) together, not excluding either a Used as a pron, as are your parents living? Yes, both are, b as an adj both parents are still living, c adv = two things at once, at same time he is both a fool and a knave, both a gentleman and a scholar bother (I), vb trans & intrans [1 bódher, 2 b්රော] Etymol unknown 1 trans To annoy, worry, cause trouble, anxiety, or difficulty to, pester, perplex children often bother their parents in many ways, the variety of his responsibilities bothered him greatly, don't bother me with these trivial details, that doesn't bother me, it's quite simple. Phrs to bother one's head about, feel anxiety, take trouble concerning, oh, bother (u)!, confound it! 2 intrans To feel anxiety, worry &c, allow oneself to be made anxious he would be much better if he didn't bother so much, do your best and don't bother, he lets things slide and doesn't bother Also, bother about (something), feel anxious, and take steps to improve it, either in sense of fussing unduly, or of taking reasonable care he is always bothering about things that don't matter, the general was defeated because he had not bothered about taking (or to take) obvious precautions bother (II), n See preo Source of trouble, worry, difficulty, tedium, disturbance, fuss, dispute his sons are a great bother to him, I find dictionary work a great bother, what is all this bother about?, I had some bother with him about keeping his appointments botheration, n [1 bódherishun, 2 b්රော] fr preo & -ation Same as bother (II), also mild expletive = confound it! oh, botheration! Perhaps suggested by damnation!

bothy, n [1 bóth, 2 b්රော] Scots, poch related to booth A small, humble cottage botony, adj [1 bótoni, 2 b්රော] Fr boutonné, 'provided with a bud, or button' See button. (her, of a cross on the shield) Having a kind of trefail at the end of each branch bo-tree, n [1 bó tré, 2 bóu tré] fr Cungulose bō, op Sort bōdhi, 'enlightenment', cp Buddha The pipul or sacred fig tree of India, being the tree under which Gautama (Buddha) was sitting when 'enlightenment' came to him bottle (I), n [1 bótl, 2 b්රော] ME botel, fr O Fr bouteille, Low Lat buthicula, 'flask', dimin of buthis, 'cask', fr Gk. The word is found in Ital bottiglia, Span botella, Port botella &c The further relations of this group of words w those discussed under body & boot (I) are not clear, but it seems probable that bottle was orig a leather flask or wineskin 1 A hollow vessel, esp a receptacle for liquids, usually of glass, with out handles, with narrow top or neck, and the part below either swelling out and then continuing straight down to the bottom, or with swelling, bulging sides sloped in towards the bottom Spout, a small glass receptacle from which babies suck milk to bring a child up on the bottle Phrs wine in bottle and in barrel, (male a noise) like a bee in a bottle 2 The contents of, amount contained in, a bottle, esp of wine to drink a whole bottle, this decanter will hold a large bottle of wine 3 (fig) Wine, strong drink, which is usually stored in, and associated with, bottles to be too fond of the bottle, to take to the bottle, 'Go like an Indian, in another life the bottle, 'Expect thy dog, thy bottle and thy wife' (Pope).

discuss something over a bottle, while drinking, in a sociable, friendly manner, to crack a bottle together, take wine together, hold friendly intercourse bottle (II), vb trans, fr preo a To put into a bottle it would be best to bottle this wine at once, b (fig) bottle up, restrain, keep under control, conceal discontent and rebellion, long bottled up, now broke out bottle (II), n Perh same as bottle (I), fr O Fr botel, dimin of botte, 'bundle' Sse body, butt (I) Bundle, truss, esp bottle of hay (obsolete and rare) bottle-brush, n Brush for cleaning bottles bottled, adj [1 botld, 2 botld] Put into bottles (of wine, beer &c) bottle glass, n Coarse, green glass bottle green, adj Dark green bottle-headed whale, n Variety of small whale bottle-holder, n Supporter, backer, esp at a prize fight bottle-nose, n Cetacean of dolphin family bottle-nosed, adj Having a swelled, reddish, pumpy nose, suggestive of owner's fondness for the bottle bottle-tit, n (ornith) Long tailed titmouse, so called from shape of its nest bottle-washer, n One who washes bottles, any menial or underling, drudge, huck bottom (I), n [1 bôtam, 2 bôtam] OE botm, 'lowest part, depth, bottom, ship's keel', ME botome, bopem &c, OS botom, 'soil', O Frs boden OHG bodam, Mod Germ boden, 'ground, soil, earth, land', ON botn, 'bottom of sea, of a ship' The t in OE, compared w d in OS as well as in OHG, presents difficulties wh have not been cleared up The ON form points to Gmc bupm*, wh wd square w OS & O Frs In spite of irregularities in OE & OHG, we may compare Lat fundus, for udn* os, 'bottom of anything', but also 'piece of land, farm, estate', Gk pythmên, 'foundation, bottom of any thing, of the sea, of a cup', Scrt budhna, 'soil, ground', O Ir bodn, for bodn*, 'sole of the foot' In spite of the somewhat various meanings of the above cognates, the root idea, preserved in Gmc, Lat, & Scrt, seems to be 'earth, land' It is suggested that the Aryan budhna* meant 'the place of growth' ultimately, & the base is connected w that of Lat fu, 'I was', fic, 'to become', Engl be See also beam (I) 1 The lowest part of anything, farthest from the top, the base, which supports the rest the bottom of a tree, bottom of a house, basement, lowest part of a slope bottom of the hill 2 The part of a chair which supports the sitter 3 That end of a cask which is downwards, upon which the cask rests, either end may become the bottom 4 a The lowest part of any vessel, either inside or out to leave something at the bottom of the cup, the bottom of a well, a bath, bucket, barrel &c, b (fig) the depths of one's character, nature, feelings a good man at bottom, from the bottom of the heart, sincerely, deeply 5 The bed of any body of water bottom of the sea, lake, river Phrs to go to the bottom, to sink (of a boat, or swimmer), to touch bottom, get into shallow water, run aground, (fig) to reach the lowest possible degree of dourness 6 The basis, foundation (esp fig) of belief, argument, subject of study &c Phrs to be at the bottom of something, to be the cause, to get to the bottom of, to understand thoroughly from inquiry, to go to the bottom of a question, study deeply, inquire into, to knock the bottom out of an argument &c, destroy, refute (p rhyps with reference also to 3) 7 a The lowest part or keel of a ship Phr bottom upwards, upside down, b (by extension) the whole ship the great hull of the American Army was brought over on British bottoms 8 That part of the human anatomy used in sitting (colloq and vulg) 9 (province) A small valley, or hollow in the ground.

bottom (II), adj, fr preo Lowest, last bottom price Phr to bet one's bottom dollar, bet all one has, to be absolutely certain of bottom (III), vb trans & intrans, fr bottom (I) 1 trans a To put a bottom or seat to to bottom a chair &c, b to reach, get to the bottom of anything, to find out about, understand fully, to fathom to bottom a man's motives, plans, arguments &c, c (usually in pass) to found, base his arguments were bottomed on practical good sense 2 intrans (rare) To rest, be based or grounded, with on or upon on what do his arguments bottom?

bottom growth, n Thick, short grass in meadows, below the longer and comparatively sparse growth bottom heat, n Heat at the roots of plants in frames, produced by thick bed of manure or heaped below the soil bottomless, adj [1 bôtamles, 2 bôtamhe] bottom (I) & -less a (lit) Without bottom, that is, of great depth, unplumbed bottomless abyss, b (of a chair) having no seat or bottom, c (fig) without foundation, so deep as to prevent one getting to the end or bottom, unfathomable bottomless stupidity, ignorance, incapacity &c (always in unfavourable sense) bottomry, n [1 bôtumr, 2 bôtamr] See bottom (I), 7, & -ry Cp Du botmerij System of lending money to shipowner for a voyage on security of his ship botulism, n [1 bôtulizm, 2 bôtjulizam], fr Lat botulus, 'gut, sausage', & -ism Botulus appears to be an Ocean dial form fr Aryan g'wulos*, normal Lat utulus* The base g'wot*, g'wet*, means 'twist, wind, enfold', & fr it are also derived Goth gipus, 'belly, womb', OHG guts, 'vulva', OE cwip, 'womb', & possibly Lat uterus, 'womb', wh some derive fr g'witeros* The Lat word was apparently extended fr its orig meaning 'guts' to 'sausage' on account of fancied resemblance in shape For later developments of botulus in the Romance languages see bowel The meaning of the word as appears fr above is lit 'sausage disease' The disease, which is generally fatal, arises from poison which is set up by the action of certain bacteria in potted and other preserved meats boudoir, n Fr pronunciation [1 bôdwar, 2 bôdwâr], Engl [1 boodwawr, 2 budn5] 18th cent Fr word, fr boudier, 'to sulk' (origin unknown), & ov, as in parlour Cp parlour Literally a place to sulk in Generally applied to a private sitting room devoted to the use of the mistress of the house bougainvillea, -ia, n [1 bôugavilea, 2 bûgavilea] Bougainville, an 18th cent French naval explorer A genus of tropical plants, the flowers of which have large bright red or purple bracts bough, n [1 bou, 2 bau] OE bôg, boh, 'arm, shoulder, bough' (cp bosom), OHG buog, 'upper part of arm', also 'bip', Mod Germ bug Engl is the only language that has extended this word to mean 'lamb, arm of a tree, bough' Cp outside Gmo, Gk phêlus for phailhus*, 'forearm', Scrt bâhus for bhaghus*, 'arm, forearm' Lamb of a tree, esp one of the larger branches bought, vb [1 bawt, 2 bôt] Pret & PP of buy OE bohte (ge)boht, ME boh(e)

bougie, n [1 bôzâh, 2 bûi] Fr, 'wax candle', fr Bugia, in Algeria, whence these candles first came to Europe (surge) A flexible instrument of rubber, for exploring or dilating wounds, urethra, and other openings in the body bouillabaisse n [1 bôilabais, 2 bûlabais] Fr, fr O Fr buillies, 'guts, bowels' (cp bowel & botulism), & abaisse, 'abess' The word then means lit 'abess' guts' A rich fish stew, a characteristic dish in Marseilles.

bouilli n [1 bôdyâ, 2 bûj] Fr, 'boiled meat' Cp bully beef bottomon, n [1 bôdyon, 2 bûj] Fr, 'strong broth' See boil (II) Strong broth, liquid decocted from meat, such as beef-tea boulder, n [1 bôlder, 2 boulds] ME bulderstôn, cp Swed bullersten, 'large stone in a stream', perh fr bullra, 'roar, rattle', Dan bûldre The word apparently means 'roaring stone', on account of noise made by a stream flowing round it, perh connected w bellow, vb Large, rounded mass of rock, often one which has been brought by ice or water from a distance, and which therefore differs from the surrounding rocks in character Boulder clay, deposit of ancient glaciers containing far travelled boulders boulevard, n [1 bôlvard, 2 bûlvâd], Fr [1 bôlvâr, 2 bûlvâr] Mod Fr, earlier boulevert, boulevère, borrowed in early 16th cent fr Germ bollwerk, 'fortification', See bulwark A boulevard was originally a public walk, later on planted with trees, upon the top of old fortifications The term is now used of a broad road with avenues of trees, often having houses on either side, frequented by the public as a promenade boulter, n [1 bôlter 2 boults] Etymo! unknown Long stout line for fishing, with a number of hooks attached bounce (I), vb intrans & trans [1 boans, 2 bawns] ME bounce, 'strike, beat', L Germ bunsen, Du bonzen, 'beat', &c. Origin unknown A intrans 1 To rebound on striking anything, as an india-rubber ball, or other resilient body the ball bounced over the net the ball doesn't bounce well 2 To move with bounding action, move roughly, violently, noisily, and ungracefully a number of ungainly young women were bouncing about in the playing field, to bounce into a room, to bounce out of a chair B trans 1 (rare in this sense) To cause to rebound to bounce a ball 2 To bluff, persuade by untrue statements, esp to hurry someone by these means into hasty, unconsidered action He tried to bounce me by concealing half the facts, the committee were bounced by wire pullers into a rash decision bounce (II), n, fr preo 1 a Power of, capacity for, bouncing, resilience the ball has lost its bounce, b act of bouncing hit ball on first bounce 2 a Roughness, clumsiness, of motion, b impudence, noisy bluster bouncing, adj [1 boansing, 2 boansig], fr Pres Part of bounce (I) a Given to bouncing, in general sense, b healthy, lusty, vigorous his wife presented him with two bouncing boys, c large, clumsy, and rough in appearance and movement stout, red-cheeked, bouncing damsels bound (I), n [1 bound, 2 bound] (Usually in pl) ME bounde, earlier bunne, O Fr. bonne, earlier bonne, 'limit, boundary', Mod. Lat badina, the origin of wh is unknown. The Mod Fr is borne, cp bourne (II). the final d in bound is natural phon development 1 a The limit, outer edge, boundary, confine, esp fig the bounds of space and time, the farthest bounds of ocean b Specific area defined by law or rule as one which may be lawfully entered within bounds, out of bounds, within, or beyond such on area (used esp in schools) 2 Limitations, restraints restrictions, confining borders, esp fig of those imposed on conduct and thought by law, custom, moral sense, or intelligence. he went outside the bounds of decency, to overstep the bounds of common sense, of possibility. Phr to put set bounds to, limit, restrain bound (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 To serve as a boundary, or confine to a line of mountains bounds the landscape, England is bounded on the north by Scotland 2 (fig) To set a limit to, impose boundaries, place restrictions upon we should bound our desires by reason, no nice scruples controlled his conduct bound (III), vb intrans Used since 16th cent, in Engl O Ir bondir, resound lebo &c, only used in sense of 'leap, spring', in 16th cent, comes fr L Lat bombiare, earlier bombicare, 'buzz, hum', fr bombire. See boxer, n [1 bokser, 2 bókse] box (V) & -er.

1 a A person who fights with his fists, esp one who has been trained in the art of self-defence, and is skilled, b a professional pugilist, prize-fighter 2 (cap) A member of a Chinese nationalist secret society, translation of Chinese name, 'fist of harmony' boxing, n [1 bókisng, 2 bókisng], fr box & -ing The art of using the fists to fight, pugilism

Boxing Day, n, fr box (II), 2 Name given to Dec 26th, from the custom of giving Christmas boxes on that day boy, n [1 boi, 2 boi] Etymol very dubious; but note early Fris boi, 'young gentlemen' 1 a A male child from birth to puberty, often applied by elders to young men in the early twenties, b applied to elderly or old men as a term of affection or mild contempt an old boy, nice old, funny old boy, equivalent to fellow, chap, buffer &c 2 A native servant, esp one belonging to an inferior and subject race boycott (t) (I), vb trans [1 bóikot, 2 óikot], fr Capt Boycott, land agent in Co Mayo, for whose benefit the treatment, very similar to the Church's Major Excommunication, was first practised in Ireland in 1880 1 To combine against (a landowner, farmer, or tradesman), by refusing to hold any social intercourse with him, to sell to, or buy from, him 2 (fig) a (of persons) To ostracize, keep aloof from, send to Coventry, b (of goods and merchandise) to refrain from using, refuse to buy, forbid entry into a country boycott (t) (II), n, fr preco The system of treating persons and goods in the way defined m above entry to apply the boycott (t), a system of boycott (t) &c boyhood, n [1 bóihud, 2 bóihud] boy & -hood The period of a male child's life up to puberty boyish, adj [1 bóilish, 2 bóilish] boy & -ish Like a boy, both in favourable and unfavourable sense a fresh, high-spirited, cheerful, b inexperienced, unpractised boyishly, adv Preco & -ly In a boyish manner, like a boy boyishness, n See preco & -ness. Quality of being boyish

Boy Scout See scout (I)

Brace (I), n [1 bris, 2 breis] M E brāce, 'armour for the arms, clasp, clamp, pair', O Fr brache, brase, brasse, fr Lat pl brac(e)ia, 'arms', fr Gk brachion, 'arm', the origin of wh is unknown The Fr brace &c means the measure of both arms extended, tho M E word also refers to armour for both arms, & is derived fr the Lat, pl Brace came then to mean 'a pair of arms' before it meant 'pair' in general The other meanings of the word in Engl go back to the idea of clasping w the arms, or of steadying, supporting oneself with the arms Cp embrace 1 That which gives support, solidity, steadiness, to anything, a prop, e.g. cables, ropes &c which give resistance to masts and other parts of a ship's rigging, iron or wooden props, stanchions, ties, in a building, metal stays in machinery, cords fastened to the side which maintain tension in a drum &c 2 (typog) Bracket, connecting two lines of print, or two words on different lines, as { 3 Specif (always pl), straps passing over the shoulders and crossed on the back, which button on to the trousers back and front, and keep them up 4 A pair, esp of dogs, or hares, pheasants, partridges, and other forms of game, often used colloq and popularly for a pair generally 5 (also in full) Brace (and bit) (see bit (I)), tool for boring in which the bit is made to revolve by turning part of the brace with one hand, while it is firmly held in position by the other brace (II), vb trans, fr preco 1 a To strengthen, give support, rigidity, steadiness to, apply a brace to, in any of the instances in brace (I), b (reflex) brace oneself up, make a mental or muscular effort, put oneself in a condition to use one's whole strength, and resist the greatest amount of pressure, brace oneself for a task, prepare for it by making one's nerves and muscles tense (lit and fig) 2 (fig) To freshen, invigorate, stimulate, give health and strength to, (of air, climate &c, also of moral and intellectual influence) 3 Specif, to support (trousers) with braces, often brace up bracelet, n [1 bráslet, 2 breislet] Fr bracelet, dimin of O Fr bracel, 'armlet', fr Lat brachiāle, neut adj, 'thing for the arm' See brace (I) 1 Band or circle of metal or other substance worn on the wrist, esp by women 2 (colloq slang) A handcuff (gen m pl) bracer, n [1 bráser, 2 bréise] M E, fr O Fr brassiere Cp brace (I) a Formerly armour protecting the arm, b also kind of shield worn in archery, to protect the wrist from the blow of the bowstring brach, n [1 brach, 2 bræt] M E brache, O Fr brachet (t), fr O HG bracca, 'hound hunting by scent', Mod Germ bracke, prob cogn w Lat frāgrāre, 'to smell strongly', cp under fragrant The Gmc word is found also in Ital bracco, Span braco, Ital braccare, O Fr braguer, 'to trace out, follow by scent' A bitch hound brachial, adj [1 brákiál, 2 bréikíál], fr Lat brachialis See brace & bracelet & -al a Pertaining to the arm brachial artery, b resembling an arm, of structures in fish, birds &c brachiate, adj [1 bráhiát, 2 bréikíát] Lat brachiatūs, 'having boughs, or branches, like arms' See brace & -ate Having branches arranged in pairs, like the maple brachy-, pref, 'short', often implying also broadness in proportion to length, used in many modern scientific words, fr Gk brachyus, 'short', wh in Gk compounds becomes brachy-. This is cogn w Lat brevis, 'short', see brief (I) both fr Aryan breghu-* (the Lat more directly fr form brehu-*), & prob also w O Slav brŭci, 'rapid'

brachycephalic, -ous, adj [1 braksefálík, 2 braksefálík, 2 braksefálík, 2 braksefálík] See brachy- & cephalic (ethnol) Short (and broad) headed, having a skull of which breadth is at least four fifths of length brachylogy, n [1 braklój, 2 braklédž] brachy- & -logy, fr Gk compound brachylogia, 'brevity in speech' Conciseness in speech, specif, omission of word in a sentence which is essential to grammatical construction bracing (I), adj [1 bráisng, 2 breisng], fr Pres Part of brace (II) Stimulating, invigorating, refreshing (of wind, air, climate), also of moral and intellectual stimulation bracing (II), n, brace (II) & -ing Process or act of stimulating, refreshing &c he needs bracing bracken, n [1 bráken, 2 bráken] M E braken, cp Mod Swed bräken Cp brake (II) a Species of coarse fern, Pteris aquilina, which grows in sandy and peaty soil, b collectively, a mass of such fern growing bracket (I), n [1 bráket, 2 bráket] Earliest recorded form, bragget or stave in building, 1680 (O E D) The origin is unknown, since the attempts to identify the word w various words derived fr Lat bracca, 'breaches', can hardly be accepted The word must be fr some derivative of Lat brachium, cp brail in sense of support Influence in meaning & form by this group of words is admitted by the O E D 1 (archit) Projecting support in a building, often curved, whether of timber or stone 2 A shelf, often hinged, supported against a wall by one or two props from below, which are also often hinged so as to be folded flat against wall, allowing the board which forms the shelf to hang down flat in front of them 3 A hinged fixture with burner for gas, fastened to end of gaspipe, and projecting from the wall 4 A figure used in printing, either round (), or square [], the former used for enclosing parentheses &c, the latter for separating words from the rest of the text for any purpose See brace (I), 2 Plur (in brackets), as foregoing words 5 (gunnery) Firing of a series of shots beyond and short of a target, in range finding bracket (II), vb trans, fr preco a To enclose in brackets (as in preco 4), b to join, or associate, two names of things or persons together in print by enclosing one below the other in a brace, or bracket, c (fig) to associate the names of two persons together for any reason X and Y were bracketed for the prize, adjudged of equal merit, d to fire bracket at (target) brackish, adj [1 brakish, 2 brákish], fr obs adj brack, 'salt', cp Du brak, adj, 'salt', & -ish Rother salt, (of water) between salt and fresh, as that in an estuary &c, and so undrinkable bract, n [1 brakt, 2 brekt], fr Lat bractea, 'thin metal plate' Etymol unknown (bot) Small leaf at base of a flower bracteate, adj & n [1 braktéat, 2 braktéat], fr Lat bracteatus, 'covered with thin plates', see preco & -ate 1 adj (bot) Having bracts 2 n (archaeol) A thin small plate of silver or gold, used as an ornament &c in early times brad, n [1 brad, 2 bréd] M E brad, 'spike, headless nail', later brad, cp God for God Prob fr ON bróðr, 'spike', cogn w O E brōðr, 'point', cp Lat fastigium, 'point', fr farsis*, cp Sert brýsís, 'point, prong' See further under borage, bristle, brush Name given to various types of nail, generally one which is long and slender with a small head bradawl, n [1 brádawl, 2 brádawl] See brad & awl Tool consisting of straight, slender stem of steel with chisel edge for making holes for reception of nails or screws

Bradbury, n [1 brádburi, 2 brádburi] (colloq) Name for a Treasury note, for £1 or 10s, from signature of official borne by each brady-, pref, 'slow', fr Gk bradus, 'slow', used in scientific terminology as bradycardia, [1 brádkardia, 2 brádkárdia], slow beating or action of the heart, Bradypus, genus of three toed sloths &c The Gk. word is fr gṛdu*, & is cogn w Lat gurdus, 'stupid' brae, n [1 brá, 2 bré] Northern form fr ON brá, 'eyelid', borrowed in M E & used in sense of 'river-bank, slope', cogn w O E brē, brāw &c, q v under brow Slope, hill side, bank. North country and Scots word sometimes used by English writers brag (I), vb intrans [1 brag, 2 brag] M E brag(g)en, 'boast, sound loudly (of voice)' Etymol doubtful The dictionaries suggest relations either w Fr brague, 'ostentation', wh. is late, or w ON braka, 'to creak', wh should give brach*, or brake*, in Mod Engl To boast, to indulge in self-glorification, express undue pride and satisfaction in what concerns oneself, one's achievements or belongings (gen) to brag of, about brag (II), n, fr preco Occurs in 14th cent. English in present sense a boast, vaunt &c a foolish brag, (also abstract) self-laudation, noisy, arrogant claim to admiration, b an old game of cards, possibly the original of poker braggadocio, n [1 bragadóshio, 2 braggadúshio] Formed & used by Spenser (in sense of 'boaster') fr brag, w Ital suff. Vain, arrogant, noisy, boasting braggart, n [1 bragart, 2 bragart] brag & -ard. One who brags, a vain, noisy, boastful fellow Brahmaputra, n. & adj [1 bráhmáputra, 2 bráhmáputre], fr name of Indian river Species of fowl, usually in abbreviated form Brahma

Brahmin, n [1 bráhmín, 2 bráhmín], fr Sert Bráhmāya, fr Bráhma, 'prayer, divine cause of the world', now used to designate a member of the priestly caste among the Hindus Brahmin, n. [1 brāhmin, 2 brāhmin] fr Sert brahmā, see prec Female belonging to Brahmin caste brahminical, adj [1 brāhminik, 2 brāhminik] Brahmin & -ic & -al Pertaining to the Brahmins

Brahminism, n [1 brāhminizm, 2 brāhminizm] Brahmin & -ism System of religion, worship, among Brahmins, Hindunism Brahminy, -ee, adj [1 brāhmini, 2 brāhmini] fr Brahmin, on anal of Bengolee & c braud (I), vb trans [1 brād, 2 breid] OE bregdan, ME breiden & c, 'twist, wrench, draw (sword), plait' Cp OS bregdan The OE vb has a variety of meanings, all implying rapid, violent movement to draw (a sword), pull, drag, move the hands (in swimming), brandish, tarow, change (colour), weave, & so on. The last meaning is the nearest to present sense of braud None of the dictionaries has suggested any extra Gmc cognates for the base bregd, but it seems reasonable to connect Lath brēth, 'scratch', O Slav brěti, 'to hurl, throw', & Lat fricare, 'rub', as probable connexions See friction, frangible 1 To entwine, weave together, plait, esp of a woman's hair 2 To adorn, trim, anything with braid.

braud (II), n, fr prec 1 Narrow band of woven material, linen, silk, ribbon, for binding the edges of cloth and garments, braid in this sense may be applied flat to the surface of cloth for the sake of ornamentation 2 Flat strip of material woven from fine gold thread as used on military, naval, and diplomatic uniforms gold braid 3 A plait in a woman's hair, or plait of hair intertwined with some other substance braided, adj [1 bráided, 2 bréided] PP of braud (I) 1 Trained, ornamented, with braid 2 Twisted, plaited, intertwined esp braided locks, hair braiding, n [1 bráiding, 2 bréiding] braud & -ing Trimming, as with braid, on a garment gold braiding

Braidism, n [1 bráidizm, 2 bréidizm] Named after Dr Braud of Manchester (died 1860) Hypnotism (obsolete) brail, n & vb trans [1 brál, 2 bréil], fr O Fr brail, 'girdle, belt', fr Low Lat braciale, in same sense, fr brac(e)a, 'breeches', of Celt origin. See breech. 1 n (usually pl) Small ropes at corner of a sail used for hauling in a sail, before furling 2 v To haul in, shorten, sail by use of brails

Braille n [1 brál, 2 bréil] Named after inventor Louis Braille (1809-53) System of reading and writing for the blind, in which the letters are formed by raised points pricked on paper brain (I) n [1 brān, 2 bréin] OE brægen, bræcen, ME brain, O Fr du brain, cp also OE bræga, 'prince, king' prob cogn w Gk brakhmós, bréma, 'top of the head', if this is suggested, stands for earlier mreghrō*, fr Gmc mreghrō*, of wh the full form wd be mreghrō* It is further suggested that from a form of the same base w different gradation in both syllables, arakh*, the Gk arakhē, 'leader, chief', arakhē '1 begin', arakhē, 'beginning, cure' & c are derived cp arch The fundamental meaning of the base is supposed to be 'top, summit' If this be accepted brain must mean 'top of the head' 1 A soft mass of nervous substance contained within the skull of vertebrate animal, (often used w pl in idiom) Phr to be a brain 2 A stout faculty in the head b also applied to the nerve ganglion in head of certain invertebrates 2 Centre of thought and action therefore (fig) mind brain power, intellectual ability brain trust, brain power 3 A powerful, well-learned, or learned person brain trust, brain power 4 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 5 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 6 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 7 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 8 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 9 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 10 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 11 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 12 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 13 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 14 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 15 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 16 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 17 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 18 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 19 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 20 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 21 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 22 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 23 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 24 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 25 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 26 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 27 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 28 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 29 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 30 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 31 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 32 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 33 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 34 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 35 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 36 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 37 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 38 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 39 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 40 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 41 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 42 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 43 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 44 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 45 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 46 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 47 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 48 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 49 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 50 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 51 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 52 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 53 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 54 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 55 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 56 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 57 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 58 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 59 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 60 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 61 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 62 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 63 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 64 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 65 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 66 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 67 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 68 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 69 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 70 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 71 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 72 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 73 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 74 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 75 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 76 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 77 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 78 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 79 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 80 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 81 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 82 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 83 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 84 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 85 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 86 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 87 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 88 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 89 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 90 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 91 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 92 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 93 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 94 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 95 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 96 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 97 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 98 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 99 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain 100 A person of high intellect or power to be a brain brain (II), vb, trans, fr prec To knock out the brains of -brained, adj [1 brānd, 2 bréand] Having a brain, usually qualified, as in rotten brained brain-fever, n. Inflammation of the membrane surrounding the brain, meningitis brainless, adj [1 brānles, 2 bréanles] brain (I) & -less Without brains or intelligence, stupid.

brain-pan, n. Upper part of the head brainsick, adj [1 brānsik, 2 bréansik] Having a disordered mind brain-storm, n. Sudden mental derangement brain-wave, n (colloq) A sudden inspiration, a bright idea or suggestion braun, adj [1 brān, 2 bréin] brain (I) & -y Having good brains; clever braud (I), n [1 brād, 2 bréad] Perh fr OE & ME brād, 'edge, border', cogn w brōd, q v under brad. Newly sprouted blade of corn or grass (Orig Scots) braud (II), vb intrans, fr prec To sprout brause, vb [1 brāz, 2 bréaz], fr Fr braser, 'to stew', fr brasse, 'glowing charcoal', said to come fr a Gmo base braso*, perh the same as that in brazo To steam meat in a closed pot brake (I), n [1 brāk, 2 bréik] ME brāle, 'fern' Cp bracken. 1 A kind of fern 2 A thicket brake (II), n & vb trans O Du brake. Related to break (I) a n. An instrument for beating flax and hemp, b vb, to crush or beat (flax) brake (III), n. Etymol uncertain 1 Continuance for retarding or stopping the speed of a revolving wheel, either by gripping the axle, or by applying direct friction to the wheel itself, used in various forms on all wheeled vehicles, except two wheeled horse carts or carriages, otherwise on railway or other engines, motor cars, carriages, and bicycles To put on, apply, the brake, (lit and fig) of anything which acts as a check. 2 (also break (III)) A large, heavy, four-wheeled carriage used for breaking in young horses, b a large, open carriage, of the wagonette class, used for excursions & c brakeage, n. [1 brākij, 2 bréikidz] Action of a brake (III), act or process of applying it brake-van, n. Compartment on railway train from which brakes are worked bramble, n [1 brāmbel, 2 bréambel] OE brēmel, brēmbil(e), fr brēmīl*, q v under broom, ME brēmbel & c Any coarse growing, thorny, trailing plant, eg wild rose, speck, blackberry bush bramble jelly, blackberry jelly brambling, n. [1 brāmbliŋ, 2 bréambliŋ] Earlier brāmbliŋ, fr brāmbliŋ A brightly coloured finch, Fringilla montifringilla, of Northern Europe and Asia, the mountain finch brambly, adj [1 brāmbli, 2 bréambli] See bramble & -ly Like brambles, thorny bran, n [1 bran, 2 bréin] ME, fr O Fr bran, brān, etymol very doubtful, but word is found in Provenç & O Span bran, cp further Bret bran W brann It is uncertain whether it is a Celt word, or borrowed in these languages fr a Fr source The inner skin or husk of wheat, oats & c separated from the grain, and used as coarse meal Chaucer has 'to bolle it to the bran', (fig) to sift a question thoroughly brancard, n [1 brāŋkard, 2 bréŋkard] Fr, connected w brancie See next word. A horse-litter branch (I) n [1 brānch, 2 brān(t)ʃ] ME brānch, brānch fr Fr cp Ital, Span branca, 'claw' Provenç brān, 'twig', Low Lat branca 'paw' Meyer Lubl o suggests a Gmc origin, & that the word is a true posed form of brēnch* (see cramp & cramp), wh is not very convincing 1 Limb of a tree, sprouting from trunk direct, or from a bough 2 (fig) extended end Any extension, subdivision, or sub-branch of a family, of group of a river, road & c also of a family, of group of languages, of division of a subject of knowledge, thought, study & c branch (II), vb intrans, fr prec a (of a tree) To put forth branches, often branch out, to spread, extend, boughs, b (of a river, road) to fork, bifurcate, divide into two or more (branch off, away), c (of persons) (branch out) to launch out into various new enterprises, incur expenses & c branchiate, adj [1 brāŋchiāt, 2 brāŋkiēt] Let branchiae, 'gills of a fish', fr Gk brāŋchia, 'gills', cogn w Gk brōŋchos, 'tracheal artery', q v under bronchi. Provided with gills brand (I), n [1 brand, 2 brānd] OE brand, 'fire', poet 'sword', fr its flashing when wielded, ME 'sword, fire', ON brandr, 'flame, sword blade', O HG brant, Mod Germ brand, 'fire, conflagration' The base is derived fr Gmo base brēn-*, 'bran', 'to burn' See burn 1 Something burning, portion of a fire, piece of burning wood, (poet) a torch Phr (fig) to enotch a brand from the burning, to save somebody, something, from risk of destruction 2 Mark formerly put upon criminals with a hot iron, hence, a mark, sign, or evidence of crime, sin, or infamy, a stigma the brand of Cain, the brand of villainy 3 A mark put upon an object with a hot iron, with a stencil, or other means, to indicate, e g (i) ownership, as on casks, or on horses, pigs & c, (ii) the quality or character, of manufactured goods, fabrics & c, (iii) the date of vintage and shipper, as on wine corks, b hence, the quality, class, grade of the article branded a well known brand of marmarine & c 4 (poet) A sword (Very old poetical usage, swords in old English and Germanic poetry are also called 'flames, gleams, of battle', and are described as flashing, shining, blazing & c) brand (II), vb trans, fr prec To mark with a brand in any sense under brand (I), 2 and 3, (fig from 2) to single out, designate, indicate, as infamous, to denounce to brand a man as a liar, coward, rogue & c brander, n [1 brānder, 2 brānda] Prec & -er a Person who brands, b instrument for branding branded, adj [1 brāndid, 2 brāndid] See brandy & -ed. Soaked, saturated in, flavoured with, brandy branded cherries & c brandish, vb trans [1 brāndish, 2 brāndiʃ] ME brandischen, fr O Fr brandiss, Mod Fr brandir, fr Gmc brand (see brand (I)) & -ish Ong 'to wave a sword' 'To wave, flourish, with raised arm (a weapon, stick, whip & c), either in a menacing or in a triumphant manner branding, n [1 brāndiŋ, 2 bréandiŋ], fr brand (I) & dimin suff -iŋ Nsmo given from bright-red markings A red worm with bright rings round the body, used as bait by anglers, b a young salmon, part brand-new, adj [1 brānd(n) nū, 2 bréand(n) nū] Quite new, fresh, (lit) with the brand still showing, as though only just branded by the maker brandreth, n [1 brāndreth, 2 brāndrəp] Prob fr, or at least influenced by, ON brandreid, 'fire grate', the word exists also in OE brandrēd, rīd, & O HG brantreita See brand (I) & rīd O N rēid means 'vehicle' & c Gridiron, iron trivet brandy, n [1 brāndi, 2 brāndi] Shortened fr brande, brandy wine, both of wh are found in early 17th cent, but later in the cent. the form brandy is found (O L U) fr Du brandeyn, 'burnt, distilled, wine' Stropog spirit distilled from wine brandy-hall n A kind of sweetmeat in the form of small round ball, transparent and somewhat of the colour of brandy brandy-pawnee n [1 brāndi pāwne, 2 brāndi pāw] Old fashioned Anglo Indian word of 18th cent. elen ent is Hind. pani, 'water'. Brandy and water brandy-snap, n Thin hard, sticky biscuit resembling ginger-bread in taste branks, n' pl [1 brangk, 2 brangk] Etymol doubtful, Celt brancas, brangas, 'bridle', are borrowed fr Engl, possibly cogn w prong A scold's bridle, a sort of iron bridle with gag for the mouth, formerly used in Scotland and England as a punishment for disorderly, scolding women brank-ursine, n [1 brangk ɛran, 2 brangk ɛsin], fr Fr branche-ursine, 'bear's paw, claw', see branch (I) & ursine Popular name of a species of acanthus, also called 'bear's breech' bran-new Variant of brand-new bran-pie, -tub, n Large tub filled with bran among which presents are hidden, and in which children 'dip' for a prize bransle, n [1 brabnl, 2 brāl] O Fr, Mod Fr branle, cp branler, 'shake, swing, move rapidly' & o, prob fr Gmc brand in sense of 'sword', connected w brandr, 'to wave' & c Cp brand (I) & brandish A Old French dance, b music adapted for such a dance brantgoose, brant-, n [1 brantgʊs, brant-, 2 brantgʊs, brant-] Cp Germ brantgans Perh connected w brand, brant, 'burnt', so named on account of dark colour See brand (I) Small species of wild goose, dark in colour, of Arctic origin, but visiting Britain during the summer, also called 'barnacle' or 'barnacle goose' brash (I), n [1 brash, 2 bræʃ] Prob fr Fr breche See braccia Loose broken stones or rubble, usually stone brash brash (II), n Etymol doubtful, possibly imitative A sudden eruption of acid fluid from the stomach, usually water-brash brass (I), n [1 brās, 2 brās] O E bræs Etymol quite uncertain, but connection w Lat ferrous, 'iron', wb is fr ferzom*, borrowed fr Hob barzel, has been suggested 1 A hard, ductile alloy of a yellow colour, generally composed of copper and zinc Phr as bold as brass, very bold and confident (not necessarily in bad sense) 2 Specif a (pl brasses) an engraved sheet of brass formerly embedded in the floor of a church, consisting of a portrait of some important person connected with the parish, say engraved brass plate set in floor or wall of a building as a memorial of a person or event, b the brass, the wind-instruments of an orchestra, as made of brass or other metal, as contrasted with wood 3 (vulg and colloq) Money & (fig. conveying idea of hardness and flashiness) Impudence, shameless sfrontery brass (II), adj, fr prec Made of brass brass rod, ring, bedstead & c Phr not to care a brass farthing, be completely indifferent brassard, n [1 brasard, 2 brāsəd] Fr, fr bras, 'arm' Cp brace (I). Badge worn on the arm brass band, n Group of players of brass musical instruments brass-hat, n (mil slang) A general or staff-officer, from the gold braid and metal rim to his cap Brassica, n [1 brasika, 2 bræskə] Lat, 'cabbage', possibly a Gaulish word (bot) Genus of plants which includes the cabbage, turnip & c brassie, -y, n [1 brāsi, 2 brāsi] brass & -y Golf club having a brass plate screwed on to that part of the head which is downwards in playing brass plate, n Specif, one fixed to door of a doctor's house, engraved with his name, one fixed to a coffin, with name and age of deceased brassy, adj [1 braisi, 2 brāsi] See brassie Like brass, having colour or taste resembling brass Specif (of voice or other sound), harsh, metallic, discordant brat, n [1 brāt, 2 bræt] Origin vory doubtful, perh fr O & M E brat, 'cloak, rough garment', wh is Celt (Ir brat, 'cloak'), in reference to a beggar child's tattered, nondescript clothes (familiar and contemptuous) A child.

brattice, bratching, n [1 brāts(ing), 2 brætɪe-(ɪŋ)] M E brutische, bratice, 'bartizan', O Fr brètesche Origin fr Germ breit, 'board', has been suggested, but is now rejected as impossible by Mayer-Lubke, who derives the O Fr word & O Ital bertesca, 'drawbridge', fr brutisca*, 'Breton', adj, Germ breit may, however, have influenced the meaning The word seems to have been used for a movable wooden structure or tower in a fortress A 15th-cent Engl-Lat dictionary, Promptorium, gives propugnaculum as the meaning of bratice, bratays At present time brattice is used especially of an air-tight partition or shaft for ventilating mines It is not necessarily made of, or even lined with, wood bravado, n [1 bravəddə, 2 brəvədəʊ], fr Span bravada, modified by other words in -ado See brave (I) Display of boldness and daring brave (I), adj [1 brāv, 2 brəiv] A late word not found in Engl before Carton ('brave deeds'), fr Fr, fr Ital bravo In O Port bravo means 'untamed, wild', esp of young bulls, O Span bravo is 'a young bull' The orig sense is 'wild, violent', thence 'spirited, courageous' The etymol is uncertain, but a derivation fr Lat barbarus is suggested See barbaric 1 a (of persons, character) Courageous, bold, gallant, willing to incur danger, not frightened by danger, misfortune, suffering, Phrs as brave as a lion, very brave, the brave, brave men, b (of actions) requiring courage in the person performing them 2 Having a fine, gay, splendid appearance a brave show, display brave (II), n, fr prec A brave man, esp a Red Indian warrior brave (III), vb trans, fr prec Cp Fr braver, 'to dare, defy' 1 To show courage in face of, notwithstanding (danger & c), take risk of without flinching he had braved death a hundred times 2 To dare, defy Phr to brave it out, to meet suspicion or blame with defiance bravely, adv brave (I) & -ly In a courageous, spirited manner, gaily, splendidly bravery, n [1 brāvən, 2 bréivəri] brave & -ery Cp Fr braverie a Courage, daring, boldness, intrepidity, b finery, splendour, smart dress, trappings, or equipment bravo (I), n [1 brāvə, 2 brāvəʊ] Ital See brave (I) A brigand, desperado, a hired ruffian or assassin bravo (II), n & interj [1 brāvə, 2 brāvəʊ] Ital bravo, 'brave man', used in applauding performers, singers & c, also in bravo (pl) & brava (to a woman) a Exclamation of approval, b the utterance of word to express approval, plaudits, often in pl -oes bravura, n [1 bravʊərə, 2 brāvʊnz] Ital, 'spirit, bravery' See brave, bravo 1 Spirit, dash, intrepid bearing or conduct 2 (mus) Brilliant, spirited passage brawl (I), vb intrans [1 brawl, 2 brɔl] M E braule & o, 'scold, quarrel' Etymol dubious, but note LG brallen, 'brag' & c, MHG grālen, Mod Germ prahlen, 'speak loud, boast' 1 To quarrel noisily and roughly, specif, to create disturbance in church during divine service 2 (of streams and brooks) To flow noisily, as over stones brawl (II), n, fr prec A rough, noisy quarrel, a row, with fighting, esp in the public street brawler, n [1 brāwler, 2 brɔlə] brawl (I) & -er One who creates a disturbance, a noisy, quarrelsome person brawling, n [1 brɔwɪŋ, 2 brɔlɪŋ], fr brawl (I) & -ing Noisy quarrelling, specif, disturbance in church during divine service brawn, n [1 brɔwn, 2 brɔn], fr O Fr brāon, 'piece of flesh', Low Lat bradōn (em), 'bam', M E braun, 'pig-meat, muscle' The O Fr word is fr a Gmc base brādō*, as in OHG brāten, 'roast', O E brēdan Orig meaning is apparently 'cooked meat' 1 Pickled meat, esp of the pig, cut into slices or jumps, spiced, and compressed into a mould. 2 Muscle, force, vigour brawny, adj [1 brāwni, 2 brɔns] Prec & -y a Having large, well developed muscles, b stout, strong, powerful braxy, n & adj [1 brāksi, 2 braksɪ] Scots & N Engl, etymol dubious 1 n A disease of sheep, eplero fever or apoplexy 2 adj Affected, tainted, with braxy bray (I), vb trans [1 brā, 2 brɛi] M E brāie(n), O Fr brayer, Mod Fr brayer, 'crush', fr OHG breihan, 'break' See break (I) To pound, crush, esp in a mortar bray (II), vb intrans M E braye, O Fr & Mod Fr braye, 'cry out, bray', fr L Lat bragire, (-ere), 'whimny', perh Celt, op Bret breugn, 'shriek, cry' 1 To utter a loud discordant noise or cry, esp of the ass, or of trumpets 2 To bellow, cry, or shout harshly, utter loud, foolish speech, complain loudly (Always insulting when applied to human utterance) bray (III), n, fr prec 1 A loud discordant bellow, the sound made by the ass, blare of trumpets 2 Noisy, foolish talk, noisy protests 'Exeter Hall sets up its bray' (Macaulay) braze, vb trans [1 brāz, 2 brɛiz] Fr braser, fr ON brasa, 'heat with fire' To unite (two pieces of metal) by heating, or with hard solder brazen (I), adj [1 brāzn, 2 bréizn] O E bræsen, M E brāsen See brass & -en 1 a Made of brass brazen image, b giving out, having, a sound such as is yielded by brass brazen tones of voice 2 Audacious, shameless, impudent a brazen hussy brazen (II), vb trans, fr prec To adopt impudent, defiant manner, under a charge or suspicion, to justify oneself in an impudent, defiant manner, esp to brazen it out brazen-faced, adj With a face of brass, shameless, impudent a brazen faced hussy brazier (I), n [1 brāzɪər, brāzher, 2 bréizə, bréizə] M E brasiere See brass One who works in brass brazier (II), n See braze, vb Cp Fr brasier Vessel for holding hot coals Brazil, n [1 brāzil, 2 brézil] Also in early form brasil, Span, Port, & Fr name for a red dye wood fr the East Indies, later, when such wood was found in S Am, the name was given to the country now so called A red dye-wood, Brazil-wood, obtained in Brazil and other South American countries

Brazil-nut, n A large three sided nut with edible seeds, the fruit of a gigantic native tree of Brazil breach (I), n [1 brēch, 2 brɪʃ] O E bræc(e)* is not recorded, fr bræci-* (op Prot pl bræc on, Lat frēg, 'broke'), whence M E brèche & Mod form, O E bryce, 'breaking, fragment', fr bruli*, occurs, but cannot be ancestor of breach The word, however, offers no difficulty, being a perfectly normal derivative fr base brek* Cp break (I) On the other hand, breach may have been adopted, instead of the descendants of O E bryce (S E brece), through influence of Fr brèche, wh has partly the same meanings, & together w Ital breccia, is borrowed fr the Gmc base brek* Cp breccia 1 Action of breaking (now only in fig use), in sense of violation, infringement, infraction, as of a law, obligation, duty, promise Specif, breach of promise, (in law) failure in promise to marry Phrs custom more honoured in the breach than in the observance, breach of faith, betrayal 2 Result of the action of breaking a rent, gap, opening in a wall, esp (mil) of fortifications & c, b result of seditious conduct and speech breach of the peace, riot, civil disturbance Phr to stand, throw oneself, into the breach, (fig) bear chief brunt of attack, take chief labour and responsibility breach (II), vb trans, fr prec To make a breach (II) 2, a) in walls or fortifications, break through a line of defence bread, n [1 brɛd, 2 brɛd] O E brēad, 'morsel, crumb, of bread, bread', M E bride bo, O Frs bräd, OS brād, fr braud*, OHG brāt, fr braud*, ON braud. The base fr wh all these are derived is Aryan bh(e)reu*, 'bubble, boil, erupt' &c, wh occurs in many words, & w widely differentiated meanings, cp bourn (I), where the root idea is the bubbling of water. For sense of the present word cp Lat de frūitum, 'new wine, must', wh is connected w ferēre, 'boil, ferment, glow' (see fervent, ferment). Bread is named fr the fermentation & rising caused by the yeast, & means lit 'fermented substance'. See further bird, brew, brood. 1 Form of food made of flour or meal and water mixed with yeast and baked. Phr bread and wine, the Sacred Elements, the Eucharistic Service. 2 (by extension, and regarded as symbolical of principal element) Human food generally. daily bread, to beg one's bread &c. Phrs to break bread with, share a meal with, bread and salt, symbol of hospitality, to quarrel with one's bread and butter, find fault with one's chief source of livelihood, to eat the bread of idleness, live on others without working, to take the bread out of one's mouth, deprive of livelihood, earn one's bread, make a living, to know on which side one's bread is buttered, be alive to one's interests, bread buttered on both sides, very comfortable circumstances. 3 Substance resembling bread. see bread.

bread-basket, n (colloq) The stomach. bread-crumbs, n A soft spongy part of bread inside crust, b a minute fragment of bread.

bread-fruit, n Farnaceous fruit of a tree growing in Pacific Islands which, when baked, resembles bread.

bread sauce, n Bread-crumbs and milk seasoned with pepper and onions, eaten with game and poultry.

bread-stuffs, n Grain, cereals, from which bread is made, bread, biscuit.

breadth, n [1 brēdth, 2 brēdth] This is a late formation w suff th on anal of ME lengthe, heighthe &c, 'height'. The OE form is bræda, 'breadth', fr brāds* (w change of suff), fr adj brād. See broad (I). 1 Distance from side to side, measure across, at right angles to length, width. Various derived and figurative uses. 2 Anything measured according to width. breadth of carpet, cloth &c. 3 (fig) a Largeness, amplitude generally, intelligence, generosity, catholicity. breadth of mind, sympathy, in interests &c, b (in bad sense) lack of due restraint or limit, undue latitude, licence in speech or conduct. too much breadth in a man's jokes, behaviour &c. Cp broadness & broad in similar sense. 4 (in a work of art) Breadth of treatment is such a mode of subordinating details to the general essentials that the effect is one of spaciousness, large ness, free from meanness and petty points of distraction.

breadthways, -wise, adv [1 brēdthwāz, -iz, 2 brēdthweiz, -aiz] In the direction of breadth.

bread-winner, n Person who supports a family by his or her labour.

break (I), vb trans & intrans [1 brāk, 2 brēik] OE breacan, ME brāken, OS brēkan, OHG brechan, Mod Germ brechen, Goth brakan, cp Lat frēg i, 'I broke', wh comecides exactly w OE brāc on, found in Pret pl (op breach (I)), fractus for 'fractus', 'broken', corresponding w OE brac, 'broke', Pret sing, & Scrt bray, 'break ing, bursting', see also fracture. Another grade of this base occurs in brook (I). A trans. The general meaning is to divide, separate anything, into two or more parts by some means other than cutting, which is gradual, and esp by a sudden blow or strain. 1 To fracture, divide, generally into two parts, suddenly and forcibly, snap, disconcert, by jerk, sudden check, or blow to break a rod, stick, break one's leg, one's neck, break the bone, break the leg of a chair, break a twig &c. Phrs (mostly fig of above sense) break one's heart, grieve, suffer pain, die of this, break a lance with, engage in intellectual contest, no bones are broken, no harm done, break one's head against, break one's teeth on, encounter insuperable difficulties, break the back of an undertaking, get an important, or the most difficult, part completed. 2 To shatter, smash to pieces, as a brittle substance to break a window, i.e. the glass, break crockery &c. Phr break the ice, (fig) make a beginning, overcome initial repugnance, or difficulty. 3 a To crack, rupture surface, burst open, wound, bruise as with blow of blunt instrument to break a man's head, as with a cudgel, to break the skin, break on a wheel, by striking with iron bar, b special uses (of a fish) to break the water, pierce, by jumping partly out, (of a submarine) to break surface, come up from under water, (of game) break cover, come out. Phrs break Priscian's head, use bad grammar, 'Break a butterfly upon a wheel' (Pope), use a powerful means for very slight end, break bread, (i) partake of a meal, (ii) receive Holy Communion. 4 To open ground for planting, rupture surface by means of plough, pick, spade. new broke land, soil &c. Phr to break the ground, (fig) make preliminary preparation for any action. 5 To injure, spoil, render temporarily useless by destroying some essential part (of machine, mechanical contrivance) to break a clock, sewing-machine, fountain pen &c. 6 a To ruin, degrade from an office or employment to break a general, minister of state, b to ruin financially, make bankrupt. he was completely broke(n) by the failure of his business. Phrs a broken man, ruined in health, spirit, fortune, or reputation, (colloq) broke, stony broke, ruined, bankrupt. 7 (fig) To crush, keep in subjection, deprive of initiative, (of animals) to train, discipline to break a man's spirit, to break opposition, a well broken horse (also break in), break a horse to harness. Phr to break one of a habit cause to discontinue. 8 To exceed, go beyond, surpass, beat (of a record). 9 (in a moral sense) To transgress, violate, act in opposition to to break the law, rules, break a promise &c. Phrs to break faith with, deceive, betray, break one's word, fail to keep promise. 10 a To interrupt, destroy continuity, discontinue to break one's rest, sleep, break the peace, break one's journey, Phrs break the thread of an argument &c, to break short, bring to an end, break a spell, break one's fast, eat after fasting, break silence, begin to speak, b destroy unity, completeness, disturb symmetry to break the line, break a set, break a sovereign, break the balls (in billiards), play out of holk. 11 To weaken, mitigate, render less severe. the bushes broke his fall or he would have been killed. 12 To open, reveal, disclose obs except in Phr to break the (bad) news &c, which is also partly suggestive of sense in 10. B intrans. 1 a To come asunder, divide into two or more parts, burst, split, by a sudden rupture from a strain or blow. the rope will break if you put your weight on it, the glass broke to pieces from the frost, b to be able to come in half, or in pieces as above, owing to the nature of the substance. brittle things break easily, oak may bend but will not break, Phr my heart will break, I shall die of grief, c to burst outwards owing to pressure of unhealthy matter, of a swelling, boil, abscess &c. 2 To cleave, part asunder, disperse, pass away, as clouds, darkness, frost and (fig) gloom &c. 3 To dawn, begin to become light (of the day). 4 To put forth shoots, to sprout, show signs of expanding (of buds on a bough or stem, of bough itself). if you prune off the ends, the bough will break lower down. 5 To twist aside, depart suddenly from original line, or path (of a hall in billiards, cricket &c), also break back. 6 To change, become harsh, squeaky, and uncontrollable (of a boy's voice in adolescence). 7 To change (of weather &c) the spell of fine weather has broken. C Combined with prepositions and adverbs. Break away, depart from abruptly, escape, (fig) deviate from habit, ordinary conduct, mode of thought, belief. Break down, trans, a overthrow by violence, batter down (a wall, door &c), b crush down, suppress, keep under (of opposition, resistance), c to dissolve, dissipate, intrans, a to collapse, come to nothing (of plans &c), b (i) to suffer physical or mental collapse, (ii) to burst into tears. Break forth, intrans, a to erupt, or spring out (of a stream &c), fig, of anger, indignation &c, b to burst into sudden, animated speech. Break in, a trans, to submit (an animal) to discipline and training (esp of horses), also by extension, to train, discipline (a person), accustom him to new routine &c, b intrans, to enter a house or building by force. burglars have broken in. Break in on, burst suddenly into a person's presence, disturb, interrupt him, disturb his peace. Break into, a force one's way into locked house &c (esp of burglars), b give sudden utterance to break into a loud laugh, c change one's mode of movement suddenly. break into a run, gallop, d to take up, occupy, infringe upon. break into one's time, leisure. Break off, a trans, snap off, sever with force a part of anything, (fig) interrupt, discontinue abruptly. break off social relations, an engagement to be married, a conversation, a battle, b intrans, to cease speaking. break off in the middle of a sentence &c. Break out, intrans, a escape. prisoners have broken out, b make a sudden impulsive utterance, c lose one's temper, show sudden violence in speech or conduct, d (of disease, pestilence, any violent disorder or calamity) make a sudden appearance, begin to affect people. measles has broken out at the school, plague in India &c, riots and disturbances broke out in many places. Break through, intrans, a burst, make a way, hole, through (any enclosure, obstacle, defence), b (fig, of non material obstacles) penetrate, overcome. break through a man's reserve, his taciturnity, &c. c make an appearance, show. the sun broke through (the clouds). Break up, trans, a reduce to fragments, smash anything, b (fig) destroy, scatter, disperse, put to flight, e.g. band of robbers, conspirators &c, intrans, c disintegrate, dissolve, change &c, (fig, of persons) to lose strength, show signs of age or ill health, (of school &c) disperse at end of term for holidays. Break with, intrans, a discontinue abruptly, leave off, make an end of. break with old habits &c, b cease friendly relations with, quarrel with. associates, friends &c.

break (II), n fr pre 1 A fracture, rupture. a break in the gas pipe. 2 (fig) Interruption, disturbance of continuity. a break in one's life, habits &c. 3 Dawn. break of day. 4 Deviation of a cricket or tennis ball on first striking ground. 5 Continuous score in billiards. made a break of 500.

break (III), n. Perh fr brake (III) in fluenced by break in a Carriage frame on wheels, with driver's seat, but no body, for training young horses, b a large kind of wagonette.

breakable, adj & n [1 brākabl, 2 brēikēabl]. break(I) & -able a Easily broken, fragile, b (pl) thing liable to be broken, crockery &c. breakage, n [1 brākij, 2 brēikidj] See pre c & -age. a Act of breaking, b article(s) broken, c that place in, or part of, anything, which has been broken, the actual area of breaking.

break-down, n [1 brāk down, 2 brēik down]. See break (I), C. 1 An accident to a train, to machinery &c, which causes a stoppage or failure in working. break-down gang, men with tools &c ready to deal with a 'break-down' on a railway. 2 Collapse of physical or mental health. 3 a A step dance, b a negro dance.

breaker (I), n [1 brákor, 2 bréks] break (I) & -er a A person who breaks (in any sense), b a wave which breaks in foam on a reef, or on rocky shore, c (post) a large wave generally Phr breakers ahead, (fig) future difficulties breaker (II), n, fr. Span barraça, 'cask' A small cask, or keg, for water &c, carried in ship's boats breakfast, n [1 brékfast, 2 brekfest] Ses break (I) & fast (I), n The first meal of the day, so called because at this meal the fast of the night is broken breaking, n [1 bráking, 2 breikup] Vbl n of break (I) 1 Breakage, act or process of fracture 2 (gram) Translation of German brechung, a phonetic process first described by German philologists, who invented the term Ses English term fracture (I) (phon) breakneck, adj [1 bráknæk, 2 breiknæk] break (I) & neck. So rapid as to cause risk of breaking one's neck esp breakneck speed break-off, n See break (I), C Metal work of a shot-gun immediately behind breech break-up, n Ses break (I), C Disruption, commotion, destruction, dispersal (of school) at end of term breakwater, n [1 brákwawter, 2 brékwōta] break (I) & water A structure of stone, iron, or wood and shingles for breaking force of waves against a coast bream (I), n [1 brēm, 2 brim] O Fr brème, fr brème, borrowed fr OHG brihama a A freshwater fish, genus Abramas, of the carp family, b a sea fish, sea bream, genus Sparus bream (II), vb trans Origin doubtful To clean a ship's bottom by burning and scraping breast (I), n [1 brést, 2 brast] O E brēost, 'breast', ME brēst, OS brīost, ON brjóst, & w different gradation, Goth brusts, 'bowels, heart, breast(s)', & OHG & Mod Germ brust The use of this base for part of the body is confined to the Gmc languages, & indeed it has not been identified outside them hitherto A connexion w the group seen in Lat fastigium, 'point, spike', Scrt bhr̥st̥s, 'spike' &c, is not impossible The breast wd thus be the 'projecting, swelling, pointed' part of the body Ses further cognates & resemblances under forage, bore (I), brad, bristle 1. The upper front part of the body below the neck between the shoulders in human beings, and (more rarely) the corresponding part in animals Specif, this part in women considered as the source of milk for young children Phr a child at the breast, very young infant still suckled by its mother, to give the breast to a child, suckle it 2 (fig) Seat of the emotions, thence the passions, feelings of all kinds, heart in figurative sense a troubled, anxious breast Phr to make a clean breast of, make frank and full confession 3. a Anything supposed to resemble a human breast in shape the mountain's breast, b that part of the clothing which covers the breast the breast of a coat, so breast-pocket, pocket in that part of a coat breast (II), vb trans, fr preo To present the breast to, hence face resolutely, oppose, struggle with to breast the waves (of a swimmer, or ship), (fig) breast the storm (of popular abuse, obloquy &c) breast-band, n Strap which crosses horse's breast and takes this pull, in harness, when a collar is not used breast-bone, n Flat, perpendicular bone in front of breast in mammals from which the ribs spring, sternum breast-high, adj Reaching to height of the breast breast-pin, n Pin with jewelled or ornamented head, formerly worn by men in the old-fashioned stock or neck cloth, now sometimes stuck into the necktie breastplate, n [1 bréstplát, 2 bréstplēt] a Part of defensive armour, metal plate protecting breast, b strap running across horse's breast, breast-band, c vestment worn by Jewish high priest breastsummer, n [1 brésommer, 2 brésame] breast (I) & summer (II) The latter is fr Fr sommier, 'beast of burden', also 'stone which receives thrust of an arch, beam supporting wall above a door' This word (cp L Lat sagmarius) is derived fr Fr somme, 'burden', wh in its turn is L Lat sagma, 'pack-saddle', whence Ital salma, soma, 'burden', sagma comes fr Class Lat sagum, 'rough piece of cloth', hence 'military cloak', said to be a Gaulish word Thus the word, both in form & meaning, has travelled far The starting-point of its strange career seems to be the extension of meaning fr 'coarse military cloak' to a saddle or valise for carrying military clothing & baggage generally, thence to the burden itself, then to any kind of burden, the derivative sommer, fr meaning the bearer of one particular kind of burden, is extended to that wh bears the weight of a building Summer, somer, 'baggage animal', are found already in ME We may either have borrowed the later meaning 'beam' &c fr Fr, or have developed it independently Other Rom dialects besides Fr have developed this latter meaning. Large beam or girder running horizontally above the opening of a window, or door, to support the building above breastwood, n [1 bréstrwood, 2 bréstrwud] New shoots from principal branches of fruit trees trained against wall, or as espaliers breastwork, n [1 bréstrwérk; 2 bréstrwák] (mil) Mound, parapet, breast high above the ground, used for defence instead of a trench breath, n [1 bréth, 2 brép] O E bræþ, ME brēth(e) The word is peculiarly Engl in form & meaning, but is closely connected w OHG brādem, Mod Germ brodem, 'vapour, steam' The etymol is very doubtful Murray in the OED (in 1888) connects the O E w the OHG word & suggests that both go back to Aryan bhr̥t̥, wh base, having lost the pref bhr̥, & received a formative suff -mo, he sees in O E brēm, 'breath', OHG ātem, 'breath, spurt', Mod Germ atem, OS ādom, & further in Scrt ātmān, 'spirit', Gk atmós, 'vapour, steam', see atmosphere Weekley accepts this without discussion, but recent philologists, Walde, Hirt, Bousset, do not mention the possible connexion of breath w atem &c Hirt derives O E bræþ & OHG brāto fr earlier mr̥t̥* & compares (w quite other formative suffix) OHG maraw, 'tender', O E maru, also Mod Germ marbe, further Gk mar-amō, 'extinguish, quench', also 'put away, grow weak'; Lat marcere, 'withar, droop' &c, see marcescent The development of meaning between these words & one meaning 'vapour' &c is hard to see On the other hand, Murray gave no explanation of the mysterious bhr̥*. 1 Air drawn into or expelled from the lungs In many fig Phrs to draw one's breath, live, be alive, with bated breath, anxiously, expectantly, hold one's breath, (fig) be in a state of physical and mental tension, waste breath, talk in vain, breath of one's nostrils, something very precious; (with) the last breath, (at) the end of life, as a last action, in the same breath, at same moment, speak under one's breath, in low tones, take away one's breath, one's breath away, startle, surprise one, out of breath, having difficulty in breathing, shortness of breath, difficulty in breathing 2 a Air, breeze, movement in the atmophere to get a breath of air, b (fig) slight sound, murmur (lightly spoken word) no breath of scandal, 'The blast of public breath' (Pope) 3 Fragrance, exhalation breath of spring & (phon) Expiration of air from lungs without vibration of vocal chords, breath sounds, those so uttered, cp voiceless breathes, vb intrans, & trans. [1 brédh, 2 brōd] O E bræþan, ME brūthen, fr bræþ, n. See breath. & intrans 1. a To take in or expel air from the lungs; hence b (by extension) to live Phrs s'll breathing, just alive, to breath freely, breath again, to feel reassured, have no anxiety, (trans) to breath one's last, to die 2 To exhale, blow gently (of air, breeze, fragrance &c) 'There breathes a living fragrance from the shore' (Byron) B trans 1 To cause to use the lungs in breathing a moderately and beneficially I took the horse a gentle gallop to breathe him, b to put out of breath he was so breathed that he could hardly move, c to allow to recover breath now you are efficiently breathed we will push on 2 To utter gently in speech to breathe a prayer, blessing &c Phrs not to breathe a word, to keep a secret, confidence &c, (intrans) to breathe upon, express disapproval, disparage 3 To give out, proclaim, express, convey his words he breathe a spirit of humanity and moderation breathed, adj [1 brédhd, 2 brōdd] Preo & -od (phon) Uttered without vibration of vocal chords (of speech sounds, or air stream from lungs) Cp aspirated & voiceless breather, n [1 brédher, 2 brōd] Ses breathe & -er 1 One who breathes 2 A violent oxarism which puts one out of breath, b space of rest to recover one's breath to take a breather breath-group, n (phon) Series or group of speech sounds (words or syllables) uttered with a single impulse of breath breathing, n [1 brédhng, 2 brōhng], fr breathes & -ing 1 a Act, power, of respiration his breathing became weaker and more irregular, b (fig) gentle movements of the air, exhalation, or fragrance as of flowers, gently uttered sounds in speech 2 a (phon) Aspiration, q v, also rough breathing, an impulse of breath from the lungs with stress put upon it cp glide, n (phon), b mark in writing or printing put to indicate aspiration breathless, adj [1 bréthles, 2 bréplis] breath & -less a Lacking breath, short of, out of, breath, panting, (poet) dead, as breathless corpse, b of such a nature as to cause shortness of breath breathless hurry, speed &c, (fig) causing strong emotion, as surprise, interest breathless attention, expectation &c, c sultry, unstirred, not freshened by any breeze breathless day, weather &c breathlessly, adv Preo & -ly In a breathless manner breathlessness, n Ses preo & -ness. Lack, shortness of breath, difficulty in breathing breathy, adj [1 bréthu; 2 bréþi] breath & -y (of sounds, esp of manner of speaking, singing, and playing wind instruments) Characterized by emission of mere breath, as contrasted with musical and sonorous notes, lacking in volume brecia, n [1 brébs, bréshya, 2 brétja, bréja] Ital, 'kind of marble consisting of angular fragments held together by natural cement', of Gmc origin, cogn w Fr breche, fr base brak*. Ses breach & break. Composite rock consisting of angular pieces larger than grains of sand, held together by a natural cement, (by extension) mass of shingle or rough stones held together by frozen snow or ice bred, vb [1 bréd, 2 bréd] Preo & P P of breed O E brēde, (ge)brēd(d), ME brēde, brēd(d) breech, n, gen m pl, breeches [1 bréch, brélez; 2 brif, brifiz] O E brēc, pl of bric, 'breeches', of Celt origin, cp Lat brac(e)a. 1 (sng) a Lower and hinder part of body, buttock, thigh, b rear part of cannon or of rifle or gun barrel 2 (pl) Garments which cover the lower part of the body and legs, (colloq) trousers Specif, garment extending from hips to a few inches below knees, generally tightened and buttoning in at knee, esp for riding, or knee breeches, in court or official costume Phr to wear the breeches (of women), have a masculine character, rule their husbands.

breech block, n. The movable block of steel which closes the breech of a gun breeched, adj. [1 brécht, 2 brícht], as fr vb to breech, 'to provide with a breech, or with breeches' 1 Provided with a breech (of firearms) 2 Wearing breeches, having attained age when childish garments are left off his son was not yet breeched breeches-buoy, n. Pair of canvas breeches attached to a life-buoy, slung along a rope, used for life saving at sea.

breeching, britchin(g), n. [1 briching, 2 brítin], fr breech & -ing That part of harness, in form of a strap, which passes round quarters of a horse in a cart or carriage and takes the forward thrust of the vehicle breechless, adj. [1 bréchtless, 2 brítless] breech & -less Without a breech, or without breeches, a of firearms, b of children not yet breeched.

breech-loader, n. Gun or rifle loaded at the breech.

breech-loading, adj. [1 brécht lóding, 2 brít lóding] (of firearms) Made to be loaded at the breech breed (I), vb trans & intrans [1 bréd, bríd] O E brēdan, 'ohensh', fr brēd, 'brood'

&c See brood (I) A trans 1 a To produce, give birth to, offspring (of animals, rare as trans in this sense), b (fig, of non material things) to produce, cause to appear, give rise to unemployment breeds misery and civil disturbance 2 To rear, bring up, nurture, educate, train (in this sense there is often something of 1 implied) our parents have bred us to follow in their footsteps, he was bred a soldier, England still breeds men to fight for her, on Englishman born and bred 3 To propagate cause animals to reproduce their kind by selective pairing of male and female to breed horses, cattle, dogs &c B intrans To bear, produce, nourish, rear, young, to propagate, carry on species by natural reproduction birds breed in the spring; robins breed freely in captivity, to breed true to type Sometimes used forcibly, but coarsely, of human beings breed (II), n. fr preo 1 Variety, or race of animals or men, strain, stock breed of cattle, horses &c, Nelson and his captains were of the true English breed 2 Sort, class, kind (esp of men, more rarely of things), implying possession of common qualities, as though derived from same source Newman and Keble were thinkers of much the same breed breeder, n. [1 bréder, 2 bríd] breed (I) & -er 1 An animal thought of as breeding and producing offspring elephants are slow breeders 2 A person who carries on the selective propagation of animals horses breeder, dog breeder &c breeding, n. [1 brédung, 2 brídung], fr breed (I) & -ing 1 Act or process of natural propagation of species, a (as carried on by animals themselves) spring is the season of breeding for most English birds, b (as a deliberate selective pairing of animals to produce a stock, carried on by men) the breeding of horses and cattle is an important industry 2 Nurture, training, education British officers for the army receive their breeding at Woolwich and Sandhurst Hence, 3 Bearing, manners, deportment, knowledge of customs and conventions of good society, as produced by training and education a man of fine breeding, he showed rather doubtful breeding breeze (I), n. [1 bríz, 2 bríz] Fr brise, Span. brisa, Port. briz, 'north-east wind' Meyer Lübbe is doubtful whether this word in Rom may not be borrowed fr Engl Connection w base is doubtful 1 Light, gentle wind 2 (fig) Slight quarrel, mild disagreement and interchange of apostrophe and retort, esp at a public meeting breeze (II), n. Pl-v fr O Fr brise, 'cinders, live coals', connected w braise (II), braxior (II), a Coal dust, cinders, refuse from coal or coals, b such refuse mixed with cement and made into slabs for use in buildings breeze (III), n. O E brēosa, 'gad fly', M E brēse The word prob means 'the stinging creature', & may be derived fr Gmc base breus*, brus*, Aryan bhreus*, bhrus*, seen in O E byrst, 'bristle', brord, 'point', fr bruzda*, Scot bristid, 'spike, prong' &c See brad, bore, bristle Horse fly, gad fly breezily, adv [1 brézik, 2 brízik] breezy & -ly In a breezy manner breeziness, n. [1 brézinés, 2 brízínis] See next word & -ness The condition of being breezy in any of its senses breezy, adj [1 bríz, 2 bríz] breezy (I) & -y a (of weather) Fresh, windy, b (of locality) exposed to wind, airy, c (fig, of manner) brisk, cheerful, genial bregma, n. [1 bregma, 2 bregma] Gk, 'front part of the head', see under brain (anat) That part of the skull where the frontal and side bones meet

Brehon, n. [1 bréhon, 2 bríhon] O Ir brithem, 'judge' Ancient Irish judge, Brehon Laws, those customary among the ancient Irish brant-geese See brant-geese brassummer See brassummer brethren, n. [1 brédren, 2 brédren] Archaic pl of brother

Breton, adj & n. [1 bréton, 2 brítén], fr O Fr Breton, see Briton 1 adj Pertaining to Brittany, or to its inhabitants, or to its Celtic dialect 2 n A native of Brittany, b Celtic dialect of Brittany

Bretwalda, n. [1 brétwólða, 2 brétwólða] O E, see wold The ruler of the Britons, title given to some of the early Anglo-Saxon kings breve (I), n. [1 brév, 2 brív] M E brēt, 'official document' A variant of brief, q v under brief (I) The v is derived fr the inflected cases, op leaf, pl lea, where f is 'voiced' between vowels Brév must therefore be fr the type developed in inflected forms (obs) A mandate from a sovereign &c breve (II), n. Lat brevis, 'short' Cp brief (I) a (mus) A note consisting of two semibreves (obsolesc), b (typog) the mark of shortness (?) placed over a letter breve, n. [1 brévet, 2 brévit] M E breve, fr O Fr, Mod Fr breve, 'patent, or diploma awarded by an authoritative body, esp government' Derived fr O Fr breve in sense of 'official document', see breve (I), & dimin suff -et Document or patent conferring a privilege, specif, document conferring upon an officer in the army an army rank one degree superior to that which he holds in his regiment, e g breve major is a regimental captain who is granted title and rank of a major in the army, with the right of performing the functions of a major, and of holding appointments for which only majors are eligible, when employed extra-regimentally brevari, n. [1 brévian, 2 brívian] Lat brevarium, 'summary', fr brevis, 'short' Cp brief (I) Book used by priests in Roman Catholic Church, containing Divine Office for each day brevier, n. [1 brévér, 2 brívér] (typog) Small type between bourgeois and minion, originally used in printing brevieres brevery, n. [1 brévit, 2 brévit] Not recorded in M E Perb fr A-Fr brevele, but more prob derived straight fr Lat brevis tūt (em), w suff -y on anal of many other words in ty Used in present sense since early 16th cent See brief (I) Shortness of duration (of non material things only), ab sence of prolixity, conciseness brevery of human life, brevery of speech brew (I), vb trans & intrans [1 brús, 2 brú] O E brēowan, M E brēwen, O HG brēwan The base is that wh occurs in bird bourn, bread, brood &c, cogn w Lat de frūitum, 'must', O Ir brúth, 'cooking', brútha, 'broth' The Aryan base is bhreua*, 'boil, bubble, ferment', &c Cp further Lat fervere, 'to be boiling hot, glow', see fervent, Gk phreír, fr bhrewár*, 'woll, reservoir', q v under bourn (I) 1 trans a To prepare, produce, by steeping, boiling and fermenting, esp of ale, beer, and malt and hop liquors generally, b (extended use) to prepare by boiling, infusion, and mixing of ingredients, e g of tea, punch, also, generally, to prepare a drink by mingling ingredients, e g of claret cup &c, c (fig) to contrive, prepare, bring about, esp of disaster, trouble, mischief &c 2 intrans a To brew beer &c, b (fig) to gather, form, prepare a storm, mischief, as brewing brew (II), n fr preo That which is brewed, esp a single making of ale or beer &c brewer, n. [1 brúder, 2 brúdr] see preo & -er. One who brews, prepares for consumption, and sells ale and beer brewery, n. [1 brúder, 2 brúdr] brew & -ory Works or building in which the trade of brewing is carried out brewing, n. [1 brúding, 2 brúding], fr brew (I) & -ing Act or process of producing malted liquor, ale, beer &c brews, n. [1 brúdis, 2 brúdis] M E brouet, broues, brouns &c, 'broth', wh have the meaning, but not direct ancestral form, of modern word, fr O Fr brouet, wh is said to be fr O HG bród, 'broth', & dimin suff The base is that in brew & other words there referred to (province) Applied to various kinds of broth and liquid stews brewster, n. [1 brúster, 2 brústr] brew (I) & old fem suff -ster Originally a woman brewer, now only used in Brewster Sessions, of certain periodical sittings of licensing magistrates to renew old and grant new licences for the sale of alcoholic liquors briar (I), adj & n. [1 bríar, 2 brúar], fr Fr bruyère, the plant 'heath or broom', no connection w brier, the Fr word is apparently fr a Low Lat brugaria*, wh is supposed to be derived fr Celt brucus*, 'heath plant' Cp brusque 1 adj Made of the root of the white heath, Erica arborea, esp used for making tobacco pipes briar pipes 2 n a The wood of the white heath, b pipe made of this

briar (II), n. Pnckly shrub See brier

briable, adj [1 bríabál, 2 brúabál], fr bríe (II) & -able Capable of being bribed, open to bribery, corrupt bribe (I), n. [1 bríb, 2 bráb] O Fr bríbe, 'large lump of bread' Etymol unknown In M E the n occurs, apparently in present sense, the vb in sense of 'to beg', also 'to pilfer', bríbour means 'thief, rascal' A reward, favour, bestowed on, or price paid to, a person to induce him to act against his judgement or conscience, illegally or wickedly, in the interests of some person or cause bribe (II), vb trans, fr preo To offer or give a reward or price to (a person) in order to influence his conduct in a particular way bribery, n. [1 bríber, 2 brúabér] bribe (I) & -ery An act, or the practice, of payment to a person to influence his action corruptly bric-a-brac, n. [1 brík a brák, 2 brík a brák] Fr Etymol unknown Suggestions in the dictionaries are purely speculative and lead nowhere Collection of antiques and curiosities, usually of small articles, applied also to small miscellaneous articles, used as ornaments, knick knacks of no great value brick (I), n. [1 brík, 2 brík] A late word, first found in Engl 1447 O Fr brigue in sense of 'piece' Precise origin & hist obscure. Prob borrowed fr a Gmc language, & connected w base bré*, 'breal', cp O E brice, 'piece, fragment' See break (I) 1 a Ob long, rectangular block of hard, burnt clay, used, instead of stone, in building bricks adry, land, as a bricl, to make a bricks without straw, undertake hard and fruitless task, b the material of which bricks are composed, 2 a Any, mass shaped like a brick, as a compressed block of dried manure containing mushroom spaw.

for propagating, b (in pl) esp box of bricks, collection of rectangular blocks, usually of wood, of varying lengths with which children construct small forts &c 3 (colloq) A cheerful, kind hearted, good-natured person a regular brick, to behave like a brick &c brick (II), adj, fr prec Made of brick a brick house &c Plur (up against) a brick wall, something unyielding or impenetrable brick (III), vb trans, fr brick (I) Usually brick m, up To block up (gap &c) with bricks brickbat, n [1 brɪkbat, 2 brɪkbat] See bat (I) Rough, broken piece of brick brick clay, n Clay suitable for making bricks brickdust, n [1 brɪkdʌst, 2 brɪkdast] Powdered brick, esp red brick brick-field, n Field in which bricks are moulded and baked brick-kiln, n Kiln or furnace in which bricks are burnt or baked bricklayer, n [1 brɪklæɪə, 2 brɪklɛɪə] One whose trade it is to build with bricks bricklaying, n [1 brɪklæɪɪŋ, 2 brɪklɛɪɪŋ] Act, trade, of building by laying bricks on bed of mortar brick red, adj Dark red, resembling the colour of the common brick brick tea, n China tea compressed into blocks or bricks for transport, esp in Asia brickwork, n [1 brɪkwɜːk, 2 brɪkwɜːk] Building, or part of it, made of brick bricole, n [1 brɪkɔːl, 2 brɪkɔːl] Fr Etymol unknown a (obs) An old military engine for hurling stones at the walls of a fortress, b (in real tennis) a stroke off the side wall, c (billiards) indirect stroke off the cushion bridal (I), n [1 brɪdəl, 2 brɪdəl] OE brȳdele, 'wedding feast' See bride & ale The latter word is used in OE in sense of 'feast, festivity' & prob confused later w suff in espousal, nuptial Ceremony of marriage, festivity held on occasion of a marriage bridal (II), adj, fr prec, also prob new formation fr bride & adj suff -al a Pertaining to marriage or marriage feast bridal bells, banquet &c, b belonging to a bride bridal wreath, veil, bridal party (in sense of bride and her attendants and friends) bride, n [1 brɪd, 2 brɪd] OE brȳd, brȳd, fr brūds*, ME brȳd &c, O HG brūt, Mod Germ braut, Goth brūps, 'daughter-in law, bride', ON brúðr This common Gmc base is prob derived fr that wh has produced brood, bread &c, meaning 'she who produces, rears, offspring' Relation w Lat Frūta, a name for Venus, has been suggested, & this is connected w Lat frut ex, 'bush', frut care, 'to sprout, bud', cf frutex, & expresses the idea of fertility Various more or less plausible origins have been suggested for the last two Lat words, but whichever be considered the most probable, the underlying meaning of each is pretty much the same a Woman on her wedding-day, before and after ceremony, b newly-married woman, for few months after wedding bride-cake, n Rich, highly-decorated cake eaten at weddings bridegroom, n [1 brɪdgrʊm, 2 brɪdgrʊm] OE brȳdguma See bride The second element is due to an substitution of groom, q v, for the old common Gmc guma, 'man', ME gume, gōme, cp O HG brūt gomo, Mod Germ braut gām, this is oogn w Lat homō, Aryan ghom* &c, cp Lath zmōn es (pl), 'man-kind' The word is connected w Lat humus, 'earth' See humus & man Newly-married man, or one about to be married bridesmaid, n [1 brɪdzmaɪd, 2 brɪdzmaɪd] Cp bride & maid Young unmarried woman, usually one of several, who attends the bride at a wedding bridesman, n [1 brɪdzman, 2 brɪdzman] Male attendant on bridegroom at a wedding, now usually called best man bridewell, n [1 brɪdweɪl, 2 brɪdweɪl] Named after a former palace wh was later used as a prison, built near St Bride's (Bridget's) Well in London Look-up for arrested persons, gaol &c, house of correction for vagabonds and disorderly persons bridge (I), n [1 brɪdʒ, 2 brɪdʒ] OE brȳcg, brȳcg, ME brȳge &c, O HG brucka, Mod Germ brücke, Dn brugge The exact formal cogn w the Engl word in ON is brýggja, wh however means 'landing-place, gangway', the word for 'bridge' in ON is brú, fr same base but without the -ja sniff The etymol is very doubtful 1 Structure of wood, stone, or iron built across a chasm, e g a river, valley, railway-cutting, or road, so as to form a means of passage for foot passengers and vehicles Phr a golden bridge, an easy way of retreat or means of extricating oneself from a difficulty 2 (naut) Kind of raised platform extending over and across part of a ship's deck, for the captain or navigating officer 3 (variously applied with sense of support or connexion) a bridge of the nose, bone which supports the soft structures of the nose, and gives to this its characteristic shape in profile, b (mus) small wooden strut or support which takes the strain of the strings when tightened, in instruments of the fiddle class, and raises them above the belly of the instrument between tail piece and finger-board, c (dentistry) small metal device for keeping false teeth in place by attaching them to existing teeth, d rest for the cue in billiards held by the left hand bridge (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To span a chasm, to unite the opposing sides of a river, valley &c, by means of a bridge 2 (fig) To overcome obstacles, fill in a break in time to bridge over the difficulties of a situation bridge (III), n Etymol unknown, it was a form of whist played first in Greece & Constantinople & called britch, or Russian whist A card game, resembling whist, in which one player exposes his cards which are played by his partner, the modern game is now auction bridge, each player in which bids for right of playing, or a later variety, contract bridge bridgehead, n [1 brɪdʒhed, 2 brɪdʒhed] (fort) Defensive work protecting approach to a bridge on side nearest to the enemy bridle (I), n [1 brɪdl, 2 brɪdl] OE brȳdel, brȳdel, fr bregd* i, cp bregdan, 'twist, pull' &c, under brad (I) 1 Part of horse's harness consisting of the whole headgear and its appurtenances, including the bit, the various straps which hold it in position, and the reins which control it 2 Specif, the reins by which the horse is controlled by the rider bridle (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans a To put a bridle on a horse &c, b (fig) to restrain, check, keep within bounds to bridle one's passions, desires, ambitions &c 2 intrans a (of horses) To carry the head with chin drawn in as though tightly reined, b (fig, of persons) to show pride, contempt, or resentment by one's bearing, esp by a haughty tossing of head, and a stiff carriage to bridle with anger, bridle at one's remarks bridle hand, n That band in which reins are generally held—the left bridle path, n Path along which horses can be ridden or led, but too narrow for vehicles bridle rein, n Rein attached to bit, esp in riding horses bridoon, n [1 brɪdʊn, 2 brɪdʊn] Fr bridon, fr bride, 'bridle', wh is borrowed fr a LG source Cp bridle (I) Reins and bit, including both snaffle and curb, of a military bridle brief (I), adj [1 brɛf, 2 brɛf] ME brȳfe, fr Fr brȳf &c, Lat brevis, 'short', oogn w Glk brachius, 'short', of linear space, & time, O Slav brǫžęza, 'shallow', Aryan bhreghu*, cp brachy- 1 Lasting only for a short time, having but a short duration in time, short-lived (brief is not applied, as is the word short, to linear space) brief life, experience, brief remarks, i e few and soon over, brief hopes, soon shattered 2 a (of style) Concise, condensed, b (of manner) abrupt, as though anxious to break off conversation brief (II), n, fr prec ME brȳf, 'legal or official document' Orig a summary, of facts & arguments, official mandate Specif a papal letter less formal than a 'bull', b (law) document of instructions, prepared by solicitor, giving the barrister or counsel a compendious statement of facts in a case to be tried in court Phrs to hold a brief for, support, justify, argue in favour of a person or state of things, to have plenty of briefs (of a barrister), to be busy in his profession brief (III), vb trans, fr prec a To instruct (a barrister), give a brief to, more generally, employ him, e g many eminent counsel were briefed in this case, b (gen) to give particular information, or instructions regarding a matter, furnish a person with facts and arguments if you want me to put your case forcibly, you must brief me thoroughly beforehand

briefless, adj [1 brɪfles, 2 brɪflɪs] brief (II) & -less Lacking briefs (of a barrister), therefore unemployed, unable to make a livelihood from profession of the Law briefly, adv [1 brɪflɪ, 2 brɪflɪ] brief (I) & -ly In a brief manner, succinctly brier (I), briar, n [1 brɪər, 2 brɪər] OE brȳr &c Etymol dubious Relation of Mod to OE form also obscure Probably wild shrub with long trailing shoots, esp that bearing the wild rose brier (II), n Tobacco pipe See briar

brig, n [1 brɪg, 2 brɪg] Short for brigantine A two masted, square rigged vessel.

brigade (I), n [1 brɪgəd, 2 brɪgeɪd] Fr brigade, Ital brigata, 'troop', fr Ital briga, 'strife', also in Port It is supposed that these & other related words are formed fr the borrowed Gmc base brīh (Goth) brēh, q v under break (I) 1 A unit of the army, smaller than a division, consisting of three or four battalions of infantry or regiments of cavalry, or of three or four batteries of artillery 2 Any organized body of persons acting together, or held together by common beliefs and customs fire brigade, Boys' Brigade brigade (II), vb trans, fr prec a To put (troops) into the same brigade, b occasionally, to group, or classify together brigade major, n The chief staff officer of a brigade He is generally a captain in army rank and does not become a major by virtue of his office

brigadier, n [1 brɪgədiər, 2 brɪgədiə] Fr brigadier See brigade & -ier A military officer commanding a brigade or holding a staff appointment of similar status He ranks immediately below a major general Such officers have also, at different periods in the history of the British Army, been called 'brigadier generals' and 'colonels commandant', 'brigadier' is the present usage It is not a permanent rank but the style of an appointment brigand, n [1 brɪgənd, 2 brɪgənd] O Fr brigant, 'light armed soldier', Fr brigand w different sense, Ital brigante, fr Low Lat brigare, 'strive', fr Gmc base brīh &c Cp brigade & break (I) Lawless person, esp one of a band, in Southern Europe, who lives by waylaying travellers, stealing their property, and sometimes kidnapping their persons in hope of obtaining a ransom The term is not applied to English thieves, whose methods are different brigandage, n [1 brɪgəndɪdʒ, 2 brɪgəndɪdʒ] Prec & -age Act and practice of stealing, and behaving as a brigand brigantine, n [1 brɪgəntɪn, 2 brɪgəntɪn] Fr brigantin, Ital brigantino Originally a fighting, esp a piratical vessel See brigand Two masted ship, with square rigged foremast and fore and aft rig on mainmast bright (I), adj [1 brɪt, 2 brɪt] OE beorht, bryht &c, 'bright', O HG beraht, Goth barhts, ON byrt Outside Gmc op Lath breszlo, 'it dawns', O Slav brǫžęzi, 'dawn', Serb brǫžęzi, 'it gleams, sparkles'. The base bhreg-* &c is apparently Common Aryan It seems probable that the Aryan base bhleg*, 'shino, flame', n'knee Lat flegre, 'flame, burn' &c., was closely related. See this under blank, bleak, flaming, & ep brook. For other cognates of bright see burn (tree), bark (of tree) 1 Radiant, emitting, giving out, light, reflecting light, shining, reverse of dark and dull. Phr to look on the bright side, to be a cheerful view of things 2 Vivid, copious in tone (of colours) bright red, blue &c 3 Free from cloudiness, clear, transparent (of liquids, wine, beer &c) 4 (fig., of mental qualities) Alert, animated, intelligent, cheerful 5 Il lustrous his reputation was never brighter than just before his death bright (II), adv., fr prec O bricht, adv., 'brightly' In a bright manner, brilliantly, with much light. 'How bright those glorious spirits shine' (Watts) Chiefly with vb shine brighten, vb trans & intrans [1 brite, 2 brait(s)] bright (I) & -on A trans 1 To make bright, cause to shine, by clearing &c to brighten silver 2 To improve by making more cheerful, happier to brighten the lot of the poor B intrans To grow, become light, or bright the day is brightening brightly, adv [1 briht, 2 brihtli] bright (I) & -ly Same as bright (II), but more extensively used as adv of bright in all senses brightness, n [1 brihtus, 2 brihtnis] bright (I) & -ness 'The quality or property of being bright in its various senses' Bright's disease, n [1 brihts dize, 2 brihts dize] So called after Dr Richard Bright, who described the complaint in 1827. A malady of the kidneys, acute or chronic nephritis brill, n [1 bril, 2 bril] Cornish brill is a mackerel, brill means 'streaked' A flat fish allied to the turbot and resembling it in shape and in the quality of its flesh brilliance, brilliancey, n [1 brilyans(s), 2 brilyans(s)] See brilliant & -cy Quality of being bright, shining, intelligent, brightness, splendour, radiance, keen intelligence, wit.

brilliant (I), adj [1 brilyant, 2 brilyant] Fr brillant, Pres Part of briller, 'shino' &c, fr Low Lat beryllare*, 'shino like a beryl' Cp the *vb*s Ital brillare, Spn brillar See beryl A bright, glittering, shining, b (of non material things) splendid, having qualities which attract attention, provoke admiration brilliant mind, talents, wit, intelligence, a brilliant idea &c brilliant (II), n, fr prec 1 Diamond or other precious stone cut in particular way, with numerous facets, so as to ensure special brilliancy The ordinary form of brilliant is roughly that of two cones base to base, the upper having a flat top formed by cutting off a part not far from base, the lower having the point cut off 2 (typog) Smallest size of type used in ordinary printing brilliantine, n [1 brilyantina, 2 brilyantina] Fr Cp brillant (I) Greasy cosmetic used to make the hair lie flat brim (I), n [1 brim, 2 brim] OE brymme, 'border, sea shore', ME brymme, cp Germ brame, 'edge' &c, OE brim, 'sea', w wb the word is confused in OE, may be cogn, & the orig meaning of brymme may be 'edge of the sea' In this case brim is related prob to Lat fremere, 'roar, murmur', Gk bremain, 'murmur, resound', brónos, 'roaring', bronté 'thunder' This is by many derived fr a base brēm* & supposed to be cogn w murmur For an alternative etymol see form (I) 1 Edge, border, shore of river, lake, or sea 2 Outer edge, rim of cup or other hollow vessel 'A beaker With beaded bubbles working at the brim' (Keats) Phr full to the brim, completely full 3 Part of a hat which projects below the crown, the rim brim (II), vb intrans & trans, fr prec 1 intrans To be full to the brim, brim over, to be full to overflowing, (fig) brim (over) with health and spirits 2 trans To fill to the brim (rare) brimful, adj [1 brimfool, 2 brimful] brim (I) & full Fall to the brim, very full, (fig) brimful of ideas &c brimmed adj [1 brimmed, 2 brimmed] brim (I) & -ed n Provided with a brim, b filled very full (of a cup &c) brimmer, n [1 brimer, 2 brimr] brim (I) & -er brimmer, esp for drinking, filled to the brim, a copious draught brimstone, n [1 brimstun, 2 brimstun] ME brimstun, brimstun, ON brenni stinn See burn & stone Sulphur Phr brimstone bitch, a violent, vituperating woman (obs and coarse), brimstone ord trade, purgative mixture formerly given to children brindled adj [1 brindled, 2 brindled] Earlier branded Connected w brand Stral ed, esp with brown or tawny colour, having streaks of lighter colour on black brine, n [1 brin, 2 brain] OL brine Etymol doubtful Phr brine, op Lat marinus, 'belonging to the sea' See marino 1 Water strongly impregnated with salt, used for pickling pork &c Phr eat as brine 2 (fig and poet) Sea water bring, vb trans [1 bring, 2 bring] OE bringan, OLG bringan, Goth briggan, strong vb related to wk OE bringan, fr bringjan*, OS bringian &c The base as it stands in Gmc not found in other branches of Aryan languages It is suggested that Gmc bring*, brana*, is an old compound formed fr the bases brh* &c, 'bear', cp boar (I), vb, & enel* found in Gk eneleia, 'carry, reach', also Gk eplos, 'burden, bulk, mass', cp also Lat nancior, 'obtain, light upon', lath nedi, 'carry' See further on this base under enough 1 To convey, or cause to come, esp to place where speaker is, or intends to be, whether by carrying, leading, driving, or attracting, convey from more distant to nearer place (said of things and persons) bring it to me, bring him with you to see me, they returned to camp bringing in prisoners, what brings you here today? Phr bring into the world (of maternal parent), give birth to, bring (some thing) home to (a person), convict, prove guilt of, bring pressure to bear on, upon, use persuasion or compulsion 2 To cause, produce, make to come hard work sometimes brings its reward my efforts have brought me good luck, riches often bring honours along with them Phr bring to pass, cause to happen 3 To persuade, induce I wish I could bring you to see my point, (also reflex) I can't bring myself to take strong action in the matter 4 To procure as a price, to sell for, fetch how much did your fruit crop bring last year? his literary work brings him hundreds a year 5 (law) To prefer, adduce, start, as an action in law, an accusation, charge &c 6 Used in large number of special and idiomatic phrases, with prepositions bring about, cause to happen, bring back, remind one, call to mind, bring down, cause to fall (lit and fig), to abase, ruin (of persons), bring down the house, provoke great applause, esp in theatre, bring forth, cause, produce give birth to (fruit, offspring &c), bring forward, adduce, urge, as an argument, proposal &c, also in bookkeeping, carry figures from preceding to following page, bring in (guilty or not guilty), pronounce verdict, also, yield as a profit, produce, bring off, rescue, esp from a wreck, carry out, achieve, bring on, cause, induce, og an illness, also, cause discussion, bring out, exhibit clearly (of meaning &c), publish (a book), introduce to public (an actor, singer), produce (a play), bring over, convert to another religion, way of thinking &c, bring round, restore to consciousness, or health, convert by persuasion, to different opinions, bring through, guide, through difficulties &c, help by instruction to pass an examination, restore health to, by medical care during illness, bring to, to restore (person) to consciousness, to check (ship &c), intrans, to come to a stop, bring under, subdue, include within (a category &c), bring up, rear, educate, raise (point or argument) for discussion, vomit, cause to stop, arrest, also intrans to conclude a journey, esp of a ship to bring up at a port brink, n [1 brinkl, 2 brinkl] ME, of Scand. origin, cp Dan brink, 'edge', Swed brink, 'slope, declivity of a hill' Perh derived, w an infixed nasal, fr Arvan mreg*, a form of marog*, whence connected w Lat margo, 'edge, brink, border' See marginal, also mark (I) Edge, verge, esp of a steep descent, lofty height, or deep fissure, chasm &c, in the ground Fig uses and Phr on the brink of the grave, near death, brink of eternity, brink of ruin, to stand shivering on the brink, of one reluctant to make up the mind, unable to come to a decision briny, adj [1 brint, 2 brini] Free & -y Very salt, (poet) of tears (used vulgarly as n) The briny sea briso, n [1 briso, 2 briso] Ital Supposed to be Gaulish, fr hypothetical briso*, courage, strength', cp fr brig, 'strength', W bris, 'honour' Dash, spirit, variety broche, n [1 bröchi, 2 bröchi] Fr Origin unknown Kind of light cake or bun brquette, n [1 brükt, 2 brükt] Fr brquette See brick & dimin suff -etto Small briel shaped mass, esp of coal dust mixed with sawdust, ashes, clay &c, used for burning to economize more expensive fuel, or if made of highly inflammable materials, to facilitate lighting of household fires brisk (I), adj [1 brisk, 2 brisk] Ltimol uncertain 1 (of persons) Lively, active, vigorous, quick in movement 2 (of liquors) Sparkling, effervescent, reverse of flat brisk (II), vb, fr prec esp brisk up a trans, to enliven, cheer, rouse, brisk, b intrans, to grow lively, become brisk brisket, n [1 brisket, 2 brisket] ME bruskette, O Fr bruschet, bruschet, Mod Fr brêché Etymol obscure Said to be of Celt. origin Cp Bret brusk, brusched, W brysced, 'breast of slain animal' The word may be of Gmc origin, cp OE bröst, q v under brenst The W form may be loan word fr Engl The Fr may be fr Bret, wh is ultimately the same as W Joint of beef cut from breast of the animal extending to between the front legs bristle (I), n [1 brisl, 2 brisl] ME bristel, brustel, fr OE byrst & dimin suff -il, (-el) The OE word is cogn w OHG brust, Mod Germ borste, 'brush, bristle' Outside Gmo, Lat fast igium, fr farst-*, 'top, summit, of a roof, gable', Sert bristat, 'point, spike' Cp further borago, brad, breast, burn (I) Orig meaning is 'spike, prickly' Short, stiff, hair-like, prickly structure on animals, esp on the neck and back of swine bristle (II), vb intrans, fr prec 1 To rise, stand on end, as the bristles of an animal when excited 2 (fig) To evince rage, indignation, from analogy of angry animal, esp bristle with anger &c 3 To show a number of projecting points, such as masts, steeples, spears, bayonets &c, as though thickly set with bristles the city bristles with church spires, a cavalry regiment with bristling lances, b (fig) to be full of difficult, hard, debatable, points the whole subject bristles with difficulties bristling, bristling, n [1 bristling, 2 bristling] Scand, etymol obscure A small sea fish, of the herring type, of N European waters, canned in oil, like sardines bristly, adj [1 brish, 2 brish] See bristle (I) & -y A like bristles, full of bristles, rough, spiky, prickly, b (of hair) rough, coarse, standing up

Bristol, adj [1 bristol, 2 bristol] fr name of town, Gloucestershire Of Bristol, Bristol board, a fine, smooth faced cardboard, Bristol cream, a fine brand of sherry, Bristol diamond, a kind of rock crystal or spar

Britannia metal, n [1 brítanya métal, 2 brítanya metál] An alloy of tin with anti-mony and copper, with some zinc or bismuth added, resembling silver in appearance

Britannic, adj [1 britanik, 2 britanik] Lat Britannicus, cp Briton Pertaining to Britain, now only in diplomatic Phr His Britannic Majesty &c

British, adj [1 british; 2 britis] OE Bretisc, cp Briton & -ish a Pertaining to, coming from, Britain, relating to the inhabitants of Britain, British warm, short, thick, military overcoat, b pertaining to the Celtic inhabitants of Great Britain before the Anglo Saxon settlement

Britisher, n [1 britisher, 2 britisə] Perh American word, formed on anal of foreigner Native inhabitant of British Isles

Briton, n [1 briton, 2 briten], fr O Fr Breton, fr Lat Britōn-, member of the tribe of the Brittones The relation between this form, & Lat Britanni, Bretanni, Gk Brellanoi, Pretianoi, is very obscure, & the etymol is doubtful 1 One of the native Celtic inhabitants of Great Britain at the time of the Roman invasion. 2 Native of Great Britain or the British Empire brittle, adj [1 britl, 2 britl] ME brutel, bridel, formed fr form brut-* of base seen in OE brutan, 'break, destroy', & adj suff -l Gmc base brut-, brut-, prob related to Lat frustum, 'piece, fragment', cp frustum The further etymol is obscure Apt to break in pieces, or snap, fragile brittleness, n, fr prec & -ness Condition of being liable to break easily britzka, n [1 britska, 2 britska] Polish, dimin of bryka, 'wagon' Kind of open carriage (now obs) broach (I), n [1 brōch, 2 brout] ME, fr Fr broche, fr Low Lat brocca, Lat broccus, 'having prominent teeth', cogn w Gk brūkeia, 'bite', brōikos, 'grasshopper', O HG chroun, 'three-pronged fork', Aryan type gʷrouk-* See also brooch

Spt for roasting, also broach spire, a church spire which rises direct from the tower-wall without parapet broach (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To pierce a cask of liquor and insert tap for drawing off 2 (fig) To open, approach (a subject of discussion), to moot broad (I), adj [1 brawd, 2 brōd] OE brād, ME broad, brāde &c, O HG brāt, pret, ON breitr, Goth brands Etymol obscure The proposal to connect the Gmc words w Lat frio, 'crumble', see frable, is not convincing 1 Wide, having large measurement across Phr as broad as it's long, as much to be said for as against, indifferent 2 Extending in all directions, spacious broad lands, the broad ocean 3 Widely diffused, full broad daylight 4 Evident, strongly marked, (of speech) a broad accent, broad Scots &c, perhaps from idea that provincial speakers utter their dialect with unaccountable widening of the mouth Phr a broad hint, unmistakable 5 (fig, of the mind and ideas) Extended, open, free from prejudice, catholic, far-ranging, liberal, not confined within narrow limits a broad mind, broad culture, outlook &c, specif, Broad Church, applied to a school of theology which insists but little on hard and fast dogma, and which some consider as inclined to latitudinarianism 6 Without proper restrictions and control, hence improper, inclined to indecency many consider the humour of Rabelais rather too broad 7 Large and essential, general, bold, as opposed to minute, detailed he stated his views in broad outline, in this picture the treatment of the subject is broad and strong broad (II), n, fr prec The Broads, wide sheets of water in Norfolk broad arrow, n Mark in form of an arrow-head, painted or branded upon stores, horses &c, belonging to the British Government The mark is also placed upon the prison clothes of convicts in HM prisons broadcast (I) adj [1 brawdkaest, 2 brōd-kāst] broad & cast (I) 1 (of seed) Scattered upon soil and not sown in drills 2 (fig) Widespread, diffused far and wide (of rumour, report &c) 3 As PP of next word, of wireless announcements &c broadcast (II), vb trans & intrans (Recently coined & adopted word) To disseminate, by means of wireless telephony, the sound of speeches, vocal and instrumental music, and dramatic performances as these are being uttered or performed broadcasting, n [1 brawdkaesting, 2 brōd-kāsting] Prec & -ing The process of disseminating speeches, music &c by wireless telephony broadcloth, n [1 brawdclawth, 2 brōdclōp] A fine, smooth, densely woven cloth, formerly used in making men's clothes, usually made in very broad widths broaden, vb trans & intrans [1 brāwdn, 2 brādn] broad (I) & -en 1 trans To make broad, esp in fig sense to broaden one's mind 2 intrans (also with out) To become broad or wide river broadens (out) at this point broadly, adv [1 brāwdli, 2 brōdli] broad (I) & -ly In a broad manner broad-minded, adj Having a liberal mind broadness, n [1 brāwdnes, 2 brōdnis] broad (I) & -ness. State, quality, of being broad broadsheet, n [1 brāwdsheet, 2 brōdʃit] Sheet of paper printed on one side only, esp a popular ballad or tract so printed, sold in the streets See broadside, 4 broadside, n [1 brāwdsīd, 2 brōdsīd] 1 Side of a ship above water line, from stem to stern 2 All the guns that can be fired simultaneously on same target from one side of a ship, the combined fire of these guns 3 (fig) Volley of abuse, strong attack of any kind launched at the same moment against a single person or party 4 (typog) Sheet of paper consisting of single page, printed on one side only See broadsheet broadsword, n [1 brāwdsord, 2 brōdsōd] A large sword with broad cutting blade

Broddingnag, n [1 brōddingnag, 2 brōdding-nag] Invented by Swift, Gulliver's Travels Land of giants, whose inhabitants were 60 feet high

Broddingnagian, adj [1 brōddingnagian, 2 brōddingnagian] Prec & -ian Pertaining to Broddingnag, applied to anything which is very large, on a huge scale, gigantic brocade (I), n [1 brōkād, 2 brōkēd] Span brocado Cp Fr brocard, 'embroidered stuff' The word means lit 'pricked, figured, embossed', Li Lat brocard, 'prick', & is fr same base as broach, 'a spit' Rich fabric interwoven and embossed with gold and silver thread, or adorned and embossed with raised ornamentation brocade (II), vb trans, fr prec To adorn (silk or linen cloth) with raised figures &c broccoli, n [1 brōkōli, 2 brōkēli] Ital, pl of broccolo, 'sprout', dimin of brocco, 'splinter' See base under broach (I)

Species of cauliflower which puts out numerous sprouts, each like a miniature cauliflower broch, n [1 brōgh, 2 brōx] Cp ON borg, see borough A prehistoric, round stone tower, of the Orkneys and Shetlands &c brochure, n [1 brōshoor, 2 brōʃʊə] Fr The vb brocher means to fasten sheets of paper together in a paper cover by piercing and sewing, as opposed to fastening them by regular binding Brochure is a collection of sheets so stitched Cp broach (I), n In English, usually a small pamphlet or tract, irrespective of how it is bound brock, n [1 brok, 2 brōk] OE broc, 'badger', prob of Celt origin, cp Gael broc, connected w Ir & Gael breac, 'speckled', cogn w Gk pharokos, 'grey', & w base whence comes bright A badger, the old name, now obsolete except provincially and in Place Names brocket, n [1 broket, 2 brōkit] ME broket, Fr brôcard, 'fallow deer of first year' The name refers to the small spike of the horn, related to group of words under broach (I) Stag of second year brogue (I), n [1 brōg, 2 broug] Etymol doubtful Prob Celt It has been suggested that the word is fr some Celt source fr wh comes breeches Rough shoe of untanned leather, originally applied to such as were worn by the Irish, now, a strong, thick shoe worn in the country by both sexes brogue (II), n Same as prec 'Speech of the brogue wearing Irish' Provincial accent, esp the Irish manner of speaking English broider, vb Arohaic See embroider broil (I), vb trans & intrans [1 broil, 2 broil] Etymol doubtful ME broilen, O Fr broiller, bruller, 'burn' Fr brûle, O Fr brusler, is fr Low Lat per-ustulare* formed fr us-us, PP of urere, 'burn', q v under corubastion A form brule for broil is used in 15th cent Engl, wh may have been influenced by brûler There is a Mod Germ & M H G brodeln, 'bubble', wh may be the origin of Fr broiller 1 trans To grill, cook, (meat) on a gridiron by direct contact with fire 2 (fig) a intrans To be very hot to sit broiling in the sun, a broiling day &c, b trans, I shall be broiled alive if I stay in the room any longer broil (II), n, fr old vb Cp Fr brouiller, 'mix', Ital imbrogliare, 'mix, confuse', whence Fr brouille, Ital broglia These may be fr a Gmc word brūjan*, 'soiled', but the relationship is by no means clear A mix up, row, quarrel, disorder broiler, n [1 broiler, 2 brois], fr prec & -er One who starts up strife and broils, a quarrelsome fellow broke (I), vb [1 brōk, 2 brōuk] Pret of break (I) ME brōk, fr the PP type, see broken, cp OE Pret brac, ME bral broke (II), adj PP of break (I), cp next word Arohaic, but still used in special senses 1 (of ground) Broke, new broke, turned up by plough 2 Ruined financially, bankrupt (colloq) I shall be broke if I play with him too often broken, vb [1 brōken, 2 brōuken] Usual PP of break OE brocen, ME brōken (n) As adj Special senses 1 Made weak, infirm, spiritless by disease, grief &c a broken man Phr a broken reed 2 Rough, uneven (of ground) a broken surface 3 (philol) A vowel which in OE is diphthongized before certain combinations of consonants is, by some writers, called a 'broken vowel', cp fiacture broken-down, adj 1 Broken in health, enfeebled by illness 2 (of horses) Unfit for work, esp through overstraining of the muscles and tendons of the hind legs 3 (of machines) Worn-out, temporarily out of order and unworkable broken-hearted, adj Deeply affected by grief, very unhappy, inconsolable brokenly, adv [1 brōkenli, 2 brōukenli] broken & -ly With breaks, or sudden interruptions, esp of voice &c broken-winded, adj (of horses &c) Breathing with difficulty and noisily, through defective respiratory organs, through overwork &c broker, n [1 brōker, 2 brōkə] ME, O Fr brocœur, 'retailer of wine', lit 'broacher of casks' See broach (II) 1 An agent, or middleman, who acts, for a commission, between buyer and seller, or in other kinds of bargain 2 An official charged with selling distressed goods brokerage, n [1 brōkerij, 2 brōukəri:] Prec & -age Commission received by broker for conducting a bargain broking, n [1 brōking, 2 brōuking] The practice of broker's trade broolly, n [1 broh, 2 brōli] (slang) Umbrella bromide, n [1 brōmid, 2 brōumaid], fr base brom-, q v under next word, & -ide Compound of bromine and a metal, as potassium bromide &c, used in medicine, as a sedative &c bromine, n [1 brōmīn, 2 brōumain] Gk brōmos, 'stink', of unknown origin, & -ine (chem) Non metallic element with a rank smell bromism, n [1 brómizm, 2 brómezm] See prec & -ism (mod) Complaint arising from excessive use of bromine bronchi, n pl [1 brongli, 2 brýnkaf] Gk brónkhos, 'windpipe' Etymol obscure Cp Gk brónkhos, 'throat' Some authorities connect these words, others keep them apart Some cp w the former, Goth ana praggan, 'tighten, press' The two branches or tubes into which the windpipe divides before entering the lungs Called also bronchial tubes bronchial, adj [1 bronghial, 2 brýnkhal] Prec & -al Pertaining to the bronchi bronchitis, n [1 bron(g)katis, 2 brýnkðtis, brýnkðtis] See bronchi & -itis (med) Inflammation of mucous membrane of the bronchi bronchocele, n [1 bronghðsel, 2 brýnkou siel] bronchi- & -o & -cele Goitre broncho-pneumonia, n [1 bronghðnómia, 2 brýnkou nýmounia] See prec & pneumonia Acute inflammation of the bronchi and lungs bronco, n [1 bróngkò, 2 brýnkou] Span word meaning 'rough' Etymol obscure & dubious Wild, rough horse of Western North America bronco-buster, n [1 brongkò bústur, 2 brýnkou bástur] (slang, USA) Cowboy who breaks in broncos Brontosaurus, n [1 brontósawrus, 2 bríntou asras] Invented word fr Gk brontē, 'thunder' & sauros, 'lizard' See bruma (I) & saurian. A gigantic prehistoric genus of lizards, cp amosaur bronze (I), n & adj [1 bronz, 2 bronz] Fr, fr Ital bronzo, bronzino, fr Lat aes Brundisium, 'brass from Brundisium' 1 n a Alloy of copper and tin, b an ornament, statue &c made from this, also used of copper coins seren pence in bronze, o colour of bronze 2 adj Made of the colour of, bronze bronze (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec a To give a colour or surface resembling that of bronze to anything, b speak, to become brown from exposure to sun and weather

Bronze Age, n Archaeological period extending in Europe roughly from 1800 to 1000 BC, during which implements of bronze were used, following the later Stone Age and preceding the Iron Age brooch, n [1 bróoh, 2 broutf] Variant of broach (I) Ornamental pin, in form of a clasp, often set with jewels, worn in the garments at neck or breast brood (I), n [1 bróod, 2 brúð] OE brōd, OHG brūt, Mod Germ brut, 'brood', cp also Du broed, same meaning The word is derived fr the fertile Aryan base bhrū-*, 'to warm, boil', & has innumerable cognates See bourn, bread, brew, & perb bird The d in brood is a derivative suff, & not part of the orig base See also broed, vb, wh is regularly developed fr the form brōd 1 Young of animals, esp of birds 2 All the young birds hatched at one time in the same nest 3 (extended sense) a All the young of the same dam, though born at different times, b applied to young family of human beings, progeny generally brood (II), vb intrans, fr prec 1 (of a bird) a To sit on and hatch eggs, b also to sit quietly in repose, as though sitting on a nest Birds sit brooding on the charmed wate (Milton) 2 To dwell upon a subject, ponder with care and anxiety to brood over one's misfortunes, wrongs &c 3 To hang low and heavily over (as of clouds over mountain top, and lug, of can, sorrow &c) brood (III), adj, fr brood (I) Kept for breeding purposes a brood mare broody, adj [1 bródi, 2 brádi] Found as bruf, w present sense, in O L See brood (II) & -y Inclined to brood, or sit on eggs a broody hen brook (I), n [1 bróok, 2 br l] OE brōc, Mod Du brak, OHG bruo, bruo, Mod Germ brach, frn 'fracture, something broken', has also specialized sense of 'broken ground, fen, marsh' Brook still has this sense in some of the Engl regional dialects The word is fr a form of the base seen in break, & in the ordinary Engl sense means that which breaks, or bursts out of the ground. A small stream of water, not so large as a river brook (II), vb trans OE brūcan, 'make use of, enjoy', wh is also the sense of OHG brūhan, Mod Germ brauchen (the latter also means 'to be obliged, compelled to do some thing'), Goth bas brūks, 'useful' The base is the same as that in Lat fruo, fr frugvor*, 'feed oneself with, enjoy, delight in', & in frūz, genit frūg is, 'fruit, produce of the earth', fructus for frug tus*, 'enjoyment' See fruit, frugal, usufruct. To tolerate, endure, put up with, a generally with negative it brooks no delay, he cannot brook interference, b in poetry without negative The captive thrush may brook the cage broom, n [1 broom, 2 brum] OE brōm, ME brōm, OHG brāmo, 'broom' (the plant), Mod Germ brombeere, 'blackberry', cp bramble 1 Yellow flowering shrub of genus Genista or Cytisus 2 Implement for sweeping, consisting either of a bundle of twigs tightly bound together round a handle, or of bristles inserted in flat piece of wood, to the back of which a handle is attached The former variety was originally made of the twigs of broom plant Phr (fig) new broom, newly appointed official, zealous in his duties broomstick, n [1 broomstik, 2 brumstik] Broom handle brose, brose, n [1 brōz, 2 brouz] Same as brewis Athol brose, drink composed of whisky, honey, and cream broth, n [1 brawth, broth, 2 brūp, brōp] OE brōp, OHG brad, fr base bhrū-* &c, 'to boil, heat' &c See bread, brew, brood &c Liquid in which meat has been cooked, the same flavoured and thickened with vegetables, served as soup Phr (Ir usage) broth of a boy, fine fellow brothel, n [1 bróthl, 2 brōpl] ME brothel, 'worthless person, prostitute', formed fr PP type broth- of OE brōtan, 'destroy' This has been confused in meaning w O Fr bordel, 'a poor but, bovel', cp Ital bordello, Span burdel, all fr Gmc brōd, 'plank' Cp board House of ill fame brothel keeper, n One who owns or directs a brothel brother, n [1 bráðer, 2 bráðe] OE brōþor, OS brōþar, OHG bruoðar, Germ brüder, Gk phrōtēr & phrōtēr, 'member of a tribe or society of kinsmen', Lat frater, Sort brīdār, O Slav bratř, bratř, Lith broter ēš (w dūm suff), O Ir bráthar This word is common to every branch of Aryan speech Its origin is doubtful, but relationship w base bher*, q v under bear (I), has been suggested, fundamental meaning perh 'having common parents' See also fraternal & frat 1 A male person (or animal) having same parents as another, persons having only one parent in common are called half brothers Such a relation commonly referred to as my, his, brother John &c (Aryan pl brethren only in solemn and liturgical use) 2 A person united to another by membership of the same society, profession, or rank a brother mason, brother clergyman, professor &c (pl often brethren) Pers band of brothers, group of persons closely united by common ties of interest and affection, brothers in arms, soldiers who have served together, brother officers, members of same regiment Sovereigns and judges on the Bench address each other officially as Brother Term also applied to a officials of certain companies or guilds Elder Brothers of Trinity House b members of a religious brotherhood Christian Brothers, cp sister brother german, n See prec & german (I) I all brother, though both parents, formerly used of those having a common mother

(uterine brother), now sometimes restricted to brothers through father alone brotherhood, n [1 brotherhood, 2 bráðahud] brother & -hood 1 Condition of being in relation of brother in any sense our brotherhood in Christ 2 Society, association, guild, or other organized corporation for religious, benevolent, or professional purposes 3 Whole group of persons belonging to same profession and business the medical brotherhood brother-in-law, n [1 brudher in law, 2 bráðer in lā] Wife's brother, sister's or wife's sister's husband brotherliness, n [1 brotherliness, 2 bráðahlna] See next word & -ness Friendliness, helpful kindness brotherly, adj [1 brudherli, 2 bráðeli] brother & -ly 1 Belonging to, becoming in, a brother brotherly affection 2 Fraternal, like a brother, kind and friendly he treated me from the first in a most brotherly manner brougham, n [1 bróðam, 2 brðam], old-fashioned & obs [1 bróam, 2 brüm] Light, four-wheeled closed carriage, designed by Lord Brougham (1778-1868) brought, vb [1 brawt, 2 brót] Pret & PP of bring OE brōhte, (ge)brōht, ME brought(e) brow, n [1 brow, 2 brau] OE brū, ME brōwe, OHG brāue, Mod Germ braue, ON brūn, Gk ophrus, 'eye brow, brow of a hill, edge of beetling cliff', Sort bráf, O Slav bruv, O Ir brudd Some writers consider that the primitive sense is 'steep cliff, height' &c, & that the widespread application of word to the front of the head is secondary The base has both senses in several languages The suggested connexion w Lat frons, q v under front, is improbable The connexion w bridge is widely accepted 1 Part of the forehead just above eye brow, forehead generally Phr to knit the brows, wrinkle the forehead, frown 2 Steep slope of a hill browbeat, vb trans [1 broubét, 2 braubít] Prec & beat To bully, abash down, treat arrogantly, truculently, and overbearingly browbeating, n [1 broubétang, 2 braubítang] Process or act of bullying and attempting to disconcert by arrogant speech brown (I), adj [1 broun, 2 bráun] OE brūn, ME brun, OHG brūn, Mod Germ braun, Du brun, ON brūnn, 'brown', also 'brilliant', Gk phrānē, 'toad', lit 'brown creature', cp also Mod Slovene brun, 'brown', O Slav brunā, 'brown and white horse', Sort babhrū, 'brown', applied to a species of ichneumon lizard Cp beaver Having a colour of one of various shades between black and red or yellow Phr to do brown, (slang) to take in, swindle, brown study, a deep reverse brown (II), n, fr prec 1 Brown colour 2 A brown butterfly 3 (vulg) A copper coin brown (III), vb intrans & trans, fr brown (I) To become or make brown, eg to tan from exposure to sun and weather, or by action of fire

Brown Bess, n [1 bronn bes, 2 braun bes] Old English flint lock musket brown coal, n Lignite

Brown George, n [1 bróun jórj, 2 braun dǝdz] Name for a large brown earthen ware water jug or pitcher browne, n [1 brouni, 2 brauni] brown (I) & dimin -io, -y a Diminutive, good natural fairy or elf, b a very young member of the Girl Guides, answering to 'Wolf Cub' of the Boy Scouts

Browning, n [1 bróuning, 2 braunig], fr name of inventor A type of automatic pistol browse, vb intrans [1 brouz, 2 brauz] O Fr brousser, 'sprout' (of trees &c), fr broue, Mod Fr brout, 'sprout, shoot from tree' The word is of Gmc origin, cp OS brastan, 'sprout, bud', connected w OE byrn, q v under bristle, & w the base meaning 'spile' &c there discussed. Thus brouse orig meant to crop young shoots of heather &c 1 To feed as animals do, nibble off grass and young shoots &c, to graze 2 (extended, fig use) To read or study in a desultory way brucine, n [1 brū'sēn, 2 brū'sin] Named, w suff -ine, after James Bruce, Abyssinian traveller (1730-94) (ohom) Poisonous alkali found in seeds of nux vomica plant bruin, n [1 brū'm, 2 brū'm], fr Du brun, 'brown', see brown (I) Popular name of the bear in fairy tales bruise (I), vb trans & intrans [1 brū'z, 2 brū'z] OE brūcan, ME brisen, brūsen &c But the Mod Eng word is perh rather fr O Fr bruiser, whence Mod Fr briser, 'break, shatter', said to be fr Gaulish briis, 'break' To injure the flesh by a blow from blunt instrument, or by a fall, without breaking skin or drawing blood, but so as to leave discolouration of the skin to bruise one's arm, a child's flesh bruises easily (Applied also to injury caused to fruit by a fall, or to bark of a tree by a blow) bruise (II), n, fr prec Injury caused by blow or fall, contusion.

bruiser, n [1 brū'zər, 2 brū'zə], fr bruise (I) & -er A pugnacious person who enjoys contest of any kind, a pugilist bruit (I), n [1 brū'it, 2 brū'it] ME bruit, fr Fr, fr Lat rugilus, 'roaring', ruire, 'roar', op Homeric Gk erygēlos, 'hellowing, howling' (of oxen), also Gk rhucēin, 'growl' (as a dog), brūgē, 'bowl', O Slav brūati, 'neigh' OHG rohōn, 'roar', is cogn This initial b in bruit is perh due to influence of braver, 'bowl' &c, Ital bramare, wh is of Gmc origin, or of Fr bruire, bray Report, rumour (rare) bruit (II), vb trans, fr prec To spread a rumour, or report, esp bruit about, abroad brumaire, n [1 brū'mar, 2 brū'mə], or as Fr, fr brume, 'fog' See brumous The second month, Oct 23rd to Nov 21st, in the French revolutionary calendar brummagem, adj & n [1 brū'məjəm, 2 brə'mə'dʒəm] Variant pronunciation of Birmingham, formerly current, but now a vulgarianism n adj Of inferior quality, cheap and nasty, esp of cheap jewellery, plated goods &c, b n, cheap, inferior goods brumous, adj [1 brū'mus, 2 brū'məs] Fr brumeux, but w substitution of Lat suff -ous, see -ous, Lat brūmo, 'shortest day in the year', fr brevis, op brif Foggy, misty brunette, n [1 brū'nēt, 2 brū'nēt] Fr, fem of brunet, fr brun, 'brown', fr Gmc See brown (I) A woman with dark hair, eyes, and complexion, contrasted with blonde (e) brunt, n [1 brunt, 2 brunt] Etymol unknown Chief stress, strain, or attack, esp in Phr to bear the brunt brush (I), n [1 brʊʃ, 2 brɪʃ] ME brusse &c, O Fr brosse, 'scrub, bushes', fr Gmc base brust*, q v under bristle 1 A implement consisting of bristles set in a flat piece of wood or ivory, generally furnished with a short handle, used for removing dust, cleaning, polishing &c, or for smoothing and tidying the hair, or of tuft of hair &c set in a handle, used by painters, b (extended meaning) of the art of painting the brush of Sir Joshua, of Turner &c 2 (elect) A Electrical discharge with rays grouped like the bristles of a brush, b a device such as a bunch of copper wire used to conduct current in and out of the armature of a dynamo 3 A fox's tail 4 Rough, low growing bushes, scrub, undergrowth 5 Slight contact, brief encounter a brush with the enemy brush (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 To use brush upon, clean or polish with a brush to brush one's clothes, boots, hat, teeth, hair &c, b to knock off with a heavy movement of hands, esp brush off, away, brush away a fly, brush off speck of dust, (fig, of trouble, difficulties &c) brush as de, ignore, or dismiss lightly 2 Brush up, smarten, furbish up the house needs to be brushed up, (fig) revive memory of, regain skill in by study or practice I must brush up my Latin, he had to brush up his drill on rejoining his regiment 3 To graze slightly, touch in passing the foliage brushed my cheek as I ran through the wood B intrans 1 Brush against, brush past, to push heedlessly by or past so as to touch 2 (of a horse) To rub one foot against another in trotting, so as to out or injure it brushwood, n [1 brʊʃwud, 2 brʊʃwʊd] Small twigs growing at the end of houghs, scrub, undergrowth brushy, adj [1 brʊʃi, 2 brʊʃi] brush (I) & -y 1 Like a brush, bushy, esp of animal's tail 2 Covered, thick, with brush or brushwood brusque, adj [1 broʊsk, 2 brʊsk] Fr brusque, Ital brusco, perh fr Lat ruscus (plant), 'butcher's broom', the etymol of wh is doubtful, by confusion w Med Lat brūcus, brūcus, 'heather', said to be of Gaulish origin Rough, abrupt, in manner brusquely, adv Prec & -ly In a brusque manner, roughly, abruptly brusqueness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being brusque

Brussels, n [1 brʊ'sl, 2 brɪ'slɪz] Name of capital of Belgium Used as pref to various objects Brussels carpet, lace &c, Brussels sprouts, vegetable resembling miniature cabbage, a number of which sprout from one stem brut, adj [1 brūt, 2 brɪt] Fr, lit, 'raw, crude' &c Technically applied to wines, esp champagne, to which the minimum of sweetening liqueur has been added Cp dr brut brutal, adj [1 brʊ'tɪl, 2 brʊ't(ə)l] Fr See brute, -al 1 (lit) Like a brute, coarse, rough, uncivilized, cruel, inhuman, obscene 2 (slang) Disgusting, disagreeable, unpleasant the weather is perfectly brutal brutality, n [1 brʊ'tɪlɪti, 2 brɪ'teɪlɪti] Fr brutalité, fr brutal & Lat suff -litas, q v under -litas Action which is brutal, savage, cruelty, inhumanity brutalize, vb trans [1 brʊ'təlaɪz, 2 brɪ'teɪlaɪz] brutal & -ize To render brutal, degrade to level of the brutes, dehumanize, treat with brutality brute (I), n [1 brūt, 2 brɪt] Fr brut, ME brut, fr Lat brutus, 'heavy, dull, stupid, irrational', an Umbrian form w b for Arvan gr, ep true Lat form, w different grade, gravis, 'heavy', the other cognates are Sert guris Gk berūs, Goth laurus, Lett gru is, all meaning 'heavy' See grave (IV), baityone, care 1 Any of the lower animals, is distinct from man, a beast 2 A man who is like a brute, a coarse, inhuman, cruel, or gross person brute (II), adj See prec Irrational, un-sensate, inanimate, soulless o brute beast, brute strength, sheer animal force, as distinct from intelligent, trained skill brutish, adj [1 brʊ'tɪʃ, 2 brɪ'tɪʃ] Prec & -ish Belonging to, resembling, unreasoning brutes, coarse, rude, irrational, stupid brutishness, n Prec & -ness The quality or state of being brutish brutum fulmen, n [1 brʊ'tʊm fʊl'men, 2 brɪ'təm fʊl'men] Lat, 'senseless, vain thunderbolt' See brute & fulminate A vain, empty, threat brutologist, n [1 brɪ'lɒjɪst, 2 brɒ:lɒdʒɪst] Gk brion, 'mass', cogn w brui, 'swell, burst forth', perh cogn w Lat frater, 'husb, shrub', fr base bru-*, whence also O Slav bristi, 'bud', O N brun, 'bud' &c Cp embryo See also -logy & -ist One learned in mosses bruyology, n [1 brɪ'lɒjɪ, 2 brɒ:lɒdʒɪ] See prec Science of mosses bruyous, n [1 brɪ'ju, 2 brɒ'ru] Gk brūnia, op base under bruyologist Genus of climbing, trailing plants Brrophyta, n [1 brɪ'fɪtə, 2 brɒ'lɒfɪtə] See bruyologist & -phyta (bot.) One of the great divisions of plants which includes the mosses and liverworts

Brythonic, adj & n [1 brɪ'thɒnɪk 2 brɪ'thɒnɪk], fr W Brithon, connected w Briton & -ic 1 adj Of, pertaining to, the Celts of Cornwall, Wales, Brittany, & ancient Cumbria or their language Cp Gaelic 2 n The Brythonic language or dialect bubble (I), n [1 bʌbl, 2 bʌbl] Etymol doubtful, cp Swed blåsa, 'bladder, bubble' 1 Thin, filmy envelope of liquid filled with air or gas 2 A small globe of air or gas enclosed in liquid, e.g. in sparkling wines or aerated waters, b the same enclosed in some solid substance such as glass or iron, when in a molten condition and remaining when the substance cools and hardens 3 (fig) Any plan, enterprise, illusion &c which lacks solidity and a sound basis for success and realization the South Sea Bubble, (also attrib) a bubble company.

bubble (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 A To give forth bubbles, effervesce (as sparkling liquids), b to rise in bubbles, be agitated (of boiling liquids) 2 To flow with gurgling sound a bubbling brook &c; to bubble over (as water from the ground) 3 (archaic) To deceive, dupe, swindle, fr bubble (I), 3 bubble-and-squeak, n Popular name for a dish of fried meat and cabbage bubbly, adj [1 bʌbli, 2 bʌbli] See bubble (I) & -y A Full of, giving forth, bubbles (of liquids in agitation, also of glass &c containing bubbles of air), b (slang) a bottle of (the) bubbly, champagne bubo n [1 bʊ'bʊ 2 bʊ'bʊv] Gk bōōn, 'groat', cogn w Sert gauri, 'groat', Lat. boa, 'swelling of the legs', base gaur* Swelling and suppurative of gland in the groin or arm pit bubonic, adj [1 bʊ'bɒnɪk, 2 bʊ'bɒnɪk], fr prec & -ic Accompanied, characterized, by swelling in groin &c, esp bubonic plague buccal adj [1 bu:kəl, 2 bu:kəl] Lat. bucca, 'cheek, mouth cavity', & -al The base org means 'roar, bellow' &c, cp Sert bul-kirak, 'roaring of lions', bul kai, 'bricks', Gk buklēs, 'hollowing', O Slav būčati, 'to bellow, low' &c Pertaining to the mouth cavity, esp buccal cavity buccancer, n [1 bu:kənər, 2 bu:kənə] Fr boucanier, fr bo. can, said to be an Indian word, meaning 'frame for smoking and roasting meat', the word was first applied to French settlers in Haiti who hunted wild cattle A piratical & roving, filibuster, unscrupulous adventurer buccinator, n [1 bu:kɪnətər, 2 bu:kɪnətər] Lat, 'trumpeter', fr bucca, 'cheek' See buccal (antr.) Name of a thin, flat muscle in the cheek

Bucefaut, n [1 bu:səntɔr, 2 bu:səntɔ], fr Gk bōūs, 'ox', cp bovine, & keata iras cp centaur 1 Fabulous monster, half bull half man 2 Name of the state barge of the old Venetian Republic probably a corruption of Italian bucino d'oro, 'bull of gold'

Bucephalus, n [1 bu:səfə'lus, 2 bu:səfə'lus] Gk, fr bōūs, 'ox', see prec, & kephalē, 'head', see cephalic A Name of Alexander the Great's favourite charger, b a high-spirited horse buck (I), n [1 bu:k, 2 bu:k] OE bucc, 'male deer', bucca, 'he goat', Common Gmc, cp Germ buck, Du bok, O N bukr 1 Specie, a male fallow deer, stag, also male of several other animals esp of deer generally, of hares, rabbits 2 Antelope 3 A dandy Phr old buck, old fellow (humorous mode of address) 4 (slang, U.S.A.) A dollar buck (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 To jump with all four feet together and back arched (of horses) buck off, down a rider by bucking 2 To strut, swagger, boast 3 Svel up, pull one-off together for greater effort, work with greater vigour, cheer up Phr greatly, much, bucked, discouraged, cheered bucket, n, fr obs vb bucket, 'to soak, wash clothes', cf OE boulen, cogn w bucket (archaic) Laundry basket, basket to carry dirty clothes to the wash bucketboard n [1 bukbord, 2 bikbōd] Light, long bodied, four wheeled carriage bucketen, n [1 bukēn, 2 bikēn] Ir A pre-tentious, ill-educated, often impoverished member of the smaller gentry bucket, n [1 būker, 2 hals] See buck (II) & -er A bucking horse bucket (I), n [1 buket, 2 bākt] Etymol very doubtful. Hardly fr OE būc, 'pateber', cp Fr baquet, dimin of bac, wh Meyer-Lübke derives fr Gaulish baccus, 'trough', boket occurs in ME 1 Vessel for drawing and carrying water, made of wood, galvanized iron &c Phr !nd the bucket (slang), to dio 2 Applied to various articles which somewhat resemble a bucket in function, as a the part of a pump which sucks and holds water in pipe, b scoop of dredging machine bucket (II), vb intrans, fr prec a To ride fast, roughly and clumsily, b to row badly, so as to scoop water with oar, hv hurrying the forward swing bucket-shop, n (American slang term) An office, or business in share dealing, run by persons who are not members of the Stock Exchange bucket-horn, n Material used for knife handles made from stag's horn bucket-hound, n A small variety of staghound, formerly bred for hunting the deer, esp the carted deer, Master of the Buckhounds, an official of the royal household, now abolished bucket-jumper, n A bucking horse or mule buckle (I), n [1 bukl, 2 bakl] ME bokel, Fr boucle, Lat bucula (dimin of bucca, 'cheek', see buccal), 'that part of a helmet which covers mouth and cheek, the beaver, also, a boss on a shield' 1 Device attached to one end of a strap for fastening the two ends together, consisting of a metal frame with a movable tongue or spike attached to one end which passes through a hole in the other end of strap 2 Ornamented clasp, or buckle, for shoes &c, formerly often jewelled buckle (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 To fasten with a buckle Phr buckle to, to set to work in earnest, begin work 2 To crumple up, bend from weight or strain, or heat esp of metal work, machines of iron &c buckled, adj [1 bukld, 2 bakld] PP of prec Provided with buckles (of shoes) buckler, n [1 būkler, 2 bakla] ME, fr O Fr bocler, Fr boucher, connected w buckle, meaning provided with a boss Large shield carried on left arm buckmast, n [1 bukmast, 2 bākmāst] Variant of beechmast buckram, n [1 bukram, 2 bākrām] ME bokram, O Fr bogueran Origin unknown. Perhaps influenced by association w bouc & buck 1 Stiff, coarse linen cloth, used in linings and for binding books Phr men in buckram, imaginary, non-existent men (from Falstaff in 'Henry IV') 2 (fig) Stiffness of bearing or manner backshot, n [1 bukshot, 2 bak[st]] Large sized shot buckskin, n [1 bukskm, 2 bākskm] Leather made from skin of buck, used for breeches and gloves &c buckthorn, n [1 bukthorn, 2 bākpōn] (bot) A thorny shrub, genus Rhamnus, with black bark and black berries, which are strongly purgative and are used in veterinary medicine buckwheat, n [1 bukwēt, 2 bākwēt] Prob OE bāc, 'beech', & wheat Cp Do buck wēt Germ buchweizen Plant belonging to dock family, with heart-shaped leaves and pinkish white flowers The fruits or seeds resemble small beech nuts, and are used for making cakes and also esp for poultry food bucolic (I), adj [1 būkolik, 2 buklōlik] Lat bucolicus, fr Gk boukolids, 'of herdsmen, pastoral', fr boukolos, 'herdsman' (see bovine), -kolos is perb cogn w Goth &c, haldan, 'hold, guard' See hold (I) Pertaining to life of shepherds, pastoral, rustic bucolic (II), n, fr prec a Pastoral poem, b pastoral poet, c rustic person, farmer bud (I), n [1 hud, 2 bad] ME budde &c Origin unknown 1 Rudimentary or embryonic shoot, from a main stem or from branch of plant, consisting of tightly folded leaf or flower, whence a new branch, leaf, or flower will develop 2 Partly developed, tightly folded blossom, half opened blossom, (fig, mod slang) a young undeveloped girl Phrs in bud (of trees and plants), in process of putting forth leaf or flower buds, (fig) rip in the bud, put an end to something in its beginnings 3 Protuberance on body of organism which divides off from parent and forms new organism by gemmation bud (II), vb intrans & trans, fr prec 1 intrans a To put forth buds of any kind, start growing (as of plants in spring), b bud off from, separate, form new organism from parent (also fig of organizations, institutions, and other corporate bodies) 2 trans To graft (a young bud) on to another plant so as to obtain a new shoot, branob &c

Buddhism, n [1 būdūzīm, 2 budizīm] Asiatic religion founded by Gautama Siddhartha, called Buddha, or 'enlightened'

Buddhist, n [1 būdūst, 2 budist] One professing the religion of Buddhism Buddhistick, adj [1 būdūstik, 2 budistik] Belonging to Buddhists and Buddhism buddlein, n [1 budlā, 2 bādla] fr Adam Buddle, botanist A genus of flowering shrubs, some of which are evergreen, natives of S America, Asia, and Africa budge (I), vb intrans & trans [1 buj, 2 badz] fr Fr bouger, 'move', fr L Lat bullcare, 'boil', freq of bullire, q v under boil Cp Provenc bolegar, 'move' 1 intrans To make a slight movement, to move from, away from, one position to another (usually with neg) he never budged the whole time, it won't budge an inch 2 trans 'to cause to move, remove' I cannot budge him from his place &c budge (II), n ME bugee, etymol uncertain A kind of fur, usually of lamb skin budgereegah, n [1 bujeregah, 2 bādzeregā] Native word Small bright coloured parakeet, the Australian love bird budget (I), n [1 bujet, 2 bādzt] ME bouget &c, O Fr, dimin of bouge, 'leather bag', cp Ital bogaglia, fr Lat bulga, 'leather bag', orig simply a skin The word is prob of Gaulish origin, see bulge Relation to Goth balga, 'leather bag', q v under bellows, belly, is obscure 1 Originally a wallet, pouch (obs) Hence, 2 Contents of such a wallet, whence specif, collection, accumulation, esp budget of news 3 A financial statement made annually in House of Commons by Chancellor of the Exchequer, b proposals for raising sum estimated to be necessary for national expenses for current year, c similar statement and estimate presented to other public bodies, municipalities, county councils, universities &c budget (II), vb, fr prec To form an estimate of expenses and take measures to meet them (see prec (I), 3), usually to budget for buff (I), n [1 buf, 2 baf] fr Fr buffle, 'buffalo', see buffalo 1 Thick, soft leather made from skin of buffalo or ox &c, formerly used for military coats 2 (fig and colloq) Bare skin strip to the buff 3 Colour of buff, a pale brownish yellow 4 The Buffs, East Kent (old 3rd) Regiment of the Line, from colour of their tunics buff (II), n, fr O Fr buffe, bufe See buffer (II), buffet (I), also rebuff Thump, blow (obs) buffalo, n [1 būfālō, 2 būfālōw] Port bufalo, fr Lat būbalus, fr Gk boubalos, 'African gazelle, antelope', later 'buffalo', cp also Lat būbulus, adj, 'pertaining to oxen', also Scrt gavalāś, 'wild buffalo' The formation of the Gk & Lat forms is obscure, but the base is the same as in bovine

1 Any species of wild ox, including Indian, African, and American varieties 2 Member of benevolent society, Ancient and Antediluvian Buffaloes buffalo robe, n One made of skin of buffalo, in use among N American Indians buffer (I), n [1 būfer, 2 bāfa] Perh lit 'striker' Cp buff (II) & buffet (I) 1 Device with springs or cushions for lessening or absorbing shock produced when two heavy bodies come into forcible contact, e.g projecting iron rods with flat heads, working on powerful springs attached to railway engines, carriages, and terminal platforms 2 (fig) Neutral state situated between two possible belligerents which serves to make hostilities less easy and probable buffer (II), n In ME Prob same as prec, special senso being perh one who strikes at random, hence a foolish person Possibly connected w buffoon Usually old buffer, a good natured, rather foolish, and incompetent fellow, either elderly or appearing so buffet (I), n [1 būfet, 2 bāfēt] Dimin of O Fr buffe, 'blow' See buff (II) a A blow, generally one given with hand, b (fig) misfortune, calamity buffet of fate buffet (II), vb trans, fr prec To buffet, give a buffet Special usage buffet the water, swim vigorously in sea buffet (III), n Bad imitation of Fr pronunciation [1 būfā, 2 būfer] Fr Origin unknown Refreshment bar, esp at railway station, room, or table, where refreshments are served at a party buffoon, n [1 būfōon, 2 bāfūn] Fr buffon, buffon, fr Ital buffone, cp buffare, 'blow, puff', prob imit One who makes rough jests, esp accompanied by grotesque and comical gestures, a droll, amusing comical fellow, also in derogatory senso, one who constantly interposes with unseemly jests buffoonery, n [1 būfōonēry, 2 bāfūnēry] See prec & -ery, cp Fr buffonnerie. Act of a buffoon, rough jokes, foolery bug, n [1 būg, 2 bag] ME bugge, 'scarecrow' Etymol doubtful, but perb connected w base in boggart, boggle 1 Nasty, flat, ill smelling, verminous, wingless insect, genus Cimex, found in dirty houses and furniture 2 (colloq, esp American usage) Any small, flying insect, including moths and butterflies and, recently, bacilli 3 (archaic) A hogey, spectre, awe inspiring object 'bugs to seven babes withal' (Spenser, 'F Q', ii 12 25) 4 (colloq) Big bug, important person, usually ironical bugbear, n [1 būgbār, 2 bagbea], also more rarely buggabo [1 būgabō, 2 hāghū], n. Etymol dubious Cp bug Source of aversion or fear, fancied object of terror or dislike bugger, n & vb [1 būger, 2 hāge] fr Fr bougier for bougre, fr Med Lat Bulgarius, 'a Bulgarian', also a heretic, bore of various kinds, esp of Manichaean origin or tendency, was rife in the Balkans in 11th cent, & horrible crimes & vices were attributed to adherents 1 n a (law) A male person guilty of an unnatural sexual crime with another male person, a sodomite, b a low form of abuse, without any particular significance 2 vb To commit an unnatural sexual crime on or with another buggery, n [1 būgeri, 2 hāgeri] Unnatural sexual offences, sodomy buggy, n [1 būgi, 2 hāgi] Origin unknown. Light vehicle, somewhat resembling dogcart, usually for one horse, and having two wheels bughouse, adj [1 būghous, 2 hāghaus] (slang, USA) Mad, crazy bughunting, n [1 būg bunting, 2 hāghan-tin] Butterfly collecting bugle (I), n & vb intrans [1 būgl, 2 būgl] O Fr, fr Lat būculus, būcula, 'hauler, young ox', cp O Fr bugler, 'to low, blow the horn'. Mod Fr bugler The base is that in Lat. būs, 'ox' &c Cp bovine & cow 1 n Kind of small trumpet, chiefly in military use. 2 vb To sound call on a bugle bugle (I), n Etymol uncertain, but op Du beugel, 'ring', also O E bēag, 'ring', fr base in O E būgan, 'to bend, bow' Cp bow (III) Ornamnt of glass or jet sewn on to woman's dress bugle-call, n Military signal given by various notes on bugle bugler, n [1 būgler, 2 būglə] bugle (I) & -er One who plays the bugle bugloss, n [1 būglos, 2 būglə] Fr buglosse, Lat buglossa, fr Gk bouglossos, 'ox-tongued', boūs, 'ox', glōssa, 'tongue' Cp bu- in Bucefaut & glossary Plant allied to borago, so called from shape of leaves, genus Echium bulb, n & adj [1 būol, 2 būil] Germanized fr Fr bouille, fr A C Bouille, a French cabinet-maker, temp Louis XIV Cabinet work inlaid with brass and tortoise shell build (I), vb trans & intrans [1 bild, 2 bīld] O E byldan, fr būld-jan*, op bōld, 'a building, house', fr Gmo base bu-, 'dwell', Aryan bhu- Cp be, Boer boor, bower &c, also future A trans 1 To construct (any kind of edifice), by putting together various materials, stone, brick, wood &c, in suitable order and position, to erect, rear To build a house, church, stable, dam &c, 2 To construct any large machine or apparatus, which involves systematic putting together and combining various parts, eg an organ, engine, ship, railway &c 3 (extended use, colloq) To construct generally, fashion, contrive, eg a coat, suit of clothes 4 Build up, a to fill in with masonry, as a door, window, b to surround with houses and buildings My house and garden are very much built up now, c (fig, of non material things) to form, develop gradually by steady progression To build up a reputation, character, a practice, a business &c, also an argument, case, work of art &c, d to strengthen, improve, give stability To build up one's constitution, health &c 5 (fig) Build upon, base, rest upon with security, place reliance in (of hopes and expectations) I should not build too many hopes upon his generosity B intrans To engage in operation of building I would rather not build, if I can find a suitable house build (II), n, fr preo a Style, shape, design, form these two houses agree in general build, b general characteristic of proportion and figure of human body he and I are pretty much the same build builder, n [1 bīlder, 2 bīldə] build (I) & -or One who builds, espec, one engaged in the trade of constructing houses &c, master builder, one who employs workmen to build Special use Empire builder, one who as a soldier, administrator, colonist, trader &c, helps to found civilized community under the British flag building, n [1 bīldɪŋ, 2 bīldɪŋ] build (I) & -ing a Anything built into an edifice, a house, church, hall &c, b epcoif, buildings, secondary structures, round or near main edifice, stables, barns, sheds &c, also out-buildings Building land, land suitable for, and set aside for, building on, as distinct from parks, cultivated land &c bulb (I), n [1 būlb, 2 balb] Fr bulbe, fr Lat bulbus, fr Gk bolbos The base is the same as in Lat bulia, 'bubble, knob', ultimately fr Aryan bul*, bel* &c, 'swell' Cp blade (of grass &c), folio, & words there discussed 1 Enlarged, spheroidal termination of stem in certain orders of plants, such as the onion, daffodil, hyacinth, crocus &c The bulb is usually below ground, and from it the leaves spring upwards, and the roots grow downwards 2 A round or ovoid expansion at end of a tube, esp of glass, as in a thermometer, or a bulb shaped glass as that containing the incandescent wire in an electric light 3 Rounded enlargement at the end of a nerve, and of a hair bulb (II), vb intrans, fr preo To form bulbs, also (hort) bulb up, form a head, as cabbage plant bulbed, adj [1 būlbd, 2 balbd] bulb (I) & -ed Having a bulb or bulbs bulbous, adj [1 būlbəs, 2 balbəs] fr bulb (I) & -ous Like a bulb, rounded, swelled bulbul, n [1 būolbūol, 2 būlbūol] Prob Arab word Persian and Arabic name for genus of Asiatic birds of bright plumage and renowned for their singing, often mentioned by Persian poets bulge (I), n [1 būlj, 2 baldʒ] O Fr boulge, fr Lat bulga, prob a Gaulish word Cp O Ir bolg, 'bag', cogn w Goth balga, 'skin bag' Aryan base bhelg-*, 'swell' Cp blge, billow, follicle Irregular outward swelling, tendency to swell from flat surface, specif, the outward swell on a ship's side below the water line, esp constricted as defence against torpedo attack, usually bulge lee bulge (II), vb intrans, fr preo a To swell outwards irregularly, b to swell, as a bag, from being too full bulger, n [1 būljə, 2 bāldʒə] bulge (II) & -er A golf club with convex face bulging, adj [1 būljɪŋ, 2 bāldʒɪŋ] fr Pres Part of preo Showing tendency to swell, as if filled to overflowing 'the bulging corn-bins of Russia' Special use bulging eyes, prominent, starting from the head bulimia, n [1 būlīmīə, 2 būlīmīə] Gk boulimia, 'excessive hunger', fr boūs, 'ox', q v under bovine &c, & limos, 'hunger', perh cogn w Gk loimós, 'plague, pestilence', Lat letum, 'death', see lethal Cp starve for association of hunger and death (med) Morbid hunger bulk (I), n [1 būlk, 2 balck] M E bulle, 'heap' Cp Dan bulk, 'lump', O Swed bulk, 'crowd, mass' 1 Size, volume, esp great size, huge dimension, great size of body Phr sell in bulk, in large quantities 2 (naut) Hull and cargo of ship Phr in bulk, loose, not in package, as grain in a ship 3 Main mass, largest part of anything bulk (II), vb intrans & trans, fr preo 1 intrans To assume size or importance, esp bulk large 2 trans To appraise, ascertain, bulk (of a cargo) bulkhead, n [1 būlkhed, 2 bālkhed] fr obs bulk, 'bulk, lump of wood', see bulk & head One of several upright partitions dividing various compartments of a ship bulky, adj [1 būlkɪ, 2 balckɪ] fr bulk (I) & -y Having great bulk or dimensions, massive, clumsy, unwieldy bull (I), n [1 būol, 2 būil] The uncom-pounded word does not occur in O E, but bulan wylle, a local designation, prob contains it, & bulline, 'bull calf', certainly does M E bulle, bole &c, M H G bulle, O N boh The base is almost certainly Aryan bhel*, 'swell', but whether the Engl word is derived fr secondary meaning seen in bellow, or fr the same specialized sense found in Gk phallós, 'membrum virile', q v under phallio, it is hard to determine 1 Un-castrated male of ox or any of the bovine group — buffalo, bison &c, also of the elephant, walrus, whale, elk, and moose &c Phrs take the bull by the horns, face difficulties and dangers, not shirking or evading, (like) a bull in a china shop, clumsy, rough, or noisy, blatant person in a position where delicacy of movement or feeling, and tact are required, bull of Bashan, stout, well-fed, robust, and florid person 2 (stock exchange) A speculator who has bought low in expectation of a rise in prices 3 Constellation, Taurus, one of the signs of the Zodiac bull (II), vb, fr piec To act as a bull on stock exchange (see bull (I), 2) bull (III), n Lat bulia, 'eal', primarily a boss or knob (of wax &c) Cp bill (III) Official Papal enactment bull (IV), n Porh fr Fr boile, 'lie, deceit', Lat bulia, 'bubble, knob', &c Cp bill (III), boil &c. Thus Lat word, according to

Meyer Lübke, gives rise to a large number of words w varying meanings, including above Fr word, also the vbs Catalan borbollar, 'confuse', & Fr barbouiller, 'stammer, stammer, speak unclearly' A comical contradiction in terms, a blunder in speech or conduct Esp Irish bull bullace, n [1 būoləs, 2 būləs] M E bolace, O Fr beloce, 'sloe', the origin of wh, & of its apparent cognates, seems to be unknown, and suggestions are purely speculative Hard, round, dark purple, or yellow plum bull-baiting, n [1 būolbāɪtɪŋ, 2 būlbāɪtɪŋ] bull (I) & bait Old sport of baiting bulls with dogs bulldog, n [1 būolɔg, 2 bāldɔg] bull (I) & dog a Large, powerful, thickset dog, originally bred for baiting bulls, with very strong jaws, b (fig) tenacious, courageous person, c (colloq) university proctor/servant, whose duty it is to chase and arrest undergraduates suspected of any offence, d certain pattern of revolver bull-doze, vb trans [1 būoldōz, 2 būldōuz] (American slang) To bully, intimidate, threaten with violence, originally a term used in elections in Southern States of USA of intimidating voters, esp negroes bullet, n [1 būolət, 2 būlɪt] Cp Fr boulette, dimin of boule, 'ball', Lat bulia, 'knob', q v under bill (III) & bull (III) Round or conical pellet of lead fired from a rifle or revolver bullet-headed, adj Having a round, small head bulletin, n [1 būolətɪn, bulletin, 2 būlɪtɪn, bulletin] Fr, fr Ital bulletino, double dimin fr Lat bulia, in sense of 'seal' Cp bill (III) & bull (III) a Brief official announcement, b publicly affixed notice of state of health of (distinguished) invalid bull fight, n Spanish sport in which bulls are exasperated by men, mounted and on foot, with lances and darts, and finally skilfully killed bullfinch, n [1 būolfinch, 2 būlɪfɪntʃ] bull (I) & finch. a Small bird, Pyrrhula vulgaris, with rounded beak and bright plumage, b a tail hedge with ditch (the second element a form of fence) bull-frog, n Very large species of frog bullion, n [1 būoljən, 2 būljən] Fr bouillon, 'something boiled', hence 'soup', Lat bulliōn(-em), fr bullire Cp boil The word refers orig, in the Engl sense, to molten metal 1 a Gold and silver before being coined, b also gold and silver money considered as so much precious metal, apart from face value 2 Gold and silver lace bull-necked, adj Having a short, thick neck bullock, n [1 būoluk, 2 būlɔk] O E buluc, 'bull calf' Cp bull (I) & dimin suff -ock a A young bull, b any castrated male of the ox kind bull-ring, n bull (I) & ring The arena in which bull fighting takes place bull-roarer, n bull (I) & roar A flat piece of wood with a string passed through a hole, which when swung round the head gives forth a booming, roaring sound, used in various religious ceremonies by Australian aborigines, and called by them tundun bull's eye, n a The centre of a target, b thick convex piece of glass for letting light through a roof, the deck of a ship &c, c a lantern containing a lens made of such a piece of glass, d a sweetmeat, round in shape, with black and white stripes, flavoured with peppermint bull terrier, n Breed of dogs, cross between bulldog and a terrier bull trout, n Large trout resembling a small salmon, found in rivers, and in lochs which communicate by a river with the sea, called also sea trout bully (I), n [1 būol, 2 būil] Origin doubtful. Suggested connexion w Germ. bulle, 'lover, sweetheart', is unconvincing 1. Blustering, swaggering, tyrannical, cruel ruffian, specif, a big strong schoolboy who torments weaker boys 2 A hectoring scoundrel who lives on women's immoral earnings 3 A scrimmage, in Eton games of football, in putting of the ball in play at hockey 4 as adj (American colloq) Fine, splendid.

bully (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To tyrannize over, treat cruelly; scold and punish harshly one too weak to defend himself 2 Specif, to treat weaker boys in a school cruelly bully beef, n Prob Fr bouilli, see boil, (II) financed by bull (I) Soldiers' term for tinned corned beef supplied as rations in field and camp bulrush, n [1 boorush, 2 bulrəʃ], fr bull (I) in sense of 'large', cp bull-frog & horse-chestnut A large species of rush with thick velvety head bulwark, n [1 boorwark, 2 bulwərk] Du bolwerk Cp hole, of tree, & work. 1 A Rampart, earthwork, b raised parapet running round ship's deck. 2 (fig) Any form of defence, that which gives security low is the bulwark of civilization bun-bailiff, n [1 bum blif, 2 bəm beilif] Prob fr bun, vulgar term for 'bunticks, rump', & bailiff, as one who touched debtor on back when serving writ &c A sheriff's officer, bailiff of the court, serving writs, distraint orders &c

Bumble n [1 bumbəl, 2 hambəl], fr name of beadle in Dickens's Oliver Twist A self-important minor official, one who uses his office in an attempt to give himself an importance which he would otherwise lack, an important jack in office bumble-bee, n, fr ME vb bumelen, 'hum', connected with boom (II) Large species of wild bee with loud hum

Bumbledom, n [1 bumbldəm, 2 hambldəm] fr Bumble & -dom The status of a minor official, the possession & exhibition of the qualities of a Bumble bumble-foot, n Etymol doubtful Disease in poultry consisting of a swelling containing pus on bill of foot bumble-puppy n a Unsententious whist, b game in which two players take part, the object of which is to wind a cord round a post by striking with a racket a bag of sand fastened to one end of the cord, the other end of which is attached to top of post, each player striking from an opposite direction bumbo, n [1 bumbō, 2 bambōw] Ital borbo, childish word for drink Drink made of spirits, spice, sugar and water bumbot, n [1 bumbōt, 2 bambōwt] Dan bun, 'box for fish in a boat' (naut) Boat used for removing refuse from ships, also for bringing stores to the ship hummaloo, n [1 huməl, 2 baməlow] Corrupt of native name bombol A small Indian fish, dried and eaten with curry as a relish, Bombay duck bump (I), vb intrans & trans [1 bump, 2 bamp] Etymol doubtful perh imitative 1 intrans a To strike heavily against, bump into, against, b to rumble and jolt along, as of heavy vehicle over a bad road bump along 2 trans a To hurt or injure by striking or knocking against anything I have bumped my head knee &c, b (in boat racing) to catch up and touch (boat immediately ahead) and win by so doing, c bump off (slang) to kill, murder bump (II), n See prec 1 Dull heavy blow, esp one received by running violently against a hard, heavy mass 2 A swelling or lump, caused by a bump or heavy blow 3 (parcol.) A One of several natural protuberances on skull, b faculty or characteristic supposed to be indicated by it 4 Process of running a boat race by catching up and bumping boat immediately ahead bumper, n [1 bəmper 2 bləmpe] bump (I) & -er A full glass or tankard of wine or other alcoholic drink It is used to 'cheer another - can to express abundance, copiousness, esp bumper crop, bumper bumpkin, n [1 bəmptkən, 2 bəmpkən] Etymol uncertain, prob a Du dimin, perh boomken, 'little tree', in sense of a lumpsb block A clumsy, loutish, unpollished country fellow bump supper, n Feast given in an Oxford or Cambridge college to celebrate success in bumping races See bump (II), 4 bumptious, adj [1 bəmptʃəs, 2 bəmpʃəs] bump (II) & suff on anal of facetious, fractious &c Cp jocular word scrumptious Arrogant, self assertive, inclined to claim too much attention and hearing for one's opinions bumptiously, adv Prec & -ly In a bumptious, self assertive manner bumptiousness, n See prec & -ness

Quality of being bumptious bumpy, adj [1 bəmpti, 2 bəmpʃi] See bump (II) & -y a (of a surface) Uneven, covered with bumps, b (of motion of a vehicle) rough, jolting bun, n [1 bun, 2 ban] ME bunne Saggested etymols appear improbable & to be mere desperate shots 1 Small round sweet spongy cake with convex top and too few currants Buns are of several kinds, and are classified according to price penny bun, halfpenny bun, according to character currant bun (with few or no currants), bath bun, q, v, an entirely different article, (hot) cross bun, spiced variety of currant bun, with a cruciform depression on top, eaten on Good Friday Phr (colloq, slang) to take the bun, to be first in anything, to win 2 Small round object of anything, a bunch, as of hair &c bunch (I), n [1 bʌnʃ, 2 bʌnʃ] No known etymol. A Cluster of things growing together, esp bunch of grapes, currants, b collection of things fastened together, bunch of keys, flowers &c Phr the best of the bunch, the pick of anything, c (slang) group, association, gang, party, of persons bunch (II), vb, chiefly intrans, fr prec To gather up into folds, knots, or into a bunch bunchy, adj [1 bʌnʃi, 2 bʌnʃi] bunch (I) & -y In form of a bunch, tuffy, inclined to grow in bunches bunco, vb trans [1 bʌŋkō, 2 bʌŋkōw] Origin doubtful (slang, USA) To swindle, esp at cards buncombe, n See bunkum bunco-steerer, n [1 bʌŋkstērer, 2 bʌŋkstērer], fr bunco (American slang) Swindler, card sharper bundle (I), n [1 bʌndl, 2 brndl] ME bundel, as though fr OE byndel*, earlier bund il*, cogn w bund. 1 Collection of things fastened together bundle of clothes, rags, bundle of hay, sticks &c 2 Specif, things, esp clothes, rugs &c, folded and fastened together for convenient transport, a package, packet bundle (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans a To put together in confused heap bundle clothes into a drawer, b bundle out, to dismiss from one's presence, room &c hastily and unceremoniously, to expel 2 intrans Bundled out, to depart hastily, in confusion bung (I), n [1 bʌŋg, 2 bʌŋ] Etymol doubtful, O Du bas tongh, 'hole', possibly fr Lat punctum, P P of pungere, 'to prick, punch' See pungent. a Large stopper of wood or cork, esp in a cask, b specif, one stopping hole in cask in which the tap is inserted bung (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To insert a bung 2 Esp burg up, close partially by swelling of surrounding parts to have one's eyes burged up, also close (passage, pipe &c) by accumulation of solid matter the drain is completely burged up 3 (schoolboy slang) a To hurl throw b burg off, to run away, hunk bungaloid adj [1 bʌŋgəloɪd, 2 bʌŋgəloɪd] Coined fr next word & -oid, on anal of fungoid Consisting of, of the nature of bungalows Linguloid growths on the earth's bungalow, n [1 bʌŋgəloʊ, 2 bʌŋgəloʊ], fr Hind Bānglā, 'belonging to Bengal' Temporary, lightly built house or cottage of wood, generally one storey high and having a verandah bungle (I), vb intrans & trans [1 bʌŋgl, 2 bʌŋgl] Origin doubtful Prob modern creation suggested by bung, bang & -le, as in jungle, stumble To blunder over anything to do it badly and clumsily, to spoil a piece of work or a negotiation by unskilful handling bungle (II), n, fr prec A clumsy, unskilful piece of work, a confusion, mistake bungler, n [1 bʌŋglər, 2 bʌŋglər] Prec & -er One who bungles, clumsy workman, stupid, unskilful negotiator bungling, n & adj [1 bʌŋglɪŋ, 2 bʌŋglɪŋ] See prec & -ing a Result of a bungle, unskilful, clumsy work or handling, b clumsy, unskilful, confused (of persons and actions) bunton, n [1 bunyən, 2 bʌŋən] O Fr bugne, 'hoil, swelling' Origin doubtful See bun Inflamed swelling, esp on large joint of great toe bunk (I), n [1 bʌŋk, 2 bʌŋk] Origin unknown Perh connected w bank (I) & bench a Sleeping berth, esp on ship, consisting of wooden shelf in recess, upon which bedding is placed, b (colloq) flight, escape Phr to do a bunk, run away bunk (II), vb intrans See prec a To retire to one's bunk, (colloq) to go to bed, b (schoolboy slang) to run away bunk (III), n Sbord for bunkum. (Am slang) Nonsense, bumbag bunker (I), n [1 bʌŋkər, 2 bʌŋkər] Origin doubtful 1 Recessacle for coal, esp on ship 2 (golf) Hollow or other obstacle, natural or artificial, on golf links bunker (II), vb trans, fr prec To get one's ball into a bunker at golf, esp in P P pass to be badly bunkered bunkum, buncombe, n [1 bʌŋkəm, 2 bʌŋkəm], fr name of county in N Carolina, whose representative in Congress was said to have spoken frequently & needlessly to impress his constituents Nonsense, futile, senseless talk, flimsy argument bunny, n [1 bun, 2 ban] Perh fr bun. Pot name, esp among children, for a rabbit bunodont, n [1 bʌnədont, 2 bʌnədont] Gk bounós, 'mound, hill' (origin unknown), & odont, 'tooth' See odont(o)- & dent(a)-, tooth. (lit) Having (small) mounds on the teeth, applied to group of animals, including the pig and the hippopotamus

Bunsen burner, n [1 buːnsən hɜːnər, 2 buːnsən bɜːnər] After Prof Bunsen, celebrated German chemist Contrivance for burning air mixed with gas, which increases the heat bunt (I), n [1 bʌnt, 2 bʌnt] Origin unknown Disease in wheat, smut bunt (II), n Cp Swed bunt, 'bundle' a The bagging part of a fishing net, b the part of a furled sail which is gathered up on to the yard bunting (I), n [1 bʌntɪŋ, 2 bʌntɪŋ] Etymol unknown Common name for various small birds, forming the family Emberizidae, allied to the finches, as the yellow hammer, the corn, reed, snow-bunting &c, the Italian ortolan, and others bunting (II), n Cp ME bonten, 'sift' Originally, probably, coarse cloth used for sifting Now applied especially to brightly coloured cloth and flags used for decorating streets and buildings on occasions of festivity bunyip, n [1 bʌnɪp, 2 bʌnɪp] Australian native word Fabulous animal, said to be of enormous size Hence a bunbag, sham buo (I), n [1 bu, 2 bu] Fr bouée, Ital bona borrowed fr a Gmo language, cp O H G buhhan, 'sign, signal', cogn w O E bēac(e)a See under beacon 1 Contrivance made of wood or metal, hollow, and usually globe shaped, which floats easily in water, and is moored to the bottom of sea or river, either to mark a channel or indicate position of something, eg an anchor left at the springing from the root, thus distinguished from a tree which has a single main stem 2 a Group, or thicket of shrubs, b 'by extension) tract of country covered with shrubs, esp uncultured, wild country in the colonies (Australia or Africa) to live in the bush, in remote unpopulated country, in the wilds 3 Mass or bunch of foliage, formerly hung out as a vintner's sign Phr (fig) a good wine needs no bush, no advertisement bush (II), n Perh fr M Du buisse, 'box', wh is ultimately fr same source as above Sea box &c (mechan) Metal lining for cavity in which end of axle rotates bushel, n [1 booshel, 2 bu[sh]] ME buschil, O Fr basseil, Mod Fr boisseau, Mod Lat bussellus, 'little box' Cp box, boscage, bosky &c Measure of capacity, equal to eight gallons, used of corn, lime, fruit &c Phr to hide one's light under a bushel, to too modest in showing one's qualities, he doesn't hide his light under a bushel, proclaims his merits too loudly bushel basket, n Basket having capacity of a bushel bush-fruit, n Fruit which grows on a bush as distinct from tree-fruit (apples &c), specif, currants, raspberries, gooseberries bush-harrow, n Harrow consisting of heavy frame, to which bushes are fastened, used for cleaning land and covering seeds bushido, n [1 bōshēdō, 2 būfidōu] Jap, 'way of a soldier or knight' The unwritten chivalrous code of conduct, or life, as observed by the samurai or military class bushiness, n [1 booshines, 2 bu[sh]ms] bushy & -ness Quality of being bushy, thick, tufted bushman, n [1 booshman, 2 bu[sh]men] Du boschgesman Dweller in the bush or wilds, asp (asp) member of certain primitive South African tribes bushranger, n [1 bōoshrānjār, 2 bu[sh]remdžā] Australian outlaw, formerly applied to an escaped convict, living as a land of highwayman in the bush bushy, adj [1 bōoshi, 2 bu[sh]] bush (I) & -y A covered, overgrown with bushes, b thick, tufted, dense, as certain plants, also applied to tails of foxes and other animals busily, adv [1 bīzh, 2 b[sh]] busy & -ly In a busy manner, laboriously, eagerly, (in bad sense) anxiously, inquisitively business, n [1 biznas, 2 biznis], fr busy & -ness The various senses in wh the word is now used all show loss of relation to those of 'busy' Cp busyness 1 Regular, habitual, occupation trade, profession, followed for a livelihood his business was that of a horse dealer, solicitor, stock-broker, merchant, shopkeeper &c 2 A Commercial transaction, trade, finance &c, contrasted with one of the learned or liberal professions, or with the public services business is a more lucrative career than the army, he preferred business to medicine, b particular commercial enterprise he had a very good business, he has sold his business and retired Phr to go into business, embrace commercial career; business is business, we can't afford to be too generous, or to be governed by sentiment, not strict business, not in accordance with ordinary commercial procedure, go to, come away from, business, enter or leave office where one's affairs are conducted, a matter of business, business before pleasure, to stick to one's business, (fig) be attentive to duty, a good stroke of business, favourable transaction of any kind, one's man of business, agent, legal adviser, solicitor 3 That which has to be done, a special duty, or service imposed by a person's position, office, or circumstances it is part of a professor's business to add to the knowledge of his subject; my business in life is to bring up my family properly, the business of an oppositor is to oppose, that is no business of yours Phr to mind one's own business, keep to one's own duties and not interfere with other people's; to have no business to do so-and-so, no right to do it, to get, come, to business, start dealing seriously with the matter in hand, to send a man about his business, dismiss, snub, reprove, that will do his business, be enough for him, (in bad sense) kill 4 Affair, subject, matter (also of material things) I don't understand this business about the disputed election, I am sick of the whole business, it's a queer, or bad, business altogether 5 (diam) Specific gestures, bodily movements, expressions of face, tones of voice &c of an actor in interpreting his part, as distinct from the words this part has a good deal of comic business as played by X business-like, adj Preo & like Exhibiting business qualities, practical, systematic, orderly, efficient, punctual busk (I), n [1 busk, 2 bask] Fr buse, 'strip of whalebone or steel for stiffening front of a corset' Origin doubtful, but perh connected w Fr bûche, O Fr busche, 'piece of wood', wh is fr Lat boscum, 'wood' Cp box (I), boscage, bush &c Same meaning as French bus cited above busk (II), vt ME buseken, (reflex) 'get oneself ready', ON būa sk, 'prepare oneself', -sk stands for sk, 'him & self', reflex pron Būa has various meanings in ON, chief & prime of wh is 'dwell, inhabit', but it also has active sense of 'prepare' The OE cogn bian in addition to 'inhabit' has sense of 'cultivate' (land) See be, soer To get ready, prepare oneself (obs and liter) Cp the ballad beginning 'Busk ye, busk ye, my bonnie, bonnie bride' &c buskin, n [1 hūskin, 2 bāskin] O Fr brossequin, fr O Ital broscapina, prob Gmc loan-word, cp Du broselin, 'short leather boot' Mod Fr brodequin, 'laced boot covering foot and lower part of leg', has perh been influenced in form by broder, 'embroider' &c The earliest example quoted by OED is fr 1503, where the word refers to boots for the queen Weekley's suggestion that the word is a form of buckskin, based on Phr 'payre bucsins' (1481-90), is not quite convincing, though the two words may well have been associated in the minds of some speakers 1 Leather boot reaching half-way up the calf 2 A thick-soled boot, the calthurnus, q v, worn by Greek and Roman trago actors, hence, symbol of tragedy 'The buskin in poetry is used for tragical matter' (Glossary in Spenser's 'Shepherd's Calendar') Phr to put on the buskins, assume tragical manner, write tragedy bus, n & vb [1 bus, 2 has] Prob fr W. or Gael bua, 'kiss' The word has no direct connexion w Lat bāsum, 'kiss', whence Fr baiser, though the Lat word is perh borrowed fr a Celt source, & therefore ultimately cogn w bus The starting-point is Aryan gʷād* s, fr another grade of wh, gud* s, Gmc gus*, also names Cp kiss (obs or liter) a n A kiss, esp one which is rough and playful, b vb, to kiss bust (I), n [1 bust, 2 hast] Fr buste, Ital busto Origin unknown 1 Sculptured representation of human head, neck, and upper chest 2 A Part of human body between neck and waist, b woman's breast bust (II), slang for burst bustard, n [1 bustard, 2 basted] O Fr bislarde & oustarde, the latter being ancestor of Mod Fr outarde, fr Lat avis tarda, 'slow bird' See these Lat words under aviary & tardy The O Fr forms w & without initial b represent two old types, the former avistarda, the latter (o)hustarda*, w loss of the initial a, O Ital bustarda & ustardo, Mod. Ital. ottarda, Provenc. oustarda, O Span abularda, Port (a) belarda A large, swift-running bird, genus Otus, found in the Old World, related to cranes and plovers, an Australian species is called turkey The name seems ill chosen bustle (I), vb intrans & trans [1 būs; 2 būs]. ME bustlen, 'wander blindly and aimlessly', perh variant of bushlen*, formed fr busk (II) 1 intrans (often with about) To hurry about, make show of busy activity, also bustle up, bestir oneself, hurry 2 trans To stir up, hurry (others), mount to activity and speed bustle (II), n, fr preo Hurry, 'fussy activity'; excited, noisy movement bustle (III), n Origin doubtful Old-fashioned device for making woman's skirts project behind bustling, adj [1 bustling, 2 baskg], fr Preo Part of bustle (I) Active, busy, noisily busy busy (I), adj [1 bīz, 2 bīz] OE bysig, ME busy, busy Example of writing an ME dial type and pronouncing another, as in bury, vb Origin unknown 1 Habitually occupied regularly engaged in some occupation, pursuit, or work, diligent a doctor is generally a busy man, my dictionary keeps me always busy 2 Occupied, engaged, temporarily, at work, or active for the time being I shall be busy all tomorrow, I won't disturb you if you're busy 3 Filled with activities and occupations (at times and seasons) a busy day, time, morning &c, b (of places) filled with active, occupied persons a busy town, station, market-place &c 4 Too much interested in or occupied with other people's affairs, officious an idle, busy, interfering woman busy (II), vb trans or reflex OE bysigan Cp preo To provide occupation for, cause to be, keep, active and diligent she buses herself about the house, (more rarely) I have busied the gardener for the afternoon busy-body, n Meddlesome, officious, interfering person, esp one who chatters about the affairs of others busyness, n [1 biznas, 2 biznis, -nis] New formation Differentiated in spelling and pronunciation fr business Condition or habit of being busy but (I), conj, adv, prep, rel pron [1 but, 2 bat] OE be utan, butan, adv & prep, also am, ME būten, būt, & būt, adv & conj The shortened form, wh is the ancestor of present form, arose in unstressed positions See be- & out But has very varying uses in the sentence and expresses many shades of meaning It is often difficult to determine its precise grammatical function in a sentence Its general function is to express contrast, apposition, exclusion, restriction, with varying degrees of intensity A conj 1 Simple adversative, contrasting two co-existing conditions or qualities, yet, nevertheless Naaman was a mighty man, but he was a leper, his parents were poor but honest, he was handsome and rich, but very stupid, I should like to come, but I haven't time 2 Contrasting and opposing positive and negative statement, on the contrary, on the other hand I bring not peace, but a sword, I was not there, but my father was, not angles, but angels B adv 1 Excluding some condition or contingency I am not such a fool but that I understand you, I have no doubt but that all will come right 2 Only just, not more than, only so much as he left but an hour since, I saw her but a moment, he called but once, he was but a child, I spoke but in jest, we did but glance at the horrid sight, there is but one chance left, (poet) did she but smile, his heart beat high 3 Unless, if not she would have fallen but that he caught her, I should dismiss him but that his father was an old and faithful servant 4 (with can) In any case, at least you can but try all but died Adverbial phrase all but, very nearly he had but died of his wound C prep 1 A Excluding, except 'None but the brave deserves the fair', all but one man were drowned, nothing but misery can result, nothing remains but to die; b treated as conjunction before personal pronoun: 'All but he had fled'; c colloquially governs dative as personal pronoun: 'they killed everyone but him' D, rel. pron. = who, noti there are few men but would risk all for such a prize but (II), vb & n, fr prec Only in Phr but r's no but's, i.e. do not use expressions full of object ones and qualifications but (III), n In Scots Plur but and ben, the outer room of a two roomed cottage See ben butcher (I), n [1 bóochor, 2 but[s]] O Fr boucher, lit 'one who slaughters bucks', Fr bouc See butch 1 One who slaughters animals, tradesman who deals in meat porc butcher, one who sells pig meat, sausages &c 2 (fig) A cruel, bloodthirsty man, a general who wastes lives of soldiers unnecessarily, a murderer Phrs butcher's bill, (fig) list of those killed in action, butcher's meat, everything sold by a butcher, as distinct from fish and poultry butcher (II) vb trans, fr prec To kill, slaughter (animals) for food, to slaughter, kill, (human beings) brutally, to massacre butcher-bud n Popular name of various kinds of shrubs which impale their prey on thorns &c butcherly, adj [1 bóocherli, 2 but[s]li] butcher (I) & -ly Like, suitable for, a butcher, (fig) cruel, brutal, murderous butcher's broom, n An evergreen shrub, Ruscus aculeatus, with yellow, greenish flowers and red berries butchery, n [1 bóocheri, 2 but[s]eri] Fr boucherie butcher (I) & -y 1 Place where animals are slaughtered, shambles 2 Butcher's trade, esp butchery business 3 Massacre, murder, cruel and unnecessary slaughter of men or animals this is not legitimate sport, fighting, but mere butchery butler, n [1 bútlér, 2 bátls] ME boutler &c, O Fr bouteiller See bottle (I) & -ar Specif, servant who looks after wine cellar, plate &c Generally, headman servant indoors butt (I), n [1 bút, 2 bát] O Fr bout, Fr & Ital botte See discussion under bottle (I) Large cask for wine or beer butt (II), n O Fr büt, 'end', Fr bout Cp butt (IV), strike' &c Of Gmc origin Confusion has taken place between various words & senses, wh is very difficult to unravel Cp butt (III) 1 Thick end of weapon or tool the butt (end) of a ship, spear, fishing rod &c, that part of a weapon by which it is wielded, as distinct from blade, or, in case of fire arms, from the barrel butt of a rifle Phr (in fly fishing) to give a fish the butt, put extra pressure upon him by using thick end as lever 2 Thickest part of tree trunk, extending from ground to lowest branches, a stump, thick log (This sense partly due to butt (III)) 3 Kind of flat fish, turbot, sole &c butt (III), n (usually in pl in senses 1 & 2 below) Fr büt, 'aim, object of aim, end', butte, 'mound of earth' Prob of Gmc origin Meyer Lübke suggests Frankish büt & compares ON bútr, 'tree-trunk' Meaning 'aim', or 'that whob one strikes', fits better w source suggested for butt (IV) The words have been confused Fr piéd bot, 'club foot', appears to be near in sense to Gmc word meaning 'lump of wood' 1 Mound of earth behind targets at a shooting range 2 a The targets themselves, b the group of targets and mounds which form the range, hence shooting range 3 A person who is an object of ridicule, attack, or accusation butt (IV), vb trans ME butten, O Fr bóter, Fr bouter, bouter, 'strike, push', cp Ital botto, 'blow' Meyer Lübke derives the words fr Frankish bótan, 'strike' See this Gmc base under beat (I) 1 To strike thrust, esp with the head, or of an animal (ram, goat &c), with the horns the prisoner butted the policeman in the stomach 2 To run into (with against, into) going round the corner I butted into John 3 To join end of timber to that of another piece without overlapping, to place end flat against wall (this perhaps belongs under butt (II)) 4 (used absol with on, out, &c) To jet out, project (influenced by abut) butte, n [1 büt, 2 být] Fr. cp butt (II) An isolated hill rising steeply from a plain in the western parts of the United States butter (I), n [1 búter, 2 bátá] OE butere, common to W Gmc languages, borrowed fr Lat bütirum, itself fr Gk boutírion, wh means lit 'cow cheese', fr bótis, 'ox' &c, cp bovine, & tírion, tírds, 'cheese', prob connected w Lat turgere, 'swell', cp turgid The Gk word is, however, thought to be a popular etymol or lit translation of a barbarian word 1 A Greasy, fatty product of firm consistency, derived from cream by churning, b similar substance derived from other materials, eg cocoa butter, melted butter, butter melted for sauce for asparagus &c, also insipid white sauce, consisting chiefly of flour and milk Phrs to look as if butter would not melt in one's mouth, have an innocent appearance, to know which side one's bread is buttered, know one's own interests 2 (fig) Adulation, flattery, fair speaking butter (II), vb trans, fr prec a To cover with butter, b to flatter, esp butter up Phr kind (soft, fine) words butter no parsnips, tangible evidence of goodwill better than promises butter-and-eggs, n Varieties of flowers whose petals have two shades of yellow, eg a variety of daffodil &c butter-boat, n Shallow, boat-shaped vessel for holding sauce butter-cooler, n Device for keeping butter cold and hard by evaporation of water surrounding it buttercup, n [1 búterkup, 2 bátakup] Varieties of ranunculus with yellow flowers butter-dish, n Small dish in which butter is placed on the table butter-fingered, adj Having weak or tender fingers, unable to grip firmly butter-fingers, n Person who is unable to hold anything firmly, esp one who cannot hold a catch or stop a ball at cricket butterfly, n [1 búterfli, 2 bátáflar] Insect, often brightly coloured, with four wings and knobbed antennae, order Lepidoptera, which flies by day Reason for association with butter uncertain, perhaps originally applied to bright yellow varieties See fly (II) & op moth butters, n [1 búters, 2 bátarie] Perhaps variant of butteress with differentiated meaning Instrument for paring horses' hoofs when affixing shoe butter-knife, n One, usually of silver, with unsharpened edge, for cutting butter at table butter-milk, n Liquid remaining when butter has been churned from cream butter-nut, n Only, edible nut of walnut family, growing in America butterscotch, n [1 búterskotch, 2 bátáskot] Sweetmeat made by boiling sugar and butter together until mass becomes thick and hardens as it cools buttery, n [1 búteri, 2 bátarie] Nothing to do w butter, but fr O Fr bóteri, fr bouteillerie, 'place where bottles and casks are kept' See bottle (I) & cp butler

Place, esp in colleges and public schools, where provisions such as bread, butter, and ale are kept, and whence they are issued buttery-hatch, n Half-door with sliding shutter, through which provisions are handed into dining hall from the buttery or kitchen buttock, n [1 bútnál, 2 bátak] See butt (II), 'end', & -ock 1 Fleishy protuberances at back of hip upon which human beings sit, rump 2 Move in wrestling, in which one competitor gets his opponent across his back and throws him over his head, esp in cross buttock, also as vb button (I), n [1 bútn, 2 bátán] Fr bouton, Ital botone, 'bud' Said by Meyer Lübke to be fr Ir bótn, 'point, end' See butt (II) 1 A small knob or portion of flattened, rounded metal, bone, horn &c, attached to clothes, which passes through slit or loop in corresponding place on opposite side of garment and keeps this closed, b similar small object worn merely as a badge of honour or distinction, or for ornament 2 (fig) Anything worthless not worth a button, not to care a button 3 Various applications, denoting small, round, knob-shaped objects a small unopened mushroom, b piece of leather on an ear to prevent it slipping through rowlock, c round piece of leather at end of fencing foil, to prevent injury to opponent from thrusting, d knob which on being pressed forms contact and rings electric bell Phr press the button, in reference to electric machinery set in motion by forming contact and producing current, to start important series of events by simple means, e small, hardly formed fruit such as apples &c 4 Buttons, (colloq) a page boy, from usual livery with several rows of metal buttons down front of coat button (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec a trans To fasten together, close, by means of buttons to button one's coat &c, also button up, Phrs (fig) to button up one's mouth, preserve silence, button up one's purse, refuse to give money, b intrans, (of garments &c) to be capable of being closed, made so as to close, with buttons this dress buttons down the back, my collar won't button buttonhole (I), n [1 bútnhól, 2 bátáhnól] 1 Hole, slit, in a garment into which a button slips and fastens 2 Flower, or small bunch of flowers, worn in a buttonhole buttonhole (II), vb trans, for earlier button hold, by confusion w prec word To hold (a person) by the button of his coat, so that he cannot get away, and must listen to what you say, to detain, hold (person) in conversation against his will button-hook, n Small metal or bone hooked implement used for fastening the buttons of boots &c butress (I), n [1 bútres, 2 bátas] O Fr bouter, fr bouter, 'thrust' Cp butt (IV) 1 Construction of stone or brick built against outside of a wall to give additional strength by receiving part of the thrust, a prop

2 (fig) Support, prop (of non material things) the buttress of a throne, constitution, argument

butress (II), vb trans, fr prec a To support, strengthen a building by buttresses, b (fig) to lend strength, support to non material things Also butress up, esp an argument, case, support rather weak case by slightly irrelevant considerations butty, n [1 búti, 2 bátá] Etymol uncertain 1 a Foreman of gang of workmen b man who contracts for certain work in a coal mine and pays workmen for this

2 (colloq) Mate, comrade, friend, esp on board ship butyrateous, adj [1 bútáráshns, 2 býtáráshs] fr Lat bütirum, Gk boutírion See butter & -aceous Like, resembling butter, of the consistency of butter butyrate, n [1 bútárit, 2 býtárit] See prec & -ate (chem) A salt of butyric acid butyric, adj [1 bútárik, 2 býtárik] See prec & -ic (chem) Of, pertaining to, related to, butter, specif, butyric acid, acid found in rancid butter, rotten cheese, juice of animal flesh &c buxom, adj [1 búksam, 2 bátásem] ME buksum, 'pliable, obedient', formed fr O E base büg &c, as in bügen, 'to bend' See bow (III), & -some, op Mod Germ büegsam, 'flexible' Earlier sense of 'flexible, pliant', now entirely lost, at present, word means good looking, comely, in a plump, full-blooded way, sensu (used only in reference to women) buxomness, n Prec & -ness Quality of being buxom, comeliness buy, vb trans [1 bí, 2 bái] OE byegan, OS buggan, Goth bugan, 'buy' The base has not been identified outside Gmc, & the origin is unknown ME has the forms biggen &c, lineally derived fr OE infan, also bígan, ofígan &c, whence present day type This is a new formation in ME

fr. the 2nd & 3rd pers pres indic, OE byð(e)r, byð(e)p 1 To obtain in exchange for payment, generally of money, or in exchange for services to buy a horse for a hundred pounds, money cannot buy happiness, the best that money can buy Phr to buy a pig in a poke, commit oneself to something without thoroughly knowing all the conditions, be deceived over a bargain 2 To obtain at expense of a great sacrifice to buy fame with one's life, with bitter experience &c, victory, peace, was dearly bought 3 To gain a person's services, support, by bribery the electors were said to have been bought Phrs with props buy in (esp at auction sales), to withdraw anything from sale by mentioning higher price than any yet bid, buy off, get rid of a claim, or claimant, esp unjust claim &c, by payment, buy out, to pay a person to give up his interest in property or office, buy up, to buy largest obtainable amount of anything buyable, adj [1 blabl, 2 baibl] Prec & -able Purchasable, capable of being bought buyer, n [1 bier, 2 baie] buy & -er One who buys, purchaser buzz (I), vb intrans [1 bnz, 2 baz] Of imitative origin 1 To make a humming noise such as is made by certain insects, bees &c, or by machinery in rapid motion 2 (colloq) Transferred sense, a to move rapidly, esp buzz along, buzz about, move busily and actively from place to place, b (trans use) to hurl, chuck, throw to buzz a stone 3 In some companies, to take what wine is left in the bottle or decanter when it reaches one, although it does not make a full glass, the person who does this starts the fresh bottle buzz (II), n See prec Sound made by bees &c, by whirling machinery, by conversation of a number of persons together buzzard, n [1 buzzard, 2 bazid] O Fr busart, Lat buteo, 'falcon', perh related to Fr bulo, q v under bittara Name of various kinds of kites or hawks, genus Buteo buzzer, n [1 bûzer, 2 bazz] buzz (I) & -or (colloq) a A steam whistle, hooter, siren, used for summoning people to work, as in factory &c, b (elect) an electro-magnetic device in which a vibrating armature produces a buzzing sound, used in wireless to generate weak oscillatory waves for tuning radio receivers by, prep & adv [1 bi, 2 bai] OE & OS bi, bc, OHG bi, bc, Mod Germ bei, Goth bi, 'at, near' Cp OE ymb, 'around', fr um-bi*, OHG umbi, Gk am-phi, 'around about, on, near', Scrt a-bhi, 'at, around', & Lat am-bi, 'around', cp ambi- A prep 1 Expressing relation in space, a near, close to, in neighbourhood of, at hand to sit by the fire, the house stands by the river bank, to have something by one, within reach, handy, b expressing general direction and position east by north Phr to stand by a man, give him support, backing 2 Expressing direction of movement, path followed &c, a through, across, over I came by the road, by the fields, by Oxford Street &c, some felt by the wayside, b avoidance, past, beyond he walked by me without speaking, we drove by several fine parks 3 Expressing relations in time, a at, in, during a specific time to travel by day, the enemy attacked by night, b for a certain time, for the duration of certain period to hire a horse by the day, to engage a clerk by the month &c, c not later than a certain time, before expiry of stated interval he will certainly come by three o'clock, he will be dead by the end of the year, I was very tired by the evening, he ought to be here by now 4 Expressing agency or means, an agency, through instrumentality, work, efforts of (of persons) St Paul's was built by Wren, Winchester College was founded by William of Wykeham, 'Rob Roy' was written by Sir Walter Scott, b means, instrument an arch supported by massive pillars, a weight lifted by a powerful lever, an engine driven by electricity, water power &c, to perish by the sword, by this means, by means of Phrs by all means, certainly (in acquiescence), by no means, not at all, certainly not (refusal, disagreement) 5 Expressing mode, manner, method, of an action or process he found his way by the light of the moon, to dine by lamp light, the work was accomplished only by untiring effort, by the help of God we will conquer our enemies, to hang on by one's hands, (fig) to hang by a thread, be in a dangerous or critical condition, darkness came on by degrees, by birth an Englishman 6 (in solemn affirmations, vows, imprecations, invocations) With sanction of, through help or authority of he swore by all the saints, I swear by Almighty God that I will speak the truth 7 Expressing various relations and conditions, a in accordance with, in agreement with, subject to by request of friends, by your kind permission, by your leave, by the conditions of our bond we are bound to do so and so, b according to a measurement, number, or quantity 'The wine of life keeps oozing drop by drop, The leaves of life keep falling one by one' (Omur Khayyâm), apples are sold by the bushel, milk by the gallon, to eat oysters by the dozen, c in ceiling naming, after called by the name of his grandfather, addressed by the title Sir, My Lord &c, d as, in the nature of by way of B adv 1 a Expressing position in repose, near, at hand many were standing by at the time, when no one is by, b expressing close neighbourhood in moving past 'Pride in their port, defiance in their eye, I see the lords of human kind pass by' (Goldsmith), (often implying avoidance, missing) to go by on the other side, wealth and fame have passed me by Phr to stand by (naut), be in neighbourhood, in readiness 2 (with sense of motion) At one side, aside, esp to put by, lay by Phr laid by, incapacitated by illness 3 adv Phrs By and by, before long, later on, also as in the sweet by-and-by, the future, by the by(e), by the way, in passing by the by(e), I forgot to tell you the news by-, bye-, pref Ae pref has sense of secondary, minor, of less importance, subsidiary, also secret, indirect By- is usually hyphenated, bye written as separate word By is in some cases prefixed without hyphen by-blow, n Illegitimate child bye, n [1 bi, 2 bai] a Something subordinate, incidental, or subsidiary, esp in Phr by the bye (see by, adv, 3), b (in cricket) run scored for ball that passes batsman and wicket keeper, c in games where competitors are drawn in pairs, the one left over, who waits to compete till next round, the odd man, pair, or team bye-bye (I), n [1 bifi, 2 baibai] Childish word for sleep go to bye bye.

bye-bye (II), interj [1. bifi; 2. bafidi], (colloq) Good bye by-election, n Election to Parliament held by itself, and not during a General Election, in cases where a seat is vacant through death, resignation &c bygone, adj & n [1 bigon, 2 baigon] a adj Over and past, belonging to the past bygone sorrows, joys &c, b n, something past and done with, an event, esp a sorrow, injury, of the past let us forget bygones, let bygones be bygones, forgive and forget by-law, n Pref here is O Dan byr, borrowed in OE as by, bi, 'town', cp Derby &c The word is fr base of bîa, 'dwell' &c Cp bound (V), be &c Special law or regulation made by a town council, local authority, or other corporation by-pass, n A side passage in pipe &c used to control and divert circulation of gas, or &c, b by-road, specul, a new road connecting two points of old road to avoid a town &c by-path, n [1 bipaith, 2 baipâp] Indirect, retired path byplay, n [1 bîplâ, 2 baiplei] Play, action, or gesture, taking place apart and aside from a main conversation or argument, esp on the stage byplot, n [1 biplot, 2 baiplot] Secondary, subordinate plot within the main course of development of a story or drama by-product, n Something produced in the process of manufacture of another article, as coke and tar in making gas byre, n [1 bir, 2 baie] OE býre, etymol doubtful, possibly cogn w šâr See bower (I) (in province usage) Cow shed byroad, n [1 bîrôd, 2 baîrôud] Side road, one apart from highroad

Byronic, adj [1 bîronik, 2 baîrônîk], fr Lord Byron Applied to a genre of poetry, and to a general attitude of mind, resembling the poetry and temper of Byron, cynical, misanthropic and yet romantic

Byronism, n [1 bîronîzm, 2 baîronîzîzm] Attitude of mind, habit of thought, resembling that cultivated by Byron and exhibited in his poetry See prec byssus, n [1 bîsîs, 2 bîsîs] Lat byssus, fr Gk bussos, 'fine linen', a Semitic loan word, Heb bîs, 'cloth' Fine fabric of flax, cotton, or silk made by the ancients, such as that used for wrapping Egyptian mummies bystander, n [1 bîstânder, 2 boîstânds] One standing near, but not taking part in an event or action bystreet, n [1 bîstrîst, 2 baîstrîst] Street leading out of a main thoroughfare, back street, (in derogatory sense) small, unimportant, poor street byway, n [1 bîwâ, 2 baîwô] Secondary, side road, side track, (fig) byway of learning, literature &c, line of study, research &c which is off the beaten track, and of secondary importance, though often contributory and accessory to the main theme byword, n [1 bîwôrd, 2 baîwôrd] Originally, a proverb (obs) Now in bad sense, object of contempt, reproach, and censure

Byzantine, adj [1 bîzântîn, bîzântîn, 2 baîzântîn, bîzântîn] Cp bezan Per taining to Byzantium (Constantinople), esp of architecture, Byzantine Church, the Greek Church, whose headquarters were at Byzantium

C, c [1 æ, 2 ef], the third letter of English and other languages, as symbol, C=Lat centum, 100 For use in abbreviations see end of Dictionary In algebra, the third known quantity, in music, first note of the scale of C major or minor, C-spring, see cee-spring

caaba See knaba cab (I), n [1 kab, 2 keb] Abbr of cabriolet 1 Vehicle, usually plying for hire, with two or four wheels, as hansom cab taxi cab &c Phr to take a cab, hire, or travel in a cab 2 Driver's shelter on a locomotive engine cab (II), vb intrans, fr prec (colloq) To go somewhere by cab, also to cab &c cabal (I) n [1 kabâl, 2 kabâl] Fr cabale, fr Lat cabala, fr Heb qabbâlâh, 'mysterious doctrine received', cp Heb qâbal, 'take, receive' By an accident the English

C

Cabinet of 1671 consisted of five men whose initials spelt the word—Clifford, Arlington, Buckingham, Ashley, Lauderdale, hence they were called the Cabal. The word was, however, used in English, in sense of 'secret', and as a v.h., 'to conspire', some time before a Secret intrigue, political manoeuvre, b also group of persons who carry on such an intrigue cabal (II), v.h. intrans, fr. prec. To conspire, intrigue, esp. cabal against cab(h)ala, n. [1 kábáls, 2 kábáls] See cabal (I) Traditional mystic interpretation of the Scriptures preserved among Jewish Rabbis cab(h)alistic, adj. [1 kábálistik, 2 kábálistik] Prec. & -ist & -ic Pertaining to the cabala, cryptic, mysterious, magic, esp. of written symbols and inscriptions cabaret, n. [1 kábaret, 2 kábaret] Fr word, the origin & formation of wh. are doubtful. There are words in various Romance languages, related to Lat. cavus, 'hollow', op. Fr cave in special sense of 'cellar', w. wh. cabaret may be connected. 1 Small inn or wine-shop. 2 A small drinking-place or night-restaurant in which singing and dancing performances are given, b the entertainment itself cabbage, n. [1 kábly, 2 káblydž] Earlier Engl. forms, cabocha, caboga, the former of wh. is a Fr form wh. still survives, meaning 'big head', op. also Ital. capoccia in same sense. The word is fr. Low Lat. capum, 'head', op. Lat. caput, q.v. under capital (I). The suffix -che, -ocia is pejorative. Plant of the order Brassicaceae, used as a vegetable, the leaves of which are tightly folded so as to form a large hard 'head' cabbage butterfly, n. Common butterfly of pale greenish-yellow colour, the caterpillar of which feeds on leaves of cabbage. Also called cabbage white cabbage rose, n. Large coarse pink rose cabby, n. [1 kábi, 2 káb] (colloq.) Partly jocose term for cabman. Nearly obsolete now with disappearance of horse-cabs cabey, n. [1 káber, 2 káber] Gael. cabar, 'pole, beam'. Rough pole, usually a young fir tree, used in Highland games for tossing as a trial of strength and skill. Phr. to toss the caber cabun (I), n. [1 kabun, 2 kábin] M.E. cabun(e), 'small house', fr. Fr., derived fr. Ital. capanna, o (in Low Lat.), 'hut, shelter'. The origin is very doubtful. Fr. cabine, Ital. cabina, are borrowed fr. Engl. word. 1 Small house, hut, humble abode. 2 Apartment on a ship, esp. for sleeping. 3 Building on a railway line from which signals and points are worked.

cabun (II), v.h. trans, fr. prec. To confine, esp. within narrow limits, to enclose. 'cabun d. crybb d. confin d.' (Shakespeare, 'Macb.', III. iv. 24), 'Her cabined, ample spirit, It fluttered and failed for breath' (M. Arnold 'Requiescat') cabun boy, n. Junior servant on a ship cabinet, n. [1 kábinet, 2 kábinet] Dimin. of cabun. Op. Fr. cabinet, Ital. gabinetto

1 Small private room or office. 2 Piece of furniture, often of fine design, inlaid and decorated, of various kinds, a case, set of drawers esp. for preserving, and sometimes for exhibiting precious objects, specimens, and curiosities, b case with glass doors and shelves for showing china, jewels &c. 3 (extended use) The collection of valuables contained in a cabinet. 4 (esp.) Body of ministers, heads of the various departments of state, who initiate policy, and are responsible for the government of a country. 5 A particular size of photograph, about 7 in by 5 in., hence cabinet photograph, cabinet size

Cabinet Council, n. Meeting of ministers of state to deal with state business.

cabinet-maker, n. 1 Highly skilled worker in wood, who designs and makes cabinets and other pieces of furniture requiring fine work. 2 (in colloq.) Prime Minister cabinet-making, n. Trade, art, process, of making highly finished furniture of the cabinet type Cabinet minister, n. A member of the Cabinet cabinet pudding, n. One consisting of bread, candied peel, and raisins, covered with hot sauce or syrup cabinet-work, n. The work of a cabinet-maker, including the finer woodwork, paneling &c. in interior of a house cable (I), n. [1 kábl, 2 kábl] M.E. kábel, cábel, fr. O Fr. cable, Low Lat. capulum, 'halter', fr. capio, 'take, hold', q.v. under captivity. Mod. Fr. cable may have different origin. 1 Thick, strong rope, or line, of hemp, fibre, or wire. 2 Bundle of wires twisted round hard core, insulated, and protected by waterproof cover, laid on sea bottom, for conveying electric current. 3 Message transmitted by means of a cable (2), also cablegram to send a cable. 4 (architect and goldsmith's work) Twisted ornament resembling a cable cable (II), v.h. trans & intrans, fr. prec. 1 To send (message) to countries across the sea by means of an electric submarine cable. 2 (architect &c.) To furnish with cable ornament cablegram, n. [1 káblgram, 2 káblgram] See cable & -gram. Message sent by electric cable cablet, n. [1 káblit, 2 káblit] cable & -et. Rope less than 10 in. in circumference cabman, n. [1 kábmán, 2 kábmán] Driver of a cab, esp. of a horse cab cabob(s), n. [1 kábe(z), 2 kábe(z)] Ar. labāb. Anglo-Indian word, used for roast meat generally, esp. a dish made of highly spiced beef or mutton.

cabochon, n. [1 kaboshon, 2 kabosh] Fr., fr. caboché, 'head', cabocher, 'to cut off'. See under cabbage. A gem stone, such as a ruby, cut with a round unflattened top, then said to be cut en cabochon caboodle, n. [1 káboodl, 2 káboodl] USA. slang, origin unknown (slang) In Phr. the whole caboodle, everything, everyone, the whole lot caboose, n. [1 kábúse, 2 kábús] fr. Du. kabuya, also kombus, earlier kaban hus, 'cabin house'. Borrowed in Fr. in form cabuse (w. same meaning), wh. form sometimes appears as caboose in Engl. Room on ship's deck in which cooking is carried out caboshed, adj. [1 kaboshit, 2 kaboshit] fr. Fr. caboché, 'head', q.v. under cabbage (her). Describes animal's head borne full face (affronts) without showing any part of neck.

cabotage, n. [1 kabotáž, 2 kabotáž] Fr. word whose origin is uncertain. Cabot is the name of a fish, caboter is to sail along coast touching at the ports, and never going far, possibly the fish sticks close to the shore. Coasting trade carried on by ships which go from port to port cabriolet, n. & adj. [1 kábríol, 2 kábríoul] See etymol. of cabriolet, reason for name not clear (of furniture) Kind of curved leg characteristic of Queen Anne period, generally having carved shell at the top, and a foot in form of a claw clasping a ball cabriolet, n. [1 kábríolá, 2 kábríoulá] Fr. word for a one horse vehicle now obs., dimin. of cabriole, 'leap of a goat, caper', fr. idea of using the carriage for a jaunt or party of pleasure. The word is derived fr. Lat. capere, 'he goest'. See capor. Light one horse carriage with two wheels and a hood, word and thing no longer current but survives in shortened form cab ca' canny, Scots, = call canny. See canny cacao, n. [1 kaká, 2 kaká] Span., fr. native Mexican kakawil. Mexican plant from seeds of which cocoa and chocolate are made cachalot, n. [1 káshlot, 2 káshlot] Fr. word, etymol. uncertain, said to be fr. Southern Fr., Gascon dial. word cachau, 'tooth'. Species of whale with teeth in lower jaw, the sperm whale cache, n. [1 kash, 2 kash] Fr. word meaning 'hidden place', op. Fr. cache, 'to hide', fr. Low Lat. coaculare, freq. fr. co aculare 'collect'. See co- & act. Secret storeroom or hiding-place, esp. a of stores left by explorers at different stages along their route, for return journey, or for another party, also b of collection of illicitly hidden arms, c of store of grain or honey collected by certain animals for winter use cacheotic, adj. [1 kákétkik, 2 kákétkik] fr. Gk. kákheilikós, fr. kákos, 'bad', q.v. under cachexy. Belonging to, suffering from, cachexy cachet, n. [1 kásh, 2 kásh] Fr. word meaning 'seal, stamp'. Connected w. cache. Originally a private mark or seal. Distinguishing mark of excellence or authenticity. rich vulgarians often send their sons to Elton simply to give them a cachet. For lettre de cachet, see lettre de cachet cachexy, n. [1 kákéka, 2 kákéka] Gk. kákheia, fr. kakós, 'bad', q.v. under caco-, & hexis, 'permanent state, or habit of body', formed fr. base of ekhe, 'hold, possess'. Thus Gk. vb. is for earlier egheō*, & is cogn. w. Sort. achahē, 'to master', achahē, 'triumphant strength', Goth. sigis, O.E. siges, 'victory'. See epnoth (med.) Bad general state of bodily health.

cachinnate, v.h. intrans [1 káknát, 2 káknát] fr. Lat. cachinnāre (um), P.P. type of cachinnare, 'laugh aloud, burst out laughing', imitative word, but ep. also Gk. kakhaizein w. same meaning. To laugh loudly and roughly cachinnation, n. [1 káknáshun, 2 káknáshun] Lat. cachinnātiō (em). See prec & -ion. Loud, rough laughter cacholong, n. [1 kásholeng, 2 kásholeng] Through Fr. fr. a Calmuck word meaning 'beautiful stone'. Opaque variety of opal, bluish or yellowish in colour cachon, n. [1 káshō, 2 kásh] Fr. See oashew. Pill or lozenge, usually silvered, composed of oashew nut and other condiments, used for removing odour of smoke from the breath cackhucha, n. [1 kachuchucha, 2 kachuchucha] Span. Spanish dance resembling the bolero cackue, n. [1 kaské, 2 kaské] Span., fr. native W. Indian word. West Indian chief cackle (I), v.h. intrans [1 kákl, 2 kákl] M.E. kakelen, perh. Scand. loan word, op. Swed. kackla. Of imitative origin. 1 To utter the typical cry of a hen or a goose. 2 (of human beings) To chatter noisily, esp. in a shrill nasal voice, also to laugh in a shrill, noisy manner cackle (II), n. See prec. 1 The noise made by a hen or a goose. 2 Loud, shrill chatter or laughter cackler, n. [1 káklér, 2 káklér] cackle (I) & -er. A bird that cackles, b person who talks noisily and excessively cackling, n. [1 kákleng, 2 kákleng] cackle (I) & -ing. A the sound made when a bird or person cackles, b the act of emitting a cackle, c same as cackle (II), 2 caco-, pref., fr. Gk. kakós, 'bad, evil'. The etymol. of the common Gk. word is uncertain. Of the various suggested explanations given by Boissacq none appears worthy of credence. It occurs in many compounds in Gk., equiv. to our ill, mis, or mal, e.g. kakós po mos, 'ill fated', kakós sunthetos, 'ill put-together', kakós nomia, 'misgovernment' &c. The word can serve as a pref. in newly formed words composed of Gk. elements cacodyl, n. [1 kákolodl, 2 kákolodl] Gk., fr. kakós, 'bad', see caco-, & od-, cp. dox, 'have a smell', see under odour, & hélē, 'material, substance', q.v. under -yl. Lat. 'ill smelling stuff'. A poisonous, malodorous compound of arsenic and methyl cacoept, n. [1 kákolépti, 2 kákolépti] Gk., fr. caco- & epso, fr. epos, 'word, speech', q.v. under opio. Bad pronunciation, the reverse of orincept cacoethes, n [1 kákōstház, 2 kækoufptz], fr Gk kako éthēs, 'an ill habit'. See caoo- & ethio Bad habit of body or mind, tendency to ill-health, esp in Latin Phr cacoethes scribendi, bad habit of writing (too much) caecography, n [1 kakógrafi, 2 kækógrafi] See caoo- & -graphy Bad handwriting, bad spelling, the reverse of calligraphy caecology, n [1 kakóloj, 2 kækóledži] Gk See caoo- & -logy a improper selection of words, b bad pronunciation caconymic, adj [1 kakónimik, 2 kækónimik] Gk, fr cacoo- & ónyma, 'name', q v under name & nominal, & -o Having an objectionable, ill sounding name cacoon, n [1 kakóon, 2 kakún], fr native name Tropical bean of West Indies and Central America with very large pods cacophonous, adj [1 kakófonus, 2 kækófonus] Gk, fr cacoo- & phónē, 'sound, tone', q v under phone, & -ous Harsh, ill sounding cacophony, n [1 kakófuni, 2 kækófuni], fr Fr cacophonie See elements of prec & -y Discord, ugly sound caotaceous, adj [1 kaktášus, 2 kæktaşes] See cactus & -aceous Relating to the botanical order Cactaceae, to which the cactus belongs cactiform, adj [1 kaktáform, 2 kaktáform] cactus & -form Resembling a cactus in appearance and structure caotus, n [1 kaktús, 2 kæktaş], pl cactuses, learned pl cacti [1 kakti, 2 kæktaş] Gk kaktos, origin unknown, perh pre-Hellenic Family of plants of which there are numerous varieties, all having thick, fleshy leaves studded with prickles caucininal, adj & n [1 kakkúninal, 2 kækjúninal], fr Lat caucūmen, 'tip, peak, summit', & Lat suff -ilis, q v under -al Caucūmen is fr caud-, or cacub- men, op Scrt kakid- & kakibh-, 'peak, point', Scrt kakid- means 'mouth cavity, roof of the month'. The orig meaning is perh 'vault', 'something arched', then 'highest point of arch' (phon) Applied by some writers to sounds articulated with the point, or tip, of the tongue turned backwards and upwards, also to sounds made with the point of tongue articulating far back against the hard palate, as the Swed d preceded by r, as in jord, 'earth' cad, n [1 kad, 2 kəd] Abbr of Fr cadet, 'a junior'. See cadet The word was originally applied to a junior or inferior servant, esp at a public school or a college, then applied generally to boys of the town as distinct from members of the school or college, whence it developed a bad sense. In present-day usage the word means a an ill-bred, vulgar, bad mannered person, b in a moral sense, a person who lacks proper feelings and instincts, such esp as fair-mindedness, generosity, and consideration for others, in fact one who is deficient in ohivalrous feelings and is the reverse of a gentleman in the best and widest sense (Rarely applied to a female) cadastral, adj [1 kadástrál, 2 kədəstrál] Formed w adj suff -al, fr Fr cadastre, 'a detailed public survey of territorial property'. This is derived fr Lat capitastrum, register of capita, 'heads' or units in a territorial survey, see ospital Belonging to, exhibiting, ownership, extent and value of land for purposes of taxation, esp cadastral survey, map cadaveric, adj [1 kadáverik, 2 kədəverik] Lat cadáver, 'corpse', & -ic Cadáver is prob fr base of cadere, 'to fall', q v under cadence (mcd) Possessing characteristics of a corpse cadaverous, adj [1 kadáverus, 2 kədəveres] Lat cadáver óvus, 'corpse like'. Op prec & -ous Looking like a corpse, hence pale, pinched, melancholy of countenance caddie See caddy (I) caddis fly, n [1 kádus flí, 2 kədəs flí] Etymol of first word unknown May-fly and other insects whose larvae live in water, caddis worm, the larva of above, used as bait for fishing caddish, adj [1 kadish, 2 kədəs] See cad & -ish Like, after the manner of, a cad, ill-bred, vulgar, rude, ungentlemanlike, used of persons, their manners, speech, and habits caddishly, adv Prec & -ly In a caddish manner caddy (I), n [1 kádi, 2 kədə], fr Fr cadet See cadet Servant in attendance on golfer, who carries his clubs, looks for lost balls, and so forth caddy (II), n, fr Malay lati, measure of weight Usually tea-caddy, a small box, of wood, silver &c, used for holding tea cadence, n [1 kádens, 2 kódens] Fr, op Ital cadenza Formed fr Lat cadent- (em), Prec Part type of cadere, 'to fall'. See suff -ence Etymol of cadere not clear, but op Scrt cadati, 'he falls down'. a Rhythm, metre, in poetry, b rise and fall of the voice in speaking, c used by Milton of the sound of wind 'the sound of blustering winds which . . . now with hoarse cadence hll seafaring men' (P L II 285 B), d technical term in music for a concluding strain cadenced, adj [1 kádenst, 2 kédanst] Prec & -ed Rhythmical, in metre cadency, n [1 kádns, 2 kédns] See cadence & -y (her) 1 Descent of younger branch of a family from main line 2 Figure on the shield, called also marks of cadency, which indicates position of a cadet in relation to head of the family cadenza, n [1 kádéntsa, 2 kədəntsa] Ital See under cadence (mus) Ornamental flourish of voice or instrument, introduced usually towards close of a movement cadet, n [1 kadét, 2 kədət] Fr, earlier capdet formed fr Lat capit (is), caput, 'head, chief', w dimin suff -et The word means lit 'little head, or chief', see capital 1 Younger son, one junior in position in a family cadet branch, descended from younger son 2 Student at naval or military college (usually Gentleman Cadet) who is being trained to become an officer During the War private soldiers especially selected as likely to make good officers, and trained in special courses of instruction, were called cadets while in course of training Member of a Cadet Corps 3 (fr initials K D) Member of the former Russian Constitutional Democratic Party

Cadet Corps, n An organization at many public and secondary schools for training the elder boys on military lines to qualify as members of an Officers' Training Corps, q v cadge, vb intrans & trans [1 kaj, 2 kədž] Etymol donhtful, possibly corrupt of catch. To beg, to sponge on others for money, hospitality &c cadger, n [1 kayer, 2 kədəže] See prec & -er A beggar, worthless fellow, idle loafer, esp one who lives on others cadí, n [1 kádi, 2 kədə] Arab qādí Minor judge or magistrate, usually of a small town or village, among Arabs and Turks cadmium, n [1 kádmum, 2 kədməm], fr Lat cadmia, fr Gk kadmeia gē, 'Cadmean earth, calamine'. The place name Kadmos may be of Semitic origin, cogn w Heb gedem, 'east'. White ductile metallic element resembling tin, and related to zinc, cadmium yellow, intense yellow pigment of which cadmium is an ingredient cadre, n [1 kahdr, 2 kədə] Fr word meaning 'frame, framework', fr Ital quadro, Lat quadrum, 'square', q v under quadrum (mil) Skeleton or permanent nucleus of a military unit, or of a staff caduceus, n [1 káduseus, 2 kədəjúsas] Lat, 'herald's staff', ad fr Gk (Domo) karukion, fr lárux, 'herald'. The corre spelling Attic forms are kárlion, lérux. These are all related to the Homeric vb karkaró, 'resound', & oogn w Scrt čarkari, 'mention with praise', čarkriš, 'praise, glory'. Gmc cognates occur in O.E hrōp or, 'joy, benefit', & hrōp, 'glory, victory', fr hrōp*, O H G hrud, 'glory', (op personal name, Rādolf), Goth hrōp eigs, 'glorious'. Lat car men, 'song', op charum (II), is prob cogn, & undoubtedly O Slav krasa, 'beauty', krasná, 'beautiful', & a large number of words in all the Slav languages meaning 'beauty', 'bright coloured, brilliant' &c. Russ krasny means 'beautiful, glorious' & also 'red'. Orig the Gk word for 'herald' meant 'one who proclaimed abroad fame and glory'. In classical antiquity a caduceus was the wand of a herald, made of olive wood, with two serpents twined round it, it was a symbol of peace, and was the wand of Hermes (Mercury) as the messenger of the gods caducity, n [1 kádúti, 2 kədəjútí], fr Fr caducité, fr Lat caducitāt (em), 'perishableness, frailness', fr adj cadūcus, 'inclined to fall, fleeting, perishable', derived fr cadere, 'to fall', q v under cadence Perishable ness, transitoriness caducous, adj [1 kádúkus, 2 kədəjúkus], fr Lat cadūcus See prec Prone to fall (bot, of parts of plants) Falling very early caecal, adj [1 eēkal, 2 eēkal] See caecum & -al Belonging to the 'blind gut' or caecum caecum, n [1 eēkum, 2 eēkəm] Lat neot adj, 'the blind thing', cogn w this word are Goth hæbe, 'blind, one eyed', O Ir caech, Scrt lākara, 'squinting' (anat) The blind gut, a closed part at the beginning of the large intestine, containing the so called 'vermiform appendix'

Caesar, n [1 eēzar, 2 eēza] Lat, the cognomen or family name of Caius Julius Caesar, derived fr caes (um), (fr land tom*), P P type of caedere, 'to cut, strike, hew' &c See cement 1 a Title adopted by Augustus and succeeding Roman emperors, b an emperor, op Russ czar, Germ kaiser 2 (by transf) a An autocrat, b the civil power, from render unto Caesar &c (Matt xxii 21)

Caesarian, adj [1 eēzarian, 2 eēzarian], fr Lat Caesariūnus, 'pertaining to Caesar'. See prec & -an (surg) Caesarian operation, one for delivering a child by cutting the mother, so called from Julius Caesar, who was born through such an operation

Caesarism, n [1 eēzarizm, 2 eēzarizm] Caesar & -ism System of autocratic rule caesious, adj [1 eēzius, 2 eēzius] Lat caesius, 'bluish grey', esp of the eyes (very rare), prob connected w caelum, 'heaven', q v under ceiling, op cerulean (bot) Bluish grey.

caesium, n [1 eēziūm, 2 eēziūm] See prec A rare alkaline metal, resembling potassium and rubidium, of silvery colour, the spectrum has two blue lines, whence its name caesura, n [1 eēzūra, 2 eēzura] Lat, formed fr caes as in P P of caedo, 'cut' &c Op Caesar & see cement (pros) Break or pause in verse or line café, n [1 káfá, 2 káfes] Fr form of coffee Originally, place of public entertainment where coffee and other non alcoholic drinks might be had, a coffee-house. In England the word is now chiefly applied to a restaurant where non alcoholic drinks only are sold, and where light meals are obtainable. On the Continent café is used of restaurants generally cafeteria, n [1 káfetéria, 2 káfetéria] Span for café A restaurant in which the customers help themselves to light dishes &c, without waiters caffiene, n [1 káf(e)ēn, 2 káf(e)in] See coffee & -ine Alkaloid obtained from coffee plant, tea &c, used as a drug in medicine caffian, n [1 káfian, 2 káfian], fr Turk & Pers qāffian, through Fr caféian Long gown with girdle and long sleeves worn in the Levant cage (I), n [1 káj, 2 kədəž] Fr cage, op Ital gabbia, 'basket for fowls, coop', & gaggia, 'basket', wh are all derived fr Lat cavea, 'hollowed place', also 'stall, cage, coop, bee hive'. See also cave, cavern.

 1 A structure for confining animals, usually with iron bars for large animals, and for small animals and birds a receptacle with top and sides entirely made of a kind of trellis of wire or wicker work, having a flat wooden or iron floor. 2 Anything resembling a cage in structure, e.g. the enclosed platform of a lift, esp. one used to take miners up and down the shaft of a mine. 3 (fig.) Prison. 'Stones walls do not a prison make, Nor iron bars a cage' (Lovelace).

cage (II), vh trans, fr prec To confine, shut up as in a cage.

caiman See cayman.

cainozoic See kainozoic.

caique, n [1 kah éh, 2 läh] Turk. word. Light sailing- or rowing-boat, used on the Bosphorus.

caird, n [1 kärd, 2 kead] Gael, Ir ceard (Scotts) A wandering tinker.

cairn, n [1 käin, 2 keän] Gael earn, genit earn, 'heap'. Pile of rough stones specially built as a landmark or monument, also a cairn-terrier.

cairn-gorm, n [1 käingorm, 2 kängöm, -göm], fr cairn, & Gael gorn, 'hine'. A clear yellow or brownish crystal much used for brooches and other ornaments by the Scots. Named after the mountain in Inverness shire where it is chiefly found.

cairn-terrier, n. A small shaggy-coated variety of Scotch terrier, so named from ability to burrow in or round cairns.

caisson, n [1 käsun, 2 keisan] Fr word. Same meanings as in Engl., fr caisse, 'wooden box', op Ital cassa. These are derived fr Lat capsa, 'chest, box, receptacle', wh. is formed fr base seen in capio, 'take, seize', also 'receive, hold, contain'. See this word under captive & -oon. 1 (mil.) Movable covered chest on wheels, often attached to light guns for containing ammunition. 2 (engin.) A large water-tight chamber, sunk below surface of a river &c, from which the water is excluded by pumping air into it, and in which men work under water, b. large iron receptacle sunk into bed of a river and filled with cement in which the piers of a bridge are embedded. Caisson disease, disease of workers in compressed air, as in caissons, diving-bells &c. caitiff, n [1 käif, 2 kéitiff], fr O Fr caitif, fr Lat captivus, 'prisoner', see captive (arabac and poet.) Mean, base person, contemptible, cowardly knave.

cajole, vh trans [1 kajöl, 2 kadžoul] Fr cajoler, 'flatter with ulterior motive'. Etymol. very obscure. Meyer-Luhke arrives at no definite result. 1 To flatter, caress, praise, make oneself pleasant to a person with a view to persuading him to do what we want. Generally in bad sense, implying trickery. 2 Hence, to deceive, throw dust in a person's eyes by soft and flattering speeches.

cajolemant, n [1 kajölment, 2 kadžoulment] See prec & -ment. Act or process of cajoling, implying that the object of this is accomplished, deception.

cajolery, n [1 kajölern, 2 kadžölern] Fr cajolerie & -ery. Act of cajoling, the attempt to flatter one into doing something, considered rather as a process which is going on.

cajoling, adj [1 kajölöng, 2 kadžölöng], fr Pres Part of cajole. Flattering, caressing with intent to persuade or deceive. cajoling ways, smile &c. cajolingly, adv Prec & -ly. In a cajoling manner.

cake (I), n [1 käh, 2 keih], in M.E. prob. Scand. loan word, cp Swed kaka, cp also Germ Kuchen Du loel. This may be cogn. w base kōl*, 'cook', in wh case it wd be a Gmc formation after the pattern of other words wh. have a ö gradation (cp O.N taka, 'take', Prot. töl, 'took'), since cook is a very early loan word fr Lat coquere. See cook. 1 Kind of confectionery consisting of flour, butter, and eggs, sweetened and baked in a tin mould, often enriched with currants, raisins &c. plum cake. The word is applied both to the material itself (cake) and to a portion baked in a mould as a single unit (a cake). Phrs one cannot eat one's cake and have it too, to take the cake (fam.), win a prize, excel, (ironical) that takes the cake, beats every thing, cakes and ale, merry making. 2 (from shape or consistency) a thin wafer like material, unsweetened, made of oatmeal and water. oatcake, b. compressed food, consisting chiefly of linseed, given to cattle for fattening. oil cake. 3 Applied to certain non-edible materials which are shaped, moulded, or compressed, e.g. cake of soap, cake of tobacco. 4 Dried, hardened clay or mud, esp. on the clothes or on animals' coats.

cake (II), vh trans & intrans, fr prec To form hard or sticky mass, as mud, clay &c, dry hard, coagulate, as blood. cake with mud, filth &c. cakewalk, n [1 käkwäk, 2 käikwök] Grotesque step dance, the prize for which is a cake, practised by negroes in USA.

calabar bean, n [1 kalabar bän, 2 kälähbä hñ], fr Calabar, west coast of Africa. Poisonous bean of a leguminous W African plant, extract from which is used as a drug in tetanus, also by oculists for dilating the eye.

calabash, n [1 kälähbäh, 2 kälähbäh] Fr calabasse, fr Span calabaza, fr Arab gar, 'gourd', avaca, 'dry'. 1 Fruit or gourd of a tropical S American tree, the tree itself. 2 Any kind of gourd, esp. one dried, cleaned, and used as a bottle or drinking-vessel, also as a tobacco pipe.

calaboose, n [1 kälähbüs, 2 kälähbüs], fr Span calabozo, 'dungeon, cell'. A prison, giol esp. in Southern States of USA.

calamanco, n [1 kälämängkö, 2 käläm äyköu] Etymol. doubtful. A glossy woollen cloth.

calamander wood, n [1 kälämänder wöd, 2 kälämänder wöd] The name of the tree in Cingalese is kalamander, wh. it is suggested, may be ad fr Coromandel. Hard, finely veined wood, used in cabinet making, from tree of same name growing in Ceylon and parts of India.

calamary, n [1 kälamari, 2 kälamari] Lat calamarius, fr calamus, 'reed, pen', wh. is a loan word fr Gk kalamos, cogn w Sort kalamas, 'reed pen', another oogn is Lat culmus, 'stalk, stem'. See further under haulm & cp culm (I). Squid or cuttle fish with pen shaped inner shell.

calamine, n [1 kälaminä, 2 kälaminä] Fr, fr Med Lat calamina, fr Lat cadmia. See cadmium. A kind of zinc ore.

calamint, n [1 kälamint, 2 kälamint], fr Gk kalaminthē, connected w kalamas, see calamary (bot.) An aromatic herb, Olea myntha, of the mint family.

calamitous, adj [1 kälamitus, 2 kälamitus] Lat calamitosus. See calamity & -ous. Brought with, productive of, calamity, disastrous.

calamitously, adv Prec & -ly. In a calamitous manner.

calamitousness, n. See prec & -ness. State of calamity, misery.

calamity, n [1 kälamiti, 2 kälamiti] Fr calamité, fr Lat calamitas (em), (acc of calamitas). This word meant primarily 'misfortune in war, defeat', & orig. is said to have been applied to injury caused to crops by hail. The older form of word is cadamias, & it has nothing to do w Lat (in-)columus, 'uninjured', as the older dictionaries state, nor w Lat cadō, 'fall'. Genuine cognates are Gk kēidō, 'I destroy, afflict', & Sort. Ladanam, 'destruction'. A terrible, disastrous event, misfortune, misery.

calamus, n [1 kälamus, 2 kälamäs] Lat, 'reed'. See calamary 1 (bot.) A name of various reeds, as sweet flag &c, b. a genus of palms, the stems of which make rattan oanes. 2 A reed pen, as used by the ancients and in the East.

calash, n [1 käläh, 2 käläh] Fr calèche, borrowed also into Germ as kalesche. A Slav word orig., O Slav kolesa, 'wheel' &c, the word kolo &c is used in various Slav dialects, in pl. in sense of 'cart, waggon'. The Russ kolyaska, 'calash', is re-borrowed fr a Romance source. The Aryan base, whence the Slav words come, is kel-*, 'turn, move', whence also the various words for 'wheel', noted under cyole, pole (II), & wheel, a obsolete form of carriage with four wheels, seats for four inside, a box for coachman, and a movable hood, b. a silk hood worn by women in 18th cent.

calcareous, adj [1 kälkärius, 2 kälkärias] Lat calcarius, 'pertaining to lime', fr calx, 'stone, lime', cp chalk, *perh fr base skwel, in wh case Lat silix, *fr earlier silica, 'pebble, flint stone', q v under silica, is oogn. Pertaining to, containing, lime or limestone.

calceolaria, n [1 kälkäliaria, 2 kälkäliaria] Lat calceolaria, 'shoe maker', fr calceolus, 'little shoe', dimin of calceus, 'half boot', fr calc (is), calc, 'heel'. There are various oognates in the Slav languages referring to parts of the leg, e.g. O Slav käla, 'knee, ham', Bulg käla, 'thigh' &c (bot.) A genus of S American plants, the flower of which is supposed to resemble an ananias make of slipper.

calcareous, adj [1 kälkärius, 2 kälkärias] Lat calx, fr calx, 'lime', q v under calcareous, & -ferous. Lat 'lime-bearing', producing or containing carbonate of lime.

calcification, n [1 kälkäfikashun, 2 kälkäfikashun], fr Lat calcificatio (em). See prec & -fy & -ation. Petrification through impregnation with lime, (med.) hardening and stiffening of joint or muscle through lime deposit, ossification.

calcify, vb intrans & trans [1 kälkäfi, 2 kälkäfi] Fr calcifier. See prec. To become hard, or render hard, through deposit of lime.

calcinate, vh trans [1 kälkänit, 2 kälkännest], fr Lat calcināt (um), PP type of calcinare, see calcine. To calcine.

calcination, n [1 kälkännashun, 2 kälkännashun] Lat calcinatio (em). See prec & -ion. Process of calcining, or reducing to powder by action of heat.

calcine, vh trans & intrans [1 kälkäin, 2 kälkäin] Fr calciner, Lat calcinare, 'reduce to lime' (calc). See calcareous. Reduce, by burning, to lime, in form of powder, or friable substance, to disintegrate by burning, frequently used of bones, esp. in PP calcined.

calcite, n [1 kälkäit, 2 kälkäit], fr Lat calc (is), calc, 'lime', see calcareous, & -ite. Native calcium carbonate or carbonate of lime.

calcium, n [1 kälkäium, 2 kälkäium] Formed fr Lat calc (is). See prec. A metallic chemical element, the metallic base of lime, not found free in nature, but in compounds, calcium carbide, formed by electrical heating of carbon and lime, used for production of acetylene gas for lighting.

calculable, adj [1 kälkälabl, 2 kälkälyabl], fr Fr calculable, Lat calcul (are), see calculate & -able. Capable of being calculated, ascertainable by calculation, hence, deducible from given data, to be reckoned upon as likely to happen.

calculate, vh trans [1 kälkälist, 2 kälkälyulet] Lat calculat (um), PP type of calcularia, 'to reckon, compute, by means of a calculus'. 1 To reckon, compute, by mathematical processes, esp. by arithmetic, (also intrans with upon, on), to be sure of, rely upon. you cannot calculate upon fine weather. 2 To ascertain by mathematical process date of recurring movements of heavenly bodies, eclipses, phases of the moon &c. 3 To plan, fit, adapt for particular purpose. these laws are not calculated for modern conditions, hence, b. to act, speak, design.

something deliberately and of set purpose, esp in PP a calculated lie, insult, crime &c (colloq, USA) To draw an inference, suppose, presume, behave I calculate we're going to have thunder calculating, adj [1 kálkúliŋ, 2 kálkju-le tɪŋ], fr Pres Part of prec 1 Making a calculation: a calculating machine, one that performs arithmetical and other processes automatically 2 Shrewd, cautious a calculating mind; (often in bad sense) cunning, scheming calculation, n [1 kálkúliŋshun, 2 kálkju-léiŋshun] See calculate & -ion 1 A act, process, of calculating or reckoning; b that which is calculated, result of an arithmetical or other process 2 Forethought, plan, scheme done without calculation calculus, n [1 kálkúlus, 2 kálkju-lus] Lat., 'a pebble, small stone', dimin of calx, 'stone' &c, q v. under calcareous The Lot void was applied to a counter used in playing draughts, further, to a stone used for reckoning, and hence to a reckoning, computation 1 (med) Limy deposit forming a stone in some part of the body; e.g. in the kidneys or bladder 2 (math) Mode of calculation; e.g. integral calculus cauldronum, n [1 káldrúnum, 2 káldrú-nam] Lat., fr neut. form of cal(d)arus, 'warm', fr calidus, 'hot'; see cauldron (archaic) Hot room in Roman bath cauldron See cauldron calcaescent, n & adj [1 kálkálésent, 2 kál-kálésént] Lat Pres Part calcaescere (om), 'growing, melting warm', of calcaescere, fr calere, 'to be hot, glow with heat', connected w calidus, 'hot', q v. under cauldron, & facere, 'make', see fact (mod) Producing heat calcafactory, n & adj [1 kálkálákturi, 2 kál-kálákturi] Same meaning as prec & w same derivation (except that -fact is fr PP type of facere), & adj ouff drus, see -ory calamboxar, n [1 kálamboxar, 2 káldbúr] Fr. word Pun calendar (I), n [1 kálendar, 2 kálínde] O Fr calendrier, Lat calendarius, 'account book of interest' kept by money-changers, so called because interest was due on the calendae or first day of the month See further under calends 1 System for fixing the beginning, end, and principal days of the year 2 a Almanac, list of days, months, saints' days, and other church festivals and fasts &c of a given year, b special list of important days throughout the year, adapted for certain classes, or interests, when certain events, public meetings, oramotions &c are held, as university calendar, or when certain operations should be performed (e.g. sowing of certain crops &c), as in a gardener's calendar 3 List or index of official documents contained in a given collection, e.g. charters, state papers, rolls &c, giving date of each document and brief abstract of its contents calendar (II), vb trans, fr pres To make list or index of official or other documents with dates and abstracts See prec 3 calendar (I), n & vb trans [1 kálendar, 2 kálínde] Cp Fr calandre, 'machine for smoothing and polishing paper or cloth', fr Med Lat calendria, prob popular form of cylindrus, fr Gk kylindros, 'roller', see cylinder a n Machine with rollers for smoothing and polishing cloth, paper &c, b vb, to submit cloth to the process of smoothing In Cowper's 'John Gilpin' the word is used of the tradesman who treats cloth in this way, the normal form would be calenderer calender (II), n, fr Pers golender A wandering, mendicant dervish calends, n pl [1 kálendz, 2 kálíndz] Found already in form calend, 'month, allotted span of life', in OE, fr Lat calendae, calendae, wh has been borrowed in ME The Lat word means the first day of the month, so called because these dates were 'called out' or proclaimed publicly The base kal-* is seen in Lat calare, 'proclaim, convolve' also in clamor, 'a shout' &c (see clamour), clarus (see clear), Gk kalés, 'call', & OE blawan, 'to blow', are also cognates See low (I) The base has nothing to do with Engl. call Phr Greek calends, a date or occasion which never comes calenture, n [1 kálentúr, 2 kálíntɪs] Fr, fr Span calentura, derived fr Lat Pres Part type calent (em), fr calere, 'to be hot', see cauldron Tropical fever, attended with delirium, due to exposure to excessive heat calescence, n [1 kálésens, 2 káléséns] fr Lat calescere (om), Pres Part type of calere, 'to grow hot', fr calere, 'to be hot' See cauldron Increasing heat or warmth call (I), n [1 kál, 2 kál] OE (WS) ceall, Anglian call, Common Gmc, OHG ehalb, Mod Gern kalb, Goth kalb, 'calf, heifer', ON kalfir The Aryan base is galh₂* &c, the fundamental meaning of wh was 'to swell out' The meaning has been differentiated into 'that which is swelled', & 'that which causes the swelling' The former survives in Gk déphus, 'womb, belly', Goth halpe, 'womb', Surt garbhas, 'womb', also 'fruit of the womb, foetus', Lat galba, a Gaulish word, 'fat paunch', the letter in call &c, & Gk déphus, 'young pig' Cp also call (II) The orig meaning of the Gmc words, then, is 'a young animal fresh from the womb' 1 The young of the cow, applied also to the young of hippopotamus, rhinoceros, seal, whale, and moose deer 2 Leather made from skin of the calf, used for boots and bookbinding Phr bound in calf 3 Underdeveloped, foolish, loutish young man Phr calf love, transitory affection of immature youth for one of opposite sex call (II), n Cp ON kalfi, 'calf of leg' This word is fr same base as call (I), & shows the primary meaning 'swell'. The fleshy part of the leg of human beings at the back of the shin-bone between the knee and the ankle call's-foot, n [1 kálhvz foot, 2 kálhvz fút] Dish made from feet of calves boiled and seasoned call's-foot jelly, n Jelly made from gelatinous substances in calves' feet strained out after boiling Caliban, n [1 kálíban, 2 kálíban], fr character in Shakespeare's 'The Tempest' See canibal An ugly semi-human monster, an ugly, ill-shapen, brutal man calibrate, vb trans [1 kálíbrát, 2 kálíbrét], fr calibre & -ate 1 To ascertain the internal diameter of gun-barrel or other tube 2 To determine and verify the scale of a measuring instrument with a standard calibration, n [1 kálíbráshun, 2 kálíbréiŋ] Pres & -ion Accurate measurement and testing of the calibre of a gun &c, also of scale of instrument by a standard calibre, n [1 kálíber, kálíber, 2 kálíber, kálíber] Fr, but further origin doubtful, perh fr Arab qálīb, 'mould, model' 1 a Diameter of bore of a rifle or cannon, b diameter of bullet or shell 2 (fig) Extent, capacity, quality, of mind or character a man of poor, excellent, calibre calice, n [1 kálík, 2 kálík] Lat caliculus, 'little cup', dimin of calyx Small cup-like cavity, as the hollows in structure of coral calico, n [1 kálík, 2 kálík] Spelt calicut, calicut in 16th cent, the name being derived fr Calicut in the E Indies The Mod Engl form prob derived through Fr calicot A fine cotton cloth originally of India, now generally of European make calico-ball, n A fancy-dress ball or dance at which only cotton dresses are worn calico-printer, n One who follows the trade of stamping coloured figures or patterns on calico calicular, adj [1 kálíkúlar, 2 kálíkúlar] See calicle & -ar Having the form of a calicle calipash, calipes, n [1 kálpash, kálíp, 2 kálípəf, kélíp] Prob W Indian words

See carapace The 'fat', or gelatinous substance, found inside the turtle's shell, regarded as a dainty Calipash is dull green in colour, calipes, palish yellow caliper See callipers calliph, n [1 kálí, kálí, 2 kálí, kálí] Found in ME, derived through Fr caliph, fr Arab alīfah, 'successor', fr kalāfa, 'to succeed' Title given to the descendants and successors of Mahomet as spiritual and temporal rulers, claimed by Sultans of Turkey, who held it simply by right of conquest, the title is now in abeyance caliphate, n [1 kálífát, kálífát, 2 kálífát, kálífát] Through Fr fr Arab alīfah The office, dignity, and jurisdiction of a caliph call See call

callkin, n [1 kál, kálkin, 2 kál, kálkin], fr O Fr calcin, Lat calcinum, 'heel', fr calx, 'heel' See calocolaria Turned down portions at ends of horse's shoe which protect and give the animal a grip on the ground and prevent slipping call (I), vb intrans & trans [1 kawl, 2 kál] O E callan (WS ceallan), 'shout', OHG callan, 'talk loudly', ON kalla, 'noise, call'. The most obvious cogn outside Gmc is Lat gallus, 'cock', fr gal new The base is widespread in the Slav languages O Slav glasiti, 'voice', Russ glas, 'voice', glasiti, 'speak or sing loudly', Serb-Croat glas, 'voice, news, call', glasiti, 'announce, tell, call' &c See further under gallinaceous & glory A intrans 1 To shout, cry out, utter words in such a tone as to attract attention, and with deliberate purpose of so doing

I thought I heard someone calling, did you call, sir? (often spoof) 2 To summon help I called and called but no one came to my assistance Call out, cry or shout loudly, as when in pain, or in summoning help 2 To pay a brief visit at another's house we have only been here a month, and very few neighbours have called yet, I was out when he called To call at (a house), call on (a person) B trans 1 a To summon by means of the voice esp by crying out loudly he is near enough to hear you if you call him, b to summon in any way, as by sending note or message, or by a signal of any kind I've broken my leg, call the doctor, call a cab, the airship kept calling us by wireless Phrs to call the bells, announce or publish banns of marriage in church, call a halt, demand cessation of activities, call a meeting, issue notices desiring attendance of members of a deliberative or legislative body, call a person over the coals, rebuke, blame for something, call attention to, indicate, point out, call a man to the bar, summon to bar of court, c to make him a barrister, call vote being, existence, create, produce, call to mind, remember, call a guesser, throw doubt upon; call to order, demand orderly conduct at public meeting (action of chairman), call the time, determine and direct course of events, have control of set ones 2 a To give a name to, as in baptism to call one's child John, (in pass) to go by, have the name of, b to designate, indicate, distinguish by a certain name or nickname our butler's name is Brown but we always call him Davkins, the woodpecker is called the yaffle in some parts of the country Phrs to call a person names, to abuse, insult him, to call a spade a spade, or call things by their names, to speak plainly and without mincing watters use strong language, call cousin with, claim relationship with (a person) 3 To rouse from sleep, awaken, summon to rise from bed don't forget to call me at 7 o'clock, 4 To consider as being, or as equivalent, or approximate to I call this a very good house, you may call it twenty miles from here to Oxford Phr to have nothing to call one's own, to be penniless, possess nothing 5 To summon authoritatively to a particular office or duty, as to the ministry of the Christian Church, to a responsible position in the state &c

C Special uses with prepositions Call away, summon away, call o person from place where he is to that from which summons comes, call back, recall, summon to return, call down, invoke from above call down a blessing upon one, cause to descend his undesiredness called down Divine wrath, call for, demand, require the occasion called for instant and drastic measures, visit a person with a view to accompanying him to another place, call forth, bring out, elicit the crisis called forth all his energies, call in, a give orders for return of (e.g. of worn coin to Mint), b demand payment of (debts), c summon, request attendance of to call in a doctor, call on, pay visit to (a person), apply to a person for particular service call on one for a speech &c., call off, divert, summon away from, give signal to discontinue an attack, call out, summon to activity, mobilize (armed forces), challenge to fight, call over (names), read out names in order to ascertain who is present at a gathering, call up, a summon to one's presence, b summon to join a military unit, c summon on telephone by giving registered number to operator, d (fig.) imagine, form, evoke, mental picture of event, or person call up visions of the past call (II), n, fr preo 1 A cry, shout, cry uttered for purpose of attracting attention, esp. a summons for help made by the voice Phr within call, close at hand, within hearing 2 A summons made by signal of any kind, e.g. by flag, telephone, wireless &c., Phr a close call, narrow escape, b reading out of list of names in public so as to discover absentees 3 A summons or invitation to undertake particular duty a call to a bishopric, professorial chair &c., specif, call to the Bar, an inward conviction that one should undertake a certain office (esp. that of the Christian ministry), vocation 4 Short visit paid by a one person at the house of another, or by tradesman &c. on regular round the baker's, postman's, call, b by a ship at a port, or a train at a station Phr a place of call, place at which regular calls are made, house of call, public house 5 Necessity, obligation (often with neg) there is no call for you to worry over his affairs 6 Strong attraction, impulse towards, or in favour of something the call of the wild, the sea &c.
 7 Note or cry of birds or animals 8 A urgent demand, claim, for money or services to have many calls on one's income, on one's time, b specif, authorized demand by financial concern, on shareholders, for payment of sums due in certain equalities 9 Signal made to partner in card games, by playing cards in particular order, that he should lead a certain suit a call for trumps calla, n [1 kala, 2 kela] Invented Lat word (bot) a Genus of plants which includes the water arum, b usually calla-lily, the arum lily callant, o [1 kálant, 2 kélant] Provino Engl, fr O R calland, op Fr (different dial) chaland, 'customer' The etymol of this is very obscure A lad, young fellow call-hoy o call (I) & boy Boy employed at a theatre to 'call' the actors when it is time for them to go on the stage caller (I), n [1 kawler, 2 kála], fr call (I) & -er Specif, one who pays a visit Cp call (II) & caller (II) ndj [1 kaler, 2 kela] Scots, etymol doubtful a Fresh, out stalo (of herrings &c.), b cool, fresh, brisk (of wind, weather &c.) calligraphy, n [1 kaligrafi, 2 keligrafi] Gk kallos, 'beauty', & -graphy, Gk lállos, fr lóthos*, & kálos (kallí in composition), 'beautiful', are cogn w Scot rályas, 'healthy', & kalydnas, 'beautiful, agreeable, wholesome' Beautiful writing, handwriting generally calling, n [1 kawling, 2 lálj] See call (I) & -ing Occupation, profession, trade, vocation.

calliper, n [1 kahper, 2 kálpas] Prob variant of calibre Usually in pl (pair of callipers) Instrument resembling a pair of compasses, with two legs, usually curved, which, fastened together at one end by a hinge, can be adjusted at varying distances apart, for measuring thickness or diameter of objects, or distance between two opposite surfaces, e.g. the walls of a box callisthemic, adj [1 kálsthénik, 2 kélis penik] See next word Belonging to callisthenics callisthenics, n pl [1 kálsthénika, 2 kélis penika], fr Gk kallí, q v under calligraphy, & sthénos, 'strength' Concerning the origin of the second element the etymologists can cast very little light Art and practice of bodily exercises calculated to produce strength and grace callosity, n [1 kálósti, 2 kélásti] Fr callosité, 'hardening of the skin', fr Lat callus, 'hardened skin', & common suff -iti, q v under -ity Cp also callous, adj, 'thick skinned' There is possibly a distant connexion w Lat cladēs, 'disaster, defeat', wh is gen derived fr Aryan base kel* &c., 'strike', see clado- The development of meaning of callus &c. in this case wd be 'blow, wound, scar, hardening of skin as result of blow' &c. Hardening, hard lump on the skin, from friction, esp. on hands, feet, and horses' legs callous, adj [1 kálus, 2 kélus] Lat callus See preo & -ous 1 Hardened (of skin) 2 (fig) Morally insensitive, hard-hearted, indifferent to suffering of others callously, adv Preo & -ly In o callous manner (in fig sense) callousness, n See preo & -ness State, quality, of being callous callow, adj [1 kálo, 2 kálow] OE calu, 'bald, bare' (of boughs &c.) OHG kala, Mod Germ kahl It now seems certain that the Gmc words are not borrowed fr Lat calvus, 'bald', as formerly supposed, but are orig Gmc words & cogn w a large group of words in Slav, e.g. O Slav golŭ, 'naked', Russ gol, 'naked, bare, bald', Slovene, gol, 'naked, bald, immature', & golŭ, 'beardless boy, unfledged bird' The above & other related words in the Slav languages have a meaning very much akin to that of the Mod Engl word 1 Bare, esp. of unfledged birds, chiefly in Phr callow brood, young &c. 2 (fig) Raw, undeveloped, inexperienced (of boys and very young men), derived from sense of 'beardless' callow youth (applied both to a young man, and to his time of life) callus, n [1 kalus, 2 kélus] See callosity (med) Thickened and hardened skin or soft fleshy tissue, bony lump formed round broken bone when healing calm (I), n [1 kalm, 2 kám] Fr calme, adj, fr Ital or Span calma, 'absence of wind, tranquillity', fr Gk kalma, 'hushing heat of sun, fever' In Fr & Engl the word seems to have been primarily an adj & the n to have been derived fr this, though in Ital &c. the n comes first, as is natural fr the Gk word. The -i may be due to association w the Lat words calere, 'to be hot', calidus, 'hot', calidior, calor, 'heat', wh are fr base kel* &c., & related to Lith eslaid, 'become warm', szilas, 'warm', & more remotely to O E hleoſan, 'become warm' See cauldron & lukewarm The Gk kalma is related to lao, 'I become hot', wh is fr lawjō*, fr base k^wew* &c., 'glow', cogn w Goth hauri (fr hurjo*), 'coal' &c. a Atmospheric condition of windlessness when ships cannot sail, b (fig) peacefulness, tranquillity of mind, or in social and political affairs Phr the calm before the storm (lit and fig) The noun is less used than the adjective in English calm (II), adj See preo 1 Quiet, peaceful, a (of weather) Devoid of wind, b (of the sea, or waters of a lake) still, not in violent movement, smooth, unruffled, c (of bodily condition, esp. of movements of heart, pulses, breathing) quiet, regular 2 (fig) a (of the mind and temper) Not agitated, peaceful, free from excitement, under control, restrained, leisurely, b also of persons possessing snob state or qualities of mind, c (of political and social conditions) peaceful, free from disputes, war, riots 3 (colloq) Casual, too easy going, hence, impertinent, presuming it was rather calm of him to expect me to take so much trouble for a stranger calm (III), vb trans & intrans, fr preo To render calm, to tranquillize (physically or mentally), pacify Calm down a trans, to soften, assuage (anger, rage, excitement), b intrans, to become calm after violent agitation (of the sea, the human temper, human beings, political conditions &c.) calmative, n [1 kálmativ, 2 kálmativ] Preo & -ative (med.) That which calms, a sedative calmly, adv [1 kálmh, 2 kálmli] calm (II) & -ly In a calm manner, a quietly, without showing emotion, b coolly, with casualness calmness, n [1 kálmness, 2 kálmness] See preo & -ness The quality of being calm calomel, n [1 kálómel, 2 káloúmel] Fr, fr Gk kalos, 'fair', see first element of calligraphy, & melas, 'black', see first element of melancholy Perhaps so called because it is a white substance, though prepared from a dark one (med) Preparation of mercury, used as a purgative calorescence, n [1 kálorésens, 2 kálorésens] Should be calescence, Lat calescere, Pres Part calescent (em), 'to grow hot', but formed on anal. of type calor, see calori- (phys) Transference of light rays into heat rays calori-, pref Form used in compounds fr Lat calor, 'heat', q v under calm (I) calorie, n [1 kálori, 2 káleri] Fr See preo Unit of heat, specif, in relation to the value of food calorific, adj & n [1 kálorifikant, 2 kálorifikant], fr calori- & Lat Pres Part faciens, 'making' See fact a adj Heat-producing, b n, substance producing heat calorific, adj [1 kálorifik, 2 kálorifik] Fr calorifique, Lat -ficus, fr fac, 'make' See preo & fact Heat-producing, pertaining to heat calorific properties of coal calorification, n [1 kálorifikashun, 2 kálorifikashun] Preo & -ation Production of (esp. animal) heat calorifics, n [1 kálorifiks, 2 kálorifiks] See calorific The doctrine or science of heat calorimeter, n [1 kálorimeter, 2 kálorimite] calori- & -meter Apparatus for measuring amount of heat developed by combustion or friction calotte, n [1 kálót, 2 kálot] Fr, fr Ital calotta, proh fr Gk kaluptra, 'woman's veil' Meyer Lubke points out that the word is earlier & more widespread than Fr calo, whence our caul, fr wh calotte &c. is derived by some etymologists The above Gk n is fr vb kalupid, 'I cover, conceal', wh is cogn w Lat oculo, 'cover' See ocult caltrop, n [1 kál, káwltrop, 2 kál, káltrop] The forms colte trappe, frappe, calca trappe, a plant name, kind of thorn, are found in O E Colte is a 'colt', see colt, calca is a Lat loan-word for 'heel', see calceolaria, evidently popular etymol. was at work early in producing the doublet The second element = trap 1 Small instrument used in mediaeval warfare for laming horses, consisting of a small iron ball with three or four spikes so arranged that one always projected outwards They were scattered over the ground where enemy cavalry had to pass 2 (bot) Kind of plant, having spines on head of the flower or fruit calumet, n [1 kálumet, 2 kályumet] Fr dimio of Lat calamus, 'reed' See calamary & hawkm Pipe with long stem, smoked on ceremonial occasions by North American Indians, also called pipe of peace.

calumniate, vb trans [1 kálumníat, 2 kélám-níot] See calumny & -ate To slander, bring false accusation against, malign calumniation, n [1 kálumníatshon, 2 kélám-níotshon] See calumny & -ation Act of slandering calumniator, n [1 kálumníator, 2 kélám-níator] One who brings false charge calumnious, adj [1 kálumníus, 2 kélám-níus] See calumny & -ous Portaining to, smacking of, calumny calumny, n [1 kálumni, 2 kélamni] Fr calomnie, Lat calumniā, 'intrigue, trick, false accusation', connoted w calor, 'deceive', 'trick', 'deceive'; op also Gk kálōs, 'stain, disgrace', kélōs, 'bewitch, seduce, beguile'; further, in Gmo, Goth hólōn, 'deceive', O E hól, 'slander' Slander, false accusation, unjust description of a person calvary, n [1 kálvan, 2 kélvari] Lat calvaria, 'skull', fr calva, 'hairless scalp', Gk kálōs, 'cup, drinking-vessel', fr kálōs, Aryan kaleg* Lat calvus, 'bald', gen associated w those words, has prob nothing to do w them 1 Place of the Crucifixion, a translation of Heb gulgólth, 'skull', Gk form golgotha 2 Representation of the Crucifixion, consisting of three crosses or crucifixes representing the Saviour and the two thieves placed together in the open air, generally on a high place calve, vb intrans & trans [1 kahv, 2 kár] O E calfan See calf (I) 1 intrans To bring forth, give birth to, a calf 2 trans (of glaciers and icebergs) To shed, part with, a portion Calvinism, n [1 kálvinizm, 2 kélvinízm] fr John Calvin, 1509-64, & -ism System of the theology and religious doctrine devised by Calvin, adherence to Calvin's views and doctrines Calvinist, n [1 kálvinist, 2 kélviníst] See pro & -ist Member of Calvin's sect, one whose religious opinions resemble those of Calvin Calvinistic, adj [1 kálvinístik, 2 kélvinístik] Pro & -to Belonging to, agreeing with, Calvinism calvities, n [1. kálvishúz, 2 kélvíshúz] Lat 'baldness', fr calvus, 'bald', cogn w Sort kálv, 'bald' (med) Baldness calx, n [1 kálks, 2 kálks] Lat word, 'stone, lime' See first element of oolite-ous Residual earthy powder left when a metal or mineral has been burnt calyx, n [1 kálks, 2 kélks] Lat, fr Gk kálx, 'cup, outer envelope, calyx, of a flower, bud', cogn w Gk kálx, 'cup', Sort kálks, 'flower bud', kálks, 'pot, cup' Outer series of leaves, forming a cup, from which the petals of a flower spring cam, n [1 lam, 2 kóm] Du lam, 'comb', cogn w comb (mechan) Projecting portion from edge of wheel which gives desired peculiar motion to another wheel or roller which moves against edge of first wheel camaraderie, n [1 kámaraderí, 2 kámard-erí] Fr. See comrade Lat 'comradship', good will, intimacy, mutual trust and helpfulness, as among comrades camarilla, n [1 kámarílya, 2 kámariílye] Span dimin of Lat camera, 'room'. See camera Originally a 'little chamber', esp a private antechamber in royal palace, hence, group of persons meeting privately; political clique, caucus, cabal camber, n [1 kámber, 2 kámbe] Fr cambrer, 'to curve, bend', Lat cambrare, 'to arch', fr camera, 'arch, vault', see camera Slight convexity, or curve, on surface of a road, beam, floor, or deck camble, n [1 kámblat, 2 kámblat] Fr camble, 'changer', fr Lat camblum, 'exchange' Op camblum & change a One who deals in bills of exchange, b an expert in theory of exchanges camblum, n [1 kámblum, 2 kámblum] Lat word meaning 'change', the related vb cambré, cambré, is a Celt loan-word, ep O Ir cumb, 'tribute' Further light is lacking See change, exoambion Soft formative tissue of annual growth between wood and bark in large roots, stems, and boughs of trees, from which both wood and bark originate cambré, n [1 kámbré, 2 kámbré] Etymol dubious Possibly fr W cam, 'bent', & pre, 'wood' Piece of bent, shaped wood used by butchers for hanging carcasses by the legs Cambrian, adj & n [1 kámbrían, 2 kámbrían], fr Lat Cambria, 'Wales', fr Celt Cymru (gool) a adj Of system of rocks lying below the Silurian, the earliest of palaeozoic rocks, b n, such rocks cambrío, n [1 kámbrík, 2 kámbrík], fr Kamoryk, Flemish form of name of town in Flanders, better known by French name Cambray Fino white linen cloth came, vb [1 kám, 2 kóm] Pret of oome M E cám, fr earlier cam, w vowel lengthened through the influence of the long vowel of the Pret pl comen The O E Pret sing is c(u)dm; the M E form cam is prob on the anal of nam, Pret sing of niman, 'to take' camel, n [1 kámél, 2 kámél] Heb gámal, cogn w Arab jama, 'to carry', through Lat camélus, fr Gk kámēlos, forms in M E are camel, camail, camel &c Large Asiatic hornless, ruminant quadruped with a long neck, thick hairy coat, large flat feet with hard soles, and other ones (Arabian variety or dromedary) or two humps (Bactrian variety), much used in desert country, both for riding and carrying burdens cameleer, n [1 kameler, 2 kámeler] Pro & -er Camel driver camellia, n [1 kaméliya, 2 kámeliye] Named after Jesuit traveller, Joseph Kamel Evergreen Chinese and Japanese shrub, with large red or white flower resembling a rose in form camelopard, n properly [1 kámélópard, 2 káméloupard], now usually in loose form [1 kámél-lépard, 2 kámél-lépard] Lat camelopardus See camel & pard Hardly ever used in old sense applied to guano With second pronunciation given above sometimes used colloquially for a tall, swaggering, ungraceful woman camelry, n [1 kámélry, 2 kámélry] See camel & -ry a Train of camels, b soldiers mounted on camels camel's hair, n & adj a Hair of camel woven into cloth, also used for painters' brushes (now usually of hair of squirrel's tail), b the cloth itself, o adj, made of camel's hair camel's hair brush Camembert, n [1 kámembér, 2 kámembér] Name of village in Normandy Soft, rich, strong-smelling, but delicately flavoured cheese cameo, n [1 kámé, 2 kámé] Ital caméio, fr Med Lat cameus Origin unknown Carved gem, esp agate, sardonyx, or shell, in which the figure is out in relief in one layer, the next, usually of different colour, serving as background cameo ware, n Pottery with figures moulded in relief on ground of different colour, such as was designed for Wedgwood by Flexman camera, n [1 káméra, 2 káméra] Lat, 'vault, arched roof, arch', fr Gk lamara, 'anything with an arched or vaulted roof or covering, covered carriage', w this, the native Lat camur, 'crooked, bentinwards', is cogn, further, Sort kamur, 'to be bent, curved', & w different aut, O H G, O S himil, 'beaven', Mod Gorm himel See also chamber 1 Legal, in camera, in judge's private room, privately 2 Photographic apparatus containing sensitive plate or film, and lens for directing and concentrating light rays upon it 3 Camera obscura, 'dark room', a darkened chamber in which by means of lens and reflectors in roof, the image of surrounding landscape and all it contains is reflected upon a white sheet camerlengo, n [1 káméríngg, 2 káméríngg] Ital, cogn w chamberlain Papal chamberlain, cardinal in charge of papal treasury Cameronian, n [1 káméríman, 2 káméríman] From Richard Cameron, Scottish Covenanter, d 1680 1 Follower of Cameron, believer in doctrines which he taught as founder of Reformed Presbyterian Church, member of sect which adheres to these Also used as adj, pertaining to the sect or doctrines 2 (pl) The old 26th Scottish Infantry Regiment in British Army, now 1st Battalion Scottish Rifles, as originally recruited from Cameron's followers camisole, n [1 kámísol, 2 kámísol] Fr, fr Span camisole, fr Lat camisia, q v under chemise Woman's loose linen jacket worn under dress camisole de force, n [1 kámísol de fors, 2 kámísol de fors] Fr Op pro & forso Strait jacket camlet, n [1 kámílot, 2 kámílot] Fr camlet, orig camel's hair cloth, now cheap, shoddy woollen cloth Prob fr camel Originally a fine oriental woven material, now applied to various kinds of light inferior cloth camomille, n [1 kámomil, 2 kámomil] Fr camomille, fr Lat chamomilla, fr Gk khamai, 'on the ground', & mélōn, 'apple', ep first element of chamoleon & melon Aromatic plant, from flowers of which an infusion is made for medicinal purposes, camomile tea, infusion of camomile flowers camorra, n [1 kámóra, 2 kámóra] Ital Secret society at Naples, whose aims are partly political and partly criminal camouflage (I), n [1 kámoufíahz, 2 kámoufíahz] Fr, fr vb camoufler, 'disguise'; op camoufler, 'puff of smoke' (Much used during Great War) 1 Disguise, or concealment of objects from the enemy, eg guns, ships, whereabouts of troops 2 Deception of any kind, whereby an object is made to look like something else, or concealed altogether camouflage (II), vb trans See pro To disguise, alter appearance of anything, conceal camp (I), n [1 kámp, 2 kámp] Fr, 'place where an army is located', fr Ital campo, in special sense, fr Lat campus, 'flat space, plain' The real Fr form of this word is camp, q v under champaign The orig meaning of the base whence campus is derived was 'curved, bent, crooked', & the Lat word must first have meant 'undulating country', then 'valley', then 'flat space at the foot of hills', numerous cognates in Gk express ideas of bending, winding &c lampé, 'winding of a river', kámpeis, 'bending, turning', kámpulos, 'bent, curved', kámpein, 'to bend, bow' &c; op further, Lat kámpus, 'crooked', O E kámp, Goth kámpa, 'crippled', O E kámp, 'hump, swelling' Prob related ultimately to the base seen in camera 1 a Open space in which tents or huts are placed as dwelling-places, esp for military units, the collection of tents and huts erected for soldiers, b (fig, by extension) the adventurous, wandering, rough life of a soldier his experience lay rather in the camp than in the court 2 Any temporary shelter erected nightly, or for a brief space, in the open air, for gipsies, hunters, travellers &c to eat and sleep in 3 (fig, fr 1, a) Group of persons sharing same ideals, religious or political views, or jointly supporting a cause, or body of doctrines of any kind Gladstone and Disraeli were always in different camps Phr in the same camp, on the same side camp (II), vb intrans, fr pro 1 To form, build, place a camp of any kind 2 To lodge temporarily, as a makeshift, under uncomfortable conditions, pending complete installation, as in partly furnished house, often camp out, to sleep in open air with or without tent or hut campagna, n [1 kámpánia, 2 kámpánia] Ital, fr Lat Campānia, name of district, or campāneus, 'belonging to a campus, or open country' See camp (I) Tract of open country, esp the undulating plain in neighbourhood of Rome campaign, n & vb intrans [1 kámpán, 2 kámpain] Fr campagne, 'open country'. Same word as campagna & champaign, fr Lat campus & adj suff aneus 1 n a Series of military actions in the field, continuously conducted with definite objective in view the Waterloo campaign, 2 organized, preconcerted action of any kind for attainment of particular purpose a political campaign 2 vb To go, serve on, organize a campaign, military or political Phr to go campaigning campaigner, n [1 kámpáner, 2 kámpéne] Fr camp & -er One who has experience in military operations Phr an old campaigner, an experienced old hand. campanile, n Ital pl campanili [1 kámpánile, 2 kámpánile, -i] Ital, 'bell tower', fr Low Lat campana, 'bell'. Etymol uncertain. Detached tower of considerable height in which bells are hung campanologist, n [1 kámpánolójst, 2 kámpánolódzst] Next word & -ist One who studies bells their founding and ringing campanology, n [1 kámpánolój, 2 kámpánolódz] Op campanile, fr Low Lat campana & -logy Study and science of the founding and ringing of bells campanula, n [1 kámpánula, 2 kámpánula] Mod Lat dimin of campana, 'bell', see campanile A genus of plants with bell shaped flowers, including the harebell and Canterbury bell campanulate, adj [1 kámpánulát, 2 kámpánulát] Fr campanula & -ate Bell shaped camp-bed, n See camp (I) & bed. Narrow, folding portable bed, occupying little space. camp-chair, n See camp (I) & chair camp-follower, n See camp (I) & follower. Non-military male or female hanger on of army on the march camphor, n [1 kámpfer, 2 kámpf] Ultra-mately fr Arab káfar, through Fr, M.E. camphre, Mod Fr camphre. A highly aromatic and volatile white transparent substance, obtained by distillation from various plants, esp from the camphor laurel of Formosa &c, used in medicine &c, b (chem) alcoholic derivative of terpenes camphorated, adj [1 kámpforát, 2 kámpforát] As though fr PP of camphorate* Fr camp & -ate & -ed Impregnated with camphor camphorated oil camphoric, adj [1 kámpfórik, 2 kámpfórik] camphor & -ic Of, containing, camphor campion, n [1 kámpion, 2 kámpion] Etymol doubtful General name for plants of the genus Lychnis, esp that known as 'ragged robin' campo santo, n [1 kámpó sántó, 2 kámpou sántou] Ital, 'sacred field' Op camp & saint A cemetery camp-shot, n Etymol of first element doubtful, second element apparently as in wainscot Timber facing to a weir, river bank &c made of piles and boarding, also called camp shed, camp sheeting &c camp-stool, n See camp (I) & stool Folding seat of canvas and wood or metal without back, easily carried. campus, n [1 kámpus, 2 kámpus] Lat 'field', see camp Term for the principal grounds of an American school or university canwood, n [1 kámwud, 2 kámwud] Etymol unknown Hard red wood from W Africa yielding stain used in dyeing can (I), auxl, Fr Pres. vb [1 kán, 2 kán] Exists in all Gmc. languages w senses of 'know' & 'be able' The vb is defective & 'irregular' in the other Gmc languages as in Engl O.E. minn canan, Pres ic cann, pl. wi cunnan The word is cogn w Lat gnoscō, 'know', & Gk gnōskō See also could & ken, know (Always followed by vb in infin) 1 To be able, in sense a to have intellectual capacity to do something he can learn anything with the greatest ease, or b to possess physical power of doing something he can run a mile in less than five minutes 2 To be, or feel, morally justified in an action I can hardly go away and leave you nil alone 3 To have permission to do something you can go away as soon as you like 4 Construction with following verb suppressed God alone can all things = can do &c Negative forms cannot [1 kánót, 2 kánót], (colloq) can't [1 káht, 2 kánt] can (II), n O.E. canna, gloss to Lat crater, 'cup', M.E. cann, 'jar, drinking vessel', common W Gmc, M.H.G. kanna, O.H.G. channa, Mod Germ karne, also O.N. kanna The word appears to be native Gmc, & not borrowed, as formerly suggested, fr Gk lantharō, 'drinking cup' a Vessel for holding and carrying liquids, generally of iron, tin, or copper, with a spout for pouring, and two handles, one circular over the top for carrying or lifting, and the other on the side for directing stream from spout, b small tin vessel used by workmen for carrying tea &c, also used to drink from can (III), vb trans, fr prec To put into a can or tin; specif, to preserve meat, fruit, and other foods by enclosing them in air tight tin box Canadian canoe See canoe canaille, n [1 kánie, 2 kánie] Fr, fr Ital canaglia, lit 'pack of hounds', O Fr chenaille See canine Contemptuous expression for lower orders, rabble, vulgar herd canal, n [1 kánál, 2 kánál] Fr, fr Lat canālis, 'water pipe', formed fr canāna, 'reed', wh is borrowed fr Gk kanna, 'reed' The Gk word is itself borrowed fr Assyrian kanu, 'reed' See can (I) & channel 1 Artificial water way out across land for navigation or irrigation 2 A channel, pipe, or course for liquids, esp a duct or passage in animal body alimentary canal &c canalization, n [1 kánalízáshun, 2 kánalízáshun] canalize & -ation a The making of canals, b system of canals canalize, vb trans [1 kánalíz, 2 kánalíz] fr canal & -ize To make into a canal, or system of canals, to adapt (river) by embanking, so as to form a canal or part of canal canard, n [1 kánahr, 2 kán(ə)] Fr word for 'duck', also 'false report' canariensis, n [1 kánaríens, 2 kánaríens] fr canary & Lat adj suff Canary-creeper canary, n [1 kánári, 2 kánári] fr Canary Islands 1 A bright yellow bird with shrill, persistent song 2 Wino much drunk in England in 16th and 17th cent Also as adj canary bird, canary wine canary-coloured, adj Of bright, light yellow colour, resembling that of the bird. canary-creeper, n Trailing plant with bright yellow flowers, canariensis canaster, n [1 kánaster, 2 kánaster] Span canastro, through Lat canistrum, or direct fr Gk lanastron, 'wicker basket' See canister Kind of coarsely cut tobacco, so called from the rush basket originally used for packing can-can, n [1 kán kán, 2 kán kán] Fr A wild, extravagant kind of dance, with much kicking of the legs cancel (I), vb trans [1 kánál, 2 kánál] Lat cancelare, 'to make or enclose with a lattice', to cancel with cross wise strokes, fr cancel, n pl, place enclosed by railing or lattice', dimin or cancel, 'lattice', late word wh has nothing to do w word for crab (see cancel), but developed by dissimilation fr carcer, 'enclosure', hence 'prison' This is cogn w O.E. hearg, 'hedge, enclosure, temple, or place of sacrifice', O.H.G. harg, O.N. horg, w same meaning, all starting fr idea of 'space enclosed, set apart' The starting point of

Lat cancel &c is the lattice, or cross wood-work, by which the enclosure was accomplished See also chancel, chancellor, chancery To cross out, originally by drawing pen through written word, hence, obliterate, delete, do away with, abolish, make void. Used in various contexts to cancel debts, cancel permission, leave &c Specif in arith, to strike out the same factor from numerator and denominator, also intrans, cancel out, of numbers &c cancel (II), n, fr prec a Something suppressed or cancelled, e.g. printer's proof; b implement used in cancelling, as ticket-punch canceled, adj [1 kánaléted, 2 kánaléted] Formed fr Lat cancelatus, 'latticeed' See cancel & -ate Marked with cross lines or ridges, reticulated cancellation, n [1 kánaléshun, 2 kánaléshun] cancel (I) & -ation Act or fact of cancelling, abolition, annulment cancer, n [1 kánser, 2 kánse] Lat, 'a crab', cogn w Gk karkinos, 'crab', & Sart Larlaré, 'hard' 1 One of the signs of the Zodiac Tropic of Cancer, parallel of latitude N of equator 2 Seetropic 3 Malignant disease which attacks and destroys the tissues of the body 3 (fig) Moral or social evil which corrodes and destroys like a cancer cancerous, adj [1 kánserus, 2 kánserus] fr prec & -ous a Belonging to, characteristic of, cancer, b liable to, suffering from, cancer canceroid, adj [1 kánkroid, 2 kánkroid] fr Lat cancer, see cancer, & Gk suff -oid, 'like' a Like a crab, b like a cancer candelabrum, n, pl. -a, also candelabra as sing, pl. -as [1 kándelábrum, 2 kándelábrum] Lat fr 'candlestick' Op candle Large branched candlestick for holding three or more candles candescence, n [1 kándésens, 2 kándésens] See next word & -ence Bright glow, as of white hot metal candescence, adj [1 kándésent, 2 kándésent] fr Lat Pres Part candescens (em), 'growing white', fr candescere, freq of candere, 'shine, glow', op candid Glowing as if white hot candid, adj [1 kándid, 2 kándid] Fr candide, 'single minded, honest', fr Lat candídus, 'white, glowing, beautiful, pure, honest, upright' The fundamental meaning of the base is 'bright, shining, glowing', Gk kándaros, 'glowing coal', Sart kánd, 'shine' Op also Lat -cend as in incendere, 'set on fire', see incendiary Frank, honest, outspoken, telling the truth whether agreeable or not Phr candid friend, one who enjoys telling unpleasant truths, to be perfectly, quite, candid, not to mince words candidate, n [1 kándidát, 2 kándidát, et] Lat candidatus, one aspiring to office who was clothed in a white toga See candid & -ate a One who offers himself for appointment to an office, election to parliament &c, b a person thought likely to be considered for an office, although he does not offer himself for appointment candidature, n [1 kándidáshur, 2 kándidáshur] See prec & -ure Act or fact of standing, becoming candidate, for an appointment, election &c candidly, adv [1 kándidli, 2 kándidli] candid & -ly In a candid manner, frankly, outspokenly candidness, n [1 kándidnes, 2 kándidnes] See prec & -ness Quality of being candid, honest expression of truth candied, adj [1 kándid, 2 kándid] See candy & -ed Sugared, preserved by boiling in sugar candied peel &c candle, n [1 kándl, 2 kándl] O.E. candel, fr Lat candela, 'tallow candle, taper', connected w candere, 'glow, burn' &c, q v under candid See also chandelier 1 Slender cylindrical mass of wax, tallow, or spermaceti &c containing a wick, for

to gain a man as an admirer, feather in one's cap, a distinction, something to be proud of 2 Round or cap-like covering of various kinds, a as a protection on projecting top or end of beam, stick, over place on hough of tree which has been broken or sawn off, b whitish zone visible at either pole of the planet Mars; c small metal covering containing slight explosive placed on nipple of gun to detonate charge, percussion cap, d (anat) knee cap, bony plate covering front of knee-joint, e end of heel or shoe, toe cap cap (II), vb trans fr prec 1 To place cap on person's head (esp when conferring academic degree) 2 To place cap, in sense under cap (I), 2, upon anything 3 To remove one's headgear by way of salute to a person 4 a To match or surpass to cap an anecdote, tell one as good as, or better than, that just told, b cap versus, to supply a quotation, in a game, beginning with the last letter of the passage previously quoted 5 (veter surg) To injure a projecting joint, as the hock of an animal or the elbow of a person esp a capped hock 6 (fox-hunting) To collect subscriptions from (meet &c) in cap of master or huntsman capability, n [1 kāpabiliti, 2 kāpēhiliti] See capable & -ity Power of, capacity for, practical action, ability, also in pl capable, adj [1 kāpahl, 2 kāpēahl] Fr, fr Lat capābilis, 'able to grasp', fr capere, 'take, seize, hold', q v under captive 1 (of persons) a (gen) Having power or ability, esp intellectual, clever, intelligent, shrewd, b (for a special purpose or duty) capable for, available, competent, qualified Phr capable of (followed by n or Pres Part, usually in had sense), wicked enough for 2 (of things) Susceptible of, liable to, patient of (of a situation, circumstances) capable of improvement, (of verbal formulae) capable of such and such an interpretation, the words may bear such a meaning capableness, n Prec & -ness Quality of being capable, cleverness, ability capably, adv See prec & -ly In a capable manner capacious, adj [1 kāpāshus, 2 kāpēshus] fr Lat capāc-, stem of capax, 'able to hold much, spacious', base cap, 'hold, grasp', &c, see captive, & -ous a Able to hold a great deal a capacious stomach, mouth &c, b wide, spacious a capacious room, c (of non-material things) capacious mind, broad, receptive &c capacitate, vb trans [1 kāpāstāt, 2 kāpēstāt] See next word & -ate To render capable for, prepare for, make legally eligible, or competent, for capacity, n [1 kāpāstā, 2 kāpēstā] Fr capacité, Lat capācitat-(em), 'power of holding' See capacious & -ity 1 Power of holding, grasping, containing (of material and non-material things), power of holding knowledge and ideas, ability, grasp he overestimated the capacity of his bag, stomach, a mind of great capacity, powerful, having grasp 2 Relation to circumstances, character he came in the capacity of a friend 3 (in elect) Quantity of electricity required to raise a conductor to unit potential when all neighbouring conductors are at zero potential, the unit is a farad, generally converted to a microfarad cap-a-pie, adv [1 kāp a pē, 2 kāp ē pī] O Fr, 'from head to foot' See cap & pedal Fully armed, prepared &c caparison, n [1 kāpārison, 2 kāpēārison] O Fr caparison, Lat co-appārītōn (em)*, 'preparation' See co- & prepare Harness, equipment, esp of horses and armed men capo (I), n [1 kāp, 2 kēp] In ME & M Fr, 'short, sleeveless cloak', fr Span capa, orig 'head covering', & connected w Lat caput, 'head', q v under capital (I) See also cap Kind of short, sleeveless cloak, covering neck and shoulders, now chiefly a woman's garment, or of certain military uniforms, chiefly foreign, it is either part of a long coat or a separate garment cape (II), n Fr cap, Ital capo, fr Lat caput, 'head' See prec Headland, promontory, part of coast jutting into the sea, also (cap) as prefix Cape Cod &c, the Cape, Cape of Good Hope, whence as adj Cape Colony &c capelin, n [1 kāpelin, 2 kēpelin] Fr, fr Span capelan Etymol doubtful A small sea-fish, allied to the smelt, found in great shoals off the Atlantic coast of N America, used as bait for cod-fishing and also smoked and dried for food caper (I), vb intrans & n [1 kāpor, 2 kēpor] Prob shortened form of capriole a vb To skip about, frisk, leap about in a lively manner, (fig) to act in a jaunty, foolish manner, likely to attract attention, b n, a brisk, lively, and skipping motion, (fig, often in pl) thoughtless, foolish conduct, silly pranks, hare-brained escapades I am tired of his capers and his follies Phr to cut capers, (i) to dance about in an active, sprightly way, (u) (fig) to play foolish pranks caper (II), n ME caperes (sing), through L Lat, fr Gk Lapparis, foreign word of unknown origin a Friskily shrub from Mediterranean area, b flower-hud of this or seed vessels of nasturtium pickled in vinegar, and used as a flavouring in sauce caper sauce capercailzie, n [1 kāperkāl(y)ē, 2 kēperkēil(y)] fr Gael caput, 'horse' (sp Low Lat caballus, Fr cheval), & coille, 'wood' Largest species of grouse, the wood grouse or cock of the woods, Tetrao urogallus, found in Europe, still surviving in Scotland capful, n [1 kāpfūl, 2 kēpfūl] cap (I) & -ful In Phr capful of wind, a transient gust capias, n [1 kāpiās, 2 kēpiās] Lat, 'thou may'st take', fr form of document See Lat capere, 'to take', under captive (legal) A writ authorizing officer to arrest the person mentioned capillaire, n [1 kāpilār, 2 kēpilār] Fr See capillary The wild maiden hair fern, an extract from which is used in making preserves, syrups &c capillarity, n [1 kāpilāriti, 2 kēpilāriti] Fr capillarité See next word & -ity Property, capacity, of exercising capillary attraction capillary, adj & n [1 kāpilār, 2 kēpilār] Lat capillāris, adj, fr capillus, 'hair' By most etymologists connected w Lat caput, 'head', & Sort Lappalam, 'skull', O E hafola, 'head', but Walde suggests relation w Lat caper(y)āre, 'to wrinkle', the further relations of wh are obscure 1 adj Belonging to the hair, hair-like, thin as a hair capillary tube, very fine blood vessel, capillary attraction, physical process of 'attraction' between liquids and solids 2 n One of the thin, hair-like blood-vessels capital (I), adj [1 kāpitl, 2 kēpitl] Lat capitālis, 'pertaining to the head, or life', fr caput, gen capit (is), & adj suff -ālis, q v under -al The relation of caput to words for 'head' in cogn languages is obscure The connexion between it & Goth haubij, O E hēafod, 'head', O HG houbit &c, wh was for long a truism of philology, is in reality very doubtful on account of the orig su of the Gmo group In spite of different formative suff, Sort Lappalam, 'skull', & O E hafola, 'head', must be connected w caput An ultimate origin fr base kap-*, 'hold, contain' &c (see captive) has been suggested, in wh case caput wd mean orig the 'container' It may be asked, container of what? The answer prob is either the brains, or the mind, life &c See also the form -cep in biceps 1 (as survival of Lat sense) Belonging to life, affecting life, or forfeiture of life capital offence, capital punishment 2 Of prime importance, vital, chief (in political sense) capital city &c 3 At the head, leading, in expression capital letter, 'large' letter, used at beginning of a sentence, and as initial letter in proper names 4 Excellent, very good a capital speech, capital fellow capital (II), n, fr prec The fundamental meaning is something which is at the head, which leads, is important, there are numerous differentiations of meaning 1 The chief city (of a country or county), the seat of government and administration 2 A capital letter 3 (econ) a Accumulated wealth owned by individual or corporation at a given moment, as distinct from income received during a certain period, principal tax, levy, on capital, b amount of property employed in a given business, for the production of more wealth the capital of a company, c (usually Capital), private ownership of wealth personified, as contrasted with Labour 4 (fig) Something which adds to one's power and influence, an advantage he tried to make political capital out of the misfortunes of a section of the community capital (III) n Lat capitellum, 'little head', dimin of caput See capital (I) (anatom) The head, or uppermost part (member), of a column, of various characteristic styles, e g Doric, Corinthian, Gothic &c capitalism, n [1 kāpitālizm, 2 kēpitālizm] fr capital (II), 3, & -ism System of individual ownership of capital or wealth capitalist, n [1 kāpitālist, 2 kēpitālist] See prec & -ist Owner of capital, as distinct from one who lives entirely by what he earns capitalistic, adj [1 kāpitālistik, 2 kēpitālistik] a Pertaining to, characteristic of, a capitalist, b after the manner of the system of capitalism capitalization, n [1 kāpitālizāshun, 2 kēpitālizāshun] Next word & -ation Act, or process, of converting annual payment into capital sum capitalize, vb trans [1 kāpitāliz, kāpitāliz, 2 kēpitāliz, kēpitāliz] fr capital (II), 3, & -ize a To convert into, or use as, capital, b to compute capital value of, or convert income or annuity into a single payment of a sum equivalent to that which yields the income capitally, adv [1 kāpitāl, 2 kēpitāl] fr capital (I), 4, & -ly Very well, in an excellent manner capitate (d), adj [1 kāpitāt(ed), 2 kēpitāt(ed)] Lat capit ātus, 'headed', fr caput See capital (I) Having a form like a head, (bot.) having a head with clustered flowers capitation, n [1 kāpitāshun, 2 kēpitāshun] L Lat capitātōn (em), 'poll tax', fr caput, capit-(is), 'head' See capital (I) & -ation Tax payable by, or on, each person, capitation fee, one payable by each person, as by every member of a school or college, capitation grant, one made to an institution, school, hospital &c, in respect of each one of their inmates, members &c Capitol, n [1 kāpitōl, 2 kēpitōl] Lat Capitolium, Temple of Jupiter on one of the seven hills of Rome, connected w caput, 'head', see capital (I) Name given to important state or public building, usually in classical style, e g the seat of the legislature at Washington, USA capitoline, adj [1 kāpitōlin, 2 kēpitōlin] Lat mons capitōlinus Of, pertaining to, the hill at Rome upon which the Capitol stood capitular, adj & n [1 kāpitulār, 2 kēpitulār] Med. Lat capitulāris, fr Lat capitulum, dimin of caput, 'head' See capital (I), & op chapter a adj Pertaining to a chapter, q v in its various senses b n, a member of a (cathedral) chapter capitulary, n [1 kāpitulār, 2 kēpitulār] fr Med. Lat capitulārium See prec & -ary Collection of decrees, ordinances, laws &c, as of chapter of cathedral or, specif, of early Frankish kings capitulate, vb intrans [1 kāpitulāt, 2 kēpitulāt] Med Lat capitulāre, 'to draw up, agreement &c, under heads' (caput) See capital (I) & chapter, & -ate a (mil) To surrender subject to stipulated terms, b generally, to surrender, give in, cease to contend capitulation, n [1 kápítúshun, 2 kápítjúléshun] See preo & -ion Originally a document in which heads, or terms, of agreement were stated, now a act of surrendering, b document in which terms of surrender are laid down (rare), c specif, pl capitula-tions, treaty &c, under which foreign powers are granted ex territorial rights and jurisdiction in another state, esp in Asiatic states, as formerly in Turkey &c capon, n [1 kápun, 2 kápsen] M E capun, fr O Fr, Lat capōn (em) &c. The word is connected w a base meaning 'out, hack, hew' &c, & often appears w initial sh, Gk skapōs, 'I dig', also Lapetos (for skapetos*), 'grave, trench', O Slav skapiti, 'to ostrate', skapiti, 'oestrated person', Lith skapoti, 'scrape', skapiti, 'dig out with a knife', kapti, 'hack, hew', the Gmo form appears in Goth skaban, 'out, shave (the hair)', OHG skapen, OE scapan, 'shave, scrape', op shava, a A oestrated domestic fowl, esp when prepared for the table, b (fig) a cowardly, poor spirited fellow caponier, n [1 káponér, 2 kápseniz] Fr, lit 'oage for capons'. See preo In fortification a term for a construction placed across a ditch or trench, so as to enfilade it caponize, vb trans [1 kápuniz, 2 kápseniz] fr capon & -ize To make a capon of, ostrate caporal, n [1 kaporál, 2 kápsrdl] Fr, 'corporal'. A kind of French tobacco capot, n & vb trans [1 kápót, 2 kápsít] Fr 1 n Winning of all the tricks at the game of piquet 2 vb To win all the tricks at piquet against (player) caprie, adj [1 káprík, káprík, 2 káprík, káprík] Lat caper, 'he goat', oogn w Gk kápros, 'wild boar', ON hæfr, OE hæfer, 'he goat'. These are prob all related to Sort lapri, 'memhrum virle'. Caprie ooid, oil, obtained from butter, or coco nut, so called from its rank smell capriccio, n [1 kápréshó, 2 káprítshou] Ital for caprice (mus) A composition of light, irregular form capricious, n [1 káprís, 2 káprís] Fr, fr Ital capriccio, 'sudden start', fr Lat caper, 'he-goat'. See capric a A whim, freakish idea, passing fancy, also b in art, a work of capertive wayward fancy capricious, adj [1 káprishus, 2 káprítshos] Fr capriciosus, Ital capriccioso, see preo & -ous Full of caprices, whimsical, unstable, inconstant unreliable, inconstable capriciously, adv Preo & -ly In a capricious, inconstant, inconstable manner capriciousness, n See preo & -ness The quality of being capricious, specific conduct &c, which exhibits this

Capricorn, n [1 kápríkorn, 2 kápríkún] Lat 'goat horn', Lat caper, see capric, & cornu, 'horn', see corn (II) & horn One of the constellations, sign of the Zodiac representing this, Tropic of Capricorn, parallel of latitude S of Equator, see tropic caprification, n [1 káprifikáshun, 2 káprít-fikáshun] Lat caprificatio (em), fr caprificus, 'wild fig', fr caper, 'goat', see capric, & ficus, 'fig', see fig Process of hastening the ripening of figs by means of the stings of gall insects caprine, adj [1 káprín, 2 káprain] Lat caprinus, fr caper, q v under capric Belonging to, like a (he) goat capriole, vb intrans & n [1 kápríol, 2 kápríoul] Ital capriola, dimin fr Lat capra, 'he goat'. See Lat caper, under capric, also c v, cabriolel a vb To caper, kick up the heels (from skipping of a goat), b n, a leap, caper, esp of a horse

Capsum, n [1 kápsikum, 2 kápsíkem] Lat capsa, 'box' &c See onae Genus of tropical plants, red peppers, the pods and seeds of which are very hot and pungent and are used whole, as chilies, or powdered, as cayenne pepper, they also yield a medicinal drug capsize, vb trans & intrans [1 kápsiz, 2 kápsaiz] Skeat has suggested that the word is an Engl refashioning of Span cabezar or cabazar, 'sink (a ship) by the head', fr cabo, 'head', Lat caput See capital (I) To upset, overturn, or cause to do so (esp of boats and ships, but also carriage, cart &c) capstan, n [1 kápsan, 2 kápsan] In M E, fr Fr cabestan, fr Lat capistrum, 'halter', derived fr base cap, 'to hold', q v under captive Device for hauling up anchors, or for drawing light boats above high water mark It consists of an upright cylinder on which the cable is wound, revolving upon a pivot, poles or 'bars' which act as levers for turning, are inserted in holes made at intervals in upper part of cylinder, the cable coiling round below these capsular, adj [1 kápsúlar, 2 kápsúl] Next word & -ar Shaped like, in the nature of, acting as, a capsule capsule, n [1 kápsúll, 2 kápsúll] fr Lat capsula, dimin of caput, 'chest, receptacle' &c See onae (I) Small case or sheath (in various senses), a (anat) membranous sac or envelope enclosing certain parts or organs, eg the kidneys, b (bot) case or vessel enclosing seeds or spores, which opens or bursts when ripe and allows contents to be dispersed; c (med) thin gelatine case in which unpalatable powders &c, are swallowed; d thin, light fitting covering of metal or india-rubber for the top of a bottle, or end of a tube or pipe

captain (I), n [1 káptin, 2 káptin] M E, fr O Fr capitain, fr Lat captianus, adj, 'head, chief', fr capit (14), caput, 'head' (see capital), & Fr suff -ius, oegn w chieftain 1 n A Naval or military officer, in navy, between commander and rear admiral, in army, one commanding a company (infantry) or a troop (cavalry), and ranking above a lieutenant and below a major, also, group captain, officer in Air Force, equivalent to colonel in army, b title prefixed to name of above Captain A &c 2 n Officer commanding a merchant ship; or b a fire-brigade &c, c person who acts as leader and chief of crew of racing boat, d chief of a sporting club, or of a polo, cricket, or football team &c 3 A great leader in war, whether by sea or land, applied to such commanders as Julius Caesar, Marlborough, Napoleon & (by extension) A leader, pioneer in any enterprise a captain of industry captain (II), vb trans, fr preo To act as captain or leader of (net in naval or military sense) but esp in sense 2, b, c, and d above captaincy, n [1 káptinai, 2 káptinsai] captain (I) & -cy The rank and status of a captain, term of tenure of this office captainship, n [1 káptinship, 2 káptinshíp] See preo & -ship Function of leader or captain, exercise of this captation, n [1 káptáshun, 2 káptéshun] Lat captatio (em) acc, 'reaching after, catching at', fr P P type of captare, 'to reach after', fr capit (um), see captive, & -ation. A reaching out after, appeal for, appeal, or favour caption, n [1 kápsun, 2 kápsen] Lat captio (em), 'a taking, seizing' fr capit (um), see captive 1 (law) A Act of taking or seizing, b legal arrest, c certificate attached to legal document which shows by what authority, when, &c, it was taken or executed 2 Heading, short title of a division of a book, as chapter, page &c, or of a scene in a cinematograph captious, adj [1 kápsus, 2 kápsos] Lat captivus, 'fallacious, deceptive, sophistical', fr base cap, 'take', q v under captive, & -ous a (of persons) Anxious to catch, trip up, others in argument, (chiefly used in derogatory sense) apt to cavil, fond of making objections, and finding fault, b (of remarks, criticism, arguments) made for the sake of finding fault and carping, rather than to promote cause of truth captiously, adv Preo & -ly In a carping, fault-finding manner captiousness, n See preo & -ness Act, habit, of fault finding for its own sake, sophistical argument captive, vb trans [1 káptivát, 2 káptivát] 1 Lat captivus (um), P P type of captivare, 'take captive', fr captivus, q v under captive To capture, delight, the fancy, to enchant, fascinate, charm captivating, adj [1 káptivátang, 2 kápti-vátang] fr Preo Part of preo Delightful, enchanting, winning, alluring captivation, n [1 káptiváshun, 2 kápti-vátshun] See captive & -ion a That which delights and charms, b the act of captivating, ability to enchant and captivate captive, adj & n [1 káptiv, 2 káptiv] Fr captif, fr Lat captivus, adj, 'caught', taken prisoner', formed fr base cap, w -iv, as in P P type captus, 'caught', fr capere, 'take, receive, seize, hold' &c, & adj suff -ivus, q v under -ive The base appears further in Gk káptō, 'swallow greedily, gulp down', káptō, 'handle of anything, haft of a sword' &c, Sort kaptōi, two handfuls', Lith kappu, 'I seize, grasp', O Slav čepi 'a chain', Goth haffan, 'heave, carry' &c, OHG heffon, Mod Germ heben, 'heave', OE hebban, 'raise, lift up' Goth haffis, 'joined, bound', O S, OHG hafft, 'bound', ought', OE heft, (1) 'handle', (2) 'bond', fetter, captivity', have exactly the same formation as Lat capt- The various shades of meaning seen in above cognates all spring fr the central idea, 'grasp, seize' &c Op further the various Engl words derived fr this base cable, capable, capacity &c, further onae (I), catch, chase &c a adj.

Taken, caught, held, kept prisoner, captive balloon, one tethered to the ground; b n, a person or animal that is caught, and kept prisoner (The word is more commonly used as a noun than as an adjective) captivity, n [1 káptiviti, 2 káptivítis] Fr captivité, fr Lat captivitas (em), acc, fr preo & -ity 1 State or condition of being a prisoner, or having liberty of movement and action impeded 2 Specif, the Captivity, that of the Jews in Babylon captor, n [1 kápter, 2 kápts] fr Lat hase capt, see captive, & -or One who takes a prisoner, (said also of a ship which takes another prisoner)

capture, n & vb trans [1 kápehur, 2 kápts] Lat captura, 'taking, quarry' See preo, & -ure 1 n A The act or process of taking, of making a prisoner, b the person, animal, or thing caught, or seized 2 vb To catch, take prisoner

Capuchin, n [1 káptshun, 2 káptshun] Fr capucin, earlier capuch, fr Ital capuccino, 'little owl', double dimin, fr capuccio, fr capo, 'head covering', Lat caput, 'head' See capital, cape &c Order of Franciscans, from peculiar brown habit with pointed cow Capuchin monkey, South American monkey, Cebus, with thick hair forming sort of cow over the head, capuchin pigeon, breed of pigeon with crested head capybara, n [1 kápihára, 2 kápihára] Native name A large South American tailless rodent, living a semi aquatic life on banks of rivers and lakes, allied to the guinea-pig car, n [1 kar, 2 ká] M E, fr O Fr carre, Lat carrus, 'kind of four wheeled wagon', a Celt loan word, op carr in Ir, W, & Bret, 'cart, vehicle' The word is distinct fr, but cogn w, Lat currus, 'car, wain', &c, q v under curricule A wheeled vehicle, in various uses 1 Poetical word for chariot 'I saw the Master of the sun, he stood High in his luminous car' (Anbrey de Vere) In Phr triumphal car, decorated chariot 2 Specif a an Irish two wheeled carriage of peculiar make, drawn by one horse, having seats on each side, parallel to wheels, and projecting beyond these, called also outride car, jaunting car, and (in England) Irish car, b certain compartments on a railway train luncheon car, sleeping car, (never used in England of the ordinary railway passenger carriage), c large public vehicle running on a rail through streets, plying for hire tramway car, tram-car 3 Recent colloquial expression, now very generally used, for an automobile, or motor-car it is too far to ride, I will come in a car, also side car, small carriage for one person attached to a motor bicycle carabineer, carbineer, n [1 kàrà, kàrbnér, 2 kàrà, kàrbnér], fr Fr carabinier See carbine a A mounted soldier carrying a carbine, b specif, the Carabineers, 6th Dragoon Guards carabinieri, n pl [1 kàrbabinàri, 2 kàrbabinàri] Ital See prec The mounted police or gendarmes of Italy caracal, n [1 kàrakal, 2 kàrakel] Fr, fr Pers, Turkish garah-qulag, 'black ear' a A kind of lynx, Lynx caracal, of Asia and Africa, with reddish fur, black-tipped ears, and white spot over eyes, b its fur carack, carrack, n [1 kàrak, 2 kàrakel] fr Fr caraque, fr Low Lat carraca, Span & Port caraca, Ital caracca, etymol doubtful, perh fr Arab qaraqir, pl of qorqur, 'merchant ship' (hist) An armed merchantman of Spain and Portugal caracole, n & vb intrans [1 kàrakòl, 2 kàrakòl] Fr caracoler, 'prance', fr caracole 'a spiral, turns to right and left', fr Ital caracollo, fr Span caracol, 'snail', also 'winding staircase' and 'wheeling about' The ultimate etymol of the large group of Romance words v very various meanings, wh Meyer Lubke cites under cochlea, 'snail', is doubtful & obscure so far as the ohm of meaning is concerned, nor is the form of above Span word fully explained Our word seems, however, to be derived, v come unexplained refashioning, through the Lat co(h)ilex, fr Gk kokhlia, 'snail', itself derived fr kòkhlos (see conch), 'mussel or cockle', or kòkhlē, 'mussel shell' In Romance the word appears to mean a 'snail', then a spiral shell, then, as applied to a horse's movements, 'to prance about in a spiral' a n A horse's leaps and prancings from side to side, b vb, to leap from side to side, prance about carafe, n [1 kàrahf, 2 kàrd] Fr, also Ital caraffa, Span garrafa Etymol doubtful, perh fr Arab gharafa, 'draw water'. Glass bottle for water at table or toilet caramel, n [1 kàramel, 2 kàramel] Fr, fr Span caramelo, O Fr calemele, L Lat calamellus (perh influenced by Lat calamus, 'reed'), fr canna mellis, 'sugar cane', fr canna & mel, 'honey' See cane, canal, & melliferous a Burnt sugar used for colouring, b thin coating of burnt sugar on a pudding, c a sticky sweetmeat carapace, n [1 kàrapàs, 2 kàrapàs] Fr, fr Span carapacho Etymol unknown a Thick upper shell of a turtle, b upper shell of a crab or other crustacean carat, n [1 kàrat, 2 kàret] Fr, fr Ital carato, O Port quilate, Arab qirāt, perh fr Gk keration, 'little horn', dimin of keras, 'horn' See keratin a Unit of weight for diamonds and pearls, about 3½ grains, b measure of proportionate purity of gold 24 o is pure gold, 18 o has 6 parts alloy &c caravan, n [1 kàravàn, 2 kàravàn] Fr caravane, earlier karouan, fr Pers karwan 1 Party of travellers, their baggage and beasts of burden, journeying together, esp across desert 2 a Covered cart or waggon, used as a travelling house by gypsies or other vagrants who travel slowly from place to place and camp at night, b the waggons, whether conveying persons or animals, of travelling circus caravanserai, n [1 kàravànsəri, 2 kàravànsəri], fr prec & Pers sara, 'mansion' Eastern inn with large courtyard where caravans rest for the night caravel, carvel, n [1 kàravel, kàrvel, 2 kàravel, kàrvel] Fr caravelle, 'Turkish,

Italian, or Spanish ship with four masts', Ital caravella, fr Gk kàrabos, 'kind of beetle, crayfish, a light vessel' Etymol doubtful Applied to light vessels of various kinds, used in 16th cent (obs) Caravel-buik, of boats &c in which the planks are flush with the side, contrasted with clinker-buik, where they overlap caraway, n [1 kàrawā, 2 kàrawei] Fr & Span carvi, fr Arab karwā, fr Gk kàron, 'oummun seed' Etymol unknown Plant with pungent, aromatic seeds, used for flavouring cakes, and for distilling into a liqueur, and as a carminative drug carb(o)-, pref, form used in compounds of carbon carbide, n [1 kàrbid, 2 kàrbaid] carb(o)- & -ide (chem) A compound of carbon with another element, usually a metal, as calcium carbide, from which acetylene gas is obtained carbine, n [1 kàrbín, 2 kàrbain] Fr carbine, Ital carabina, concerning wh various conjectures have been put forward, notably a derivation fr Gk katabolē, 'overthrow' &c, wh is definitely rejected as impossible by the latest authority, Meyer-Lubke Etymol unknown Short rifle carried by mounted troops carbo-hydrate, n [1 kàrbò hìdrāt, 2 kàrbò hìdrēt] carb(o)- & hydrate (chem) A group of organic compounds, such as starch, sugar, cellulose &c, of carbon, oxygen, and hydrogen carbolic, adj & n [1 kàrbòlik, 2 kàrbòlik] fr carb(o)-, & -ol (fr Lat oleum, 'oil', see oil), & -ic a adj (chem) Derived from carbon, as coal or coal tar, specif, carbolic acid, phenol, acid obtained by distillation from coal tar, used as a powerful germicide and antiseptic, b n, (colloq) carbolic acid carbolize, vb trans [1 kàrbuliz, 2 kàrbuliz] Prec & -ize To sterilize, impregnate with carbolic acid carbon, n [1 kàrbun, 2 kàrba] Lat carbōn (em), 'piece of burning, or charred wood, charcoal', fr kar-dhō*, op O Slav krada, 'hearth', Lith karštas, 'hot', Goth haurja (= huryja*), 'coals' (only in pl) With different gradation, also O E heorþ, 'hearth, fire', Germ herd, Mod. Engl. hearth 1 (chem) One of the non-metallic elements, occurring in various forms, eg the diamond, graphite, or 'black lead' &c, and in all animal and vegetable tissues, as also in charcoal, coal, petroleum &c 2 a A stick of carbon, as in electric arc lamps, b duplicate copy of letters &c obtained by use of carbon paper, covered with black substance which is placed between two sheets of writing-paper and produces on the lower a copy of what is written on that above carbonaceous, adj [1 kàrbònishus, 2 kàrbònishəs] carbon & -aceous a Like coal, b containing coal or carbon carbonari, n pl [1 kàrbòanàri, 2 kàrbòanàri] Ital Secret political society in Italy, esp in kingdom of Naples during early 19th cent, said to derive its name from early members being charcoal burners carbonate (I), n [1 kàrbunat, 2 kàrbànēt] carbon & -ate Salt of carbonic acid carbonate (II), vb trans [1 kàrbunāt, 2 kàrbànēt] carbon & -ate To burn to carbon, carbonize carbolic, adj [1 kàrbònik, 2 kàrbònik] carbon & -ic Belonging to, derived from, carbon, specif, carbolic acid, carbon dioxide, produced by combustion of carbon or decomposition of organic matter, by respiration and fermentation, it is a colourless, heavy, odourless gas, non inflammable and non-breathable, and is the 'choke damp' of coal-mines carboniferous, adj [1 kàrbuniferus, 2 kàrbuniferəs] carbon & -ferous Coal-bearing, (of geol strata) coal-producing Carboniferous period, strata in which these strata were laid down carbonize, vb trans [1 kàrhinnē, 2 kàrbànēz] carbon & -ize a To reduce to carbon by burning, b impregnate with carbon corundum, n [1 kàrbòrùndum, 2 kàrbòrùndəm] carb(o)- & corundum A crystalline compound of carbon and silicon, used as an abrasive in tool grinding carbonyl, n [1 kàrbòni, 2 kàrbòni] Pers-Arab garābah, 'large flagon' Large glass jar enclosed in basket-work, used for holding corrosive chemicals, as nitric acid, vitriol &c carbuncle, n [1 kàrhungkl, 2 kàrbangk] In ME, O Fr type charbuncle, Lat carbunculus, dimin of carbo, 'small coal', bright-red precious stone 1 Large inflamed boil or tumour 2 Bright, deep-red precious stone, esp a garnet cut with smooth rounded surface carburet, vb trans [1 kàrbūrēt, 2 kàrbūrēt] fr carbon, -ur, on anal of sulphur, & -et (chem) To combine any element with carbon, esp in P P, as carburetted hydrogen carburettor, -or, n [1 kàrbūrētēr, 2 kàrbūrētēs] Prec & -or Device for combining air or gas with carbon or its compounds, specif, an apparatus attached to internal combustion engines for mixing air with the spray of petrol to form an explosive vapour carcanet, n [1 kàrkānet, 2 kàrkānet] Fr carcan, 'an iron collar used formerly for attaching animals to a post for public exhibition', fr Low Lat carcanum, loan word fr OHG kuerka, 'neck, throat', cp ON kverki, 'crop', & see gurgitation Ornamented oban for the neck, often set with jewels (Archaic) carcase, -case, n [1 kàrkās, 2 kàrkās] ME carcays, carleys, O Fr carcans, Mod Fr carcasse, fr Ital carcassa, 'kind of bomb', all fr Low Lat carcassum, loan word fr OHG kuerka, 'neck, throat', cp ON kverki, 'crop', & see gurgitation Ornamented oban for the neck, often set with jewels (Archaic) carcinoma, n pl -ata [1 kàrkānōma, -mata, 2 kàrkānōma, -mata] Lat, fr Gk karkīnōma, 'ulcer, cancer', fr karkinos, 'crab' Cp cancer (med) A form of cancer card (I), vb trans & n [1 kàrd, 2 kàrd] Fr carde, 'machine with interlaced metal points for combing cloth' &c, Lat carduus, 'thistle' The orig meaning of the base is 'out, scrape', op Lat carere, 'to be without, lack', orig 'to be out off from something', Op also Lat curtus, 'shortened, truncated', curto, 'shorten, diminish', corium, 'hide, leather', Gk leirō, 'clip, cut, hew off', fr leirō*, Scrt krdh, 'injuries, lills', O E higuan, 'deride, insult, injure', is perh also cogn See further under carnal (chiefly used now as vb) To cleanse, comb, disentangle hair, wool, hemp &c with a card (see Fr word above cited) card (II), n Fr carte, Ital carta, fr Lat charta, later carta, 'leaf of paper, or Egyptian papyrus', fr Gk khartēs, 'leaf of papyrus' Origin unknown, prob Egyptian 1 One of 52 variously figured pieces of thin, smooth pasteboard, the designs on which are coloured black or red, used in large number of games—whist, bridge &c playing cards, pack of cards Phrs to play one's cards well (fig), conduct affairs with judgement and discretion, on the cards, likely to happen (from use of playing cards in telling fortunes), put one's cards on the table, disclose one's plans, abandon secrecy, a house of cards, visionary project which soon collapses, one's best card, strongest argument, best means of getting one's own way, speak by the card, with assurance, clearly, the correct card, the proper thing 2 Piece of thin pasteboard used for variety of purposes a bearing name and address engraved upon it visiting card, Phr to leave cards (on), call, pay a visit, b piece of cardboard with device, and compliments or good wishes for particular occasions Christmas, birthday, card &c., c one of a series arranged alphabetically, bearing written or printed entry of name and author of a book card catalogue, index &c., d piece of pasteboard bearing name and address of person for whom intended on one side, and a message, notice, or communication on the other, sent through the post post card, e printed pasteboard, giving names, score, and other details of a race, game &c., as programme race card, score card &c.

3. A droll, original, eccentric fellow: (familiar, colloq., and vulg.) a quercard cardamom, cardamum, n. [1 kárdmóm, 2 kádmóm, -sm] Gk. kardámōmōn, 'kind of cress, the seed, eaten as a flavouring'. Etymol. unknown. Aromatic East Indian fruit and its seed, used as a condiment.

cardboard, n. [1 kárdbord, 2 kádbórd] Thick, stiff paper or pasteboard used for making boxes &c.

card-case, n. See card (II) & case. Leather case for carrying visiting cards in the pocket.

cardinal, adj. [1 kárdínál, 2 kádmínál] Fr. fr. Lat. cardínalis, adj., fr. Lat. cardo, genit. cardin (se), 'hinge of a door, pivot, that on which all depends'. Op. Gk. kárdinalis, 'brandish, shake', kárdas, 'dances', Sort kárdali, 'leaps, hops'. Connected with that on which things hinge or depend, of chief importance. a cardinal virtue (see virtue), cardinal numbers, simple numbers one, two, three &c., cardinal points (of compass), north, south &c.; b cardinal church, one of the 70 principal churches of Rome, to which the rest are subordinate, see cardinal (II).

cardinal (II), n. fr. prece. Prince of Roman Church, member of Pope's Council or Sacred College, one of whose duties it is to elect the Pope. So called from his important position in the constitution of the Church.

cardinalate, n. [1 kárdínálat, 2 kádmínálat] Prece & -ate. a Rank or dignity of a cardinal, b body of cardinals collectively.

cardinal red, n. A bright scarlet-red colour, from colour of cardinal's robes.

cardio-, pref., form of Gk. kárdio, 'heart', used in compounds. See heart.

cardiology, n. [1 kárdíolój, 2 kádmílój] Prece & -logy. Science or study of the heart and its functions.

cardiometer, n. [1 kárdíómetér, 2 kádmíó mite] See prece & -meter. Apparatus for measuring the beat of the heart.

carditis, n. [1 kárdítis, 2 kádmátis] Gk. kárditis, 'heart', see cardio- & -itis. Inflammation of the heart.

cardoon, n. [1 kárdún, 2 kádmún] O Fr. cardon, 'thistle'. See card (I). Vegetable allied to artichoke and thistle, the globe artichoke.

card-sharper, n. One who cheats or cheats at cards.

care (I), n. [1 kár, 2 kár] OE caru, 'anxiety, grief, trouble, care', ME cáre, OS caru, 'sorrow, suffering', OHG chara, 'complaint, lamentation', Goth kara, 'sorrow', cp also Goth laurus, 'heavy, burdensome', fr. laurus*, w. different form of gradation (cp Gmc bur-, bur, Goth bur-, bur-, q v under bear (I), burden &c.). The orig. sense of the base is 'something heavy, hard to bear', then 'something grievous, troublesome, painful' &c. Outside Gmc the cognates are Lat grave, 'heavy, weighty, important' &c. (see grave (III), adj.), Gk karus, fr. karus*, 'heavy, grievous, troublesome', karos, 'weight, burden, misery', Sort karus, 'heavy'. Lat. gravis, 'heavy', is an Umbrian form, = Lat. gratus*, see brute. See also chary. 1 Anxiety, grief (poet. and archaic). 'care sat on his foded cheek' (Milton), care had aged him before his time. 2 Occasion for, cause of, anxiety, grief &c. (esp. in pl.) he was wealthy and free from cares of every kind. 3 Serious attention of mind, solitude, watchfulness, pains to bestow great care upon one's work. Phrs take care, have a care, be prudent. 4 Object of solitude and peculiar attention everything connected with the farm was his especial care. 5 Protection, charge, responsible management, direction the orphans were left to the care of their grandfather, the sick man was placed under the care of the best physician. Phr care of (written o/o), placed on letters before name of owner of house in which addressee of letter is staying.

care (II), vb. intrans. OE caron, 'reel, be anxious', ME cáren, fr. prece. 1 a To feel strongly, esp. interest, sorrow, anxiety: although he does not show it, he really cares a great deal, b (more frequently with neg.) to be indifferent to, unmoved by, not to be afraid &c., in various idiomatic Phrs I don't care, have no interest, am indifferent, I don't care what happens now, (often with expletive) I don't care a damn, a straw, a button, a brass farthing &c. 2 (with for followed by n) a To fool a strong liking, or affection, for do you think she ever really cared for her husband?, b to look after, take charge of, provide for: the country must care for those who were crippled in the war, c (more usual with neg.) to dislike, prefer to dispense with I don't care for him at all, I don't much care for mustard with mutton. Phr (colloq. and vulg.) I don't care if I do, I am willing, do not object.

careen, vb. trans & intrans. [1 kárén, 2 kórén] Lat. carina, 'keel of a ship', op. Gk. karus, káruon, 'nut', Sort káralak, 'shell of oococnut, water vessel made therefrom' (lit.) To expose a ship's keel (naut.) a To cause a vessel to be over on one side, on beach, or in dock, so as to expose keel, for cleaning and repairs, b to (cause a vessel to) heel over on one side when in the water.

careenage, n. [1 kárénj, 2 kórénj] Prece & -age. Act of careening a ship, place adapted for this work, coast of work.

career (I), n. [1 kárér, 2 kárie] fr. Fr. carrière, Lat. carriarius (vie), 'carriage (way)', fr. carus. See car. 1 Rapid course, impetuous motion onwards, esp. in full career, mad career. 2 Mode of living, course, progress through life, way of earning a living, success in profession or business.

career (II), vb. intrans. fr. prece. To rush wildly, rapidly, as in a frolic or high spirits, often career about.

careerist, n. [1 kárfíst, 2 kárfaríst] career (I) & -ist. One concerned mainly with his own success in life, to the exclusion of other considerations.

careful, adj. [1 kárfúol, 2 káfí] See care (I), & -ful. Orig. meaning 'full of care, anxious, troubled', is now archaic & obs. a (of persons) painstaking, given to bestowing attention, prudent in judgement, cautious in action, provident, thrifty, b (of mode of performance of a mental or physical act) executed with care, exact, thorough.

a careful study, careful gleaning &c. carefully, adv. Prece & -ly. In a painstaking, exact manner.

carefulness, n. See prece & -ness. Bestowal of care, exactness.

careless, adj. [1 kárlés, 2 kórlis] See care (I) & -less. 1 Free from anxiety, light-hearted, happy, careless youth. 2 Careless of, indifferent to, unheeding, undeterred by he performed his task, careless of danger and discomfort. 3 Thoughtless, negligent, hence, incompetent (of persons and their acts).

carelessly, adv. Prece & -ly. In a careless manner.

carelessness, n. See prece & -ness. Mental habit of inattention, negligence &c., result of this in action. Phr a piece of carelessness.

caress (I), n. [1 káres, 2 kórés] Fr. caresse, fr. Ital. carezza, Low Lat. coria*, 'endearment', fr. cárus, 'dear, beloved', cp Sort cárus, 'pleasant, agreeable', O Fr. caroim, 'I love'. See charity. Gesture or act expressing love or affection, such as a kiss, embrace, pat &c.

caross (II), vb. trans. fr. prece. a To fondle, kiss &c., in a loving, affectionate way, b to flatter, employ blandishments towards, soothe.

caressing, adj. [1 kárféng, 2 kárféng] fr. Prece Part of prece (of manner, voice, tone, look, touch) Endearing, loving, expressive of affection, soothing.

caressingly, adv. Prece & -ly. In a caressing manner.

caret, n. [1 káret; 2 kérét] Lat. 'it needs, is lacking', prece Indio of carere, 'to be without'. See base under card (I). Mark (A) placed after a word in written page or printed proof to indicate where something is to be added.

caretaker, n. [1 kárfákar, 2 kórfáka] See car (I) & take. A subordinate employee whose business it is to take care of, look after, clean, protect from unauthorized intrusion, a building, esp. an unoccupied house, a museum or picture gallery, a church &c.

careworn, adj. [1 kárfórn, 2 káfórn] Oppressed by cares and anxiety, showing traces of this in appearance, tired, haggard, weary looking.

Carex, n. [1 káreks, 2 káféks] Lat. 'rush, sedge', etymol. unknown (bot). Genus of plants which includes the sedges.

carfax, n. [1 kárfaks, 2 káféks] ME carfulax, fr. O Fr. carrefour, fr. L. Lat. quadriforum, fr. Lat. quodrus, fr. quatuor, 'four', & furcus, 'fork'. See four & fork & Sheat's note on the word. Place where four roads meet, now only surviving as name of such in towns, as at Oxford &c.

cargo, n. [1 kárgó; 2 káfó] Span. fr. Low Lat. caricium, lit. 'a cart load', fr. Lat. carus, 'our'. See car & charge (I). Freight of a ship.

caribou, -boo, n. [1 kárbú, 2 káfú] Am. Ind. word, said to mean, 'pawer, oratcher'. The N. American reindeer.

caricature, n. & vb. trans. [1 kárfikátúr, 2 kárfikátúr] Ital. caricatura, fr. caricare, 'to load, charge, blame', fr. Low Lat. caricidra, 'to load a car' (see car & charge (I)). Orig. something overloaded, overcharged, distorted. 1 n. A grotesque, laughable representation (i) of a person, in a drawing, of his manner, voice &c., by mimicry, or (ii) of the style of a writer, composer, painter &c. The essential feature of caricature is exaggeration of some characteristic feature or mannerism; b said also of a person or thing which is very ugly, ill shaped, badly made. 'A caricature of a face' (Gilbert). 2 vb. To make a caricature of, to represent in caricature.

caricaturist, n. [1 kárfikátúrist, 2 kárfikátúrist] Prece & -ist. Person who draws or makes caricatures.

caries, n. [1 kárlés, 2 káférlis] Lat. 'rotteness, decay', op. Sort ándis, 'smashes, destroys', kúrás, 'broken to pieces', Gk. kár, 'death, destruction, disease'. It is possible that Sort caru, 'shot', Goth haurus, OE hearu, 'sword' = 'instrument of destruction', belong to the same group of words. Decay, esp. of bones and teeth.

carillon, n. [1 kárlíyn, 2 káfírlíyn] or as Fr. [kárjál] Fr. 'peal of bells'. Derivation is suggested fr. Med. Lat. quadrifonem, 'set of four bells'. a A peal or chime of bells, arranged so that tunes &c. can be played by one person, the carillonneur, b tune, melody played on such set of bells.

carinate, adj. [1 kárlínát, 2 káfírlínát] fr. Lat. carinát(-us), fr. carina, 'keel'. See careen. Shaped like the keel of a ship, with ridge down the centre, a (bot.) of leaves &c., b (zool.) of sternum or breast bone of birds.

carious, adj [1 kárus, 2 kéarus] Lat cariosus, 'decayed', fr carries & -ous Decayed

carling, adj [1 kárling, 2 kárlip] O Fr carlier, fr Low Lat carrière, 'load' See oar & cargo Cp obs vh to carle. Oppressive, irritating, chiefly in Phr carling care carl(e), n [1 karl, 2 kál] O N karl, also in O.E. karr, op Germ kerl, & see cogn form under ohurl (Scots) Fellow, rude, rustic kind of man carline (I), n [1 kárlin, 2 kárlin] Cp O N ferling, fr prec w fem suff (Scots) Old woman carline (II), n Fr, fr Med Lat carlina, said to be for Carolina, fem adj fr Carolus, 'Charles', ie Charlemagne (bot) Genus of plants, resembling the thistle carminole, n [1 kármányól, 2 káman-fóul] Fr a Originally a kind of short jacket worn during French Revolution, b a round dance of a rowdy, licentious character, much in vogue among the lower order of Revolutionaries at that time This is the only sense now borne by the word in English carman, n [1 kármán, 2 kármán] See oar & man Person employed to drive a horse waggon or lorry, esp one carrying goods and parcels, a carter (Never applied to driver of vehicle propelled by petrol or steam)

Carmelite, n & adj [1 kármellit, 2 kármelit] fr Mount Carmel, place of foundation in 12th cent a n One of an order of mendicant friars, the White Friars; b adj, belonging to this order carminative, adj & n [1 kármínatív, 2 kármínatív] fr Lat carminat (um), PP type of carminare, 'card wool', hence 'cleanse', fr same base as card (I) (med.) a adj Expelling, removing, flatulence, b n, drug, medicine, which does this, as dull, away &c carmine, n & adj [1 kármín, 2 kármán] Fr & Span carmin, fuller Span form carmesin, Med Lat carmesinus See crimson A crimson-red colour with touch of purple carriage, n [1 káruj, 2 káridz] Fr, fr Ital caraggio, L Lat caraticum See carnal & -age Severe slaughter, esp of human beings carnal, adj [1 kárnál, 2 kárnál] fr Lat carn, stem of caro, 'flesh', orig 'piece of flesh, portion cut from a carcass', & adj suff -ilis (see -al) Caro is cogn w Gk keirō, 'I cut off' (fr *ker-jō), Sort kérdis, 'he cuts', Lith keris, 'back' O.H.G. sceran, 'ont', O.E. sceran, 'ont, shear', are fr a variant, *sker-, of same base The Lat word shows therefore a highly specialized use of a base meaning 'to cut', & must orig have meant merely 'a slice' See other development of same base under card (I). Not related to Gk kréas, 'flesh', q.v. under crude & raw Pertaining to the flesh, esp in figurative sense of lower nature and its appetites, as opposed to the spirit, sensual, material, worldly carnal affections, lusts, desires, carnal knowledge (of), sexual intercourse carnality, n [1 kárnáliti, 2 kárnáliti] Prec & -ity Fleshly appetite, lust, indulgence in this carnally, adv [1 kárnáliti, 2 kárnáliti] carnal & -ly In the body, according to the flesh, or the lower nature 'to be carnally minded is death' carnation, n [1 kárnáshun, 2 kárnéifon] Fr, 'flesh tint, complexion', fr Lat carnation-(em), fr carn-(is), caro, 'flesh' See carnal. 1 A bright rosy or pink colour, as of flesh, also as adjective 2 A cultivated variety of the clove pink, of different colours, in this sense the word appears first as coronation, coronation &c, and may have meant shaped like a corona, 'crown', from its undented petals carnelian, n [1 kárnélian, 2 kárnélian] Variant of cornelian. Influenced by association w various words of carn-type, fr the colour See carnal & carnation (mineral) Stone of fine red or reddish-white colour carnival, n [1 kárnival, 2 kárníval] Fr, Ital carnevale, older carnelevale, 'putting away of flesh' (as food) See carnal & levor 1 Week just before Lent, festivities and frolics held at this season in Roman Catholic countries 2 Generally, revelry, verging on riotousness

Carnivora, n [1 kárnivora, 2 kárnivore] Lat neut pl, 'flesh eating' See carnal & voracious (zool) Order of flesh eating mammals carnivore, n [1 kárnivör, 2 kárnivör] Fr, fr Lat carnivorus See prec A flesh eating mammal carnivorous, adj [1 kárnivorus, 2 kárnivores] See prec & -ous Flesh eating, of animals, and also of certain plants carob, n [1 karob, 2 károb] Fr carobe, fr Arab kharrub, 'pod, bean' An evergreen Mediterranean tree, with edible seed-pods carol, n [1 károl, 2 káral] O Fr carole, Ital carola, 'a dance in a ring', fr Med Lat choraula*, 'a dance to the flute', fr Gk choraulēs, 'player on flute for a dance', fr choros, 'dance in a ring, festive choral dance', & aúlōs, 'flute' See choral With the second element op Gk aulōn, 'valley, ditch', O Prussian aulis, 'pipe', O Slav ulica, 'lane' a A merry, joyful song, esp of Christmas hymns, b (poet) the song of birds

Caroline, adj [1 károlin, 2 károlin] fr Lat form Carolus, 'Charles' Belonging to the time of Charles I or II Caroline poetry

Carolingian, adj [1 károlinjan, 2 károlindžian] See prec Belonging to the time of Charlemagne, or to the dynasty founded by him, also Carolingian carom, n [1 kárum, 2 kárem] fr Fr carambolage, 'a cushion in billiards', carambole, 'to make a cannon', fr carambole, 'the red ball', etymol doubtful (billiards) Cannon, now obsolete, except for French and American billiards played on table without pockets carotid (I), adj & n [1 károtid, 2 károtid] Fr carotide, fr Gk karōtides, 'the great arteries of the neck', fr karos, 'heavy sleep, torpor', fr belief that drowsiness was caused by the carotids Etymol obscure a adj Pertaining to, situated near, one of the carotids. carotid gland &c, b n, also carotid artery, one of the two great arteries of the neck carousal, n [1 károuzál, 2 károuzál] See carouse & -al A hilarious, jovial feast; noisy drinking-bout carouse, vb intrans & n [1 károuz, 2 károuz] Fr carousser, fr Germ gar aus, 'right out, to the bottom', in reference to emptying the cup at one gulp in drinking 1 vb 'To drink deeply and with joviality, to feast, engage in a carousal' 2 n Act of carousing, a jolly, copious feast accompanied by plentiful potations carp (I), n [1 karp, 2 káp]. Occurs not only in most Gmo languages, but in nearly identical form in Lat carpa, Russ Larp, Lith. karpa, W karp Perb a pro-Aryan word in Europe wh penetrated through Gmo into other languages, op also Gk karpinos, Sort kápharōs &c a (zool) A family of fresh-water fish, Cyprinidae, which includes the common carp, also gudgeon, chub, roach &c, b the common carp, often bred in lakes and ponds, the 'gold fish' of China is a special variety carp (II), vb intrans M.E. carpen, 'say, speak', fr O.N. karpa, 'boast', but later sense influenced by Lat carpere, 'to pluck' See this base under carpel To find fault unreasonably, in a sharp, biting, unpleasant manner (usually carp at, esp in Pres. Part. form as adj) carping criticism &c carpal, adj & n [1 kárpál, 2 kárpál] fr carpus & -al a adj Pertaining to the carpus, or wrist, or the corresponding part in the fore-limb of vertebrates, b n, the carpal bone or carpus carpel, n [1 kárpel, 2 kápel] Lat carpellum, new formation, dimin of Gk karpós, 'fruit', the orig meaning of wh is 'that which is plucked or gathered', op the cogn Lat carpere, 'pluck, cull, gather', further Gk krépon, 'syrthe', Sort kypánel, 'sword', Lith káipn, 'ont with scissors, shear' See the same base w specialized meanings under harvest, harp (bot) Single-celled pistil, one cell of a compound pistil carpenter (I), n [1 kárpinter, 2 kárpint] In M.E. fr O Fr carpenter, Low Lat carpentarius, 'waggon or carriage builder', earlier 'a waggon driver', fr carpentum, 'two wheeled covered carriage, coach, chariot, agricultural cart', op carpentaria, 'waggon-maker's workshop'. Carpentum is prob a Gaulish word, op O Ir carpat, 'waggon', W kerbyd, 'coach' a One whose trade it is to cut and fix wood used in construction of buildings, eg roof timbers, floors, panels, doors, and other timber-work fittings, he also makes movable wooden articles of a rough kind, such as boxes and frames, but not household furniture, a joiner, b an amateur who makes wooden articles, does repairs in woodwork &c quite a clever carpenter carpenter (II), vb, fr prec To do carpenter's work carpenter-ant, n A black ant that builds elaborate nests in wood carpenter-bee, n Wild, solitary bee which lays its eggs in holes bored in wood carpentry, n [1 kárpintri, 2 kárpintis] carpenter & -y a The art of cutting and joining timber, constructing in wood, b the work of a carpenter carpet (I), n [1 kárpit, 2 kárpit] Found in M.E. as early as 1284, O Fr carpite, L Lat carpita, 'kind of thick cloth', prob fr Lat carpere, 'pluck' &c (see carpol), either fr action in weaving, or fr the cloth being made of shreds, op L Lat carpia, fr charpie, 'lint' 1 A thick, heavy woven fabric of wool, silk, or jute &c used for covering floors, also compressed compound of cork &c, cori-carpet 2 A square, or strip of this, forming a unity, used for a room or corridor Phr on the carpet, a (of a topic, question, project) under consideration, b (colloq, of employed &c) reprimanded 3 Anything resembling a carpet by covering the ground evenly a carpet of moss, leaves, flowers carpet (II), vb trans fr prec a To cover with (a) carpet to carpet the stairs, b to strew, or cover evenly and thickly, as leaves, flowers &c carpeted with flowers, a (colloq, of employer &c) to summon (servant, employee &c) into room in order to reprimand him carpet-bag, n Old fashioned travelling bag made of carpet.

carpet-bagger, n [1 kárpit báger, 2 kárpit bága] Prec & -er Parliamentary candidate or member imported from another district, one who does not reside in constituency, but visits it occasionally for a few nights, originally an American political slang term, of shady candidates from the Northern States in the South, during period after Civil War carpet-bedding, n (hort) System of planting a garden bed thickly with low-growing herbaceous plants with bright colouring arranged in geometrical patterns carpeting, n [1 kárpiting, 2 kárpitip] carpet & -ing Material for carpets, floor-coverings carpet-knight, n (in disparaging sense) A knight or soldier who has never served in the field, but has gained all his experience at home under safe and comfortable conditions carpetless, adj [1 kárpitless, 2 kárpitless] fr carpet & -less Without a carpet, uncarpeted carpet-rod, n, fr carpat & rod. Metal rod for holding stair-carpet in position, one being fixed at base of each stair (Also stair rod) carpet-sweeper, n Mechanical device for sweeping carpets, consisting of a revolving brush set in a covered receptacle on wheels, often worked by electricity carpo- (I), pref Form of carpus, used in composition carpo- (II), pref Form of Glk karpós, 'fruit', used in composition See carpel carpology, n [1 kárpólógi, 2 kárpólédzi] See preo & -logy Study of the structure of fruits carpus, n [1 kárpus, 2 kárpás] Lat., fr Glk karpós, 'wrist', fr karp-*, lit 'part which turns, moves' Cp Goth hvarðan, 'throw (oneself), walk', O E hweorfan, 'go, move', O H G hwerfan, Mod. Germ werfen, 'throw' Cp wharf (anat.) In man, the wrist, the joint between hand and forearm, the corresponding part in other vertebrates carrack. See carack.

carraheen, also carraheen moss, n [1 káragén, 2 káragín], fr place name Carraheen (Irish sea weed found on coasts of Ireland) carriage, n [1 káruj, 2 káridz] O Fr carriage, 'that which is carried, luggage'

Mod Engl sense of 'vehicle', prob influenced by the obs caroch, 'coach, carriage', fr O Fr carroche, 'stately, luxurious form of coach' carry & -age 1 Act, or process of carrying, conveying, transporting any thing, specif, transport and delivery of goods by rail, ship &c

2 Cost of, charge made for, carrying goods &c, expenses of carriage the carriage on these parcels will be heavy

3 A mode of holding, bearing, posing, head, limbs, and person generally, deportment, bearing an awkward, a graceful, carriage, b (fig, in moral sense) demeanour, behaviour, manners (archaic and obsolete)

4 A any of several varieties of wheeled vehicle, esp a private one with four wheels, drawn by horse, mule, or donkey, for conveying persons private carriage, carriage and pair, pony carriage Phrs to start, set up, a carriage, to own a carriage for first time, to keep, drive a carriage, to have a private carriage, b compartment of a coach on a railway, reserved for passengers and light luggage, c that part of a motor car, distinct from wheels, engine &c, in which the passengers sit

5 Applied to various con- tinances for bearing and moving heavy things, parts of machinery &c, e.g a heavy frame on wheels on which cannon of various sizes are supported and transported, gun carriage, b device for shifting the part of a typewriter which holds the paper from one position to another carriageable, adj [1 kárujabl, 2 káridžabl] See preo & -able Of road, having a surface which permits of a carriage being driven along it (Rare) carriage-dog, n White and black or brown spotted Dalmatian, formerly chained to back axle of private carriage to prevent unauthorized persons from riding upon it carriage-drive, n Road through private grounds, esp one leading to the house carriage-folk, n (vulg) People who keep a private carriage, implying that they are in comfortable circumstances carriage-forward, adv Tradesman's phrase meaning that the cost of carrying goods is to be paid on delivery carriage-free, adv Cost of transport of goods paid by sender, not by recipient, and therefore 'free' so far as the latter is concerned carriage-horse, n One broken to harness and used, or suitable, for drawing a carriage carriage-paid, adv Qualifying to send, sent &c, implying that cost of delivery of goods is paid beforehand by sender carriack bend, n [1 kárik bénd, 2 kárik bénd] Etymol doubtful, prob variant of carack. (nant) Special kind of knot for joining two cables carrier, n [1 kárier, 2 kériu] carry & -er 1 A Person whose trade it is to carry goods of all kinds for hire from one place to another, and to distribute them to the persons to whom, or at the places to which, they are severally addressed, b specif, a trading concern, such as a railway or steamboat company, part of whose recognized business it is to carry goods

Phr common carrier, one licensed to ply the trade 2 n Part of a machine which moves, and bears with it something which in the process of the work done by the machine requires to be shifted from one position to another, b support for luggage &c, attached to motor car or bicycle

3 Person, or thing, acting as medium of transmission, (e.g of disease germs) milk is a recognized carrier of infection, certain persons are carriers of diseases, such as typhoid and diphtheria carrier-pigeon, n A variety of pigeon with special faculty for long flight, and for finding its way home from long distances, used to carry written messages carriole, n [1 károl, 2 károlu] Fr, fr Mod Lat carriola, dimin of carrus, 'two wheeled waggon' See car a Light, open car for one (arobato), b Canadian sledge carrian, n & adj [1 kárian, 2 kérien] M E carrian, carrian, O Fr carroigne, Mod Fr charoigne, Low Lat caronia, fr Lat caro, genit carnis, 'flesh' See carrial a n Putrefying animal carcass, rotten flesh, meat unfit for food, bad, resembling, belonging to, carrian carrian-bottle, n One of numerous sorts of bottles that feed upon dead animals carrian-crow, n The black crow carriade, n [1 káridád, 2 káridíd] fr Carrian, in Scotland, where gun was first made A short naval gun for throwing heavy shot carrian-oil, n [1 kárian óil, 2 kérien óil] Said to be first used at Carrian ironworks, in Scotland A mixture of linseed oil and lime-water, used for treating burns carrot, n [1 kárut, 2 kéret] Fr carotte, fr Lat carota, fr Glk karótion The suggestion of Boissac that this Glk word is derived fr a composition karos*, meaning 'head', fr wh another etymologist derives the vb karótithan, 'to feel the head heavy', káritus, 'heaviness of head', &c, is not convincing

An annual plant, Daucus carota, root of which is used as a vegetable, it is orange red in colour, broad at the top and tapering, and of a sweetish taste, b pl carrots (colloq), red haired person carrotty, adj [1 kárutl, 2 kéretl] Preo & -y Having colour of a carrot, reddish, applied especially to human hair of this colour carry (I), vb trans & intrans [1 kári, 2 kéri] M E carien, O Fr (Picard) carier, cp Fr charrier, orig 'transport in a car', Low Lat carriare See car In the various meanings of the word in English, the senses of moving and supporting the weight of something, either combined, or singly, appear always to lurk, whether in the literal or figurative uses

A trans 1 A To support the weight of something, and move it from one place to another while doing so to carry a box on one's shoulder, carry a basket in one's hand carry a bundle in one's arms Phrs carry coals to Newcastle, do something which is unnecessary, carry one's bat (at cricket), not to be out when innings is finished, to carry weight, of a race horse, to be handicapped, to carry sail, of a ship, to carry one's liquor like a gentleman, without showing signs of intoxication, b specif, to cart hay from field after it is fully made the hay was cut and carried the same day, c (of wind) to bear, wait along to carry a sound, smoke &c 2 To bear about with one for use or ornament to carry a gun, stick, sword 3 To support weight of something while remaining stationary the timbers carry the whole weight of the roof Phr (of argument &c) to carry weight, to be convincing, weighty 4 To maintain, hold, the body and limbs while standing or walking to carry oneself well, with dignity &c, carry one's head on one's side 5 To convey from one place, or person, to another, a (non material things) to carry information, news, a message, b to conduct, accompany, a person from one place to another he carried me to his lodgings (obs) 6 To extend, prolong, in a given direction to carry a wall round a field, carry trellis work up round a window &c 7 To move one's eye, shift one's range of vision to carry one's eye along a line &c 8 (mil) To gain, obtain possession of, by successful attack to carry an enemy's position, a fortress &c, (fig) to carry everything, all, before one, be uniformly successful 9 a (of persons) To win over to one's own view by persuasion and argument to carry one's audience with one, I hope to carry you with me, b (of opinions, proposals &c) to succeed in commending these by persuading others that they are sound, obtain approval and support for them to carry a resolution (at a meeting), to carry one's point 10 (of various mental processes) a To retain in the memory to carry something in one's head, b to induce, impose, impress with: his words carried conviction to his hearers, c to bring along as a necessary consequence, involve, imply promotion carries with it higher pay 11 (accounts, usually with over) To transfer (figures &c) from one column to another

B intrans 1 To perform act of carrying, chiefly in Phr to fetch and carry (for somebody) 2 A To traverse space, reach to a certain distance, (of sound) his voice did not carry beyond the first few rows, the sound of the guns carried many miles, b to cause to traverse space, be capable of propelling, (of guns) our ships would not carry as far as the enemy ships C with adv Carry away, trans, a lit to remove, e.g a load of bricks &c, b (of storm, wind, water, collision) to break off, remove forcibly from position (of ship's mast &c), c (of action on, or through the emotions) to stir feelings of, deprive of cool judgement carried away by enthusiasm, by eloquence &c Carry forward, trans, a to advance, make progress with (an enterprise &c), b (book keeping) to transfer an item, entry, to next page, statement of accounts &c Carry off, trans, a to take, lead, away, remove to another place, usually by force (prisoners, booty), b (of disease &c) to remove from existence, kill, c to win (prize, honours &c), d to make the best of to carry (a thing) off well, to put a good face on a matter, show self-possession. Carry on, a trans, to pursue, continue, employ oneself in (a business, a discussion &c), b intrans, (i) to keep on, keep going (at work &c), (ii) (colloq) to behave in an excited, angry, or flirtatious manner Carry out, trans, to accomplish, continue to the end, complete (a scheme, threat, enterprise &c) Carry over, trans (Stock Exchange), to postpone date of settlement, hold till next selling day Carry through, trans, a to accomplish, complete carry an undertaking through, b to support, sustain (in difficulties &c) his courage will carry him through carry (II), n, fr preo A Position of rifle or sword held vertically in front of right shoulder, esp in Phr at the carry, b flight, range of projectile from gun, or ball when hit by bat or club carryings-on, n [1 kári ingz ón, 2 kéri ingz ón] (colloq) Frivolous, slightly reprehensible behaviour carrying-trade, n [1 kári ing trád, 2 kéri ing trád] That consisting in the transport of goods, esp by water cart (I), n [1 kárt, 2 kát] O E cart, M E carte &c The latter may be fr O N kartr Etymol doubtful Celt words, such as W ker, Gael carri, may be borrowed fr Engl, prob connected w crate A two or four wheeled vehicle, drawn by one or more horses, for carrying loads, used of various vehicles, e.g those used by tradesmen for distributing wares butcher's cart &c, by carriers for their trade, by coal merchants coal cart, by agricultural labourers for moving farm produce, calves &c (see neck and reaching to the feet, worn by the clergy, under the surplice, or as ordinary walking dress, also by choristers and other officials in obituary, the lower clergy wear black cassocks as a rule, bishops, purple ones cassollette, n [1 kāsōlēt, 2 kāsōlēt] Fr, dimin of cassole, itself dimin of casse, 'pan' See group of words under casserole A vessel with a perforated lid, for holding or burning perfumes cassone, n [1 kāsōnā, 2 kāsōno] Ital, 'chest', see case (I) A marriage chest, usually painted, carved, and gilded cassowary, n [1 kāsōwari, 2 kāsōwari] fr Malay casuari Bird, something like an ostrich, but smaller and thicker built, found in Australia and New Guinea cast (I), vb trans & intrans [1 kəst, 2 kəst] ME casten, fr ON kasta, porb cogn w Lat gest-(um), gerere, 'bear, carry about' &c See gerent & gesture A trans 1 To propel through the air, esp by means of the hand, throw Phr to cast (something) in a person's teeth, make it a ground for reproach Various specific uses 2 To set, place, usually with violence cast ashore &c 3 To throw in a particular direction or manner for some specific purpose, a (in fishing) cast a fly, throw artificial fly attached to line so that it falls lightly on the water, b cast the lead, measure depth of water, c cast dice, Phr the die is cast, something irretrievably settled, d (of non material things) cast a fool, glance &c at, direct towards, to cast the blame on a person, make him responsible 4 To let down, throw overboard, from a ship, while still retaining connexion with cast anchor, a net &c 5 To shed, throw off, part of organism as a natural process a snake casts its skin, a stag casts its antlers &c 6 To drop prematurely a tree casts its fruit, a cow its calf &c 7 To dismiss, reject after examination a veterinary surgeon casts a horse for unsoundness 8 To cause to fall, be immediate cause of cast a shadow, light &c on person or thing, (fig) cast a slur, aspersions, on a person's character &c 9 To draw by chance cast lots 10 To record, give cast a vote 11 To form, shape, in a mould cast a statue, part for machine &c (in plaster, molten metal &c) 12 To reckon up, calculate value of cast accounts, cast a horoscope 13 (theat) a To distribute the parts in a play to the actors, b to assign a part to to cast an actor for a certain part 14 (legal) To condemn to pay damages in a lawsuit to be cast in, for, damages 15 Cast loose (a boat), unfasten connecting cable &c, detach B intrans Specif, to throw a line, a fly, in fishing C With adverbs Cast about, to devise, make plans, seek out cast about for means of escape Cast aside, to reject, abandon, throw away Cast away, a to reject, throw aside, b to throw away, waste (one's fortune &c), c to wreck (a ship) Cast down, a to overthrow, b (fig) to depress, fill with dejection Cast in cast in one's lot with, to be prepared to share fortunes of Cast off, a trans, to abandon, reject, b (fig) to free oneself from (follies &c), c (in knitting) trans & intrans, to finish off (stitches), finish off a piece of work Cast on, trans & intrans, to make first row of stitches on needle, in beginning a piece of knitting cast (II), n fr prec 1 a The action of casting, single throw (of dice, line in fishing, net &c), b piece of fine gut &c fastened to end of fishing rod, to which the fly, or hook with bait, is attached 2 Something that is shed, thrown off, rejected, by natural process, esp (i) skin shed by insect, snake &c, (ii) small mass of earth left on surface of ground by worms 3 The actors to whom the parts of a play are assigned a good, weak, cast 4 a A model, figure, made by shaping material in a mould while soft or liquid, b characteristc quality cast of character, features &c 5 Twist, wrong inclination, esp a cast in the eye, slight squint 6 Tinge of colour a slight cast of blue

Castalinn, adj [1 kəstələn, 2 kəstələn] a Belonging to Castalia, a fountain on Mount Parnassus, sacred to the Muses, hence, b poetic castanets, n pl [1 kastanēts, 2 kastanēts] Fr castagnettes, fr Span castañetas, fr Lat castanea, 'chestnut' See chestnut The name may be due either to fancied resemblance of the things to chestnuts in shape, or to their having been made of chestnut wood Pair of small, flattish, but slightly hollowed pieces of ivory or hard wood, connected by a cord or ribbon, held by thus to the thumb and clapped together by the middle finger in time to music castaway, n [1 kəstəwā, 2 kəstəwə] cast (I) & away a One who has been shipwrecked, b (fig) an outcast, hardened sinner caste, n [1 kəst, 2 kəst] fr Port casta, 'unmixed race, breed, race, strain', fr casto, 'pure', hence 'well bred', fr Lat. castus, 'pure' &c See chaste 1 One of the hereditary social classes or groups of the Hindus 2 Exclusive social group or class generally Phr to lose caste, forfeit right to respect, or to social privileges castellan, n [1 kastelan, 2 kastelen] O Fr castelain, Lat castellānus, 'belonging to a castle' See château & onstle The warden, constable, or occupant of a castle castellated, adj [1 kastēlēt, 2 kastēlēt] Low Lat castellātus See castle & -ate a (of building) Provided with battlements, turrets &c, built to look like a castle, machicolated, b (of a district) rich in castles caster, n See castor (II, III) castigate, vb trans [1 kastigēt, 2 kastigēt] fr Lat castigāre, P.P. of castigare, 'cleanse (fr guilt), to correct, punish' For castigate, formed fr castus, 'morally pure', see chaste, chastise, & agere, 'do, make' &c, see not 1 To chastise, punish severely, esp by blows, also to reprove severely and harshly, to scold bitterly 2 To criticize adversely, make corrections in, amend (a literary work) castigation, n [1 kastigāshun, 2 kastigāshun] Lat castigatio (em) See prec & -ion 1. a Punishment, esp a whipping, b sharp reproof, scolding. 2 Emendation of literary work after critical examination castigatory, adj [1 kastigātē, 2 kastigātē] See prec & -ory, Corrective, disciplinary casting, n [1 kəsting, 2 kəsting] See cast (I) & -ing a The process of shaping metal by running it into moulds in a molten state, b piece of metal shaped by casting, esp as part of a machine casting-net, n A net that is cast or let down into the water and drawn in at once.

casting-vote, n Decisive vote, specif, that cast or given on a division by the chairman of a meeting, in addition to his former vote, when the voting on both sides is equal cast iron (I), n [1 kəst lērn, 2 kəst diən] Iron smelted in a blast furnace, containing a large proportion of carbon, and not malleable, op wrought iron cast-iron (II), adj a Made of cast iron, b (fig) unyielding, inflexible, inelastic cast-iron rules, constitution castle, n [1 kəstl, 2 kəstl] ME castel, found before Conquest in Late OE, fr Lat castellum, 'citadel, fortress, stronghold', dimin of castrum, 'fortified camp' Various explanations of castrum have been suggested, of wh the most convincing appears to be that of Walde, that it is connected w Lat castrare, 'to cut' (see castrate), & means orig 'a place, or building, cut off, separated' For snch transference of meaning op thwaite 1 Strongly fortified building or group of buildings, usually surrounded by a moat, as in place of defence Phr castle in the air, in Spain, day dream, baseless hopes and plans 2 A large imposing house, either originally fortified or built in imitation of a castle, but with no present purpose of defence 3 A stronghold, place of refuge, giving security from attack, esp in Phr an Englishman's house is his castle 4 (Ireland) The Castle a seat of the former viceregal government in Dublin, hence, b the viceregal household & government itself 5 (obess) Piece made like tower with battlements, also called rook castor (I), n [1 kəstər, 2 kəstə] Through Lat. & Fr, fr Gk kastor, 'beaver' Etymol unknown 1 Genus of rodent animals which includes the beaver family 2 Pungent oily substance obtained from the beaver, used in medicine and perfumery, castoreum 3 (obs) Slang name for a beaver hat castor (II), castor, n, fr cast (I) & -or, -er Bottle, with perforated top, for sprinkling pepper, or sugar, upon food at table, extended to collection of bottles contained in cruet-stand, holding condiments castor (III), caster, n, fr cast (I), in obs sense 'to turn', & -er Small wheel or roller made to revolve on central pin as well as to turn in any direction, fixed below the legs of heavy household furniture, esp of arm chairs and tables, to enable them to be moved along the floor without lifting castor (IV), n Etymol doubtful It is also called a 'chestnut', & may be corrupt of O Fr castanea A small callanty on the inner side of a horse's leg castoreum, n [1 kastōrēum, 2 kastōrēum] Lat See castor (I) castor-oil, n So called fr supposed relation w castoreum See prec Oil made from seeds of castor oil plant, Ricinus communis, used as a purgative castrametation, n [1 kastramētāshun, 2 kastramētāshun] Fr, fr Lat castra, 'camp' (see castle), & mētāre, 'measure off'. See base of this under meter (archaeol) The art of camp planning, plan of a camp castrate, vb trans [1 kastreit, 2 kastreit] Lat castrāre, P.P. -atum, 'cut, gold'. Op Sort castrum, 'knife', castrum, 'cut', prob related to Lat cās, cās, 'whetstone' See further under castigate, castle, chastan, chaste 1 To remove testicles, gold, emasculate 2 (fig) To expurgate (book &c) castration, n [1 kastreishun, 2 kastreishun] See prec & -ion a The act, or process, of castrating, b state of being castrated casual, adj & n [1 kəzhuəl, 2 kəzhuəl] Fr casuel, fr Lat casualis, 'accidental, fortuitous', fr cāsus, 'case, chance'. See case (I) & -al 1 Happening by chance, accidental, unexpected casual visit, visitor, meeting, reference &c 2 A Carolee, without any definite intention casual glance, conversation, allusion, b (colloq) negligent, tending to leave things to chance, careless of, and indifferent to, convenience of others a very casual sort of person 3 Irregular, occasional, esp casual labourer, one who works at irregular intervals, taking any job that offers, casual poor, vagrants &c, occasionally in need of poor relief, esp the vagrants who are dealt with in the casual ward of a workhouse 4 n A vagrant, (in pl) the casual poor casually, adv Prec & -ly In a casual manner, by chance, fortuitously, carelessly casualness, n See prec & -ness The quality of being casual, esp in colloq sense (casual, 2, b) casualty, n [1 kəzhuəlti, 2 kəzhuəlti] casual & -ty 1 A case of bodily injury, n as a result of accident, or b in battle &c, whether slight, serious, or fatal 2 (pl) Number of killed or wounded in battle heavy casualties, the total casualties &c casualty-list, n A list of those killed or wounded in time of war casual-ward, n The ward, rooms &c in which casuals are dealt with in a workhouse casuist, n [1 kəzhuist, 2 kəzhuist] Fr casuiste, fr Lat cāsus & -ist See case (I) casuistic(al), adj [1 kəzhuistik(ə), 2 kəzhuistik(ə)] Prec & -ic & -al In the manner of a casuist, pertaining to casuistry casiuistically, adv. Free & -ly In a casuistical manner, by casuistic arguments &c casuistry, n. [1 káshústrí, 2 káshústrí] casuist & -ry 1 The art of applying general principles of conduct and morality to particular cases, determining precise hearing of former on latter, discovering and classifying the exceptions, and deciding how far in a given case an action can be justified and made to come under the rules laid down by Scripture, the Church, and society 2 (in disparaging sense) Disingenuous method of reasoning, over subtlety, sophistry casus belli, n. [1 lázus béli, 2 kénzus béli] Lat See case (I) & bellicose Action of foreign power, or political occurrence, between two nations, which justifies declaration of war cat (I), n. [1 lat, 2 kát] O E cat, & in all Gmc languages Du & Dan lat, Swed katt, Mod Germ Katz, O N kett, also W caith, Ir cat, Lat catus, 'malo cat', O Slav kotika, 'cat', Russ kot, 'tom cat', Little Russ litla ko 'The word must have passed as a loan word, prob fr some non-Aryan tongue, into all these languages, but whence it came is unknown 1 A small carnivorous animal remarkable for its activity, with soft fur, a long slender tail, and retractile claws, domesticated both in the East and West from the most ancient historical period, Thrs a cat may look at a king, the humblest have their rights, even in the presence of the highest, to bell the cat, make a common enemy harmless (from fable), care killed the cat, a cat-and-dog life, with constant quarrels, fight like Kilkenny cats, with ferocity, let the cat out of the bag, reveal a secret, not room to swing a cat, very small space, rain cats and dogs, heavily, wait for the cat to jump, see which way the cat jumps, wait for expression of public opinion before deciding on course of action, as many trees as a cat, active as a cat, to climb like a cat, b (zool) any animal of the genus Felis, e.g. lion, tiger, panther &c the cats (coll), Small Cats House (at the Zoo &c), c small animal resembling cat, but of different species, see oivet-cat, polecat &c, d (fig), from uncertain temper of cat) spiteful female a regular old cat 2 (naut) Tackle for hoisting anchor to cathead, q.v. 3 For cat-o'-nine tails, whip with nine lashes of knotted rope used by order of judge or magistrate for flogging certain types of criminal to give a dose of the cat 4 A double tripod, always resting on three of its six feet, no matter how it is placed 5 (hist) Movable tower or shelter for protection of besieging party cat (II), vb. intrans & trans, fr prec (colloq. and vulg) To vomit violently Cp as sick as a dog cat-, cat-, pref. Gk kata, prep, wh. in comp. becomes kat before vowels, kath before aspirated vowels The force of the prep & pref in Gk is 'down from, down to, against, in opposition to, over, throughout, along, according to' &c, it is often merely intensive Common in compounds borrowed as such fr Gk, also used in new formations fr Gk. elements Kato represents Aryan kmt* &c, & the same base is found in Ir cú, W can(s), 'along with, near', Lat cum, 'with' (see com-), & contra, 'against', perh. also Gmc ga, O.E. ge (unstressed) It has been suggested that the primitive sense was that of 'stopping, holding', & that the same base occurs in Goth k npar 'catch, seize' fr Aryan kmt*, & koudus, 'head', fr Aryan kmt*, the pref, esp. in scientific terminology is often spelt w. l as in Gk. orig cataphrasis, n. [1 katabasís, 2 katabasís] Gk, a going down See cata- & basis (med.) Stage from and in which a disease develops cataphrasis, n. also cataphrasis, n. [1 katabolism, 2 katabolism] fr cat- & bol- 'throw east', fr ball-, see ballistic & -ism. (biol. and physiol.) The breaking down or change of bodily tissues &c. from a more complex to a simpler form, destructive metabolism, contrasted with anabolism cataphrasis, n. [1 katabolism, 2 katabolism] Gk katabolismos, 'mises of a word', fr cat- & bolismos, 'use, employment', connected w. khraomai, 'make use of', khre, 'it is necessary', fr Aryan base gher*, 'shortness, lack', cp also Sert krasati, 'diminish', O Ir gar, 'short' 2 The wrong use, misapplication, of a word, esp. by a mixing of metaphors b n change in the form of a word, due to popular etymology cataphrastic, adj. [1 katabolism, 2 katabolism] Gk katabolismos, fr prec (of sense, use, of a word) Forming an example of cataphrasis, misapplied cataphrasis, n. [1 katabolism, 2 katabolism] Gk katabolismos, 'breakage' See cata- The second element is fr klasma, 'fragment', Gk klasma, 'break in pieces', cp also klasma, 'a breaking', klasma, 'fragile', Lat cladus, 'disaster, loss, destruction', also clava, 'club', fr cladiv*, O Ir cladef, W cladyf, 'sword', Russ klasi, 'castrate' See clado- Violent rending asunder, disruption cataphrasis, adj. [1 katabolism, 2 katabolism] Prec & -ic Of the nature of a cataphrasis cataphrasis, n. [1 katabolism, 2 katabolism] Gk katabolismos, 'a deluge, flood' See cata- Second element is connected w. Gk kluzo, 'wash, dash against, break over', cp also kluzma, 'liquid used for washing out', kluzon, 'wave, surge' Cp further the cognates, Lat clodica, earlier clodica, 'sewer, drain', & O Lat cluer, 'to purge', Goth klutra, 'pure', O E klutran, O H G klutran, 'pure, clear' 1 A an overwhelming deluge, esp. b (geol) violent upheaval which produces sudden changes in surface of the earth 2 (fig) Sudden, revolutionary, social or political event which sweeps away old landmarks and introduces violent changes in the structure of society and government cataphrasis, n. [1 katabolism, 2 katabolism] Prec & -ic Of the nature of a cataphrasis, having reference to destructive upheavals Specif. (geol) cataphrasis theory, doctrine that the configuration of the earth's crust was shaped by a series of violent upheavals, and sudden changes, and not by the gradual action of rivers the atmosphere &c cataphrasis, n. [1 katabolism, 2 katabolism] Prec & -ist One who holds the cataphrasis theory of the earth cataphrasis, n. [1 katabolism, 2 katabolism] Fr cataphrasis, Lat cataphrasis, prob formed fr Gk kata (see cata-) & kumbé, 'hollow of a vessel, a bowl' Orig meaning was apparently 'something curved', then 'cup' &c, 'cup shaped thing', that is, 'hollowed out cavity', & further something shaped like an inverted cup or bowl, hence Engl hump, wh word in Norw means a 'little hill' In Celt kum, W cum is 'valley' See coombe 1 (commonly in pl) An underground gallery or series of such, with recesses hollowed out in the sides to receive the bones of the dead, a subterranean cemetery Specif. the Cataphrasis, such galleries in Rome, which formed a refuge for the early Christians cataphrasis, n. [1 katabolism, 2 katabolism] Gk katabolismos, 'a running, course', & -ous See cataphrasis Of fish, returning to the sea or to lower part of a river to spawn, contrasted with anadromous cataphrasis, n. [1 katabolism, 2 katabolism] Fr, fr Ital cataphrasis Etymol. unknown. The suggested connection w. Fr echafaud, 'scaffold' is very unconvincing & the etymol. of this is equally doubtful Woodcock stand, sometimes elaborately draped and decorated, upon which a coffin rests while the deceased is lying in state or while part of the Burial Service is being said in church Catalan adj. & n. [1 katalán, 2 katalán] lan, katalán] a adj. Belonging to Catalonia, in eastern Spain, b n, native, language, of Catalonia cataphrasis, adj. [1 kataléktik, 2 kataléktik] Gk kataléktikos, of a verso, 'lacking the last foot', fr katalékein, 'to stop, leave off' See cata- Gk legen, 'leave off, cease from', is related to Gk lagaros, 'slack, weak', wh is cogn. w. Lat laxus, 'wide, loose, slack', see lax, & further w. O E elac, see slack (pros) Lacking the last syllable of the last foot, (hy extension) imperfect in any foot cataphrasis, also cataphrasis, n. [1 kataléptik, 2 kataléptik] Gk kataléptikos, 'seizure', see cata-, cp lépsomai, 'to grasp, seize, take hold of', q.v. under opilepsy Cognates in other Aryan languages seem to be lacking (med.) Condition attended by unconsciousness, loss of sensation, and rigidity of the muscles, as in opilepsy, and certain kinds of trance, a fit cataphrasis, adj. & n. [1 kataléptik, 2 kataléptik] fr Gk kataléptikos See prec a adj. Characteristic of, subject to, cataphrasis a cataphrasis trance, b n, person in a state of cataphrasis catalogue (I), n. [1 katalóg, 2 katalóg] Fr, fr Gk katalogos, 'counting up, enrolment', list of persons liable for military service' See cata- & logos A list, or register, of names of objects, property &c, methodically arranged on some specific principle, alphabetical or other catalogue of books, pictures, articles for sale &c catalogue (II), vb. trans, fr prec a To make a catalogue of, to catalogue books, wines &c, b to enter in a catalogue cataloguer, n. [1 katalóg, 2 katalóg] Prec & -er Maker of a catalogue catalogue raisonné, n. [1 katalóg rúzóná, 2 katalóg rúzóná] Fr A catalogue of books, pictures &c, arranged according to subjects, together with explanatory or descriptive notes to each item catapala, n. [1 katalpa, 2 katalpa] fr language of Carolina Indians American tree with large trumpet shaped flowers catapala, n. [1 katalpa, 2 katalpa] Gk. katalpa, 'putting down, dissolving' fr cata- & luen, 'loose, loosen' See cognates under loose, originally meaning dissolution A chemical change brought about in a substance by an agent which itself remains unchanged catapala, n. [1 katalpa, 2 katalpa] See prec A catalytic agent or catalyzer catalytic, adj. [1 katalítik, 2 katalítik] See oatylitis & -ic Producing catalysis a catalytic agent catalyze, vb. trans [1 katalíz, 2 katalíz] See prec & -ize To change by catalysis catalyzer, n. [1 katalizer, 2 katalizer] Prec & -er A catalytic agent, a catalyst catamaran, n. [1 katamarán, 2 katamarán] Tamil katu, 'binding', & maram, 'wood', applied to raft of logs 1 A raft of logs lashed together 2 Boat formed of two hulls held together by bridge or framework, and propelled either by paddles, sails, or steam 3 Cross grained woman catamite, n. [1 kátamit, 2 kátamit] Lat catamitus, corrupt form of Gk Ganymēdes, Ganymede, Jupiter's cup bearer Person who serves as a pathos in unnatural crime catamount, catamountain, n. [1 kátamout, 2 kátamout] fr 'cat of the mountain' a The European wild cat; b popular name of the North American lynx cataphract n. [1 kátaphrakt, 2 kátaphrakt] Lat, fr Gk kataphraktis, 'coat of mail', fr kataphrakto, 'covered up', see cata-, & cp Gk phrassō, fr phra, 'to enclose, defend &c', & phragma, 'defence' The base is connected w. Lat facere, 'fill full, stuff', & freguere, q.v. under frequent A coat of mail, suit of armour, esp. ancient Eastern scale armour, b soldier wearing such armour cataplasma, n [1 kátaplazm, 2 kətaplazəm] Fr cataplasme, 'poultice', Gk kataplasma, 'plaster', fr kata & plasma, fr kataplasēō, 'smear over, spread' See cata- & plasma

A poultice

catapult (I), n [1 kátapult, 2 kətapalt] Lat catapulta, 'war-engine for hurling stones', fr Gk katapellēs See cata- The second element is cogn w Gk pellōin, 'brandish, swing, whirl' & o, palmdō, 'a quivering', palldō, 'anything hurled, dart, javelin', further Gk peleimō, 'swing, shake, tremble' 1 Ancient military engine for throwing darts, spears, stones &c 2 A forked stick with elastic attached to the ends of the forks, used by boys for propelling small stones, leaden bullets &c catapult (II), vb trans & intrans fr prec To shoot with a catapult cataract, n [1 kátarákt, 2 kətarákt] Lat cataracta, 'waterfall', fr Gk kataraktēs, 'prelittous, a waterfall', ep kataráktōm, 'tear in pieces', also in pass, 'fall, rush down, gush out' Other Gk cognates of rhēg-nōm are rhōt, genit rhōgēs, 'left, narrow passage', rhōgēs, 'rent, ragged' Op OE uracan, 'drive, push, expel', uracu, 'crucify' &c, wrac, 'exile' See further wrac, wroctō 1 A large volume of water falling sheer from a height, op cascade, hence b any rush or downpour of water (rain &c) 2 A disease of the eye, in which the crystalline lens becomes opaque, and partial or total blindness is caused 3 Hydraulic controller or brake in a pumping engine catarrh, n [1 kátárrh, 2 kətárrh] Fr catarrhe, fr Lat catarrhus, fr Gk katarraos, 'cold in the head', fr cata-, 'down', & rhōos, 'stream', vb rhōō, 'to flow, pour' See rhēma & stream a inflammation of the mucous membrane, b popularly, a cold, a chill catarrhal, adj [1 kátárral, 2 kətárral] Prec & -al Caused by, accompanied by, inflammation of the mucous membranes catarrhine, adj & n [1 kátárrin, 2 kətárrin] Gk katarraios, 'with hanging, or curved, nose', kata, 'down', see cata-, & rhōs, genit rhōdos, 'nose', fr base arē-, 'eri', 'flow', as in Gk rhōō, 'to flow', Scrt sarati, 'flow' See rhēma (zool) Applied to a division of family of Primates, which includes the gorilla, orang utan, and chimpanzee, lit, as in Greek word above, implying that the nose is formed, as in man, with nostrils downwards, instead of straight and outwards, as with other groups of monkeys catastrope, n [1 kátastrofi, 2 kətəstrəfi] Lat catastropha, fr Gk katastrōphē, 'overturning, overthrowing' Cp katastrōphē, 'to upset, overturn', also 'denouement in a drama' See cata- & strophe 1 Sudden and overwhelming event which upsets, and makes a break with, what has gone before, a (in human affairs) a disaster, sudden irrevocable calamity, b (geol) a sudden, violent change in configuration of the earth's surface, a cataclysm 2 (specif, drama) Culminating point, final, decisive event in a tragedy catastrophic, adj [1 kátastrofik, 2 kətəstrəfik] Prec & -ic Pertaining to, caused by, a catastrophe, having character of great and sudden disaster catastrophism, n [1 kátastrofizim, 2 kətəstrəfizim] oastrophē & -ism Old doctrine that the geological features of the earth's surface were produced by sudden upheavals rather than by the gradual action of natural forces, op cataclysm catastrophist, n [1 kátastrofist, 2 kətəstrəfist] See prec & -ist One who holds doctrine of catastrophism catowba, n [1 kátámba, 2 kətámba] Name of a river in USA a A kind of grape, light red in colour, grown in USA, b a strong-flavoured wine made from this grape catbird, n [1 kátbērd, 2 kətbērd] cat & bird North American thrush, named from its cry catboat, n [1 kátbōt, 2 kətbōt] A small sailing-boat, usually having a centre board, and a single mast stepped well forward catcall, n [1 kátálwri, 2 kətkál] A noisy cry or whistle, esp one uttered by vulgar ruffians as an expression of impetuousness, disapproval &c at a theatre, or as a stupid insult to a public speaker, b an instrument for producing a noisy, shrill, discordant sound catch (I), vb trans & intrans [1 kəch, 2 kwt] ME cacchen, fr O Fr (Picard) catcher, dialectal variant of O Fr chacier, q v under chase (I), L Lat capthāre, fr Lat capere, 'seize, take' See captive A trans 1 To pursue and seize, so as thereby to hinder progress, got hold of the dog went after a rabbit but didn't catch it, a to seize, take, by means of a snare, trap &c (fish, butterfly &c) Phr (fig) to catch a crab (in rowing), see crab, catch a Tartar, obtain something which is difficult to deal with or use, b (fig) to catch a person, put into a dilemma 2 To overtake, come up with I caught him before he had gone far 3 To strike suddenly, impinge upon wind catches a sail 4 To be in time for, and avail oneself of catch a train, the post &c 5 a To intercept motion of, by grasping, laying hold of, forming receptacle for to catch a ball, water in a basin &c Colloq Phr catch it, honour blame, punishment, reprove a scolding, b (by transf, crotch) to catch (batsman), catch out, put out by catching ball before it strikes the ground, c to take hold of, detain by holding, arrest, entangle the boat was caught in the reeds, the nail caught her dress, d to allow to be caught, be entangled with, strike against catch one's finger in a door, one's foot in a hole, one's coat on a hook &c, e catch breath, oases to choke or gasp 6 a To be infected with (a disease, a cold &c), b to receive by communication (of inflammable substances) catch fire, c (fig, of non-material things) catch the prevailing enthusiasm 7 To discover, detect to catch a person in the act, catch him at (something) Colloq Phr catch me doing that!, there's no fear of my doing such a thing 8 (of the senses) To receive a momentary impression from, seize (something fleeting) catch a glimpse, catch sight of &c, catch the eye of, attract attention of, catch the Speaker's eye, of member of House of Commons, to be called on by the Speaker to address the House 9 (of the mind) To grasp, take in, understand catch a person's meaning, the drift of an argument, an idea B intrans 1 To become fastened, entangled, as to be stopped or hindered in motion the lock won't catch, the line caught in the trees C With adv & prep Catch of, a (of material things) make a movement towards as though to grasp, snatch at catch at a floating leaf, Phr catch at straws, see straw, b (of non-material things) to adopt with eagerness (an idea, proposal &c) Catch on (intrans, colloq), a to understand, apprehend catch on to an idea, meaning, b to become popular, take the general fancy a song fashion, that has caught on Catch up, a overtake, draw level with catch a person up in walking, riding, amount of work done &c, b to check by sudden interruption (a speaker, a person's words &c), c to snatch, pick up suddenly and swiftly (a stick, one's hat &c), d to loop up and hold in place (draperies by buckle &c) catch (II), n, fr prec 1 The act of catching, specif a (crotch) act of catching ball (see (I) 2), hence, b a sudden check, stoppage, break (in one's voice, breath) 2 Something that catches, specif a mechanical device to check motion, hold something in fixed position, e.g. the catch of a window, of box lid &c, b (fig) device to entrap, perplex, artful trick this question has a catch in it 3 Something caught, specif a amount of fish &c caught on one occasion, or in a given period a good, poor, catch, b (colloq) thing or person worth getting possession of. the catch of the season (in marriage), not much of a catch 4 (mus) A round for three or more voices, in which each singer begins a line behind the preceding one, so arranged that the parts of the singers all harmonize catch-drain, n A ditch cut on a slope, hill side, to catch the drainage and prevent its flowing farther down.

catch-fly, n One of several plants of the genus Silene, they give out a sticky fluid from their stems which catches insects catching, adj [1 kəchmg, 2 kətkjŋ] Pres Part of catch (I) a (of disease, usually predio) infectious, liable to be communicated, b having attractive qualities, taking (of an air &c) catchment, n [1 kəchmont, 2 kətkjmant] catch (I) & -ment Drainage of a river, esp catchment area, basin, land drained by a river or system of rivers catchpenny, adj [1 kəchpeni, 2 kətkjpeni] Of no real value, out intended to catch the public fancy, made to sell readily, showy catchpoll, -pole, n [1 kəchpöl, 2 kətkjpöl] ME cacchepol, O Fr chacepol, Mod. Lat chassipollus, lit 'chase chicken' See catch, chase, poult Sheriff's officer, person employed to make arrests (esp for debt) catch-title, n Abbreviated but expressive form of a book title, used in lists catchweed, n [1 kəchwēd, 2 kətkjwēd] Goosegrass (from the clinging prickles on its seeds, leaves, and stem) catchword, n [1 kəchwērd, 2 kətkjwērd] A word or phrase so placed or printed as to attract attention, o.g. first word of a section of a dictionary &c, first word of a page, in old books printed at foot of preceding page, b temporarily popular, often meaningless, phrase, in politics &c, o actor's cue catchy, adj [1 kəchi, 2 kətkj] catch (I) & -y (colloq) 1 Taking the fancy, attractive, easy to pick up (of a tune &c) 2 Full of pitfalls and difficulties likely to hinder or entangle a catchy bit of work &c catches, n [1 kətkj, 2 kətkj] For catch, op O Fr acat, acat, 'purchase, something bought' See cater (II), caterer (archaic, usually in pl) Food, esp of a rich and delicate kind catechesis, n [1 kətēkēsiz, 2 kətkikēsiz] Gk katechēsis, 'oral instruction' See catechize Instruction by word of mouth, esp. for catechumens catechetical, adj [1 kətēkētikəl, 2 kətkēkētikəl] See prec Pertaining to catechesis catechetics, n [1 kətkētikis, 2 kətkētikis] Practice and art of catechesis catechism, n [1 kətēkizim, 2 kətkikizim] Lat catechismus, fr Gk See catechize a Instruction by means of question and answer, hence, b set form of instruction of this kind, written or printed, esp on religious doctrine, specif, the Catechism, the Church Catechism, in the Book of Common Prayer, embodying doctrines of Church of England, Longer and Shorter Catechisms, embodying the doctrines of Presbyterians, c any succession of questions Phr to put a person through a, his, catechism, question him closely catechist, n [1 kətēkist, 2 kətkikist] See catechize & -ist One who instructs by questioning, one who teaches the Catechism catechize, vb trans [1 kətēkiz, 2 kətkikiz] L Lat catechizāre, fr Gk katechēzein, katechēō, 'teach by word of mouth, instruct', fr kata (see cata-) & ekhein, 'to sound, ring' &c See echo a To instruct by systematic questioning for which definite answers are prepared, esp in religious doctrines, b to examine by searching questions catechu, n [1 kətēchū, 2 kətkjū] Malay katchi See cashew A strong astringent obtained from several East Asiatic plants catechumen, n [1 kətēkūmen, 2 kətkēkūmen] Lat catechūmenus, fr Gk katechōmenos, 'instructed' See catechize A convert, neophyte, or novice receiving religious instruction prior to baptism, esp in the Early Church, b one undergoing elementary instruction of any kind categorical, adj [1 kátégóriál, 2 kátégóriál] See category, & -c & -al a Of, belonging to, a category, b unconditional, not relative, without qualification, absolute, positive (of statement &c) categorically, adv Prea & -ly Unconditionally, without qualification category, n [1 kátégóri, 2 kátégóri] Lat, fr Gl. kátégoria, 'accusation', lit 'statement made in the assembly', fr kata (see cata-) & agora, 'market place, assembly', cp agoromai, 'to meet, speak in debate', agoreuō, 'harangue, assert', agorazō, 'huy or sell in market place', agorazō, 'collect, gather together', also gargara, 'heaps, plenty'. The base in all these is ger-, gor- &c 'crowd', & occurs in different form in Lat grex, base greg-, 'flock, drove, swarm', q v under gregarious a Specif one of the fundamental classes in one of which all objects of knowledge can be included, e.g substance, quantity, quality, place, time &c, b generally, a class, division, mode of grouping, based on consideration of certain attributes enumerated for purposes of a given argument catena, n [1 kátina, 2 kátina] Lat, 'chain' See chain A chain, or closely connected series of events, statements &c catenarian, adj [1 katenárian, 2 katenárian] Lat catenarius Prea & -arius, see -ary & -an Pertaining to a chain, pertaining to a catenary catenary, n [1 káténari, 2 káténari] See prea Curve which a flexible chain assumes if suspended by both its ends, each at the same level catenate, vb trans [1 kátinát, 2 kátinest] Lat catēnūl (una), P P trans of catēnāre See catena To link together, connect as in a series of links cater (I), n [1 káter, 2 káter] Fr quatre, Lat quatuor, 'four' See quarter (obs) The four of a suit at cards, or on dice cater (II), vb intrans, fr n, now obs, catour, 'buyer', fr O Fr (Nth) ocatour, O Fr achatur, cp Mod Fr ocheler, 'huy', Low Lat accipere, formed fr accipere, 'take, accept, receive, buy' See accept. a (lit) To act as 'cater' or huyer, hence, to provide food for to cater for a school feast, b furnish what is required or desired, esp as ministering to amusement, pleasure &c to cater for one's enjoyments cateran n [1 káteran, 2 káteran] Low Lat catēranus, fr Gael ceatharne, 'common people' Cp kern Highland robber, member of a clan who is not a duniwassel cater-cousin, n eater (I) & cousin (archaic) Intimate friend, originally q quarter cousin, meaning distant or fourth cousin caterer, n [1 káterer, 2 káterer] New formation fr old catour, wh itself meant 'buyer', & -er Such doubling of the enff is common in old names of occupations Cp poultier, fruiter &c One who caters, specif, one who provides meals and service from outside, at private houses, clubs &c caterpillar, n [1 káterpilar, 2 káterpila] L M E entypel, fr dialectal variant of O Fr chat pelouse, lit 'hairy cat', see cat The second element is fr Lat pilosus, 'hairy', fr pilus, 'hair', cp also Lat pileus, pilleus, 'cap made of felt' See further on this under pile (VII) (of a carpet) & felt (I) The form in Engl has possibly been modified through association of second element w pill (III), 'to rob' 1 Creature somewhat resembling a worm, but possessing several pairs of legs strong jaws, and short antennae, hatched from the eggs of butterflies, moths, and several kinds of flies Caterpillars mostly live on leaves, and, on attaining their full development, (sometimes) surround themselves with a cocoon, and pass into chrysalis stage, whence, in time the butterfly, moth, or fly emerges 2 Machine, such as a tractor, tank &c, in which the wheels move inside a continuous flexible band, enabling it to move over rough, huggy, or sandy ground &c caterwaul, vb intrans & n [1 káterwawl, 2 káterwöl] M E catruawen Influenced by wail a vh To utter a shrill, discordant cry or shrill like that of a cat, b n, the discordant screaming or shrieking of a cat cat-eyed, adj Able to see in the dark, like a cat catfish, n [1 kátfish, 2 kátfish] One of several varieties of fish, so called from fancied resemblance to a cat in ferocity, and in having barbels which slightly resemble a cat's whiskers catgut n [1 kátgut, 2 kátgut] First element doubtful, suggested fr it, 'small fiddle' A tough, elastic cord made from the twisted intestines of sheep &c, used for the strings of musical instruments, tennis rackets &c, and for sutures in surgical operations catharsis, n [1 katharsis, 2 káphsē] Gl. katharsis, 'cleansing, purification' Cp vh katharō, 'I cleanse', katharos, 'pure, clean' Connection of this group of words w Lat castus, 'morally pure' (see chaste), is questioned by some on the ground that the latter is used only in moral sense Other suggestions have been made, but appear purely speculative and not well grounded 1 (med) Purgative of, and through, any passage in the body 2 (fig) Emotional relief afforded by art, esp by the drama cathartic, adj & n [1 káthartik, 2 káphsē] Gl. kathartikos, 'fit for cleansing' See prea (med) a adj Having purgative, cleansing properties, b n, purgative medicine cathead, n [1 kát-head, 2 káthed] See cat (I), n, & head (neut) A wooden, or iron, projection from the bow of a ship, to which the anchor is attached when hoisted catheadral, n & adj [1 káthédral, 2 káphsē] L Lat cathédra, fr Gl. kathedra, lit 'something to sit down upon, a seat', & Lat adj euff ádis, see -al Thne Lat (ecclesiastical) cathédra is lit 'a church with the seat, or throne', ie of the Bishop See cata-, & the base sed-*, whence Gl hedra, hedos, 'seat, chair' &c, nndor seat, sit Orig an adj, & =cathedral church 1 n The chief church of a diocese, containing the Bishop's official throne 2 adj a Ranking as a cathedral cathedral church, b containing a cathedral cathedral town, c belonging to a cathedral cathedral choir

Catherine-wheel, n [1 kátherin wél, 2 káphsē] fr name of St Catherine of Alexandria, who was tortured upon a spiked wheel 1 (archit) Catherine wheel window, circular window with divisions arranged like spokes of a wheel 2 Firework in form of a wheel which revolves when lighted, and produces effect of continuous circle of fiery sparks 3 A somersault made sideways catnetor, n [1 kátheter, 2 káphsē] Gl. katheter, 'something let down into, surgical implement for emptying bladder', fr kata, 'down', see cata- & a base het* connected with Gl vb hēmi, 'send, put' &c See further under jactitation Surgical instrument in form of a slender hollow tube with rounded end, used for introducing into one of the passages of the body, for purposes of dilation, or to draw off fluid, e.g from the bladder cathode, kathode, n [1 káthōd, 2 káphsē] Gl. kathodos, 'way down, descent', fr kata, 'down' (see cata-), & hodos, 'road, way', wh is cogn w O Slav chodu, 'etep', choditi, 'to go, walk' (fr -sed, w change fr s to ch, back, open, voiceless cons, after a pref pr &c), Sort á sed, 'approach, reach' See homometer The base sed*, 'go', is identical w sed*, 'et', the primitive meaning being 'to place', whence, on the one hand, 'to place the foot on the ground, to walk', & on the other, 'to place oneself in a seat' &c See nit Negative electrode in a battery, that by which the current leaves; (in wire less) the element of a thermionic valve, from which electrons are emitted, usually the filament See anode Cathode rays, negative, luminous discharge in a vacuum tube, having power of penetrating objects, X- or Röntgen-rays catholic (I), adj [1 kátholik, 2 káphsē] Gl. katholikos, 'general, universal', ep lath' holou, adv, 'on the whole, in general', fr kata, 'according to', see cata-, & holos, 'entire, whole, complete' Gl holos has no connexion w whole, but is fr soluos*, & cogn w Lat salvus, 'safe, sound, unharmed', & solidus, 'firm, compact' &c (see solid, safo), Sort earialat, 'integrity, perfection' Cf further, Homeric oile, 'hail!', & Lat salve, in same sense of greeting 1 a Universal, embracing all men, of general interest, Plur The Catholic Epistles, those addressed by the apostles to the whole Christian Church; b broad-minded, comprehensive, liberal catholic in one's tastes, catholic sympathies &c 2 Specif (eccles) a, pertaining to the Universal Christian Church as a whole Catholic faith &c, b sometimes used in reference to the Church of Rome in distinction to the Reformed, or Protestant, Churches, c applied to themselves by members of the section of Church of England farthest removed from Protestantism

Catholic (II), n a As used by a member of Church of Rome, Catholic means a Roman Catholic only, to the exclusion of all other Christians, b as used by members of definitely Protestant bodies, the word means a Roman Catholic as distinguished from a Protestant or member of one of the Reformed Churches, c as used by members of that section of the Church of England which is farthest from Protestantism in belief and practice, the word means a person who holds the essential doctrines of the Christian Church as enshrined of before the Reformation, and thus includes Roman Catholics, Greek Orthodox Catholics, and Anglo Catholics, (10 members of the Church of England who adhere to the ancient doctrines and practices of the early Church as they conceive them to have existed)

Catholicism, n [1 kátholism, 2 káphsē] catholic & -ism 1 The system of doctrine and practice adhered to by Catholics 2 Act of adhering to Catholic doctrine and practice catholicity, n [1 kátholism, 2 káphsē] catholic (I) & -ity 1 Catholic character, universality 2 Comprehensiveness, quality of being liberal, of having broad sympathies and interests 3 Catholicism, 1 catholicize, vb trans [1 kátholizē, 2 káphsē] catholic (I) & -ize To give catholic character to, convert to Catholicism catholicly, catholically, adv [1 kátholikli, 2 káphsē] catholic (I) & -ly In a catholic manner, in accordance with Catholic doctrine catholicon, n [1 kátholikon, 2 káphsē] Gl. katholikon, neut adj See catholic (I) 1 Remedy for all diseases, panacea 2 (obs) A general treatise, formula of general application 3 Church of a bishop in the Greek or Orthodox Church

Catholikos, n [1 kátholikos, 2 káphsē] Gl. See prea Title of the Patriarch of the Armenian Church cat-ice, n As only able to bear a cat or other small animal Thm, brittle, white ice formed over shallow pools, from which the water has afterwards receded catkin, n [1 kátkin, 2 káthim] Lat 'little cat', fr supposed resemblance to a cat's tail The downy flower spike or ament of the hazel, willow &c cat-lap, n See lap (III) (vulg) Very weak, ill made tea, slops catlike, adj [1 kátlik, 2 káthim] Resembling a cat, ie like and active, or something pertaining to a cat (disposition, tread &c), soft stealthy, noiseless catling, n [1 kátling, 2 káthim] cat & -ling 1 (rare) A little cat. 2 (surg) A delicate amputating knife 3 Catgut.

cat mint, also cat nip, n A herbaceous aromatic plant, of the mint family, with a tall spike of small blue flowers, very attractive to cats cat-o'-nine-tails, n [1 kátónintálz, 2 kátanintálz] See cat (I) Whip with nine lashes catoptric, adj [1 katoptrik, 2 katóptrik] Gk katoptrikos, 'pertaining to a mirror', fr katoptron, 'mirror' See cata- & optic Pertaining to, produced by, reflection of light cat's-eye, n, fr supposed resemblance in the way it reflects light A kind of semi-precious stone of yellowish brown colour, a variety of quartz or chrysoberyl cat's-foot, n Ground ivy cat's-meat, n A Horse flesh, offal &c sold in towns, in small slices stuck on skewers, as food for cats, b (derisively) poor, unappetizing meat, cat's-meat man, itinerant hawkler of cat's meat cat's-paw, n 1 A person used by another as an unsuspecting agent, or tool, esp in nefarious dealings, from fable of monkey which used cat's paw to draw hot oysters from the fire Phr to make a cat's paw of a person 2 (nant) A light breeze, just strong enough to ruffle the water cat's-tail, n A Variety of the plant hngloss, b also name of various grasses, as timothy grass, or the boretail cat's whisker, cat-whisker, n Fine, coiled, movable contact wire in a crystal set for wireless cattle, n [1 latl, 2 kátl] ME, fr O Fr catel, 'property', dialectal variant of chattel, fr Low Lat capitale, fr capitale, 'property', orig 'chief possessions' See capital Original meaning survives in chattel a Bovine animals (esp when domesticated), contrasted with sheep, black cattle, small breeds of oxen from Scotland and Wales, b also wild oxen, buffaloes &c, o (contemptuously) human beings cattle-lifter, n [1 katl lifter, 2 katl lifte] See lift (I) One who steals cattle cattle-pen, n See pen (III) Small enclosure for cattle cattle-plague, n Infectious disease attacking cattle, murrain, esp rinderpest cattle-truck, n Special railway-truck, closed to about height of animal's head, and open above, for carrying cattle

Caucasian, adj & n [1 kawkázhun, 2 kókazhún] Orig of the races inhabiting the Caucasus, now less specialized a adj Belonging to the white race of human beings, b n, a member of the white race caucus, n [1 kawkus, 2 kókus] Origin unknown, orig an American political slang term A small body of members of an administrative or legislative body, or of a political party within such a body, who meet privately, determine policy, and endeavour to force this upon their party, or upon the body as a whole, b any group of persons who, being members of any public body, arrange policy and details of business privately among themselves before consulting the whole body caudal, adj [1 káwdl, 2 kódl] Lat cauda, 'tail', & áls, see -al. Etymol undetermined Pertaining to, near, the tail, resembling a tail caudal appendage, tail caudate, adj [1 káwdát, 2 kódest] Prec & -ate Having a tail candle, n [1 káwdl, 2 kódl] O Fr caudel, dimin of L Lat calidum, 'hot drunk', Lat calidus, 'hot', cp calere, 'grow hot' See calenture, cauldron A hot sweet drink, esp one of spiced wine or ale, b hot drink for invalids caught, vb [1 kawt, 2 kót] Pret & PP of catch, wh. is a Fr, loan-word, ME caȝte, cauhite, is on the anal of ME laȝte, lauhte, fr lacchen, 'to catch', OE laecan, lahte, see latch (I) caul, n [1 kawl, 2 kól] O Fr cale, 'small cap', etymol doubtful 1 Membranous bag enveloping the foetus, sometimes enveloping the head of a newly born child, thus was formerly regarded as a lucky omen, and the caul itself preserved as a charm against drowning 2 A cap or net covering the back of the head cauldron, caldron, n [1 káwldrun, 2 kóld-rón] ME, fr O Fr, dialectal variant of chaldron, cp O Fr chaldron, Fr chaldron, Ital calderone, fr Lat caldarium, 'that which serves for heating' Connected w Lat cal(s)idus, 'hot' This word is prob cogn w OHG laa, Mod Germ lau, 'warm', for OHG hlaa, cp OE hlea, 'shelter, warm place', also w Lith szylti, szilti, 'to become warm' See calm, lee (I), & lukewarm Large cooking-vessel, or saucepan of iron or copper caulescent, adj [1 kawléscnt, 2 kólesrnt] Formed fr Lat caulis, 'stalk', see cauline, w ending as in arborescent &c (bot) Having a visible stalk or stem cauliflower, n [1 kóhlfóner, 2 kóhlfáwa] Collyfory in 16th cent The first element is O Ntin Fr col, 'cabbage', of wh O Fr chol, Mod Fr chou, is a dialectal variant, fr Lat caulis &c, 'stalk', see next word & op cole & flower The earlier fory is the PP of O Fr florir, 'put forth flowers' Variety of cabbage, with a white, fleshy flower-head, eaten as a vegetable cauline, adj [1 kawlin, 2 kólan], fr Lat caulis, 'stem, stalk', cogn w Gk kaulós, 'stem', related to Lat cavus, 'hollow' (see cave), & to Goth hulōn, 'to hollow', OHG hol, OE holh, hol, 'cave, den, hollow' &c Orig meaning 'hollow stem' See hollow (bot) Pertaining to, growing on, a stem caulk, vb trans [1 kawk, 2 kók] Orig 'to tread', cp ME caulen, fr O Fr cauquer, Lat calcāre, 'tread', fr calx, 'shoe' See calceolaria To make water-tight, stop up seams between boards of a boat by packing with mixture of tow and oakum and pitch caulker, n [1 káwker, 2 kóke] Prec & -er A Man who caulks ships, b tool for doing this causable, adj [1 káwzabl, 2 kózabl] cause & -able Capable of being caused causal, adj [1 káwzal, 2 kózal] cause & -al Relating to, expressing, serving as, a cause causality, n [1 kawzáhiti, 2 kózaliti] See prec & -ity a The state or condition of being a cause, the active principle of a cause, b the relation between cause and effect causally, adv See prec & -ly As a cause, by cause and effect causation, n [1 kawzáhūn, 2 kózéjān] See cause & -ation a The action of causing, b that which produces an effect causative, adj [1 káwzativ, 2 kózativ] See prec & -ive a Serving as a cause, producing an effect, b (gram) expressing cause causatively, adv Prec & -ly As a cause, to express cause cause (I), n [1 kawz, 2 kóz] ME, fr O Fr cause, fr Lat causa, 'cause, reason, purpose, motive' Prob fr caud* ia, & connected w Lat cadere, 'strike, beat, knock' Cogn. w Lith kauti, 'strike, struggle', O Slav kyti, 'hammer', cp OE hæawan, 'out, strike' See haw, concussion 1 The force, or agent, that produces an effect, condition from which something results infection is a cause of many diseases, drunkenness is a cause of crime 2 A reason, motive, ground cause for complaint, adequate reason, esp to show cause 3 Object to which the efforts and interests of a person or body of people are directed in the cause of science, in a good cause 4 Law-suit, action in a court of law, hence case, arguments, evidence &c in favour of one party in a law-suit, dispute &c to plead a, one's, cause cause (II), vb trans, fr prec To be the cause of, bring about, effect cause célèbre, n [1 kóz sálábr, 2 kóuz sálábr] Fr, 'celebrated case' Law suit which attracts much public notice causeless, adj [1 káwzles, 2 kózles] cause (I) & -less a Not produced by any apparent cause, b groundless, without adequate motive causeless anger causelessly, adv Prec & -ly Unjustifiably, on insufficient grounds cause list, n [1 kawz list, 2 kóz list] List of cases coming on for trial causerie, n [1 kózeré, 2 kóuzeré] Fr, lit 'conversation, talk', fr causer, 'to talk' A discursive, conversational article, in a periodical, newspaper &c, on any matter of discussion, e.g. a literary or dramatic subject causeway (I), n [1 káwzwa, 2 kózwa] Earlier causcy, as in province dialects, fr ME cause, fr O Fr variant cause, of chausée, Mod Fr chaussée, fr Lat (via) causida, 'a way made by being trodden', PP of cal ciare, lit 'to put shoes on', fr calx, 'heel'

See calceolaria a A raised path or road constructed across wet or marshy ground, b a raised footpath at the side of a road causeway (II), vb trans, fr prec To build a causeway across caustic (I), adj [1 kawstik, 2 kóstik] Fr caustique, Lat causticus, fr Gk kaustikos, 'capable of burning, corrosive', fr base kaw-*, 'burn, shine', cp Gk kaio, 'I burn, set on fire', for law-jó*, cogn w Goth hauri for hurga*, 'burning coals', O Slav kuriš, 'smoke' Further, prob cogn w OE heorþ, see hearth, & Lat carbō, see carbon 1 a Having the power of burning, or eating away, by chemical action, corrosive, b (fig) biting, bitter, satirical, stinging caustic remarks, a caustic tongue 2 (phys) Caustic curve, one formed by rays of light reflected or refracted from a curved surface caustic (II), n, fr prec 1 (med) Corrosive substance, esp lunar caustic, nitrate of silver 2 (phys) A caustic curve See prec 2 caustically, adv [1 káwstikah, 2 kóstikah] caustic (I) & -al & -ly In a biting, caustic, manner causticity, n [1 kawstisiti, 2 kóstisiti] See prec & -ity The quality of being caustic (in lit and fig senses) cautelous, adj [1 káwtejus, 2 kótilus] Lat cautelā, 'caution', & -us, see -ous, cp Fr cauteleux See etymol of base under caution & cave (III) Cunning, crafty, deceitful (rare and archaic) cauterization, n [1 kawterizāhūn, 2 kótar-azéjān] cauterize & -ation a The act of cauterizing, b state or process of being cauterized cauterize, vb trans [1 káwteriz, 2 kótaranz] Fr cautériser, fr Gk laútérizem, 'to sear with a hot iron', cp laútér, 'burner, brand ing-iron', fr base law-*, 'burn', q v under caustic a (med) To burn, sear, with caustic substance, or with a hot iron, or so as to destroy infection or dead tissue Hence b (fig) to deaden the feelings of, make callous cantery, n [1 káwtari, 2 kóteri] Lat cauterium, Gk laútérion, 'branding iron', fr laútér, 'burner' See cauterize a Means employed, whether hot iron or chemical substance, to cauterize morbid tissues, b process of burning or searing of morbid tissues with a hot iron or a caustic substance caution, n [1 káwahun, 2 kójan] Fr, fr Lat cautio(-em), 'warnness, heedfulness', Same base as in Lat vb cautēre, 'to be on one's guard, take heed' &c See cave (III) 1 Carefulness, prudence, care for safety, absence of recklessness to proceed with caution 2 Warning, admonition to be wary, reproof which includes blame for past conduct, and warning for the future 3 (vulgar slang) Something, esp a person, which is surprising by reason of unexpectedness, uncommonness or eccentricity, droll thing or person, (in unfavorable sense) person or thing which one should be on one's guard against cautionary, adj [1 káwahuneri, 2 káfanari] Preo & -ary Serving, intended to serve, as a warning, specif, cautionary tale, one written to frighten people from wickedness by displaying its awful results to the perpetrator caution money, n Sum of money deposited by a person on becoming member of a society, esp of a college at one of the older universities &c, as security against debts which may be incurred cautious, adj [1 káwabus, 2 káfos], fr Lat cautus, 'careful' See caution & -ous a (of persons) Having, or showing, caution, prudent, careful to avoid danger, afraid of making mistakes, slow to accept any statement without full proof, and to take action of any kind until results can be foreseen, b (of human action) characterized by, exhibiting, caution, prudence, wariness cautiously, adv Preo & -ly In a cautious manner, with care, prudence cautiousness, n See preo & -ness a Quality of mind natural to cautious person, b characteristic of action of which caution is the mainspring cavalcade, n [1 kávalkád, 2 kávalkéid] Fr, fr Ital cavalcado, fr cavalcare, 'to ride on horseback', Low Lat caballāre, formed fr caballus, 'horse' See cavalry & chivalry A body of horsemen, procession of riders, carriages &c, esp ceremonial procession of horsemen cavalier (I), n [1 kávalér, 2 kávala] Fr, 'rider on horseback', variant of chevalier, see also cavalry 1 A horseman, esp poet in Phr gallant cavalier &c, gay, dashing soldier 2 A gentleman, acting as escort to a lady, or as partner at a ball &c (arhaic) 3, Specif, member of the king's party in the wars between King Charles I and Parliament cavalier (II), adj fr preo (of persons and manners) Careless, free and easy, independent, supercilious, showing a thoughtless and selfish arrogance cavalierly, adv Preo & -ly In a careless, arrogant manner cavalry, coll n [1 kávalri, 2 kávalri] Fr cavallerie, Ital caballaria, fr Lat caballus, 'poor horse, sorry nag' The origin of this word, wh has replaced equus in all the neo Lat languages, is doubtful, & much disputed Gk kaballēs (w same meaning) has prob a common origin, as has Gaul Caballus, proper name It is supposed that these are all borrowed fr a NE European language O Slav has lobyła, 'mare' The Celt languages have borrowed the word fr Lat, eg M Ir casall, Bret cawil, W ceffyll See also chivalry Horse soldiers, body of troops who fight on horseback cavalry bone, n Hard swelling, due to constant pressure, on inside of thigh of habitual riders cavalry-man, n Member of a cavalry corps cavatina, n [1 kavatína, 2 kavatína] Ital Origin doubtful (mus) Originally a song of an operatic character, but simpler than an aria now very vaguely used cave (I), n [1 káiv, 2 kéiv] Fr, fr Lat cavus, 'hollow', for corvus, cogn. w Gk koilos, 'hollow', fr kōwlos* Op also Gk kuar, 'a hole', & see codeine Further cognates are Sert kwatē, 'to swell, puff out', O Ir cāu, 'pit', Bret leŋ, 'cave', see also caverns, hollow 1 Partly enclosed hollow space, or chamber, under the ground, whether produced by natural forces, or artificially, usually having an opening, sometimes horizontal, communicating with outer air Caves often extend backwards from a horizontal opening in exposed surface of a cliff, and it is lateral extension, in any direction, which is characteristic of a cave and distinguishes it from a pit 2 Section of a political party which secedes from main group, from cave of Adullam, in I Sam xxii cave (II), vb trans & intrans, fr preo a trans To make a hollow in, hollow out (hardly ever used), b intrans, to fall in, subside into a hollow, hardly ever used except in combination, cave in (i) to subside, of ground &c, and (u) (fig, more frequent) to abandon resistance, acquiesce in terms demanded by opponent, give up, give in cave (III), interj [1 kávi, 2 kéivi] Lat imperat sing fr catere, 'to beware, be on one's guard, take care', fr catere* Cp Gk lōdō for kōwō*, 'mark, perceive', cogn w Goth hūm, 'form, appearance', OE hūw, 'form' &c (see hue), also, w -s- addition, Goth hauyan, OE hieran, Mod Engl hear, Gk akōdā, 'I hear', see acoustic & custody For another form slew* of this base, see show, sheen (schoolboy slang) Look out! word of warning given on approach of a master Phr to keep cave, to act as sentry and give notice of approach of a master or person in authority, when some mischief is in the wind caveat, n [1 káviāt, 2 káviāt], lit 'let him beware' Lat 3rd pers pres subj of catere See preo a (legal) Notice issued by an interested party that no action is to be taken, e.g. in proving a will, until he (the party) has been heard. Phr to enter a caveat, hence b a warning, protest cavo-bear, n Extinct variety of bear, whose bones are found in caves in Europe associated with those of the mammoth and of palaeolithic man cave-dweller, n One living in a cave, esp prehistoric inhabitant of Europe cave-man, n Prehistoric and primitive human being whose remains and implements are found in caves in Europe, associated with bones of the mammoth and other extinct animals, fig, person of primitive and violent instincts, impulses, and passions cavendish, n [1 kávdish, 2 kávdish] Origin unknown Strong tobacco, generally dark in colour, mixed with molasses, and pressed into cakes cavern, n [1 kávern, 2 kávern] Fr caverne, Lat caverna, related to carus, 'hollow' See cave (I) Another name for cave, a natural underground hollow cavernous, adj [1 kávernus, 2 kávernus] Preo & -ous a Pierced by, containing, cavernous, b resembling a cavern, deeply hollowed out, often (fig) cavernous cheeks &c, c (of sounds) as if produced in a hollow place caveson, n [1 kávesun, 2 kávisun] Fr caveçon, fr Ital cavezone, 'head piece', Low Lat capitulum, 'head covering, hood', fr caput, 'head' See capital (I), & chief A head piece, with a nose band and cheek-strap of leather, but no bit, having a strong ring to which a line is fastened, used in breaking and schooling horses caviar, caviare, n [1 káviahr, 2 káviā] Fr, fr Turk kaviyar This salted roe of the sturgeon, imported from Russia and eaten as a relish Phr caviar to the general, something that appeals only to a cultivated taste cavicorn, n [1 kavikorn, 2 kavilān] Lat carus, 'hollow', see cave (I), & cornu, 'horn' See corn (III) One of the group of ruminants having horns which are hollow and not shed periodically, e.g. the ox tribe cavil (I), vb intrans [1 kavil, 2 kávil] O Fr caviller, fr Lat cavillari, 'to make captious objections', cp Lat cavilla, 'a jest', cavillatio, 'quibbling, wrangling' All these are prob for calv*, cp calvā, 'devised tricks, deceive', & calumnia for calumnia* See calumny To raise frivolous objections, quibbles, find fault unnecessarily, esp cavil at cavil (II), n, fr preo A captious argument, unnecessary objection caviller, n [1 kávilér, 2 kávilā] cavil (I) & -er One who cavils, or finds fault unnecessarily, a captious critic, cavity, n [1 kávitā, 2 kávitā], fr Fr cavité See cave (I) & -ity a Hollow space, unshaped depression in a solid body such as a rock, the earth &c, b internal hollow chamber in the body, eg the abdominal cavity, the mouth cavity (formed by roof of mouth and the cheeks), c external depression on surface of body formed by projection of surrounding bones or soft tissues, cavities in the neck (formed by projection of collar-bone) &c cavort, vb intrans [1 kavórt, 2 kavórt] Facetious word, apparently a blending of forms & meanings of career, curvet, & enort (colloq) To prance about, in a violent, unrestrained, noisy manner cavy, n [1 kávi, 2 kávi] Fr cavié, fr native Brazil cavia Small tailless rodent, of South America, such as the guinea pig &c caw (I), n [1 kaw, 2 kō] Imit Found also in Da kawu, 'jockdaw', Den kaw, 'chough' is partly related The cry of the rook or crow caw (II), vb intrans, fr preo To utter the cry of a rook &c Caxton, n [1 káksun, 2 káksun] From name of printer (1422-91) a Book printed by William Caxton, b (typog) type resembling that used by Caxton cay, n [1 ká, 2 kē] Old spelling of quay Small island of sand or coral, near the mainland, cp key (II) cayenne, n [1 káén, 2 kē(j)én] Modern spelling for Brazil kyñha Very hot red pepper made from capsicums, also cayenne pepper cayman, caiman, n [1 káman, 2 kōman] Span caiman, prob fr Carib name acayouman A South and Central American variety of alligator

-ce, suff found in abstract nouns, representing

Lat ca, chiefly in forms fr Pres Part indigence, reluctance &c cease (I), vb intrans & trans [1 sēs, 2 sis] M E cessen, so also in 16th cent, Fr cesser, fr Lat cessare, 'delay, loiter', freq formed fr cessum, PP of cedere, 'go, walk to, go away, yield, withdraw' Walde considers that the two meanings of cedere can hardly be derived fr the same orig source, & suggests that the former is fr base sed-, 'go' (see discussion under cathode), while the latter ('yield' &c) he derives fr base kēd-, as in O Ir cēl, 'permission', & in Zend syazd-, 'yield to, give way' &c A intrans a To stop, desist from, esp followed by from cease from troubling, b to come to an end, stop the rain has ceased, all payments have ceased B trans To discontinue, leave off (one's own action) cease talking, cease work &c Phr (mil command) cease fire!, stop firing, (of a bank) to cease payment, he unable to meet obligations cease (II), n, fr preo Obs except in Phr without cease, 'without stopping, incessantly' Now replaced by vbl n ceasing ceaseless, adj [1 sēsles, 2 sēsles] cease (II) & -less (of action) Continuing without pause, continuous, uninterrupted ceaselessly, adv Preo & -ly Without intermission, continuously cecity, n [1 sēsiti, 2 sēsiti] Fr cecité, fr Lat caecus, 'blind' & tit (see -ity) Cp the cognates O Ir caech, W coeg, 'one-eyed', Goth kashē, 'half blind, one-eyed', Sert kēlarat, 'squinting' Walde rejects the attractive suggested derivation fr kōmēlos*, 'single-eyed', fr guai, 'single' (see celibate) & oq-, 'eye' (see ocular), on account of the back consonants in the languages other than Latin (rare) Blindness, usually of moral state cedar, n [1 sēdar, 2 sēda] OE ceder, borrowed fr Lat cedrus, fr Gk kedros The base is prob led-, lod-, 'roast, scorch', cp Gk kodomein, 'to roast barley', Sert hadāla, 'roasted grain', O Slav cadū, 'smoke', caditi, 'to smoke, fumigate' &c, in this case cedar orig meant 'wood for fumigating' a Evergreen cone bearing tree, with epines, possessing fine fragrant wood, Cedar of Lebanon, Deodar &c, b one of various trees resembling this cedar cedarn, n [1 sɛdarn, 2 sɪdɪn], fr prec (poet) Pertaining to, made of, cedar-wood cedar-wood, n The aromatic wood of the cedar tree cede, vb trans [1 sɛd, 2 sɪd] Fr ceder, fr Lat cedere, q v under cease a To yield, surrender, transfer rights in to cede territory, b to grant, admit, to cede a point in discussion &c cedilla, n [1 sɪdɪlɪə, 2 sɪdɪlɪə] Literally 'a little z', fr name of Gk letter zēla, Span cedilla, Ital zediglia, fr Gk ζ, 'zēta', & dimin suff Graphical symbol in form of a small hook (s), placed under letter c, thus ç, to indicate that it has a sound other than that of k [k], in French that of z, in Spanish that of th [θ] cee-spring, C-spring, n [1 sɛ spring, 2 sɪ sprɪŋ] Spring on which carriages are hung, having somewhat the shape of the letter C ceil, vb trans [1 sɛl, 2 sɪl] ME ceelen, also ciel, seile, sytle, 'hang with a canopy' See ceiling To line with plaster or boards the inner side of (roof of house or room) ceiling, n [1 sɛlɪŋ, 2 sɪlɪŋ] Early Mod Engl ceylng, ceylng &c, fr Fr ciel, 'canopy of a bed', as in Mod Fr, fr Lat caelum 'heaven', fr earlier caedolom*, fr gwaht*, 'clear, glowing' Cp ON heiti, 'clear sky', OE hædor, OHG hætar, 'clear, shining, cloudless' Cp also Goth heiti, 'fever', & OHG heiz, 'hot', OE hāt, see hot Cp also Sort ðitrd, 'glorious', & lētus, 'brightness, light' a The layer of lath and plaster placed below the inner side of the roof of a house The ceiling may either follow exactly the line of the roof, or it may be flat, leaving a space between its upper surface, and the inside of the roof, b the lining of the upper side of a room, made as a rule of plaster attached to laths fastened to the lower side of the timber work supporting floor above, c in aeronautics, highest altitude attainable by aircraft under specified conditions celadon, n [1 sɛladun, 2 sɛladən] Fr celadon, origin doubtful A light greyish-green or pale sea-green colour celandine, n [1 sɛlandɪn, 2 sɛlandən], fr Fr celandine, 'swallow-wort', Lat cheli-donium, fr Gk khelidōnion, fr khelidōn, 'the swallow', wh is fr base ghel-*, 'to sound', cp Gk khlēla, 'thrush', redupl form, for khelele*, fr the same base are derived OHG gellan, 'shriek', OE gellan, 'to yell', also OE galan, 'sing, sound' Cp yell, & -gale in nightingale The first n in celandine is intrusive, op that of mes-senger, fr messagere Name of two wild plants with yellow star shaped flower, a the Greater Celandine, or swallow-wort, supposed to flower with the arrival of swallows, belonging to the poppy family, and b Lesser Celandine, a species of ranunculus

-cele, suff [1 sɛl, 2 sɪl], fr Gk kēlē, 'tumour, swelling', in med terminology as hydrocele &c, eogn w OE hēala, ON hauhl, OHG hōla, 'herms' celebrant, n [1 sɛlbrant, 2 sɛlbrant], fr Lat celebrant(-em), Pres Part of celebrare See celebrate The priest who performs the central part of eucharistic service, who consecrates the elements and offers the sacrifice celebrate, vb trans & intrans [1 sɛlbræt, 2 sɛlbrɛt], fr Lat celebrat(-um), PP type of celebrare, 'to frequent, practise often, repeat, solemnize, honour, praise, make known, publish abroad', op further celeber, 'crowded, much frequented, renowned', celebratio, 'concourse, festival' fr base kel-*, 'drive', cogn w Gk kēlēō, 'I drive on, push', kēleuō, 'I exhort, beseech urgently', & kēlōmai, 'urge on, cheer' Various other words are cited as cognates by Walde & Boisacq, fr several languages, but their connexion in meaning is even more doubtful & obscure than that of those just mentioned A trans a To perform the ceremony of in a public and solemn manner - specif, to celebrate Mass, the Eucharist, consecrate and offer, b to observe in a special manner, distinguish, do honour to, by public ceremonies, festivities to celebrate a victory, a feast of the Church, an occasion, c to speak, write of, with praise and approbation, as deserving of fame, commend highly to celebrate a hero in song B intrans (of a priest) To perform ceremony of consecration &c, at the Eucharist celebrated, adj [1 sɛlbrəted, 2 sɛlbrɛtɪd], fr PP of prec a Proclaimed abroad, spoken of with praise and commendation, b famous, well known (in bad sense as well as good) a celebrated painter, a celebrated trial celebration, n [1 sɛlbrəʃən, 2 sɛlbrɛʃən] Lat celebratio(-em), 'concourse, festival observance', fr PP type celebrat(-um), of celebrare See celebrate & -ion a Act of observing, and commemorating, by public ceremonies, an occasion or event which gives rise to feelings of joy and thankfulness, the ceremonies and festivities themselves, b specif, act of celebrating at the Eucharist, the service itself celebrity, n [1 sɛlɛbrɪti, 2 sɛlɛbrɪti] Fr celebrité, 'fame' &c, fr Lat celebritas(-em), 'multitude, festival celebration, renown' See celebrate & -ity a Fame, renown, widespread recognition and applause, b person who enjoys these, a well known person, public character celeriac, n [1 sɛləriək, 2 sɛləriək] Cp celery & -ac Biennial plant resembling celery in appearance and flavour, cultivated for its turnip-shaped root, which is eaten as a vegetable celerity, n [1 sɛləriti, 2 sɛləriti] Fr celerité, fr Lat celeritas(-em), 'swiftness', fr Lat celer, 'swift' Possibly fr base el-*, 'drive', as in celebrate, or fr a base s(ə)l-*, 'to leap, run', as in Gk kēlēō, 'race horse', also 'small, light, fast boat', cp further Sort salat, 'hastens', salabhat, 'grasshopper', Lth swilg, 'gallop' Walde compares also MHG schel, 'springy' Cp further hold (I) Rapidity, promptness of movement, action, esp of living things Cp different usage of velocity celery, n [1 sɛləri, 2 sɛləri], fr Fr celeri, fr Ital celeri for older seleni, pl of seleno, 'parsley', fr Lat selinon, loan-word fr Gk selinon, 'wild parsley' Sommer, at Boisacq, suggests derivation fr base swel-*, 'roll, roll up', & compounds swel-, 'twist in the gut', swel-, 'roll, twist up tight' &c, also Gk hēlinos, 'tendrill of a vine', hēlinx, 'anything twisted, tendrill', see helix The application to the wild parsley wd arise fr this being used for twisting into crowns The derivation is quite speculative, the initial s- in selinon is unexplained Garden plant, whose highly flavoured stems are blanched and used as a vegetable, Apium graveolens celesta, n [1 sɛləstə, 2 sɛləstə] See celestial (mus) Small keyboard instrument with bell like tone celeste, n [1 sɛləst, 2 sɛləst] Fr, fr Lat caelestis, 'heavenly' See next word 1 Sky-blue colour 2 One of the steps of an organ (also voix celeste) celestial, adj [1 sɛləsɪəl, 2 sɛləstɪəl] Lat caelestis, 'pertaining to the sky, heavenly, divine', fr caelum & -al, see ceiling 1 a Pertaining to the heavens or sky, contrasted with terrestrial a celestial map, celestial body, b heavenly, divine, with qualities worthy of a divine origin, hence, exquisitely beautiful, extremely virtuous or benevolent celestial goodness &c, c like the sky in colour celestial blue 2 A Chuzaman

Celestial empire, n China, translation of native name celestially, n [1 sɛləsɪəli, 2 sɛləstɪəl] celestial & -ly In a heavenly manner celibacy, n [1 sɛlɪbəsɪ, 2 sɛlɪbəsɪ] Formed as if fr Lat celibātia*, abstract n fr caelebs, 'unmarried' See celibate The unmarried state, esp that of one under a vow celibatarian, adj & n [1 sɛlɪbətəriən, 2 sɛlɪbətəriən] celibate & -arian. a adj Advocating, practising, celibacy, b n, as advocate of celibacy, a celibate celibate, adj & n [1 sɛlɪbət, 2 sɛlɪbɪt] Lat caelebs, 'unmarried', & -ate Prolitz, at Walde, derives this word fr laio*, 'alone' & bhu*, 'being', that is 'living, existing for, and by, oneself' Cogn w first element are Sort lālaš, 'belonging exclusively to a single person', hence 'alone' & 'whole, complete', Lett laio, 'alone, bare', further Goth laio, OE hāl, 'whole' &c, see whole For bhu-* see be 1 adj a Unmarried, b vowed to a single life 2 n Person who has taken a vow to remain single, or who does in effect remain unmarried cell, n [1 sɛl, 2 sɛl] ME celle (of a monk or nun), fr Lat cella, 'store room, granary, bee's cell, mean apartment, hut, cot', cogn w Gk kallos, 'wooden house, hut, cabin, cot, granary, bird's nest', Sort kallos, 'hut, house, chamber', also cogn w OE heall, 'hall', in ancient sense of 'residence' &c, OHG & OS halla The root meaning seems to be 'hiding place, refuge', op Lat celare, 'hide, keep secret, conceal', & occulere, 'cover, conceal', Goth & OHG hulgan, 'to hide, cover', also Goth hulst, 'veil, covering', OE heolster, 'that which veils, hiding-place, darkness' See hall, helms (II), occult 1 A small room, small house, part of larger chamber separated off by dividing partition Various specific meanings a a room for one person in a monastery, nunnery, b hermit's one roomed dwelling, c small monastery or nunnery dependent on a larger house, d small compartment in a prison in which a single prisoner is kept

Phr condemned cell, for a person sentenced to death, e (poet) the grave, Each in his narrow cell for ever laid (Gray), f a small cavity or compartment in larger enclosed space, o g the cell of a honeycomb, cells of the brain 2 (elect) A single component part of a galvanic battery 3 (biol) The smallest vital element of an organism, unit of living tissue, consisting of a mass of protoplasm, surrounded by a membrane and containing a nucleus cella, n [1 sɛlə, 2 sɛlə] Lat, 'cell' See prec word (class archit) The inner sanctuary or shrine of a temple cellar, n [1 sɛlər, 2 sɛlə] O Fr celler, fr Lat cellarum, neut adj, 'pertaining to a store room', fr cella, q v under cell 1 That part of a house constructed in the foundations, below level of ground, often having vaulted roof supporting ground floor of the house, and sometimes outer windows communicating with the air, a the whole of this underground basement to have one's house built on cellars, b specif, apphed to certain compartments within the basement, esp that shnt off as a store house for wine, wine-cellar plenty of wine in the cellar, c the contents of the wine cellar to keep a good cellar, i e to have good wine in abundance, a small cellar, small stock of wine, d place below ground for storing coal in town houses, usually called coal cellar 2 Extended use a place for bins for wine, in small houses, constructed in some corner or cupboard above ground, b covered place in yard, for storing coal, more properly coal shed cellarage, n [1 sɛləri, 2 sɛləridʒ] prec & -age 1 Space occupied by cellars, holding capacity of these, the cellars of a house considered collectively the house contains excellent cellarage 2 A The storing of other persons' goods in a cellar, b charge made for such storage cellarer, n [1 sɛlərer, 2 sɛlərɪ] cellar & -er Officer in a monastery, or college, in charge of the cellars and their contents, also of some kinds of provisions cellaret, n [1 sɛləret, 2 sɛlərɛt] cellar & -et, dimin suff A cabinet in a dining room, with bins and doors, to hold wine brought up from cellar, decanters &c, sometimes with a flat top used as a kind of sideboard celliform, n. [1 séliform, 2 sélifòm] See cell & -form Having the appearance of a cell

'cello, n. [1 chélf, 2 tšélou] Shortened form of violoncello, q.v.

cellular, adj. [1 sélular, 2 séljula] cellule & -ar Containing cells, consisting of cells cellular tissue &c cellularity, n. [1 sélularita, 2 séljulariti] Prec & -ity Condition of being cellular cellulate, cellulated, adj. [1 sélulát, od, 2 séljulest, rd] Prec & -ate (& -ed) Composed of cells cellule, n. [1 sélül, 2 séljül] Fr, fr Lat cellula, 'small store-room or apartment', dimin of cella, q.v. under cell (lit) Small cell, ordinarily used simply for cell celluloid, adj. & n. [1 séluloid, 2 séljuloid] cellule & -oid. 1 adj. Having the form of cells 2 n. A highly inflammable substance made by treating cellulose with a solvent, such as camphor &c, used as a substitute for ivory, tortoise shell &c, and also in the making of photographic films cellulose (I), adj. [1 sélilús, 2 séljulus] cellule & -ose Composed of cells cellulose (II), n, fr prec (chem) The starch-like carbohydrate substance, of which the walls or cell framework of plants are composed, used in the making of paper, artificial silk, explosives &c

Celt (I), n. [1 kelt, oelt, 2 kelt, selt], also Kelt Fr Celte, Lat Celta, Gk Keltos A member of an Aryan speaking race, including the ancient Gauls, formerly inhabiting a considerable part of Western Europe, from it are descended the Scotch Gaels, Irish, Manx, Welsh, Cornish, and Bretons celt (II), n. [1 selt, 2 oelt] The Lat word celtis is not found before the Vulgate form celte ahl, where it is supposed by some to be a false reading for celis, 'surely' (O E D) This seems too clever In an early Engl Gloss cellem is rendered by Engl chisel Waldo casts no doubt upon anthen'osity of word, but merely suggests that it is a late loan-word. Name given by archaeologists to a prehistoric cutting implement of stone or bronze Celtic, Celtic, adj. & n. [1 kélík, 2 kélítk] Celt (I) & -ic a adj. Pertaining to the Celts, b n., the language of the Celts celticism, n. [1 keltisizm, 2 keltisizm] Prec & -ism. a The state of being a Celt, Celtic customs &c, b a Celtic expression, idiom, e.g. Irish English I'm after having my dinner, meaning, I've just had it

Celticize, vt trans & intrans [1 kélítsiz, 2 keltisiz] See prec & -ize To make, become, Celtic Celtologist, n. [1 keltólójist, 2 keltólédžist] Celt (I) & -logy & -ist A student of, authority on, the archaeology, history, art, and language of the Celtic peoples celtomaniac, n. [1 keltómáníak, 2 keltou-méníak] Cel' (I) & maniac Person obsessed with the importance and interest of Celtic language, art, poetry &c cement (I), n. [1 sémént, 2 sémént] Fr, fr Lat caementum, 'rough stone, as cut fr the quarry, stone chippings' The Lat. word is for caementum, the first syll being cogn. w Lat caedere, 'to cut, hew, lop', cp also caelum, fr caed lon, 'sculptor's chisel', all cogn. w Scrt khadati, 'thrusts, tears' 1 Any compound substance, esp in form of lime or other stone ground to fine powder, mixed with water, and applied while moist or soft, and rapidly becoming very hard e.g. material used by builders to cover floors walls &c, b hv dentists to stop teeth, f. frank cement, kind that sets under water, Portland cement, a hydraulic cement composed of lime and clay 2 Any substance used to stick things together, applied while wet and drying hard n material used by builders instead of ordinary mortar to bed tones in and bind them together, or mixed with sand and gravel to form concrete, q.v.

b cell-ite mineral used to mend small artioles of glass, china &c, hence (fig) o that which serves to unite persons, parties &c, a link, bond of union 3 (anat) The horny covering of the root and neck of a tooth cement (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 a To cover with, join by means of, cement, b (fig) to unite closely, cause to become firmer cement a friendship, union &c cementation, n. [1 séméntáfshun, 2 séménté-[shn] Prec & -ation 1 The act of cementing, state, or process, of being cemented 2 A process in steel making, the iron being heated in powdered charcoal cemetery, n. [1 séméteri, 2 sémétri] In early Mod Engl, fr L Lat coemeterium, fr Gk koinētrion, 'a sleeping place', op koinad, 'I shall to sleep, put to bed' These words are connected w Gk leinai, 'he down, he asleep', & a large number of words in Gk loite, 'place to lie, bed', loitos, 'sleeping, asleep' &c Ointoide Gk the hase Loi*, kei*, ki*- appears in Goth haima, 'village', OE hām (see home, hide, of land), & Lat civis, 'citizen' (see city, citizen) An enclosed piece of consecrated ground for the burial of the dead, distinct from a churchyard in that it has no parish church attached, and is usually outside a town or village cenobite, coenobite, n. [1 sénéhít, 2 sénéubait] L Lat coenobita, 'member of a social fraternity', fr L Gk koinōbion, 'convent', lit 'places where people live in common', fr koine (s), 'shared in common', & bios, 'life'

See biology The first element is parh fr kom jos*, & cogn w Lat cum, 'with', see com- Monk who lives common social life with other monks in a monastery, in opposition to an anchorite, q.v.

cenophobia, n. [1 sénéof, tshf, 2 sénéof, -tshf] M Fr cenophobie, Lat cenophobia, fr Gk keno- phos, fr kenos, 'empty', & phos, nent of taphos, 'belonging to a grave', fr taphos, 'burial, tomb' The only cognate of kenos, outside Gk given by Boussac, is Armon ain, 'empty', & the etymol of taphos is equally obscure, save that it is related to Gk idphos, 'a ditch' (lit) Empty tomb Monument, sometimes in the form of a tomb, raised to the memory of a dead person, and containing statement of his name, age, and achievements &c, though it does not contain his body

Specif, The Cenotaph, monument in Whitehall, London, in honour of those who fell in the Great War (1914-18) cense, vt trans [1 séns, 2 séns] See censor To swing censor towards person or thing, as a ceremonial observance during celebration of Eucharist, so that the smoke from the incense envelops and perfumes him or it censer, n. [1 sénsér, 2 sénsé] O Fr encenser, Mod Fr encensoir, former fr L Lat incensarium, fr Lat incensum, 'that which is burnt', PP of incendere, 'set fire to, kindle, burn', formed fr cardere, 'to glow, be hot' See this under candle, candle, see also incense Vessel with perforated lid in which incense is burnt, carried by a chain, and swung so as to spread the fumes, for purposes of purification, and as a symbolical ceremonial act in church, esp during celebration of the Eucharist, s thurbile censor (I), n. [1 sénsér, 2 sénsé] Lat, insense 1 below, fr censere, 'to reckon, assess, to estimate, value, deem, judge, be of opinion' &c, op Scrt khadati, informs, makes known Relation of other words suggested as cognates is very doubtful, but see cosmos 1 (hist.) One of two magistrates in ancient Rome who dealt with the rating of citizens, and with public morals. 2 One of several officials who prevent a the publication of immoral books or libellous and improper articles in the press or performance of immoral plays &c, or b (esp in time of war) the publication through the press of news likely to be of service to the enemy or to depress unduly the public morale, and the transmission, through private correspondence, of military and political secrets which by design or accident may fall into enemy hands 3 Official at Oxford who looks after discipline among non collegiate students censor (II), vt trans, fr prec To examine books, plays, correspondence &c with a view to suppressing anything unsuitable for publication, for public performance, or for transmission by letter censorial, adj. [1 sénsorial, 2 sénsorial] censor & -ial Pertaining to a censor, or to his office censorious, adj. [1 sénsórus, 2 sénsóras], fr Lat censorius See censor (I) & -ous a (of persons) Severely critical, inclined to assume the position of a censor, or of one having authority to judge, and pronounce, especially with disapproval, upon the abilities, morals, and manners of others, b (of disposition, manner) exhibiting above characteristics censoriously, adv Prec & -ly In a censorious manner censoriousness, n See prec & -ness Censorious habit of mind and expression censorship, n. [1 sénsership, 2 sénsé[sp] censor (I) & -ship The office, powers, of a censor, b tenure of this ensurable, adj. [1 sénsurabl, 2 séns[erabl] censure (I) & -able Deserving of blame or censure, liable to be censured censure (I), vt trans [1 sénsur, 2 sénsé] Fr censurer, fr Lat censura, 'judgement, criticism', fr census, 'rating of property' &c, connected w Lat censere, 'count, reckon' &c, & censor To criticize adversely, blame, express disapproval of censure (II), n Fr, fr Lat censura See prec Blame, expression of disapproval, reprimand vote of censure, one passed in parliament, or at a public meeting, condemning a person, party, or government census, n. [1 sénsus, 2 sénsés] Lat, 'rating of property, lists of citizens compiled by the censurers' See censor (I) Official, periodical numbering of the population of a state, together with collection of statistics concerning sex, age, occupation &c census-paper, n A form on which particulars required for a census are entered cent, n. [1 sent, 2 sent] Fr, fr Lat centum, '100' Cogn w Gme hund, as in hundred 1 Used in per cent for Latin per centum, by the hundred, for every hundred, in stating proportions, rate of interest &c, 3 per cent, government securities yielding this rate of interest, cent per cent, a hundred for every hundred, used generally to imply extortionate rate of interest 2 (in USA) a Hundredth part of a dollar, b name of coin of this value central, n. [1 sénti, 2 sénti], fr Lat cent(um), see prec, & -al on anal of quintal. A weight of 100 lb, used in measuring corn centaur, n. [1 séntör, 2 séntö] Fr centaure, fr Gk Kentauros, member of a savage race in ancient Thessaly, later popularly believed to be monsters half man, half horse Etymol doubtful, but perh fr kenteh, 'I prick, goad', see centre, & auro, 'horse', aam Gk aurabatos, 'quick moving' 1 a (Greek mythol) Fabulous monster, having half of the body, the arms and head of a man, joined to the body and legs of a horse, hence, b a skilled horseman, one who sits a horse as though he were part of it 2 (cap, also in Lat, Centaurus) The name of a constellation of the southern hemisphere alpha Centaur, the nearest of the stars centaury, n. [1 séntör, 2 stotör] ME centaure, fr Lat centaurum, fr Gk kentaureion, noun adj, 'belonging to the centaurs', so called because these monsters were supposed to have first discovered the medicinal properties of the plant One of several varieties of plants, esp a medicinal herb of the gentian family, b the knapweed centenarian adj. & n. [1 sentenarian, 2 stn-tinarian] Lat centenarius, 'relating to number 100', fr cent, 'a hundred each', & -arius See cent & -ary & -an. a adj. A hundred years old, b n., a person who has reached the age of 100 years centenary, adj & n [1 senténari, 2 sentinari] Lat centénarius, same meaning as Engl word, fr centum, '100'. See cent 1 adj. Pertaining to the number 100, to a period of a hundred years. 2 n A period of a hundred years, b the hundredth anniversary, celebration of this.

centennial, adj & n [1 senténiel, 2 sentaniel] Lat centum, '100', see cent, & -ennis, form of annus, 'year', used in composition, & -al, cp biennal. See annual 1 adj. a Having lived or lasted for a hundred years. b occurring once during, or at the end of a period of a hundred years. 2 n a The hundredth anniversary, centenary, b the celebration of the centenary.

centennially, adv. Prec & -ly. Once in every hundred years.

centesimal, adj [1 sentésimal, 2 sentésimel], fr Lat centésima, 'hundredth part', fr centum. See cent & -al. Based on mode of reckoning by multiples of 100 or of 1000.

centi-, pref, form of Lat, centum, '100', used in composition. See cent & hundred.

centigrade, adj [1 sentigrād, 2 sentigrōid] centi- & grade (of the thermometer of Celsius). Divided into 100 degrees, freezing-point being 0° and boiling point 100°. centigrade thermometer, 50° centigrade.

centigramme, n [1 sentigram, 2 sentigrām] See centi- & gramme (metric system). The hundredth part of a gramme (in weight).

centilitre, n [1 sentilēter, 2 sentilitē] Fr. See centi- & litre. Measure of capacity, one hundredth part of a litre.

centillion, n [1 sentillyn, 2 sentillyān] centi-, w suff on anal of million, as in billion. The hundredth power of a million.

centime, n [1 sentēm, 2 sentīm] Fr, fr O Fr centime, fr Lat centésimus, 'hundredth' (part) & o, see centesimal. A The hundredth part of a franc, b a coin of this value in France, Switzerland & so.

centimetre, n [1 sentimēter, 2 sentimētrē] centi- & metrie (in metric system). One hundredth part of a metre.

centipede, n [1 sentipēd, 2 sentipid] Fr, fr Lat centipeda, 'many-footed insect', centi-, '100', & ped-(em), pēs, 'foot'. See pedal. Crawling insect, of varying size, with a long, slender, many-jointed body and a pair of legs to each joint.

centner, n [1 sentner, 2 sentnē] Germ, fr Lat centénarius. See centenary. A German measure of weight, about 100 lb.

cento, n [1 sentō, 2 sentōu] Lat, 'thick cloth, composed of many pieces sewn together, patchwork', fr Gk kētrōn, 'patched dress', late meaning, euphor 'spurred jade', cp also kantō, 'patched dress'. Connected w base in Gk kētrōs, 'I prick, goad'. The sense of 'patching' must be derived fr the idea of much pricking with a needle. See centre. A literary or musical composition made up of passages from the works of various writers or composers, a patchwork composition.

central, adj [1 sentral, 2 sentral] centro & -al a (lit.) Occupying position at or in the centre, forming the centre, pertaining to the centre, b (specif, of locality) near important centres, hence, easy of access, convenient for business or pleasure. our district is very central, o hence (fig) occupying a position in or on which intellectual or emotional interest is concentrated, hence principal, important, cardinal. central figure in a picture, play & c, central idea & c. centralism, n [1 sentralizm, 2 sentralizēm] Prec & -ism. The policy or system of centralizing government, organization & so.

centralist, n [1 sentralist, 2 sentralist] See prec & -ist. One who upholds the centralization of government & so.

centrality, n [1 sentraliti, 2 sentraliti] central & -ity. The state of being central.

centralization, n [1 sentralizāshun, 2 sentralizāshōn] centralize & -ation. The act of centralizing, of bringing under single control & o, state or process of being centralized.

centralize, vb trans [1 sentraliz, 2 sentraliz] central & -ize. To bring to the centre, concentrate in a single point & o, esp to organize some form of administration so as to make it dependent on a single centre of control, eg at the capital of a country, at the headquarters of a company & o.

centrally, adv [1 sentrali, 2 sentrali] central & -ly. In the centre, in central position, with regard to the centre.

centralness, n [1 sentralnes, 2 sentralnes] central & -ness. State, condition, position, of being central in any sense.

centre (I), n [1 sentē, 2 sentē] Fr, fr Lat centrum, fr Gk kētron, 'point, prick, spike, ox goad, incentive to action, point round which a circle is described', fr base in kētrōs, 'prick, goad, wound', cogn w W celtr, 'nail', OHG hantag, 'sharp' (in lit and gen sense). The middle point 1 a (specif, geom) A point equidistant from the extremities of a line, plane figure, or solid body, or from any part of circumference of a circle, b (in wider sense) point farthest from the outside, from the boundaries, point midway between the extremities. the centre of the town. 2 Person or object occupying a middle position, as the middle player in the forward line at hockey and association football, specif a (mil) main body of troops, holding the front between the wings, b (polit, usually cap) party holding moderate views between two extremes of political doctrine, and (in some legislative assemblies, eg French) the party sitting in the centre of the Chamber. 3 (physics) That point in a body on which some particular activity or phenomenon depends, (used specif in many phrs) eg centre of gravity, that point in a body, about which the whole weight is evenly balanced, centre of oscillation, storm centre, the point towards which the wind blows in a cyclone, hence (fig) main point of disturbance, upheaval & o. 4 (fig) a A place at which important events occur, or where important and essential activities are carried out. a centre of trade, of government, of intrigue, agitation, amusement & c, b person who, activity which, invites attention, concentrates, and attracts intellectual or emotional interest. centre of interest, attraction. 5 (archit) Centring.

centre (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans a To place in the centre, take as central point of, hence b (fig) to concentrate. to centre one's affections, hopes, o, or in some one, something. B intrans To be concentrated, come to a point, be fixed, converge, usually with prep centre in, centre round (generally condemned as inaccurate). the interest centres in, the discussion centred round one point & o.

centre-bit, n A tool for boring, turning on a central point.

centre-board, n A plate of wood or metal that can be lowered vertically from bottom of boat to act as a keel and give steadiness and stability.

centring, centering, n [1 sentēring, 2 sentēring] centre (I) & -ing (archit) A temporary structure or framework of timber used in building a dome, vault or arch.

centre-piece, n An ornament designed to be placed in the middle of a table & o.

centric, centrical, adj [1 sentrik(l), 2 sentrik(l)] centre (I) & -ic & -al. Placed at the centre, central, formed about a centre.

centrically, adv. Prec & -ly. Centrally.

centricity, n [1 sentriti, 2 sentriti] Prec & -ity. The quality of being centric. centrifugal, adj [1 sentrifugal, 2 sentrifugal] fr Lat centrifugum, 'centric', & fug (cre) 'to fly from'. See centre (I) & fugacious & -al. A Tending to fly from the centre, opposed to centripetal, centrifugal force, causing a body revolving about a centre to tend to fly off from its curved path, hence b (of machine & o) using centrifugal force, o (bot) of flower cluster of which the flower at the apex opens first.

centrifugally, adv. Prec & -ly. In a centrifugal manner.

centripetal, adj [1 sentripetal, 2 sentripetal, centripetal] See prec & Lat pet (cre), 'to seek', see petition, & -al. A Tending towards the centre, opposed to centrifugal, centripetal force, tendency of a body revolving about a centre to fly towards the attracting point, opposed to, and counteracting the effect of, centrifugal force, hence b (of machine & o) using centripetal force, c (bot) of flower cluster of which the lower flowers open first.

centripetally, adv. Prec & -ly. In a centripetal manner.

centro-, pref. Form of Lat centrum, used in compounds. See centre (I).

centumvir, n [1 sentumvir, 2 sentumvēr] Lat centum, '100', see cent, & vir, 'man', see virile. (Rom hist) One of a body or court of one hundred judges or jurors who tried civil cases.

centuple, adj & vb trans [1 sentupl, 2 sentupl] Fr, fr Lat centuplex, 'hundredfold', fr centum, '100', see cent, & base plec-, plie, cp Lat plecare, 'to fold', & plectere, 'to plait, interweave', cogn w Gk plēō, 'plait', Goth flahta, 'plaiting of the hair', OHG flehtan, 'plait' & o. See plait. The base is prob an amplified form of pel-*, 'to fold'. See fold (I) 1 edj. A hundred times as large. 2 vb To multiply a hundredfold.

centuplicate (I), adj & n [1 sentuplikat, 2 sentuplikat] fr Lat cent-, '100', see cent, & plicat (um), PP type of plecare, 'to fold'. See centuple, cp duplicate n adj. Increased a hundredfold, copied a hundred times, b n, a hundred copies, esp in Plr in centuplicate.

centuplicate (II), vb trans [1 sentuplikat, 2 sentuplikat] fr prec To multiply by a hundred, make a hundred copies of.

centurion, n [1 sentūriōn, 2 sentūriōn] Lat centuriō (am), 'commander of a body of 100 men', cp centuria, 'division of a hundred things of the same kind', fr centum, '100'. See cent. An officer commanding a body of a hundred men in the Roman army. See centuary, 1.

century, n [1 sentohun, 2 sentfori] Lat centuria, 'parcel, or division of a hundred things of one kind'. See prec & cent 1 (anot. hist) A body of infantry in the Roman army, consisting originally of 100 men, and forming the sixtieth part of a legion. 2 One of the periods of a hundred years reckoned backwards or forwards from a given epoch, esp from the beginning of the Christian era. the 19th century (1801 to 1900 A D & c), fourth century A C. 3 A hundred consecutive years, a centenary. many centuries old. 4 A hundred things of the same kind, considered collectively, specif, (ornament) a hundred runs.

century plant, n The Mexican agave or American aloe, supposed to flower once in a hundred years.

cecal. See cecum.

cephalo, adj [1 sefalik, 2 sefalik] fr Gk kephalē, 'head' & -ic. In spite of its apparent resemblance to Lat caput, 'head', O is kephalo, kephōd & o, the Gk word is prob unrelated to these, & is prob for Aryan ghebal-*, & cogn w Goth gibla, 'pinnacle', OHG gibil, 'gable, face of a house', Mod Germ giebel, 'gable', OHG gebal means 'skull'. The orig sense was 'apex, highest point'. See gable, also capital & head. Connected with, relating to, the head. Esp in expression cephalic index (anthropol) which refers to the proportion of the length of the head to its breadth, considered as an indication of race. See also brachycephalic, & dolichocephalic.

cephalo-, pref. Form of Gk kephalē, 'head', used in composition. See cephalo.

cephalopod, n [1 sɛfəlopɒd, 2 sɛfəlopɒd] Prece & Gk pod-, stem of pous, gonit podot, 'foot', cogn w foot, Lat ped-, see pedal Class of molluscs with tentacles on the head, including the octopus, cuttlefish, squid &c cephalothorax, n [1 sɛfəloθɔrəks, 2 sɛfəloθɔrəks] capthalo- & thorax (anat) The head and thorax, of spiders and crustaceans, considered as united -cephalous, suff See cephalic & -ous Used to form compound words as brachycephalous, dolichocephalous ceramic, keramic, adj [1 sɛrə'mɪk, kɛrə'mɪk, 2 sɛrə'mɪk, kɛrə'mɪk] *Gk keramikós, 'made of earthenware, clay', fr keramos, 'potter's clay, pottery, tile' From base *ker-, or ker-, wh seems to have meant both 'to burn', & 'to mix', op in former sense Lat cremare, 'to burn', see cremate & O E heorþ, see haarth, in latter, Gk kerannūmi, 'blend, mix', Sort frindli, 'blend, mix', also 'hake, roast', O E hrēran, 'tonsh', keramos may therefore have meant orig either 'burnt, baked clay', or 'mixed, worked clay' Pertaining to pottery, concerned with the art of manufacturing and ornamenting it ceramics, n, fr prece The art of making pottery &c of clay cerastes, n [1 sɛrə'stɛz, 2 sɛrə'stɛz] Lat, fr Gk kerastēs, 'horned, the horned serpent', fr keras, 'horn' See karatin The horned viper of North Africa and Syria cerato-, kerato-, pref Horny, cartilaginous, fr Gk kērat os, keras, 'horn', see prece, used to form compounds Cerberus, n [1 sɛrberus, 2 sɛrberus] Gk Kēberos (class mythol) The three headed dog that guarded the entrance to the infernal regions Phr a sop to Cerberus, an offering or action to propitiate an opponent &c cere, n [1 sɛr, 2 sɪə], fr Lat cēra, 'wax', cogn w, or loan word fr, Gk kēros, 'hees wax', kēron, 'honey comb' Cp also Lath lōrys, 'honey comb', Leth larytes, 'honey in the comb' Some authorities relate the word, as also second elements of sineerus, 'pure', & procerus, 'tall, high', to Lat crecere, 'to grow, increase' See further crecere, sineerus At this rate cēra &c was 'something grown, or formed' (ocult) Tho wax like skin covering base of the beak in some birds cereal, adj & n [1 sɛrɛəl, 2 sɛrɛəl] Lat Cereālis, 'pertaining to Cereā, goddess of corn and plenty, pertaining to corn itself', fr Cereā & -ālis, see -al The name of the goddess has been explained in two ways, either as fr the idea of growth, creation, in wh case connected w creare, crecere, see create, crecant, or fr that of plenty, in wh case connected w Gk keros, 'plenty, satiety', lorennūmi, 'to satisfy, glut', & perb also O H G hīre, Mod Germ hīre, 'millet, grain' a adj Of, pertaining to, grain used for human food, to plants producing edible grain, b n, one of the varieties of plant producing edible grain, such as wheat, barley, maize, rye &c cerebellum, n [1 sɛrɛbəlʊm, 2 sɛrɛbəlʊm] Lat dimin of cerebrum Hinder part of the brain in vertebrates, situated below and behind the hemisphere of the cerebrum cerebral, adj [1 sɛrɛbrəl, 2 sɛrɛbrəl] Fr, fr Lat cerebrum, 'brain', & -al See cerebrum a Pertaining to the brain cerebral haemorrhage, bleeding in the brain, b (phon) cerebral consonants, expression due to misunderstanding of word used by Indian grammarians, and applied in Sanscrit philology to consonants formed with an inversion of the tip of the tongue, better called point-inverted consonants cerebration, n [1 sɛrɛbrɪʃən, 2 sɛrɛbrɪʃən] Lat cerebrum, 'brain', see cerebrum, & -ation Action, working, of the brain, whether conscious or not cerebro- pref Form of Lat cerebrum, used in compounds, e g cerebro spinal meningitis, meningitis affecting the cerebral and spinal membranes often taking an epidemic form* cerebrum, n [1 sɛrɛbrum, 2 sɛrɛbrum] *Lat 'brain', fr cerebrum Cp Sort sɛrɛs, 'head, print', sɛrɛs, 'head', Gk kēra, 'head, top, summit of anything', also /drōnōn, 'head, mountain peak', for *kēras nōn, & rare lardrā, for *kēras, 'head' More remote are Gk /drōnōn, 'akull', see cranium, & O H G hīre, 'brain', Mod Germ gehirn &c See also coryphous & cervical The main part of the brain, consisting of two hemispherical masses, filling the upper cavity of the skull, above, and in front of cerebellum cerecloth, n [1 sɛrkloth, 2 sɛrkloth] See core & cloth A wax coated shroud, in which the embalmed bodies of the dead are wrapped cerement, n [1 sɛrɛment, 2 sɛrɛment] Fr cerement, cp cire, 'wax' See cere Waxed winding sheet for the bodies of the dead, hence (usually pl) simply grave clothes ceremonial, adj & n [1 sɛrɛmɔniəl, 2 sɛrɛmɔniəl] fr ceremony & -al 1 adj a Pertaining to, accompanied by, ceremony, formal rites ceremonial usage, observances &c, b specif (ecclcs) ceremonial use, use of some piece of ritual in, and as part of, religious service, esp as conveying symbolical meaning and expressing a doctrine ceremonial use of incense 2 n Set of observances and rites, consisting of a series of dignified bodily movements, gestures, and other acts, carried out by those taking part, expressive of, or symbolizing, reverence and respect, upon an important and solemn occasion, such as a religious service, or public state function ceremonialism, n [1 sɛrɛmɔniəlizəm, 2 sɛrɛmɔniəlizəm] Prece & -ism Practice of, regard for, forms and ceremonies ceremonialist, n [1 sɛrɛmɔniəlist, 2 sɛrɛmɔniəlist] See prece & -ist One who attaches great (or exaggerated) importance to forms and ceremonies ceremonially, adv [1 sɛrɛmɔniəl, 2 sɛrɛmɔniəl] ceremonial & -ly By way of, as forming part of, ceremonial, as forming essential part of service &c in which ceremonial is used ceremonious, adj [1 sɛrɛmɔniəs, 2 sɛrɛmɔniəs] ceremony & -ous a (of persons) Observant of ceremony, possessing a stately, formal manner, excessively addicted to conventional formalities, over punctilious, b (of a public function) characterized by, accompanied by, formal rites and ceremonies a ceremonious reception, welcome &c, o (of a person's manner) marked by formality or mannerism ceremoniously, adv Prece & -ly With much ceremony, in a ceremonious manner ceremoniousness, n See prece & -ness The quality of being ceremonious ceremony, n [1 sɛrɛmum, 2 sɛrɛmum] Fr cérémonie, fr Lat caerimonia, 'religious usage, sacred ceremony, reverence, awe, manifested in external acts', cogn w Sort dēyah, 'honour, reverence', O Slav cēna, 'honour' Various attempts have been made by several scholars to identify more closely the Aryan base fr wh these words are derived, but none is at all conclusive 1 a (often in pl) External act or gesture, or series of such, expressive of reverence or veneration, used upon solemn occasions, or to give dignity and orderliness to a public function, ceremonial the king was crowned with all due ceremony, b the service or public function itself at which ceremonies are used the royal wedding was an impressive ceremony Master of Ceremonies, one who superintends and directs proceedings at a public function 2 abstract n Social convention, formality, polite and stately observances used in social intercourse, esp among strangers, or with persons of high social or official standing I am treating you as a friend and without ceremony Phr to stand (upon) ceremony, show rigid formal politeness, be very observant of etiquette ceriph, serif, n [1 sɛrif, 2 sɛrif] *Proh fr Du. schref, 'dash, stroke, scratch', fr schryve, 'to write', fr Lat scribere. See scribe A fine stroke in a written or printed letter, esp a horizontal stroke at the top or bottom of a printed capital cerise, adj & n [1 sɛrɪz, 2 sɛrɪz] Fr, 'cherry' See cherry Cherry colour, a clear red cerium, n [1 sɛrɪum, 2 sɛrɪum] Discovered in 1803, about the same time as the asteroid Ceres, and named after it A rare, greyish, metallic element cernuous, adj [1 sɛrnus, 2 sɛrnus] fr Lat cernuus, 'with face towards the earth' Prob related to cerebrum. Cp cogn Gk kera, 'head', also 'hirm of a cup' (hot, of flowers &c) Having the bell or cup of the blossom hanging downwards, pendent cero-, pref Form of Lat cēra or Gk kēros, 'wax', used in composition See cere cerograph, n [1 sɛrɔgrəf, 2 sɛrɔgrəf] Laterally 'wax writing' See cēro- & graph An engraving, or writing, on wax spread on a copper plate, afterwards treated with acid which eats away the exposed lines in the copper, thus forming a plate from which impressions are taken cerography, n [1 sɛrɔgrəfi, 2 sɛrɔgrəfi] fr. prece & -y Art or process of making cerographs ceroplastik, adj [1 sɛrɔpləstɪk, 2 sɛrɔpləstɪk] Gk, 'pertaining to moulding in wax', fr Lēroplastos, 'moulded in wax', Lēroplastēs, 'moulder in wax', fr kēros, 'wax', & plāstēs, 'mould, model' See cēro- & plastic a Pertaining to wax-modelling, b modelled in wax ceroplastics, n, fr prece The art of modelling in wax certain, adj [1 sɛrtɪn, sɛrtɪn, 2 sɛrtɪn, sɛrtɪn] ME & O Fr certum, fr Lat certus, 'determined, resolved, sure', formed w different suff, Lat ānus, see -an, -am Connected w Lat cernere, PP certum, 'to distinguish, discern, see distinctly, understand, decide' Cp further the group of cognates in Gk, kritōs, 'picked out, chosen, excellent', kritēs, 'judge, arbiter', kritōs, 'separate, put apart, pick out, decide, judge' &c, see critic From same base comes Lat crithrum, 'sieve', O E hriddre, hriddel, 'move', see riddle (IV) The present sense of certain has been reached through the stages 'well separated, sifted, apprehended, considered, judged, decided', hence the further development of ideas, 'well assured, indubitable' See discern, discrete, decree 1 a (of state of mind, pred) Sure, positive, not doubtful, convinced to be certain of one's facts, certain that one is right, to feel certain Colloq Phr not to know for certain, with complete knowledge, to make certain of, reach a position of certainty, ascertain, assure oneself of, b (of non material things) sure, well established, to be accepted without hesitation the fact is certain, it is certain that, certain evidence, o (of future events, actions, processes) inevitable, sure to happen, bound to come, to be expected without doubt, reliable, well secured, well founded to face certain death, a certain cure for dyspepsia, a certain hope of everlasting life 2 (attrib) Definite, agreed upon, fixed at a certain place, on a certain day, a certain rate of pay 3 (attrib) Not stated in explicit terms or named specifically, but assumed to be known, or agreed upon a certain person, under certain conditions 4 Appreciable, not inconsiderable, to be reckoned with after a certain age one cannot bear a sudden strain, to have a certain coldness in her manner, to a certain extent 5 Unerring, under complete control, unflinching, accurate, and unhesitating his aim was certain, his touch on the piano was not very certain, his information was by no means certain certainly, adv [1 sɛrtɪnli, 2 sɛrtɪnli] Prece & -ly a Undoubtedly, beyond all doubt, with certainty, infallibly it is certainly warmer, he will certainly be killed, I will certainly call upon him, b (expressing agreement with what another has said) it is certainly the case that but c (as permissive formula) may I take a holiday to day? Certainly = Yes, by all means &c certainty, n [1 sɜːntɪ, 2 sɑːntɪ] certain & -ty 1 The state of being certain, a (subjectively) assurance, positive knowledge, conviction that at least may be said with certainty, b (objectively) inevitableness the certainty of failure damped men's spirits 2 That which is certain, something positively known or believed to have happened, or to be about to happen his success was a certainty from the first, I know this for a certainty 3 Security arising from solid evidence of permanence in a particular order of things the position of a cabinet minister in some countries is not one of safety and certainty certes, adv [1 sɜːtɪz, 2 sɑːtɪz] M.E., fr O Fr, fr Lat certes, 'from certain grounds', fr certus See certain (archaic) Certainly, assuredly, truly certifiable, adj [1 sɜːtɪfɪəbəl, 2 sɑːtɪfəbəl] certify & -able That can be certified, espec, showing signs of insanity and liable to be legally certified as insane certificate (I), n [1 sɜːtɪfɪkət, 2 sɑːtɪfɪkət] Med Lat certificatum, PP of certificare, 'certify'. See certify A document issued by authority, containing formal statement, or declaration of a fact, esp e.g. of a person's proficiency in anything, success in an examination, ownership of property &c certificate of birth, stating date, & attesting fact of registration, certificate of baptism, stating that this has been performed, bankrupt's certificate, legal discharge, health certificate, declaration that person is not suffering from, nor has been exposed to risk of, infectious disease &c certificate (II), vb trans, fr prec To grant a certificate to, license for particular purpose by a certificate certificated teacher, holding qualification from Board of Education certification, n [1 sɜːtɪfɪkəʃən, 2 sɑːtɪfɪkəʃən] Prec & -ion The act of certifying, state of being certified certify, vb trans & intrans [1 sɜːtɪfaɪ, 2 sɑːtɪfaɪ] Fr certifier, fr L Lat certificare, fr certa, 'sure', fr certus, & form of facere, 'to make, do' &c See certain & fact A trans 1 To assure, make certain, give definite information to to certify a person of something (archaic) 2 To give a certificate in testimony of, attest in a written document to certify a person as insane 3 Specif, to certify as insane he ought to be certified B intrans To make formal statement of, testify to a fact I believe it to be true, but I am not able to certify to that effect certiorari, n [1 sɜːʃiə'reɪ, 2 sɑːʃiə'reɪ] L Lat infin pass of certiorare, 'to make certain, certify', fr certior, compar of certus See certain (law) Usually writ of certiorari, writ, issuing from superior court, removing a case from a lower court or calling for records of trial, for correction of errors &c certitude, n [1 sɜːtɪtʊd, 2 sɑːtɪtʊd] Fr, fr L Lat certitudo, 'certainty', on anal of amplius &c See certain & -tude Mental conviction, positive assurance, freedom from doubt cerulean, adj [1 sɜːrʊliən, 2 sɜːrʊliən] Lat caeruleus, 'dark blue, like the sky', for caeruleus*, fr caelum, 'the sky, the heavens' See celing (of colour) Deep, clear blue, sky blue cerumen, n [1 sɜːrʊmən, 2 sɜːrʊmən] fr Lat cera, 'wax', see cere, & umen, on anal of albumen Wax-like substance secreted by glands in the external ear ceruse, n [1 sɜːrʊs, 2 sɜːrʊs] Lat cérussa, 'white lead', as used by painters, said to be a loan-word fr Gk lérussa*, 'wax-like', fr Gk lérōs, 'wax', cogn w Lat cera, q v under cere A white paint made from lead, used as a cosmetic cervical, adj [1 sɜːrvɪkəl, 2 sɑːrvɪkəl, sɑːrvɪkəl] Lat cervicē (em), 'neck, back of the neck, with parts touching it', & -al Cervix is for cers vic-*, the first syll being same as that in cerebrum, ceruous, meaning 'head', & the second syll prob fr Lat vic, 'bind', as in PP of vincere, 'bind', fr this base comes also Lat vicā, q v under vetch Cp next word Pertaining to, situated in, the neck, esp cervical vertebrae, joints of the neck cervine, adj [1 sɜːvɪn, 2 sɑːvɪn] Lat cervus, 'stag, deer', & -ine Cervus means orig 'horned animal', op Gk keras, 'horn', Lat cornu (see corn on the foot), & Gk kerōis, 'horned', for Lerov-*, & Zond svara, 'horned', further, O H G hruo, O E heorol, 'stag', fr hruot* (see hart), O Slav srāna, 'roe deer' See ooryphaeus & hozn Pertaining to the deer family, like a deer cess, n [1 sɛs, 2 sɛs] For earlier cess, fr assess A tax, rate (obs in England) In Ireland the Phr bad cess to you, bad luck to you, confound you!, is common as a mild malediction cessation, n [1 sɛsəʃən, 2 sɛsəʃən] Lat cessatio (em), 'tarrying, delaying', formed fr cessatum, PP of cessare, 'give way, delay' See cease Stoppage, pause, discontinuance (whether temporary or final) cesser, n [1 sɛsər, 2 sɛsər] O Fr infin See cease (legal) Discontinuance, coming to an end of services, payment, liability cession, n [1 sɛʃən, 2 sɛʃən] Lat cessio (em) (legal term), giving up, surrendering, fr PP cessum of cedere See cede The act of ceding, formal surrender, giving up cession of territory, of rights &c cessionary, n [1 sɛʃənəri, 2 sɛʃənəri] Med Lat cessionarius See cession & -ary One to whom property &c is legally transferred, an assign cess-pit, cess-pool, n [1 sɛs pɪt, pʊl, 2 sɛs pɪt, pʊl] Not an old word in Engl, & often spelt cess Either fr Lat cessus, 'retiring place, latrine', cp Ital cesso, 'privy', fr cedere, 'go aside, withdraw' (see secede &c), or for cess, as Sheat thinks more prob Cavity in the ground, usually covered in, into which drainage from a house or stables runs, part of the liquid usually drains off through an overflow pipe, while the solid matter collects in the pit, whence it is pumped or otherwise extracted periodically cestoid, n [1 sɛstɔɪd, 2 sɛstɔɪd] Gk, 'girdle like', fr kestōs, 'girdle', & -oid, 'like' Orig meaning of kestōs is 'embroidered, worked', connected w kestōs, 'to prick, stab, pierce' See contre (I) (zool) Flat, intestinal worm, tape-worm cestui que trust, n [1 sɛʃkwɪ, 2 sɛʃkwɪ] A Fr law term, lit 'that one who trusts' (law) The beneficiary of a trust, the equitable beneficial owner, for whom the legal owner or trustee acts cestus (I), n [1 sɛstʊs, 2 sɛstʊs] Lat, earlier caetus, 'strap of bull's hide loaded with iron or lead, wound around the hands and arms of pugilists' For caet slo*, 'striking weapon', fr base of caedere, 'strike, kill', see caed, at first syll of caementum, under cement cestus (II), n Gk kestōs, 'girdle' See cestoid a (class antiq) The girdle of Aphrodite or Venus, b (zool) genus of ribbon-like jelly-fish, also known as the Venus girdle cetacean, adj & n [1 sɛtəʃən, 2 sɛtəʃən] Formed fr Lat cetus, 'large fish, whale', fr Gk lētōs, 'sea monster, huge fish, whale', au isolated word w no well established relations, cp spermaceti, & -acean an adj Pertaining to the whale family, b n, a member of the group of sea mammals which includes whales, porpoises &c cetaceous, adj [1 sɛtəʃəs, 2 sɛtəʃəs] Lat cetus, as in prec, & -aceous Belonging to whale family cetaceous, cetaceousness, n [1 sɛtəʃəs, 2 sɛtəʃəs] Lat cetus, as in prec, & -aceous

'whale', as in prec, & Gk sauros, 'lizard'. See saurian Huge fossil lizard ceteris paribus, adv [1 sɛtəris pərihus, 2 sɛtəris pərihus] Lat, abl. pl. See cetera & par Other conditions being equal Chablis, n [1 ʃablɪs, 2 ʃɛblɪs] Name of Fr town on the Saône, in Dept of Yonne Light, sweetish white Burgundy wine named after above town chacoma, n [1 ʃakɔn, 2 ʃɛkɔn] Fr, fr. Span chacoma a A slow, stately, Spanish dance, b muslo for this, or movement in 3 time suitable for such chaeto-, pref, fr Gk khutis, 'hair', cogn w Zend ghāsa, O Ir ghāsait, 'hair', used to form scientific compounds, denoting presence of or resemblance to hairs, or bristles, or setae, as Chetopoda [1 kɛtɔpɔdɪ, 2 kɛtɔpɔdɪ], class of segmented worms, having piked bristles, or setae, at the segments, used as means of movement, also chaeta, as suff, as Spirochaeta, class of bacteria, of coiled, hair-like appearance chafe, vb trans & intrans [1 ʃaɪf, 2 tʃeɪf] M.E. chafen, 'to warm', O Fr chauffer, Mod Fr chauffer, 'to warm', fr Lat calefacere, 'make warm, heat', fr calere, 'glow with heat', (for base see under calorescence, caloric &c), & facere, 'make' See fact Cp calefacient A trans 1 To rub (a limb, member) for purpose of restoring warmth or sensation 2 To rub so as to make sore, to gall a collar chafes a horse's neck &c B intrans 1 Of one body against another a to rub against, b to become sore from friction 2 (fig) To become excited, restive, feel impatience, irritation, of mind to chafe under restraint, insult &c chaffer, n [1 ʃəfər, 2 tʃeɪfə] O E cefor, 'beetle', cp O H G levar, Mod Germ käfer, prob fr same base, w different grade, as M H G luen, 'to gnaw', & connected w chaff, & O E ceaf, 'jan', q v under jowl Applied to various winged beetles, esp to the cock chaff, q v chaff (I), n [1 ʃahf, 2 tʃɪf] O E ceaf, O H G &c, kaf Prob fr same base as chaffer, & meaning orig 'gnawings', i.e. 'something reduced to small fragments' 1 Husk of grain, chopped hay or straw 2 (fig) Worthless imitation of the reality, esp in Plur to offer chaff for grain (fig), too old a bird to be caught with chaff, experienced and not easily deceived 3 (fig), extended meaning of 2) Good natured teasing, or pleasantry, banter chaff (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To reduce to chaff, out hay or straw fine for fodder (not much used) 2 To tease, make fun of good naturedly, to banter chaff-entter, n See chaff (I) & cutter Instrument fitted with revolving knives turned by a handle, for cutting up hay and straw, which are fed in from behind, for fodder chaffer (I), n [1 ʃəfər, 2 tʃeɪfə] M.E. chaffare, earlier chapfare, compound fr O E cēap, 'price, bargain', see chapman, & cheap, & O E faru, going, proceedings' See fare Orig meaning 'going on about price, bargaining' Bargaining, discussion, esp mean, petty negotiations about price chaffer (II), vb intrans, fr prec In M.E. To bargain, haggle over prices in a mean manner chaffinch, n [1 ʃəfɪnʃ, 2 tʃeɪfɪnʃ] O E ceafine See chaff & finch Small, common British bird, the male of which is brightly coloured, Frugilla caerulea chaffing-dish, n [1 ʃəfɪŋ dɪʃ, 2 tʃeɪfɪŋ dɪʃ] See chafe & dish Vessel of metal with spirit-lamp, or other means of heating, below it, and a lid, for heating or cooking food on the table chafing-gear, n Any contrivance, on board ship, for prevention of chafing or friction of ropes &c, as mats, strips of rope or yarn &c chagrín (I), n [1 ʃəgrɪn, 2 tʃeɪgrɪn] Fr, 'grief' Perh same word as chagreen, in wh sense the Fr word is also used, if so the seize is metaphorical, fr use of shagreen as an abrasive. Mortification, annoyance, disappointment chagrin (II), vb trans, fr preo [1 shagrén, 2 šgrén] To cause mortification and disappointment to, wound feelings of, esp in P.R. to feel chagrined at, by chain (I), n. [1 chán, 2 tjein] O Fr chaîne, fr chaîne, fr Lat catēna, 'chain, fetter', the base of wh. cat-, 'confine', occurs also in Lat caenis (pl.), fr cat sis*, 'hunter's net, snare, toils', prob cogn w O.E. heoprian, fr hop*, 'restrain, confine'

1 A Series of round, or oval, metal links connected together, b specif, door chain, chain for securing a door, not detachable from outside, o small chain for attaching watch to the clothing, d (fig, in plural) chain thought of as means of restraining liberty of a prisoner, honest, prison, imprisonment to be in chains 2 Connected series or sequence a (of visible objects) chain of mountains, b (of non material things) chain of events, of thoughts, causes &c 3 A Linked metal rod for measuring land; b measure of this, 1 e 66 feet 4 (naut, in plural) Iron plates, or links, bolted to side of vessel, to which the stays and lower shrouds are fastened, also chain wales See channel (III) chain (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 To fasten a chain or chains to, to confine, make fast, with a chain a chain up a dog, b chain the door, c chain a prisoner to the wall 2 (fig) a To unite closely to chained to a drum on husband, b to restrain freedom of chained to the desk, bound to one's work chain-belt n Continuous belt of links passing over cogged wheels and geared, to transmit motion, in machinery chain-bridge, n Suspension bridge, swung on, and by, chains chain-gang, n Gang of convicts, prisoners &c, chained together chainless, adj [1 chánles, 2 tjeinles] chain & -less Without chains chain-lightning, n Very vivid and closely spaced forked lightning chain-mail, n Flexible armour made of interlaced steel links chain-plates, n pl (naut) The chains, channels chain-pump, n A form of pump, consisting of an endless chain fitted with o series of buckets or dishes, working in a shaft or tube chain-stitch, n a A fancy sewing stitch, b a loop stitch made by a sewing machine, as contrasted with lock stitch chain-stores, n (Am usage) Series, group, of multiple, retail shops owned by one company or firm chain-wale, n See channel (III) chair (I), n [1 obr, 2 tjea] M.E., fr O Fr chaire, Mod Fr chaire, 'pulpit', fr Gk lathra, 'seat, chair, pulpit', fr latra, 'down', & héra, 'seat' (cp cathedral) The Gk base hed, 'sit', is for sed*, qv under sedentary, sit 1 A A single seat with a back and usually four legs, sometimes with supports for the arms arm chair, b portable covered seat for conveying a passenger through the streets, also sedan chair, o small carriage on wheels to seat one person, drawn by a man, also both chair 2 Professorial post at a University Chair of Latin, History &c 3 A Seat occupied by the Speaker in House of Commons, or by person presiding at a organized public or private meeting or discussion to take the chair, to preside, b the office, status, dignity, and jurisdiction of one who presides, the person presiding at public or other meeting to respect, obey, the chair 4 Steel block or cloth, which supports railway line, keeps the rail in position, and attaches it to the sleeper chair (II), vb trans, fr preo To carry a person publicly in a chair in triumph, to celebrate his success in some achievement chairman, n [1 chárman, 2 tjeaman]

1 A Person who presides, or takes the chair at a meeting of a deliberative or executive body, b principal director of a commercial undertaking, bank &c Chairman of Committees, in House of Lords and of Commons, person chosen to preside when House is in Committee, taking place of Lord Chancellor or Speaker 2 One who draws a Bath chair, one of the bearers of a sedan chair chairmanship, n [1 chármanšip, 2 tjeamanšip] Free & -ship Office, tenure of office, of a chairman chaise, n [1 sház, 2 tjeaz] Fr, 'a chair, seat', variant of chair Name applied to any of several types of small, light, low travelling carriages, in England generally having four wheels, and having no box for driver, and drawn by one or two ponies chaise longue, n [1 sház long, 2 tjeaz lɔŋ] Fr Long low couch with back and arm rests, with a seat long enough to support nitter's legs chakra, n [1 chákra, 2 tjeakra] Sort chakra, 'circle, wheel' Cogn w Gk kuklos, 'circle', qv under cyclo, & w Engl wheel Metal disk with sharp edges formerly used by the Sikhs as a missile in battle chalcidony, n [1 kalsédóni, 2 kelsédóni] Fr Chalcedon, town in Asia Minor Variety of quartz, under the name are included several semi precious stones such as cornelian, onyx, jasper, sard, cat's eye &c chalcography, n [1 káikógrafi, 2 káikógrafi] Gk, fr khalkós, 'copper, brass', wh is perh related to Engl gold, meaning orig 'red metal', & graphō, 'write', see graph Art of engraving on copper or brass chaldron n [1 cháldrɔn, 2 tjeáldrɔn] O Fr, Mod Fr chaldron, 'kettle' Variant of cauldron Measure for coals= 36 bushels chalet, n [1 shálé, 2 tjeálé] Swz patois word for wooden cabin or house, fr O Fr chastel, dimin of chastel, Mod Fr château See castle Wooden house of type found in mountain districts of Switzerland, rather loosely applied in English either a to a reproduction of a Swiss house, or b to any summer dwelling, or garden house built of wood and more or less fancifully ornamented chalice, n [1 chális, 2 tjeáls] O Fr fr Lat calicem See calyx A Drinkcup, specif b the cup used in celebration of the Eucharist, c (poet) anything shaped like a cup, e.g. bell of a flower chalk (I), n [1 chawk, 2 tješk] O.E. cealc, 'lime', borrowed fr Lat calx, 'limes' &c See calcareous 1 Soft fossiliferous lime stone, usually white or greyish in colour Phrs not to know chalk from cheese, an inferior, from a good thing, as like as chalk and cheese, quite unlike 2 Material made up of, or resembling chalk, esp when shaped into pencils for writing on blackboard, or for crayon drawing 3 Mark made with chalk, esp to indicate a score in a game Phr better by a long chalk, much better, in reference to this, b amount of money owing chalk (II), vb trans, fr preo a To mark with chalk, chalk up, write up score, in a game, or in public house, with chalk, b rub, white, with chalk chalk-stone, n a Lamp of chalk, b (med) rheumatic concretion or deposit in the joints chalky, adj [1 cháwki, 2 tješki] chalk (I) & -y Resembling chalk in colour or texture, consisting of chalk, covered or bedaubed with chalk challenge (I), n [1 chalénj, 2 tjeáldž], in M.E., A Fr challenge, O Fr challonge, fr Lat calumnia See calumny Originally an accusation, reproach 1 Summons by a sentry to a person to prove his identity by giving secret pass word 2 Summons, provocation, a to fight a battle, or a duel, b to engage in a contest of skill, strength, speed &c with another party a challenge to a game, match, round of golf &c 3 Provocation, incitement, to prove one's worth, courage, taste, skill &c, through a calling in question of these

4 (law) Objection, exception taken to a juror, on formation of the panel challenge (II), vb trans M.E. chalergen, A Fr, fr Lat calumniare, 'accuse' &c See calumniate 1 To call upon to prove one's identity, as a sentry does 2 To summon, invite, to a contest of any kind, specif a duel, provoke to fight, b to invite to a game or match 3 a To incite, provoke, to show one's mettle, character, worth, b to call in question, cast doubt upon to challenge a man's right to rule &c 4 (law) To object, take exception, to a juror on formation of the panel challengeable, adj [1 chalénjabl, 2 tjeáldžabl] Preo & -able Able to be challenged challis, n [1 shálh(s), 2 tjeálh(s)] Fr 'stuff made of goat's hair' Origin unknown

Soft fohric of wool or silk chalybeate, adj [1 kálbiat, 2 kálthət] Coined fr Gk khalybe, stem khalyb, 'steel', fr Khalybes, name of ancient people of Pontus, Asia Minor (of water, and springs) Impregnated with iron cham, n [1 cham, 2 tjeam] Obs form of chan (archaic) Only in the Great Cham of Tartary, also applied to Dr Johnson as the autocrat of literature in his age chamade, n [1 shamád, 2 tjeámd] Fr, fr Port chamada, fr chamar, 'to cry out', fr Lat clamare, 'shout, cry out' See clamant, clamour (mil) Signal made by drum or trumpet, for parley or retreat chamber (I), n [1 chámber, 2 tjeámber] In M.F., O Fr chambre &c, fr Lat camera, 'vault, arched roof' See camera 1 A room, apartment in a house, enclosed apartment of any kind 2 A Specif, ante room to apartments of the King or other great personage, hence, Groom of the Chamber(s), b specif, in pl, private room of a judge, at law court the case was heard before a judge in chambers 3 A Hall, great apartment used for meetings of national, or other legislative assembly, b one of the two 'houses', upper, lower chamber, into which most legislative bodies are divided, c the body of persons composing such an assembly Chamber of Commerce, Chamber of Deputies (France) &c 4 A Hollowed out space (in ground, rock &c), cavity, enclosed division, compartment, b specif, a compartment in a cannon or smaller fire arm which holds the charge revolver with six chambers 5 Emphatic for a domestic utensil, for chamber pot 6 (in pl) Chambers, a private rooms, or office in which a barrister interviews clients, and transacts business other than pleading, e.g. in Inns of Court &c, Chamber counsel, barrister who gives advice in private but does not plead in court, b set of rooms in large building, for bachelors living alone chamber (II), vb trans, fr preo To make a hollow, or cavity, specif, to hollow out, by pressing or moulding a saddle, or a hoof, to relieve pressure on a horse's shoulder, or on foot chamber concert, n Concert of music suitable for a room but not for large hall &c chambering, n [1 chámbering, 2 tjeámbering] chamber (I) & -ing (archaic) Frequenting of ante rooms, hence, licentious behaviour chamberlain, n [1 chámberlɔn, 2 tjeámberlɔn] M.E. eko(chamberlɔn), O Fr chambre-lain, Mod Fr chambellan, cp Ital camerlengo The word is fr an O.H.G. source, cp O.H.G. chamarlaine, ling, & is a hybrid fr Lat camera, see camera, & Gmc euil -ling 1 Officer having charge of private apartments of a monarch, hence later, a high court official. See Lord Chamberlain 2 Chief steward or factor on estates of a great nobleman, esp in Scotland chamber-maid, n Housemaid at a hotel or inn chamber music, n Vocal or instrumental music suitable for performance before a small audience, in moderate sized apartment, hot not in a theatre &c chameleon, n [1 kamélon, 2 kəmélən] Lat chamaeleon, fr Gk khamaileōn, lit 'ground lion', fr khōmai, 'on the ground', q v under humilis, & leōn, 'lion' 1 Genus of lizards found in Africa and Madagascar, possessing long tongue, prehensile tail, and the power of rapidly changing its colour according to its surroundings 2 (fig) The name of the chameleon is used as symbol of inconstancy chamfer (I), n [1 chāmfer, 2 tʃæmfə] 16th cent, chamfre, fr Fr chanfrein, O Fr c/anfraindre, 'bevel off', fr chant, 'edge', & frandre, 'break', Lat frangere, 'to break' See cant (II) & fracture Flat surface produced by cutting or paring off an angle formed by two surfaces in stone or wood chamfer (II), vb trans, fr preo To cut a chamfer, by bevelling off angle where two surfaces of stone or wood meet chamois, n [1 shāmwaɪ, 2 ʃæmwə] Fr, word derived fr some dialectal type of M H G garnuz, Mod Germ gemse, oldest form camoz, prob survival of a pre-Romance Alpine word Small ruminant, horned animal, found in mountains of S Europe and W Asia, resembling a deer in build and agility, the chamois partakes also of the character of the goat chamois (leather), n [1 shāmi, 2 ʃəmi] Soft pliable leather, originally made from skin of chamois, now, also from that of the sheep, goat &c chamap, vb intrans & trans [1 chāmp, 2 tʃæmp] Perb Scand, op Swed dial chamsa, 'chew with difficulty' A intrans a To bring teeth together repeatedly and noisily, as a horse does when eating, b (fig) to gnash the teeth with excitement, rage, disappointment &c, to show restlessness caused by these emotions B trans a To munch food (of horses) to chamap their oats, b to bite down repeatedly upon something the horses were chamaping their bits champagne, n [1 shāmpān, 2 ʃæmpēn], fr name of province in east of France French wine made in Champagne district, usually pale gold in colour, and highly sparkling, but still champagne, and red champagne, also exist campaign, n [1 obāmpān, shāmpān, 2 tʃæmpēn, ʃæmpən] O Fr campagne, Mod Fr (different dialect) campagne, 'open country', fr Lat campānia See campagna & campaign Open expanse of flat unenclosed country champak, n [1 shāmpæk, 2 ʃæmpæk] Hind, Sort campaca An East Indian tree, belonging to the Magnolia family, with beautifully grained wood and very fragrant yellow flowers champertor, n [1 ohāmpertōr, 2 tʃæmpetōr] See champerty Person who enters into a bargain with one of the parties to a lawsuit, of a kind known as champerty champertious, adj [1 ohāmpertius, 2 tʃæmpetius] See next word & -ous Of, pertaining to, the nature of champerty a champertious bargain champerty, n [1 chāmperti, 2 tʃæmpeti] Fr champart, 'division of land rent', Lat campi partitio, lit 'dividing of the land', or of spoils in a litigation See camp & part Bargain with one of the parties in a litigation, whereby he who makes the bargain (champertor) agrees to bear the costs of the suit in return for sharing the profits in the object sued for, if they win their case Champerty is an offence at law Cp maintenance champion (I), n & adj [1 chāmpion, 2 tʃæmpion] M E, fr O Fr champion, fr L Lat campiō (cm), 'fighter', lit 'one who takes the field', fr Lat campus, 'field, field of battle' See camp O E cepa, 'warrior', fr Gmc kampa*, is an exact cogn, though the base kamp* is an early loan-word fr Lat Cp Germ kämpfen, 'to fight', kampf, 'battle' 1 A Originally one who took part in a contest, esp in single combat, to defend his own or another's honour, or to uphold a cause champions in a joust or tournament, the seven champions of Christendom, b spoof, King's Champion, hereditary officer (Dymoke of Scrivelsby), who at coronation of a British king bids defiance to the king's enemies, and challenges all such to single combat with him 2 A One who has an acknowledged superiority in courage, strength, and skill in use of arms, b now, somewhat degraded from the original ideal, one who excels in fistfights the featherweight champion, expert in cricket, tennis, chess &c 3 Advocate, defender of a person or cause, chiefly in war of words a champion of the oppressed, of tariff reform, prohibition &c 4 Anything which wins first prize in a show or exhibition, variously applied to bulls, horses, dogs &c, also to all kinds of vegetables &c 5 Also attrib champion chess-player, champion bull &c champion (II), vb trans, fr preo To act as champion, advocate, protector, of person or cause, to uphold, defend to champion the cause of enriching the poor by taking from the rich championship, n [1 ohāmpionship, 2 tʃæmpionʃip] champion (I) & -ship A Act of upholding, protecting, advocating his championship of Protection lost him his office, b state, condition, of being a champion the championship of the ring, of the cattle world &c champlevé, adj [1 shānhlvrā, 2 ʃālvē] Fr, 'raised field' Of kind of enamel work, in which the metal ground is scooped out into hollows leaving a metal ridge or bar outlining the pattern, the paste is then poured into these and fired, opposed to cloisonné chance (I), n [1 chāns, 2 tʃāns] M E chance &c, fr O Fr, fr L Lat cadētia, 'falling, esp of dice' See cadence, cadency 1 Events as they happen, course of events, way things occur 'the changes and chances of this mortal life' 2 Various senses implying happening of events without any cause that can be ascertained, foreseen, or controlled, a undesigned, unforeseen, unforeseeable occurrence, accidental circumstance, fortune, luck to be present by the merest chance, to leave things to chance, a game of chance, reverse of one of skill Phr by chance, casually, by accident, b probability, likelihood, of something happening a good, slender, chance of success, c possibility, barest possibility just a chance that I may be there, not the least chance Phrs on the (off) chance, in case, to take one's chance of, trust to luck and run whatever risk there may be, d favourable opportunity, propitious occasion the chance for which one had been waiting, the chance of a lifetime Phr the main chance, opportunity of making a profit chance (II), adj, fr preo Coming, happening, by chance, accidental, casual, fortuitous a chance meeting, chance acquaintance, chance resemblance, occurrence &c chance (III), vb intrans, fr chance (I) 1 (impers) To come about, to pass, happen, fall out, without design or preparation I chanced that I was at home when he called 2 To do something, experience something, by accident I chanced to see, to meet, him 3 Chance upon, meet, find, come across, unexpectedly, light on by accident 4 (also trans, colloq) To risk to chance an accident, let's chance it chancel, n [1 chānsel, 2 tʃānsel] O Fr chancel, Lat cancelli, 'cross bars, lattice', from the chancel being formerly separated from rest of the church by a lattice or screen See cancel That part of a Christian church, usually at the east end, in which the choir and clergy sit, and at upper extremity of which the altar stands chancel aisle, n Aisle passing on either side of, or around chancel chancel arch, n Arch crossing chief entrance to chancel from the nave chancellery, n [1 chānslerī, 2 tʃānslerī] Fr chancellerie, L Lat cancellāria, fr Lat cancellārius See chancery & chancellor 1 A The position of a chancellor, b the court or department over which he presides, c spoof, office of chief secretary of an embassy news to disturb the chancelleries of Europe, i.e. the diplomats 2 Building or apartment in which office of a chancellor is situated chancellor, n [1 chānseler, 2 tʃānsel] M E chanceler, Fr chancelier, L Lat cancellārius The Roman chancellor was an officer who kept the records, and whose place was near the cancelli or 'lattice work', which screened off the judge's seat See cancel, chancel Name given to various great officials in this country and abroad Specif 1 a Lord (High) Chancellor of England, the chief judge, who also presides at sessions of the House of Lords, b Chancellor of the Exchequer, chief finance minister of the Crown, head of the Treasury, c Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, member of the Cabinet, representing the King as Duke of Lancaster 2 Chancellor of the Diocese, a law official appointed by the bishop to advise him on points of ecclesiastical law, hear cases in ecclesiastical court of the Diocese and grant faculties 3 Chancellor of a university, head of a university, generally represented in this country by the Vice-Chancellor, who resides continually, acts as chief executive officer, and presides at meetings of the legislative bodies of the university 4 Chief secretary of British embassies et foreign courts 5 Name of chief Minister of State in Germany and Austria chancellorship, n [1 ohānselership, 2 tʃānsleʃip], fr preo & -ship Offices or tenure of the office of chancellor chance-medley, n [1 chāns medli, 2 tʃāns medli], fr A-Fr law term chance medley, 'mixed chance' See chance & meddle An old term for a sudden affray or encounter leading to homicide, hence such a homicide, practically equivalent to modern manslaughter chancery, n [1 chānsəri, 2 tʃānsəri] Variant of chancellery Branch of the High Court dealing with equity cases, the Lord Chancellor is the head of the Court of Chancery, but the presiding judge is the Master of the Rolls Phr in chancery (law) a In course of being heard in court of chancery, b under control of Lord Chancellor, e.g. a ward in Chancery, c (fig, m boxing) in chancery, refers to the head of one of the combatants, when securely held under the arm of the other, so that the former is at the latter's mercy, from the difficulty formerly existing of escaping from the old court of chancery owing to its dilatoriness chancre, n [1 shāngkr, 2 ʃæŋkr], Fr form of canker (med) Form of venereal ulcer, esp the primary sore and infective source of syphilis chancroid, n [1 shāngkroid, 2 ʃæŋkroid] Prec & -oid (med) Sore resembling a chancre, but differing from it in being purely local chancrous, adj [1 shāngkrus, 2 ʃæŋkrus], fr chancre & -ous (med) Having nature of a chancre chancy, adj [1 chāns, 2 tʃāns], fr chance (I) & -y Having the nature of chance, uncertain, hazardous, risky chandelier, n [1 shāndelē, 2 ʃændelē] Fr, fr Lat candelārius, 'candle maker', fr candēla, 'candle' See candle & chandler

Braced support for lights, originally for candles, but by extension of meaning applied to similarly shaped bracket, suspended from the ceiling, for gas or electric lights chandler, n [1 chāndler, 2 tʃændl] M E chandeler; same word as prec, w retention of old meaning Maker or seller of candles, dealer in candles, soap, oil, paints &c Often with qualifying word tallow chandler, dealer in candles, wxt &c; ships' chandler, dealer in stores and provisions for ships change (I), vb trans & intrans [1 chāŋ, 2 tʃeɪndʒ] M E cha(u)ngen, fr O Fr changer, fr Low Lat cambiāre, Lat cambiāre, 'exchange, barter'. A Celt loan word, cp M Ir cimb, 'tribute'. A. trans 1 To take instead of, substitute one thing for another, put, adopt, a thing in place of another to change one's clothes, one's diet, habits, address &c Plurs to change countenance, appear disconcerted, change one's mind, alter opinions, or plans, change one's tune, no'e, in speaking, pass from civility to insolence or vice versa, express different views from those formerly stated, change sides, go over to other side (lit and fig), change step, alter order in which feet are advanced 2 To cause to become different in any respect, cause to pass from one state into another, convert one thing into another railways have changed the face of the country, grief had changed his hair from black to white, conjurers change wretches into rabbits at will 3 Specif a to give or receive money of larger or smaller denomination in place of that one has to change a five pound note for gold, b to give cash in exchange for a written draft or order to change a cheque, a postal order &c 4 Followed by with, give something up to a person on receiving something equivalent from him to change seats with a person 5 (in specific sense) To quit a railway train, or carriage, steamboat, or other conveyance, in order to enter another to change trains, boats &c B Intrans 1 To grow, become, different times change, he had changed greatly since last I saw him, our weather seems to change from day to day 2 a (of the moon) To pass from one phase to another, b (of tides) to pass from ebb to flow, or vice versa 3 (absolutely) To quit a train, carriage &c, and enter another we shall have to change at Crewe, all change! 4 To take off clothes one is wearing, and put on different ones you have just time to change before dinner change (II), n Fr, fr Low Lat cambium, 'exchange'. See change (I) & cambium 1 Substitution of one thing for another, alteration in sequence of events, variety, novelty a change of clothes, change of air, to be fond of change, to breakfast at 8 o'clock for a change Specif, a temporary visit to a different place you need a change, to go away for a change 2 Alteration, modification, passing from one state or condition to a different one I have noticed a great change in him lately, my opinions have undergone a change, a change in the weather Specif uses change of life, climateria, meno pause in women, change of voice, alteration of a boy's voice to that of a man, at puberty 3 a Money, coins, of lower denomination, given for that, or those, of a higher to give one change for half a crown, small change, b (by extension) small money to have no change about one Phr to get no change out of a person, gain no advantage over him, get no information from him 4 Place where merchants and financiers publicly transact business, exchange, often written 'Change, to be, go, on Change' 5 Series of rhymes, order in which bells are rung Phr (fig) to ring the changes (on), state same thing in many different ways 6 New phase of the moon, or tide changeability, n [1 chānjābiliti, 2 tʃeɪn(d)əbiliti] See next word & -ity Liability, tendency to change, quality of being changeable changeable, adj [1 chānjəbəl, 2 tʃeɪn(d)əbəl] change (I) & -able a Liable, prone, to change, variable, fickle, b capable of being changed changeableness, n Preo & -ness Changeability changeable, adj [1 chānjəfəʊl, 2 tʃeɪn(d)əfəʊl] change (II) & -ful Constantly changing, inconstant changeableness, n Preo & -ness Variability, inconstancy changeless, adj [1 chānjəzles, 2 tʃeɪnzles] change (II) & -less Unchanging, not liable to change, constant, immutable changelessness, n Preo & -ness Quality of being invariable, immutability changing, n [1 chānzhiŋ, 2 tʃeɪnzhiŋ] change (I) & -ling Creature, in human or animal form, supposed to be left by the fairies in place of one which they have stolen, often applied to a dwarfish, ill favoured person or animal channel (I), n [1 chānel, 2 tʃəʊ(n)əl] M E, fr O Fr chanel, variant of canal 1 Groove or hollow passage, for liquids, speed a natural or artificial hollow bed of a river or other flow of water, b passage in which river or body of water runs, c body of water joining two seas, specif the Channel, between North Sea and Atlantic 2 a Passage, duct, tube, through which any liquid passes, b (fig) means of access, communication, means or medium whereby non material things are conveyed channel of information, news, knowledge &c channel (II), vb trans, fr preo To cut, wear, hollow out, form, a channel channel (III), n For chain-wale See chain (I), 4, & wale Cp gunnel (Usually in pl) Massive pieces of wood, or metal, bolted to ship's sides, they keep the shrouds, or ropes, that support the masts, which are fastened to them, clear of the gunwale chant (I), n [1 chānt, 2 tʃənt] Fr, Lat cantus, 'song'. See chant (I) n Song, melody to which the church canticles are sung, b the various sacred hymns and canticles sung to such a melody chant (II), vb trans & intrans Fr chanter, 'to sing', fr Lat cantāre See preo 1 trans n To sing a chant, b to sing any song, c to celebrate in poetry, d to tell over and over again to chant a person's praises 2 intrans a To sing a chant, b to utter in a musical monotone chantage, n [1 shāntaʒ, 2 ʃəntʒ] Fr Cp slang phrase faire chanter, 'to make a person pay'. Blackmail chanter, n [1 chānter, 2 tʃəntə] Fr chanteur, Lat cantor, 'singer'. See chant (I) 1 Pipe of a bagpipe, with holes upon which, by fingering, the notes are produced chantey, chanty, also shanty, n [1 shānti, 2 ʃənti] Supposed corrupt of Fr chanter, 'to sing'. See chant Rhythmic song, sung by sailors in time with the motions in incidental to their work, e.g. turning a windlass &c chanticleer, n [1 chāntiklēr, 2 tʃəntiklēr] M E (Chaucer), fr O Fr chanticleer See chant & clear Name for the barnyard cock, from his loud crowing chantress, n [1 chāntres, 2 tʃəntres] Fr chanteresse Cp chanter Female singer chantry, n [1 chāntri, 2 tʃəntri] O Fr chanterie, 'singing'. See chant Chapel, altar, or part of a church where masses were sung for repose of the founder's soul chaos, n [1 lāos, 2 leɪos] Lat chaos, fr Gk khōs, 'gulf, unorganized primordial matter', fr same base as Gk khairō, 'I yawn'. Etymologists derive these words fr an Aryan base gʰeu*, gʰow* &c, whence also O H G goumo, Mod Germ gaumen, 'palate' (of the mouth), O E gōma, 'gum' (of the teeth), see gum (I) 1 The formless void, bottomless abyss, prior to creation 2 Utter confusion, disorder, a absence of ordered arrangement, muddle, whether in material, mental, or spiritual affairs chaotic, adj [1 kāotik, 2 keɪotik] fr preo on anal of erotic, fr Gk erōs Greatly disordered, confused, intermingled in hopeless confusion chaotically, adv [1 kāotikəl, 2 keɪotikəl] Preo & -al & -ly In a chaotic state or manner chap (I), vb trans & intrans [1 chəp, 2 tʃəp] In M E Connected with chip & chop 1 trans (said of frost, cold &c) To cause cracks or splits, roughness and soreness, in exposed parts, such as the face, backs of the hands &c 2 intrans (of the hands &c) To split, become rough and sore from exposure to frost and cold chap (II), chop, n The M E word is chaf, cp O N hjafr, neither of wh can be the direct ancestor of chap (gen in pl) The jaws, esp of an animal, for human beings chops is more usual, though the word is rare and vulgar Bath chap, salted pig's cheek chap (III), n Shortened form of chapman (colloq and familiar) Male person, boy or man a good, nice, chap, old chap, my dear chap, familiar and affectionate modes of address chirapajios, n pl [1 chaparáh-hōs, 2 tʃəpərdhōs] Span (Mexico), fr chaparral Sheepskin or leather overalls used by Western cowboys to protect the legs from the thorns of the chaparral, often abbreviated as chaps chaparral, n [1 chaparál, 2 tʃəpərdál] Span, 'evergreen oak'. Donce, thorny hush or scrub of Mexico and S-W United States of America chap-book, n For first element see chapman. Small book, tract, or pamphlet, usually containing tales or ballads of a popular character, formerly sold by chapmen or pedlars chape, n [1 chāp, 2 tʃeɪp] Variant of cap (I), fr L Lat cāpa, 'cape, cap' Originally a covering, now rare and in varying senses a metal point protecting end of seaboard, b metal mounting at top of seaboard which bears ring for attaching to belt, c back part of a buckle by which it is fastened to strap chapel, n [1 chəpəl, 2 tʃəpəl] M E, fr O Fr chapelle, Low Lat capella, cappella, 'cloak, hood', later 'sanctuary containing relics', orig the cloak of St Martin of Tours, dimin of Low Lat cappa, 'cap', or cūpa, 'cloak', closely related words, ultimately fr caput, 'head', & meaning 'head covering'. See cap & capo 1 Place of Christian worship, subordinate to a larger church, a part of a church provided with an altar and specially dedicated, b small separate place of worship other than a cathedral or parish church, often situated in outlying part of a parish, and served by the parish clergy a chapel of ease, Lady chapel, one attached to a cathedral &c, dedicated to the BVM 2 Private, consecrated place of worship attached to a college, hospital, large private house, or castle, and usually extra diocesan chapel royal, one officially connected with the sovereign 3 Place of worship of a denomination other than the Church of England, esp a one belonging to a Protestant nonconformist body, b a Roman Catholic place of worship 4 Specif, Protestant nonconformity in contrast to the Established Church to give up church and attend chapel, to abandon the Church of England for nonconformity, chapel folk, nonconformists 5 (in Oxford and Cambridge) A service in the college chapel, a certain number of which all undergraduates must attend each term to keep a chapel, or chapels 6 Printing-office, association or meeting of journeymen printers (So called because the first printers carried on their work in a chapel near, or belonging to, Westminster Abbey) chappelle ardente, n [1 shəpəl ɑrdənt, 2 ʃəpəl ɑrdənt] Fr Chapel, room, lighted with candles or torches, prepared for the lying in state of a sovereign &c chapelry, n [1 chəpəlri, 2 tʃəp(ə)lri] Fr chapelrie See chapel & -ry District served by a chapel chapel text, n (typog) Ornate style of type, somewhat resembling church text but lighter chaperon (I), n [1 shəpəron, 2 ʃəpəron] Fr 'a hood', used in this sense in M E The mod sense seems to have grown fr the idea of 'a protection', & then 'a protector'. A female attendant, friend, or parent, who accompanies daughter or younger lady to parties of pleasure, halls &c to play property, and afford protection Originally (Todd's Johnson) applied to a lady's male attendant or cavalier at a public assembly chase (III), vb trans, for enchase, O Fr enchasser, 'to enshrine, set' (of ornaments &c), fr chasse, 'shrine for a relic', dialectal variant of caisse. See case & onpsule. To engrave by way of ornament richly chased plate.

chase (IV), n Fr chasse. See proo. Hollow or groove cut for reception of something, a part of a gun which receives the charge, a channel cut in a wall for a pipe to lie in, or trench cut for a drain pipe &c.

chase (V), n See proo (print). Iron frame for holding columns or pages of type.

chaser, n [1 châsser, 2 tjéss] chase (I) & -ar. Gun, at bow or stern of ship, for use in chasing or being chased bow-stern chaser.

chasm, n [1 kæzm, 2 kázem] Gk khasma, 'yawning hollow, gulf', connected w khalein, 'to gap'. See chaos. A broad, deep fissure in the earth, b a deep abyss, o (fig) wide difference in opinions, feelings, tastes, between persons, d a gap, break, interruption of continuity.

chasse, n [1 shas, 2 ss] Fr, 'chase', also, though now rarely, in Engl sense. Glass of liqueur taken immediately after onp of coffee.

chassé, n & vb, intrans [1. shásá, 2. ssó] Fr, 'hunt'. See chase (I). 1 n Rapid gliding step in dancing, esp when the male partner holds the lady straight in front of him and pushes her before him, so that she runs backwards. 2 vb To dance with this step.

chassepot, n [1 sháspó, 2. sswopó] Inventor's name. The French breech-loading rifle of the war of 1870.

chasseur, n [1 shásér, 2. ssax] Fr, 'hunter, huntsman'. 1 Name of various light infantry or cavalry regiments of the French army, as Chasseurs Alpins, Chasseurs d'Afrique &c. 2 A page boy, messenger, in a French hotel or restaurant.

chassis, n [1 shásá, 2. ssax] Fr chassis, 'frame, framework', Lat capsus, 'body of a coach or wagon', fr capio, 'take, receive'. See capsule & captivity. Framework, specif, framework, wheels, and machinery upon which a gun carriage or the body of a motor-car is mounted.

chaste, adj [1 ohást, 2. tjéast] Fr, fr Lat castus, 'clean, unpolluted, continent, chaste', prob related to Lat castigare, 'cleanse, punish', castrare, 'to cut, castrate', & carere, 'to be without, lack'. Cp Sorcière d'Isola, 'outs'. Cp oaries & castrate. A Pure in thought and word, pure in body, continent, refraining from impurity of any kind, b (of style, ornament &c) restrained, free from extravagance and barbarism, simple.

chastely, adv. Free & -ly. In a chaste manner.

chasten, vb trans [1 ohásten, 2. tjésten] M E chasten &c, fr O Fr chastier, Mod Fr châtier, 'punish', fr Lat. castigare (see castigate & chaste) & Engl suff -en. 1 To punish, inflict pain upon, in order to correct and reclaim, b to restrain, subdue, reduce, a person's fervour, or high spirits.

chastened, adj [1. ohástend, 2. tjéástend] fr P P of proo. Subdued, discomfited, saddened, and reduced to submissiveness by punishment or bitter experience.

chasteness, n [1 ohástness, 2. tjéástness] chaste & -ness. Condition of being chaste, esp of style, design &c, severe simplicity, absence of meretricious ornament.

chastise, vb trans [1 ohástise, 2. tjéástise] M E chastisen, fr chast (en) &c, & -ise. See chasten. 1 To punish severely by beating, b to administer severe reproof, reprimand, to.

chastisement, n [1 ohástizment, 2. tjéástizment] Proo & -ment. A Act of inflicting punishment, of chastising, b the undergoing, suffering, of punishment.

chastity, n [1 ohástiti, 2. tjéástiti] M E & O Fr chasteté, Lat castitas (-em), 'purity of body'. See chaste & -ity. Purity, a (of body) continence, abstinence from unpermitted sexual indulgence; b complete abstinence from sexual intercourse, virginity.

priestly vows of chastity, o purity, sensitive delicacy of thought and feeling, d (of style) severe simplicity, same as chasteness.

chasuble, n [1 oházubli, 2. tjéazubli] Med Lat casubula, lit 'little house', dimin of Lat casa, 'outgate, hooded garment forming a covering like a little house'. Cp onssook. Oasa is perh a dial form of the base lat*, 'to protect, cover', ultimately connected w hat. Vestment worn over the alb by celebrant at the Mass. It is made of silk or linen, is in the form of a kind of cloak, oval in shape, with an opening in the middle for the head, and generally has a large Y shaped cross, besides other embroideries, upon it.

chat (I), vb intrans. [1 ohát, 2. tjéat] Short for ohatter. To talk, converse, with another person in an informal, familiar manner, esp upon light topics, to indulge in small talk.

chat (II), n, fr proo a (with indef art) Light, familiar, easy, friendly talk, or conversation to have a chat, b an informal address or popular lecture, o (without art) chatter, futile babbling talk, spoof, impudence, impertinence let me have none of your chat (colloq and vulg).

chat (III), n, fr chat (I). Name of several species of birds of thrush family stonechat, whinchat.

château, n, pl -x [1 sháste, 2. jato] Fr, fr O Fr chastel, L Lat castellum. See castle. 1 A castle in France, also large country house or mansion. 2 Also, attrib (of French wines) as produced on a private estate or château, as Château Yquem &c.

châtelaine, n [1 shátolén, 2. jatolén] Fr, 'the mistress of a château', that is, a castle, or country-house. 1 Used more or less in above sense, lady of the house, hostess. 2 Ornamental chain hanging from a woman's belt, to which keys, seals &c are attached (Name due to association of the mistress of a house with keys of store cupboards &c).

chati, n [1 sháté, oháté, 2. jati, tjéti] Connected w Lat calus, Fr chal &c. South American tiger-cat.

chatoyant, adj & n [1 shatwóiant, 2. jatwóiant] Fr, Pres Part of chaloier, 'to shine like the eye of a cat', fr chat, 'cat', fr L Lat calus, see cat. 1 adj. Shining with a changeable colour or lustre, like the eye of a cat, or the cat's eye. 2 n Stone, such as the cat's eye, with this lustre.

chattel, n [1 ohátli, 2. tjéatli] M E chattel, fr O Fr, dialectal variant of cattle. A An article of property, (in pl) goods, possessions. Phr goods and chattels, b (law) applicable to property of all and every kind except real estate, including money and plate, and rights in land less than freehold, which are termed chattels-rent, as leaseholds, chattel mortgage, mortgage on personal property as security for a debt.

chatter (I), vb intrans [1 oháter, 2. tjéat] M E chateren. Prob of imitative origin. 1 a (of persons) To talk excessively, continuously and rapidly, b to talk in an idle, futile manner, esp on trivial subjects, o to talk unwisely and widely, and upon subjects which were better kept private, hence to divulge secrets or confidences, to blab. 2 a (of birds) To utter rapid, shrill cries of anger and excitement, other than song (esp of jays, magpies, starlings), b (of monkeys) to utter rapid squeaks or semi-articulate sounds, o (of a rapidly flowing brook) to make a rippling, babbling sound, d to rattle, as of loose parts of machinery. 3 (of the teeth) To produce series of shaking, rattling sounds, as when the lower jaw trembles with cold, fear, or other strong emotion. Often partially fig his teeth chattered, he was trembling, was frightened.

chatter (II), n, fr proo a. Idle, empty, noisy talk, b rapid cries of jays, magpies &c or of monkeys, the sound of a brook rippling over stones &c, rattle of machinery.

chatterbox, n [1 oháterboks, 2. tjéatboks] Proo & box (I). Excessively talkative.

person, esp one given to continuous rapid talking.

chatterer, n [1 oháterer, 2. tjéatérer] chatter (I) & -er. One who chatters (in any sense).

chatty (I), adj [1 ohátá, 2. tjéatí] See chat (I) & -y (in favourable sense) a Fond of, given to, familiar, friendly talk, b (soldiers' slang) voracious, lousy.

chatty (II), n. Tamil shât. Anglo Indian term for an earthenware water pot or water cooler.

chauffer, n [1 chávfer, 2. tjéáf] Fr chauffeur, 'a heater', in various specific senses. See chafe. Small portable stove.

chauffeur, n [1 ahófer, 2. jouáf] Fr, lit 'one who heats', specif 'a stoker, fireman', the term in Engl sense is mechanicien. See chafe. Man who drives and attends to a motor car, generally applied to a private servant.

chaussée, n [1 shósá, 2. ousá] Fr. See causeway. A paved road, highway.

chauvinism, n [1 shóvínizm, 2. jóvínizm] Fr chauvinisme, fr Nicolas Chauvin, a Napoleonic soldier, notorious for extravagant expressions of loyalty. Term applied contemptuously after Napoleon's fall. Attitude of mind which is unwilling to admit the possibility of faults in one's own country and people, or much good in any other, perverted, blind patriotism.

chauvinist, n [1 shóvínist, 2. jóvínist] See proo & -ist. Person affected by chauvinism.

chaw, vb trans [1 chaw, 2. tjé] Variant of chew (vulg and colloq). To munch, masticate (food) coarsely and noisily. Chaw up (fig), to defeat utterly an enemy or opponent in a game, to injure badly, e.g. in a battle, railway accident &c.

chaw-bacon, n. A vulgar, clumsy, rustic clown.

cheap, adj & adv [1 ohép, 2. tjép] O E clap, n, 'a price, bargain', M E chep, also a. n. The present adj. sense arose fr the M E phrase bigen gôd chep, 'to buy at a good, favourable price', i.e. 'cheap'. Cp Fr (a) bon marché. The O E vb is cléapian, 'buy', & the word occurs also, in same sense, as choufen in O H G, O N laupa, Goth laupōn, 'to trade'. O H G has choufo, 'a buikster' (cp Gorm kaufmann, 'merchant'), & this is prob the orig sense of the word in Gmc. It is now again thought by etymologists, though this was earlier disputed, that the base is a loan fr Lat, cp cavpo, 'huckster, petty tradesman, innkeeper'. The origin of this word is still disputed, but Walde connects it w Lat cilpa, 'tub, cask' (w different gradation), in wh case the earliest sense of cavpo was 'one having to do with casks', whence the other meanings were derived. See further under cup & havo. 1 A Of low price, relative to value of article purchased, b of small value, worthless, bad cheap clothes are useless. Phrs dirty cheap, very cheap; to hold something cheap, set little value upon it, make oneself (too) cheap, be too accessible, allow undue familiarity, on the cheap, cheaply. 2 (of works of art) Characterized by obvious, facile effects, meretricious. 3 adv Cheaply to buy, get, make, something cheap.

cheaper, vb trans [1 ohépen, 2. tjépen] Proo & -en. a (archaic and rare) To bargain, haggle, bar, b to make cheap, cut down price.

cheap-jack, n. Travelling dealer in cheap, inferior wares.

cheaply, adv [1 ohéphi, 2. tjéphi] cheap & -ly. Inexpensively, at, for, a small price.

cheapness, n [1 ohépnas, 2. tjépnas] See proo & -ness. Condition of being cheap, smallness of price.

cheat (I), n [1 ohét, 2. tjít] For each oar M E chêl, 'confiscation'. a Deception, fraud, swindle, dishonest trick, b person who practices fraud, a swindler, trickster.

cheat (II), vb trans & intrans, fr proo A trans. 1 To swindle, deceive, in order to obtain some advantage from, purchase a trick, dishonesty, upon you've been cheated. Also to cheat (a person) of something, or out of something, to obtain something from him by fraud, defraud of, deprive of, by a trick he has cheated me (out) of my property. 2 To escape by skill or good fortune to cheat the gallows. 3 To beguile, cause to forget tedium, fatigue, sorrow &c to cheat time, the journey &c. B intrans To practise deceit, fraud, trickery &c to cheat at cards.

check (I), n [1 chék, 2 tšék] ME chek. Term in chess, also 'defeat', O Fr eschec, fr Arab chāq, fr Pers chāh, 'king', introduced w the game of chess. In Chaucer, an exclamation meaning 'beware', on analogy of chess 'therewith Fortune seyde' chek here, 'And "mate" in the mid possite of the cheklere'. The various meanings in Fr & Engl. All start fr that in chess 1 Exclamation of warning at chess that opponent's king is threatened. 2 Anything which hinders, retards, interrupts, limits, action, delays, progress, interferes with plans, hopes &c, a rebuff, set-back, speelf a (mul) slight reverse in attack, b (hunting) interruption to run of hounds by loss of scent, also in various specific applications to mechanical contrivances. 3 A Control, supervision to keep in check, b means of securing accuracy or honesty to keep a check on one's statements, c speelf, token, or other token, to prove identity, or ownership, e.g. for hats and seats at a theatre, for seat in a public conveyance &c. Phr to hand in one's checks, (fig) to die. 4 (extension of 3) Usually cheque, q v, printed or engraved form to be filled in and signed, for drawing money from bank to draw, write, a check. 5 A Pattern in squares, roughly resembling a chess board, b cloth woven with such a pattern.

check (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 (chess) To threaten the king. 2 A To retard, restrain, hamper, delay progress, movement, material or non material, b to warn, admonish, reprove (person) regarding an action (provins). 3 To test, provide means for ensuring accuracy or honesty of to check statements, accounts, figures, references &c. B intrans A To come to a sudden halt, speak, (of hounds who lose the scent) to pause in a run, b check at, resent, take offence at (rare).

checker (I), n [1 ohéker, 2 tšéka] See checker. 1 Checker pattern. 2 (pl) The game of draughts, now American usage.

checker (II), vb See checker. checkmate, interj, n, & vb trans [1 ohékmát, 2 tšékmát] Arab chāh mātā, 'the king is dead' in chess 1 (chess) Exclamatory warning or announcement that the opponent's king is finally out of action owing to one's move. Now usually mate! 2 n. a The act of putting opponent's king out of action, condition of the king thus affected, b (fig) complete rebuff, defeat, frustration. 3 vb trans a (chess) To put opponent's king finally out of action, b (fig) to thwart, circumvent (a person or his action), frustrate (an attempt).

check-weigher, n [1 ohék wāer, 2 tšék wēa] check (II) & weigh &-er Man who, on behalf of the coal miners, checks the weight of coal when it comes to the surfaces of the mine.

cheeky, chequise, chequy, adj [1 ohéki, 2 tšéki] Fr See cheek (I) (har, of field). Divided into squares of alternate tinctures.

Cheddar, n [1 ohédar, 2 tšédá] Name of place in Somerset. Kind of cheese.

cheek (I), n [1 chék, 2 tšík] OE ciace, also cioca, ME chēke, op Dn laak. 1 A Side of human face from below eye and ear to chin and angle of jaw, b (in animals) corresponding part of head and jaw. Phr cheek by jowl, close together, to one's own cheek, for one's own exclusive use. 2 (colloq) Impudence, presumption, affront, behaviour or language unbefitting the relative character and status of the person using these, and those of the person to whom they are used.

Op use of face in somewhat similar sense. Phr to have the cheek to (do, say &c), be so impudent as to.

cheek (II), vb trans, fr prec (colloq) To speak impudently, rudely, pertly, to, to insult, address with disrespect.

cheekily, adv [1 ohéki, 2 tšíki] cheeky &-ly In a cheeky manner, impudently. cheekiness, n [1 ohéki, 2 tšíki] cheeky &-ness Impudence.

cheeky, adj [1 chéki, 2 tšíki] cheek (I) &-y (colloq) Impudent, displaying cheek. cheep, vb intrans & trans [1 ohép, 2 tšíp] Imitative a intrans To utter weak, shrill notes, to pipe (of young birds), to squeak shrilly (of mice or young rats), b trans, to utter with a cheeping sound.

cheeper, n [1 ohéper, 2 tšípe] Prec &-er a Young bird, esp young partridge or grouse, b very young child.

cheer (I), n. [1 shér, 2 tšé] ME chēre, 'countenance', O Fr chiere, chiere, fr L lat cira, 'face', the origin of vb is uncertain, its relation to Gk. kára, 'head', is by no means clear. Already in Chaucer the various uses of the word occur fr vb the present-day differentiation of meaning can be traced, namely, 'face, look, mien', 'good cheer in sense of 'mirth', & 'good cheer in much the same sense. The sense 'mirth, joy' &c arose first in the phr good cheer, happy countenance, or expression, the sense of 'entertainment, food, and drink' seems a specialized development fr the same starting-point. 1 State of mind, mood, spirits to be of good cheer, of and cheer &c. Phr what cheer! 2 Entertainment, fare, often good cheer, Christmas cheer, to enjoy good cheer. 3 Encouragement, inspiring words words of cheer. 4 Applause, shout(s) expressing approval, triumph, delight to give a cheer, three cheers for the victors!

cheer (II), vb trans & intrans See prec A trans 1 To inspire with hope, joy, gladness, render more happy, raise spirits from despondency, to encourage, enliven, gladden. Also to cheer up, in some senses, but generally implying specific raising of spirits. 2 a To applaud vocally, express approval, congratulation, good wishes, triumph, by loud shouts the speaker was lustily cheered, the House cheered the news of peace, b also with on, to encourage, urge on with shouts the crowd cheered the Oxford crew (on) to victory. Phr to cheer to the echo. B intrans 1 Always followed by up, to become happier, pass from state of depression to more joyful frame of mind he cheered up wonderfully at the news. Phr cheer up!, don't be depressed. 2 To utter cheers, give shouts of applause or triumph &c the audience stood up and cheered as the king entered.

cheerful, adj [1 ohéfool, 2 tšífo] cheer (I) &-ful 1 a (of persons) Happy, contented, in good spirits a cheerful old soul, b (of things) tending to render happy, inspiring, bright a cheerful room, the cheerful day, c exhibiting, arising from, happiness, good spirits cheerful conversation, song &c. 2 Ironical, the reverse of happy, deplorable, miserable, reprehensible that's a cheerful remark, he must be a cheerful sort of man to treat his wife so badly!

cheerfully, adv Prec &-ly In a cheerful manner, with pleasure, without compunction. cheerfulness, n See prec &-ness Condition of being cheerful, good spirits.

cheerily, adv [1 ohéki, 2 tšíki] cheer &-ly In a cheery manner, merrily.

cheeriness, n See prec &-ness State of being cheery, act of exhibiting lively spirits. cheerless, adj [1 chéles, 2 tšíles] cheer (I) &-less Devoid of cheerfulness, dismal, depressing, gloomy.

cheerlessly, adv Prec &-ly Dismally, gloomily.

cheerlessness, n See prec &-ness Misery, gloom, absence of cause for, or source of, joy or pleasure.

cheery, adj [1 ohéri, 2 tšéri] cheer (I) &-y In good spirits, lively, merry, genial.

cheese (I), n [1 ohés, 2 tšé] OE cese, O H G & O L G lāsa, an early W Gms loan-word fr Lat caseus, 'cheese', prim W Gmo type kāyō*. The Lat word is believed to be fr earlier kwaesō*, & sogn w O Slav kvās, 'yeast', Russ kvass, 'a sour malted drink', op further Sort kvailah, 'cooks, boils', Goth hwapō, 'foam', & hwappan, 'to foam'. The fundamental meaning seems to be the bubbling & foaming associated w fermentation or the growing sour of certain substances. 1 Consolidated milk curd used as food. 2 Certain preparations resembling cheese in consistency, e.g. pommace oake, confection of quinces.

cheese (II), n Orig an Anglo Indian word, fr Hind. chīr, 'thing', & arising fr such a phrase as such and such is 'the real chīr', that is, the real thing (vulg slang, obs). The correct thing quite the cheese.

cheesecake, n [1 chézkák, 2 tšízke] Cake containing sweet mixture of sugar, butter, and lemon.

cheese-cloth, n Loosely woven cotton material used in squeezing cheese surds.

cheese-mite, n A small mite, infesting cheese.

cheesemonger, n [1 ohézmonger, 2 tšíz mangle] See monger One who sells cheese, butter, eggs &c.

cheese-paring, n & adj 1 n a Thin portion of cheese rind which has been removed from the cheese, b (fig) miserliness, stinginess, grudging spirit. 2 adj Miserly, stingy cheese paring habits, policy.

cheesy, adj [1 ohézi, 2 tšízi] cheese (I) &-y Having consistency or taste of cheese.

cheetah, n [1 shéta, 2 tšé] Hind chīhā, Sort chilla, 'spotted, variegated'. One of the cat tribe, of S Asia and Africa, known also as the hunting leopard, since it can be tamed and trained to hunt the antelope. The cheetah has a tawny skin, thickly spotted with black, and a very long tail, the claws, unlike those of the true cats, are very slightly retractile. chéf, n [1 shéf, 2 tšé] Fr, 'head', speak, a head man cook. See chief. Head cook in large house, college, club, or restaurant.

chef-d'œuvre, n [1 shé dévr, 2 tšé dévr] Fr Masterpiece.

cheiro-, pref, 'hand', form used in compounds, also chiro-, fr Gk cheir, 'hand', wh stands for chēry*, or chērya*, op Sort harah, 'he takes', & chērya, 'seizing'. The Aryan base was g'her-*, 'to seize'.

Cheiroptera, n [1 kíroptēra, 2 kúroptēra], fr cheiro, fr Gk phéron, 'wing', see ptero-. The natural order of flying mammals, which includes the bats, flying foxes &c.

Cheka, n [1 eháka, 2 tšéka] Russ Name of initial letters (ch, k) of Chresvychanaya Komisarya, 'Extraordinary Commission', Political branch of Russian secret police, now OGPU.

chela (I), n [1 ohéla, 2 tšéla] Hind chela, 'servant', also 'slave, household retainer, follower, pupil', speak, a Buddhist novice or disciple. In Anglo Indian usage it came to mean 'a special battalion made up of prisoners and convicts' (Yule and Burnell).

chela (II), n, pl -ae [1 éléla, 2 tšéla, -i], fr Gk. chēle, 'fork, animal's pincer, claw'. The base is prob the same as that in chelaism, 'to gape', q v under chaos (zool). The claw-like pincer of crabs, lobsters &c, also of epidermal cheliform, adj [1 éléform, 2 kílifōm] See chela (II) &-form Having a movable joint or segment as in the pincer or claw of a crab &c.

Chellean, adj [1 shélean, 2 tšélan] Fr, fr Chelles, France, where earliest discoveries were made. Belonging to a primitive early palaeolithic culture or period in Europe contemporaneous with the elephant, cave bear, rhinoceros &c, as evidenced by certain flint implements, it preceded the Acheulean and Mousterian ages.

into, subject to excessive cold, render ill with cold chilled to the bone, c speak, to freeze food so as to preserve it, d to toughen or harden iron and steel 2 intrans To become cold, lose warmth, undergo fall in temperature chilli, n [1 chili, 2 tʃili] Mexican word Dried fruit of capsicum, used as condiment Chilli, pepper, kind of cayenne chilliness, n [1 chilliness, 2 tʃilinis] chilly & -ness Coldness, state of being chilly (lit and fig) chilling, adj [1 chilling, 2 tʃilɪŋ], fr Pres Part of chill (III) a Producing sense of cold, producing, tending to cause, a chill, b (fig) depressing, casting a gloom, or loss of exhilaration by repellent, austere manner chilly, adj [1 chilly, 2 tʃili] chill (I) & -y Rather cold, unpleasantly lacking in warmth to feel chilly, a chilly room, chilly manner

Chiltern Hundreds, n [1 chiltən hʌndrədz, 2 tʃiltən hʌndrədz], fr the Chilterns, hills in Buckinghamshire An old manorial office, held from the Crown, considered to be an 'office of profit', and therefore disqualifying a Member of Parliament from retaining his seat, and thus, by a legal fiction, enabling him to resign from Parliament, whence Phr to accept, apply for, the Chiltern Hundreds, to resign seat in House of Commons chime (I), n [1 chim, 2 tʃaɪm] ME chymbe, chime &c., chime, cymbal, O Fr chimble &c., fr Lat cymbalum See cymbal A set of bells in church tower &c tuned for ringing together in sequence, b musical sequence of sounds produced by such a set of bells (often pl), c musical or rhythmic sound from instrument of music Phr in chime, in tune, in harmony, (fig) in agreement chime (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans To ring chimes on (a set of bells) 2 intrans a (of bells or a clock) to sound as a chime, Phr chime in, break suddenly into a conversation, b (fig) to harmonize with, respond to, be in agreement with, also chime in with, suit, be in accordance with (plans &c) chime (III), chimb, n OE cimb, in cimbstāne, 'stone into which pillar is fitted', cimb-tren, 'clamp' Etymol doubtful Projecting rim at each end of a cask chimera, chimera, n [1 ki-, kiməra, 2 ki-, kamərə] Fr chimère, Gk khimaira, lit 'she goat', also a monster, with lion's head, goat's middle, and serpent's tail, op khimaraos, 'the goat', orig 'a yearling, creature of one winter', connected w Gk kheimra, 'winter, storm', op Sert himat, 'cold, winter', op further Engl dual gimmer lamb, ON gymbr, 'ewe lamb of one year' See further cognates under hibernal, hibernate 1 In Gk sense in Milton, 'hydraz and chimæras dire' ('P L' n 618) 2, Hence, a bogey, a fancied horror which has no existence chimere, n [1 ʃimɛr, 2 ʃumɛr] O Fr chamarre, Fr samarre, 'magistrate's robe' Origin unknown Long black robe, open in front, worn by bishops over the rochet, the large sleeves of which come through openings in the sides chimney, n [1 ohimni, 2 tʃimni], fr O Fr cheminee, fr Low Lat caminata, 'fire-place', fr Lat caminata, 'forge, hearth', op Gk kamīnos, 'oven', conn w kamarā, 'vault', q v under camera 1 Hollowed space in wall of house or other building passing from a fire-place upwards through the roof, and often projecting above this, which acts as a vent for smoke and fumes from fire Phr to smoke like a chimney 2 Tall tower-like structure in connexion with factory furnace which causes draught for this and carries off smoke and fumes 3 Funnel shaped structure in steam engine or steamship which carries off smoke and steam from fires and boilers 4 Glass tube which protects flame of an oil lamp and regulates draught 5 Natural opening shaped like a chimney, a vent of a volcano, b narrow opening or cleft in mountain or rock chimney-corner, n Large recess with seats in old-fashioned fireplace, formed by lowest part of chimney chimney-piece, n Moulding or decorative structure placed across top, and on either side of the opening of a fireplace, often having a shelf at the top, and carved or ornamented chimney-pot, n a Large tube of earthenware or metal, a few feet in height, fastened to the upper end of chimney whence it projects above roof of house, and serves to promote draught and to carry smoke away from house, b shiny silk hat of cylindrical form, so called from shape, a top hat, also chimney pot hat chimney-stack, n a (more used in U S A than in England) Structure on roof of house containing the vents of several chimneys, from which the chimney-pots rise, b tall isolated chimney of factory, steam engine &c chimney-sweep(er), n Person whose trade it is to remove soot from chimney chimpanzee, n [1 chimpanzē, 2 tʃimpanzɪ] W Afr name Arboreal African anthropoid ape, smaller and less fierce than gorilla chin, n [1 chin, 2 tʃin] OE cin, cp ON linn, Goth linne, 'cheek', OS, OHG linna, 'cheek', Mod Germ linn, 'chin', cogn w Lat gena, 'cheek', Gk genia, 'lower jaw', gēzion, 'chin, lower part of face', Sert hanut, 'jaw', OW gin, 'month' Cp also Gk gnathos, 'jaw', q v under gnathic Projecting front part of lower jaw below the mouth china, n & adj [1 china, 2 tʃaɪna], fr name of country 1 n a Fine porcelain ware made in China, b (general term) any kind of crockery or earthenware glass and china 2 adj Made of porcelain in specific or general sense china cup, basin &c

China aster, n A garden flower resembling a chrysanthemum

China bark, n Quinine

China clay, n Kaolin

Chinaman, n [1 chinaman, 2 tʃaɪnəmən], irregular formation Native of China, a Chinese chinchilla, n [1 chinchilla, 2 tʃintʃila] Span dimin of chinchē, 'bug', Lat cinic em, acc of cinex, cogn w Sert ʃyama, 'dark grey' So named from supposed resemblance in smell between the insect and the animal a Rodent of Peru, about the size of a large squirrel, b the soft, grey fur of this animal chin-chin, n [1 chinchin, 2 tʃintʃin] Chinese ts'ing ts'ing, 'please-please', the phrase in pidgin-Engl is equiv to 'thank you, adieu' a Polite salutation, b ceremonious conversation chin-deep, adj a Reaching to the chin (of water &c), b (of persons) in water to the chin, c (fig) deeply immersed in business chine (I), n [1 chin, 2 tʃaɪn] Cp OE cine, 'fissure', connected w cina, 'to gape, crack' The mod word presupposes earlier i as in OE vb Small deep, narrow valley in Hants and Isle of Wight chine (II), n ME chynes, 'back', fr O Fr eschine, wh is prob a HG loan-word, cp OHG scina, 'needle, prickle, splinter', cogn w skun For development of meaning cp Lat spina, 'thorn, prickle, fish bone, spine of sea urchin, spine, back', see spine a Backbone of an animal, esp as a joint of meat, b ridge, spine, of a rock, or ice formation, arête

Chinese, n [1 ohinē, 2 tʃaɪni] Formed fr Chinese, wh. was supposed to be a pl (vulg and colloq) A Chinese

Chinese, n & adj [1 chīnēz, 2 tʃaɪniz] Chinese & -ese a n A native of China, the language of China, b adj, belonging to, coming from, China

Chinese lantern, n One made of paper, containing a candle, and made to fold up, often used for decoration at night in open air

Chinese white, n White, zinc paint chunk (I), n [1 chungk, 2 tʃʊk] Only since 16th cent Same meaning as chine (I) Origin doubtful. a slit, narrow opening, crack, esp one which lets light, a draught &c through chunk (II), n & vb intrans, imitative 1 n a Clinking, tinkling sound as of coins dropped one upon another, or of small metal objects lightly rubbing together, b (colloq) money 2 vb To make a noise as of coins or other pieces of metal knocking together

Chunk (III), n (vulg and colloq) A Chinese Chinook, n [1 chinook, 2 tʃinuk] N Amer Indian 1 a North American Indian group of tribes on north-west coast, b their language, c member of such tribes 2 A patois or dialect of a mixture of French and Chinook 3 A warm, dry wind from the Rocky Mountains chintz, n [1 chintz, 2 tʃintz] Formerly a pl fr sing chint, Hind chint, 'spotted cotton cloth' A kind of cotton cloth or calico printed or stamped with bright-coloured patterns, much used in upholstery chip (I), n [1 chip, 2 tʃip] Perh variant of chop 1 a Thin shaving or splinter of wood hacked or split off larger block, Phr as dry as a chip, very dry, a chip of the old block, a true representative, for good or ill, of parent or family, b small portion of some brittle substance, such as stone, glass, or crockery knocked off edge of a vessel, c the jagged, dented place left in glass or crockery by such an injury there's a chip out of this cup, a chip in the edge of the cup, d the act of making chips, or reducing to chips 2 a (gen in pl, coll) Thin slice of apple or other hard fruit, dried and preserved, b thin shaving of potato fried till it becomes dry and brittle fish and chips chip (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans a To knock or cut chips out of to chip the edge of a knife, of a tea-cup &c, b to make potatoes into chips, by slicing and frying chipped potatoes 2 intrans To be liable to be chipped this china chips very easily 3 Chip in (colloq), to take a sudden part in, a conversation, debate, fight &c chip basket, n Light fragile basket for gathering flowers or fruit, made of thin shavings of wood plated chip hat, n Hat made of coarse straw chipmunk, chipmunk, n [1 chipmunk, -mnik, 2 tʃipmʌnk, -mak], fr Amer-Indian name Small striped American squirrel

Chippendale, adj [1 chippendil, 2 tʃippendil] From Thomas Chippendale, died 1779, a celebrated maker and designer of furniture (of furniture) Made by, or from designs of, or according to general style of, Thomas Chippendale chippy, adj [1 chipi, 2 tʃipi], fr chip (I) & -y a Resembling or abounding in chips, having chips knocked out (as a knife blade), b (colloq slang) unwell, indisposed, esp from over indulgence in drink chiro- See cheiro- chirograph, n [1 kirografi, 2 kərografi] Fr chirographie, Gk khērodigraphē, 'document written by hand' Prec & -graph Legal instrument formally written or signed chiromancer, n [1 kiromanser, 2 kəromanser] See next word Palmist chiromancy, n [1 kiromansi, 2 kəromansi] chiro-, 'hand', & -mancy, 'divination' Art of telling a person's character, abilities, and fortune by the lines in his hand, palmistry chiromantic, adj [1 kiromantik, 2 kəromantik] See prec & -ic Relating to chiromancy chiropodist, n [1 kiropodist, 2 kəropodist] See chiro- & -pod & -ist Person skilled in the care of the feet, esp in treatment of corns, outgrowing of toes nails &c chirology, n [1 kiropodi, 2 kəropodi], fr first two elements of prec & -y The art, or trade, of the chiropodist chiroptera See cheiroptera chirp, vb trans & intrans & n [1 chɜrp, 2 tʃɜp] No history, but resembles several other imitative words Cp OE cearcian, 'creak' 1 vb a trans To utter with shrill, piping note of birds to chirp a song, b intrans, to utter shrill, piping note, a (fig) to speak in a shrill, cheerful voice (said of rather futile persons with poor voices) 2 n Single cry or note of a bird a series of chirps chirpy, adj [1 chärpi, 2 tjäpi] Free & -y Cheerful, lively, brisk.

chirr, n & vb intrans [1 chär, 2 tjÄ] Imitative a n The shrill, dry, rasping sound made by crickets and grasshoppers, or of dry reeds rubbing against each other &c., b vb, to make this sound chirrup, vb intrans & n [1 chirup, 2 tjirap] Variant of chirp a vb To make a series of chirps, to twitter, to make a chinking sound to a horse &c., b n, the sound itself chirurgian, n [1 kirärjun, 2 kairädžan] M E chirurgian, fr O Fr chirurgien, Mod Fr chirurgien, Low Lat chirurgianus*, fr chirurgicus (op chirurgia under chirurgery), loan word fr Gk kheirourgos, 'working by hand, hand worker, surgeon'. See cheiro-. The second element is a form of the base ergon, 'action, work', see erg & work; & op surgeon. A surgeon, which word, an early variant, has entirely superseded the longer word in English chirurgian, n [1 kirärjun, 2 kairädžan] O Fr chirurgie, Mod Fr chirurgie, L Lat chirurgia, fr Gk kheirourgia, 'a working by hand, practice of a handicraft, trade'. See pre & op surgery (archaic) Surgery chirurgical, adj [1 kirärjikal(i), 2 kairädžikal(i)] Op Gk kheirourgikós, see pre & -al (archaic) Pertaining to surgeons or surgery, survives in name of a society chisel (I), n [1 ohšl, 2 tjzl] In M E, fr O Nhn Fr, Mod Fr ciseau, L Lat cisellus fr caesellus, fr caes, P P typo of Lat caedere, 'to cut', q v under cement Tool with rectangular outang edge, used for cutting, dressing, and carving hard substances such as stone, bone, wood, and metal, held by the handle and often driven by a mallet chisel (II), vb trans, fr pre 1 a To cut or dress or carve with a chisel, b (fig) to give finish and refinement to literary work, to polish and perfect style 2 (fig along) To cheat, swindle, use sharp practice in a bargain, often, to chisel one out of something chiselled, adj [1 ohšeld, 2 tjzeld] fr P P of pre (fig) Highly wrought, perfected, clear out, well shaped Phr chiselled features chit (I), n [1 ohit, 2 tjšt] O E chp, 'germ, shoot, sprout' A sprout from a root or seed chit (II), vb intrans, fr pre To shoot, sprout, as seed potatoes in late spring, or corn left too long on the ground after being out chit (III), n Perb variant of kit(ten) a (pro vine Engl) A young animal, b an immature young person, esp in Phr a chit of a girl chit (IV), n Anglo-Indian word, also chitly, Hind chitthi, 'note, letter, certificate given to a servant' &c, Sart chitra, 'spotted, black and white' Op chastah (chiefly used in army and navy) A abort letter or note, b memorandum of small sum owing for drink &c., c report on an officer by a superior chit-chat, n [1 ohit chat, 2 tjšt tšat] Redopl. form of chat Gossip, light, trivial talk chitun, n [1 kitun, 2 kaitun] Gk chitón, 'under garment, frock, tunic' Semit loan word, op Hob elbnet, 'close fitting garment' Hard substance which covers the bodies externally, of certain invertebrates, such as beetles, lobsters &c, forming what is popularly called the shell chitunous, adj [1 kitunus, 2 kaitunus] Free & -ous Of the nature of chitun chiton, n [1 kiton, 2 kaiton] Gk chitón

See chitun a The garment, or tunic, worn by both sexes in ancient Greece, varying in shape, length, and manner of adjustment, b (zoöl, esp) genus of molluscs, resembling the limpets

Chittagong wood, n [1 ohitagong wood, 2 tjšttagong wud] fr name of a town in E Bengal, also, more correctly, spelt Chaitān (Xyle and Burnell) Hard, finely grained wood, resembling mahogany chitterling(s), n [1 chitterling(s), 2 tjšt ly(z)] Etymol doubtful. Smaller intestines of a pig, used as food chivaleresque, adj [1 ahivleresk, 2 jivleresk] Fr chevaleresque See chivalry, & -esque Having spirit of chivalry chivalrous, adj [1 ahivlurus, 2 jivlurus] formerly, & more correctly [1 ohivlurus, 2 tjivlurus] O Fr chevalereus &c, fr chevalier, & adj soff fr Lat erus See cavalier & next word 1 Belonging to, connected with, the institution of chivalry 2 Possessing the moral qualities and manners of an ideal knight, hence, courageous, gallant, and generous, habitually given to protecting the weak, poor, and mean, and withstanding those who ass their strength oppressively chivalry, n [1 ahivluri, ahivluri, 2 tjivluri, jivluri] M E chivalrie, O Fr chevalerie, 'knighthood' An early loan word fr O Fr, hence the pronunciation w initial [tʃ] is historical, the other based on the supposition that the word is fr Mod Fr A dialectal doublet of cavalry 1 The system and institution of knightood, including the laws, customs, rules, and manners which distinguished it the laws of chivalry 2 The body of members of the orders of knightood—a body of knights the whole chivalry of France, 'With all the chivalrie and all the chivalrie' (Chaucer) 3 A the characteristic qualities of temper, character, manners, and behaviour of the ideal knight, esp courage, loyalty, generosity, courtesy, b a specific exhibition of these qualities in word or deed chive, n [1 chiv, 2 tjiv] —Cp Fr, chive, fr Lat cēpa, cēpe, 'onion', proh Gk loan word, though the Gk n is not found It is suggested by Walde that a Gk kēpē existed, perh connected w Lapdō, 'breathe out', fr is pongeny Plant of onion tribe used for flavouring chivied, adj [1 ohivid, 2 tjivid] fr P P of next word (chiefly pred) Worried, harassed, esp by constant orders and instructions, or by having too many and various jobs on hand chivy, n & vb trans [1 ohivi, 2 tjivi] Prob fr Chery Chare. Spelt chery in some dictionaries, but never now so pronounced. 1 n Game somewhat resembling prisoners' base, which consists in chasing players who come out of base 2 vb trans a To chase rapidly from place to place, run after and cause to move on, b (fig) to harass by giving constant orders, and entrusting with fresh tasks, to nag in a fussy manner chlamydo-, pref Word used in scientific terminology, meaning 'mantle', see oert word, e.g. chlamydozoores, of certain fungi chlamys, n [1 klāmus, 2 klēmus] Gk chlamus, gent chlamid (see), 'mantle', etymol doubtful A cloak, or mantle, fastened at the shoulder, worn out of doors by the ancient Greeks chloral, n [1 klōral, 2 klōrel] Derived fr chlor- in chlorine & al- in alcohol, cp Gk chlōrōs, 'light green', perh oegn w base found in gold a Liquid with strong smell and bitter taste, obtained from chlorine by action of alcohol b a compound of chloral and water, chloral hydrate, used as hypnotic &c chlorate, n [1 klōrat, 2 klōreit] See chloral & -ate A salt of chloric acid chloride, adj [1 klōrik, 2 klōrik] See chloral & -o Pertaining to, obtained from, chlorine chloric acid chloride, n [1 klōrid, 2 klōraid] See pre & -ide Compound of chlorine and another element sodium chloride, common salt chlorine, n [1 klōrin, 2 klōrin] See pre & -ine A non-metallic element, a heavy, yellowish green, ill smelling gas, very poisonous, used as a disinfectant, for bleaching &c, and as a poison gas in the Great War chloroform, n & vb trans [1 klōroform, 2 klōroform] Fr See chloral & formio

1 n Colourless volatile liquid, used as an anaesthetic 2 vb To dose with chloroform, to administer this as an anaesthetic chlorophyll, n [1 klōrofil, 2 klōrofil] Gk chlōr, 'pale green' (see chloral), & phyllo, 'leaf', see phyll- Green colouring matter in leaves, grass &c chlorosis, n [1 klōrois, 2 klōrousis] Gk chlōrōs, 'pale green' (see chloral), & -osis, formative snff expressing pathological condition a Complaint to which young women are liable, a kind of anaemia, formerly called 'green sickness' on account of its effect on the complexion, b (bot) form of chloration in plants in which green parts lose their colour, owing to lack of nutriment chock, n & vb trans [1 chok, 2 tjok] fr. O Fr choque, 'log', etymol unknown 1 n. Wooden block, or wedge, used to prevent a cask from rolling, or to support a boat on deck of a ship 2 vb To make secure with chocks chock-a-block, adj & adv [1 ohohahlo, 2 tjshohlo] a (nant) Hoisted so high as to touch the blocks of the tackle, hence, b (fig) jammed together, packed tight chock-full, adj & adv, also choke-full Connexion w choke doubtful Very full, full to the brim, to utmost capacity chocolate, n [1 ohokolit, 2 tjshoklit] Span., fr Mexican chocolat First used in Engl in early 17th cent No connexion w cacao a Sweetmeat in form of a hard paste, made from beans of cacao plant, ground down, sweetened, and otherwise flavoured, b sweet drink made by dissolving this in hot water, c the colour, dark brown, of chocolate choctaw, n [1 ohoktaw, 2 tjshokt] a (cap) Name of a civilized North American Indian tribe, b name given to a particular step in figure skating choice (I), n [1 ohols, 2 tjsh] M E, fr. O Fr choix, Mod Fr choix, fr O Fr choisir, 'obscure', cp O Ital causare, Gmc loan-word, op Goth lausanjan, 'prove, test', derived fr str vb kušan, 'obscure' &c With this O E chōsan, 'obscure', is oegn See choose 1 Act, or process, of selecting, or deciding between, several alternatives, selection, decision by judgement or feeling that one prefers one thing to another. to make a choice, the lady of one's choice. 2 Opportunity or right to make a selection to offer, allow, a choice Phrs Hobson's choice, no alternative, to have no choice in the matter, to be compelled to act in a certain way; also, not to care which one has, by choice, by preference 3 Something especially selected, the fine flower, best procurable here are the best I can find, the choice of the whole garden 4 Collection of persons or objects from which one may choose, field of selection a wide, a poor, an insufficient, choice choice (II), adj Most prob fr pre M E chise & chise, 'elegant, loving', are dialectal variants of O E chies, chies, 'fastidious', fr chies*, or chies*, op O E chies, Prot chies, 'obscure', may conceivably have influenced the meaning, but the only M E form wh ed. be confused w M E chois (see pre) is S W. chise, whereas we edd expect chise in S E. Midl, fr wh Standard Engl is derived a (of things) Carefully picked, especially good, of high excellence the choicest fruit and flowers, b (of persons) fastidious, dainty, nice, particular somewhat too choive in the selection of acquaintances choicely, adv Free & -ly Carefully, discriminatingly choiceness, n See pre & -ness Quality of being choice in both senses choir (I), n. [1 kwir, 2 kwird] Formerly spelt quire M E quar, O Fr quer, Mod fr chaur, fr Gk choros See chorus 1 a Band of singers trained to sing together, esp in church, b any body of persons who meet under direction of a conductor to perform vocal music, a choral society 2 That part of a church designed for the singers.

choir (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec, formerly quire (chiefly poetic) 1 trans To sing songs together as a choir, esp of birds, angels 2 intrans To sing together in chorus 'Still quav'ring to the young-eyed cherubins' (Shakespeare) choir-screen, n Screen of carved woodwork, or ornamented iron, which separates the choir of a church from the nave choke (I), vb intrans & trans [1 chök, 2 tʃok] Cp ME chōken, chōken, the history of wh is obscure A intrans 1 To experience a violent spasm of the windpipe and temporary disability to breathe, caused by the introduction of liquid or solid matter into the windpipe, or of smoke or acid fumes into the lungs 2 (fig) To become momentarily speechless owing to strong emotion to choke with anger B trans 1 a To cause to choke every mouthful he swallowed nearly choked him, b (of action of persons) to throttle, cause suffocation to, a person by seizing him by the throat and compressing it 2 Also choke up, to block, fill up, partially or completely, a passage or vent which should be free the chimney was nearly choked (up) with soot, the drain-pipe with rubbish, the ventilator with dust &c 3 (followed by obj) Choke up, a to reduce space in the house was choked up with useless pieces of furniture, b to stifle young plants choked up with weeds Choke off, a to kill by choking, b (fig) to discourage, dash, get rid of (a person), by harshness and severity half-hearted supporters were soon choked off by the conditions imposed, choke down, to swallow, repress, stifle to choke down one's emotion, indignation, sob &c choke (II), n, fr prec A The act or process of choking (intrans), b narrowed part of gun, see choke-bore choke-bore, n A sporting gun tapered to smaller diameter a short distance behind muzzle, also attrib choke-bore gun choke-damp, n Poisonous gas which accumulates in disused pits and mines choke-pear, n A Pear with bitter astringent taste, b (fig, archaic) something hard to answer, disconcerting fact, a fauer choke, n [1 chōker, 2 tʃōke] See choke (I) & -er Something which chokes, factiously applied to a necktie, chiefly white choke choking, adj & vb1 n [1 chōking, 2 tʃōking], fr choke (I), & -ing a adj Disposing one to choke, making one feel that one is being choked a choking sensation, b n, the act and fact of choking a choking in the throat choke (I), adj [1 chōka, 2 tʃōka], fr choke (II) & -y a Disposing one to choke, b having tendency to choke, esp from strong emotion choke (II), n Anglo-Indian word, Hind chakul, connected prob w Sort char, 'four', orig prob a shed resting on four posts, whence, open, 'a police station, look-up', also a station of palanquin bearers, horses &c (slang) Prison, chiefly in choke, in jail cholagogue, n [1 kōlagog, 2 kōlagog], fr Gk khōlō, 'bile', see cholera, & -agogos, 'leading, expelling', for the latter cp demagogue (mod) Drug, medicine, which expels or helps to free the system of bile cholera, n [1 kōlōr, 2 kōlō] ME & O Fr cholera, 'wrath', Gk khōlēra, fr khōlē, 'gall, bile', khōlēos, 'bile, wrath' The base ghel*, ghol*, was widespread among the Aryan languages in the literal sense of 'bile', Lat fel, gen felis (Fr fiel), 'gall', O Slav žlčŭ, Russ želčŭ, 'bile', O S, O H G galla, O E gealla, 'gall' The base is the same as that in yellow, & 'gall' &c in the above cognates meant orig 'yellow liquid' a Originally, in medical philosophy, one of the four humours which resided in the body and influenced the spirits, b in English the word has the secondary sense of anger, wrath cholera, n [1 kōlōr, 2 kōlōr] Gk, a disease of the bile in wh the humours of the body were violently discharged in vomiting & purging See cholera a Asiatic or malignant cholera, a specific disease, attacking the bowels, generally fatal, characterized by violent purging, vomiting, and collapse, endemic in the East and epidemic elsewhere, b a bilious, non epidemic and rarely fatal, summer disease, with vomiting and diarrhoea, also called European or summer cholera choleraic, adj [1 kōlērāik, 2 kōlērēt-ik] Prec & -ic Related to, proceeding from, or resembling cholera choleric, adj [1 kōlērīk, 2 kōlērīk] In Chaucer, fr cholérique, Lat cholericus, Gk khōlērikós, 'wrathful' See cholera & -ic Irascible, hasty in temper, given to fits of anger chollamb, n [1 kōhamb, 2 kōlāmb] Gk khōllambos, lit 'lame, halting iambic' See iambic The etymol of Gk khōlēos, 'lame', is doubtful (Gk pros) An iambic verse having a spondee in last place instead of an iambus chollambic, adj [1 kōhāmbik, 2 kōlāmbik], fr prec & -ic Of the nature of, containing, a chollamb chondri-, chondro- Prefixes occurring in technical scientific terms, the meaning is gen 'cartilage', but occasionally 'granule' (o g chondrule), fr the primary meaning of Gk khōndros, wh is 'corn, grain, groat', the secondary meaning is 'cartilage' The word is for earlier khōndros* & is cogn w Lat frēns, 'gnash the teeth', Lith grėndu, 'rub', & O E grindan, q v under grind choose, vb trans & intrans [1 chōz, 2 tʃz] O E čōsan, ME chēsen, chūsen The mod form presupposes a ME type chōsen fr an O E čējōsen The Gmo cognates are O E, O H G hūsian, Goth hūsian, O N hūsia, op further Lat gustare, 'taste, partake of, enjoy' (see gust, disgust), Gk gēō for geus* & 'taste', Sort juōfē, 'he enjoys, tastes' See choice (I) A trans 1 To pick out, select, exercise choice in favour of, prefer to choose a house, a wife 2 To elect by selection to an office or post who will be chosen Speaker? Phr not much, nothing, to choose between them, both equally good, or bad 3 (followed by infn) To decide, be pleased, implying a certain degree of wilfulness if you choose to go you must, he didn't choose to obey orders B intrans To exercise choice, make an act of selection to choose between duty and inclination chop (I), vb trans & intrans [1 chop, 2 tʃop] The word has no history in English beyond a few centuries, origin doubtful A trans 1 a To cut by striking with knife or hatchet, to hack to chop wood, cut it into small short pieces for burning, b (gen) to cut by rapid, sudden blows or strokes, to cut roughly 2 Chop up, to cut into small pieces by chopping 3 Chop off, to separate one thing from another, or part from whole, by chopping 4 Chop down, to remove, cause to fall, by chopping, to fall esp chop a tree down 5 (fig) To chop words, logic, handy words, arguments B intrans To chop about, round, (esp of wind) to change direction suddenly Phr to chop and change about, keep altering one's plans, opinions, or occupations chop (II), n, fr prec 1 Act of chopping take a chop at it 2 Something chopped off, specif, thick piece of pork or mutton port chop &c chop (III), n See chap (II) (gen pl) Chops, a the jaws, b entrance of valley or channel, rare, except chops of the Channel, entrance to English Channel from Atlantic chop (IV), n Anglo-Indian word, fr Hind chhāp, 'seal or stamp', fr vb chhāpnā, 'to print (books)' Chop is said by Yule and Burnell to be hardly used in Anglo Indian now in sense of stamp or seal, but passed from the pidgin-English of the ports back to India and England in slang phrase first chop, first brand or quality, hence first rate chop-chop, adv. & interj [1 chōp chōp, 2 tʃop tʃop] Pidgin-Engl, fr Chinese kwai, 'quick, quick' chopine, n [1 chopēn, 2 tʃopin], for chopina, fr O Fr & Span chopina, etymol doubtful A thick soled, high heeled shoe worn in wet weather &c by women in 17th cent, esp in Venice, a form of patten chopper, n [1 chōper, 2 tʃopə] chop (I) & -er One who, that which, chops Specif, a class of heavy short handled striking and cutting tools variously adapted for chopping wood, bones of meat &c choppy, adj [1 chōpi, 2 tʃopi], fr chop (I) & -y a (of wind) Constantly changing, b (of the sea, or lake) agitated by small, rather violent waves, rough chopstick, n [1 chōpstak, 2 tʃopstik] Chinese pidgin Engl chop-chop, 'quick', & stick Thin piece of wood or ivory of which a pair, held in one and the same hand, serve the Chinese to lift food to the mouth chop suey, n [1 chōp sūi, 2 tʃop adi], fr Chin chāp sui A Chinese dish of small pieces of fried meat, onions, and other veges table, served with rice and flavoured with sesame oil choragus See chorogus choral, adj. [1 kōrāl, 2 kōrāl] Mod Lat choralis, fr Gk khōrds See chorus & choir & -al a Belonging, related, to a choir choral practices, b sung by a choir choral service, Choral Eucharist chorale, n [1 kōrāl, 2 kōrāl] Samoos prec, but spelt & pronounced as a foreign word Sacred hymn sung by choir and congregations in unison, common types of hymn in German Lutheran churches chord (I), n [1 kord, 2 kōd] Lat chorda, 'gut, string of a musical instrument, rope', fr Gk khōrdē, 'intestine, string of gut, lyre-string', op Alban zora, 'entrails', Lat haru in haruspex, 'soothsayer who foretold future by contemplating entrails of victims', also Lat hira, 'empty gut', & prob hernia, 'rupture' See hernia, oed 1 a String of a harp, lyre &c (now only poet), b (geom.) a right line joining the extremities of the arc of a circle 2 Certain structures in the body resembling, or supposed to resemble, string of instrument spinal chord, vocal chord 3 Combination of musical notes which sounded simultaneously produce harmony Phr (fig) to strike a fowl or, the right, chord, oed up by allusion some memory of the past chord (II), vb trans, fr prec Put strings (chords in old sense) into a musical instrument (Rarely used) choie, n [1 chōr, 2 tʃō] Same as ohar (I) A job of work, task (an American usage) chores, n [1 kōrds, 2 kōrds] Gk khōreia, 'choral dance' See chorus Disease of the nerves attended with involuntary twitchings, St Vitus' dance choreographic &c See choreographic choragus, choragus, n [1 kōrēgus, 2 kōrēgus], Gk khōrēgōs, 'choragus', fr khōrds, 'chorus', q v, & -agos, 'to lead', q v under agent a (Gk antiq) The leader of the chorus, & the citizen who provided and paid the expenses of training &c of the chorus, both tragic and comic, for the Athenian festival of Dionysus, b title of the deputy of the Professor of Music at Oxford University choreograph (or), n [1 kōrēogrāf, 2 kōrēogrāf], Gk khōrēgrāf, 'choreographer' See next word One who devises or designs a ballet choreographic, adj [1 kōrēogrāfik, 2 kōrēogrāfik] Gk khōrēō, 'dance', see chorus, & grāfik Pertaining to designing of ballet choreography, n [1 kōrēogrāfi, 2 kōrēogrāfi] See prec & -y Art of denoting a dance by graphic signs, as music by notes, or speech by letters chori-, pref, fr Gk khōrē, 'separate, apart', cogn w Gk khōrēō, 'separate', khōrōs, 'bereaved, widowed', khōrōis, 'to make desolate', khōrōis, 'lack, want', Sort khōrōis, 'abandon' Base ghē, ghō, ghō, prob same as in Gk khōs (see chaos), Lat hiare, 'yawn', see hiatus choramb, n [1 khoramb, 2 khoramb] Gk chorambos See chorus & amb Four-syllabled foot of which first and last are long, the other two short chorambic, adj [1 khorambik, 2 khorambuk], fr proo & -ic Of, containing, a choramb chorion, n [1 lōnion, 2 kōron] Gk khōrion, 'skin, leather', also 'after birth' It is doubtful whether Lat corium, 'hide, leather', whence Fr cur, is an independent word, or borrowed fr the Gk. Other cognates are Sort khōrion, 'skin', O Slav (skola), 'rind', O E he(o)rypa, 'deer-skin', & further Goth haurpa, O H G herda, O E hryper, 'bowels, vitals', lit 'something enclosed in skin or membrane' (!), op hild Ir scarit, 'membrane round the bowels' See cortex (anat) The membrane which encloses the unborn child in the womb choripetalous, ndj [1 khoripetalus, 2 khoripetalus] See chori- & petal- & -ous (hot) Having separate petals chorist, n [1 khorist, 2 khorist] See chorus, & -ist A chorister, member of a choir chorister, n [1 khorister, 2 khorista] Proo & -er Cp formation of barrister One who sings in, n member of, n church choir choroid, adj & n [1 khoroid, 2 khoroid] See chorion & -oid Resembling the chorion in character, that is, in being an enveloping membrane, esp applied to that enclosing eye ball choroid membrane, the choroid (of the eye) chorology, n [1 khorology, 2 khoroladi] Gk khōra, 'open space, place, land', & -logy, khōra is fr base ghē*, gho* & o, 'open, separate' & o, see chori- Study of the distribution of organisms upon the earth's surface chortle, v*h* intran & n [1 khorl, 2 khorl] Comed by Lewis Carroll Apparently a mixture of chuckle & snort a v*h* To chuckle exultantly, to exult, triumph, b*n* triumph ant chuckle chorus (I), n [1 korus, 2 korus] Gk khōros, 'dances in a ring, circular dances, festive dance, e*g* in honour of the gods, band of dancers and singers, troop, band of persons, place for dancing' The etymol of this word is not quite certain Some think its first meaning was 'place for a dance', & identify the first syll w that in Gk khōros, Lat hortus, 'enclosed place, court, garden', & w O Ir gort, 'cornfield', Goth gard s, 'house' & c, see horticulture, court, garden, yard Others again think the starting point is the idea of movement, & connect it w Sort ghormati, 'totter', Lith žergh, 'to spread upon the legs', also Lith žurgas, 'horse', i*o* 'the galloping animal' 1 Group of singers who assisted in, and interpreted the action in, Greek drama 2 The words sung by the chorus of singers 3 A Body of persons who sing together those parts of operas or musical drama not sung by the soloists, b*h* the parts of the piece sung by these persons 4 Part of a song recurring at intervals, as a refrain, sung by a number of persons together 5 (fig) A Cry or utterance made simultaneously by a number of persons, or opinions uttered publicly, o*g* in the piece, by a number of persons at the same time, or bearing on the same subject a chorus of protest, abuse & c, b*h* remarks, chiefly by way of approval, uttered at intervals, like a recurring refrain, by one or more persons, while another is speaking chorus (II), v*h* trans, fr proo To sing or utter in chorus (lit and fig) chose (I), v*h* [1 chōz, 2 tchōz] Proo of choose, M E choos, fr the P P type, see chosen Cp O E Proo chās, M E chēs chose (II), n [1 shōz, 2 tchōz] Ir 'thing, piece of property', fr Lat causa See cause (law) Only in chose in action, right to anything as a debt, recoverable by action, the subject of such right, chose in possession, personal property actually in possession chosen, adj [1 chōzn, 2 tchōzn], fr P P of choose OE coren, M E chōsen, w initial & medial consonants generalized fr Inf & Proo S Specially selected, picked out, hence, favourite chosen studies, chosen men & o, specif, the chosen people, Jews chough, n [1 ehuf, 2 tchuf] Origin very doubtful, form unexplained Red legged, red headed crow, esp Cornish chough, Fr rhocorax graculus, now nearly extinct chouse, v*h* trans & n [1 chous, 2 tchous] Turk chāush, formerly 'sergeant at arms, herald' & o, hence, an agent in diplomatic or other business, the derived unfavourable sense fr Turkish agents sometimes being guilty of sharp practice or worse 1 v*h* To swindle, cheat out of, used in this sense (spelt chause) early in 17th cent 2 n Formerly (17th cent) of persons a cheat, rogue, now only of actions swindle, disappointment chow, n [1 chon, 2 tchou] Proo fr next word 1 (Austral slang) A Chinese 2 A variety of Chinese dog, with thick coat and curled tail and pointed muzzle, the special distinctive mark is its black tongue chow-chow, n [1 ohōu chon, 2 tchou tchou] Pidgin Engl Chinese pickles or preserves chowder, n [1 chōndor, 2 tchōndor], fr Fr chaudière, 'kettle, pot' See cauldron A dish of stewed fish, pork, clams, biscuits, onions & o, originally a Newfoundland fisherman's dish chromatic, adj [1 khrōmatik, 2 khrōmatik] Gk khōrōmatikōs, 'of, or for, money', op khōrōma, 'thing that one needs', in pl khōrōmata, 'goods, money', & khōrō, 'give what is needful', khōrō, 'it is necessary', like Ir chāu, fr a base gher*, expressing 'shortness, lack', op Sort hrasadi, 'decrease', O Ir guir, 'short' Connected with, occupied in, the gaining of wealth chromaticism, n, fr proo Science of wealth, branch of political economy chromatophy, n [1 khrōmatophy, 2 khrōmatophy] Fr, fr Gk khōrōto matheia*, fr khōrōtōs, 'useful' (see proo) & matheia, 'learning', as in matheia, 'learn' & o, see mathematics Collection of literary passages with notes, used in the study of a language or as specimens of literature chrism, n [1 krizim, 2 krizim] Already in O E crisma, 'holy oil, used in anointing', fr Gk khōrōma, 'something smeared on, unguent', op Gk khōrōs, 'anoint with oil', fr base gher*, 'rub', seen also in Lat fricare, 'to rub, crumple to pieces' (see friable), fricare, 'rub' (see friction) Cp cream Consecrated oil used in extreme unction, and other sacraments of the Christian Church chrismal, adj [1 krizmal, 2 krizmal] Proo & -al Connected with the chrism chrism, n [1 krizim, 2 krizim] Variant of chrism Baptismal robe of infants, symbolical of innocence, used as a shroud for infants who die within a month of baptism, in origin a cloth to keep the chrism from the face

Christ, n [1 krist, 2 krist] Gk khōrōstos, 'anointed one', fr khōrōs, 'rub, anoint', see chrism Transl of Heb word, see Messiah 1 The Lord's Anointed, the expected Jewish Messiah 'Art thou the Christ?' 2 Title of the Saviour as being the Messiah, used as name of the Saviour

Christ-cross See criss-cross

christen, v*h* trans [1 krisn, 2 krisn] O E crīstian, 'baptize', fr crīsten, 'Christian' (as = Lat an(u)s, see -an) & v*h*l suff -ian a To make a Christian by baptism, to baptize, b*h* to give a name to in baptism to be christened John after one's father, c (extended use) to give a name to generally, give nickname to be christened the Snake by his contemporaries

Christendom, n [1 krisendom, 2 krisendom] O E crīsten (see prec) & -dom New formation The whole body of baptized persons, who acknowledge Christ, all Christians christening, n [1 krisning, 2 krisning], fr O E crīsten, 'Christian', & v*h*l n. suff -ing,

-ing Act and ceremony of administering baptism, baptism itself several christenings took place to day, the christening of the infant was duly performed

Christhood, n [1 krist-hood, 2 kristhūd] Christ & -hood Personality of, fact of being, the Christ

Christian, n & adj [1 krischon, krischan, 2 krist[en, kristjen] Lat christianus Christ & -ian 1 n a One who, being baptized, holds the faith of Christ, one who professes, or is assumed to do so, the religion and doctrines taught by Jesus Christ and His Church, and who adheres to the code of conduct enjoined by them, b (colloq) a human being contrasted with one of the lower animals, a decent person, esp in phr why can't you behave like a Christian? 2 adj a Belonging to, professing doctrines of, the Church of Christ, or of Christians the Christian Church, Christian belief & o, Christian men, Christian hearts, b obnoxious to Christians or Christianity, in accordance with Christ's teachings, humane, charitable, kind a true Christian act

Christian era, n The period extending from and beginning with the birth of Christ distinguished by the letters A D, Anno Domini, 'in the year of our Lord', before the number of the year

Christianity, n [1 kristianiti, 2 kristianiti] Lat Christianitas (em) See Christian & -ity a The religion of Christ and His Church, b a particular Christian religious system or organization Eastern, Western, Christianity, o state of mind and faith characteristic of a Christian christianization, n [1 kristianizashun, 2 kris tianizashun] Next word & -ation Act or process of Christianizing christianize, v*h* trans [1 krishtoniz, 2 kris tianizashun] Christian & -ize To convert to Christianity, imbue with Christian spirit and principles

Christianlike, adj [1 krischanlik, 2 kristjenlik] Having character and habits of a Christian

Christian name, n A name given to a person, by his godparents, at his baptism

Christian Science, n Name of n religious system and Church, founded by Mrs Mary Baker Eddy, in America, based on theory that disease and sin are subjective, and arise from mental error, and that the mind is the sole cause, Christian Scientist, believer in Christian Science

Christian year, n The year as observed by Christian Churches, divided into seasons and days, in which the chief events of the Saviour's Life on earth, His Birth, Temptation, Crucifixion, Resurrection, and Ascension, and other important events and persons connected with the Church are commemorated

Christlike, adj [1 kristlik, 2 kristlik] Resembling the Saviour in character

Christmas, n [1 krismas, 2 krismas] O E Crīstes mæsse, Christ & Mass (I) Festival of birth of Christ, a the actual day, Dec 25th, or b the season from this day till end of year Christmas box, present given at Christmas, Christmas card, ornamental card with text or motto, sent out at Christmas Christmas Day, Dec 25th, on which the festival is celebrated, Christmas Eve, Dec 24th, Christmas-time id est, season of Christmas

Christmas rose, n Ranunculaceae plant, Helleborus niger, which blooms round about Christmas time

Christmas tree, n Evergreen tree, usually a fir, supported in upright position in pot or tub indoors, hung with decorative, glittering festoons and other ornaments, and illuminated with candles attached to the branches, presents for the household being suspended on, or grouped round, the tree, which is lighted up on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day

Christological, adj [1 kristolōjikal, 2 kristolōjikal] See next word & -logical Pertaining to Christology

Christologist, n [1. kristólojst, 2 kristóledžist] See next word & -ist Student of, authority on, Christology Christology, n [1 kristóloji, 2 kristóledži] Gk. chrīsto- See Christ & -logy A Branch of theology which deals with the doctrine of Christ's personality and attributes, b body of doctrine on these

Christophany, n [1 kristófani, 2 kristófien] Gk. chrīsto, see Christ, & phainem, 'show, appear', see phenomenon, & -y Appearance or all the appearances of Christ after His Resurrection

Christ's-thorn, n [1 kriste thorn, 2 krásts pón] Prickly shrub of Palestine, from which the Saviour's crown of thorns is reputed to have been made

Christy minstrels, n. [1 krista minstrelz, 2 krista mīnstrelz] From first producer's name Troupe of singers and banjoists with blackened faces chromatic, adj [1. krómátuk, 2 kroumátuk] Gk. chrōmatikós, 'relating to colour', used metaphorically, 'florid, elaborate, artificial', & as a technical term in ancient music See chroma 1 chroma 1 Relating to, containing (bright) colour chromatic printing, from variously coloured blocks 2 (music) Of notes, not occurring in major or minor key, indicated by sharps, flats, or naturals foreign to the key signature chromatic scale 3 (biol) Capable of receiving colour from staining agents chromatically, adv [1 krómátukali, 2 kroumátukali], fr prec & -al & -ly In a chromatic manner, in chromatic scale chromatics, n pl [1 krómátiks, 2 kroumátiks] See prec Science of colours chromatin, n [1 krómátin; 2 kroumátin], fr Gk. chrōmat-, 'colour' See chroma Form of protoplasm found in nuclei of cells, capable of being stained chromat(o)-, chromo-, prefs Forms of Gk. chrōma, genit chrōmatos, 'colour' &c, used in compounds See chroma chromatism, n [1 krómátizm, 2 kroumátizm] Prec & -ism A Form of colour-blindness, b abnormal colouration in green parts of plants chromatophore, n [1 krómátófor, 2 krómátófo] See prec & -phore (biol and zool) A pigment cell chromatoscope, n [1 krómátoskóp, 2 krómátoskoup] chromato- & scope Device for combining different coloured light-rays so as to form compound colours chromatroscope, n [1 krómátrosp, 2 krómátrosp] Gk., 'colour wheel' See chroma & trope Instrument for producing kaleidoscopic effects of colour by revolving two coloured disks one in front of the other.

chrome, n [1 króm, 2 kroum], also chrome yellow Gk. chrōma, 'surface of a body', esp 'human body, the skin', then 'colour of the skin, complexion, colour generally' connected w Gk. chrōm-, 'surface of body, skin, body itself, colour of skin, complexion, colour of a thing', also chrōzein, 'to graze the surface', chrōs, chrōs, 'skin, body, flesh' All fr base gh(e)rew-, gh(e)rw &c, allied to base ghere-* &c, 'to rub', seen in Gk. chrōs, 'rub, anoint' See chromism A yellow pigment, the yellow colour Also chrome green, red &c pigments from various compounds of chromium chrome steel, n A fine alloy of steel and chromium chromic, adj [1 krómik, 2 kroumik] chromium & -ic Of chromium chromium, n [1 krómium; 2 kroumīem] See chrome A grayish white, brittle, metallic element chromo- See chromato- chromograph, n. [1 krómograf, 2 kroumograf], fr chromo- & graph Apparatus for reproducing writing from an impression made by aniline dye on gelatine chromo-lithograph, n [1 krómólithograf, 2 kroumólithograf] chromo- & lithograph. Coloured picture printed from stone chromosome, n [1 krómósóm, 2 krómá-sóm] Gk. (mod. conage), fr chromo-, & sōma, 'body', see somatic Minute body developed out of the ohromatin, q v, existing in definite number in the germ cells of animal species chromosphere, n [1 krómósfiar, 2 kroumá-sfiar] chromo- & sphere The outer incandescent gaseous envelope of the sun, visible at a total eclipse chronic, adj [1 kronik, 2 krónik] Gk. chrōnikós, 'concerning time', fr chrōnos, 'time', cp also chrónos, 'after a long time, lasting long, late, delaying', etymol uncertain Boussoq hesitatingly suggests base gher-*, 'wear out, down', an expanded form of wh appears in ohrism A lasting for a long time, continuing, inveterate, generally in unfavourable sense, b specif (of disease &c) one which lasts, with slowly developing symptoms of moderate intensity, contrasted with acute, hence o (colloq slang) tedious, bad esp something chronic chronically, adv [1 krónikali, 2 krónikali] Prec & -al & -ly In a chronic manner, persistently, continually chronicity, n [1 krónish, 2 krónishi] chronic & -ity (med) State, condition, of being chronic or lasting

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronicle, n & vb trans [1 krónikl, 2 krónikl] M E chronicle, fr chronique, through Lat chronica, fr Gk id chrōniká, 'annals', neut pl of chrōnikós See chronion 1

chronopher, n [1 kronofer, 2 krónafa] chrono- & base pher-* of Gk. pherein, 'to bear', see -phore Electrical apparatus used in broadcasting time signals by wireless chronoscope, n [1 kronoskóp, 2 krónaskoup] chrono- & scope Instrument for the measurement of minute intervals of time, as of speed of light chrysalid, adj & n [1 krisahd, 2 krisahd] See following word a adj. Pertaining to a chrysalis, b n a chrysalis chrysalis, n [1 krisahs, 2 krisahs] Gk. chrūsális, genit -idos, 'golden coloured sheath of butterflies', fr chrūsós, 'gold', Semit loan-word fr Phoen-Hebr hārūz, cp Aramaic hārūz, 'yellow' Membranous sheath within which the larva (caterpillar) of moths, botter flies &c develops into the final stage, and from which the complete moth, butterfly &c emerges chrysanthemum, n [1 krisánthemum, 2 krisánthemum] Gk. chrūsanthemon, 'gold flower, oom-margold', fr chrūsós, 'gold', see prec word, & onthemon, 'flower', q v under anther, anthology One of a large number of species of perennial flowering plants, some of which are specially cultivated for their elegance of form and richness and variety of colour, they have long slender petals, in some varieties sparsely set, in others very thickly, so that the bloom resembles the head of a mop, and attains 9 or 10 inches in diameter chryselephantine, adj [1 kriselēfantin, 2 kriselēfantin] Gk. chrūsēlos, 'gold', see prec words, & elephantinos, 'made of ivory', fr elephas, 'ivory, elephant' See elephant Overlaid with gold and ivory, of a type of ancient Greek sculpture, made of wood upon which plates of gold were affixed, for the drapery and hair, of ivory for the flesh chrysoberyl, n [1 krisóbēril, 2 krisóbēril] Gk. chrūsos, 'gold', see chrysalis, & beryllos, see beryl Semi-precious stone used in jewellery, generally yellow, green, or brown chrysolite, n [1 krisolit, 2 krisolit] Gk. chrūsólithos, fr chrūsos, 'gold', see chrysalis, & lithos, 'stone', see lithia, lithotomy &c Olive coloured semi-precious stone, called also olive and peridot chrysoprase, n [1 krisopraz, 2 krisopraz], fr Gk. chrūsoprasos, fr chrūsos, 'gold', see chrysalis, & prason, 'leek', cogn w Lat porrum 'leek'. An apple green variety of chalcedony chthonian, -ic, adj [1 thónian, thónik, 2 pounian, pounik] fr Gk. khthōnios, 'of the earth', fr khthōn, genit of khthōn, 'the earth' See autochthon Of, pertaining to, the gods of the earth or of the underworld, as contrasted with those of Olympus, usually applied to the more primitive deities of ancient Greece &c chub, n [1 ohnb, 2 tjab] Origin unknown Freshwater fish of carp family, about 15 inches long, with thick body and coarse flesh, common in Europe and Asia Also and earlier called chevin, which is of French origin chubbiness, n. [1 chubines, 2 tjabines] chubby & -ness Condition of being chubby chubby, adj [1 ohdbi, 2 tjab] Etymol doubtful, perf fr chub (of persons) Fat, round and short, stumpy, esp chubby cheeks, face, plump and healthy-looking chuck (I.), vb trans [1 chuk, 2 tjab] Earlier chock, fr Fr choquer 1 a To jerk something out of the hand, throw, hurl, b (fig) to discontinue some action or task, to give up, abandon, persons to chuck it, to chuck one's friends See chuck up, away Phr chuck it, stop making a nuisance of yourself 2 Give a gentle, glancing, upward blow, playful or amorous esp to chuck under the chin 3 (followed by various preps or advs) Chuck away, dispense thoughtlessly, to lose, waste (time, money, one's opportunities, &c) Chuck out, a specif, to eject forcibly from a room, theatre &c. , b (colloq) throw out a bill in parliament, or a motion at a meeting Chuck up abandon, relinquish chuck up one's job, sa'ary &c. Phr chuck up the sponge, (fr boxing ring) indicate that one is giving in, abandoning hope of success &c chuck (II), n, fr prec Action of chucking in various senses Phr (vulgar and colloq) to give a person the chuck, dismiss suddenly, generally with ignominy, expel, break off relations with chuck (III), v, intrans & interj Imitative a To make a chucking noise with the tongue as to a horse &c. , b chuck, chuck, cry made to attract attention of, or call, animals or poultry chuck (IV), n Same as choek. n Device for holding a tool in a lathe, or for holding wood which is to be turned, or cut, in the desired position chuck-farthing, n Game in which small coins were chucked at a mark, and then into a hole, the successful player keeping those which he got into the hole chuckle, v, intrans & n [1 chuckl, 2 tʃɪkl] Imitative 1 vb a To laugh softly, esp in a way indicative of quiet mirth, satisfaction, or exultation to chuckle at, over, something, chuckle to oneself, b (fig) to feel satisfaction, have sense of triumph, boast he must be chuckling at his success 2 n Low, suppressed laugh of satisfaction or triumph chuckle-head, n, fr obs chuckle, 'stupid, thick' See chuck (IV) A stupid doll, person chuckle-headed, adj Prec & -ed Middle headed, having a confused mind which leads to misapprehension of facts, and consequent foolish action chuddar, n [1 chūdār, 2 tʃad̪] Hind chadar A square sheet of cloth worn in India by women as a shawl or head covering chukker, n [1 chūkər, 2 tʃəkə] Hind, 'a round' One of the periods of play into which a game of polo is divided chum, n & vb intrans [1 chum, 2 tʃam] Origin unknown, first in late 17th cent 1 n a An intimate, particular friend, b (in colonies) used for a close associate, partner, or participant in some undertaking or piece of business, n one who shares room or dwelling-house, esp of young men at universities 2 vb Chum with together, to live together, share common rooms and life, chum up (with), to become friendly, or intimate, with chummy, adj [1 ohūm, 2 tʃəm] Prec & -y Friendly, intimate (said esp of two persons) chump, n [1 chump, 2 tʃamp] Etymol doubtful a A thick block of wood, b thick piece of meat, esp mutton chump chop, c (fig) thick headed, stupid person, a fool chunk (I), n [1 chungk, 2 tʃɒŋk] Etymol doubtful Thick, solid block, or lump, clumsily cut piece, e.g. of wood, meat &c chunk (II), vb intrans Imitative To make a thumping noise, as of machinery chunking adj & n [1 chnŋŋŋŋ, 2 tʃɒŋŋŋŋ] chunk & -ing a adj, fr chunk (I) Large, thick, solid, and clumsy (colloq) a chunking piece of beef, b n, fr chunk (II), noise made by slow movement of heavy machinery chupatty, n [1 ohopati 2 tʃupəti] Anglo-Indian, Hind. chapatti, 'unleavened bread' Flat cake, or some, of flour and water, the native bread chuprassie, n [1 ohopras̪, 2 tʃupras̪i] Anglo-Indian, fr Hind chaprās̪i, 'bearer of a chaprās̪, or badge plate, inscribed with the name of the office to which bearer is attached The chaprās̪i is an office messenger, bearing such a badge on a cloth or leather belt The term belongs to the Bengal Presidency (Yule and Brunell) church (I), n [1 chērch, 2 tʃɪtʃ] OE circe, ME churche, church, OHG kirihha, O Dn & OS frīrka, ON kirkja (her rowed fr OE) All these are fr an early W Gmc loan fr GL kyriakón, 'Lord's house', cp kyriaké, 'Lord's Day', fr kyrios, 'lord, master', q v under kyrie

1 a A building especially built, and set apart for the conduct of public religious worship, now used only of building devoted to Christian worship, b specif, (in England) a building devoted to the services of the Church of England, whose incumbent is a priest of this church, contrasted with a chapel, used by other denominations, c religious service or worship conducted in a church church begins at 11 o'clock, to attend church Phr at church, in act of attending service 2 a Formal organization for the maintenance and dissemination of religious truth, having a definite form of government and various orders of officers, whose main functions are the preservation and teaching of sound doctrine in matters of faith and morals, the guardianship of traditions and mysteries, and the due performance of prescribed rites and ceremonies The word is chiefly applied to the Church of Christ the Western, Eastern, Church &c, but is also extended to the religious organization of the Hebrews the Jewish Church, b specif, the organization of the Established Church in England or of Scotland, c organization of other Christian bodies the Free Churches, the Presbyterian Church &c 3 a The body of persons who are members of any given church, b more generally the whole body of Christians throughout the world 4 The clerical profession to enter the Church, take orders, become a clergyman, the Church, the Law, and other liberal professions church (II), vb trans, fr prec a To bring into, make a member of, the Church, restore to privileges of a member of the Church, b specif, to perform the ceremony of churching a woman in church, who comes to render thanks for safe delivery from childbirth the mother was church'd and her baby christened on the same day church door, n Specif, the outer door of main entrance to a church, to which, by law, certain public notices have to be affixed as a means of publication churching, n [1 chērchŋŋ, 2 tʃɪtʃŋŋ] The ceremony performed over a woman who has given birth to a child, called in Prayer Book, the churching of women See churon (II) churchman, n [1 ohērchman, 2 tʃɪtʃmən] a An ecclesiastic, bishop, priest, or deacon (archaic), b (in England) a member of the Established Church as distinct from a dissenter a good churchman church rate, n Rate assessed on houses or lands for maintenance of the church of the parish church seat, n See scot (I) Contribution towards support of clergy formerly collected from parishioners church text, n (typog) Old English, or black-letter, type, so called because this form of lettering was used in ecclesiastical work on church windows, monuments &c churchwarden, n [1 ohērchwarden, 2 tʃɪtʃwɔd(ə)n] church & warden a One of two officers appointed annually, for one year, in each parish, one nominated by the incumbent rector's, vicar's, churchwarden, the other elected at Easter Vestry their duties are to be responsible for upkeep of fabric of church, excluding the chancel, and to take charge, for benefit of parish, of monies collected in church other than offerories, b clay tobacco pipe with long stem churchwoman n [1 chērchwoman, 2 tʃɪtʃwumən] Woman member of Established Church, in contrast to a dissenter churchy, adj [1 chērch, 2 tʃɪtʃ] church & -y (colloq of persons) Devoted to the Church, its hierarchy, forms and ceremonies, obsessed by these given to dwelling upon them in and out of season, inclined to exalt the authority of Established Church in distinction to that of Nonconformist religion churchyard n [1 ohērchyard 2 tʃɪtʃjərd] church & yard Enclosed piece of consecrated ground surrounding a church, used for burials, as contrasted with cemetery NB Accentuation of St Paul's Churchyard [1 sant pəwls chērchjərd, 2 san plɪz tʃɪtʃjərd] churunga, n [1 ohoorunga, 2 tʃurɪŋŋə] Native Australian word Totemistic annulet of the Australian aborigines churl, n [1 ohērl, 2 tʃɪl] OE ceorl, 'man of low degree', contrasted w eorl, 'noble man', also 'man, male', ME cherl, chūrl, fr wh latter, Western, type the present day form is derived, OHG karral, MHG karr, Mod Germ kerl, 'fellow' &c, influenced by L Germ kerel The origin is obscure a Peasant, rustic, bumpkin (archaic or obs), b man of illiberal, ungracious manners and character, a surly, rude, mean, cantankerous fellow churlish, adj [1 ohērlɪʃ, 2 tʃɪlɪʃ] Prec & -ish Boorish, ungracious, lacking in courtesy, selfish, mean churlishly, adv Prec & -ly In a churlish manner churn (I), n [1 ohērn, 2 tʃɪn] OE cýren, fr cýren, ME churne The Scandinavian languages have cognates, ON kirna &c Etymol doubtful Some suggest relationship w curn & kernol Possibly connected w OE cýrnan, 'to turn', in wh case the OE form wd be for cýrn*, fr cýrn*, fr cýrn*, fr W Gmc base war-* Could this have remote relationship w hase in Lat ger cre, 'conary' &c, q v under gerant? See char (I) Contrivance for making butter, consisting of a vessel in which cream is shaken, beaten, or stirred churn (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans a To agitate (cream) in a churn in butter making, b (fig or extended use) to stir, agitate, violently, esp liquid of any kind, until froth or foam is formed the wind churned the waters to foam 2 intrans To make butter by using a churn we churn twice a week churning, n [1 chērnŋŋ, 2 tʃɪnŋŋ] Prec & -ing a Act of using a churn, process of making butter by this means, b (also in fig use), agitation, violent stirring up of water &c chute n [1 shōot, 2 jūt] Fr, 'a fall' Confused w shoot (II) a Channel by which water falls suddenly to a lower level, b a steep, inclined, hollow track down a hill, by which logs descend to the valley, any inclined slope or passage for sliding heavy things down chutney, n [1 chutn, 2 tʃatn] Hind chatni A strong, hot, sweet tasting pickle or relish, made of fruits and condiments chyle, n [1 kil, 2 kail] GL chylus, 'juice', connected w GL clē, 'pour', fr khe* Cp GL khura, 'effusion', Lat fluid, perf of fundo, 'pour', & Gmc base geut*, 'gut', &c, 'pour', as in OE geotan, q v under ingo A lymphatic juice by means of which fatty substance is passed into the blood stream chyme, n [1 kim, 2 kaim] GL chymos, 'juice', fr base kleu, 'pour', as in chyle, w different formative suff Food in process of digestion in the intestines chymist, n Archaic, obsolete form of chemist ciborium, n [1 sibōrɪnm, 2 sibōrɪəm] Lat 'drinking cup', fr GL libōrium, fruit of Egyptian water lily, cup made from, or having form of, this fruit Origin very obscure The word is not found in Egyptian Bonasac suggests tentatively, a connexion w GL libolot, 'box, chest', the origin of wh is equally doubtful Some have proposed to derive it fr a Semitic source, but the etymol of both words remains a mystery Is later association w Lat ciborium neut of cibarius, 'pertaining to food', fr cibus, 'food' &c, possible? The word is only in ecclesiastical use, or in reference to church architecture The meanings are somewhat highly differentiated, presumably the cup or chalice, is the starting point, & the other meanings are secondary, & associated w this 1 Covered chalice for reserving the Blessed Sacrament 2 Pendant tabernacle or receptacle for the pyx, or vessel in which the Host is kept 3 A Canopy over altar in early churches, supported on four columns, and furnished with curtains which were drawn at the consecration, cp baldachin, b the arch below which the altar stands cicada, n [1 sikáda, 2 sikáda] Lat ocáda, 'cuckoo', op Span & Port cigarra, Ital cicada, Fr cigale, porh connected w Lat callare, 'call out', cogn w Gk kálōs, 'call, summon' This base is dealt w under clamour, clamor &c See also low (1) If cicada belongs to this group it shows change fr i to a, an inversion of that in lacrima for older dacryma See lacrimatory A kind of homopterous insect with transparent wings and a loud chirp cicatrice, cicatrix, n [1 sikatris, sikátrika, 2 sikatris, sikátrika] Lat cicatrix, 'scar', the origin of wh is not satisfactorily explained a A mark left on skin by a wound when it has healed, a scar, b (bot) scar on stem &c of a plant, when something growing from it (e.g. a leaf) has fallen away cicatricial, cicatricose, adj [1 sikatrisshál, sikátrikós, 2 sikatrisshál, sikátrikós] Prec & -al, -ose Having the form of, resembling, a cicatrice or scar cicatrization, n [1 sikatrissháshun, 2 sikatrissháshun] See next word & -ation Formation of a scar, healing up of a wound cicatrize, v trans & intrans [1 sikatrissháshun, 2 sikatrissháshun] Lat cicatr, see cicatrix, & Gk suff -ize a trans To cause to heal, make new skin to form over wound, b intrans (of a wound) to heal, form a scar cicely, also seseli, n [1 sísh, 2 sísh] Lat, fr Gk stéche, influenced by Engl female name Wild umbelliferous plant of various kinds, o.g. Sweet Cicely, Myrrhis odorata cicerone, n, pl ciceroni [1 ohichérone, -i, 2 tshíshérone, -i] Ital, 'a guide', in derivation fr Cicero, the great orator, form, as usual in Ital, derived fr Lat abl A guide, one who leads sightseers round, and discourses on the history &c of the places and objects of interest visited Ciceronian, adj [1 síshéroneán, 2 síshéroneán] See prec & -ian (of liter and oratorical style) Resembling that of Cicero, eloquent cicisbeo, n [1 ohichúbbio, 2 tshíshérone] Ital 'The professed lover of a married woman'

-cide, suff a Lat cida, as in fratricida, 'murderer of a brother', also b -idium, 'murder', as in paricidium, 'murder of one's father or parents', fr form of caedere, 'strike, kill', used in composition, op occidere, 'strike down, slay' No distinction is made in Engl in form between the two functions, so that regicide means both 'murder of a king', & 'the murder of a king' cider, n [1 síder, 2 síde] M E cyder, syder, ncir, fr O Fr cistre, siedra, earher sire, fr L Lat cicera, 'strong drink', fr Gk sikera, fr Heb shikar, 'strong drink' Drink made of fermented apple-juice cider-cup, n Summer drink made of a mixture of cider, liqueur, soda-water &c cider-press, n Apparatus for crushing apples and extracting the juice to make cider ciel, ceiling See ceil, ceiling cigar, n [1 sigar, 2 sig] Earlier (18th cent) segar, Span cigarro, supposed to be fr cigarra, 'grass hopper', fr famed resemblance to body of this insect See cicada Cylindrical shaped roll of tobacco leaves, for smoking cigarette, n [1 sigaré, 2 sigaré] Fr, dimin of cigar A small roll of finely cut tobacco, enclosed in thin sheet of paper cigarette-holder, n Small tube of meerschaum, amber, ivory &c, one end of wh is fitted so as to hold a cigarette, while the other is held in the mouth cigar-shaped, adj Shaped like a thin cylinder with tapering ends cilia, n [1 sília, 2 sília] Lat pl of cilium, 'eyelid, eye-brow'. Porh fr same base as cilare, 'hide' See conceal 1 The eye-brows, eyelashes 2 Fine hairs on plants and on surface of certain kinds of simple animal organisms ciliary, adj [1 síliari, 2 síliari] See prec & -ary Pertaining to the eyelashes, or eyelids, or to hair like appendages in animals or plants ciliate, ciliated, adj [1 síliat, síliated, 2 síliat, síliated] See cilia & -ate (bot and zool) Possessing cilia cilices, n [1 sílis, 2 sílis] The word occurs as cilid in O E & means 'hair cloth', but in so far as it exists at all in Engl at the present time, it is direct fr Fr, & fr Lat Cilicium, 'cloth of Cilician goat's hair, used by soldiers & seamen', & this is fr Gk kilikion, from name of the country A Cloth woven of hair, b a garment of hair cloth Cimmerian, adj [1 símerian, 2 símerian] fr Lat Cimmerii, fr Gk Kimmerios, a mythical people mentioned by Homer, who dwelt in the farthest West, & were supposed to live in perpetual mists & darkness For suff, see -an In Phr Cimmerian darkness, one which is profound and continual cinch, n & v trans [1 sínch, 2 sín(t)sh] Span cincha, vb cinciar, 'girdle, girth', fr Lat cingula, 'girdle, belt', fr base cing- as in cingere, 'gird' See cinchura 1 n a Girth of a saddle, b (Am slang) a firm hold on anything, certainty 2 v trans To tighten (the girths of a saddle) cinchona, n [1 sínkóna, 2 sínkóna] Named after Countess (or Duchess) of Chinchón, who introduced the drug into Spain in 1633 a A South American evergreen tree, from which come quinine and Peruvian bark, b the bark of this tree, c the drug obtained from it cinchonaceous, adj [1 sínkónashus, 2 sínkónashós] Prec & -aceous Pertaining to cinchona cinchonism, n [1 sínkónizm, 2 sínkónizm] See prec & -ism Physical condition caused by overdose of cinchona, characterized by temporary deafness and giddiness cinchura (L), n [1 síngkúrah, 2 síngkúrah] fr Lat cinchura, 'a girdle', formed fr c. cin (um), P P type of cingere, 'to gird, bind round', Cogn w Scit kinkale, 'he binds', & kink, 'girdle', according to Walde, Lat cinchella, 'lattice' (see cancel, chancel &c), is distinct fr this base 1 A belt, girdle, sash, band or cord of stuff or silk, worn by ecclesiastics over the alb, with proper colour for the season and having tassels of gold, green, violet, or black according to rank 2 Something that encircles, encloses, specif (archit.) a ring, of carved stone &c round a column cincture (II), v trans, fr prec To put a girdle, or enclosure, round cinder, n [1 sínder, 2 sínde] O E sinder, 'cinder, dross', M E sinder, cyndir, O H G sinlar, the etymol of wh is not traced Cinder has been associated owing to similarity of form & meaning w Fr cendre, fr Lat ciner (em), w wh it has nothing to do See cinerary Hard, crumbly substance which remains after the inflammable quality of coal, coke, wood has been destroyed by burning but when they have not yet been reduced to ashes Phr to burn to a cinder (of food), cook too much, render black, dry up Cinderella, n [1 sínderela, 2 sínderela] Lat 'little girl who cleans the hearth', cinder & dimin suff -ella, op Fr Cendrillon, heroine of well known fairy tale A beauty in humble disguise or surroundings cinderella-dance, n Small, informal dancing-party which ends at midnight So called from the fairy story in which the heroine's fine clothes turned to rags at midnight cinder-path, n A path laid with small cinders, tightly rolled down, used as running-track, or in a garden cinder-sifter, n A sieve for separating cinders from ashes cindery, adj [1 sínderi, 2 sínderi] cinder & -y A Resembling cinders, b full of cinders cinema, n [1 sínema, 2 sínema] Colloq form of cinematograph Usual name for theatre in which moving pictures are shown cinematograph, kinematograph, n now usually [1 sínemátograh, 2 sínemátograh], the attempt to establish [kinemátograh] failed Newly coined word fr Gk kínēma, 'motion', see kinematic, & graph Later ally 'motion picture' Apparatus by means of which a continuous series of photographs taken every few fractions of a second, and thus recording the continuous series of positions involved in any natural or mechanical movement, are highly magnified and thrown by a strong light upon a screen The result is a picture in which all the movements of living beings, of the sea, of objects shaken by the wind, and the movements of machines &c, appear to be reproduced in a perfectly natural manner cineraria, n [1 síneraria, 2 síneraria] Lat cineraria, 'of ashes', fr cinis, q v under cinerary So called fr colour of down on the leaves A genus of South African plants of the aster family, with brightly coloured flowers, cultivated in England, esp as hot-house plant cinerarium, n [1 sínerárium, 2 sínerárium] Lat, fr cinis, 'ash' See next word (Rom archaeol) A recess in a sepulchral monument &c, for a cinerary urn cinerary, adj [1 sínerari, 2 sínerari] Lat cinerarius, 'of ashes, belonging to ashes', fr cinis, acc. cinis em, 'ash', cogn w Gk lon s, 'dust, dust of ashes' Perh related to Gk ktein, 'scratch, scrape' Others connect n the base (s)kaid*, 'shining, glow' as in caelum, 'heaven', q v under ceiling, in wh case cinis meant, not primarily 'dust', but 'glowing ash' Pertaining to, holding, ashes, cinerary urn, one in which the ashes of the cremated dead are preserved cinereous, adj [1 sínerus, 2 sínerus] fr prec, Lat cinereus, 'ashy', fr cinis (em) See cinerary Of the colour of ashes, ashen grey Cingalese, adj & n [1 sínggalé, 2 sínggalé] Scit. sinhala a adj Belonging to Ceylon, b n, (i) native of, (ii) native language of, Ceylon cingulum, n [1 sínggúlam, 2 sínggúlam] Lat, 'girdle' See cincture A girdle or belt, a (ecclcs) a cincture, q v, b (surg) belt cinna, n & adj [1 sínabar, 2 sínab] M E cinnabar, Lat cinnabaris, fr Pers zinnar, 'red lead' 1 n a A reddish mineral substance, sulphide of mercury, b the red pigment obtained from cinna vermillion 2 adj Having colour of cinna vermillion coloured cinnamon, n & adj [1 sínaman, 2 sínaman] Low Lat cinnamomum, fr Gk kina mōmon, fr a Heb form, wh according to Sleat is not of Semitic origin but found in Malay 1 n a Spice made from bark of a Ceylon laurel, b the tree itself, c the colour of cinnamon, yellowish brown 2 adj Having the colour of cinnamon, also cinnamon coloured cinnamon-stone, n Orange brown variety of garnet cingene, n [1 síngk, 2 síngk] Fr, fr Lat gingine. See quingue (e) The five on dice, or in cards cinguentist, n [1 chingkwíchénst, 2 tshíngkwíchénst] Ital cinguentista An Italian artist of the cinquecento cinquecento, n [1 chingkwíchénst, 2 tshíngkwíchénst] Ital, 'five hundred', but here used for 'fifteen hundred', mil. 'thousand', being omitted Cp Fr mil cinq cents Italian art of later 15th cent, characterized by return to classical models cinquefoil, n [1 síngkfoil, 2 síngkfoil] O Fr, fr Lat quingue folium, fr quingue, '5', & folium, 'leaf'. See quingue & folio a (bot) Plant of Potentilla genus, the leaves of which are composed of five leaflets, b (archit) ornament with five cusps in a circular window, or arch do cinque-pace, n [1 singkpas, 2 singkpas] See cinque & pace (I) Danoo of lively character, also called galhard, the rhythm of which is regulated by five beats

Cinque Ports, n [1 singkp ports, 2 singkp ports] A group of towns (originally five) on the south east coast of England, which enjoyed certain privileges on condition of providing warships cypher, cypher (I), n [1. cyfr, 2 saife] ME cyfra, O Fr cyfre, Mod Fr cyfre, 'figure', fr Span cifra, 'O', fr Arab sifr, 'empty thing, a cipher' 1 a (in numerical notation) The symbol 0, representing zero, the absence of number, when placed to the right of a figure it multiplies it by 10, when placed to the right of the decimal point, it divides the following figures by 10, b (fig) n person or thing of no importance or value 2 a A method of secret writing, intelligible only to those having a key to it, b n key to a particular form of secret writing 3 A monogram, two or more letters interlocked to form one character 4 An organ note that continues to sound when pressure is removed from the key, owing to a faulty valve cypher, cypher (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 To calculate, work arithmetically (also cypher out) 2 To write in secret writing B intrans 1 To do arithmetic, work with figures 2 (of an organ note) To sound, though not pressed cypollin, n [1 spolin, 2 spalin] Ital cipo lino, dimin of cyolla, 'onion', fr Lat cepa, caepa, 'onion' See olive Green Italian marble, with greenish and white streaks circa, adv & prep [1 sirka, 2 sirka] Lat 'round about, near to, nearly' See circum- & circus About, approximately Some times abbreviated as c

Circe, n [1 sirset, 2 sirset] Gk Kyrkē (a (Gk mythol) Name of a sorceress, in the Odyssey, who changed men into swine, b (by transf) a temptress, dangerously fascinating woman

Circean, ndj [1 sirsetan, 2 sirsetan] Prec & -an Having Circe's qualities, dangerously fascinating, pleasing but noxious Circean charms, spells &c circulate, adj [1 siramat, 2 siramat] Lat circulatus, PP of circulare, 'make round', op circulus, 'pair of compasses', Gk kirkinos, & Lat circus, 'ring, hoop, circle' See circus (bot., of leaves, esp of ferns &c)

Having the tip rolled up inwards, so that this forms centre of the round circle (I), n [1 sirkil, 2 sirkil] Lat circulus, 'small ring, circular figure, circle' Dimin of circus The O E borrowed this word as circul, but this wd gave circle in Mod Engl, has nothing to do w the present form, the ME circle is fr Fr, so that circle is a new, direct borrowing fr the Lat 1 (geom) a Space enclosed by a curved line, every point in which is equidistant from the centre, perfectly round plane figure Phr to square the circle, to find n square of the same area as a given circle, hence fig to attempt the impossible, b circle on surface of a sphere, e.g of earth Archo Circle 2 An object similar in shape to a circle, a a ring, b series of objects arranged to form a circle

o circle of trees, to dance in a circle, stone circle, (archaeol) prehistoric ring of upright stones, c speck, parts of a theatre dress circle, upper circle &c 3 A number, group, of people associated, bound together, a by common interests, occupations &c a large circle of friends, b by inclusion in the same social class the upper circles &c 4 A complete system or series, recurring succession of events &c, cycle the circle of the seasons, circle of the sciences Phr to argue in a circle, to assume the conclusion as a proof of the premises, and to use the premises to prove the conclusion, vicious circle, (t) argument in a circle, (u) a succession of events, reacting upon each other 5 (fig, of non material things, as ideas, experiences) Range, reach, what has come within and is bounded by, a person's knowledge a wide circle of interests, ideas circle (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans To go right round, pass round the moon circles the earth 2 intrans To move, fly in a circle (of birds, aeroplanes), also circle round, specif n (of wine &c) be passed round, b (mil, of a line of cavalry) wheel, swing round circlet, n [1 sirklet, 2 sirklet] Dimin of circle (I), see -et A small circle, ring, fillet circlet of flowers, (poet) small circlet of gold, finger ring circlewiss, adv [1 sirkliwiz, 2 sirkliwiz] circulo & -wise In a circle, forming a ring circuit, n [1 sirklit, 2 sirklit] Lat circuitus, also circumitus, 'going round, revolution, path traversed in going round, detour', fr P P types of circum(m)ire, circum-, 'round', & ire, 'go' For base c, 'go', see itinerant

1 A going round, going from place to place, space traversed in such a journey a country postman has a long circuit, the circuit of the globe, distance, journey round 2 Specif a the series of towns at which Assizes are held Judges often go on circuit, the Northern Circuit, b the barristers who practise on a particular circuit he joined the Western Circuit circutious, adj [1 sirkutius, 2 sirkutius] Lat circutius, PP of circuire, 'to go round', & fig, 'to express by circumlocution', See prec & -ous (lit and fig) Round about, leading to a given point, or position, by devious paths, reverse of direct a circuitous route, mode of approach &c, also, circuitous argument, mode of reasoning &c circutiously, adv Prec & -ly In a circuitous, indirect manner, by a roundabout route circutiousness, n See prec & -ness The quality of being circuitous, habit of thinking, arguing, in circuitous manner circular (I), adj [1 sirkular, 2 sirkular] Lat, fr circulus, 'circle' &c, & adj suff -ar See circle & circous 1 Round having form, being in form, of a circle, forming part of a circle 2 a Moving in a circle, turning round, b traversing, or involving passing round, given route, or circuit circular tour, circular ticket, one issued for such a tour, c passing, travelling in a circle completely round an area circular railway, one running round a town &c 3 (of documents) Addressed and sent round to a number of persons circular letter, circular note, one used by travellers, which can be exchanged for cash at any of several places, esp different foreign banks circular (II), n, fr prec Document, generally a tradesman's advertisement, or n notice of any kind, of which many copies are issued at the same time and sent round to a number of people circularity, n [1 sirkulariti, 2 sirkulariti] See prec & -ity The state of being circular in shape, roundness circularize, vb trans [1 sirkulariz, 2 sirkulariz] circular (II) & -ize To send circulars to, give notice to, by means of circulars circularly, adv [1 sirkulari, 2 sirkulari] circular (I) & -ly In a circular manner, with a circular motion circulate, vb intrans & trans [1 sirkulat, 2 sirkulat] fr PP of Lat circulari, 'form a circle', fr circulus, 'circle' See circle (I) A intrans 1 To move pass round, or by, a certain way and return to starting point blood circulates in the body 2 (of material and non material things) To move, pass freely, from one person or place to another, pass round, change hands, pass from hand to hand in a company the wine circulated freely, news, rumour, circulates rapidly, when trade is good money circulates 3 (maths, of decimal) To recur B trans (of material and non material things) To send round, cause to circulate, pass from one person or place to another to circulate the wine, the bottle, to circulate a report circulating library, n [1 sirkulatirg librari, 2 sirkulatirg librari] a Institution which hires or lends out books to be kept for a specified time, to a number of readers in succession, b the collection of books so lent, c the building or apartment where the books are stored, and whence they are borrowed circulation, n [1 sirkulashun, 2 sirkulashun] circulate & -ion 1 Process of circulating, a spool, flow of the blood through the vessels of the body, or of sap through veins of plants Harvey discovered the circulation of the blood, to have a good, bad circulation, b process of passing, being handed, or transmitted, from one person to another, of being sent from place to place (of material and non-material things) circulation of books, newspapers, circulation of rumours, news &c 2 Fact of being (much) circulated the circulation of the evening papers is surprising, a large number are sold 3 Condition of being circulated, of being passed from one person to another, of being in use, and obtainable for circulation the book is no longer in circulation, many forged notes are in circulation, withdrawn from circulation (of books, coins &c) 4 Movement, flow, of water through pipes, passages, to and fro waiting of air through a house &c circulative, adj [1 sirkulatirv, 2 sirkulatirv] circulate & -ive Inclined to circulate, tending to promote circulation circulator, n [1 sirkulatir, 2 sirkulatir] See prec & -or One who circulates, distributes, or spreads circulator of rumours, news, infection &c circulatory, adj [1 sirkulatir, 2 sirkulatir] Lat circulatorius See circulate & -ory Pertaining to the circulation of the blood, of sap, water, or air circum-, pref Lat adv & prep, see of circus 'All around, in neighbourhood, about, among' In composition -m dropped in circum- &c, op circuit & see etymol under circus Used in many Lat compounds, & in some fr Fr, instead of fr circo- circumambient, adj [1 sirkumambiant, 2 sirkumambiant] circum- & ambient Lying around, surrounding on all sides, completely enclosing circumambulate, vb trans & intrans [1 sirkumambulat, 2 sirkumambulat] circum- & PP type of Lat ambulare, 'walk, go to and fro' See amble 1 trans To walk round (a piece of ground &c) 2 intrans a To walk about, walk round, hence, b (fig) to approach a subject indirectly, avoid straightforward statement circumambulation, n [1 sirkumambulashun, 2 sirkumambulashun] Prec & -ion (lit and fig) The act of circumambulating, state of being circumambulated circumambulatory, adj [1 sirkumambulatir, 2 sirkumambulatir] See prec & -ory Walking going round, avoiding the main issue indirect, roundabout circumbendibus, n [1 sirkumbendibus, 2 sirkumbendibus] For circum- & Engl bend & bus, Lat nbl pl A long, circuitous way round, circumlocution circumcise, vb trans [1 sirkumais, 2 sirkumais] O fr circumciser, fr Lat circumcis (um), 'cut around', fr circum- & PP type cis (um), of -cidere, form of cadere, 'cut', used in composition. See oment a To cut off the foreskin of, esp as religious rite of the Jews, and other Semite races, as symbolical of casting away sin, b (fig, in Bib language) to purify, do away sinfulness of circumcision, n [1 sirkumashun, 2 sirkumashun] fr Lat circumcisio (-em) See prec & -ion 1 The act, rite, of circumcising, state of being circumcised. 2 (eccles) The festival commemorating the circumcision of Christ, kept on Jan 1st 3 (Bib, fig) Purification of the spirit 4 (Bib) The Jewish people, as a circumcised race the people of the circumcision circumference, n [1 sērkmferens, 2 sākkmferens] Lat circumferentia, formed fr Pres Part circumferent(-em) of circumferre, 'to carry', fr circum- & ferre, 'to bear' &c See bear (I) a Boundary of a circle, b measurement of the circumference, distance round circumferential, adj [1 sērkmferēnshal, 2 sākkmferēnshal] See preo & -ial Pertaining to the circumference circumflex, n [1 sērkmfleks, 2 sākkmfleks], fr Lat (syllaba) circumflexa, P P of circumflectere, 'to turn back' See circum- & flect (I) 1 Mark or accent, written (v) in Greek, (A) in French &c 2 A thus mark, in Greek, probably expressed a composite tone, a rise and then a fall, and in this sense the expression circumflex accent (indicated by (A)) is generally used by phoneticians and philologists, b in French the mark is purely graphic at the present time, and merely marks the loss of a sound—generally a circumflexion, n [1 sērkmfleksshun, 2 sākkmfleksshun] Preo & -ion A bending, twisting, round circumfluency, n [1 sērkmfloocens, 2 sākkmfloocens], fr Lat circumfluentia, fr circumfluent(-em), Pres Part of circumfluere, 'to flow round', & -ia See circum- & fluency A flowing round circumfluent, adj [1 sērkmfloocent, 2 sākkmfloocent] circum- & fluent Flowing round, encompassing on all sides circumfuse, vb trans [1 sērkmfūz, 2 sākkmfūz], fr P P circumfundere, of Lat circumfundere, 'to pour around' See circum- & fuse To pour (air, light, liquid &c) round, surround with (fluid), bathe with or in, also fig circumfusion, n [1 sērkmfūzhn, 2 sākkmfūzhn] See preo & -ion The act or process of circumfusing, state or process of being surrounded (with fluid) circumgyrate, vb intrans [1 sērkmjīrat, 2 sākkmjīrat] circum- & gyrate To turn round, revolve, rotate, go round in a circle circumgyration, n [1 sērkmjīrāshun, 2 sākkmjīrāshun] Preo & -ion The act of revolving, rotation, circular movement circumjacent, adj [1 sērkmjāsēnt, 2 sākkmjāsēnt] Lat circumjacent(-em), Pres Part of circumjacere, 'to lie around, border upon' See circum- & jet (III), also deject &c Lying around, near, bordering on circumlittoral, adj [1 sērkmliṭṭoral, 2 sākkmliṭṭoral] circum- & littoral Lying along, close to, the shore circumlocution, n [1 sērkmlokkūshun, 2 sākkmlokkūshun] Lat circumlocūō(-em), 'talking round' See circum- & locution. a A talking round, roundabout manner of stating, or discussing, a question, b a specific instance of this Circumlocution Office, name invented by Dickens ('Little Dorrit') for a government department which pays more attention to red tape than to the dispatch of business circumlocutional, adj [1 sērkmlokkūshunal, 2 sākkmlokkūshunal] fr preo & -al a (of persons) Given to roundabout ways of speaking, wordy, b (of a sentence, speech, manner of speaking) roundabout, not direct circumlocutionary, adj [1 sērkmlokkūshunār, 2 sākkmlokkūshunār], fr circumlocution & -ary Circumlocutional circumlocutory, adj [1 sērkmlokkūtūr, 2 sākkmlokkūtūr], fr Lat circum- & locūt(us), P P of loqui, 'to speak', (see locution) & -ory Exhibiting circumlocution, roundabout circumnavigable, adj [1 sērkmnavigabl, 2 sākkmnavigabl] circum- & navigable Capable of being sailed round circumnavigate, vb trans [1 sērkmnavīgāt, 2 sākkmnavīgāt], fr Lat circumnavigāre, 'to sail round' See circum- & navigate To sail round (esp the world, globe &c) circumnavigation, n [1 sērkmnavīgāshun, 2 sākkmnavīgāshun] Preo & -ion The act of sailing round (esp of the world) circumnavigator, n [1 sērkmnavīgāter, 2 sākkmnavīgāter] circum- & navigator One who sails right round something, specif, one who has sailed round the globe circumnutation, n [1 sērkmnūtāshun, 2 sākkmnūtāshun], fr circum- & nutation (bot., of plant-tendrils) Lat 'a nodding round', turning in all directions circumoral, adj [1 sērkmōrāl, 2 sākkmōrāl] See circum- & oral Near, round, the month circumpolar, adj [1 sērkmpōlār, 2 sākkmpōlār] circum- & polar a (geog) Near, round, the North or South Pole circumpolar ocean, &c, b (astron) of stars, moving round the celestial poles, without going below horizon circumpolar motion.

circumscissile, adj [1 sērkmssīl, 2 sākkmssīl], fr Lat circumscissum, P P of circumscindere, 'to strip off, tear round', fr circum- & scindere, 'to cut, tear' &c, & -ile See scissile (bot., of seed vessels)

Opening along a transverse circular line circumscribe, vb trans [1 sērkmskrib, 2 sākkmskrib], fr Lat circumscribere (ero), 'to draw a line round, enclose in a circle, (fig) to limit, define, restrain', fr circum- 'around', & scribere, 'to write, draw', see scribe a To draw a line round, mark the boundary of, enclose within bounds, hence, b (fig) to limit, restrict, set bounds to, confine within limits circumscribe one's power of action, interests, experience &c circumscription, n [1 sērkmskripshun, 2 sākkmskripshun], fr Lat circumscriptio(-em), acc of circumscribere, 'the act of enclosing, a circle, a limit, boundary', fr circum- & scribere, 'to write, draw', & -ion See description, script, scripture &c 1 (lit and fig) The act or process of outlining, defining, setting limits, condition of being limited, defined, restricted 2 That which is inscribed round anything, specif, title, inscription, round a coin &c circumsolar, adj [1 sērkmstōlār, 2 sākkmstōlār] circum- & solar Revolving round, situated near, the sun circumspect, adj [1 sērkmspekt, 2 sākkmpekt], fr Lat circumspect(us), P P of circumspectere, 'to look about, look round', (fig) 'to be cautious, take heed', fr circum- & specere, specere, 'to look' See special, specious, spy &c Only used of moral qualities (of persons and their actions) a Attentive, observant, heedful of conduct and behaviour, decorous, also b careful in forming judgments and decisions, prudent, cautious circumspection, n [1 sērkmspēkshun, 2 sākkmspēkshun] See preo & -ion Lat, a looking round, but generally used in moral sense of attention, observation, esp to conduct, action, and behaviour, hence, a prudence, caution, b decorum, propriety circumspective, adj [1 sērkmspēktīv, 2 sākkmspēktīv], fr circumspect & -ive a Cautious, prudent, vigilant, b sometimes in lit. sense, looking round, observing, noting, everything 'All sly, slow things with circumspective eyes' (Pope, 'Ess on Man', iv 226) circumspectly, adv [1 sērkmspēktīl, 2 sākkmspēktīl], fr circumspect & -ly In a circumspect manner, prudently, cautiously, decorously circumstance, n [1 sērkmstāns, 2 sākkmstāns] ME circumstancie, stancie, fr O Fr, fr Lat circumstantia, 'the act of surrounding, (fig) condition, attribute, circumstances', fr circumstans, stem of Pres Part of vb circumstare, 'to surround, encompass' (lit and fig), fr circum- & stare, 'to stand', see stand, stance 1 a (usually in pl) External factor relating to an act, attendant condition (of place, time, previous events, etc) to know all the circumstances of a case, the circumstances were peculiar, an unforeseen circumstance, Phrs in, under the circumstances, such being the case, under, in, no circumstances, never, it depends on circumstances, on how matters stand, hence, b an incident, event, fact, detail to omit no essential circumstance in a report, to be unaware of a particular circumstance

2 (pl) Degree of worldly prosperity or reverse, financial condition in reduced, flourishing, circumstances 3 Formality, epistoloid ceremony, esp in Phr pomp and circumstance circumstantial, adj [1 sērkmstānst, 2 sākkmstānst], fr preo & -ed In a particular situation, relative position, placed in certain circumstances to be awkwardly circumstantial circumstantial, adj [1 sērkmstānshal, 2 sākkmstānshal] See preo & -ial 1 Dis playing all the circumstances, detailed, minute a circumstantial account of what happened 2 Circumstantial evidence, that which is not positive, or direct, evidence of a particular fact, but consists of proof of a number of other facts, the cumulative effect of which is to establish a strong presumption of the particular main fact circumstantiality, n [1 sērkmstānshīlī, 2 sākkmstānshīlī], fr preo & -ity The quality of being circumstantial in either sense circumstantially, adv [1 sērkmstānshalī, 2 sākkmstānshalī], fr circumstantial & -ly In a circumstantial manner, specif a in detail, minutely, b indirectly, inferentially, by reference to other established facts circumstantially proved (of a fact sought to be proved by evidence) circumvallate, vb trans [1 sērkmvalāt, 2 sākkmvalāt], fr Lat circumvallare (um), P P type of circumvallare, 'to build a wall round' (mil), fr circum- & vallare, 'to entrench, surround, with a vallum, or rampart, (fig) defend, strengthen' See vallum & wall To build a rampart round circumvallation, n [1 sērkmvalāshun, 2 sākkmvalāshun], fr preo & -ion a Act or process of constructing a rampart round, b an encircling rampart circumvent, vb trans [1 sērkmvēnt, 2 sākkmvēnt], fr Lat circumvenire (um), P P of circumvenire, 'to surround (in a hostile manner), beset, (fig) to oppress, defraud' See circum- & venire & venue a (of persons) To frustrate, outwit, prevent from doing something, b (of plans, designs &c) to prevent something happening, stop, hinder, render of none effect circumvention, n [1 sērkmvēnshun, 2 sākkmvēnshun], fr Lat circumvenitio(-em), acc of circumvenire, 'the act of defrauding', fr circumvenire See preo & -ion The act of circumventing, outwitting, hindering, preventing action, process of being circumvented circumventive, adj [1 sērkmvēntīv, 2 sākkmvēntīv] See preo & -ive Tending to circumvent or outwit circumvolution, n [1 sērkmvolvūshun, 2 sākkmvolvūshun], fr Lat circumvolvūt(-um), P P type of circumvolvūt(-um), 'to roll round, revolve', fr circum- & volvūt(-um), 'to roll', & -ion See devolve, volume, volute, whelm a The act of rolling round, winding, coiling, state of being coiled, wound, rolled up, b something rolled up, a coil circus, n [1 sērks, 2 sākks] Lat circus, 'a ring, specif, a round, or oval, enclosure for games', prob genuine Lat word, & nat borrowed fr Gk κίρκος, kirkos, 'a ring' Prob a redupl form of base in Lat circus, 'crooked, bent' See curve 1 a A circular enclosure, surrounded with tiers of seats, for the exhibition of equestrian, athletic &c performances, b a show consisting of performing animals, horses &c, of feats of horsemanship and agility, and humorous interludes by clowns and acrobats travelling circus, n [1 sirk, 2 sâk] and generally also wild beasts in cages 2 A rounded open space in a town, with streets radiating from it Oxford, Piccadilly, Circus &c cure-perdue, adj & n [1 œr, perdû, 2 sir pœr] Fr, lit 'lost wax' a adj Of, denoting a process of casting objects in bronze, the clay model being coated with wax, on which the finishing work is done, the whole covered with a paste and clay envelope and baked, when the wax melts, leaving a hollow mould for the casting, b n, bronze object made by this process circus, n [1 sirk, 2 sâk] Fr, fr Lat circus (poet) Amphitheatre, arena currhosis, n [1 sirkus, 2 sirkusis], fr Gk kurrhos, 'tawny', & -osis Cp Lat curras, 'grey' Disease of the liver, chiefly caused by excess of alcohol.

curri-, cirro-, prefix used for Lat currus, 'curl, ringlet, tuft of hair' See currus curriferous, adj [1 sirkferus, 2 sirkferas], fr curri- & -ferous (bot) Having curling tendrils curriform, n [1 sirkform, 2 sirkfôr] See curri- & -form Having shape of a curl, or tendril.

curriped, curripede, n [1 sirkped, -pêd, 2 sirkpêd, -pêd], fr curri- & Lat ped-, stem of pêd, 'foot' See pedal & foot. A member of an order of crustaceans, including barnacles &c, having legs in form of a curl curro-, see curri- curro-cumulus, n [1 sirkkûmilus, 2 sirk kûmulus] See prœ & cumulus A cloud formation of small fleecy clouds, curra, arranged in groups or masses currose, adj [1 sirk, 2 sirkus], fr curri- & -ose (bot and zool) a Having appendages like locks of hair, b resembling a curl, lock of hair curro-stratus, n [1 sirk stratus, 2 sirk stratus] See curro- & strata Cloud formation of small fleecy clouds arranged in belts or strata cirrons, adj [1 sirk, 2 sirk] See curro- & -ous Currose currus, n [1 sirk, 2 sirkas] Lat, 'a curl, ringlet, lock, tuft of hair, hence anything resembling a curl, e.g. a tuft of feathers, tendrils of a plant' &c The etymology is doubtful, but there is prob relationship w circus & curve 1 a (bot) A tendril, b (zool) a thread like appendage, serving as means of locomotion, organ of touch &c 2 (meteor) A kind of cloud, having the appearance of straggling locks of hair or fleeces cis-, pref Lat cis, 'on this side of', cogn w Lat citra, 'on this side of', citrô, 'to this side', the base hi*, Gmc hi*, is found also in Goth hitrê, OE hider See hither cisalpine adj [1 sirkalpin, 2 sirkalpin] fr cis- & Alpine On this, that is, the Roman, s side of the Alps cisatlantic adj [1 sirkatlantik, 2 sirkatlantik] On this (the European) side of the Atlantic cist, n [1 sirk, 2 sirk], fr Lat cista, 'a chest, box of wood, twigs &c, esp that used for the sacred utensils in religious festivals', loan word fr Gk kistê, 'woven basket', wh is prob cogn w Gf kiste, 'box, basket' Cp ghost 1 (Gk. antiq) A casket esp that which held the sacred utensils used in the Eleusinian mysteries 2 Primitive tomb consisting of a stone coffin, or cavity lined and covered with slabs of stone

Cistercian, adj & n [1 sirkstreshan, 2 sirkstishan] a adj Of, belonging to, an order of monks, a branch of the Benedictines, founded at Cîteaux (Cîteaux), France, in 1093 by St Bernard of Clairvaux, b n, monk of this order cistern, n [1 sirkstern, 2 sirkstern] ME cisterna, fr O Fr cisterna, fr Lat cisterna, 'a reservoir for water', fr Lat cista, 'a chest' &c see cist & -ern, as in cisterna, cistern, cp cave, tavern, a An artificial reservoir for storing water, water tank, esp. one at the top of a house for supplying the building with water, b a natural reservoir, pond &c cistus, n [1 sirkstus, 2 sirkstas], fr Gk kisthos, kistos, 'a kind of flowering shrub', the name is prob of Asiatic origin Either borrowed fr a common source, or an early independent borrowing, is O Fr kish (also Du) hester, 'beech tree', whence Fr hêtre, 'beech' A genus of flowering shrubs, the rock rose cit, n [1 sirk, 2 sirk] Contraction of citizen, used in 17th & 18th cents, now obsolete citabls, adj [1 sirkabl, 2 sirkabl], fr cite & -able That may be cited citadel, n [1 sirkadl, 2 sirkadl], fr Fr citadelle, fr Ital citadella, dimm of citadella, 'city', Mod Ital citta, fr Lat civitatē, sbl of civitas, 'city' See city a A fortress protecting a town, the chief point of defence in a fortified town, hence b (fig) a place of refuge, retreat citation, n [1 sirk, sirkshun, 2 sirk, sirkshun] ME fr Fr citation See cite & -ation 1 A summons to appear in a court of law 2 a The act of citing, quoting, referring to (a passage, book, previous case &c), b passage cited cite, vb trans [1 sirk, 2 sirk], fr Fr citer, fr Lat citare, 'to put into motion, stimulate', (fig) 'to call urgently, summon', esp in legal sense, formed fr cit (um), PP type of cire, 'to put in motion, shake, rouse up, invoke', op also Lat cito, 'quickly', Gk kisô, 'go', & w different vowel grade, Goth haitan, OHG heizan, 'order, call by name' The orig meaning of the base is apparently 'quick motion', then 'to rouse to action', then both in Lat & Gmc, 'to rouse by means of the voice', hence 'to call, command', w the derived meaning 'to call by name, give a name to' See hight, & for survival of a primitive meaning, lie, vb, fr OE higian, 'hasten' &c 1 To summon, command to appear, before a tribunal 2 a To quote a passage from an authority, or authority himself, b to bring forward, mention as example or authority cither(n), cithern, n [1 sirkther(n), sirkther, 2 sirkther(n), sirkther], Shakespeare cithern, O Fr has guiterne, q v under guitar, a variant The n is not orig part of the word, op OE cytere, wh together w above forms, is fr Lat cithara, 'lute', fr Gk kithara, wh is prob borrowed fr an Asiatic language (archaic, chiefly poet) A musical stringed instrument, like a lute, a zither, the word is rather loosely applied to many instruments of this type citizen, n [1 sirkstizen, 2 sirkstizen] ME citizen, fr O Fr citain, fr cit & -ain = -an The suggestion that this word in Engl owes its -s to anal. of denizen, wd be plausible were the latter not a comparatively rare word, & the former very common See city, civil 1 An inhabitant of a specific town or city, b inhabitant of a state, c a dweller in a city as opposed to one living in the country, city dweller Plr citizen of the world, a cosmopolitan 2 a Member of a city community, enjoying rights and privileges as a burgess and bound by duties of loyalty, b person occupying same position in regard to a state, or country, one native to, or naturalized in, a country, opposed to a foreigner, or alien citizenship, n [1 sirkstiship, 2 sirkstiship] Prec. & -ship a The status of a citizen, b the duties and privileges pertaining to it, c the state of being a citizen citolo, n [1 sirkstol, 2 sirkstol] O Fr, fr same stem as cithern (obs, poet) Kind of lute or dulcimer 'Cithern and citole' (Rossetti) citrato, n [1 sirktrat, 2 sirktrat] See citric & -ate (chem) A salt of citric acid citric, adj [1 sirktrik, 2 sirktrik], fr Lat base citr (-is), 'citron', & -ic See citron. Pertaining to, derived from, the citron, or from fruits of the same genus, e.g. lemons, limes &c, esp citric acid citrine, adj [1 sirktrin, 2 sirktrin] fr Fr citrine fr Lat citr (-is), see citron, & -ine Pale greenish yellow, lemon-coloured.

citron, n [1 sirktron, 2 sirktron], fr Fr citron, fr Ital citrona (see -oon), fr Lat citr us, 'citron-tree', fr Gk kithron Origin unknown a A kind of fruit resembling the lime and lemon, but larger and less acid, b the tree bearing this fruit, c citron colour, pale yellow

Citrus, n [1 sirktrus, 2 sirktras] Lat See prec (bot) The genus of shrubs or trees which bear fruit like the citron, including the orange, lemon &c cittern, see cither(n)

city, n [1 sirk, 2 sirk] ME cite, fr O Fr citê, fr Lat civitatē em, acc of civitas, 'a community of citizens, the state', fr civis, 'member of a community, citizen' & tas (see -ty) See civil 1 A town of considerable size and importance Phrs Celestial City, heaven, Eternal City, City of the Seven Hills, Rome, City of Refuge (Bib), one of the six cities of Palestine to which persons guilty of murder might flee for safety, hence, a sanctuary, place of shelter 2 (in England) A town, borough, raised to a position of importance by royal charter, esp one which is also an episcopal see 3 The originally fortified centre of a city Specif, the City, the original municipal centre of London, governed by the Lord Mayor and Corporation, the banking and commercial centre of England and the British Empire Phr city man one engaged in finance, commerce &c, in the City Company, a body representing one of the trade guilds 4 One of the ancient Greek republics, a city state.

cityward(s), adv [1 sirkward(z), 2 sirkward(z)], fr city & -ward(s) Towards the city civet, n [1 sirkv, 2 sirkvit], fr Fr civette, fr Arab zabab 1 Also civet cat, a small carnivorous quadruped, Viverra civetta, found in Asia and Africa, between a fox and a weasel in size, and of a brownish grey colour 2 A substance with a strong musky smell, obtained from the anal glands of the civet cat, used in manufacture of perfume civic, adj [1 sirkvik, 2 sirkvik], fr Lat civis (us), 'pertaining to citizens', fr civis, 'citizen', & -io See civil Pertaining to a citizen, to citizenship Civic crown, (Rom antiq) a crown of oak leaves given as an honour to a soldier who saved the life of a fellow-citizen in battle civics, n [1 sirkvils, 2 sirkvils] The organized and systematic study of the duties and privileges of citizenship, and of the well-being, and suitable planning, of cities civil, adj [1 sirkvil, 2 sirkvil, sirkvil] Lat civilis, 'pertaining to a citizen, to political rights of citizens, to public life, affable, polite', fr base civ- as in civilis, 'city', civis, 'citizen' All these derived fr base kei*(w), kei*(u) &c 'to lie, settle down', wh occurs in first element of Goth heuca frauja, 'master of a house', OE hūc, 'member of a family', hūcen, 'household', OHG hūco, 'husband', further OE hūyd, 'hide of land', originally 'as much land as would support a family', see hide (IV) See further home, & city, civic, quint 1 a Of, connected with, pertaining to, based on, organized human society, or connected with citizens in widest sense civil administration, rights, liberties, life &c, b connected with citizens of same stato, individuals who are members of a single political unit civil war, a war between factions in same country 2 Specif, having to do, concerned with, such citizens as do not belong to any of the fighting services, as opposed to, contrasted with, military naval &c, or with activities and affairs of a stato, other than military or naval to leave the army and enter civil life, military organization is hampered by an inefficient civil government 3 a Urban, affable, polite, considerate obliging, complimentary it was very civil of him to take so much trouble on my behalf, I must say something civil to him, b (of inferiors) respectful a very civil tradesman Phr to keep a civil tongue in one's head, to refrain from insolence, be polite For development of this meaning of civil,

which existed already in Lat., op urbane Civil case, action at law concerned with private rights and wrongs, not involving criminal actions, Civil Court, court of law where civil cases are tried, civil engineer, one whose work is not primarily concerned with purely mechanical branches of the profession, one who plans and superintends the construction of bridges, canals, docks, reservoirs, roads, railways, tunnels &c., Civil Law, system of laws enacted by a state to regulate the affairs and interests of its citizens, specif., Roman law, Civil List, grant by parliament for the maintenance of the Royal Household, Civil Servant, person employed in any public office or service of the state, other than the fighting services, Civil Service, applied to all public state departments and services except the army, navy, and air force Home Civil Service, British Treasury, Post Office &c., contrasted with Indian, Sudan, Civil Service civilian, adj. & n [1 siviljan, 2 siviljan], fr O Fr civilien, fr Lat civilianus See civil & -an 1 adj. Relating to, belonging to, civil life, that is, not naval or military civilian professions, clothes &c. 2 n (from prec.) a Person employed in, occupied with, civil life, as contrasted with a soldier, naval man &c., b specif., a member of the Civil Service, esp. one holding judicial, or administrative appointment under government in India, the Sudan, c one learned in the Civil Law civility, n [1 sivilita, 2 sivilita], fr O Fr civilité, 'citizenship', fr Lat civilitas (cm), acc of civitas, 'art of government, politics', also 'courteousness, affability', fr civitus See civil & -ity a Politeness, courtesy, obliging, serviceable behaviour to, or treatment of, another in word or deed to treat a person with, show him, the utmost civility, b a specific polite, kind, attentive act, or complimentary utterance I am grateful for your civility in taking so much trouble, to exchange civilities civilization, n [1 sivilizashun, 2 sivilizashun], fr civilize & -ation 1 The act of civilizing, the state or process of being civilized 2 a State of social, moral, intellectual, and industrial development, culture, esp. one in which an advanced stage has been reached, contrasted with barbarism, b type of culture characteristic of particular nation or race ancient Irish civilization 3 Tract of the earth's surface over which highly developed civilization extends beyond the bounds of civilization civilize, vb trans [1 siviliz, 2 siviliz], fr civil & -ize 1 To bring from a state of barbarism to one of civilization, to introduce and foster social and moral improvement among savages have often been civilized by missionaries 2 (extended use) To improve the morals or manners of, render more polished, impart social arts and graces to, refine many a rough, ill-mannered clown has been civilized by his wife civilized, adj [1 sivilid, 2 sivilaid] P P of prec 1 Possessing civilization, highly developed in social organization, in the arts and sciences, contrasted with savage or barbarous 2 Conversant with manners and modes of thought of good society, well-bred, highly cultivated civilizing, adj [1 sivilizing, 2 sivilizing], fr Pres Part of civilize Tending to civilize, to promote civilization religion exerts a civilizing influence civily, adv [1 sivil, 2 sivil], fr civil & -ly 1 In relation to the community, to the government (rare) 2 In a civil manner, politely, courteously civism, n [1 sivilizm, 2 sivilizm] Fr civisme. See civil & -ism Principles, laws of good citizenship clachan, n [1 klaghan, 2 klaghan] Gael fr clach, 'stone' Scottish name for a village clack (I), n [1 klak, 2 klak] ME clacke, clackes. Prob. imitative. Op OE claci, 'strife', clacian, 'hasten' 1 A sharp, non-resonant sound, like that made by striking one wooden object against another Hence 2, noisy talk, clatter of tongues (province) 3 Also clack valve, a valve shutting with a sharp clack when raised clack (II), vb intrans ME clacken, clake Cp prec 1 To make a sharp, abrupt sound, as that of wood when struck Hence 2, to chatter noisily clad, adj [1 klad, 2 klad], fr P P of clothe ME clad, claddē, OE clādēd, P P of clāðian, 'to clothe' See clothe a Having clothes on, dressed, as distinct from naked, undressed he was up and fully clad by 6 o'clock, b arrayed, dressed, in particular manner clad in splendid uniform, in rags &c clad-, pref fr Gk klados, 'sprout, shoot', used to form various scientific words, e.g. cladophora, a genus of algae Klados prob. meant orig. 'branch lopped off', fr the base klad*, klad*, 'to strike, cut', seen in Lat clādēs, 'disaster', see callosity, Gk klao, 'break in pieces', see cataclasm See also claviform claim (I), vb trans & intrans [1 klām, 2 klām] ME clamen, fr O Fr clame, pres ind of clamer, fr Lat clāmāre, 'to call, cry out, declare' Thus vb is fr another form of the base fr wh comes also Lat calāre, 'to call out', Gk kalēō, wh have no connexion w call, hnt are cogn w OE hlōcan, 'roar' &c, op low (I) See also calends clamour, clarify, clear A trans 1 To assert one's right to, demand to have, apply for, as a right to claim a reward, the crown, damages (in law), the protection of the law 2 To demand the recognition of (an alleged fact) to claim the victory, claim to have won the victory 3 To assert one's ownership of something lost and found, and demand that it shall be restored to one the police found a watch, which was afterwards claimed by several persons 4 (of things) To call for, demand, deserve to claim attention B intrans (law) a To make a claim for damages in law, b claim against (a person), assert that one has been injured by, and bring an action at law against him unless he pays up I shall claim against him claim (II), n ME, fr O Fr clame See prec 1 The act of claiming, a demand, application, for something to which one has a real or supposed right Phrs to lay claim to, assert one's right to obtain, set up a claim to, put in a claim for, attempt to establish one's right to obtain 2 A right, something to which one is entitled, a right to demand to have a claim, no claim, on (a person, or his charity &c) 3 That which is claimed, esp piece of land allotted to and taken possession of by settler, minor (in a gold field &c) Phr to stak out a claim, mark out boundaries of such an allotment, in proof of ownership, also fig., of non-material things, of discovery claimable, adj [1 klāmabl, 2 klāmabl] claim (I) & -able Able to be claimed claimant, n [1 klāmānt, 2 klāmānt], fr O Fr, Pres Part of clamer See claim (I) a (law) Person who brings an action in law, to recover damages, or to have wrongs righted, b one who makes a claim, who demands something as a right, esp in a public, official manner a claimant for the crown clairaudience, n [1 klārāwdiāns, 2 klārāwdiāns] See next word & first element in audible Clear hearing, supposed faculty of hearing sounds not naturally audible, as by spiritualistic mediums &c clairvoyance, n [1 klārviāns, 2 klārviāns] Fr, 'clear seeing, sight' See next word. Second sight, power of seeing, as in a mental picture, objects and events which are hidden from the bodily eyes clairvoyant, adj & n [1 klārvoiant, 2 klārvoiant] Fr, fr clair & voiant, Pres Part of voir, 'to see' See clear, vision, view 1 adj a Connected with clairvoyance, b having faculty of second sight 2 n Person possessing faculty of second sight clam, n [1 klam, 2 klēm] Orig something cold & sticky See clammy Perh. OE clām, 'mud, paste', w early shortening of vowel, & connected ultimately w clay See glam in agglomerate, also glue, glutinous Edible bivalve shell fish of various kinds (Word chiefly used in America) clamant, adj [1 klāmānt, 2 klēmānt], fr Lat clāmānt (em), acc of clāmāns, Pres Part of clāmāre, 'to cry aloud' See claim a Making urgent entreaties, clamouring, insistent, b (of non-material things) demanding, deserving, to be examined and attended to clamant injustice clamber, vb intrans & n [1 klāmber, 2 klāmber] ME clambren, clambren, 'to climb, cluster round', op Mod Germ sich klammern an, 'grasp, cling to' Prob com w climb, op OE Pres Part clamb 1 vb Generally clamber up, to climb with difficulty, or clumsily 2 n A laborious climb clammy, adv [1 klāmli, 2 klāmli], fr next word & -ly In a cold, damp, sticky manner clammy, adj [1 klām, 2 klām], fr ME clām, 'sticky', op OE clām, 'mud', & -y See clam & words there referred to Cold and sticky, moist and cold to the touch clamorous, adj [1 klāmurus, 2 klāmurus], fr clamour & -ous a (of persons) Noisy, vociferous, uttering loud, angry complaints or threats, b (of ones, utterances) loud, confused, insistent, filled with menace, c (poet and fig., of inanimate things) giving forth continuous, confused sound clamorous hammers in the forge, clamorous brook clamorously, adv Prec & -ly In a clamorous manner, with clamour clamour (I), n [1 klāmur, 2 klāmur] ME, fr O Fr, fr Lat clāmōr, 'a loud cry' See claim A loud, confused, esp hostile out cry, as of an angry crowd, loudly expressed, angry complaint clamour (II), vb intrans & trans, fr prec 1 intrans a To make a loud, confused noise, b to clamour for, demand loudly and insistently, c clamour against, complain loudly of, make hostile and threatening complaints about a person or thing 2 trans a Clamour down, to shout person down, silence by clamour, b clamour out, to utter, express with shouts clamp (I), n [1 klamp, 2 klamp] Prob related to OE clamm, 'fetter, bond', but op the related words, Do klamp, 'a clamp, heap', klampen, 'to grapple', & similar words in Dan & Swed The central idea in all these words is 'to bind, fasten, stak together', therefore we may prob compare clann, clamm, clay &c 1 Applied to various devices for holding things together, bracing, clasping, strengthening &c, e.g. pieces of metal fastened by rivets or screws holding two pieces of wood together, metal bar with thread at either end to which nuts or flat pieces of wood or iron are screwed, to strengthen, or held together that through which the rod passes 2 A pile of bricks or potatoes, esp heap of potatoes covered with straw and earth stored for the winter clamp (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To bind together by means of a clamp or clamps, to fasten firmly together 2 (of potatoes) To put them into a pile and cover with straw and earth clann, n [1 klan, 2 klan], fr Gael clann, 'family, descendants' (in Scottish Highland) A group of families assumed to be descended from a common ancestor, under, or formerly under, the patriarchal leadership of an hereditary chieftain, hence, a (in wider sense) a family, connected group of families, tribe, b a group of people united by some common interest, a party, set clandestine, adj [1 klāndēstin, 2 klāndēstin], fr Lat clandestinus, 'secret, clandestine', formed fr clam, adv & prep, 'secret, unknown', on anal. of intestinus (see intestine), clam is fr base kl-* &c as in cläre, 'to hide', w auv suff -am, like clém, 'inpresence of' (see coram populo), orpalam, 'publicly', fr pel*, 'spread out', cp plānus, 'level, flat' (see plain (I)) Secret, surreptitious, guiltily secret, purposely hidden clandestinely, adv Prec & -ly In a secret, underhand manner clang (I), vb intrans & trans [1 klang, 2 lång] Most dictionaries derive the word fr Lat clang ere, 'to resound, clang', but it seems more probable that they are independent, imitative words OLG & OLG klark, clanc, Mod Germ clang, 'sound', are clearly the same as the Engl word, & all these are, moreover, related to Germ klängen, 'to tinkle', & Engl clink, wh show the normal Gmc gradation w clang. It is prob safer to regard all these as true Gmc words. They might be re-invented among different races & at varying periods to express differing qualities of sound. A intrans To make a loud resonant sound, as of metal when struck (esp of large bell, a-mour &c), b trans, to cause (a bell &c) to clang clang (II), n fr prec A loud metallic ring clangorous, adj [1 klånggurus, 2 klånggors], fr next word & -ous Making a clanging sound clangour, n [1 klånggur, 2 klångge], fr Lat clangor, 'a noise, clang', fr clangere, 'to resound, clang', & -or This wh is apparently a pure Lat word, is naturally associated in most minds w clang, wh has an identical meaning. If the latter be, as is suggested, independent of Lat clangere, its existence in Engl wd facilitates the adoption of clangour, wh wd be intelligible to all. Or this word may have nothing to do w the Lat n, but may have been formed fr clang, v & suff on the anal of clamour. A repeated loud metallic sound, continued clanging clank (I), vb intrans & trans [1 klangk, 2 klangk] Prob a mere variant of clang, w slight differentiation of meaning. A intrans (esp of chain &c) To make a sharp ringing sound, b trans, to cause metal to sound by striking it, esp to clank chains clank (II), n See prec A sharp metallic sound, as of metal when struck (implying less resonance than clang) clannish, adj [1 klannish, 2 klänni] fr clan & -ish 1 Pertaining to, characterizing a clan 2 (of individual members of a group or family) Having the spirit and feelings which animate members of the same clan towards each other, hence, inclined to support and help each other, and to be bound together by ties of common interest, affection, and social intercourse, to exclusion of others the Scotch are notoriously clannish clannishly, adv Prec & -ly In a clannish manner clannishness, n See prec & -ness The quality of being clannish clanship, n [1 klanship, 2 klänip], fr clan & -ship A membership of a clan, b devotion to one's clan clansman, n [1 klansman, 2 klänsmän] See clan & man Hereditary member of a clan clap (I) vb trans & intrans [1 klap, 2 klap] M.E. clappen, O.E. clappan cp O.N. klappa, O.H.G. klapfen, klaphân, Mod Germ. klappen A trans 1 a To strike together sharply (esp one's hands, as a sign of approval, as a signal &c), hence, b [with transferred meaning] to express approval of by clapping hands, applaud to clap a performer, performer, c to strike lightly, slap with open hand, in a friendly way to clap a person on the back 2 (expressing various rapid, forcible movements, followed by to, on) clap spurs to one's horse, clap a hat on one's head, to clap the lid of a box to, to clap one's eyes &c. Colloq Phr to clap eyes on, see, catch sight of B intrans To strike hands together as sign of applause the crowd cheered and clapped clap (II), n M.E. clap, cp M Du klap, & see prec a A sudden noise caused by two objects striking together (esp the palms of the hands, as applause &c), b loud, sudden noise as of explosion, esp clap of thunder clap (III), n Origin doubtful (vulgar) Gonorrhoea clapboard, n [1 klåphord, 2 klåphörd] Cp O.G. klappholt, 'stave of oak' a A stave or split oak board, used for making barrels or casks, b in U.S.A., a wooden board with one side thicker than the other, used for weather-boarding of houses clap-net, n, fr clap (I) & net A net with jointed rim for catching birds &c, made to close suddenly by clapping the two portions of rim together clapper, n [1 klåper, 2 klåpe] M.E. clapper, claper, fr clap (I) & -er That which claps, strikes, specif a the metal tongue of a bell, b rattle for scaring birds clapperclaw, vb trans [1 klåperklåw, 2 klåpeklåw], fr prec & claw (lit and fig) To attack spitefully claptrap, n [1 klåptrap, 2 klåptrap], fr clap (I) & trap Empty, plausible, ostentatious language, designed to attract and win popular approval claque, n [1 klak, 2 klæk] Fr, fr claquer, 'to clack', cp claque Set of persons hired to applaud at a play &c, hence, any or gamized, hired body of supporters at a public meeting &c clarahella, n [1 klåhråbåla, 2 klåhråbåla], fr Lat clara, fem of clarus, 'clear', & bella, fem of bellus, 'pretty' See clear, beauty The name of an organ stop clarence, n [1 klårans, 2 klårans] Closed, four wheeled carriage resembling a brougham, named after Duke of Clarence (Wilhelm IV)

Claremont, n [1 klårsmunt, 2 klårsmunt], fr Clarence (ducal title of Lionel, third son of Edward III, fr Clare, m Suffolk) & O Fr -mont, adj suff Title borne by one of the Kings of Arms at the Herald's College, having jurisdiction south of the Trent clarendon, n [1 klårændun, 2 klårændun], fr the Clarendon Press, Oxford (typog) A kind of bold faced type claret, n [1 klåret, 2 klåret] M.E. claret, clart, clarry, fr O Fr (111) clareid, clart, fr Lat clartum, 'made clear', PP of clarere, fr clarus, 'clear, bright' See clarify 1 a Originally a clarified wine, now applied in England to red wine of Bordeaux, b (colloq slang) blood, esp in Phr to tap a person's claret, make his nose bleed 2 The colour of this wine, a purplish red claret-cup, n, fr prec & cup A drink made of claret mixed with liqueur and soda water, together with lemon and spices, generally sweetened and iced clarification, n [1 klårifikåshun, 2 klårifikåshun], fr Lat clarificatio (em), acc of clarificatio, 'glorification' (see clarus Lat) See clarify, -ation The act of clarifying, clearing up making bright, state or process of being clarified clarify, vb trans & intrans [1 klårifi, 2 klårifi] M.E. clarifien, fr O Fr clarifier, fr Lat clarificare, 'to make illustrious', fr clarus, 'clear, bright, shining, (of sound) loud, distinct, plain, manifest, intelligible', & form of facere, 'to make', used in composition (see fact, -fy) Clarify must orig have referred to sound, w the meaning 'loud, resonant', & belongs to the group of words, Lat calare, 'cry out', clamare, 'shout' &c., clāmor, 'loud cry, shout' &c, discussed under clara op clear 1 trans a To make clear, to strain impurities from (liquids or semi liquids), b (fig, of mind, ideas, feelings &c) to make intelligible, distinct, plain, to remove obscurity, confusion &c from 2 intrans (lit and fig) To become clear, be freed from obscurities, impurities &c clarinet, n [1 klårinet, klårinet, 2 klårinet, klårinet], fr Fr clarinette, dimin. of O Fr clarine, fr Lat clārus, 'loud and clear'. See clarify 1 Wood wind instrument, consisting of a slender tube, with a single reed mouth piece at one end and bell shaped opening at the other, played by the fingers on holes and keys 2 Organ stop producing a note resembling that of the clarinet clarinetist, n [1 klårinétist, 2 klårinétist], fr prec & -ist A player of the clarinet clarion, n & adj [1 klårion, 2 klårion] M.E. clarioun, fr O Fr clarion, 'a kind of trumpet', fr L Lat clāriōn (em), acc of clārio, fr Lat clārus, 'clear' See prec 1 n a (chiefly poet) A kind of trumpet with a narrow tube, producing a clear ringing note, b an organ stop producing a similar tone, c the sound produced by the clarion, any clear ringing note resembling it 2 adj (of sounds) Clear, ringing, appealing chiefly in literary usage clarion note, clarion voice &c clarionet, n [1 klårinét, 2 klårinét] Blend of clarion & clarinet A clarinet clarity, n [1 klåriti, 2 klåriti] M.E. clarete, O Fr clarté, fr Lat clāritās (em), acc of clāritas, 'brightness, clearness, splendour, celebrity', fr clārus, 'clear' See clear & -ty, also clarify a (chiefly fig, of ideas, style &c) Clearness, lucidity, freedom from obscurity, b (also lit, of sounds) resonance, distinctness, purity of tone clarina, n [1 klårina, 2 klårina] Named after an American explorer A herbaceous, annual garden plant, allied to the willow herb and fuchsia, cultivated for its bright flowers clary, n [1 klårin, 2 klårin], fr O Fr claret, fr Low Lat claretum, etymol obscure A pot herb of the sage family, one variety is cultivated for its ornamental leaves clash (I), vb intrans & trans [1 klash, 2 klash] Cp Mod Germ klatschen, Du. klatsen Imitative A intrans 1 To strike together so as to produce a loud, confused, ringing sound (esp of arms, bolts &c) 2 a To come into collision, strike together suddenly, to shock, b (fig, of several events fixed to take place at given time) to coincide in time, interfere with each other your lecture tomorrow clashes with mine 3 a (fig, of opinions, temper &c) To be in disagreement, come into conflict, be opposed, irreconcilable, b (colloq, of colours) fail to harmonize, be discordant B trans To cause to clash, strike together noisily clash (II), n, fr prec 1 A loud, confused, ringing sound, produced by the sudden contact of two, esp metallic, objects the clash of arms, bells &c 2 (fig) Conflict, disagreement, opposition clash of opinions, clash of arms &c clasp (I), vb trans & intrans [1 klåsp, 2 klåsp] M.E. claspun, clapsen, there is no traceable history of the word, wh appears only in M.E. A trans 1 To fasten with a clasp to clasp a bracelet round one's wrist &c 2 a To fold tightly with the arms, embrace, b to grasp firmly, grip, with the hand Phr. to clasp one's hands, press tightly together, interlock fingers, in token of supplication, despair, or similar emotion to clasp another's hand, shake hands cordially, c (of climbing plants) to twine round, encircle, adhere to with tendrils B intrans To perform action of clasping we met and clasped, shook hands clasp (II), n M.E. clasp, fr prec 1 A parting provided with a hook, tongue, bolt, or other device, for fastening two things together, e.g. the ends of a belt, the covers of a book, the two parts of a window &c 2 A firm hold, grasp, grip, embrace 3 A bronze or silver bar affixed to ribbon of a military medal, to commemorate a particular battle in a campaign clasp-knife, n One with blade, or blades, made to shut into the handle class (I), n [1 klåhs, 2 klåhs] Fr classe, fr Lat classis, 'army, fleet, class, division, division of Roman people' The nearest cogn is Gk klāss, 'a calling into court, legal summons, invitation' (to a feast &c) The fundamental meaning of the Lat word seems to be 'host, multitude of persons called, or summoned together', hence, 'a group of people'. The starting-point is the base kel-, kl- &c, 'to call, shout' &c, wh appears w highly differentiated form & meaning in a large number of words in Lat & Gk, e.g. calāre, 'to ool', Gk kalōs &c Cp claim, clear, & clarify. 1 In most general sense, division, group, category, whence kind, sort, type a good class of man, a poor class of house In various senses arising from notion of grouping together according to some definite principle 2 (nat sc) Order, group, category of organisms &c, which have some essential character or feature in common class of animals, of plants, of rocks &c, specif, the division or group ranking next below a phylum 3 (school and university) a Group, collection, assemblage of pupils who learn in common, are taught the same things at the same time to be top of the class, to take a class of beginners, b category into which candidates are placed according to their degree of success in examination for honours in a university to obtain a First Class. Phr to obtain, get, a class, take honours, as distinguished from pass examination, o systematic teaching given in a class, course of instruction to take classes in cookery 4 Rank, position, standing in society, social division the upper, middle, and lower classes, working class Phr the classes, upper classes, as contrasted with the masses 5 Particular degree of approximation to, conformity with, a fixed standard of excellence, merit, beauty, usefulness &c as an orator he was not in the same class with the Prime Minister, the best class of hotel Phr in a class by itself, of unapproachable merit, (colloq) no class, having no merit, very inferior 6 A distinction in style and quality of accommodation in railway carriages, steamers &c, b compartment, cabin &c of such description 7 Categories into which the management of exhibitions, shows &c place animals, produce &c according to principles of classification, more or less arbitrary, decided on by them there were several very interesting classes of hunters and carriage horses class (II), vb trans, fr prec a To put into a class, classify, arrange, assign place in a class, hence, b to estimate at true value, size up to be unable to class a person, c specif, to put (a candidate) into one of the classes at any university honour examination he obtained a degree, but was not classed classical (I), adj [1 klási:k, 2 klási:k] Cp classical Fr classique, fr Lat classicus, 'relating to the classes of the Roman people, relating to the army or navy', see prec & -ic The Engl word has a very faint connexion w the Lat & may be regarded as a fresh creation fr old material 1 a Of the highest excellence, of recognized and undisputed merit long before his death, Tennyson's poetry had become classic, b in accordance with the highest canons of excellence classic taste 2 Pertaining to, in accordance with, standards of ancient Greek and Roman literature and culture classic style, simple, austere 3 Connected with, having associations with, great literature or great writers the English Lake district is classic ground for students of Wordsworth and Coleridge 4 Important, famous, having great traditions in Phr classic races, the five great horse races for three-year olds, viz, the Derby, Oaks, St Leger, Two Thousand and One Thousand Guineas classical (II), n, fr prec a A writer, painter &c of established and undisputed excellence, b specif, an ancient Greek or Latin author 2 A scholar, special student, highly skilled and deeply versed in the languages, literatures, and culture of ancient Greece and Rome a first-rate classic 3 One whose taste and style are modelled on the ancient writers of Greece and Rome, contrasted with romantic 4 (in pl) The classics, specif, the ancient languages of Greece and Rome, Greek and Latin classical, adj [1 klási:k, 2 klási:k] classical & -al This word overlaps with classic (I) in respect of some of its usages, while in others it shows some differentiations of meaning 1 Of the highest excellence, commonly acknowledged as possessing such, esp of musical composition, conforming to the best-informed critical taste, representing the most highly elaborated forms, as sonata, fugue &c, contrasted with popular music 2 Specif a pertaining to, connected with, the ancient culture of Greece and Rome, esp the language and literature classical studies, classical art, classical literature, the classical languages, classical tradition, b (of persons) devoted to, deeply versed in, the ancient Greek and Latin culture, languages and literatures classical scholar, student, teacher 3 Animated with, exhibiting spirit of, based on, the standards of art which prevailed in ancient Greece and Rome, restrained, severe his tastes were strictly classical, a building in the classical style, a poem conceived on classical lines In the Phr classical architecture, the former word might be used of that of a modern building in sense 3, as well as of an ancient one according to 2, a, above classicism, n [1 klási:kəzəm, 2 klási:kəzəm] Prec & -ism 1 A habit of mind formed by prolonged study of, and devotion to, the classical traditions, b practice of exhibiting the classical spirit and taste in writing &c 2 Greek or Latin idiom introduced into another language classically, adv [1 klási:kəli, 2 klási:kəli] classically & -ly In a classical manner, after the style of classical writers or artists classicism, n [1 klási:sizəm, 2 klási:sizəm] classical & -ism 1 A adherence to classical principles and taste in art and literature, b observance of these in practice 2 Scholarship in the ancient languages of Greece and Rome 3 Idiom from Greek or Latin introduced into another language classicalist, n [1 klási:sist, 2 klási:sist] classical & -ist Adherent of classical taste, follower of classical models classicize, vb trans & intrans [1 klási:səz, 2 klási:səz] classic & -ize 1 trans To make classic, approximate to classical models (in style &c) 2 intrans To affect a classical manner in style classifiable, adj [1 klási:fəbl, 2 klási:fəbl] classifiable & -able Capable of being classified classification, n [1 klási:fikəshən, 2 klási:fikəshən] See classify & -ation 1 Act or process of classifying, ie of arranging things and ideas in groups and classes according to a systematic principle the classification of speech sounds has interested grammarians from early times 2 Result of act or process of classifying, the groups and categories in which things are arranged in accordance with a particular principle Sweet's classification of speech sounds is regarded by many phoneticians, not only as the most accurate yet proposed, but also as the simplest classificatory, adj [1 klási:fikətəri, 2 klási:fikətəri] See prec & -ory Of the nature of, connected with, classification classify, vb trans [1 klási:fai, 2 klási:fai] Fr classifier, Lat classis, see class (I), & -fy To arrange in classes, groups, categories, according to a systematic principle, assigning to the same class those things which possess certain features or properties in common class list(s), n class (I) & list List of names published by authority of a university showing which class the candidates in an honours examination have severally obtained classman, n [1 klási:man, 2 klási:man] class (I) & man Candidate who, as a result of a university honours examination, has been put into a class, contrasted with passman classy, adj [1 klási:ə, 2 klási:ə] class (I) & -y (vulg slang) Belonging to, in, a good class, hence superior clastic, adj [1 klástik, 2 klástik], fr Gk klástos, 'broken in pieces', fr klain, 'to break' See second element in cataclasm & -ic (geol) Composed of fragments, fragmental clastic rocks, conglomerates, sand stones &c clatter (I), vb intrans & trans [1 klátər, 2 klátər] OE clattran Imitative word. 1 intrans To make a hard, dull noise, or rapid series of such noises, as of a quantity of crockery being put down noisily, or banged together, or of revolving part of machinery which strikes against something at intervals 2 trans To cause to clatter, cause hard objects to give out a dull noise by knocking them together, or against some other hard substance to clatter the glass and chime, clatter about, to walk about in a rapid, noisy manner, as with hob-nailed boots on a pavement, clatter along, to run in heavy boots, or gallop on a horse, along a hard road, making a loud, rattling noise clatter (II), n, fr prec The OE n is clattrung, 'chattering' A continuous series of hard, dull, harsh noises, as caused by hard objects knocking together, being flung about, by rattle of revolving machinery, or by a horse's hoofs repeatedly striking hard road, b confused, noisy chattering and laughing, esp of a crowd of people clatter of tongues, of noisy laughter clause, n [1 klawz, 2 klóz] Fr & M.E., fr Lat clausum, PP of claudere, 'to shut, enclose', q v under close (I) & conclude The Lat equiv in rhetoric to clausula was clausula, a dimin of clausum See also clavicle, cloister clause 1 (gram) A short sentence, part or division of a main sentence, forming a grammatical unity in itself, but not necessarily a complete, logical, or grammatical sentence 2 A single article, stipulation, or condition in a formal legal instrument, such as a treaty, statute, will &c claustral, adj [1 kláwstrəl, 2 kláwstrəl], fr Lat claustra, neut pl of claustrum (rare), 'look, bolt, bar, barrier', & -al, fr base claud-, 'shut', q v under close Connected with, pertaining to, resembling, a cloister claustral rule claustration, n [1 kláwstrəshən, 2 kláwstrəshən] Formed as though fr claustrál*, PP type of claustrare*, see prec & -ion. Act of shutting up in, confining to, a cloister, or monastery, act of confining rigorously as though in a cloister claustration, n [1 kláwstrəfóbíə, 2 kláwstrəfóbíə] Hybrid word formed fr Lat claustrum, see claustral, & Gk phobos, 'fear', see -phobia & -phobe Morbid fear or dislike of enclosed places clavate, adj [1 klávət, 2 kláivət], fr Lat clāva, 'club' See claviform & -ate (bot) Shaped like a club clavacin, n [1 klávəsin, 2 klávəsin] Fr See next word An early form of harpsichord clavichord, n [1 klávivərd, 2 klávivərd] Med Lat clavicordium, fr clāvus, 'key', & chorda, 'string' See clavicle & chord Early predecessor of the piano, a musical instrument consisting of metal strings stretched horizontally, which were struck from below by small hammers, or tangents, worked from a short keyboard clavicle, n [1 klávikl, 2 klávikl], fr Lat clāvicula, 'small key', also 'tendril of a vine', dimin of clāva, 'key' This word is closely related to clāvus, 'nail', & both are fr the base seen in Lat claudere, 'to shut', see clause & close (I) Clāvus meant orig 'a means of shutting, fastening' (a door &c), & was prob some form of pin or peg, not greatly differing in form fr a nail The secondary meaning 'tendril' was prob derived fr the habit of tendrils to 'enclose or encompass' stems &c The anatomical application of clavicle is not very obvious (anat) Collarbone, the small bone which connects the sternum or breast-bone with the point of the shoulder.

clavicular, adj [1 klavikular, 2 klavikulya]

Lat clavicula, see prec, & -ar Connected with the collar bone clayform, adj [1 klaviform, 2 klavifōm]

Lat clava, 'knotty stick, club', & -form. Clava may be compared w Lat clades, 'disaster, injury, defeat', cp Gk klados, 'branch'. The orig meaning of the base was 'strike, injure, cut' & Clava & klados meant perh first of all 'piece of wood hacked off the tree', clades having the sense of our 'blow' in fig meaning. See olado-. In the form of a club, i.e. having a knob at one end claw (I), n [1 klaw, 2 klō] OE clawu, 'hoof, claw, pincer', ME clawe, still applied in early 13th cent to the hoof of the ox, cognates are found in many Gmc languages, cp OHG klauwa, Mod Germ klauw, ON klō. The Aryan base glew* & glō, wh is supposed to mean 'to roll up, form a ball', & the related base glō*, glōs* & glō, 'stuck together' & glō, have according to the etymologists been extraordinarily prolific. Some of the words derived fr these are disused under glue, glutinous, globe, wh are Lat, others under clod, clot, clay, cleave (II), wh are English words of Gmc origin. The orig sense of OE clāwu was apparently 'something curled up', which is not in applicable to a bird's, or animal's, claws or talons, the allied idea of a 'ball' is perh the starting point in its use to describe an animal's hoof. The idea of 'adhering to, seizing', may perh have been present in the designation of talons. 1 The sharp, (often) prehensile nails, or talons, of animals of the cat and dog tribe, or of birds. 2 Things resembling animals' claws, e.g. a the human fingers and nails, esp when long and slender, b a tool so shaped, e.g. end of a hammer made for drawing nails. Phr to get one's claws into a person, (fig) to attack maliciously and fiercely, injure deliberately. 3 The pincer-like appendages of lobsters and crabs, b pair of steel hooks made to close for gripping and holding things claw (II), vb trans, fr prec a (of animals) To seize with the claws, to stink the claws into, scratch, scrape with claws, b (fig, of human beings) to seize eagerly, and greedily, with the hand, snatch at claw hold of, seize with claws, or hands claw-hammer, n. One with one end of head bent, made thin, and divided by V shaped opening for extracting nails claw hammer coat, evening dress coat, swallow tail coat.

clay (I), n [1 klā, 2 klō] OE clæg, ME clay, clay & clay. One of the numerous words fr Aryan base glō*, glōi*, glō*, Gmc glai-* & meaning 'to stick to, bind, adhere'. OE clæg is fr Gmc glaiw* (cp OE clām, fr glaiw*, 'mud'), Aryan glōi*, & is therefore cogn w Gk glōia, 'glue', & glōios, 'anything sticky or clammy', & w Lat glū ten, 'glue', & glū gen glūtis, 'glue', in wh glū is fr earlier glōi*, cp glue. See further cleave (II), globe, globe, & the cogn words mentioned under claw & clammy. 1 Sticky, tenacious earth, plastic and hardening when baked, as brick, pottery & so. 2 (fig) a Human flesh a man of common clay, b (poet) the human body when dead, equivalent to ashes, bones dead and turned to clay, the kindly earth will soon hide our clay. 3 A clay pipe smoking a short clay clay (II), vb trans, fr prec To cover, smear, bedanish with clay clayey, adj [1 klēi, 2 klēi] clay (I) & -(e)y a Consisting of, abounding in, (lay) a clayey soil, b having a clammy consistency lioclay claymore, n. [1 klāmōr, 2 klēmō] Gael, lit 'big sword', fr claidheamh, 'sword', & mor, 'great'. Cp W cladyff, 'great', q v under cataclasm, & W maen, 'great', cogn w OE maere, 'famous, illustrious', & maer, 'more'. See more. Ancient Scottish two edged broadsword, esp one used formerly by the Highland clans.

clay-pigeon, n. A disk of baked clay, eprung from a trap, to take the place of a live pigeon, in pigeon shooting clean (I), adj [1 klōn, 2 klīn] OE clæn(e), 'clear, open, clean, morally pure', fr W Gmc klains*, found also in OHG kleins, chleins, 'shining, neat, clean, careful, small', Mod Germ klein, 'small', OS klēn, 'neat, small'. The apparent gulf in meaning between the Engl & Germ words, at the present day, is largely bridged by the meanings given above for the OE & OHG forms. The starting point of meaning was prob 'bright', fr wh to 'clean' in modern sense is a natural development, Germ, on the other hand, has developed the meaning further, to 'careful, neat, small'. We today associate the last two words & their meanings together. The base gd*, gl*, 'bright', occurs in Lat gulus, 'yellow', a Ganhsh loan word, cogn w Ir glan, 'clean', further Gk glēnos, 'bright object, wonder'. The Gk gelōs, 'I laugh', gelatos, 'smiling, joyful', are fr same base, showing transference of the idea, 'brightness, radiance', to a spiritual state, whence the further change of meaning, 'brightness, cheerfulness of mind, mirth, laughter'. The above is accepted by most etymologists, but Kluge goes a step farther & connects the base gd* w that in Gk glōios & stōky, 'greasy' (see clay, clammy, glue & so), & suggests that clean & the other Gmc words meant first of all 'bright and shining from grease'. 1 A Free from dirt, dust, filth, or impurities of any kind to keep one self, one's house, clean, b specif, physically chaste, pure, continent to lead a clean life, c free from moral defilement or blemish, d (surg) free from infective matter, microbes & so, non septic urgically clean, e free from raggedness, having no rough edges, smooth, clear a sharp knife makes a clean cut. Phrs to make a clean sweep of, got rid of entirely, to have clean hands in the matter (fig), be innocent, free from blame, to make a clean breast of, to make complete confession of, acknowledge frankly, to show a clean pair of heels, to run away from, to escape. 2 Habitually clean, having clean habits, not given to being dirty or making things dirty to be clean in one's person, a very clean dog in the house. 3 Newly cleaned, just washed, un used, fresh, unsoiled to put clean sheets on the bed, clean linen, put on a clean collar & (of paper, slate & so) Free from writing or printing, unwritten on, fresh, now a clean page, a clean sheet of paper. Phr a clean record, with no bad marks or charges. 5 Symmetrical, shapely, well proportioned, trim clean limbs, a clean figure, ankle & so (of physical actions) Dexterous, skilful, well finished, neat a clean stroke, blow, clean ball (at cricket) & so clean (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To render clean, remove dirt, filth, dust. A stronger word, usually, when applied to persons, than wash, to clean one's nails, to clean one's hands, implying removal of considerable dirt, on the other hand, to clean one's teeth is equivalent only to brush, wash, one's teeth. Applied to other things than the human person, clean is more or less colourless, but conveys various shades of meaning, thus to clean a house, a room, sweep and dust it, to clean a window, remove dirt by washing, and polish, clean a picture, remove dust and dirt which have stuck to it, clean the silver-plate, brighten it, clean a floor, scrub it, clean boots, remove mud, and polish, clean a stable, remove filth, and sweep, and so on. 2 (in various senses, when followed by prepositions or adverbs) Clean down, to sweep down (walls & so), brush down (a horse). Clean out, a remove dirt and dust from inside a room, receptacle & so, b (colloq) to exhaust financial resources of his betting losses have cleaned him out, c to purge Clean up a room, remove dirt and rubbish & so, esp from floor, make tidy, b (fig) to reduce (affairs, arrears of work & so) to order, put in order, finish up a job left uncompleted clean (III), adv, fr clean (I) OE clāne, 'entirely', 1 Entirely, completely I clean forgot to ask, to throw a stone clean over the house. 2 (direct fr clean (I) adj) a In a manner free from dirt to scrub the floor clean, b exactly, neatly to be hit clean in the eye (This usage is almost that of the old adv 1) clean-cut, adj [1 klēkut, klēkut, 2 klīnat, klīnat] a Clearly, sharply, defined, well-moulded, clear out clean cut features, b (fig) clear, free from obscurity, not dubious, definite a clean cut scheme.

cleaner, n [1 klēner, 2 klēns] clean (II) & -er a Person who cleans, specif, one who cleans clothes by some chemical process, b mechanical device for cleaning clean-handed, adj clean (I) & handed (only fig) Free from reproach or blame, innocent, upright clean-limbed, adj clean (I) & limbed.

Having shapely, well proportioned limbs cleanliness, n [1 klēnliness, 2 klēnliness] cleanly (I) & -ness a Habit of being clean, b condition of being clean cleanly (I), adj [1 klēnlī, 2 klēnlī] OE clēnlīce, 'pure'. See clean (I) The shortening of the vowel is a late OE process, and took place before the combination of consonants nl. Of clean habits, clean, pure cleanly (II), adv [1 klēnlī, 2 klēnlī] This is a new formation fr clean, w addition of the ordinary adv snll. Had the word been derived fr the OE clēnlīce, adv, the vowel wd have been shortened as in prec word, q v. In a clean manner, purely, chastely to work cleanly, to live cleanly cleanness, n [1 klēn nes, 2 klēn nes] OE clānnes, 'purity'. The direct survival of the OE word wd have had a short vowel in first syll, through the influence of the -nn.

Our present pronunciation is due to the anal of the adj cleann a State of being clean, in any sense, b quality of being clean cleanse, vb trans [1 klēnz, 2 klēnz] OE clānsian, ME clansen. See clean (I) & cleanly (I) The vowel was shortened in late OE before -ns. To clean, purify thoroughly, remove dirt and impurity from, in various specif senses, lit and fig. a To remove source of infection surgeons cleanse their hands before on operation, b to clean ceremonially the priest cleanses the vessels after Mass, c to purge medicinally to cleanse the system, d to free from moral pollution to cleanse the soul from sin cleansing, n & adj [1 klēnzng, 2 klēnzng] prec & -ing a n Act or process of cleansing or of being cleansed, b adj, fr prec Part of cleansing, tending to cleanse, having the property of rendering clean soap and hot water are very cleansing, cleansing fires (esp in moral sense) clean-up, n [1 klēn up, 2 klēn ap] a Act or process of cleaning up, b specif, the collection of stores, ammunition & so, left behind by troops on the move clear (I), adj [1 klēr, 2 klō] ME clēr(e), fr O Fr clair, 'clear & so', 'pure, bright', fr Lat clārus, 'bright, shining, loud, plain, intelligible'. The etymol. of this Lat word is discussed under clarify. See also clarm, clarmour & so. General meaning bright, plain, distinct, applied literally to sensations of sight and hearing, and also figuratively to things of the mind. 1 (of sound) a Ringing, resonant, audible, pure, reverse of hushy hoars clear note of the trumpet, a clear tone, clear voices of children, b (of mode of speech, articulation, pronunciation) distinct, well articulated, capable of being easily distinguished by the ear, reverse of thick, indistinct he had a loud, strong voice, but his utterance was far from clear, in spite of a poor, weak voice, his delivery was clear and distinct. 2 (of visual impressions) a (light, or luminous objects) Bright, free from cloudiness or mist a clear sky, clear light from heaven, a clear fire

b (of things seen) distinct, easily seen, making sharp, vivid impression on the eye, contrasted with dim, indistinct, blurred a clear outline, a clear reflection in the water, a clear photograph, Phr as clear as day, bright and distinct; c (of the eye, sight) penetrating, capable of seeing distinctly my power of seeing is still clear 3 (of consistency of transparent substances, esp liquids, as judged by the eye) Bright, translucent, free from cloudiness, as of solid particles held in suspension old port will not be clear unless it is carefully decanted, the clear waters of the lake 4 a free from obstruction, hindrance, danger, unimpeded our Navy kept the seas clear of enemy vessels, a clear passage, roads clear of traffic, Phr the coast is clear (fig), no difficulty, hindrance to keep clear of, avoid, b free(d) from, quit of clear of debt clear of worry &c, o entire, with nothing subtracted, intact a clear month, two clear days, a hundred pounds clear profit 5 (fig, of character, conduct &c) Free from imputation of evil or guilt, devoid of sinister motives &c clear from suspicion, clear of all bad intentions 6 (fig, of states of mind, ideas, understanding, expression of ideas &c) a free from obscurity or dubiety, easy to be apprehended, grasped, by the intellect, plain to the intelligence a clear statement, clear style, to make things clear, it is quite clear what he is driving at; b (of things) certain, unmistakable, (of persons) positive, confident, sure it is clear you have been swindled, I am quite clear what I ought to do Phrs to see one's way clear (fig), have no difficulty to be clear in one's (own) mind, to have a clear head clear (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 To render clear, free from cloudiness, oppressiveness &c thunder has cleared the air Phr to clear the air (fig, of moral atmosphere), get rid of misunderstanding, ill-feeling, so as to make situation easier and pleasanter 2 a To render free from, remove obstructions, hindrances, encumbrances from to clear the road of traffic, clear the pavement of snow, clear the decks for action, also fig, Phr to clear the way (fig), prepare for future action by removing difficulties, b get rid of, banish from to clear the city of undesirables, c specif, to get rid of obstacles in throat, or hoarseness of voice, by coughing to clear one's throat, d (of mental process) to do away with, banish from to clear one's mind of doubts, suspicions &c, c (tradesman's expression) to get rid of superfluous or antiquated stock by selling at reduced price must be cleared, great reductions in order to clear 3 To free from suspicion, or imputation of guilt, from guilt to clear one's character, clear oneself from a charge, clear one's conscience 4 To prevent from becoming entangled, disentangle, esp of a fishing line, lash of a whip &c 5 To pass an obstacle without collision my car only just cleared the lorry in the lane 6 To leap over without touching to clear a hedge, a five bar gate &c 7 To make an absolute profit of so much to clear £50 Phr to clear expenses, make enough over a transaction to pay expenses B intrans 1 To become clear, cloudless the sky, weather, is clearing 2 (of liquids &c) To become free from suspended particles of matter, become bright, limpid the wine will clear if the sediment is allowed to settle 3 (of shipping) To fulfil all conditions required by port authorities, by paying dues &c, before leaving 4 (colloq slang) To go away, leave, for clear out C Followed by adverbs or propositions Clear away, 1 trans, a to remove (obstructions &c), b specif, to remove plates &c from table after a meal please clear away the tea-things, you can clear away now, c (of non-material things) to remove, get rid of clear away doubts, difficulties &c, 2 intrans, to dissipate, pass off, vanish the thunder has, clouds have, cleared away Clear off, 1 trans, a to complete, bring to finish, wipe out to clear off arrears of work, b drive out, expel to clear bad workmen off one's place, 2 intrans, a (of rain, clouds &c) see clear away 2, b (slang) to take one's leave, depart just clear off at once Clear out, 1 trans, a to remove dirt, obstruction from inside of anything clear out a drain, pigsty &c, b (colloq slang) to exhaust one's supply of money, leave one penniless that loss has cleared me out completely, 2 intrans (colloq slang) to go away, take one's leave abruptly I must clear out at once, the house is unhealthy Clear up, 1 trans, a to put a muddle straight, reduce confusion to order, make (a room &c) tidy clear up this litter before you go away, b (fig) to solve, explain (a mystery &c), 2 intrans (of weather) to become fine(r), brighter &c clear (III), adv, fr clear (I) Without let or hindrance, without impediment, completely, clean to get clear away, off clearance, n [1 klɪrɪŋ, 2 klɪrɪdʒ] clear (I) & -age Act of clearing, a clearance clearance, n [1 klɪrəns, 2 klɪrənsɪz] clear (I) & -ance Act or process of clearing (in various senses), a removal, riddance, of obstruction and encumbrances to make a clearance of one's old clothes, b cutting down of wood over considerable area, esp of a large tract in a forest so cleared, so as to open up and put into cultivation, c expulsion of inhabitants from all the houses in a village, by the landlord, e g as formerly in the Highlands of Scotland, in order to afforest area, d act of paying dues and fulfilling all obligations by a ship at a port, prior to departure, e space left clear between two objects passing each other or between a moving object and that through which it passes the canal leaves a clearance of ten feet for the largest vessels afloat, clearance sale, system adopted by shopkeepers at certain seasons of the year of selling out their old stock at reduced prices, in order to make room for new stock clear-headed, adj (fig) Having a clear mind, free from confusion of thought clearing, n [1 klɪrɪŋ, 2 klɪrɪŋ] clear (II) & -ing 1 Tract of land cleared of wood or forest See clearance, b 2 Commercial method of exchanging cheques, settling accounts &c between different banks and business firms clearing-house, n Central office and system by which cheques of different banks are exchanged and accounts made up clearly, adv [1 klɪəli, 2 klɪəli], fr clear (I) & -ly In a clear manner (in various senses) a brightly, radiantly the sun shone clearly, b distinctly, plainly perceptible to the sight to see clearly, c with a ringing sound, not husky or muffled to sing clearly, d with distinct articulation, so that the words can be heard to speak clearly, e in a condition free from cloudiness, in state of translucence, brightly the river ran clearly, f (of intellectual things) in a manner plain to the intellect, easily to be understood, free from obscurity to state one's case clearly clearness, n [1 klɪərəns, 2 klɪərəns], fr clear (I) & -ness The quality of being clear, in all senses clear-starch, vb trans & intrans a trans To stiffen (linen &c) with colourless starch, b intrans, to practise this art clear-starching, n Act and process, trade, of stiffening material with colourless starch clearstory See clerestory cleat (I), n [1 klɪt, 2 klɪt] Not found in O E, but wd be *clēat, fr Gmc *klout-, M E clē, 'wedge' Cogn w Du klook, 'ball', Germ klötz, 'lump' See further under clod & clot Device for preventing a rope from slipping, consisting of a horizontal piece of wood or iron either with projecting ends round which rope is hitched, or with two holes through which rope is threaded, passing upwards through one and downward through the other cleat (II), vb trans, fr prec To fasten by means of a cleat cleavable, adj [1 klɪvəbl, 2 klɪvəbl] cleave (I) & -able Capable of being cleaved apart, divided cleavage, n [1 klɪvj, 2 klɪvɪdʒ] cleave (I) & -age 1 a (of material things) Act of splitting or cleaving, b condition of being divided or split, c place in anything where there is a cleft or fissure 2 (of non material things) Disruption, division, separation, lack of agreement between persons, or in their opinions &c a cleavage in a community, in regard to policy, views &c cleave (I), vb trans & intrans [1 klɪv, 2 klɪv] O E clēfan, 'split, cleave', M E clēven, orig a strong vb, now both strong & weak Pret clōve & cleft, PP cleven & cleft Germ cognates, O H G chliaban, Mod Germ kleben, ON kljafa, fr Gmc base *kleub-, *klaub-, cogn w Lat glūdere, 'peel, strip bark off', fr *gleubh-, & glūma, 'husk, shell', fr *gleubh ma, further, Gk gluphē, 'I hollow out, engrave, carve', see glyph, gluphē, 'notch in an arrow for the string' The further, remoter connexion w a base *gel-, 'to roll up in a ball', wh Walde suggests, may appear fanciful, but is not absolutely impossible The line of development of meaning, at this rate, wd. be 'to unroll a ball, peel the skin off a round thing, og the rind off a fruit', whence 'to break up, divide, split' generally For this other baseses claw, clot, globe 1 trans To divide by force, either by a powerful blow, or by a slashing stroke from a sharp cutting edge, to split, to cut in two, make a fissure, chasm, in the ground to cleave a block of wood in two, to cleave an apple in two with a knife, to cleave a man's head open with a sword, the earthquake has cleft great chasms in the rocks 2 intrans To come apart, split in two, fall open green wood cleaves more easily than dry cleave (II), vb intrans O E clifan, cleofan, 'stick, adhere', M E clēven, O H G chliaban, Mod Germ kleben, 'stick' This is fr Gmc *klib-, *klat-, *klib-, Aryan *kle-, *glos- &c, & belongs to the group of words discussed under clammy, clay, globe, glue, agglutinate &c Orig weak, cleave is now usu strong in Pret by confusion w cleave (I) a To stick, adhere, become attached to, as of clay to boots &c, Phr his tongue cleve (cleave) to the roof of his mouth, he was in a state of agitation and fear, b (fig) to unite oneself to, have attachment for, adhere to a man shall leave his father and mother and cleave to his wife (Aryan in both senses) cleaver (I), n [1 klɪvə, 2 klɪvə] cleave (I) & -er He who, that which, splits, cleaves, specif, a heavy, short-handled obopper for cutting up carcasses cleaver(s) (II), n, fr cleave (II) & -er That which sticks, specif, pl goose grass, with sticky, hairy leaves that stick to clothes and animals' coats cleek, n [1 klɛk, 2 klɛk] Nthn form of clutch Largo hook or crook for seizing hold of things, specif, an iron headed club, used in golf, with narrow, straight face clef, n [1 klɛf, 2 klɛf] Fr, fr Lat cline, 'loy' See cleviscle A sign of pitch used in musical notation, three clefs are used, indicating respectively bass, medium, and treble, b the ranges of pitch indicated by the symbols cleft (I), n [1 klɛft, 2 klɛft] Not found in O E, but in M E, as cleft, prob a SE dialectal type of an O E *clift, fr *klift-, op Mod Germ kluff-, 'fissure, chasm', fr base *klib-, as in O E clufon, Pret pl of clēfan, q v under cleave (I) Opening, division, result of cleaving, now chiefly a fissure, chasm, opening in the ground or a rock cleft (II), vb Pret & PP of cleave (I) M E clēft(e), a new wk formation Cp O E Pret clēaf, M E clēf See also clove, cloven cleft-palate, n PP of cleave (I) & palate Congenital defect of the roof or palate of the month, the two halves not being properly joined together cleg, n. [1 kleg, 2 kleg], fr ON clegan (provenc) A horse fly cleistogamic, adj [1 klistogamik, 2 klistougamik], fr Gk kleistós, 'shut', & gamikós, 'connected with a wedding' For former see close (I), & for the latter -gamy (bot) Having flowers that do not open, and are self fertilizing clen, vb trans [1 klem, 2 klem] Cp Du & Germ clenen, 'to pinch', & op clamp (N and Scots dial) To starve, pinch, as with hunger, cold &c clenatus, n [1 klematus, 2 klematus] Lat, fr Gk klenaiōs, 'brushwood, faggot wood', fr klenaiōs, genit klenaiōs, 'twig shoot, for grafting, ship', esp 'vine twig' These belong to the base seen in Gk klenō, 'I break, break off', op Lat clava, 'a club', & discussion of etymol under claviform. See also halt, 'woodland' One of large group of trailing, climbing, ornamental plants with bright coloured flowers, varying in size, colour, and form according to species clemency, n [1 klemensi, 2 klemensi] Cp Fr clemence, 'mildness, mercy', fr Lat clementia, 'calmness, mildness of weather', also of disposition. See clement a (of weather) Calmness, mildness, warmth, b (fig, of human character and habits) gentleness, forbearance, leniency (towards offenders) clement, adj [1 klement, 2 klement] Fr, fr Lat clement (-em), in same senses as Engl Concoted w base klin-* &c, 'slope, incline towards', as in Lat clinare, Gk klinō, 'slope' &c, q v under clinal, see also Gmc form of same base, klinan* &c, under lean (II), lid, ladder Mild, calm, soft (of weather), gentle, indulgent, forbearing (of human beings) clench, vb trans & intrans [1 klensh, 2 klensh] See also clinch Not in OE, but as clenchen in ME This has all the appearance of an Engl word & wd presuppose a Gmc type klanjan*, wh was prob the same base as clank & clink. These are words imitative of sound caused by striking metal &c, so that clench & clench, meaning 'to fix, fasten', must orig have meant 'to secure, make fast, by striking', e.g. by driving home a nail. All these words are prob further connected w cling 1 General sense, to make fast firm to secure tighten &c Specif a to make a bolt, rivet, or nail secure from slipping or pulling out by bending over or flattening the ends when in position, b to close fingers tightly inwards and fold the thumb firmly over them outside to clench one's fist, c to set the jaw tight, with upper and lower teeth brought firmly together, and hold in this position by bracing muscles of the jaw to clench one's teeth, jaws, (also fig) to adopt firm determination, d intrans his hands, teeth, clenched 2 (fig, more often clinch, in this sense) To settle definitely, conclude beyond possibility of undoing to clench a bargain, argument &c clepsydra, n [1 klepsidra, 2 klepsidra] Gk klepsidra 'water clock', fr klepsidra, 'I steal' (see first element in liptomanian) & hudōr, 'water' (see hydro-) Device for measuring passage of time by means of a graduated flow of water, through an aperture in a bowl &c clerestory, clearstory, n [1 klerestori, 2 klerestori] clerest & storey Upper row of windows above the roofs of the aisles in large churches and cathedrals esp of Gothic style, contrasted with the blind story or triforium clergy n [1 klergi, 2 klergi] ME, fr O Fr clergie &c, clerkship learning, & 'clergy' in mod sense fr L Lat clerus &c See clerk, cleric 1 Body of ordained ministers of religion in the Church of England, Church of Scotland the Roman and the Greek Churches including bishops, priests and deacons extended also to ministers of other Christian denominations. Bereft of clergy right formerly claimed by, and granted to, one in holy orders accused of felony, to be tried before an ecclesiastical court, afterwards extended to all who could read Phr to plead one's clergy, to plead that one is entitled to benefit of clergy 2 Learning (obs) clergyable, adj [1 klerjahl, 2 klerjahl] Prec & -able Admitting to, entitled to, benefit of clergy clergyman, n [1 klerjuman, 2 klerjuman] One in holy orders, specif, an ordained minister of the Church of England, for whom, until recently, it was the universal term, now, in some circles, giving place to priest. Not normally used of bishops Clergyman's sore throat, inflammation of the larynx and vocal chords, which attacks those who have to use their voices frequently in public, generally caused by imperfect voice production cleric, n [1 klerik, 2 klerik] L Lat clericus, fr Gk klerikos, 'belonging to the clergy', an adj derived fr kleros, 'lot, portion, inheritance', applied to Christian clergy fr the notion that the Lord was their portion The word was borrowed fr Lat already in OE in the forms cleric, cliroc &c, but was prob reborrowed later, see clerk Gk kleros is related to klaō, 'out, break off', cp clematus & claviform Any person in holy orders, of rather wider application than clergyman, since it is applicable to one of any rank in the hierarchy clerical, adj & n [1 klerikl, 2 klerikl] L Lat clericus, fr prec & -al 1 Connected with the clergy clerical garments 2 Attached to the clergy favourable to the influence of the clergy in political affairs 3 Pertaining to writing and copying clerical work in an office, a clerical error 4 n Member of clerical party, one favourable to the domination of the clergy clericalism, n [1 klerikalizm, 2 klerikalizm] Prec & -ism. A State of mind, system, favourable to domination of the clergy, b undue, exaggerated, influence exerted by the clergy clericalist n [1 klerikalist, 2 klerikalist] clericalist -ist One who supports clericalism clerk (I), n [1 klerk, 2 klerk] Same as cleric but prob descendant of the word as borrowed in OE clere, clere, ME clerk(e) 1 A clergyman (archaic), legal Phr clerk in holy orders, official description of a clergyman of the Church of England 2 A learned man, scholar (archaic or historical) 3 A term applied to various types of official in Government service clerk of the House of Lords, House of Commons, b (law) clerk of Arraigns, Assize, barrister with permanent duties in a criminal court Phr clerk of the weather, fictitious official supposed to control the weather & Minor (lay) official connected with a parish church, one of whose duties was formerly to lead the responses parish clerk 5 Person employed in a commercial or business office, generally in a humble capacity, his duties being to copy documents, add up accounts &c bank clerk, correspondence clerk clerk (II), vb intrans, fr prec To act as a clerk clerkdom, n [1 klerkdum, 2 klerkdum] clerk (I) & -dom. A Rank, status of a clerk, b social grade composed of clerks clerkly, adj [1 klerkli, 2 klerkli] clerk (I) & -ly. A Pertaining to a clergyman, clerical (archaic), b pertaining to a scholar, esp a clerkly hand, good penmanship clerkship n [1 klerkship, 2 klerkship] clerk (I) & -ship. A Position, status, of a clerk, b occupation of a clerk clever, adj [1 klevər, 2 klevə] The etymol of this typical Engl word is very obscure The form clever, 'quick at seizing', is found in early ME, & this is prob connected w cleavo (II) If this is so, the transfer of meaning fr bodily to mental grasp or understanding is not violent. On the other hand, connexion of clever (though not of ME cleric) w cleave (I) is equally possible,

& the development of meaning, 'divide, distinguish, discriminate' &c, is an obvious one Cp discriminate, & OE (gje)scild, 'separation, discrimination, understanding', fr scidan, 'to divide, distinguish between' 1 (of mental qualities) an intelligent, capable of understanding, quick, able to learn (contrasted with stupid), b generally competent, ingenious, o (of human action or its products) evincing ability, intelligence, ingenuity, skill on part of performer a clever move, speech, book, piece of work &c, d (in unfavourable sense) showy but shallow, pert, superficial 2 (of bodily qualities) a Possessing, exhibiting, dexterity and skill, dexterous, neat, adroit, highly skilful a clever conjurer, player on the bango, a clever catch at cricket, clever stroke at golf, b specif. (of a horse), a good jumper, safe and certain across country cleverish, adj [1 klevərish, 2 klevərish] Prec & -ish. A Rather, moderately, clever, b decidedly, remarkably, clever cleverly, adv [1 klevərlī, 2 klevərlī] clever & -ly In a clever manner cleverness, n [1 klevərnəs, 2 klevərnəs] clever & -ness State, quality, of being clever clevis, n [1 klevs, 2 klevs] Connected w cleave (II) U shaped piece of iron with a pin passing through the open ends, used for making fast tackle to pole of a wagon, plough &c clew, n & vb trans [1 kloo, 2 kloo] OE cluan, 'hall of thread, anything in the shape of a ball' Same word as clue, though differentiated in spelling & meaning In ME clue, cloue, of thread Cp OHG clhuwa &c in same sense. Derived fr base glew-* &c, 'draw together, roll up into something like a ball' See the words referred to under etymol of claw, also globe, & agglomerate, see also clue 1 n A Ball of yarn or thread &c, b after, lower corner of a sail, loop at corner of a sail, c combination of cords with which hammock is suspended 2 vb a Clew up, to roll up into a ball, b to clew up a sail, to haul it up to the yard ready for furling Phr (naut) Clew up, intrans, finish off a job of work.

clew garnet, n Rope by which a sail is hauled up to the yards for furling cliché, n Anglicized pronunciation [1 klischā; 2 kljɛr] Fr, 'stereotype reproduction of picture or writing, stereotyped expression', PP of cliquer, 'to stereotype' Verbal formula, stereotyped expression, set, hackneyed phrase, catch word click (I), vb intrans & trans [1 klik, 2 klik]. Imitative word, occurs as klik in E Fris Cp clack. 1 intrans To make a slight cracking, snapping, dull noise, a with tongue against roof of mouth, b as of a lock or catch, gun cock &c, working on a spring, snapping into position 2 trans a To use (one's tongue) against roof of mouth so as to produce clicking sound to click one's tongue, b to cause (a mechanical, spring driven device) to make such a sound in shooting into position to click a bolt &c, hence, c to shut or open (door, window catch &c) so that the sound is made to click the door (to) Phr to click one's heels (together), bring them together with a snap, esp when about to bow to someone click (II), n, fr prec Thin, rapid, snapping sound See prec Specif, sound which forms essential part of some South African languages, made by sucking the air between tongue and roof of mouth Koffir click &c click beetle, n Any of several coleopterous insects of tropical America, family Eladeridae, emitting light, popularly known as firefly client, n [1 klient, 2 klient] Fr, fr Lat. clieri (em), 'adherent, retainer, follower' Prob fr base klin-* &c, 'slope towards, lean on' &c, in sense of 'one who leans on another, dependent' See this base & the other form klin-* &c under acclivity, cell, prison (in allusion to sound of look or bolt), is clink, in jail clinker, n & vb intrans [1 klɪŋkər, 2 klɪŋkə], fr clink (I) & -er, fr sound given forth when struck together 1 n A very hard burnt brick, b hard, vitrified matter produced in furnaces by fusion under great heat, refuse of coal or coke 2 (colloq slang) Something very fine, best of its kind, a paragon (from notion of good money 'ringing true') a regular clinker 3 vb To become fused into clinkers clinker-built, adj First element a variant of clinker (of boats and ships) Having outer boards or plates overlapping, and fastened by clinched nails, contrasted with carvel built, see caravel clinking, adj [1 klɪŋkɪŋ, 2 klɪŋkɪŋ], fr Pres Part of clink (I) a Giving forth tinkling, ringing sound, b (fig, colloq) first-rate, splendid, tip top clino-, pref, used in modern compounds, meaning 'slope, slant, angle' More likely fr Lat than Gk, though it might come fr either, as compounds in latter language w clino- refer to a bed, e.g. clino kharis, 'bed loving' This meaning is characteristically Gk & does not occur in connexion w this base in Lat See further under clinical clinometer, n [1 klɪnəmɪtər, 2 klɪnəmɪtə], fr prec & -meter Instrument for measuring angles of slopes clinometric, adj [1 klɪnəmɪtrɪk, 2 klɪnəmɪtrɪk] Next word & -to Pertaining to clinometry clinometry, n [1 klɪnəmɪtri, 2 klɪnəmɪtri] clinometer & -y Art of using clinometer clip (I), vb trans & intrans [1 klɪp, 2 klɪp] O E clippan, 'to embrace, love', ME clippen, 'embrace, fondle', ON klippa, 'pinch, squeeze' The nearest cogn in form & meaning are Lith glėbti, 'I embrace, take in my arms', glėbti, 'I embrace, wrap round', orig 'press, hold tight' It is remarkable that languages so widely separated & differentiated as O E & Lith should have specialized this word for the same precise use The remote cognates are innumerable words in various languages derived fr Aryan base *gel &c, 'to adhere, stick, roll up in a ball' &c See globe, fr Lat glōba, 'lump of earth, land', globe, glue, & further clammity, clay, cleave (II) & words there referred to 1 To embrace with the arms, hug (archaic) 2 To grasp tight, hold fast, keep together by squeezing (chiefly of mechanical devices), often clip hold clip (II), n O E clipp, 'an embrace' See prec Term for various mechanical devices for holding separate things together, either by means of a screw, a spring, or by squeezing between two parts of same piece of metal which have been tightly punched together clip (III), vb trans Perhaps related to clip (I), possibly connected w clip (I), expressing idea of nipping off, by pinching To cut off, snip off the ends of (hair, twigs &c), with scissors or shears, specif a to trim, out, a hedge or shrub into shape, b to cut the straggling ends of grass at edge of a lawn, c to shear the fleece off a sheep, d to cut a horse's coat close with special instrument (see clippers), e to cut off the edge of coins Phrs to clip (a person's) wings, hinder, restrict his activities, render powerless, to clip one's words, to utter with imperfect articulation, shortening, slurring over final sounds of words clip (IV), n, fr prec n Act of clipping, b that which is clipped off, specif, all the wool from a sheep, or number of sheep, removed at one shearing clipper, n [1 klɪpər, 2 klɪpə] clip (III) & -or 1 A one who clips, b to pl, clippers, instrument for clipping, esp instrument worked by one or both hands for clipping horses' coats &c, with sharp, cutting, teeth upon opposed blades 2 (naut) Sailing vessel with sharp bow, designed for fast sailing 3 (slang) Some person who, or thing which, is very excellent and highly admired and approved of clipping, adj & n [1 klɪpɪŋ, 2 klɪpɪŋ] clip (III) & -ing 1 adj (slang) Excellent, first rate 2 n That which is clipped off, specif a ends of grass, or twigs &c, b isolated paragraphs cut out of a newspaper, c newspaper column containing odds and ends of miscellaneous information or news clique, n [1 klɪk, 2 klɪk] Fr, prob connected w cliquer, 'make a noise, click', & claque, 'band of persons paid to applaud', a clique in origin apparently meant a noisy gang, or a group of persons who applauded each other Group or circle of persons closely united by common tastes and interests, or traditions, who form a close society, set, or caste, all the members of which support and help each other, and exclude others from their company, a coterie clique(e)y, adj [1 klɪkɪ, 2 klɪkɪ] Prec & -y Consisting of cliques, tending to form cliques, inclined to belong to a clique, exclusive, cliquish cliquish, adj [1 klɪkɪʃ, 2 klɪkɪʃ] See prec & -ish Tending, inclined to form cliques cliquishly, adv Prec & -ly In a cliquish manner cliquishness, n See prec & -ness State, condition, of being cliquish clitogamie See clitogamie clitoris, n [1 klɪtɔrɪs, 2 klɪtɔrɪs] Gk κλειτορίς, fr base *klew &c, seen in clitogamie & clitoris (I) (anat) Rudimentary organ, in females, resembling the male sexual organ cloaca, n [1 klɔːkə, 2 klɔːkə] Lat, 'an artificial sewer in ancient Rome which carried the sewage into the Tiber, sewer, drain', fr earliest Lat clōvia, derived fr base meaning 'to wash out, purge, purify', hence 'something which carries off impurities' Cp O Lat clūd, 'purge', Gk κλύω, 'wash over, wash away, wash out', nearly connected w wh u Gk κλύμα, 'liquid used for washing out', as in κλύμα κλύμας, 'deluge' (see clatclat) & κλύμα, 'syringe' (see clyster) In Gmc fr this base, we have Goth klūttra, 'pure', OHG klūttr, O E klūttr, 'pure, clear', of sounds, & liquids, Latin clūda, 'broom', & clūt clūt, 'I clean, sweep out' 1 a A sewer, b a privy, c (fig) a centre of moral impurity and obscenity 2 (anat) Cavity or chamber, in birds, reptiles, fishes &c, into which the intestines, urinary organs &c discharge their contents cloacal, adj [1 klɔːkəl, 2 klɔːkəl] fr prec & -al Pertaining to a drain, to a privy, or intestinal chamber in birds &c cloak (I), n [1 klɔːk, 2 klɔːk] ME, fr O Fr clōle, also cloue, & cloue, in O Fr, fr L Lat clōca, 'bell', the same word as clock Cloak orig meant 'a bell shaped mantle' 1 A garment in the form of a robe or mantle, without sleeves, covering the back and chest and usually descending to, or below, the knees 2 That which covers, or conceals something, esp in a moral sense, disguise, mask to use religion as a cloak for wickedness cloak (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To cover with a cloak, or as with a cloak 2 To conceal, hide, in moral sense he cloaks his ignorance under a confident, assured manner cloak-room, n cloak & room n Room where coats and other outdoor garments are left in a private house, club, theatre, hotel &c, b office in a railway station where passengers' luggage and parcels of all kinds are deposited and taken care of until they are claimed Cloak room hotel, one issued to persons depositing property in a cloak room to facilitate identification cloche, n [1 klɔːʃ, 2 klɔːʃ] Fr, 'a bell' See cloak & clock Bell shaped protective for plants in a garden, made of glass, cloche pot, woman's bell shaped, close fitting hat clock (I) n [1 klɔːk, 2 klɔːk] A variant of cloak (I) Ong 'a bell' The form clugg,

'bell', fr L Lat clōca, 'bell', the source of O Fr cloue, cloue &c, is found already in O E The word is prob of Celt origin, op Ir clóg, W clōch, 'bell' Device, of various designs and sizes, for measuring time, but, however small, distinct from a watch, in not being intended for carrying on the person The motive power of a clock may be derived from water, or electricity, from weights which as they descend cause the cogged wheels to revolve, or, as in a watch, from an expanding spring Clocks also have either a pendulum or a balance, archaic Phr what of the clock?, what time is it, now o'clock what o'clock is it? it is 10 o'clock &c clock (II), vb intrans & trans, fr prec (of workmen &c) With in, out, a intrans, to register one's time of beginning or ceasing work, by various mechanical devices, combined with a clock, at entrance of factory &c, b trans to register (workman's) arrival or departure by such means clock (III), n Origin doubtful Embroidered ornament on sock or stocking, running from foot some way up the ankle clock-face, n Disk or dial on front of a clock, upon which are the hands and the figures denoting the hours clocking, adj [1 klɔːkɪŋ, 2 klɔːkɪŋ] Variant of cluck & -ing Clocking hen, one sitting, or wanting to sit, on eggs, broody, from noise made by hens in this condition when disturbed clockwise, adj & adv clock (I) & -wise Moving as in the direction of the hands of a clock, counter-clockwise, in the opposite direction clock-work, n Mechanism of, or like that of, a clock, is worked by expanding spring Phr (to go) like clock work, with the utmost regularity and order Also attrib clock work toys, mechanical toys clod, n [1 klɔːd, 2 klɔːd] ME clōde, variant of clot 1 A lump of earth, firmly cohering mass of earth or clay, as from newly broken ground, b (fig) mac's mortal body when dead, as distant from his soul, lifeless clay mighty kings, great captains, immortal poets, all become mere clods at the last 2 (fig) A slow-witted, inert, dull, stupid person cloddish, adj [1 klɔːdɪʃ, 2 klɔːdɪʃ] Prec & -ish (fig) Like a clod, dull, stupid, clumsy cloddy, adj [1 klɔːdi, 2 klɔːdi] clod & -y Full of clods, lumpy, as of newly broke or ill dug ground clod-hopper, n [1 klɔːd hɒpər, 2 klɔːd hɒpə] A country bumpkin, from idea that his walk resembles that of one jumping over clods, hence, a clumsy, awkward, loutish, ill bred man or boy clod-poll, n clod & poll (I) Thick headed, stupid, doltish male person clog (I), n [1 klɔːg, 2 klɔːg] ME klōgge, 'block of wood', prob Scand, op Norw klugu, 'hard, knotty log of wood' Perhaps ultimately related to clod, clot &c, clew, 'ball', & clip (I) 1 A block of wood fastened to animal's leg to impede movement, and prevent straying (rare in good English), b an impediment caused by accumulation of dirt &c in machinery, c (fig) a hindrance, encumbrance 2 Wooden soled outer shoe, formerly worn in wet weather by many, now chiefly confined to industrial classes in North of England clog (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec. A trans 1 A to act as an impediment to, to hamper, hinder, restrain (any form of activity) to clog one's movements, b specif, to hinder, impede free movement of by forming coagulated mass, and adhering to, cause to jam, render heavy the machinery gets clogged by thick oil and dirt, saunders clogs the teeth of the saw, boots clogged with mud, c to choke up, obstruct passage the pipe is clogged with frozen snow 2 (fig, of mental processes) To render slow, paralyse his brain is clogged with useless facts B intrans.

a To become clogged, hampered, obstructed this pipe is so small that it clogs very easily, a saw clogs very soon with damp wood, b To act as a clog, get into a condition likely to cause clogging oil soon clogs in cold weather clog almanac, n An old form of almanac, in which the figures, of dates &c, are notched on a piece of wood clog-dancing, n Step dancing in clogs, beating time to music clogging, n [1 klógung, 2 klógun]. See clog (II) & -ing Aot or process of becoming a clog machinery must be cleaned and oiled to prevent clogging cloggy, adj [1 klógi, 2 klógi] clog (I) &

 -y Liable to clog, full of lumps &c, likely to cause clogging cloisonné, adj & n [1 klóisoné, 2 klóiznet] Fr, fr cloison, 'a partition', fr Low Lat clōstūm (en), for claustr-, fr PP type of claudere, 'shut, enclose' See claustral, cloister, close (I) a adj Generally cloisonné work, copper or other material, overlaid with enamel, the design on which is outlined by fine metallic lines, which are the edges of thin metal bands forming partitions, and as it were moulds, for the forms and colours of the pattern, cp champlevé, b n, work ornamented in this way cloister (I), n [1 klóister, 2 klóiste], in ME, fr O Fr cloistre, fr Lat cloustrum, 'look, place that is shut up' See claustral & close (I) 1 Establishment where monks or nuns live a retired life, under strict vows, in practice of religion and pious works 2 (archit) Covered way, generally running round a quadrangle, in a monastic or collegiate building, usually with a vaulted roof, which is supported on pillars at intervals on the inner side, this side being open, the other formed by the outer walls of the building cloister (II), vb trans, fr prec A To confine in a cloister, or monastery, hence b to withdraw from society and cause to lead a retired life, (often reflex) to cloister oneself, shut oneself up, refrain from social intercourse cloistered, adj [1 klóistord, 2 klóistéd], fr PP of prec A Shut up in a cloister, b living solitary, retired from the world, c (of buildings) provided with cloisters cloustral, adj (rarely n) [1 klóustal, 2 klóis-trél], fr cloister (I) & -al A Pertaining to a cloister or to a monastery, b confined in a monastery, c as though confined in a monastery, lonely, retired clonus, ody [1 klónik, 2 klónik] Gk See clonus & -ic (med) Pertaining to clonus clonism, n [1 klónizam, 2 klónizam] clonus & -ism (med) Condition of being afflicted with clonus clonus, n [1 klónus, 2 klónus] Gk klónos, 'any violent motion, tumult', cp klónōs, 'confound, agitate, distract', developed fr base el-*, 'move violently and swiftly', as in Gk kléidō, 'set in movement, urge on', klélō, 'dive on, run (a ship) ashore', cogn w Lat celer, 'swift' See celerity, acelerato (mod) Series of violent muscular spasms close (I), ody & adv [1 klēs, 2 klous] O Fr, clos, PP of clorre, 'enclose', fr Lat clausum, PP of claudere, 'shut' &c, connected w Lat clavis, 'key', orig prob 'a bar, or peg of wood' (see clavicle & clief), also clavus, 'nail, pin' Cp further the group of Gk words, kleis, 'thing for barring a door, bolt', for kleuis*, kleis* for kleuis*, 'key', kleis for kleis*, 'shut up close, keep fast', kleis, 'that can be shut' Another near cogn is O Slav kljati, 'to shut up' A variant of this base, w initial s, is s(k)leut-, s(k)leut, whence Gmc sleut-, sleut- &c, in O HG slutan, Mod Germ schliessen, O Fris sluta, 'to shut', OS sluti, OHG sluzi, 'key', Mod Germ schlüssel See also claus-, claustral, cloister 1 Shut, closed, not open, now obs in this literal sense except in a few phrases Close Rolls, compared with Patrol Rolls, (her, of a helmet) with visor down; (in extended sense) close time, season, esp one during which game may not be shot, or (salmon) caught 2 A Withdrawn from observation, secluded to keep oneself close, b well guarded, confined to be kept a close prisoner, in close confinement, c (of persons) reticent, reserved, reverse of frank, d niggardly, parsimonious, stingy, e (of money) difficult to obtain, scarce 3 A Restricted, narrow, lacking space close quarters, b restricted to certain classes, not open to all a close scholarship, competition, c with sense of severity, keenness to press a man close, treat rigorously 4 A Near, adjacent to, in proximity to, followed by to close to the station, b (fig) near to the heart, intimate a close friend, c evenly, nicely, balanced a close contest Phrs to run a man close, be nearly even with him, a close thing, nearly a failure or disaster, close shave, narrow escape from accident, nearly a collision, close to the wind, (nant) with head directed nearly to point from which wind blows, (also fig) just avoiding illegality 5 A Dense, having constituent elements near together, tightly packed, carried, tightly woven close contact, to sit close, a close material, close texture, close order, (mil) without spaces between men in line, b (fig) pregnant, full of thought and meaning, compact close statement, argument 6 Nicely and accurately adjusted, or adapted to, following nearly, approximating to, (in various shades of meaning, lit and fig), a accurate, careful close copy, b thorough, searching close investigation, c concentrated, careful close attention, management, d down to level of roots to cut a lawn close, a close shave (with razor) 7 Oppressive, heavy, 'spout' (a of weather) sultry, stifling, thundery, very hot, b (of rooms) stuffy, airless, ill ventilated 8 (phon) Close vowel, term used vaguely and without precision to mean a vowel uttered with but a slight aperture between tongue and palate, b one uttered with the tongue tense and muscularly braced and hard close (II), n [1 klēs, 2 klous] O Fr clos See prec An enclosure, space a small field or paddock enclosed by walls, usually adjacent to a house, or a village, b open space, wholly or partially enclosed by buildings, in neighbourhood of a cathedral, round which are often situated the deanery, houses of canons &c, c (in Scotland) any passage, entry, or wynd leading from the street to an inner court or to a common stair in a tenement close (III), vb trans & intrans [1 klēz, 2 klour] ME clāsen, fr PP type of clō- claudere, q v under close (I) The difference in the final consonants of close (I, II) on one hand, & close (III, IV) on the other, is due to the fact that in ME the -s of the former was final in nom & acc, whereas in the latter, -s- was followed by -en) of inf & was thus pronounced as [z] A trans 1 Applied to a variety of actions and movements, implying some form of shutting, filling up an open space, obstructing entrance or exit, excluding light, bringing together separable parts of something, returning some movable part of a thing to a position which covers, stops an opening, and so on to close a door, gate, window, close shutters, blinds, close a box, cover with lid, close a drawer, push back into place, close a hole, stop it up, close one's mouth, lips, eyes &c, bring lips together, lower eyelids, close a shop, exclude customers (for the night &c), withdraw from the business Phrs and special uses close the door on, (fig) prevent further discussion, close a man's eye, but it so that it swells, to close (one's parent's) eyes, attend on deathbed, to have one's eyes closed, be unable, unwilling, to see, his eyes are closed, he is dead, my mouth is closed, I cannot, must not, speak, to close one's purse, to refuse money, close the ranks, fill up spaces between men in line, by setting them close together, (also fig) increase zeal of, organize better, the adherents of a cause 2 To complete, bring to an end, terminate, conclude, finish off to close one's career, close a speech, labours &c Phrs that chapter is closed, episode concluded, not to be discussed, to close a discussion, as chairman, declare it ended, or sum it up and bring to an end, to close on account (with a tradesman), pay one's bill and withdraw custom B intrans 1 A To go through process of closing (in various senses), be capable of being closed allow itself to be closed the window won't close, the door closes easily, of itself, 'Her tired eyelids closed' (Hood), b (of flowers) to curl up, roll up, bring petals together many flowers close of night, c (of fractures, wounds) unite, cicatrize 2 To draw to, come to, reach, on end the day, life, will close at last, the speech closed abruptly C Followed by propositions and adverbs Close about, to surround, envelop the mists closed about him Close in, a to draw near and surround, for on attack the enemy now closed in (also followed by on, upon), b draw on, approach, encircle (of night, darkness, mist &c) Close round, to envelop, surround Close up, intrans, a (of persons in a line or group) to draw near together, b (of a wound) to unite, heal up, c trans, to shut up completely, stop the old well has been closed up Close with, intrans, a to rush towards, in order to attack, come to grips with, b (fig) (i) to strike bargain with (a person), agree with, as to terms, (ii) to accept (terms, offer, bargain) close (IV), n [1 klēz, 2 klour], fr prec A Completion, conclusion, ending, and a fitting close to a strenuous life, the discourse in due time reached its close Phr bring to, draw to, a close, finish, bring, come to, an end, b (music) cadence, final part of a melody &c close-fisted, adj [1 klēs fistod, 2 klōus fistod] close (I) & fist & -ed Unwilling to part with money, stingy, miserly close-grained, adj [1 klēs grānd, 2 klōus grānd] See grain (I) & -ed Having a dense grain (of wood) close-hauled, adj [1 klēs hāuld, 2 klōus hāuld] See haul (I) Having yards braced up tight (of ship, rigging), so that the vessel sails close to the wind closely, adv [1 klōsh, 2 klōusli] close (I) & -ly In a close manner See various senses of close, esp a tightly, b carefully, narrowly to watch closely closeness, n [1 klōsnēs, 2 klōusnēs] See prec & -ness Quality of being close in various senses, esp of an oppressive, stuffiness, b intimacy closeness of our friendship, c stinginess closet, n [1 klōsit, 2 klōzīt] O Fr, dimin of claus, 'enclosure' See close (II) 1 A small chamber or apartment, esp one leading out of a larger room, a private room, Phr of the closet, of theories &c formed without knowledge or experience of realities, b a cupboard join closet These uses now obsolescent and commonly avoided because of ambiguity due to association of the word with the meaning now most usual, i.e. 2 A privy, for water-closet closeted, adj [1 klōzītēd, 2 klōzītēd] Prec & -ed. In Phrs to be closeted with someone, to be closeted together, in private room, engaged in confidential talk close-up, n [1 klēs up, 2 klōus op] Cine metaphr picture taken close to the object closure (I), n [1 klōshur, 2 klōuzē] Ad fr Fr clôture, cu anal of to close Means of securing an immediate vote on a measure before Parliament, and bringing debate to a close, by moving, and carrying, motion 'that the question be now put' closure (II), vb trans, fr prec To close (debate in Parliament) by applying the closure

clot (I), n [1 klɒt, 2 klot] OE clott, 'lump', ap Du lloet, 'ball', Mod Germ klump, 'lump', & klump, 'black', fr Arryan base meaning 'to stick, adhere', & 'to roll up' & a dissonant under cleave (II), clow, glue & Congulated, thickened, partially solidified mass, esp of blood clot (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec a trans To cause to clot, b intrans, to assume the form of clots, become coagulated cloth, n [1 kləʊθ, klɒθ, 2 kləp, klɒp], pl cloths [1 kləʊðr, klɒðs, 2 kləp, klɒps], also clothes, now a separate word OE clāp, 'cloth, a cloth' Not widely spread in Gmc languages, not found in OHG, but Mod Germ kleid, 'garment', & Du kleed, have true W Gmc forms, ON has klæði, Dan klæde, 'cloth' The base has not been identified outside Gmc 1 A soft, usually pliable fabric, woven from wool, hair, cotton, or silk, linen, fibre &c, b specul, woollen cloth, o (l) black cloth worn by clergy, hanes (ll) the clergy themselves gentlemen of the cloth, also (lll) the rank, sacred character of a clergyman to respect a man's cloth, & cloth of gold, woven of gold threads; cloth of estate, nobly woven, orn brocaded cloth used for canopy and background of a king's throne, American cloth, fabric of cotton &c oated and varnished, so as to imitate leather 2 Various articles made of woven, esp of cotton, or linen, fabric, a piece of this out square and hemmed for dusting, cleaning furniture &c, a duster, b large, often figured, finely woven strip of linen &c put upon a table at meal time table cloth (a, the, cloth) Phr to lay the cloth, put table cloth on for a meal clothe, vb trans [1 kləʊð, 2 kləʊð] OE clāpan, fr clāp See prec The Pret & P.P. claz are still current in literary style, but clothed is more common colloquially See clad 1 To put on wearing apparel, cover with garments, to dress, esp clothe oneself, a to put clothes on naked body, dan, assume, clothes you had better get up and clothe yourself, b to put on specific set of garments he had clothed himself in his best (In these senses the word has been ousted in colloquial usage by to dress) 2 To provide, supply (others), with wearing apparel to clothe one's wife and family 3 (fig) To cover as with a garment, a (of persons) to endow, invest with assign non material qualities to the ambassador was clothed with full powers, clothed with righteousness, authority, b (of inanimate nature) to tarow over, surround, cover with the sun clothed the hill with light, spring clothes the land with verdure 4 To embody, ascribe (thoughts and ideas) to clothe one's thoughts in suitable language clothes, n pl [1 kləʊz, kləʊz, 2 kləʊz kləʊz] The pronunciation [kləʊz] is usual in familiar speech, & is already indicated in the rhymes of Donne, Swift, Pope, & Goldsmith, fr OE clāpas pl of clāp, q v under clota 1 Garments, wearing apparel, raiment, designed to cover, protect, and adorn the human body 2 Coverings, including sheets, blankets, quilts, used upon a bed Also bed clothes clothes-basket, n Basket in which clothes are sent to and from the laundry clothes-horse, n Wooden frame for airing clothes before a fire clothes-line, n Thin rope stretched between posts upon which newly washed clothes and linen are hung to dry in the open air clothes-moth, n Small, pale-brown moth, genus Tinea whose caterpillar feeds upon woollen fabric clothes-peg, n Wooden forked clip for fastening articles to a clothes line clotheser, n [1 kləʊðr, 2 kləʊðr] cloth & -ier Formerly a maker of cloth (obs) Tradesman who supplies cloth for suits, and makes suits, a tailor, one who sells clothes of all kinds clothing, n [1 kləʊðɪŋ, 2 kləʊðɪŋ] clothes & -ing Wearing apparel generally an article of clothing, a garment.

cloth measure, n One applied formerly to cloth, composed of eels, quarters, and nails cloth yard, n A Rod used formerly for measuring cloth, b now the yard of 3 foot (36 inches), o also the length of the arrow used with the long bow, hence the arrow itself clotted, adj [1 klɒtəd, 2 klɒtəd], fr P.P. of clot (II) a Formed into clots, coagulated, esp of blood, b stuck together, as hair, by blood or silt, c special use, clotted cream, thickened and solidified by boiling, also Dorsetshire cream clôture, n Fr Same as closure cloud (I), n [1 kləʊd, 2 kləʊd] OE clūd, 'rock, mass of rock', in Early ME cloud is still used in this sense, but subsequently applied in present sense, thos displacing OE wolcen, ooc wolkin, & ME skye, fr ON sky, see sky Cloud in the old sense survives in Cloud End, Cheshire, 'termination of the Middlepeth Moor hill range' (Bartholomew's 'Gazetteer') The orig meaning of the word was simply 'mass', & it is in same base as clot, cloud, cleave (I), & clow 1 Mass of vapour, open as a one formed in the sky, b any mass of vapour or of some thing retambing vapour in appearance cloud of steam, smoke, dust &c, cloud of flies, o darker veiling mark on marble, amber &c d (fig) great multitude cloud of witnesses 2 (in pl) The sky itself, upper atmosphere to sail up into the clouds Phr to have one's head in the clouds, to be preoccupied with one's thoughts, impractical and inattentive to mundane matters 3 (fig) Anything which darkens, obscures, dims, oulues, casts shadow or blight, in spiritual sense a cloud on one's happiness, spirits, reputation, the cloud of war 4 A soft, fleecy, woollen wrap for the head and neck used by women cloud (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans (lit and fig) a To make dark, obscure, overshadow, dim as by interposition of a cloud, mar, spoil the weather, brightness of the day, has been clouded, b to cloud the spirits, happiness, intellect, b to mark with darker streaks of colour clouded marble, amber &c, clouded tiger, leopard, a wild forest out of Borneo and S E Asia with coat striped and clouded with dark patches 2 intrans To become overcast, cloudy, dark with clouds the sky has clouded Also cloud over cloudberry, n [1 kləʊðbəri, 2 kləʊðbəri] Species of wild raspberry cloud-burst, n Sudden, violent downpour of water from the sky, abnormally heavy, sudden rain cloud-capped, adj [1 kləʊd kapt, 2 kləʊd kapt] (of mountain peaks, high spurs &c) Covered, enshrouded, by cloud cloudiness, n [1 kləʊdɪnəs, 2 kləʊdɪnəs] cloudy & -ness a Condition of being cloudy, b visual mental, or intellectual dimness, obscurity, dullness cloudiness of sight, of understanding clouding, n [1 kləʊdɪŋ, 2 kləʊdɪŋ] Veining, streaking, in stone of different shades from main mass, variegation cloudland, n [1 kləʊdlənd, 2 kləʊdlənd] Region of dreams, visions, and speculation cloudless, adj [1 kləʊdləs, 2 kləʊdləs] cloud (I) & -less Free from clouds, clear, bright (lit and fig) cloud-ring, n Permanent belt of cloud at the equator cloudy, adj [1 kləʊdi, 2 kləʊdi] cloud (I) & -y 1 Covered with, full of, cloud or clouds, consisting of cloud 2 a (of vision and things seen) Dim, indistinct eyes cloudy with sleep, cloudy picture, b (of mind) lacking clearness and precision, c (of liquids) not clear thick, turbid 3 Marked with veins, as marble, variegated clough, n [1 kləʊ, 2 kləʊ] Presupposes an OE clōh*, wh is not found, but wd come fr Gmc clanz*, cogn w Germ dial klänge, 'valley' Cp Scots clouch Park connected w clang, clunk, & other words expressing sound, from prevalence of echoes, or from noise of stream flowing through. (provinco.)

clout (I), n [1 kləʊt, 2 kləʊt] OE clūt, 'piece of cloth, patch', also 'metal plate' Cogn w clot (I) 1 A rough, coarse piece of cloth, esp one used for cleaning, dish clout, generally in contemptuous sense a filthy clout &c 2 Bull's eye of an archery target 3 (colloq and vulg) A blow, crack, esp clout on the head clout (II), vb trans OE clūtian, 'to patch' See prec 1 To patch roughly (esp of boots and shoes) 2 (colloq and vulg) To strike roughly, esp in Phr to clout his head for him Perhaps originally to strike with a clout of metal clove (I), n [1 kləʊ, 2 kləʊ] ME claw, fr O Fr clau, 'nail', fr Lat clavus, 'nail', q v under clavicle & closo (I) Fr clou de girofle, 'nail of clove plant', fr its resemblance to a nail The present form is due to influence of Ital chiodo, 'clove', or by confusion w. clove (II) Dried, unexpanded flower bud, of tree or bush (clove tree), grown in the Moluccas or Spice Islands, with hot, pungent flavour, much used for flavouring in cooking clove (II), n OE claf, 'bulb, tabor of a plant', fr W Gmc klaf*, same base as OE clafan, 'split, divide', q v under cleave (I) Small bulb which has budded off from a larger one, as of garlic, shallot clove (III), vb Pret of cleave (I), fr P.P. type cloven Op also cleft clove (IV), vb Pret of cleave (II), orig a weak vb The new Pret is on the anal of prec clove-hitch, n, fr cleave (I) Kind of hitch in a rope, made on a spar, or another rope cloten, adj [1 kləʊən, 2 kləʊən] fr P.P. of cleave (I) OE clafen, ME clōren This is fr the same vowel grade as clove (II) Divided, separated, into two parts, as the hoofs of ruminant animals, chiefly in cloven foot, cloven hoof Phr to show the cloven hoof, allow one's real (bad) character to be seen, in spite of disguise, in reference to popular conception of physical characteristics of the devil clove-nutmeg, n Tree grown in Madagascar, Ravensara areolata with aromatic leaves and fruit like a nutmeg clove pink, n A variety of pink with strong perfume clower, n [1 kləʊər, 2 kləʊər] OE clāfra, ME clāwer, clāwer, cp Du klāwer, Swed. kläver Low growing plant, variety of trifolium, with strong scented pink or white flowers; substituted as fodder for cattle Phr to be, live, in clover, in great luxury clown (I), n [1 kləʊn, 2 kləʊn] Scand Op ON klunni, 'clumsy, boorish fellow' 1 A rustic, clumsy, ill bred lant person of coarse manners, b a buffoon, a fellow who indulges in rough horse play, and coarse jests 2 The buffoon in a circus or pantomime, who affects great mimicry, together with a certain good natured cunning, and plays off practical jokes on other characters clown (II), vb intrans, fr prec Generally to clown it, to play the clown clownish, adj [1 kləʊnɪʃ, 2 kləʊnɪʃ] clown (I) & -ish. Like a clown, rough, boorish, clumsy, ill bred clownishness, n prec & -ness Behaviour, or character, of a clown, rough, ill timed horse play, rudeness cloy, vb trans [1 kləʊ, 2 kləʊ] Skeat traces history of word fr ME enclouer, & a by-form enclouer, 'to nail up, fasten', & otes accloyed, clayed, as a term used by farmers for a horse injured by a nail The Fr vb is fr clou, 'nail', Lat clavus, see clove (I) & close (I) The present sense is therefore secondary, & derived fr the idea of stopping up, numbing, the taste (of physical or mental appetite) To satiate, surfeit, get with sweetness or pleasure, cause to grow weary of too many sweets cloy the palate, the music of the great poets delights but never cloy the taste.

club (I), n [1 klɪb, 2 klɒb] Scand, ME clubbe, ON klubba, klumba, 'club, thick stick', also Swed klubba, klubb, 'club, block'. Variant of clump, & further connected w cleave (II), clow, clod, clot, glue, together w cognates cited. The basal idea is 'ball, knob, lump'. 1 A thick wooden stick with lump at one end, b stick with knob or head at one end used in games such as golf and hockey. 2 (in pl) A suit at cards bearing image of a trefoil king d.c. of clubs, any card of this suit a small club. 3 A knot or group of persons possessing common or similar tastes, interests, or occupations, social, political, convivial, sporting (or lack of these) who unite as an organized society, with rules, a president, specified times of meeting, and routine procedure when they meet, b similar group of persons whose aims are mainly social, and who unite to own or rent a house with special rooms for reading, recreation, and meals, where members meet at such hours as they please, n the place in which societies (as in a) meet, the premises owned and used by those described in b.

club (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans. A To chastise with a club, or something resembling a club. b to club a person to death, to club a person with a rifle butt, b to use as a club, to club a rifle, use the butt-end. 2 intrans. To unite for a common purpose, combine forces and means to effect common end, generally club together.

clubbable, adj [1 klɪbəl, 2 klɒbəl] Prec & -able. Suitable for, fond of, society as found in a club, hence (in general sense) sociable, fond of friendly conversation and social intercourse.

clubboid, adj [1 klɪbɔɪd, 2 klɒbɔɪd] club (I) & -oid. Shaped like a club, specif, of certain malformations of vegetables and fruit.

clubfoot, n [1 klɪbfʊt, 2 klɒbfʊt] Ill-developed, distorted foot, a congenital deformity.

club law, n Violence.

clubman, n [1 klɪbmən, 2 klɒbmən] A member of a social club, b an American journalistic term for a 'man about town'.

club moss, n Kind of moss, Lycopodium, with erect club-shaped spore cases.

club-root, n [1 klɪbrʊt, 2 klɒbrʊt] Disease of cabbage tribe, consisting of growth of swellings on the root.

club-shaped, adj Having a thick knob at one end.

cluck (I), vb intrans [1 klʌk, 2 klɒk] Imitative, hnt op Du klucken, Dan klukke. Perh areoatated, in the mind, w clutch (III) (of eggs) a (of a hen) To make a characteristic sound to call chickens together, b to utter the shrill, petulant cry of a broody hen when disturbed.

cluck (II), n, fr prec n Sound of a hen calling chickens, b noise made by broody hen.

clue, n [1 kljuː, 2 klɪ] See clew. Guide to solution of a puzzle or mystery, group or series of facts which leads up to the explanation of this.

Clumber, n [1 klʌmbər, 2 klʌmbrə] fr name of place where the animals were bred. Stocky breed of spaniel with short legs. Clumber spaniel.

clump (I), n [1 klʌmp, 2 klɒmp] Dan & Swed klump, 'a lump'. Cogn of club (I), clod, clot (I). 1 A lump, shapeless mass of earth or wood. 2 Isolated group of trees in open field or park. 3 Thick piece of leather fastened to outside of sole of boot or shoe. 4 Sound of heavy footfalls (imitative).

clump (II), vb trans & intrans See prec 1 To group, mass, together. 2 To put extra piece of leather on (sole of boot). 3 To walk, tread, with heavy footfalls.

clumpy, adj [1 klʌmpi, 2 klɒmpi] nlump (I) & -y. A Full of clumps, b like, a bounding in, clumps (of trees &c). clumsily, adv [1 klʌmzɪli, 2 klɒmzɪli] clumsy & -ly. In a clumsy manner.

clumsiness, n [1 klʌmzɪnəs, 2 klɒmzɪnəs] & -ness. Quality of being clumsy.

clumsy, adj [1 klʌmzi, 2 klɒmzi] ME clumsen, 'to be benumbed', Scand, op Swed klummen, 'benumbed'. Connected w base in OE clamu, 'fetter, bend', & clenman, 'to contract'. See clammy, clamp, & words there referred to. Awkward, lacking in grace, a (of persons) lacking grace, ease, dexterity, of movement or action, loutish, b (of action) badly controlled, lumbering, nnalful, c (of mental processes) slow-moving, inexact, lacking nimbleness and readiness, d (of style) inelegant, lacking smoothness, directness, neatness, e (of manner and behaviour) lacking habit of polite usage, ill-bred, rough, gauche, tactless.

clung, vb [1 klʌŋg, 2 klɒŋ] Pret & PP of cling, fr ME PP type clunge(n), OE clungen, op OE, ME Pret clang.

cluster (I), n [1 klʌstər, 2 klɒstər] OE clāstor, 'look, barrier, confinement', borrowed fr Lat claustrum, 'look, barrier, defence'. See claustral. Number of similar objects naturally or fortuitously grouped together in close proximity to each other, a bunch of fruit, flowers &c. cluster of currants, b crowd, multitude, of persons. clusters of spectators, c mass of bees, stuck together when swarming. bees in a cluster.

cluster (II), vb intrans, fr prec 1 a (of fruit, flowers) To grow in clusters, b (of persons &c) come together, congregate in clusters. 2 Cluster round a (of growing things) to grow, spring, in clusters. roses clustered round the windows, curls clustered round her head, b (of persons &c) to press, throng round in crowds, c (of mental things) to be associated with, arise in the mind in large numbers in connexion with memories of the past. cluster round the spot.

clustered, adj [1 klʌstəd, 2 klɒstəd] fr PP of cluster (II). Growing in, grouped into, clusters. Clustered column, one having appearance of, or consisting of, a number of slender columns united.

clustary, adj [1 klʌstəri, 2 klɒstəri] fr cluster (I) & -y. Inclined to grow in clusters, in clusters.

clutch (I), vb trans & intrans [1 klʌtʃ, 2 klɒtʃ] OE clyccan, 'bring together, clench', fr Gmc base kluk*, 'seize'. Prob connected ultimately w claw & words there mentioned. Cp clutch (II). To seize suddenly and convulsively, grip, grasp with the hand. Phr (fig) to clutch at a straw, use any help available when in difficulties.

clutch (II), n ME clueche. See clutch (I). 1 Act of gripping, seizing, grasping, a rapid snatch, grab. to make a clutch at. 2 Grip, grasp, firm hold. in the clutch of fate. Phr (fig) to get into, out of, a person's clutches, into, out of, his power. 3 Device for coupling and uncoupling engine with driving gear and driving wheels.

clutch (III), n Earlier clutch, fr ON klukka. Origin doubtful, op cluck (I). a The set of eggs, usually 13, put under a hen for her to hatch at one time, b the chicks from these when newly hatched.

clutter (I), n [1 klʌtər, 2 klɒtər] fr same base as clot (I). Originally, a clogged mass, confusion, disorder, middle.

clutter (II), vb trans, fr prec To make confused, put into disorder, choke up, clog. Also clutter up.

Clydesdale, n [1 klɪdzdəl, 2 klɒdzdəl] fr place name, Scotland. Heavy, powerful breed of cart horse. Clydesdale terrier, a breed of Scotch terrier, related to the Skye terrier, with silky hair.

clypous, n [1 klɪpəs, 2 klɒpəs] Lat, also clipeus, clipeus, 'round shield', cogn w Gk klūptō, 'envelop, cover', & klūbō, 'hut, cabin'. Perh connected w Lat clipo, 'steal'. See kleptomaniac & lift, 'to steal' (archicool). Large round shield, with convex outer, and concave inner, face.

clyster, n [1 klɪstər, 2 klɒstər] Fr clystere, fr Gk κλυστήρ, 'syringe'. See discussion of the base, meaning, 'to wash out', under second element of cataclysm, & cloaca. An onoma, injection into lower bowel.

co-, pref Lat, form of prop cum, used before vowels, also used to make new compounds in Engl, before vowels & any consonant, expressing joint action or operation, reciprocity, association &c, sometimes written w hyphen in new & unfamiliar compounds, or w diaeresis on vowel immediately following if an o, co-ordinate, coördinate, coördinate, the first being best. For etymol & force in Lat compounds see enim-.

coach (I), n, [1 kōch, 2 koutʃ], fr Fr coche, Hungarian word, kocs [1 kōchi, 2 kōtʃi], fr place name Kocs [kōtʃ] in Hungary. 1 A large obsolete closed travelling carriage with four wheels, two seats inside, a box outside for driver, and doors, with windows, in the sides, b term applied to various modifications of this, esp to one with seats inside and out, generally drawn by four horses and formerly employed in carrying travellers and mails before railways. stage coach, also mail-coach, state-coach (esp for the king). Phoe slow-coach, person slow in movements, action, or understanding, drive a coach and four through an Act of Parliament, get round its provisions, hackney coach, cab plying for hire. 2 (extended usage) Carriage on a railway, divided into several compartments, the coach being the whole unit so divided. 3 In structure, tutor, teacher, a one employed to help students with intellectual work, esp in preparing for an examination, b one who prepares individuals or teams in games, athletics, rowing &c, corrects faults of style, amends practice &c. Dr Bourne acted as the Oxford coach for the boat race on many occasions.

coach (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 To drive one in, or provide one with, a coach. 2 To prepare (persons) for examinations or athletic contests, superintend studies or practice. B intrans 1 To use a coach for travelling, drive a coach. to coach from London to Brighton. 2 To act as tutor or coach. to coach for a living.

coach-box, n Driver's seat, when separate from others, in any kind of coach or carriage.

coach dog, n Carriage dog.

coachful, n [1 kōchfʊl, 2 kōtʃfʊl] coach (I) & -ful. All the occupants of a coach at one time.

coach-horn, n A long straight horn of brass or copper, with belled end, used for sounding simple calls, post-horn.

coachman, n [1 kōchmən, 2 kōtʃmən] 1 n Driver of any kind of vehicle for passengers or mails, specif b servant employed to drive a private carriage and superintend management of stables. 2 Artificial fly used in trout-fishing, with a peacock green body and brown hackles.

coachmanship, n [1 kōchmənʃɪp, 2 kōtʃmənʃɪp] Prec. & -ship. Degree of skill as driver of a vehicle.

coadjutor, n [1 kōdʒʊtər, 2 kōmɔdʒʊtər] Lat co- & adjutor, 'helper, promoter, deputy, assistant', fr ad-jutare, 'help', fr iuvare, 'to assist, aid', wh is cogn w Sert. iuvare, 'hinder, makes fast', & ju-, 'companion'. Cp further join, junction, yoke. Assistant. bishop's coadjutor, one appointed to assist a diocesan.

co-administrator, n [1 kōədɪnɪstrətər, 2 kōmɔdɪnɪstrətər] co- & administrator. One who administers jointly with another.

coagulate, vb intrans & trans [1 kōgʊlət, 2 kōmɔgʊlət] Formed fr Lat coagulum (um), P.P. type of coagulare, itself formed fr coagulum, 'means of coagulation' co-, 'together', & Lat agere, 'bring' &c. See agent. 1 intrans (of liquids) To become partially solid, to clot, curdle. 2 trans To cause to coagulate.

coagulation, n [1 kōgʊləʃən, 2 kōmɔgʊləʃən] Prec & -ion. a Process of coagulating, b condition of being coagulated.

coata, n [1 lōta, 2 koudta] Native Brazilian name The South American spider-monkey coal (I), n [1 kōl, 2 koul] OE col, ME cōle, OHG cholo, Mod Germ lohle Perh connected w Sert juhl, 'to burn' 1 a Solid combustible material of vegetable origin, consisting largely of carbon, occurring in fossil state, generally found beneath the ground, used for heating and in manufacture of gas, 2 a piece of coal, esp one in process of combustion a hot coal fell on the carpet Phr as black as a coal 2 (in pl, coll) Lumps of coal ready for use to lay in coals for the winter Phrs to carry coals to Newcastle, do something unperilous, heap coals of fire on one's head, reward evil with good, to call a person over the coals (for something), blame, scold coal (II), vb intrans & trans, fr prec 1 intrans To take in a supply of coal, esp of steamships and engines to coal at Gibraltar, at Swanton 2 trans To supply with coal, esp to put coal into bunkers of steamship or locomotive coal-bed, n Stratum of coal coal-black, adj Black as coal, jet-black coaler, n [1 kōler, 2 kōula] coal (II) & -er a Ship for supplying others with coal, 2 a person employed in coaling coalesce, vb intrans [1 kōales, 2 kōuales] fr Lat coalescere, 'to grow together, unite, become consolidated' (lit and fig), fr co- & alescere, inceptive vb fr alere, 'to rear, support, maintain' See aliment & Alma Mater 1 a To grow together, unite, as parts of a broken bone, 2 (of separate elements), to come together, unite, fuse into single body or mass 2 (fig, of persons and personalities) To intermingle easily, agree, assimilate coalescence, n [1 kōalesens, 2 kōualesens] Lat coalescentia See next word & -ce Process of coalescing coalescent, adj [1 kōalesent, 2 kōualesent] Lat coalescent (em), Pres Part of coalescere See coalesce Growing together coal-field, n Region in which coal strata are found coal-fish, n The black pollack, Gadus virens coal-gas, n Mixture of gases produced by the burning and distillation of coal, used for lighting and heating coal-heaver, n One who carts and carries coal, esp one who brings it to private houses coal-hole, n a Underground cavity or cellar in which coal is stored, 2 applied also to receptacle for coal above ground, 3 hole in street in towns through which coal is shot into the cellar coaling, n [1 kōling, 2 kōulɪŋ] coal (II) & -ing Process of taking in, or putting coal into, bunkers of ship or locomotive coaling-station, n Port where large supplies of coal are stored for steamships coalition, n [1 kōalishun, 2 kōualɪʃən] fr Lat coalit(um), PP of coalescere, see coalesce, & -ion a Act or process of fusion, 2 temporary union of forces by political parties for particular purpose, on the understanding that neither party abandons its distinctive principles coalitional adj [1 kōalishunəl, 2 kōualɪʃənəl] Prec & -al Pertaining to (a) coalition coalitionist, n [1 kōalishunist, 2 kōualɪʃənɪst] See prec & -ist One who favours or supports a political coalition coal-measure, n (geol) System of carboniferous strata, coal bed coal-mine, n Mine from which coal is dug, coal pit coal-pit, n Excavation from which coal is dug, generally, all the group of associated works and workings connected with the digging of coal in a given place, coal mine coal-scuttle, n Vessel for holding and carrying coal for domestic use coal-tar n Tar obtained as a by-product in manufacture of gas from bituminous coal, the source of aniline dyes, disinfectants, benzene creosote &c coal tit(mouse), n European titmouse, so called from black on head and throat coaly, adj [1 kōh, 2 kōulɪ] coal (I) & -y Lake coal, black, containing coal coaming, n [1 kōmɪŋ, 2 kōumɪŋ] Origin doubtful Raised edge round outside of an opening such as a trap-door, or a ship's hatches, to keep out water coarse, adj [1 kors, 2 kōs] Origin doubtful Various applied in literal and figurative senses, meaning reverse of fine or delicate, hence, rough, thick, harsh, rude 1 (of quality) Common, rough, inferior coarse clothes, furniture, food &c 2 (of texture) a (of fabrics) Rough, not finely and densely woven coarse cloth, a coarse mesh, 2 (of powder like substances, earth, meal &c) having large particles, lumpy, not finely ground or pulverized coarse sand, oatmeal &c 3 (of non material things) a Lacking in refinement, delicacy, subtlety coarse methods, manners, coarse voice, coarse mind, intelligence, 2 verging on impropriety, ribaldry, or obscenity, crude, gross coarse language, jokes coarse-grained, adj [1 kōrs grænd, 2 kōs grænd] a Having coarse texture or grain, 2 (fig, of spiritual things) crude, gross, not delicate or subtle coarsely, adv [1 korsli, 2 kōsli] coarse & -ly (lit and fig) a Not finely, delicately, 2 roughly, crudely, grossly coarsen, vb trans & intrans [1 korsən, 2 kōsən] coarse & -en a To make coarse, 2 to become coarse, esp in appearance and manners coarseness, n [1 kōrəns, 2 kōsəns] coarse & -ness Property or quality of being coarse (lit and fig) coast (I), n [1 kōst, 2 koust] ME, fr O Fr coste, Mod Fr côte, 'rib, coast', fr Lat costa, 'rib, side, wall' Cogn w O Slav košt, 'bone', further connections dubious Engl & Fr meaning perh derived fr 'ribs of rock by seashore' Edge of the land at seashore, seashore and area adjacent to it Phrs the coast is clear, nothing, no one, in the way, on the coast, at the seashore coast (II), vb intrans, fr prec 1 To go, in boat or ship, along the coast, from port to port, esp to trade with coastal ports 2 a To slide down a snowy or ice covered slope on a sledge or toboggan, 2 to go downhill on a bicycle without using pedals coastal, adj [1 kōstəl, 2 kōustəl] coast (I) & -al Connected with, at, the coast coaster, n [1 kōster, 2 kōustə] coast (II) & -er a Vessel engaged in coastal trade, 2 silver tray for sliding wine decanters along a table coast-guard, coast-guardsmen, n One of a body of men, recruited from the Navy, who keep a look out on the coast, and notify the passing of vessels, occurrence of wrecks &c, and assist the Customs officials, formerly under the Admiralty, now transferred to Board of Trade coast-line, n a Outline of a coast seen from the sea, 2 contour of a coast coast warden, n Customs official who deals with shipping of goods in coasting trade coastwise, adj & adv [1 kōstwɪz, 2 kōustwɪz] coast (I) & -wise a adj (of trade, and shipping) Going along the coast from port to port, as distinct from over-seas or cross channel coastwise business, traffic &c, 2 adv, along the coast to sail coastwise coat (I), n [1 kōt, 2 kout] ME cōte fr O Fr cote, fr L Lat cola, 'garment, tunic', Mod Fr colle, prob new borrowing fr Ital colla, both fr L Lat cotta, 'tunic' The word was also borrowed into OHG as chazzo, 'coarse tunic', & into OS as kot None of the authorities throw any light on origin of the Lat word Is it possibly itself a loan word fr a Gmc source, meaning 'hut, small house', as in OE cot? For ohsgo of meaning involved, cp chasuble In pl coats, formerly denoting a child's or woman's petticoats (obs) 1 Garment with sleeves, of varying length, usually buttoned up the front, specif a garment worn by men over the waistcoat, as part of a suit of outer clothes, a jacket, 2 a similar garment made much longer, and worn outside the coat belonging to a suit, greatcoat, overcoat, 3 a similar garments worn by women, esp coat and skirt, 4 sleeved garment buttoning in front, and worn over other clothes by children Phrs to take off one's coat, prepare to fight, take off one's coat to the work, set about it vigorously, to cut one's coat according to one's cloth, make efforts, form plans, in proportion to one's means, dust a man's coat (for him), give him a thrashing, wear the living's coat, be dressed in uniform, 10 he a soldier, to turn one's coat, go over to the other side or cause, esp in politics 2 Sleeved body protection of chain mail worn formerly as part of a suit of armour coat of mail 3 (ber) For coat of arms, see arm (II) 2 4 The external hairy, furry, or woolly covering of animals the horse's coat needs clipping 5 a (anat) Membrane covering or lining an organ of the body coats of the stomach, h (hort) tough outer skin of bulbs &c 6 Layer, film, of something spread, smeared, or applied to surface of an object, or settling upon it so as to cover the surface coat of paint, varnish, plaster, coat of dirt, dust coat (II), vb trans, fr prec To cover as with a coat to coat wood with paint coat-armour, n Heraldic shield, escutcheon of individual or family, bearing crests and charges to which he or it is entitled coat-card, n A court card, playing card with the coated figure of king, queen, or knave coatee, n [1 kōtē, 2 koutē] coat (I) & -ee Short, close fitting coat worn by women or children coats, n [1 kōáhts, 2 koudtē] Native Brazilian name Small racoon like mammal, of South and Central America, genus Nasua, with flexible snout and long tail coating, n [1 kōtɪŋ, 2 koutɪŋ] coat (II) & -ing a Something painted on, or applied as, a coat (in sense 6), 2 material suitable for making coats (tradesman's word) coax (I), vb trans & intrans [1 kōks, 2 kouks] Suggested etymologies appear to be counsels of despair The word (n) was spelt coles in 16th cent, & had sense of 'dupe', a trans To use friendly efforts to persuade a person to do something, by flattery, entreaty, humouring, to wheedle, cajole, generally used in inoffensive sense to coax a child to take his medicine, 2 intrans to exercise the art of coaxing coax (II), n fr prec Person who practises coaxing, a pleasant spoken, plausible, persuasive person coaxal, -ial, adj [1 kōáksəl, -ial, 2 kouáksəl, -ial] co- & axis & -al (maths) Having a common axis coaxing, n [1 kōáksɪŋ, 2 kouáksɪŋ] coax (I) & -ing The act and process of persuading by cajolery cob, n [1 kob, 2 kob] Origin unknown 1 Smallish, thick set, stocky horse 2 Male ewan 3 a Lump of ore, or esp of coal, of moderate size (chiefly a trade word), op cob nut, small round nut, 2 lump of clay mixed with straw, used in building cottages in some districts where stone and brick are costly 4 Head of Indian corn, usually corn cob cobalt, n [1 kóbawit, kobáwít, 2 kóbáwít, kabót] Germ lobalt Proh fr Germ kobold, 'sprite haunting mines' See this word, & for transference of meaning op nickel a Reddish white metallic element found with mckel, 2 pigment made from a compound of this See next word cobalt blue, n Pigment of dark blue colour made from a compound of cobalt cobble (I), n & vb trans [1 kobl, 2 kóbl] Cp cob, 3, a 1 n Rounded stone about the size of human fist, used for paving streets in old towns 2 vb To pave with cobbles cobble (II), vb trans & n Perh connected w prec, 'to do lumpy work' 1 vb To mend or make, sew, in a rough, clumsy manner, esp to cobble boots and shoes, mend and patch 2 n Clumsily done piece of sewing, patching, mending cobbler, n [1 kóblər, 2 kóblə], fr prec & -er 1 a One who mends boots and shoes as a trade; b (facetious) bootmaker, esp one in small way of business 2 Clumsy, bad workman of any kind 3 Iced drink made of wine, sugar, lemon, sherry cobbler cobbler's wax, n Sticky, wax-like compound used by cobblers for stiffening and preserving threed cobbling, n [1 kóblɪŋ, 2 kóblɪŋ] cobbles (II) & -ing The work of a cobbler cobbling done here cobby, adj [1 kóbi, 2 kóbi] cob & -y Like a cob, 1, in build, shortish, thick set, stocky, of horses and persons

Cobdenism, n [1 kóbdenɪzəm, 2 kóbdenɪzəm], fr Richard Cobden (1804-65) & -ism Political and economic principles advocated by Cobden, esp free trade

Cobdenite, n [1 kóbdenɪt, 2 kóbdenɪt] Free & -ite Adherent of Cobdenism, esp a convinced believer in free trade in all circumstances co-belligerent, n [1 kóbelɪjərənt, 2 kóbelɪkɪərənt] co- & belligerent Power associated with another in carrying on a war coble, n [1 kóbl, kóbl, 2 kóubl, kóbl] Cp Bret caubal, W ceubal Flat-bottomed boat with lug sail, used for fishing cob-loaf, n cob 3, a, & loaf Small rounded loaf, with flat bottom, not baked in a tin cob-nut, n cob 3, a, & nut Variety of hazel-nut cobra, n [1 kóbra, 2 kóubra] Port cobra de capello, 'snake with a hood', cobra, fr Lat colubra, 'female adder', coluber, 'serpent, snake, adder', op Fr couleuvre The Lat word is for corubra* & fr base ker-*, 'bond, twist', as in Lat curvus, 'bent' See curve & carous a Venomous snake, Naja, with movable skin, resembling a hood, on its neck, found in India and other parts of Asia, b also allied kind, of Africa cobweb, n [1 kóbweb, 2 kóbweb] ME copweb, wh is for altercop-web, alter being OE for 'poison', & altercoppe, 'spider', occurring in OE, & altercop in ME The origin of this cop is unknown, it is found in same meaning in earlier Dn See web 1 a Network of thin threads spun by a spider from its own body to catch flies and small winged insects, b a single thread of this, often used for locating an object, in telescopes 2 Any very thin, unsubstantial, gauzy fabric, esp of thin shawls, or lace 3 (fig) As symbol of the obscuring of mental processes which have become inactive from disuse, or by prolonged concentration upon a single subject of study to blow the cobwebs from one's brain cobwebby, adj [1 kóbwebi, 2 kóbwebi] Preo & -y a Covered with, abounding in, cobwebs, b resembling these in texture and substance, light, filmy coca, n [1 kóka, 2 kóuka] Peruvian word South American plant, a decoction made from its leaves is used as a nerve tonic, and the dried leaves mixed with lime are chewed cocaine, n [1 kókaɪn, 2 kóukaɪn] Preo & -ine Alkaloid poisonous substance obtained from coca plant, used as a local anesthetic, also, in powdered form, snuffed up the nose by drug-takers, as an intoxicant and stimulant cocainism, n [1 kókáɪnɪzəm, 2 kóukaɪnɪzəm] Preo & -ism a Addiction to cocaine, as a drug, b poisoning by cocaine coccus, n, pl cocci [1 kókus, kókai, 2 kókus, kókai] Latinization of Gk kókkos, 'kernel, berry' Etymol unknown 1 One of many species of disease causing bacteria, spherical in shape 2 (entom) Any member of the family Coccidae or scale insects, such as the cochineal insect &c coccygeal, adj [1 kóksɪjəl, 2 kóksɪdʒəl], fr Gk kókkug-(os), base of kókkuz See next word & -al (anat) Of, pertaining to, the coccyx coccyz, n [1 kóksak, 2 kóksak] Lat, fr Gk kókkuz, 'a cuckoo', fr supposed resemblance in shape of the bone to a cuckoo's bill The Gk word is imitative, op cuckoo (anat) The vertebrae at the base of the spine in man and some of the apes, corresponding to the root of the tail in other animals cocoon-china, n [1 kókun óhina, 2 kótʃɪn tʃaɪna], fr country Breed of domestic fowl with feathered legs cocchineal, n [1 kókínɪəl, 2 kótʃɪnɪəl] Fr cochenille, fr Span cochinilla, dimin fr Lat coccinus, 'scarlet', fr coccum, 'berry', fr Gk kókkos See coccus Bright scarlet dye made from dried bodies of insects called coccus cacti, found in Central America, formerly believed to be seeds, which they greatly resemble cochlea, n [1 kókliə, 2 kókliə] Lat coch(h)lea, fr Gk kókh(h)la, 'snail', hence 'spiral in form of snail shell', prob fr loghli*, & thus connected w kókh(h)la, 'shell', see conch (anat) A spiral division of the inner ear cocleaze, n [1 kókliəz, 2 kókliəz] Lat coch(h)lear, 'spoon', prob dissimulated fr cocleazli* (see preo & -al), porh so named according to Bonaquo, because the pointed end was used to extract snails from their shells (med) A spoonful, the abbreviated form cocle is used in writing prescriptions cock (I), n [1 kók, 2 kók] Early in OE as coc, op O Fr coe, Mod Fr cog, L Lat coccus, prob of imitative origin, fr cry of bird, like cuckoo 1 a The male of domestic fowl, b male of other birds, when used with explanatory context, as the cock bird of this species &c, c in combination as name of birds eg woodcock, peacock &c, also cock of the woods, the capercaille, Phas that cock won't fight, that scheme, plan &c, will not succeed, won't answer, old cock, familiar, affectionate mode of address, old boy &c, cock and bull story, fantastic yarn that no one can believe, d used in various senses, esp in phrases, all based on the strutting and swaggering of a cock before his hens, or his pugnacious and dominating character, cock of the school, boy of dominating character, cock of the walk, dunghill, leading, ruling spirit in a body of men, live like a fighting cock, luxuriously

2 a Tap and spout, various objects supposed to resemble cock's head and comb watercock, &c, b hammer of a gun at half-cock &c, c weather vane, generally weather-cock cock (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 a To bring the hammer of a firearm into position for firing to cock one's pistol &c, b to turn back, or up, the brim of a hat (formerly), now to set a hat jauntily on side of the head (either from idea of pulling back, as in cocking a gun, or from that of swaggering like a cock), c to turn organs of sight or hearing towards some thing, ready for looking or listening to cock the ears, to prick them (of a dog, or facetiously, of a man), to listen, to cock one's eye at something (colloq), to glance at B intrans To swagger or strut like a cock (rare) C (with prep) Cock up, a to turn up, put up, b specif (boys' slang at Charterhouse School), to administer corporal punishment to, with an ash rod (Act of a monitor upon a junior boy for breach of discipline) cock (III), n, fr cock (II) a Smart, rapid, upward turn or movement. cock of the eyes, ears, b result of such a turn, a jauntily, sideways position a cock 'n o hat b r cock (IV), n & vb trans Cp Dan kok, 'hay-cock', & ON kókk, 'lump, ball' 1 n Pile of hay, raked together ready for carting

2 vb To put, or pile up (hay), into cocks cockabundy, n [1 kókabándi, 2 kókabándi] W cock a bon dhu, 'rod with bleak body', Artificial fly used in trout fishing cockade, n [1 kókád, 2 kókád], fr Fr cocarde, fr cog, 'cock', fr resemblance to comb of a cock See cock (I) Kind of ornamental device or rosette, worn in the hat by men servants of military and naval officers, or of others holding office under the Crown cock-a-doodle-doo, n [1 kókádódúdu, 2 kókádódúdu] Imitative word a Childish imitation of cry of a cock, b name for cock itself cock-a-hoop, adj [1 kókabóop, 2 kókabóop] a Elated, exultant, as with success, b (in bad sense) self satisfied, arrogant, hubristic cock-a-hoopness, n, fr preo & -ness Condition of being cock a hoop cockayne, n See cockayne cockle-leekie, n See cockle-leekie cockalorum, n [1 kókálórum, 2 kókálórum] Sham Latin A young cock, esp applied to a young, perky, rather conceited little man cockatoo, n [1 kókátú, 2 kókátú] Malay kakalua, influenced by cock (I) Crested parrot cockatrice, n [1 kókatrɪs, 2 kókatrɪs, -trɪs] ME cocatrice &c, fr O Fr cocatrice, 'johnnemon', &, by confusion w cocodrille, also crocodile The O Fr is fr L Lat cocatrice (em) for calcatrice (em), lit 'the trampler', fr calcare, 'to tread', a translation of Gk kladnómion, vb trampled out & devoured crocodiles' eggs See caulic & calceolaria 1 Fabulous reptile whose glance was venomous, supposed to be hatched by some reptile from the egg of a cock, a basilisk 2 (hor) Creature having head, wings, and legs of a cock, with a serpent's body and tail 3 (fig) A seductive, disengaging woman cockayne, cockayne, n [1 kókán, 2 kókán] O Fr coquaine, perh connected w Lat coquere, 'to cook', see cock, Mod Fr pays de cocagne, perh lit 'land of oaks' a Imaginary land of plenty and delights, b (facetious) the land of Cockayne, place where cockneys live, London cock-boat, n The first element is derived by Skoat & Diaz ultimately fr Lat concha, 'shell' See conch O Fr has cogue, 'kind of boat', op also Ital cocca, Span coca, 'boat' A doublet co(g) fr Scand sources is found in ME ON has kuggr & Dan Loq, 'a boat', prob early independent borrowings fr Lat Small boat attached to a ship cockchafer, n [1 kókcháfər, 2 kókcháfər] cock (I) (expressing -size) & chafer Large, winged beetle, pale brown in colour, which flies by night, in summer time, with a loud humming of its wings cock-crow, n See cock (I) & crow (III) In OE hancrod, cock crow, is used in the sense of the early hour, the second element being derived fr crōian, 'to crow' The hour at which cocks begin to crow, the early hours, dawn cock (I), vb trans [1 kókər, 2 kókər] Found in sense of 'to pamper' in 15th cent Skoat adduces early Dan kókk, 'to call often, as a cock or hen does', also Norw kókk, (1) 'to cackle', (2) 'to peck, pamper' Doubtless the word is derived fr a Norse word used in above senses, but not, as Skoat suggests, fr the idea of calling chickens, to feed them constantly, hence to pamper, since this office is performed by the hen On the other hand, the cock does call the hens when he finds a tit bit, & the sense is no doubt derived fr the cock pampering his wives in this way

To cry col in ME is to call constantly as a cock does To pamper, cosset, indulge (children) Also cockle up, feed up with dainties

Cocker (II), n Proper name, Edward Cocker (1831-75), a celebrated teacher of arithmetic in London, whose book on this subject went through a hundred editions Only in phrase according to Cocker, in order, correct, as it should be, orthodox cockorol, n [1 kókrəl, 2 kókrəl] Dimin of cock (I) A young cock, from the time it is hatched, until about a year old cocker spaniel, n Moderate sized spaniel, of various colours, black and white, black and tan, liver, red &c, bred for retrieving game, and as a pet cockot, n [1 kóket, 2 kóket] Origin doubtful A Seal of King's on stone house, b kind of leavened bread cock-eyed, adj, fr cock (II) 1 (colloq slang) Squinting, having crooked eyes 2 Generally, crooked, slanting, out of the straight line, also often cockeye the pictures are hung all cockeye, (of a crooked, badly made person) to be built cockeye(d) cock-fight, n cock (I) & fight (I) Organized contest between gamecocks, which used to have long steel spurs fastened to their feet cock-fighting, n Proo & -ing Practice, sport, of setting gamecocks to fight cockle (I), n [1 kókl, 2 kókl], also corn-cockle O E cocele, 'fates' &c, perh dimin of Lat coccum, 'berry' See coch-lineal Any of various plants which grow in cornfields, including the corn cockle cockle (II), n M E cokele, fr coquille, dimin of coq, 'shell', fr Lat concha See conch Edible bivalve with shells somewhat in the shape of a heart Phr to warm the cockles of one's heart, cheer, hearten one, physically and morally (Connexion is obscure) cockle (III), vb intrins & trans Forth ridges on cockle-shell? 1 intrins To wrinkle or pucker, become warped 2 trans To cause to wrinkle &c cockle-shell, n See cockle (II) & shell 1 A One of the shells of a cockle, b any shell of approximately this shape, esp one formerly carried by pilgrims to the Holy Land 2 A very light, fragile, boat cock-loft, n cock (I) & loft a Originally a place where cocks roosted, b (derisively) a small garret or attic, esp one just under the roof, any small room in an upper storey approached by a steep, narrow stair cockney, n & adj [1 kókn, 2 kókn] M E cockney, used for 'egg', cohen, is a gen pl, for O E cna, the last syll. is M E ey, 'egg', O E eg See egg The word, therefore, means lit 'cock's egg', a term still applied to small yolky eggs Hence it was used as a term of reproach, meaning orig an effeminate, foolish person, also, a spoilt child See Shoat on this word Prob the term was applied to towns men as representing the view of country dwellers 1 n A One born in London, traditionally within the sound of Bow Bells, and passing his life there, b specif, a vulgar person from London, esp one with a London accent, and possessing certain characteristics of mind and manners which are supposed to be typical of Londoners, c a vulgar, presuming, trivial fellow from a town 2 adj Be longing to, connected with, cockneys in any sense a cockney accent, manner &c cockneydom, n [1 kóknidm, 2 kóknidm] Prec & -dom District inhabited, social circles frequented, by cockneys cockneyism, n [1 kóknizm, 2 kóknizm] cockney & -ism A characteristic vulgarity belonging to the speech of Londoners, e g plate pronounced very like plait [plait] or house, pronounced [hous] cockpit, n [1 kókpít, 2 kókpít] cock (I) & pit (I) 1 Small enclosure or arena, with raised border, used in cock-fighting 2 Quarters of junior officers, below deck, in an old man of war, used in battle for the wounded 3 The scene of any considerable contest Flanders has been called the cockpit of Europe 4 Small space in an aeroplane for accommodation of pilot, or passenger cockroach, n [1 kókrósh, 2 kókrósh], fr Spon cucaracha, 'woodlouse, kind of centipede' Offensive insect of the Blattidae family, which infests houses, of which the domestic black beetle is a variety, it attacks any kind of food, the male is winged, the female wingless, and both run rapidly cock robin, n a Male of the robin, b applied to a small, bright-eyed, alert, perky man cockscumb, n [1 kóskóm, 2 kóskóm] cock (I) & oomb See also coxeomb 1 The fleshy red crest on the head of a cock 2 Large red, feathery flower, supposed to resemble above in shape and colour cockshy, n [1 kóshí, 2 kóshí] cock (I) & shy (IV) 1 Ancient game, which consisted of throwing sticks at gamecocks tied to stakes 2 Game, practised at fairs and shows, of throwing a stick, or ball, at coco nuts &c, balanced on stands, those knocked off being handed as a prize to the persons who hit them 3 A throw, shy, shot, at coco nuts &c, at a fair, b a shy at any object taken as a mark or target, c object at which one shies cock sparrow, n cock (I) & sparrow a Male of the sparrow, b small, insignificant-looking little men who give himself certain airs of importance cock-sure, adj cock (I) & sure (formerly) Perfectly certain or assured (of something), now generally a (of a habit of mind) self-confident, overweeningly sure of one's own judgement, convinced that one is right, b (of event &c) certain to happen cocksureness, n Prec & -ness Excessive self confidence cocksy See coxy

cocktail, n [1 kóktél, 2 kóktél] cock (II) & tail 1 A Horse which is neatly, but not quite thoroughbred, b vulgar, ill bred person raised above his station 2 American short drink, or appetizer, of various kinds, but always consisting of spirit, whether gin or not, bitters, and various flavourings, and often iced cock-up, n [1 kókup, 2 kókup] (typog) Letter or figure in abbreviations lifted above the alignment, as in M¹, x² &c cocky, adj [1 kóki, 2 kóki] cock (I) & -y See various coxy w slight difference of meaning Bumptious, conceited, inclined to swagger cocky-leekie, n [1 kókiléki, 2 kókiléki] cock (I) & leak Soup made of a fowl, generally an old cock, or hen, boiled down with leeks cockyolly bird, n [1 kókiólí bérð, 2 kókiólí bérð] Baby name for a bird coco (also by confusion w next word, cocoa), n [1 kókó, 2 kókou], or when hyphenated w another word [kókou], fr Port coco, 'grimace', fr resemblance of nut to a monkey's face A tropical palm tree and its fruit, chiefly in compounds, as coco nut, coco palm cocoa n [1 kókó, 2 kókou] Anglicized form of ocao a Fine powder made from the ground seeds of the cacao plant, b drink made from this, with the addition of hot water, sugar, and milk cocoa bean, n Seed of cacao plant, from which the substance known as cocoa, and also chocolate is made cocoa nib n Cocoa bean with husk removed cocoa powder, n Kind of gunpowder, so called from its colour coco-nut, n See coco & nut a Large nut with hard shell, surrounded by fibrous husk, and thick hard white hollow kernel with characteristic taste, filled with milky juice, coco nut milk, b (vulg) human head coco-nut tree, n The coco palm cocoon, n [1 kókoun, 2 kókoun, kékoun] Fr cocoon, formed fr coque, 'shell of eggs' See cock-boat & conch Outer envelope of silk, or silk like thread, which a caterpillar spins round itself at the end of this stage of its existence, and within which it develops into the final stage, and whence it emerges as a butterfly, moth &c coco-palm, n Tree with pinnate leaves, growing freely in the tropics, upon which coco nuts grow cod (I), n [1 kóð, 2 kóð] In M E Only found in Engl Etymol unknown Connexion w cod (II) hardly possible, though suggested by Skeat 1 Large sea fish, genus Gadus, esp G morhua, with soft fins and firm, but flaky, rather tasteless flesh Also cod fish cod (II), n O E codde, 'bag, shell, husk, skin of a grape', M E cod, codde, 'pod, husk of leguminous plants', also 'sorotum', op also ON kudri, 'sorotum of animals', Swed. dial hude, 'pod', & Jutland dial kedde, 'pod, sorotum' In 16th cent cod is used in Engl for 'pillow', ep ON lodd, 'pillow' All these words are cogn w Goth gipus, 'womb' O E cūþ, cūþa, 'womb' The latter words go back to Aryan gʷod*, Gmo knip*, u, codd &c go back to Gmo kubdā*, fr Aryan gʷald* A further cogn fr an Aryan gʷod* typo is Lat botulus, 'sausage', w Umbrian b for gʷ* See botulism

The orig meaning of the base is prob 'to swell out' This word is now obsolete in English, apart from provincial dialects, except perhaps in peasecod, shell or pod of peas, but is of frequent occurrence in 16th and 17th cent literature in general sense of bag, and in other M E meanings given above See cod-piece cod (III), vb trans Etymol doubtful (slang) To hear, play tricks on, to swindle, cheat coddle, vb trans [1 kódl, 2 kódl] Prob a form of caudle Take excessive care of, treat as though frail and delicate, esp by feeding choicely, and protecting from cold and damp, to plumper, cosset code (I), n [1 kóð, 2 kóð] Fr, fr Lat codex, 'book' &c 1 Systematic body of laws compiled by authority of the state 2 Set of accepted manners and morals current in a given section of society code of honour 3 A set of conventional symbols used in transmitting messages by flags, telegraph, heliograph &c Morse code &c, b agreed system of fictitious or words used in a very secret or private communications, in which a letter or word is put for one quite different code (II), vb trans To put a message into the symbols of a code 3 codene, n [1 kóðén, 2 kóðén] Gk. kódēn, 'poppy head', &-ino Cp Gk kódos, 'cavern, burrow', kólos (fr kólos*), 'hollow', fr base kow*, kew*, 'hollow', seen also in cave (I) Alkaloid derived from opium, used as a narcotic &c codex, n [1 kóðeks, 2 kóðeks] Lat, also caudex, 'trunk of a tree, block of wood, writing tablet, ledger' &c Orig 'tree which has been felled', connected w cūdere, 'strike, beat, pound' &c, the base kow* is found in Gmo as kaw*, cp O E hawan, 'how' &c See further under hew, hay

A manuscript, or manuscript volume, applied especially to an ancient manuscript of the Scriptures, or of a classical author codger, n [1 kójer, 2 kóðje] Variant of cadger (colloq and facetious) A queer old fellow, chiefly an old codger codicil, n [1 kódisil, 2 kódisil] Fr codicille, fr Lat codicillus, dimin of codex, 'small tree trunk, small writing tablet, a short writing, petition &c, addition to a will' An addition to a will, modifying its provisions in some particular, a codicil must be formally signed and witnessed in the same way as the main body of the will codicillary, adj [1 kódisilari, 2 kódisilari] Prec & -ary Connected with, of the nature of, a codicil codification, n [1 kódikifikashun, 2 kódikifikashun] See code (I) & -fication a set or process of putting laws in form of a code, b result of such act codify, vb trans [1 kódifí, 2 kódifí] code & -fy To reduce laws to the form of a code codling (I), n [1 kódlɪŋ, 2 kódlɪŋ] cod (I) & -ling a Young cod, b a small kind of cod codling (II), n M E querdling, quadrin in Bacon Skeat cites Ir cúirt, 'apple tree'. The suff in any case is Engl -ling. Cooking apple, generally of inferior quality, and rather tapering towards the apex codlin(g) moth, n Small moth which lays its eggs in the eye of an apple, pear, or quince, and whose grub when hatched out eats its way into, and destroys the fruit cod-liver oil, n [1 kódlɪvər ɔɪl, 2 kódlɪvər ɔɪl] Oil, the source of which is suggested by its name, used as tonic and nutriment for the weak and sickly codpiece, n [1 kɒdpɛs, 2 kɒdpɪs] See cod (II) & piece (archaic) Part of a man's attire, formerly, an appendage, more or less in form of a bag, often highly ornamented, worn in front of the breeches co-ed, n [1 kɒ ɛd, 2 kɒ ɛd] Abbr of next word (slang, USA) Girl student at a school &c, where co education is practised co-education, n [1 kɒdɪkəlɪʃən, 2 kɒdɪkəlɪʃən] co- & education System of educating children of both sexes in the same school and class co-efficient, adj & n [1 kɒfɪʃɪənt, 2 kɒfɪʃɪənt] co- & efficient a adj Combining with something else to produce result, b n, that which combines, is united with some other factor or factors to produce a given result, the word has special and specific applications in mathematics and physics coel(o)-, pref Form used in composition, fr Gk κοῖλος, 'hollow', for kōilos*, cogn w Lat cavus, 'hollow'. See cave & coelome coelenterate, adj & n [1 sɛlɛntərət, 2 sɛlɛntərət] coelo- & Gk έντερον, 'intestine', see enteric & -ate (zool) a adj Of, pertaining to, the Coelenterata, the group of marine invertebrates which includes the jelly-fish, sea-anemones, corals &c, so called as having a single body-cavity or coelenteron, b n, member of this group coeno-, ceno-, pref Form used in composition, fr Gk κοινός, 'common, public', the word is possibly, though not certainly, connected w Lat com, cum, 'together with' &c See coenobite, n [1 sɛnɒbɪt, 2 sɪnɒbɪt] L Lat coenobita, 'member of a social fraternity', cp coenobium, 'member of a monastery', fr Gk κοινὸν, in same sense, fr κοινός, 'common', see prec & bios, 'life', see biology One living in a conventual establishment, or similar institution, member of a community sharing a common life coenobitic(al), adj [1 sɛnɒbɪtɪk(əl), 2 sɪnɒbɪtɪk(əl)] Preo & -ic & -al Pertaining to a coenobite the coenobitic life co-equal, adj [1 kɒɪkwəl, 2 kɒɪkwəl] Lat coaequalis, 'equal' co- & equal, coaequare means 'to put on same level, equalize' (chiefly theological) Having complete equality co-equality, n [1 kɒɪkwɒlɪtɪ, 2 kɒɪkwɒlɪtɪ] Complete equality co-equate, vb trans & intrans [1 kɒɪkwæt, 2 kɒɪkwɛɪt] co- & equate Lat coaequatum, PP of coaequare, 'equalize' a trans To make completely equal to something else, b intrans, to become completely equal to something else co-equation, n [1 kɒɪkwɒʃən, 2 kɒɪkwɛɪʃən] Preo & -ion a Act of making equal, b process of becoming equal, c fact of being equal coerce, vb trans [1 kɔɪs, 2 kɔɪs] Lat co-arcere, 'to shut up together, confine', (fig) 'confine, restrain, limit, repress, punish', fr co- & arcere, 'to shut up, enclose', cogn w arca, 'chest, coffer'. See ark a To compel (a person) by exercise of authority or force, to act in a certain way, or to abstain from a given action, to constrain, usually with into to coerce a person into an agreement, silence &c, b (more rarely) to secure, obtain by compulsion to coerce acquiescence coercible, adj [1 kɔɪsəbəl, 2 kɔɪsəbəl] Preo & -ible Liable to be, capable of being, coerced coercion, n [1 kɔɪsɪʃən, 2 kɔɪsɪʃən] coerce & -ion Act, or process of compelling, constraining by force, esp of system of government in which various liberties are suspended coercive, adj [1 kɔɪsɪv, 2 kɔɪsɪv] coerce & -ive Pertaining to, characterized by, coercion esp coercive methods, measures &c coercively, adv Preo & -ly By the exercise of coercion coerciveness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being coercive co-essential, adj [1 kɒsɛnsɪʃəl, 2 kɒsɛnsɪʃəl] co- & essential Having one and the same nature or essence co-eternal, adj [1 kɒɛtɜːnəl, 2 kɒɛtɜːnəl] co- & eternal Equally eternal, chiefly a theological use coeval, adj [1 kɒɪvəl, 2 kɒɪvəl] co- & Lat coeval, 'age', & -al, coeval is cogn w Engl aye, ever, also age Having the same age, existing during same period (esp of a remote period) co-executor, n [1 kɒɛgzɛktʊːtə, 2 kɒɛgzɛktʊːtə] co- & executor One who is an executor jointly with another co-executrix, n [1 kɒɛgzɛktʊːtrɪks, 2 kɒɛgzɛktʊːtrɪks] Fem of prec co-exist, vb intrans [1 kɒɛgzɪst, 2 kɒɛgzɪst] co- & exist a To exist at same time as, b to exist in association with (Sometimes coexist with, or together with) co-existence, n [1 kɒɛgzɪstəns, 2 kɒɛgzɪstəns] Preo & -ence Existence at same time as, or in association with co-existent, adj [1 kɒɛgzɪstənt, 2 kɒɛgzɪstənt] co- & existent Existing at same time as, or together with co-extensive, adj [1 kɒɛkstɛnsɪv, 2 kɒɛkstɛnsɪv] co- & extensive Having equal extension in time or space coffee, n [1 kɒfi, 2 kɒfi] Turk & Arab qahveh 1 a Evergreen shrub growing originally indigenous in Abyssinia and now cultivated in Arabia, W Africa, Ceylon, Java, and Brazil &c, with pulpy berries containing hard aromatic seeds, b pungent drink made from a decoction of these seeds ('beans') roasted and ground fine Black coffee, this drink made strong and undiluted with milk coffee-bean, n The seed of coffee plant, whence the drink is made coffee-berry, n a The fruit of coffee plant which contains the seeds, b (more commonly) the coffee bean coffee-cup, n Small cup, usually of delicate china, from which coffee is consumed coffee-house, n House of public entertainment where coffee and other non-alcoholic drinks are consumed, formerly a place of resort for literary men, used as a kind of club coffee-mill, n Contrivance for crushing or grinding the roasted coffee beans by turning a handle which sets small rollers in motion coffee-pot, n Vessel of silver, earthenware &c, in which the drink coffee is made or served coffee-room, n Room in an inn or old-fashioned hotel in which public meals are served, hotel dining room coffer (I), n [1 kɒfə, 2 kɒfə] Variant of coffin M E, fr O Fr coffre, 'box', fr Gk κόφινος, 'a basket' a Strong chest or box, esp one for storing valuables, specif, money-box, b panel in ceiling, deeply recessed and ornamented, c a coffer-dam coffer (II), vb trans, fr prec To enclose in a coffer coffer-dam, n Enclosed space on river-bed &c from which water has been pumped, and which is filled with clay &c tightly rammed down, used in making foundations for piers of a bridge &c, a caisson coffin (I), n [1 kɒfɪn, 2 kɒfɪn] M E, fr O Fr cofin, Lat cofinus, fr Gk κόφινος, 'basket' The etymol of Gk. word is very doubtful, it is possibly non-Aryan. 1 Receptacle or case, formerly of stone or metal, now usually of wood, in which the bodies of the dead are buried Phr a nail in one's coffin, action, or event, which has disastrous effect on one's health, future career 2 Coffin bone of a horse coffin (II), vb trans, fr prec To place in a coffin coffin-bone, n Bone inside horse's hoof, corresponding to a finger or toe in other mammals coffin-joint, n That just above coronet in horse's foot coffin-plate, n Metal plate attached to lid of a coffin, bearing name, date of death &c of the dead within coffin-ship, n Ship so unsound and unseaworthy as to make it seem probable that those who sail in her will perish at sea coffle, n [1 kɒfi, 2 kɒfi] Arab qafilah, 'caravan' String of beasts, eg camels, fastened together, a caravan cog (I), n [1 kɒg, 2 kɒg] Scand Cp Dan. logge One of a series of tooth-like projections on rim of a wheel, a cam for transmitting motion cog (II), vb trans & intrans Origin unknown. a To manipulate fraudulently the fall of dice, hence, b to cheat, swindle; not fraudulently cog (III), n Scand Cp O N kogg, koggr, see cock-boat Small fishing boat cogency, n [1 kɒjənsɪ, 2 kɒdʒɪn(t)sɪ], fr cogent & -cy Condition of being cogent, (of arguments, reasons &c) convincing force cogent, adj [1 kɒjənt, 2 kɒdʒɪnt] Lat, fr cogent (em), Preo Part of cogere, 'to drive together, compel', fr co- & agere, 'to drive' See agent, act &c. Chiefly a (ol non-material force) impelling, appealing to, the mind, so as to influence it powerfully, persuasive, convincing cogent reasons, arguments &c, also b (facetiously) of actual physical compulsion the policeman's hand on his shoulder was a cogent reason for his departure cogently, adv Preo & -ly In a cogent manner cogged, adj [1 kɒgd, 2 kɒgd] PP of cog (II) in mistaken sense (of dice) Loaded for purpose of cheating cogitable, adj [1 kɒjɪtəbəl, 2 kɒdʒɪtəbəl] Lat cogitabilis, fr cogitare, 'ponder, reflect upon' See cogitate Thinkable, capable of being made subject of thought cogitate, vb intrans (rarely trans) [1 kɒjɪtət, 2 kɒdʒɪtət] Lat, fr cogitāt (um), PP of cogitare, 'ponder deeply, reflect upon' &c, fr co- & agitare, 'put in constant or frequent motion, toss about, shake up and down' &c, (fig) 'turn over in the mind' See agitate a intrans To think deeply, ponder, ruminate, plan, b (rarely) trans, to think out, devise to cogitate a scheme cogitation, n [1 kɒjɪtəʃən, 2 kɒdʒɪtəʃən] Preo & -ion a Act of cogitating, b (esp in pl) the results of this, thought, plans cogitative, adj [1 kɒjɪtətɪv, 2 kɒdʒɪtətɪv] cogitate & -ive a Having faculty of thought, b inclined, given, to cogitation, pensive cogitatively, adv Preo & -ly In a pensive manner cognac, n [1 kɒnjæk, 2 kɒnjæk] Fr Phœ- Name Brandy, distilled from wine, made at Cognac, (loosely) brandy in general cognate (I), adj [1 kɒɡnət, 2 kɒɡnət] Lat cognatus, 'related by birth, kindred, cognate', related by birth, kindred, connected, similar, fr co- & (g)na-tus, 'born', PP of nascor, 'to be born' cognate (II), n [1 kɒɡnət, 2 kɒɡnət] See natal 1 Sprung from a common stock, having common ancestor, related by blood, (In this literal sense, applicable to men and animals, the word is far less used than in the derived and figurative senses) 2 Having common source or origin, a (of languages) derived from the same original language, sprung from the same primitive mother tongue English and Dutch are cognate languages, both belonging to the Germanic family, the Germanic, Celtic, Slavonic, Italian,

Hellenic, and Indian families of language are cognate, being all derived from Primitive Aryan, the mother tongue of them all, b (of words) derived from the same 'root' or base, or from same complete word in the mother tongue Greek pater, Latin pater, English father, are unmistakably cognate, o (of things of the mind) having affinity, close resemblance, much in common cognate ideas, tastes, physics and astronomy are cognate sciences

cognate (II), n. 1 (law) Person having blood-relationship to another 2 Anything closely related to, having common origin with, or resembling, another, (specif. of languages and words, see (I), 2, a and b) Latin vivus, Greek bios, 'life', and English quick, olive, are cognates cognition, n [1 kogníshun, 2 kogníʃən] cognate (I) & -ion Blood relationship cognition, n [1 kogníshun, 2 kogníʃən] Lat cognitio-(em), 'a becoming acquainted with, acquiring of knowledge, knowledge, a conception, notion, idea', fr cognitum, P.P. of cognoscere, 'to understand, learn' &c, fr co- & gnoscere, 'to know' See cognoscible a Fact of knowing, knowledge, b mental process whereby consciousness is acquired of what is perceived by the senses, or conceived by the mind cognitive, adj [1 kognítiv, 2 kognítiv] Lat cognit, sos preo, & -ive Connected with, belonging to, cognition cognizable, adj [1 kognízabl, kognízabl, 2 kognízabl, kognízabl] (Later pronunciation due to influence of cognizo) Fr See this word & -able Capable of being known, cognoscible cognizance, n [1 kognízans, 2 kognízans] The Lat word is cognascentia, wh has been remodelled on anal. of cognize & -ance 1 Fact of being aware, conscious recognition, range or sphere of knowledge within one's cognizance, to have cognizance of Phr to take cognizance of, to notice, to become consciously aware of, esp officially 2 (her) Distinctive badge, coat of arms &c cognizant, adj [1 kognízant, 2 kognízant] Next word & -ant. Aware of, informed of, in the condition of having perceived and apprehended (followed by of) cognize vb trans [1 kogníz, 2 kogníz] The base is fr Lat cognoscere See cognoscible, w Gk suff -ize Take, have, cognizance of, know, recognize cognomen, n [1 kognómén, 2 kognóumén] Lat cognōmen, 'a Roman family name, a name', fr co- & nōmen, 'name' See nomininal. The g is due to confusion of the word for name w an entirely different word grōmen*, fr Gk grōma, 'mark, token', fr base gnō*, 'to know', q v under gnostic, cognoscible, know Family name, eur name, appellation cognoscento, n, pl -enti [1 kōnyōshénto, & 2 kōnyōshénti, -i] Ital (lit) One who knows, a connoisseur of art &c cognoscible, adj [1 kognósíbl, 2 kognósíbl] Lat cognoscibilis, 'knowable', fr cognoscere, 'investigate, understand, learn, know', & -ibilis, q v under -ible The vb is fr co- & noscere, earlier gnoscere*, 'become acquainted with, learn, know', the base is gnō- &c, & fr the various forms of it como Lat. i gnōrāre, 'be ignorant' (see ignore), Gk gnōskō, know, see gnostic Goth kanran, Engl. cunnan, 'to be able' (see can, ken), OE cnanan, 'know' (see know) Able to be known, cognizable cognovit, n [1 kōgnóvit, 2 kōgnóvit] Lat, he has acknowledged '3rd pers sing of perf of cognovire See pre (law) Document signed by defendant in a civil action brought against him, in which to save time and expense of defending, he admits liability, thus authorizing judgement being entered against him cogwheel, n [1 kōgwí, 2 kōgwí] cog (L) & wheel Wheel furnished with cogs cohabit vb intrans [1 kōhábit, 2 kōhábit] Lat. cohabitare, 'dwell in, have possession of, a place', fr co- & habitare, 'to have possession of, inhabit' See habit To live with, to live together, generally specif, to live together as man and wife (followed by with, or absolutely) cohabitation, n [1 kōhábitashun, 2 kōhábitashun] Prec & -ation Act or fact of cohabiting co-heir, n [1 kōár, 2 kōuár], fem co-heiress [1 kōáres, 2 kōuáres] co- & heir, -ess Joint heir or heiress, one who is heir along with another cohere, vb intrans [1 kōhēr, 2 kōuhēr] Lat cohaerere, 'to stick, cling together', fr co- & haerere, 'to stick, cling, be close' The latter vb may be fr a base ghēis* &c, & the suggestion has been made that Goth us gairjon, 'to terrify' & us-gairnan, 'to become terrified', as though orig 'to become stiff with horror', are also fr this base If so, then Engl ghost, ghastly, are cognates The difference of meaning, however, makes the proposed etymol doubtful, op adnere 1. To remain united, stick together as parts of a single mass 2 (fig. of non material things) To be united by common principle, remain a unity, be logically consistent coherence, -cy, n [1 kōhērāns(i), 2 kōuhērāns(i)] Prec & -ence, -cy A sticking, cleaving, together (gen in fig sense), a logical consistency, b clearness of utterance, c clearness, intelligibility, in expression of ideas Contrast this with cohesion coherent, adj [1 kōhērēt, 2 kōuhērēt] Lat coherens (em), Prec Part of coherere, 'stick together' See cohere 1 Having the property of sticking together, remaining in union (of particles which compose solid or fluid bodies) 2 (fig) a (of mental processes) Logically consistent, consequent, clear coherent thought, reasoning &c, b (of verbal utterance of thought) properly articulated, clearly uttered, hence, o intelligible coherently, adv Prec & -ly In a coherent manner, consistently, intelligibly coherer, n [1 kōhērēr, 2 kōuhērēr] cohere & -or Device for detecting radiated ether waves in wireless co-heritage, n [1 kōhērēt, 2 kōuhērēt] co- & heritage Heritage to which one person is heir together with another co-heritor, n [1 kōhērētēr, 2 kōuhērētēr, 5] co- & heritor Co heir cohesion, n [1 kōhēzhun, 2 kōuhēzhun] Fr, fr Lat cohaesio (em), formed fr type in cohaesum, P.P. of cohaerere, & -ion See cohere Act or condition of cohering, esp a in physical sense, sticking together, state of union (of the particles of a mass), also b (fig) spiritual unity, harmony, agreement the Conservative Party lacked cohesion cohesive adj [1 kōhēziv, 2 kōuhēziv], fr Lat base cohaes as in preo, & -ive Tending to, promoting, cohesion, inclined to cohere (in lit and fig senses) cohesiveness, n Prec & -ness The property, or condition, of cohering of being cohesive cohort, n [1 kōhōrt, 2 kōuhōrt] Lat cohort (em) acc of cohortis, 'enclosed place, yard', hence, 'a body of soldiers guarding a fortified enclosure', specific name in ancient Rome for a division of soldiers composing tenth part of a legion, fr co- & the base in Lat hortus, 'enclosed place for plants a garden' (see horticulture), cp Gk kōrtos, courtyard, feeding place, & hōrtos, 'fatten cattle at the stall', (both words have basal idea of 'enclosing') The Aryan base is gherd-, ghord &c, 'to enclose' See further court, garden, garth, yard (II) a Roman sense as above, b a body of troops, army (often in pl) coif, n [1 kōif, 2 kōif] M.E. fr O Fr coiffe, fr Low Lat coffa, coffa, 'cap', a borrowing fr OHG chuppha, 'cap worn under a helmet', MHG kuffe, kuffe, wh is a dimin of the OHG kepp, 'cap', also 'head'. The word cappe, 'cap', occurs in OE, & fr, together w the HG word, is itself an early borrowing fr Lat cappe, drinking vessel' .See cup Head dress consisting of a close fitting cap, or hood The cap formerly worn under a helmet was called a coif, likewise a white cap worn in England by sergeants at-law, which later became a mere black patch of cloth fastened to the top of the wig coiffeur, n [1 kwahfēr, 2 kwāfā] Fr Hair dresser coiffure, n [1 kwahfūr, 2 kwāfjūs] Fr, 'head dress, hairdressing' Mode of dressing the hair in women coign, quoin, n [1 kōin, 2 kōin], fr O Fr coign, Mod Fr coin, 'corner', fr Lat cuneus, 'wedge' The suggested equation of this word w O Ir ceann, W pen, 'head, point' &c, is rejected by Waldo See ouinate (arbit) a The external angle of wall or other building, b a dressed ashlar of which coigns are built See quoin Apart from above special use, the word occurs chiefly in coign of vantage, a favourable position for seeing what is going on coil (L), vb trans & intrans [1 kōil, 2 kōil] O Fr coillir, 'collect', Mod Fr cueillir, 'gather, pluck', fr Lat colligere, 'gather, pick up, draw together' See collect (II) 1 trans To wind or gather up in cylindrical or spiral folds, as to coil a rope. 2 intrans To wind round, turn in upon itself as though coiled a rope coils round a mast, a serpent round a tree &c coil (II), n, fr pre 1 a A series of circular folds, as of a rope when coiled, b any one of such folds 2 (elect) Device consisting of a number of turns of insulated wire carrying a current and producing various electric and magnetic phenomena, as in electric bells, dynamo &c, see inductance coil (III), n Origin unknown (archaic) Tumult, confusion, bustle 'I am not worth this coil that's made of me' (Shakespeare), 'this mortal coil' (Shakespeare), the turmoil of earthly life coin (I), n [1 kōin, 2 kōin] Doublet of coign, fr Lat cuneus, 'wedge', the Fr word meant also 'stamp' A piece of metal (rarely another substance) officially stamped and used as money, b (colloq) money collectively to have plenty of coin Phrs to pay a man back in his own coin treat him as he has treated oneself, false coin, had money, also (fig) an imitation, fraud coin (II), vb trans, fr pre O Fr coigner, Mod Fr cogrer, 'strike' a To stamp, make coins, to mint, b to invent, give currency to, new word or expression Phr to be coming money, make large profits, grow rich coinage, n [1 kōimj, 2 kōimj] coin (I) & -age a Act of minting or stamping money, b that which is minted, coins collect vely, current in a given country and age, o act of inventing new word or expression, word &c thus made coincide, vb intrans [1 kōinsid, 2 kōinsid] fr Lat co- & incidere, 'to fall upon, light upon', (also fig) 'to fall out, happen' (see incident), fr in- & cadere, 'to fall'; see cadence 1 (of space) To occupy the same amount, to correspond in area, position, or outline a tracing of accurate necessarily coincides with the drawing from which it is made, the back gardens of all houses in the street coincide with each other in size 2 (of time) To happen at the same period, happen during, take up, the same period of time the death of Othello may be said to coincide with the end of the Middle English period of the language, payment of an annuity coincides with the lifetime of the annuitant 3 (fig, of mental and moral acts and states) To agree, be in harmony with, concur, show exact correspondence our tastes and habits exactly coincide. 4 (of weight, amount, number &c) To be equal or equivalent to, be adequate his income hardly coincided with his expenditure, our resources coincide with our requirements coincidence, n [1 kōinsidens, 2 kōinsidens] Fr, as fr Lat coincident & -ia See coincident. 1 Fact, or condition, of coinciding, in any sense coincidence of space, time, amount, wishes &c 2 Noteworthy event, circumstance, or series of such, which occurs in conjunction, or synchronously, with others, and is of such a character as to suggest a connexion of cause and effect, although apparently no connexion of the kind exists coincident, adj [1 kóinsident, 2 kóuinsident] oo- & Lat incident(-em), Prose Part of incidence, 'happen, fall out' See coincide Coinciding, happening at same time, agreeing with his mother's death was coincident with his birth, what has occurred is coincident with my hopes coincidental, adj [1 kóinsidentl, 2 kóuinsidentl] Prece & -al Exhibiting coincidences, coincident coincidentally, adv Prece & -ly As, by way of, (a) coincidence coiner, n [1 kóiner, 2 kóina] coin (II) & -er One who coins, espec, a maker of false money co-instantaneous, adj [1 kó instantáneus, 2 kóu instantáneus] oo- & instantaneous Happening at precisely the same moment coir, n [1 kóir, 2 kóia] Malayalam kayar, 'cord' Fibre made from the husk of the coco-nut, used for door-mats, cables &c colition, n [1 kóishun, 2 kóuifun] Lat colitio(-em), 'ooming together' fr oo- & lit-, fr vb ire, 'to go' See iterate, itinerant Sexual intercourse colitus, n [1 kóitus, 2 kóuitas] Lat See prece Cention coko, n & vb trans [1 kók, 2 kóuk] Etymol donhtful, used in sense of 'cinder' in 17th cent 1 n Coal from which a large part of the gas has been extracted by heating in an oven or retort, leaving a rough, light, brittle substance, used for heating 2 vb To turn (coal) into coko coko-oven, n Oven in which coal is heated to produce coko coker-nut, n [1 kóker nut, 2 kóuk: nat] Vulgarism for coco-nut, in sense of a sweet-meat flavoured with this col, n [1 kol, 2 kó] Fr, 'the neck, a pass', fr Lat collum, 'neck', wh is for colsem*, v wh. op O E heals, 'neck', O H G & Mod Germ hals See collar Depression in a mountain range or chain, affording a pass from one valley to another col-, pref Form of co- occurring before l- cola, kóla, n [1 kóla, 2 kóula] W Afr Tree bearing a seed (cola-nut), used as tonic colander, n See collendor colcannon, calecannon, n [1 kol-, kálkanun, 2 kó-, kálkánun] First element cole or cale, second element unknown Favourite dish in Ireland, made of potatoes, cabbage, and onions boiled together colchicum, n [1 kólochikum, 2 kóitjikam] Lat, fr Gk kolchikón, neut adj, fr Place-Name Colchis A plant known as autumn crocus, or meadow saffron, b narcotic drug obtained from corm, or seeds, of this, used for rheumatism and gout colcothar, n [1 kólkothar, 2 kólkopá] Arab golqotár Red oxide of iron, used in polishing glass and cleaning metals cold (I), adj [1 kóld, 2 kóuld] O E (Anglian) cald, O H G kalt, Goth kalds, O N kaldr, Lat gelidus, 'very cold, icy', connected w Lat gelare, 'cause to freeze' (see gelid), further connected w Lat glaciés, 'ice' (see glacial) The Aryan base is gel-, gl- &c, 'to freeze' Cp further O Slav žlediti, 'frozen rain' O Slav goloti, 'ice', & Gk halaxa, 'hail', must be fr an Aryan ghel-* &c See further cool, chill 1 A lacking heat or warmth, of low temperature, as tested by human touch or sensations to be cold, to feel cold, a cold day, room, bed &c, cold hands, feet, nose &c Phrs as cold as ice, as a stone, very cold, as cold as charity (ironical), cold steel, sword, bayonet &c, (to have) cold feet, (colloq) to be frightened, to make one's blood run cold, (fig) horrify, terrify, as cold blood, without excitement, while un-stirred by passion, a cold scowl (hinting), faint, b naturally lacking heat, or having lost it a glass of cold water, a cold bath, cold meat Phrs to throw cold water on, to discourage, hardly cold in one's grave, not long dead 2 a (of temperament, emotions, and expression of these) Unexcitable, calm, frigid, unstarred cold in manner, a cold heart, b lacking in cordiality, unfriendly a cold greeting, reception, c (of the intellect) calm, unruffled, unclouded by passion cold reason, to take a cold survey of the situation 3 Sing-gestivo of cold, e.g (of colours) faint, lacking in brilliance and glow cold (II), n, fr prece 1 a (popularly) A relative term implying a condition of the atmosphere or of a body which produces to the human touch a sensation of absence of heat, b (absolutely) a low temperature, as due to frost, presence of ice or snow the cold has got into the ground, to feel the cold 2 A cold, popular name for catarrh, inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat, to catch, take, cold, have a cold, a cold in the head, nose &c cold-blooded, adj [1 kóld blódded, 2 kóuld bládd] 1 a Specif (of fishes, reptiles &c), having cold blood, b (of human beings) sensitive to cold, chilly, esp from bad circulation 2 (fig. of persons and actions) a Lacking passion, enthusiasm, sensibility, hence, b lacking pity, cruel, merciless cold-blooded murder cold-bloodedly, adv Prece & -ly In a cold-blooded manner cold-bloodedness, n See prece & -ness State, quality, of being cold-blooded cold-chisel, n One with strong, hard edge, used for cutting unheated metal cold cream, n Something ointment made of wax or spermaceti, rose water, oil of almonds &c cold-drawn, adj Drawn without application of heat, of steel tubing, oil &c cold frame, n Glass-covered frame not heated by a hotbed or otherwise, in which young plants are put to harden off cold-hammer, vb trans To hammer metal without heating it cold-hearted, adj (fig) Wanting feeling and affection cold-heartedly, adv Prece & -ly In a cold-hearted manner cold-heartedness, n See prece & -ness Condition of being cold-hearted coldish, adj [1 kóldish, 2 kóuldish] cold (I) & -ish A Rather cold, b fairly cold, very cold coldly, adv [1 kóldli, 2 kóuldli] cold (I) & -ly In a cold manner (lit and fig) the wind blows coldly, to treat, receive, a person coldly, consider coldly, is without excitement, calmly coldness, n [1 kóldnes, 2 kóuldnes] cold (I) & -ness The property of being cold in any sense the coldness of the weather, water &c, of one's reception, coldness of heart cold-pig, n (colloq) Drenching a sleeping or sleepy person with cold water to rouse him cold-short, adj Proh fr Swed kallskör, 'cold brittle', the neut is -skört, wh has been confused w short, both in form & meaning Cp shortbread, short pastry &c (of iron) Brittle in its cold state cold-shoulder, n & vb trans For origin see shoulder (I) 1 n Pebuff, deliberate indifference, neglect, or snub to give a person the cold-shoulder 2 vb To rebuff, neglect, snub, avoid deliberately to cold-shoulder a person cold-storage, n a The storage, keeping, preservation of meat, fish, fruit &c in refrigerating chambers, b building with refrigerating apparatus for this cole, n [1 kól, 2 kóul] O E cál, cául, M E cól, fr Lat caulis, cólis, 'stem of a plant, esp of cabbage' The word is connected w cavus, 'hollow' See cauliflower & cauline, & cp kale (kail) General name for all kinds of Brassica or cabbage, usually in compounds as cole-wort, cabbage out before head is firm

Cp sea-lale

colectomy, n [1 koléktum, 2 koléktam] fr colon & Gk ektomia, 'cutting out' See ex- & -tomy (surg) Removal, excision, of a part of the colon Coleoptera, n pl [1 kóloptera, 2 kóloptorá] fr Gk kolos, 'sheath', & ptero, 'wing' Lat cutellus, 'leather bag', is prob borrowed fr Gk, likewise Lat cutis, 'bag' The second element is fr hazo pet-*, 'to go, fly' See ptero- & feather Lat 'sheath winged' Order of insects commonly known as beetles, the main characteristic, as implied by the scientific name, is that the fore wings form sheaths for the hind-wings when folded coleopterous, adj [1 kólopterus, 2 kóloptorás] Prece & -ous Of, belonging to, the Coleoptera colibri, n [1 kólishr, 2 kólibri] Fr & Span, fr native W Indian (Caribbean) word A humming bird colic, n [1 kóhik, 2 kólik] fr Fr colique, fr Lat colicus, fr Gk kolikos, adj, fr kolón, 'large intestine' See colon Severe griping pain in the abdomen, esp of a paroxysmal character, which may arise from many different causes colicky, adj [1 kóhiki, 2 kóliki] Prece & -y a Of the nature of, resembling, colic, b liable to cause colic colitis, n [1 kólitis, 2 kólitis] Gk kolón, 'large intestine' See colon & -itis (med) Inflammation of membrane of the large intestine collaborate, vb intrans [1 koláberit, 2 koláberit] Lat collabórati (um), P P type of collabóre, 'to work with' See ool- & labour (absol, or followed by with before name of person) To work together with another to a common end, to share the labour of given tasks (gen. of artistic and intellectual work) collaboration, n [1 koláberáshun, 2 koláberitshun] Prece & -ion The act or process of collaborating to work in collaboration with (person) collaborator, n [1 koláberitúr, 2 koláberitúr] collaborate & -or One who collaborates with another in his work collagen, n [1 kólaion, 2 kóladáion] fr Gk koláin, 'glio', & -gen See genesis The first element is cogn w M L G helen, 'to stink', O Slav hly, 'glue' (physiol) Gelatinous substance which forms one of the chief constituents in connective tissues of the animal body collapse (I), n [1 koláps, 2 kolaps] fr Lat collapsus, P P of collábi, 'to fall in ruins, sink down in a swoon or in death', fr ool- & labi, 'to fall' See lapse (The fundamental meaning is falling or breaking down All the meanings, chiefly fig, are related to this idea) 1 (of material things) The fact or process of falling down, falling in, falling away, breaking down, as result of strain or pressure from above, or to sides collapse of a tent, hammock, chair, seat, roof, tower &c 2 (fig) A breaking down, crumbling away collapse of plans, schemes, negotiations, hopes &c 3 (of persons) a A sudden decline or breakdown, esp in health, sudden or complete mental or physical breakdown through ill health, loss of nervous or muscular power &c, prostration, swoon, sudden failure of heart or other vital organs, esp just before death, b (fig) a sudden loss of moral strength or courage, a giving way, yielding to misfortune, difficulties &c 4 (fig) A sudden loss of stability, enocess, security &c collapse of a ministry, bank, money market &c collapse (II), vb intrans fr prece 1 (of material things) To fall down, fall in, tumble to pieces, crumble away, as e.g a roof, building, scaffolding &c 2 (fig, of non-material things) To break down suddenly, come to nothing, fail (of plans, hopes &c) 3 (of persons) a To fall down, esp as result of a blow, strain, b to break down suddenly in health and physical strength, specif, to experience sudden failure of the heart or other vital organs, as shortly before death, o to break down in moral stamina, be unable to offer further resistance to danger and difficulties 4 (fig) To decline suddenly from success or prosperity, to fail, come to grief, e g of schemes, enterprises, commercial undertakings &c collapsible, adj [1 kolápsibl, 2 kolápsibl] Preo & -ible Capable of collapsing or being folded up, as for packing, carrying &c collapse the boat, chair &c collar (I), n [1 kólár, 2 kolá] In M E, fr A-Fr coler, O Fr colier, fr Lat collare, 'band for the neck', fr collum, 'neck' See col The base is kel-, k^ool-, 'to turn, turn round', see colony 1 General meaning, something encircling the neck, specif a article of male attire, usually of linen, worn round the neck, fastened to, or part of, the shirt, b that part of a garment which surrounds the neck, e g of coat, dress, neck-band of shirt, c neck chain forming part of insignia of order of knighthood collar of SS, chain of interlaced letter S, worn by the Lord Chief Justice of England, d ornamental circlet worn by women, of gold, often set with jewels, necklet collar of pearls, e band of leather or metal placed round neck of dog or other animal for purposes of restraint or identification; Phr to slip the collar, get it off, f part of harness worn round neck by horse or other draught animal, to which the traces are fastened, and which takes strain of the weight which is drawn, Phrs against the collar, (lit and fig) implying continuous strain, collar work (of horse), pulling weight uphill, (fig) continuous strain 2 Encircling band connecting two parts (rods) of a machine, projecting outer part of drain pipe covering end of the next length &c 3 (zool.) Any marking or stripe round neck of an animal, bird, reptile &c resembling a collar 4 (bot) Part of plant immediately above the root, usually just above the ground 5 (wrestling and Rugby football) The act of laying hold of an opponent, a tackle, or grip collar (II), vb trans fr prec 1 To put a collar on (rare) 2 a To seize by the collar, to capture a policeman collars a thief, specif (Rugby football), to lay hold of an opponent, who has the ball, and stops his progress, b (colloq) to seize hold of, get control of, something, to take or appropriate for one self 3 To roll and tie up (meat &c) before cooking, esp collared head, brawn &c collar-beam, n Beam bearing two rafters collar-bone, n The clavicle collarette, n [1 kolarét, 2 kolarét] Fr collerette, dimin. of collar Piece of lace or fur worn round the neck by women collate, vb trans [1 kolát, 2 koléti] fr Lat collatum, used as P.P. of conferre, 'to bring together', fr col- & latum, vb stands for latum*, fr base tel-, tol- &c, q v under tolerate, thole To bring together for the purpose of comparison 1 To examine a text or MS critically and compare it with others 2 To examine, and place in order, the sheets of a book, verify order of sheets by the signatures 3 To present and institute (a clergyman) to a benefice collateral (I), adj [1 kolateral, 2 kolateral] See col- & lateral 1 Ac companying, existing alongside of, an event, or fact, but secondary, subordinate, to it collateral circumstance, evidence &c, collateral security security for a loan &c in addition to the principal security 2 (of descent) Derived from common ancestor, but through different sons or daughters, descended from and through parallel lines collateral descent, relationship &c collateral (II), n fr prec n Person standing in collateral relationship to another, b persons descended from common ancestor through different lines, o collateral security collaterally, adv [1 koláterali, 2 koláterali] collateral (I) & -ly In a collateral manner, a of occurrences to happen collaterally, b of relationship to be descended collaterally from (person) collation, n [1 koláshun, 2 koléshun] fr Lat collatio (em) See collate & -ion. 1 a Act or process of collating a text or book, b act of collating to a benefice 2 (in sense of something brought together, prepared) A repast, esp a light and delicate one collator, n [1 koláter, -ér, 2 koléti, -ō] collate & -or. One who collates in any sense colleague, n [1 kólég, 2 kólíg] fr Fr colleue, fr Lat collēga, 'one chosen at same time as another, associate', fr col- & leg, 'pick out, select' &c See lecture, further colleage, collect (II) a One associated with another, or others, in any duty or occupation, esp of an official character, person who with others holds an office under the same authority, thus a minister of the Crown is the colleague of the other ministers, a professor at a university is the colleague of other professors at the same university and so on, and one will speak of another as my colleague so and so, b applied also, perhaps in imitation of foreign practice, to persons who are members of the same profession though otherwise in no way connected, e g a London surgeon might speak of Edinburgh surgeons as colleagues Less commonly used of persons associated in purely business pursuits collect (I), n [1 kólekt, 2 klékt] fr Fr collecte, fr Lat collectum, P.P. of colligere, 'gather, assemble, put together', Engl use perh fr idea that essential things are gathered up & summarized See collect (II) Short prayer in Church of England Prayer Book, one of those specially appointed to be read on particular days, during certain seasons, or on specified occasions the collect for the day, for peace, for the king &c collect (II), vb trans & intrans [1 kulékt, 2 kálékt] fr Lat colligere, collectum, fr col- & legere, 'to choose' See lecture A trans To assemble or bring together 1 To gather (persons) together into a body or into one place 2 a To pick up, gather (scattered things), and put (them) together into one place to collect the waste paper lying about, to go out and collect the eggs, b to gather, bring, (things) together as specimens to collect books, stamps, birds' eggs &c, c to gather together, amass (facts &c) to collect evidence, information, material for a dictionary &c 3 To obtain (money) from a number of scattered sources, by solicitation collect taxes, rent, contributions for a hospital &c 4 To arrange one's thoughts and ideas, recover by deliberate effort from shock of surprise &c collect one's thoughts, energies, courage &c, to collect oneself 5 To gather, infer, conclude something, from what has been said B intrans 1 (of living things) To come, gather, flock, together - a crowd of idlers, flock of starlings &c has collected 2 (of inanimate things) To accumulate, become heaped up dust and rubbish soon collect, water collects in hollows collectanea, n [1 kólektánea, ánea, 2 kólektánea, -ánea] Neut pl of Lat collectaneus, adj, 'gathered, collected, together' collect (II) & -anea, Engl -an. Collection of passages from works of an author, or of several authors, anthology, miscellany collected, adj [1 kulékted, 2 kéléktid] fr P.P. of collect (II), A, 4 Cool, self possessed having complete control of oneself, not distracted esp calm and collected collectedly, adv Preo & -ly In a calm, self possessed manner collectedness, n See prec & -ness. State of being collected.

collection, n [1 kulekshun, 2 kalekshun] Lat collectio (em), 'a gathering together', fr collect-, as in P.P. of colligere, & -ion. See collect (II). 1 The act of gathering together, an assemblage or crowd of people 2 Money given voluntarily and collected for charity, specif, money collected at a church service or at a meeting &c a collection will be made after the service 3 Process or fact of accumulation of a material things water, dust, papers &c, b act of collecting facts, evidence &c 4 Group of things collected and preserved on account of their beauty, rarity, or value a collection of books, art treasures, stamps, birds' eggs &c 5 (in pl) Terminal examination of undergraduates held at Oxford colleges collective, adj [1 kulektiv, 2 kéléktiv] collect (II) & -ive 1 (of a number of individuals) Viewed as a whole, taken all together, considered as a unity the collective body of the university 2 Belonging to, emanating from, characteristic of, representing, a whole body, group, society of persons collective property, the collective wishes of the community, collective opinion 3 (gram) Collective noun, one whose form is singular, but which expresses a number of individuals to catch fish, feed cattle, shoot snipe, herd of swine &c collectively, adv Preo & -ly In a collective manner, as a whole, as a single body to harangue the crowd collectively collectivism, n [1 kulektivizm, 2 kéléktivizm] collective & -ism Political or social theory, identical with socialism, but which does not include revolution, based on collective ownership of means of production and exchange under the State collectivist, n [1 kulektivíst, 2 kéléktivíst] collective & -ist Adherent of collectivism collector, n [1 kuléktur, 2 kálékti] fr collect (II) & -or 1 One who collects (in many specific senses), a one who makes a collection of objects of beauty, rarity, value &c, e g pictures, curiosities, gems &c, b one whose official duty it is to collect tickets, taxes, rates &c ticket collector (on railway &c), rent, tax collector &c 2 Device for collecting electricity in an electric machine, for collecting waves sent by wireless 3 (Indian Civil Service) Head administrative official in a district of an Indian Province, called also Deputy-Commissioner collectorship, n [1 kulékturshíp, 2 kalektiáshíp] Preo & -ship Office of collector in Indian Civil Service colleen, n [1 kolén, 2 kólin] Ir cailm A girl, also colleen bawn [1 bawn, 2 bān], 'pretty girl', Ir bán, 'white' college, n [1 kólj, 2 kólidj] fr Fr collège, fr Lat collēgium, 'union or association of persons in any office or for any purpose, body of persons living by common rules, guild, brotherhood', fr colligere, 'to gather together' See collect (II) 1 See meaning of Latin collēgium above, which has the basic sense of English word, the old sense is retained in College of Cardinals, or Sacred College, the papal council and electors, College of Surgeons, of Heralds &c 2 More specif a self governing educational institution of varying kinds, with a status ranging from that almost of a university (University College) to a school for boys or girls (Winchester College &c), b a college at Oxford and Cambridge is an educational institution for members of these universities, which combines a position of great independence in its own affairs with that of being an integral part of the university 3 The building, or group of buildings, in which a college in any of above senses is housed.

colleger, n [1 kóljer, 2 kólidja] Preo & -er One who holds a scholarship at Eton, as distinct from an oppidan collegian, n [1 koléjjan, 2 kólidjzen] college & -ian Member of a college (chiefly used by persons who are not members of a college) collegiate, adj [1 koléjiat, 2 kólidjst] fr Lat. collēgiatus See college Connected with, having character and status of a college collegiate life, collegiate institution collegiate church, n One which, though not a cathedral, has a College, or Chapter of Canons, and a Dean or (in Scotland sometimes) a Provost collet, n [1 kólet, 2 kólet] Fr, 'little collar', dimin of col, 'neck', fr Lat collum, 'neck' Small metal band, specif, the part of a ring which holds the stone collide, vb intrans [1 kólíd, 2 kólíd], fr Lat collidere, 'dash together', fr col- & laedere, 'strike, hurt' See lesion a (of solid, rapidly moving objects) To come into violent contact with, run into, dash against (followed by with, or abst), b (of moral impact) to clash, be in conflict, be mutually antagonistic (of wills, aims, purposes) collie, n [1 kóli, 2 kóli] Perh fr Gael cuilean, 'a whelp' Scotch sheep dog, with long hair, a pointed nose, and a bushy tail collier, n [1 kóber, 2 kóber] ME colyer See coal & -ier 1 Man who digs coal out of the pit, coal-miner 2 A ship employed in carrying coal, b sailor on such a ship colliery, n [1 kólier, 2 kólier] Prec & -ry Place where coal is dug and brought to the surface, a coal-mine, applied also to all the workings in one district under single management, together with buildings and apparatus colligate, vb trans [1 kóligát, 2 kóligét], fr Lat colligat (um), P P type of colligere, 'to bind together', fr col- & ligere, 'to bind' See ligature To bind together, connect, esp to connect isolated facts and bring them under a general principle colligation, n [1 kóligáshun, 2 kóligétsjən] See prec & -ion Act of binding together, esp process of colligating facts collimate, vb trans [1 kólimát, 2 kólimét], fr Lat collimat (um), P P type of collimare for collimare, 'to bring into line with', fr col- & linere, 'a line' See line (I) To make parallel to a given line, specif, to adjust the line of sight in a telescope &c collimation, n [1 kólimáshun, 2 kólimétsjən] Prec & -ion Adjustment of the line of sight collimator, n [1 kólimátor, 2 kóliméstə] collimate & -or A small telescope attached to larger one for securing precision of collimation of latter collinear, adj [1 kólinear, 2 kólinear] See col- & linear In the same straight line collision, n [1 kólishun, 2 kólishən] Lat collisio-(em), collis-(um), P P of collidere, & -ion See collide 1 A Act or process of colliding, violent impact of two bodies, b specif, such an impact between moving trains, ships, carriages &c 2 (fig) Clash of conflicting interests, passions, motives &c Phr to come into collision with, find oneself opposed by collision-mat, n (naut) One to cover a hole in ship's side caused by collision &c collocate, vb trans [1 kólokát, 2 kólokét], fr Lat collocat-(um), P P of collocare, 'place together, arrange', fr col- & locare, 'to place' See locate To place, place together, arrange collocation, n [1 kólokáshun, 2 kólokétsjən] Prec & -ion A Act of placing together, putting in association or juxtaposition, b anything grouped or placed together with something else, grouping, arrangement, in relation to something else (esp fig) collocation of words, ideas &c collocutor, n [1 kólokútor, 2 kólokútsjə], fr Lat colloqu, collocutus, fr col- & locutus, P P of loqui, 'to speak' See locution One who takes part in dialogue or conversation collodion, n [1 kólódien, 2 kólódien], fr Gk kolídes, 'like glue', fr kolla, 'glue', & -ode Cp collagen Tough, elastic substance, in form of liquid which dries rapidly, made from gun cotton, dissolved in ether, used for photographic films, and for coating abrasions &c in surgery collodionize, vb trans [1 kólódioniz, 2 kólódioniz] Prec & -ize To coat with collodion collogue, vb intrans [1 kólóg, 2 kólóg] Fr collogue, 'conversation', fr Lat colloquium, fr colloqui, 'talk together', fr col- & loqui, 'speak' See locution The final g is due to influence of dialogue To discuss, converse, with another in privacy and confidence colloid, adj & n [1 kólóid, 2 kólóid], fr Gk kolla, 'glue', & -oid See collodion 1 adj Having consistency of glue, sticky, gelatinous 2 n Substance having these characteristics, specif (chem) non crystalline state of substance in suspension in water or alcohol which does not diffuse through a parchment or collodion membrane colloidal, adj [1 kólóidál, 2 kólóidál] Prec & -al Of the nature of a colloid collop, n [1 kólóp, 2 kólóp] Etymol unknown a (in Dryden and dictionaries) Slice of meat (hardly current now in England), b (in Scotland) meat coarsely minced and then cooked minced collops colloquial, adj [1 kólókwiál, 2 kólókwiál] See colloquy & -al 1 (of speech and modes of expression) A Pertaining to, connected with, used in, uttered speech or conversation a colloquial knowledge of, practice in, a language, hence, b characteristic of, current, used, in familiar conversation, (with implication of not being used in lofty, or literary, style) 2 (of persons) Given to using colloquial words and turns of phrase colloquialism, n [1 kólókwiálm, 2 kólókwiálm] Prec & -ism Word or expression usual in familiar conversation, but avoided in formal or elevated style colloquialist, n [1 kólókwiálist, 2 kólókwiálist] colloquial & -ist (rare) a Conversationalist, b one given to colloquialism colloquialize, vb trans [1 kólókwiáiz, 2 kólókwiáiz] See prec & -ize To render colloquial colloquially, adv [1 kólókwiál, 2 kólókwiál] colloquial & -ly Orally, as uttered in spoken language to know a language colloquially, so as to speak it, b after the manner of familiar conversation colloquist, n [1 kólókwiqt, 2 kólókwiqt] See colloquy & -ist Speaker in a colloquy colloquy, n [1 kólókwi, 2 kólókwi], fr Lat colloquium, 'conversation', fr col- & loqui, 'to speak' See locution A formal conversation, debate, conference collotype, n [1 kólótip, 2 kólótip], fr Gk kolla, 'glue', see collagen, & type Photo-graphic print made directly from collodion film collude, vb intrans [1 kólúd, 2 kólúd], fr Lat colludere, 'play together, act in collusion', fr col- & ludere, 'to play' See ludicrous (archaic) To act in collusion collusion, n [1 kólúshun, 2 kólúshən], fr Lat collusio-(em), 'secret understanding', fr collus (um), P P of colludere, & -ion See prec Fraudulent manoeuvre in which, by preconceived arrangement, two or more persons play into each other's hands for the purpose of getting the better of a third party in a negotiation or transaction, the parties in collusion appearing as indifferent to, or actually opposed to, each other collusive, adj [1 kólúsv, 2 kólúsv] Lat collus, see prec & -ive Of the nature of, characterized by, arranged in, collusion collusively, adv Prec & -ly. In the manner of collusion collywebbles, n pl [1 kólwóblz, 2 kólwóblz] (colloq and facetious) Any pain, discomfort, or looseness in the bowels or abdomen colocynthis, n [1 kólósnth, 2 kólósnth] Lat colocynthis, fr Gk kolokynthis, 'the wild gourd'. Etymol uncertain. A purgative drug obtained from the bitter pulp of the fruit of a wild gourd, colocynthis, the bitter apple

Cologne, see Eau de Cologne colon (I) n [1 kólon, 2 kólon] Lat, fr Gk kolon, 'the large intestine' Etymol doubtful (anat) That part of the larger intestine which extends from the caecum to the rectum colon (II), n [1 kólon, 2 kólon] Lat colon, fr Gk kolon, 'a limb, part' (in writing or printing) A punctuation mark (), on the whole, corresponding in uttered speech, to a pause longer than that implied by a semi-colon, but shorter than that indicated by a full-stop A colon is used after a part of a sentence which is complete in itself in construction, and when the sense of what follows arises naturally from the former, in introducing an example, argument, quotation, after such words as, as follows, namely, for example, so-and-so says, and so on, after words indicating a new stage in an argument, as, to sum up, &c colonel, n [1 kánel, 2 kánel] The spelling is from the present Fr colonel, or Ital type, colonnello, the pronunciation, however, is fr the type coronel, the older form, used in 16th cent fr an older Fr type Colonnello is dimin of colonna, 'column', & derived fr the first company of a regiment of infantry being called 'la compagnie colonelle, or la colonelle', the commander of the regiment apparently got his title from his place with or near this company Coronel, on the other hand, appears to be fr Lat corona, 'crown', & dimin suff -el, a crown being the badge of this rank The pronunciation of this word as [karnel] (w r) in Scotland & Ireland, shows that in spite of the present spelling, coronel is the type fr wh it is derived Officer in command of a regiment, or, usually lieutenant colonel of a battalion colonel commandant, n Officer commanding a brigade, the old title, brigadier, is now in use again colonelcy, n [1 kánelis, kánelis] colonel & -cy Office, rank, or commission of colonel colonial, adj & n [1 kólómál, 2 kólómál] colony & -al 1 adj A Pertaining to, connected with a colony or colonies Colonial Office, department of state in charge of the colonies, b characteristic of the colonies, or their inhabitants, esp of differences of speech, manners, habits &c, between them and those who have always lived in the British Isles 2 n Inhabitant, subject, of a colony, esp a British Colony colonialism, n [1 kólómálm, 2 kólómálm] Prec & -ism A trait of colonial life, manners, speech &c colonially, adv [1 kólómál, 2 kólómál] colonial & -ly From point of view of, after manner of, a colonial colonist, n [1 kólónist, 2 kólónist] colony & -ist Settler in, or inhabitant of, a colony, esp an original settler or founder of a colony colonization, n [1 kólónizáshun, 2 kólónizétsjən] colonize & -ation Act or process of founding, establishing, developing, a colony or colonies colonize, vb trans & intrans [1 kólóniz, 2 kólóniz] colony & -ize A trans 1 To settle in a country, usually an undeveloped one, remote from one's own, and develop its agricultural and other resources the British and Dutch colonized South Africa 2 To place, settle, (persons) in a colony, with a view to getting rid of them from the old country, and in the hope that they will be more useful in the new we are urged by some to colonize our criminals and undesirable colonizer, n [1 kólónizer, 2 kólónizer] Prec & -er. One who helps to found and develop a colony, one who settles in a colony colonnade, n [1 kólónád, 2 kólónéd] Fr, fr Ital colonnata, on anal of other words in fr arcade &c See column a A series or row of columns placed at regular intervals, b a double row, avenue, of trees &c 'The poplars are felled, farewell to the shade, And the whispering sound of the cool colonnade' (Cowper, 'Poplar Field') colt (II), n A revolver, pistol, of type invented by Samuel Colt, or made by the American company of that name coltish, adj [1 kóltish, 2 kóultish], fr colt (I) & -ish Like a colt, frisky, wanton coltishly, adv Preo & -ly In a coltish manner, like a colt colt's-foot, n [1 kólt'sfoot, 2 kóult'sfut] Plant, Tussilago, with large leaves and yellow flowers, extract from this used as a medicine for coughs and asthma colubrine, adj [1 kólubrin, 2 kóljúbzin] Lat colubrinus, fr coluber, 'snake' See cobra (zool) Pertaining to, of a genus, Coluber, of non-poisonous snakes columbarium, n [1 kolumbárium, 2 kolumbáriam] Lat fr columba, 'dove' See columbine A Dove-cot, pigeon-house, b a chamber, with niches for receiving dead bodies, in the Catacombs columbine (I), n [1 kólumbin, 2 kólumbain], fr Fr colombine, fr L Lat columbina, 'dove like', fr Lat columba, 'dove', possibly so called for its colour The word is supposed to be connected w Gk kelaínos, 'black, dark', & Sert kalanás, 'spot', kalmás, 'variegated, spotted' O Slav golábit, 'dove', Russ goluby is the same word, Russ golubyi, 'blue', is primarily 'dove-colour' Herbaceous, perennial plant, genus Aquilegia, with bright flowers supposed to resemble a group of pigeons

Columbine (II), n, fr female name of same origin as prec Sprightly female companion of Harlequin in a pantomime column, n [1 kólum, 2 kólám] Lat columna, 'pillar', related to Lat columen, 'height, summit, peak, gable, prop', colitis, 'hill', & culmen, 'top, highest point, gable' (see culminate), further, cogn w Lat celsus, 'high, lofty, tall', & -cellere (only in compounds, excellere, 'rise', see excel), outside Lat the base is copiously represented in Gmc, Goth hailus, 'rock', O E heall, see hall, O E holm, 'high sea', O E hyll, see hill, in Gk kolóns, 'hill', & kolophón, 'top, end', see colophon 1 (archit) A pillar, shaft, tall support, usually of stone, slender in proportion to its height, carrying weight of arch, beam, girder &c 2 Any of various objects shaped like a column as a column of water, smoke, b (anat) spinal column, which supports upper part of the body 3 A vertical division of page of a book or newspaper, b set of figures arranged in short lines one below the other on a sheet of paper &c 4 (mil & naval) Formation in which the elements are placed one behind the other, instead of being abreast, and forming a line columnar, adj [1 kólúmnar, 2 kólámnar] Lat columnáris See prec & -ar Pertaining to, formed in, a column or columns, like a column in shape columnar structure, formation &c columned, adj [1 kólúmd, 2 kólámd] column & -ed Provided with columns, columnar columniform, adj [1 kólúmnifórm, 2 kólámnifórm] column & -form In the form of a column colure, n [1 kólür, 2 kóljüs], fr Gk kolouros, 'docked, truncated', fr kolos, 'cut off', cogn w clado-, & ourá, 'tail, point', see uro- (II) One of two imaginary circles which intersect at the poles colza, n [1 kólza, 2 kólzá], fr Du koolzaad, lit 'cabbage-seed, rapeseed' See cole a Rapeseed, b oil made from rapeseed, used in lamps

com-, pref See also co-, con- & col- Old form, & only one used in compounds, of Lat cum, 'with' &c The force in compounds is (1) union, combination, as in concurrere, 'run together', (2) completeness, com-edere, 'to eat up', con-tundere, 'hammer to pieces', con-ficere, 'make an end of doing, finish off' &c As regards the relations of the word outside Lat, it seems probable that the common Gmc pref, Goth ga-, O E ge-, is identical, the initial voiced consonant being derived fr earlier χ or h, in an unstressed position The identity of Lat com- w this is made probable by such old compounds as Lat commūnis (fr kommonos*), 'common', Goth gamains, O E gemēne, 'common' It has been suggested that the orig meaning of the base is 'to seize, grip, hold together' Cp further the prepositions, O Ir com, 'with', O Slav sū, 'with', &, in spite of the difference of meaning, Gk kata, 'down' A further suggestion of some interest is that the base kem-, kom- &c fr wh these words come, is that in Goth fra-ánþan, 'seize, take captive', & Goth handus, O E hand, 'hand', orig 'the grasper', & further that in this primitive sense the same base lurks also in Lat decem, 'ten', wh according to this view wd come fr an orig duo kem-*, or some such form, meaning 'two hands' (of five fingers each) See hand, December, ten coma (I), n [1 kóma, 2 kóuma] Gk kóma, genit kómatos, fr kōma-*, op kōmaō, 'I pnt to sleep', connected w kēma, 'lie down', & a large group of words in Gk & other languages See civil, hide (IV) (of land), home State of profound insensibility, resembling a deep sleep, caused by disease or serious injury coma (II), n Lat, fr Gk kómē, 'hair of the head' The etymol is unknown, & the earlier proposal to derive fr kosma-* & connect w O Slav kosmŭ, 'hair of the head', Lith kaša, 'plait of hair', ON haddr (for hazd*), 'woman's hair', O E heard(an), 'hairs, or fibres of flax', is now rejected 1 (bot) Tuft of hairs at end of some seeds 2 (astron) Nebulous mass forming 'head' of a comet comate, adj [1 kómāt, 2 kóumest] Preo & -ate (bot) Hairy comatose, adj [1 kómátos, 2 kóumētous] comat- & -ose See coma (I) In a state of profound insensibility or coma comb (I), n [1 kóm, 2 kóum] O E cāmb, O HG chamb, Mod Germ lamm, ON lamb Cp Gk gómphos, 'grinder-tooth, tooth of a key', & Gk gómphos, 'wedge', (tooth-) shaped bolt, or nail, & gómphēla, 'jaws of a beast', Sert jambhās, 'tooth', in pl 'row of teeth', Lith zambas, 'edge of a beam', O Slav zgbŭ, 'tooth' 1 Instrument with teeth a for arranging the hair, b for holding it in position, c similar instrument for preparing and cleaning wool, flax &c 2 Crest of oock Phr to cut the comb of, to humiliate 3 Crest of a wave (Rare) 4 Group of wax cells constructed by bees for storing honey honey comb, similar group of cells made by wasps comb (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans To arrange, smooth (the hair), clean, unravel (wool, flax &c), by means of a comb 2 intrans (of a wave) To curl over, to break, with white foam combat (I), vb trans & intrans [1 kámbat, 2 kámbat], fr Fr combattre, 'to fight' See com- & batter (I) 1 trans (chiefly fig, of non-material things) To contest, oppose, strive, fight against to combat a tendency, opinion, movement &c 2 intrans To practise opposition, be in habit or act of contesting &c, followed by with, against, for combat (II), n Fr See prec (of physical and spiritual action) a A contest, fight, struggle, b strife, struggle in general to love combat Phr single combat, fight between two opponents only combattant, adj & n [1 kámbatant, 2 kámbatant] Fr combattant, Pres Part of combattre See combat (I) 1 adj - Engaged in fighting, esp (mil) combattant officer, one whose business is to lead and direct operations in the field, as opposed to administrative and other branches 2 n One engaged in physical or moral conflict, a party in a fight (Applied to individuals and to a military force as a whole) combative, adj [1 kámbativ, 2 kámbetiv] combat (II) & -ive Addicted to, fond of, fighting, whether in physical or figurative sense, pugnacious combatively, adv Preo & -ly Pugnaciously, as though inviting a conflict combateness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being combative, tendency to, love of, conflict combe, n [1 kóom, 2 kúm] See coombe Small valley comber, n [1 kómer, 2 kóuma] comb (II) & -er 1 Machine for combing wool and flax 2 A large wave, breaking on a beach, reef &c Cp beachcomber combination, n [1 kómbináshun, 2 kómbinéfán] combine & -ation 1 Act, or process, of combining 2 Result of combination, union, uniting, amalgamation of two or more things or persons, in various specific senses a (of persons) for a political or commercial purpose, (in good sense) league, party, company, (in bad sense) cabal, gang, ring &c, b (math) various groups in which numbers or their equivalents may be arranged 3 (in pl) Combinations, tight-fitting undergarment consisting of a vest with coverings for the lower limbs attached combination-room, n A common room (q v) at Cambridge University combinaive, adj [1 kómbinativ, 2 kómbinativ] combine & -ative 1 Connected with, result of, combination, specif, philology, combinaive sound change, one which results from reciprocal influences of several sounds in combination, or from effects of varying stress or intonation, combinaive factor, one which produces such a change 2 (of persons) Able to combine ideas, facts &c, and make something of them combine (I), vb trans & intrans [1 kúmbin, 2 kúmbain] fr L Lat combināre, fr com- & bin(i), 'two apiece, two, a pair', for duvins*, connected w duo, 'two' See bi-, bis A trans 1 General meaning, to join two or more (material or non material) things together, bring them into a close union so as to form a unity to combine several fields and form a park, to combine intelligence and learning with good manners, to exhibit all these qualities, to combine the characters of soldier and Christian, to be both of these, combine the office of head of a college with that of a professor, to hold both offices, to combine forces 2 (specif chem) To unite two or more (different substances) in such proportions as to form a compound B intrans To unite, mix, form a unity, compound, or harmonious whole oil and water, Bolshchists and Tories, do not readily combine combine (II), n [1 kómbin, 2 kómbain] fr prec Combination, specif, union of persons or trading companies in a commercial enterprise, alliance of persons or parties for political purposes combining(s), n, gen in pl [1 kómbingz, 2 kóumingz] comb (II) & -ing Material collected in a comb, specif (in pl) hair removed from the head by a comb, and remaining between the teeth of the latter combustibility, n [1 kúmbustibiliti, 2 kúmbustibiliti] combustible & -ity Quality of burning, of taking fire, easily combustible, adj [1 kúmbustibl, 2 kúmbústib] Fr, fr L Lat combustibilis, fr Lat combust-um, P P of combūrere, 'to burn up', & -ible See combustion Liable to burn, to take fire, to spring suddenly into flame combustion, n [1 kúmbuschun, 2 kúmbústijən] fr L Lat combustión (em), fr Lat combust-um, P P of combūrere, 'to burn up' This vb is for co-amb ūrere, owing to the contraction, the compound was considered as though fr com & būrere* &c, so much so that the words busum, 'place where corpses were burnt', hence 'tomb', as well as buslar & buslaris, were formed fr it The vb ūrere (for ūrere*), 'to burn', P P us um, fr base us-, eus-, 'burn, glow', occurs in Lat, aurore, fr ausdān*, 'dawn' (see aurora), Gk heúō, 'dinge', fr enō*, Sort dātā, 'burns', & uī nā, 'hot', in Gmc we have O H G uist war, 'yellow' (flame colour), ON uist, OE yle, 'glowing ash, ember'. By the side of enō* & uī nā, a form enē* existed, wh occurs in the name of the volcano Vesuvius, perh also in Vesta. Goth uis, 'a calm', lit 'warm weather', is prob fr this base. For development of meaning see calm. n Process of burning, b specific instance of this. Phr spontaneous combustion (popularly), bursting into flame, and burning without any assignable reason, also (actually) bursting into flame from ascertainable, natural, chemical causes, without human agency.

come, vb intrans [1 kum, 2 kam] OE cuman (for cūman through cūcōmān f), ME cūmen, cōmen, common Gmo, O F cūman, O Fris cuma, O H G kuman, loman, also queman, ON koma, Goth giman, fr Gmc kwim*, kwum*, Aryan gʷem*, gʷm* & Cp Lat venio, fr gʷemjo*, see venue, Gk baínō, fr gʷm jō*, see baia, Sort gamati, 'he goes', ganyah, 'causes to come, brings' & c. The base orig expressed the related, but different, ideas 'go' & 'come'. Most general meaning, to move nearer, approach, with considerable differentiation. A (chiefly independent) 1 a (of the speaker) To move towards the person whom he addresses, or to the place in which this person is, or will be. I will come to you, to London while you are there, I will come and see you, b (of person addressed) to move towards, or into presence, or vicinity, of speaker, or to the place in which he is. *come here, you must come to me in Oxford, come nearer, come to my house, c to accompany speaker, move in any direction or to any place along with him, in his company will you come with me to India? , come along, are you coming my way? 2 a To arrive at, reach, appear at, place where speaker is, or where some action referred to is taking place. *he hasn't come yet, he won't come till late, the doctor comes (here) every day, in the middle of the battle, help came, one shot came after another, no stranger ever comes to that place, b to arrive from a distance at some nearer point. *he never came home all night, he came to Abingdon at the end of the first day. Phrs to come home to, to impress forcibly, appeal to, come to hand, arrive (esp of letters), come to life, regain consciousness, come to terms, reach agreement, come to the scratch, be ready to fulfil one's bargain, to take action. 3 (of events) a To happen, come about, take place, befall, occur to be ready for whatever comes, b to occur, befall (as something unforeseen), turn out, (of persons) to behave in unexpected way, turn out to be of such a character. *how did it come that you quarrelled? , how did you come to be such a fool? Phrs to come true, fulfil prediction, everything comes to him who waits, come to pass, happen 4 (of natural phenomena) To appear, develop, reach natural stage of growth and maturity bud, flower, and fruit come each year, the seeds don't come true (to type) 5 (of times and seasons) To recur, appear in natural sequence. *summer comes every year, old age comes soon enough 6 a To happen as result of, be due to, be caused by this comes of disobedience, b to spring from, be physically descended from to come of sound stock, of a good family, c (of persons) to be born, originate in or at, proceed from I come from Dorset, (of things) be derived from, emanate from, originate with *cavore used to come from Russia, his money comes from his wife, d to pass into one's possession his fortune came to him from his father 7 a To reach, amount to, a certain figure, amount, price, as result of addition of separate figures, amounts & c. this sum comes to 300, your bill comes to £5, altogether your winnings come to a nice lot of money, b (fig) to amount to, be equivalent to what you say comes to this 8 a (of emotions, mental activities, ideas & c) To arise, take shape, in the mind, develop, become actual. love will come in time, the inspiration never came, Phr to come into one's head, occur to one, b (of material things) to form, assume character, bulk, or consistency after much planning and planning my garden is coming just as I wanted it, the butter came very quickly today (in churn) 9 To pass, enter, into a particular state, relation, use to come into use, favour, come into conflict, into play & c Phrs to come to blows, quarrel and fight, come to grief, be injured by an accident, ruined by failure of enterprises & c, to come to no good, to go wrong, and disastrously, to come a cropper, have a heavy fall (also fig) 10 To stand in certain place or order (in time or space) after Anne comes George I, Revelation comes at the end of the Bible, next to Oxfordshire, southwards across the Thames, comes Berkshire. 11 (with adv use of n) To behave as though one had a certain character, or occupied a particular position, and overdo it, act the part of, assume the airs of, a certain role to come the great man, to come the swell, he comes the admiral too much in private life. 12 In reference to future points of time, equivalent to when it comes he will be fifty come midsummer, a year ago come Christmas (archais or provino) 13 (in imperat, as interj) With intention of rousing, attracting, attention, exhorting mildly & c come, tell me what it's all about, come, come, you shouldn't speak like that! B Followed by pre positions or adverbs with special meanings. Come about, a to happen, arise, come to pass, b (of wind) to change round. Come across, to meet accidentally, unexpectedly (a person), to find, happen upon (a thing). Come after, a to seek, make efforts to obtain to come after a situation, b to follow (in time or place), c to succeed to come after one's father (in an estate). Come along, a to pass, take one's way along to come along the road, b to agree with, agree to adopt proposed plan. u e explained our proposal, but he would not come along. Come at, a to arrive at, reach, with hostile intent just let me come of you!, b to make a rush at, attack the bull came at me with his head down, c to obtain, attain to, gain to come at the knowledge of so and so. Come away, to give way, detach itself, tear, break the handle came away in her hand. Come back, a to return to come back home, come back to power, b to return to one's memory the tune comes back to me now. Come by, to obtain possession of, get hold of good servants are very hard to come by now, how did you come by your library? Come down, a to lose position, caste, fortune & c to come down in the world, b (colloq) to pay down, give money he came down very hard some(ty) when I was hard up, c descend by tradition or inheritance the custom has come down to us from our prehistoric ancestors. Come down on, to treat with severity, censure, upbraid to come down on a man for his carelessness. Come forward, to present oneself, offer help, services & c when England was in danger, all patriotic men came forward at once to help in any way they could. Come in, a to come into the house from out of doors, into a room from passage ask him to come in, b (of politics) assume, obtain power, office & c the Coalition came in with a big majority, c to arrive what time does the train come in?, the horse came in third, d become fashionable, come into use short skirts for women came in towards the close of the war, e come to fruition, mature, come into season early potatoes came in very late last year, these apples don't come in till February, f serve a purpose, be useful odds and ends that will come in some day, also to come in useful. Come into, a enter into an agreement, agree to join, support to come into a scheme, b to inherit to come into a nice income. Come near, to approach, or equal, in merit or quality modern poets cannot come near the old masters as makers of verbal music. Come off, a (of events) to happen, esp after delay or uncertainty, reach successful conclusion everything came off satisfactorily, the marriage never came off after all, b (of persons) to acquit oneself to come off with flying colours. Come on, a (of actors) to appear, make entry on to the stage, b to make progress, develop (lit and fig) the crops are coming on nicely, he is coming on well in his studies, c to advance towards and attack the enemy came on furiously, d (of attack, of disease, pain & c) a terrible spasm of pain came on just before he died, e to arise, be put forward for discussion, or hearing, in a court of law my case comes on before the judge tomorrow. Come out, a to be made public, be published, he put on the market a play, book, new fashion comes out, b to be divulged, made manifest, discovered the secret came out very inconveniently. Come out with, to blurt out, disclose, utter to come out with the whole story, a horrible oath. Come round, a to coax, wheedle, overcome scruples of you can't come round me with such yarns, b to recover consciousness, regain strength to come round after a fainting fit, a serious illness & c, he took a long time to come round, c (fig) to change one's opinions, adopt a point of view to come round to another's way of thinking. Come to [1 kum tō, 2 lām tū], to regain consciousness it was many hours before he came to after being wounded. Come under, a to pass, be under jurisdiction of, b to fall, be in, belong to, a certain category. Come up, a (of plants) to spring, show above ground the corn hasn't come up yet, b arise, be put forward for discussion and debate to be suggested by what has been said, and be discussed to come up in conversation. Come up to, a to equal, be of same degree of excellence as his new book doesn't come up to the last, b reach, extend to in height she hardly came up to her husband's elbow. Come up with, to catch up, overtake, person or thing, moving forward, ahead of one. come and go, n [1 kum and gō, 2 kam and gō] Movement to and fro, passing backwards and forwards.

come-at-able, adj [1 kumātābl, 2 kāmēt ābl] come, at, & -able a (of persons) Accessible, approachable, easy to get on with willing to tolerate social intercourse, b (of places) easy to reach, not remote or without means of access.

come-back, n [1 kumbak, 2 kāmāk] See come & back (colloq) A return to power, popularity & c, after retirement.

comedian, n [1 kumēdian, 2 kāmēdian], fr Fr comédien, fr comedy & -an 1 An actor in comedy, comic actor low comedian, actor of light (low) comedy 2 (fig) An irresponsible person, who behaves in a foolish, futile manner, like a character in a farce, one who cannot be taken seriously.

comediennes, n [1 kōmēdian, 2 kōmēdian] Fr An actress in comedy.

comedietta, n [1 kōmēdīeta, 2 kōmēdīeta] Ital, dimin of comedia, 'comedy' Short comedy.

comedo, n, pl comedones [1 kōmēdō, 2 kōmēdō] Lat, 'glutton', fr comedere, 'to eat greedily, consume', fr comē & edere, 'eat'. See edible (med) A black head on the face, chest & c, due to blocking of the sebaceous ducts.

come-down, n [1 kāmdown, 2 kāmdown] See come & down. A downfall, set-back, change for the worse in one's circumstances, something that is humiliating it's rather a come down for him to serve behind a counter.

comedy, n [1 kōmīdi, 2 kāmīdi], fr Fr comédie, fr Lat comœdia, fr Gk kōmōidia, 'mirthful spectacle', fr kōmos, 'banquet, merry-making, revel', & ōidē, 'song, lay'. The first element is perh. connected w Lat cibus, 'food', for second element see ode 1 That branch of drama which deals with humorous, familiar events, passions, and motives, and which exhibits characters speaking the language of everyday life. Comedy has usually a certain element of exaggeration and caricature in the treatment of character. 2 A gay, humorous play which deals with life and character on above lines. Phr as good as a comedy. Musical comedy, a humorous play (frequently a burlesque) with music, songs dancing &c. 3 Any comic or amusing incident or event in real life which reveals the interplay of human characters and motives. 4 A serious composition which treats human life after the manner of a comedy, but which aims at depicting human life and character in accordance with truth, without leaving a sense of tragedy. Dante's 'Divine Comedy'.

comeliness, n [1 kumlines, 2 kámlín] comely & -ness a Beauty of person, handsomeness, orderliness, appropriateness of arrangement, b moral beauty, seemliness. comely, adj [1 kúml, 2 káml] O E cfm(e)lic, 'beautiful, splendid', fr kūm-*, cp O H G kūm, 'weak', & kūmo, 'with difficulty, hardly, scarcely', whence Mod Germ. kaum, 'scarcely', further, O H G chūmōn, kāmen, 'lament', & O S kūman, 'bewail' &c. The word meant first 'foolish, weak', then 'delicate, fine, beautiful'. Outside Gmo the word is perh connected w Gk gōdōs, 'weep, lament, wail', & gōdōs, 'lamentation', wh wd further bring it into relation w O E cīgan, fr laugan*, 'cry out', & w O Slav govoriti, Russ govoriti, 'to speak'. a Beautiful in person, handsome, well proportioned, pleasing to the eye, b (fig, of moral beauty) seemly, fitting, decent (arohao).

comer, n [1 kumer, 2 káma], fr come & -er One who comes, chiefly in Phrs first comer, first arrival, all comers, all who present themselves for particular purposes.

comestible, adj & n [1 kuméstib, 2 kuméstib] Fr, fr L Lat comestibilis, fr comest-(um), PP of comedere, 'to eat up', fr comā- & edere, 'to eat'. See edible. 1. adj Fit to be eaten, pertaining to food. 2 n Food stuff, thing(s) to eat (usually in pl). comet, n [1 komot, 2 kómít], fr Lat comētes, 'comet', fr Gk. komētēs, 'long-haired', fr kómē, 'hair'. See comia (II). In O E a comet was called feaxode-steorra, 'hairy, long-haired, star', for O E fear, 'hair', see ctenoid. Luminous heavenly body with a nucleus and a tail, appearing periodically at long intervals, and moving in an eccentric orbit, the nature and origin of the tail is disputed by astronomers.

cometary, adj [1 kómítari, 2 kómítari] Prec & -ary Pertaining to or resembling a comet.

cometic, adj [1 kómétik, 2 kómétik] 'comet & -io Cometary.

comfit, n [1 kámfit, 2 kámfit], fr Fr confit, PP of O Fr confire, 'to preserve, to make into a sweetmeat', fr Lat confectum, PP of conficere, 'prepare', fr comā- & facere, 'to make'. See confection & fact. Sugar-plum.

comfort (I), vb trans [1 kúmfort, 2 kám-fát], fr O Fr conforter, fr L Lat confortare, 'strengthen, fortify', fr comā- & fortis, 'strong'. See force, fort. a To bring ease of mind, consolation, to one suffering from grief, b to reassure, encourage, one in anxiety or perplexity.

comfort (II), n, fr prec 1 (of mental sensations and conditions) a Consolation in sorrow, anxiety &c., b relief from sorrow &c., as result of such consolation, c the person or thought which gives or produces such relief. he was a great comfort to his parents in old age. 2 (of physical sensations and conditions) a bodily ease, well-being, repose, freedom, relief, from pain to be fond of comfort, b ease of circumstances, pleasant, cheerful, sheltered conditions of life, sufficiency, luxury to live in comfort.

comfortable, adj [1 kumfortabl, 2 kám-fat-bl] Prec & -able (chiefly of physical conditions) a Possessing, promoting, tending to, comfort a comfortable chair, b (of persons) in a state of physical comfort, free from pain, easy to feel comfortable, c (of conditions of life) adequate, sufficient for one's wants a comfortable income, d (of houses) convenient, well appointed comfortable lodgings, e giving spiritual or moral comfort. 'Hear what comfortable words' &c. (Communion Service).

comfortably, adv Prec & -ly a In a comfortable manner, in all senses, b (also applied to fit) easily, conveniently, in a well-adjusted manner. the key fits the lock quite comfortably, the drafter goes in and out comfortably.

comforter, n [1 kúmforter, 2 kámfata] comfort (II) & -er 1 A one who comforts, b specif, the Comforter, the Holy Ghost. Phr Job's comforter, one who professes to comfort, but in reality depresses. 2 A woollen scarf for the neck, b a dummy test, used to quiet babies.

comfortless, adj [1 kúmfortles, 2 kámístles] comfort (II) & -less a (of things) Lacking conditions and means of, arrangements for, comfort, not promoting comfort, b (of persons) uncomfortable, miserable.

comfrey, n [1 kumfr, 2 kámfr] O Fr cunfrie, cunfrie &c., Low Lat conferia, either fr Lat confervere, 'to boil together, to heal', see fervent, or fr confirmare, 'to strengthen', see confirm (bot). Common plant of the borage family, with hairy leaves and purple or white flowers, the root and leaves of which are used medicinally.

comic, adj [1 kómik, 2 kómik], fr Lat comicus, fr Gk kómikos, fr kómos, 'banquet, revel'. See comedy. 1 Pertaining to comedy as opposed to tragedy. comic writers. 2 Having the elements of comedy, intended to amuse (though not always succeeding).

comic song, absurd, ludicrous song.

comical, adj [1 kómikl, 2 kómikl] Prec & -al Amusing, provoking laughter and merriment, freakish, quaintly humorous.

comicality, n [1 kómikálit, 2 kómikélit] Prec & -ity a Quality of being comical and amusing, b a comical person.

comically, adv [1 kómikali, 2 kómikali] comical & -ly In a comical manner.

comity, n [1 kómít, 2 kómít] Fr comite, fr Lat comitatus (em), 'courtesy, friendliness', fr comis, 'courteous, affable, kind', earlier comus, prob fr co- & smi-, fr base smi-, 'to smile', cp Sert smiyati, 'smiles', also Lat mirus, 'wonderful, admirable', mírari, 'marvel at, admire', fr smi-*, the same base as in Engl smile. See also admire. Courtesy, urbanity of manners. Phr comity of nations, courtesy and recognition extended by one nation to the laws, customs, institutions of others. Such expressions as to be received into, excluded from, the comity of nations, often met with in the press, political speeches &c., are wrong and due to an ignorant confusion of word with Latin comes, 'companion', as if comity meant 'company'.

comma, n [1 kóma, 2 kóma] Gk kómma, 'something struck or out, impression on a oom, clause in a sentence', for kopma*, connected w Gk kóptem, 'to out, strike', cogn w Gk kópis, 'knife', O Slav kopati, 'to dig', kópiye, 'lance', & possibly also w Gk kápon, Lat capōn (em), 'castrated cock'. See capon. Punctuation mark (,) indicating the least possible separation between words in, or parts of, a sentence, and corresponding to very slight pause in uttered speech. Inverted commas ('), placed before and after quotations &c., comma bacillus, micro organism shaped like a comma the cause of Asiatic cholera, comma butterfly, a rare British butterfly, with white comma like marks on the hind wings.

command (I), vb trans & intrans [1 kománd, 2 kománd], fr Fr commander, fr L

Lat commandāre, fr Lat comā- & mandāre, ht 'to put, give, into one's hand', fr manus, 'hand', & dare, 'give', hence, 'to commit to one's charge, to order, command'. See mandate manual &c. A trans 1 a (of persons) To order peremptorily, and with authority as to secure obedience, to charge, bid to command a person to do something, I don't request, I command you to do it, b (of things) to require authoritatively, enjoin to command silence. 2 To have authority over, lead, to direct and control to command a battalion, ship &c. 3 a To control, be master of (states of mind and emotion) to command oneself, one's temper &c., b to have at one's disposal to command the services of Phr (polite or ironical formula), yours to command, c (mil) to dominate (a position), hold, have, under fire, d to have within one's field of vision, to dominate, as from superior height, overlook to command a view &c. 4 a (of persons) To deserve and get, evoke, compel to command respect, sympathy &c., b (of things for sale) to bring in, fetch to command a good price. B intrans To be in authority, exercise supreme power or influence who commands here?

command (II), n Fr commande. See prec 1 a Authority and power to command, and to give orders which must be obeyed to be in command, b act in exercise of such authority and power, a peremptory order. you have my command to retreat, Phr word of command, set form of words embodying an order for particular movement of troops, c position of possessing such authority over persons to take command of a division &c. 2 a Power or ability to control, govern, regulate. command of one's emotions, passions, movements, faculties, language &c., b power to possess and use command of money, c fact of possession, dominance &c. to get command of a military position.

commandant, n [1 kómándáht, 2 kómándáht] Fr, ht. 'the one commanding'. Pres Part of commander. See prec. Officer in command, esp governor of a fortified town or naval station, of Royal Military College at Sandhurst &c.

commandeer, vb trans [1 kómándér, 2 kómándér], fr Du kommandeerem, used by Boers in sense of taking by force, food, arms, or whatever was required in time of war. 1 To force into military service, to conscript. 2 a To take possession of (property) for military purposes, an act performed by authority of government or of military commander, receipts being given and payment subsequently made, b (colloq) to take, appropriate (anything) to one's own use.

commander, n [1 kómándér, 2 kómándér] command (I) & -er One who commands, a chief, leader, esp a (mil) the officer in command of any military unit, from a platoon upwards, b (nav) naval officer in rank between captain and lieutenant-commander, c member of one of the classes in certain orders of knighthood. Commander of the Faithful, title of the Caliph of Islam. Commander in chief, a officer in chief command of a whole force of the British army in the field in a given place. The office has been abolished for the army as a whole, b admiral in chief command of a naval station.

commandership, n [1 kómándérshíp, 2 kómándérshíp] commander & -ship. The office of a commander.

commandery, n [1 kómándéri, 2 kómándéri], fr Fr commanderie. See command & -ery. A provincial, subordinate community of Knights Hospitaliers, corresponding to a preceptory, q v, of the Templars.

commanding, adj [1 kómánding, 2 kómánding] command (I) & -ing 1 Exercising authority (mil) commanding officer. 2 Controlling, dominating, by wisdom, weight, force of character, position, dignity of appearance &c., impressive a commanding presence, influence, speech. 3 (of a mountain

- communitated, adj [1 kòmunitéd, 2 kòmunitéd] PP. of commutate (surg) Communitated fracture, one in which the bone is splintered, or smashed to pieces
- commutation, n [1 kòmunitshun, 2 kòmunitshun] commutate & -ion a Act or process of commutating, b gradual lessening and wearing away
- commiserate, vb intrans & trans [1 kumizerát, 2 kumizerést], fr Lat commiserāt (um), PP of commiserāri, 'to bewail', fr com- & miserāri, 'to pity, deplore', fr miser, 'wretched' See miser, miser To feel and express compassion, sympathy, with a person, in sufferings, misfortune &c to commiserate with (a person), commiserate a misfortune
- commiseration, n [1 kumizeráshun, 2 kumizeráfán] Preo & -ion Pity, compassion, for the sufferings or distresses of others
- commissar, see commissary, 4
- commissarial, adj [1 kòmísiáral, 2 kòmísiáral] See commissary & -al Pertaining to a commissary
- commissariat, n [1 kòmísiárat, 2 kòmísiárat] Fr, 'body of commissaries' See commissary & -ate (mil) a Department of an army charged with the supply of provisions, b food supply itself
- commissary, n [1 kòmísiari, 2 kòmísiári], fr Low Lat commissarius, 'person in charge', fr Lat commiss (um), PP of committere, 'make over, entrust, give in charge', & -ary See commit 1 One to whom any charge, duty, or office is entrusted by authority, a deputy, delegate 2 Specif (eccles) representative of a bishop deputed by him to exercise his jurisdiction in certain circumstances, or in parts of his diocese 3 (obs) Officer in charge of commissariat or supply services of an army 4 (also commissar, chiefly a Russian Soviet usage) Person in charge of a special state department, a commissioner
- commissary court, n Ecclesiastical court of a bishop's commissary, in diocese of Canterbury, same as Consistory Court
- commission (I.), n [1 kumíshun, 2 kamíshun] Lat commissio (em), 'letting together, beginning of a fight or game', fr commiss (um), PP type of committere, the first meaning of wh is 'to let together, join, unite' The Engl meanings of commission are due to one of the many derived meanings, 'entrust' &c, in close relation w our uses of commit See mission 1 a Formal document authorizing a person or persons to act in a certain way, perform certain functions, hold certain offices &c, b specif, warrant signed by the king, conferring a certain military or naval rank (usually the lowest, on his joining the army &c) upon a person, and entitling him to enjoy and exercise the authority belonging to that rank in the British Army, Navy, or Air Force, c authority, power to act, as conveyed by a formal warrant, esp as a magistrate commission of the peace 2 a Authorization to act for another, in purchasing something on his behalf, or otherwise as his agent, b payment made for such service (e.g. an auctioneer's commission for selling, or buying in, something on one's behalf), c small services rendered, purchases made, messages delivered, small business transacted by a person as a favour to another I have one or two commissions for you if you are going into town 3 Body of persons entrusted by the State with the duties and powers of holding an inquiry, issuing a report, and sometimes with power to act on their opinions Royal Commission Plr in commission, vested in, entrusted to, a body of commissioners, of an office of state during temporary vacancy Commission of array, method of raising soldiers, employed in England from 13th to 17th cents, whereby an official was commissioned by the sovereign to raise so many men in each district 4 Act of carrying out, perpetrating, an action (usually in bad sense) the commission of murder
- commission (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 To give a commission to (in various senses) 2 Specif, to give authority to naval officer to command, man, arm, and prepare for sea a ship of war
- commissionaire, n [1 komishunár, 2 komishunáfá] Fr, commissionnaire 1 A person in uniform who acts as door porter in large shops and offices &c 2 Specif, one of a body of old soldiers of good character, the Corps of Commissionaires, organized for such services
- commissioned, adj [1 kumíshund, 2 kamíshund] commission (II) & -ed Having, holding, provided with a commission, esp in military sense commissioned officer, one (from second lieutenant upwards) holding H M commission, as distinct from a non-commissioned officer
- commissioner, n [1 kumíshuner, 2 kamíshunér] commission (II) & -er 1 a A member of a commission, esp a Royal Commission, b person appointed to act by himself in investigating or deciding some difficult question of law or government 2 Specif, a high officer in the Indian Civil Service, in charge of a large district of a province 3 High Commissioner, a chief representative of a self-governing British Dominion in England, b representative of the king at the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland
- commissionership, n [1 kumíshunership, 2 kamíshunáfá] Preo & -ship Office of a commissioner
- commisure, n [1 kòmísiur, 2 kòmísiurá] Fr, fr Lat commisura, 'joint, seam', fr commis, as in PP of committere See commit & commission (anat) Junction between two parts or organs of the body, or between two parts of the same organ
- commit, vb trans [1 kumít, 2 kumít], fr Lat committre, lit 'put, join together', hence, 'to go to work, act, to do wrong, perpetrate, make over, entrust', fr com- & mittere, 'to send' &c See missile & mission 1 To entrust, consign, give into keeping, (in various senses) a bestow, put away in 'We commit his body to the ground', b (law) to send for trial before higher tribunal to commit a prisoner for trial, c to put into custody commit a person to jail, d to entrust to guardianship and keeping, e to commit one's soul to God, to God's mercy, e to send (a bill, question for report &c) to a committee Plrs to commit to memory, impress upon memory, memorize, learn by heart, commit to paper, writing, to write down 2 To pledge, engage, bind morally or legally to commit oneself (or others) to a particular action 3 To carry out, perpetrate, an act (always in bad sense) to commit sin, a crime, an offence &c
- commitment, n [1 kumítment, 2 kumítment] commit & -ment a That to which one is committed, pledged, b financial liability which has been entered into
- committable, adj [1 kumítábl, 2 kumítábl] commit & -able a (of persons) Liable to be committed to prison or for trial, b (of offences) of such a character as to permit committing perpetrator for trial
- committal, n [1 kumítal, 2 kumítal] commit & -al a Act of committing (an offence), b act of pledging, involving oneself in particular action &c, c act of consigning, entrusting in various senses, d committing to prison of a person by order of a court
- committee, n [1 kumít, 2 kumít], fr A-Fr comité. See commit & -ee 1 Group of persons appointed to consider, and report on, specific questions referred to them, esp a number of members of a larger body appointed by this, jointly to do certain business, draft a scheme, or generally to prepare some items of business for consideration of body which appoints them standing committee. 2 Specif (English Houses of Parliament) either house goes into, resolves itself into, Committee, in order to consider any bill in detail 3 (law) [1 kumít, 2 kumít] Person to whom the charge of another, esp a lunatic and his estates &c, is legally entrusted
- committee English, n Style often adopted by committees in their reports, or by official bodies, which consists of a number of set formulae and clichés, and from which all individuality and emotion are eliminated
- commix, vb trans & intrans [1 kómiks, 2 kómiks] comm- & mix To mix, blend (arohao)
- commixtion, n [1 kómíkschun, 2 kómíksíshun] Also commixture Preo, w t, as from mix, & -ion (eccles) Act of putting a small particle of the Host into the chalice by the priest at Mass, to be consumed by him together with the wine Cp intinction
- commixture, n [1 kómíkschur, 2 kómíksíshun] comm- & mixture 1 a Act of mixing, b things blended together 2 (eccles.) Commixtion
- commode, n [1 kumód, 2 kumód] Fr, fr Lat commodus, lit 'measured with', hence, 'well adapted, suitable, convenient', fr com- & modus, 'standard by which anything is measured, a measure' See mode 1 Chest of drawers 2 (also night commode) Small portable privy for use in bedroom
- commodious, adj [1 kumódíus, 2 kumódíus] as, fr Fr commodeux, fr L Lat commodus See preo & -ous Having ample room, spacious, esp of houses, apartments &c
- commodiously, adv Preo & -ly In a roomy, convenient manner
- commodiousness, n See preo & -ness Quality of being commodious
- commodity, n [1 kumodít, 2 kumodít] Fr commodité, fr Lat commoditāt (em), fr commodus See commode Something adapted for use and convenience, hence, an article of commerce of any kind, anything that is for sale, esp in pl, commodities, goods, merchandise, produce
- commandore, n [1 komodór, 2 kumodór] Earlier commandoro, fr L Lat commandator, 'commander' See command & -ate & -or, 1 Captain in Royal Navy, discharging duties rather more important than those usually undertaken by a captain, e.g. the commandore of a squadron Commandore is not a rank, and is only borne as a courtesy title, thus resembling brigadier-general 2 Term applied to senior captains of merchant-fleet, and to the president of yacht squadrons &c
- common (I.), adj [1 kómun, 2 kómun], fr Fr commun, fr Lat communis, O Lat communio, 'shared together, common to all', fr com- & múnus, O Lat munus, 'service, office, function, duty' The compound is apparently a very old one, since the corresponding form is found in Gmc, Goth gamauns, OE gemæne (see mean (III)), OHG gimēin, 'common', Mod Germ gemein For identity of com- & Gmc *ga- see etymol of former, for etymol of múnus, múnia, see municipal 1 General, shared equally by several or many individuals, or by all members of a group, a used by, accessible to, at disposal of, all or many common high road, common interests, advantage, Book of Common Prayer, common law, unwritten law of England, based on immemorial custom and usage, Plrs common woman, prostitute, common table, ooc at which all dine, common land, that in which all members of community have rights of pasturage, b (i) having same source, origin common descendants, (ii) being the source, origin &c of all members of a group common ancestor, common mother tongue, Plrs our common humanity, c participated in as joint pledge, involving equal obligations on all common agreement, treaty, undertaking Plrs to make common cause, take joint action, by common consent 2 a Widespread, usual, generally current common coin of the realm, the common daisy, 'the trivial round, the common task', Plrs common or garden, very familiar, everyday, common commonable, adj (1 kómunabl, 2 kómanabl) fr common (II) & -able (of cattle &c, such as plough and manure the land) Allowed to pasture on common land commonage, n (1 kómuni, 2 kóménsit), fr common (IX) & -age Cp O Fr commune 1 The right of pasturing on a common 2 The commons of the realm commonalty, n (1 kómunaltí, 2 kóménsití), fr O Fr communalité, fr commonal, fr Lat communis common (X) & -al & -ty The common people, the commons commoner, n (1 kómuner, 2 kómáne) common & -er 1 One of the common people (below the rank of peer) 2 A One who is not a peer, B a member of the House of Commons (rare), esp the great Commoner, William Pitt the elder 3 One having right of common (see common (II)) 4 (Oxford Univ) An undergraduate member of the university who is not on the foundation of his college, one who is neither fellow, scholar nor exhibitioner commonly adv [1 kómuni, 2 kómuni] common (L) & -ly In most senses of common esp usually, ordinarily, as a rule commonness n [1 kómunnis, 2. kómuni nis] Sto free & -ness The state of being common specif, vulgarity, lack of breeding want of familiarity with best usage in manners, speech &c commonplace n & adj [1 kómənplás, 2 k. mænples] See common (1) & place, & cp Lat loci communes 'common topics', & fr frase comun 'common phrase' 1 n a) anything common, ordinary, or trite, esp a trite or obvious remark, a platitude b fr frase 'a place, triteness, lack of interest' 2 adj 1. fr frase 'common', trite, ordinary commonplace-book n Book in which are entered proverbs and poems, remarks, etc fr frase 'a place', or borrowed from the fr frase 'a place'

